The action of the Turkish government, however, that the empire is facing a situation that may necessitate the calling forth of all the military troops also that the situation is the gravest since the Russo-Turkish war.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The Pacific elevator on Hines' street and the north branch of the Chicago river burned this afternoon. A large amount of grain was stored there.

By 1 p. m. the fire had assumed such proportions that a general alarm was sounded. Five firemen nearly lost their lives while fighting the flames from the roof of the office, a small brick building, in close proximity to one of the elevators. They stood to their post till the roof fell from beneath them. Two men were close enough to the edge of the wall to grab it and were left hanging to a stringer. The other three went down but held on to the hose and were rescued with great difficulty. The loss will reach $1,500,000.

The accident is attributed to neglect of orders on the part of the excursion train crew, who should have remained at Spring Park to let the accommodation train through.

Fraley then offered $50 to $100 that McKinley would carry Illinois by 50,000 majority, but so many takers shook their money at him that he crawled. Charles Morrison, of Waterloo, Ill., offered to take $2,000 worth of this bet, but Fraley did not come to terms. He said that the latter was betting for other people and he managed to place several bets on the general result.

MR. BRYAN IS IN ILLINOIS

Accorded An Enthusiastic and Impressive Ovation by Students of the Illinois College.

HONORS BESTOWED BY HIS ALMA MATER

Mr. Bryan Participated in the Simple, Devotional Exercises in the Chapel of College Where He Was a Student for Six Years.

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 26.—Perhaps the noisiest demonstration ever given any one in the chapel, Illinois college, was the one accorded Wm. J. Bryan this morning by the students of his alma mater. His address, while it was in defense of the double standard theory of finance, was so diplomatically given that no student could take offense at it. The same simple, devotional exercises in which Bryan participated for six years as a student were gone through with this morning. Then John E. Bradley, president of the college, made a short introductory address, saying to the distinguished alumnus of the Illinois college, who had reflected honor upon that institution, that no one ever stood in such public distinction as the guest of the morning. The applause which followed the introduction was hearty and of long duration. After Mr. Bryan's address Dr. Bradley announced that in honor of the distinguished guest the students would observe the day as a holiday. He called upon the members of the sigma society to escort Mr. and Mrs. Bryan to their carriage and act as a guard of honor through the grounds. They drew up in line and singing a fraternity song marched on either side of the carriage. At the gates the students bade the nominee and his wife goodspeed. They supplemented the farewell with college yells.

SILVER REPUBLICANS.

A Strong Contingent Denounces the Make-shift Financial Platforms of the Republican Machine.

To the Free Silver Republicans of New Mexico.

Albuquerque, N. M., Oct. 22, 1896.—The time has come for the Republicans who believe in the free and unlimited coinage of silver to act. At the St. Louis convention we saw with sorrow and disgust the party of Lincoln, Grant and Blaine servilely accept the dictation of certain selfish, sectional eastern politicians on this great question. We still hoped that the Republicans of New Mexico would, like Senator Teller, have the courage of their convictions and stand as he stood for silver. But the convention met and we saw at Las Vegas the Republican party of New Mexico, a cringing sycophant, seeking the financial plank of the St. Louis platform and declaring for the free coinage of the American product. We recognize in the financial plank of the Las Vegas platform the wily politician's cunning subterfuge—to make a platform which will be satisfactory to the leaders of the party in the territory and yet hold the Silver Republicans of New Mexico in line.

We denounce the financial plank of the Las Vegas platform as an insult to the intelligence of any man who knows the elementary principles of the silver question. We denounce the free coinage of the American product as a theory that was dead and buried with the repeal of the Sherman law—a theory which can never again hope for any standing in American politics. We declare that the silver question is the issue before the American people in this campaign and we believe the battle must be fought to a finish now. We believe that the success of the silver cause means statehood for it is well known that New Mexico is in favor of the free coinage of silver. The success of McKinley means defeat for New Mexico's statehood for it is well known that under his administration no territory which will send silver men to the United States senate will be admitted to the Union.

First—The free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1.

Second—Protection and reciprocity.

Third—Statehood for New Mexico.

With the success of this platform the development of the great resources of New Mexico will be assured and we will become, what nature intended we should be, one of the richest portions of the Union.

We, the undersigned, on behalf of the Free Silver Republicans of Albuquerque, therefore appeal to the Free Silver Republicans of New Mexico to vote for the friends of free and unlimited coinage of silver, regardless of previous political affiliations, and we suggest that you organize free silver Republican clubs that the work to be done may be systematic and successful.

We therefore take for our platform:

Enriching a University.

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—The University of California is to be made richer by $4,000,000 by donations from various persons, chief among whom is Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, widow of the millionaire senator.

The Gains Bryan is Making.

New York, Oct. 26.—Ex-Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, denies that he will make speeches in this state in behalf of Bryan and Sewall.

"I am surprised," said he to-day, "to find the free silver sentiment so strong in Ohio and especially among the farmers. Bryan is making a tremendous impression wherever he goes and is winning friends by the thousands."

Mr. Campbell declined to make any predictions as to the outcome of the election.

BERNALILLO WINNERS.

A Combination Ticket Named in the Interest of Ferguson, Free Coinage and Good Government.

Correspondence New Mexican.

Albuquerque, Oct. 26.—The people of Bernalillo county yesterday took action that has struck terror to the Catron-Perea crowd. The Democratic county convention was held and Republicans and Populists flocked hither in such numbers as to indicate all sides are determined to wipe out this year the rule of ruin policy of the present element in county politics. An excellent county ticket was named which is designated the "People's Ticket."

The ticket is as follows:

For territorial council, Neil B. Field, Henry Brookmeier; representatives, J. M. Skinner, David Back, Joseph Carroll; county commissioners, John Mann, Fernando Armijo, Equipulo Romero; sheriff, William Farr; collector, F. H. Kent; assessor, Ed. Dodd; probate clerk, Jesus Armijo y Jaramillo; probate judge, Gordon R. Pearce; school superintendent, W. S. Burke; treasurer, William Mcintosh; coroner, Cornelio Gabaldon; surveyor, Pitt Ross; river commissioners, Simon Tafaya, Jose Chavez y Apodaca; Leonardo Hunick, Francisco Hernandez, Jose Miguel Lucero.

The convention was the largest and most jubilant ever held in Bernalillo county. Hon. M. S. Otero, the well known Republican, predicts that this ticket will carry the county by at least 150 majority. Mr. Otero is hard at work for every man on the ticket including Ferguson.

The convention adopted a strong set of resolutions indorsing the Democratic national platform and ticket, Ferguson and free coinage; declares in favor of reducing salaries of county officials; recommends the establishment of a system of mining legislation equitable to miners and owners, and proposes the solution of a committee, on which both classes should be equally represented, for the purpose of formulating such a system. They declare in unqualified terms in favor of the creation of the county of Summit and pledge their legislative nominees to introduce and actively support such a measure.

Thos. B. Catron was censured because he had attempted to legislate a debt upon Grant and Santa Fe counties by legalizing bonds declared by the United States supreme court to be illegal.

Because he has refused to introduce in congress a bill authorizing citizens to acquire title to mines situated on claimed land grants, which mines are the property of the national government as they were of former governments of Spain and Mexico.

Because in providing life insurance for his two sons, and when one was found to be incompetent, for a boy from Maryland, he had robbed the young manhood of New Mexico.

Because he made no effort in the past two years in congress to aid our fight for statehood and because he is a man greedy for self alone, a danger for his community and the territory at large.

Cerrillos Cullings.

Pres. Clements has been appointed town marshal by the board of trustees.

Miss Myrtle Gresham was down from Santa Fe last Saturday, and a dance was given in her honor that evening.

Rev. T. L. Adams, formerly pastor at this place, later at Gallup, has been designated as city missionary at El Paso and has removed to that place.

Rev. L. L. Gladney did not arrive last week as was expected, but did arrive Monday night of this week and will hold regular morning and evening services at the Methodist church next Sunday. Mrs. Gladney accompanied her husband.

Cerrillos has never had a boom and does not want one; but she has held her own with any other New Mexico town, and that, too, against the most aggravating aggregation of drawbacks ever encountered by any town, big or little. Her resources are of the most wonderful description, and had they been numbered among the resources of any town in the eastern states they would have caused the building of a great city long ago. This paper believes, and it always has believed, that Cerrillos will come to the front as one of the best and biggest towns in the southwest.—Cerrillos Register.

Malaria Disarmed of its Terrors.

Malaria, that fell atmospheric poison, is disarmed of its terrors and health restored to thousands residing where the noxious exhalation periodically infects the air, and engenders intermittent and remittent fevers, by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most popular as it is the best, of preventive, alterative and tonic. In numberless localities where the demand for sulphate of quinine was formerly immense, the harmful alkaloid has been almost entirely supplanted by this safe, popular and effective substitute, which is prompt in action and entirely unobjectionable. It nullifies the influence of miasma by giving a more active impulse to every vital function, quickening and enriching the blood, overcoming a tendency to biliousness, and promoting digestion.

THE WOOL INDUSTRY.

Views on the Business by a Practical Man—Hints for Flock Owners to Think Over.

At the late meeting of the New Mexico Wool Growers' association held in Albuquerque, the appended letter, containing many sensible suggestions for our wool men, was read and discussed at length: Mr. Geo. Arnold, Secretary, N. M. Wool Growers' Association, East Las Vegas, N. M., La. Mora, Roswell, N. M., Sept. 28, 1896.—Dear Sir:—Wishing to become a member of the Territorial Wool Growers' association, I enclose $2 as membership fee, and request that you add my name to the list of membership of the association.

I would like much to be at the meeting in Albuquerque, on the 12th of October, but fear that business will prevent me, and like many other wool growers of our territory, shall on that day be acting as corporal on the range with the sheep. I hope, however, that a goodly number of wool growers, manufacturers and merchants, who all, in common, are interested in matters set forth by resolutions adopted at the meeting of organization, will be able to attend.

Personally, I feel enthusiastic as to the resolutions adopted at the organization of the association. I think anything in the shape of tariff on wool but a simple flat duty, which shall classify an importation of wool, which may be partly secured, as simply secured wool, or, in part washed, as washed wool, etc., will result in disappointment to the wool grower, add an element of confusion to internal trade, and encourage collusion to defraud between custom-house officers and importers, also causing misunderstanding between home producers of wool and manufacturers.

Would like to see laws enacted obliging manufacturers to mark the word "Shoddy" in plain, large letters on one side of all goods made by them which contain a particle of that material, and obliging retailers of cloth and clothing, consisting in part of shoddy, to take out a license, and imposing heavy fines on such as sell goods with shoddy in them as pure wool material.

I believe that a committee of one or more able men should be appointed to look into the shoddy question, and make report as to the extent to which the present law is being enforced, and proportion of shoddy herds in the territory, as compared with conditions prevailing before the law went into effect.

I think sheep men should not forget the past attempts of foreign dressed meat interests to import frozen mutton to our markets, and believe that if a high tariff is not put on dressed meats that the market will be flooded with Argentine, New Zealand and Australian mutton to our great detriment as soon as a return of general prosperity shall allow the people to indulge in as much meat consumption as in former times.

With the tariff proposed by your organization on sheep and wool, and with a proper rate on dressed meats, the sheep men of New Mexico will be again able to put their ranches in good order, pay their herders fair wages, employ more men, more and better paid freighters, buy more goods, shear at home, pay living prices to eastern breeders of fine sheep, sell out and sell mutton all old or undesirable ewes, and, above all, pay their debts. Respectfully yours, FRED S. KEYS.

STAGES HELD UP AGAIN.

Highwaymen Stopped and Robbed the Stages Between White Oaks and San Antonio on Wednesday—Nails Riddled.

From information obtained from Deputy United States Marshal Loomis and United States Marshal Contractor Hallenbeck last night it was learned that the stages running between San Antonio and White Oaks were held up on Wednesday night at a point twenty-six miles west of White Oaks and the drivers of the stages recognized the robbers as being the same crowd who held up the stages on the same route two weeks ago. They robbed the west bound stage first and then waited for the east bound stage and held it up in the same place. The robbers cut open the mail sacks, taking letters of value, and took the two horses from each stage. A box containing $2,100 in silver bullion was not taken, as the driver when asked by one of the robbers as to what was in the box gave it a kick and said it contained a clock, says the Albuquerque Democrat of yesterday.

A posse of seven men started following the trail on the west side of the Oscura mountains going south. Deputy United States Marshal Fowler left San Antonio yesterday morning with a posse.

Later—a dispatch this afternoon says it is reported that the posse of officers had attacked the bandits and that one officer was killed.

Marshal Hall and Deputy Marshal Loomis are with the posse, but at 2 p. m. nothing had been heard of the officer in this city of the alleged conflict with the bandits.

United States Marshal Hall and his efficient deputies have become a terror to criminals in New Mexico, says the Springer Stockman.

A great many sheep men have recently arrived from the east, and 100 car loads of the fleecy fellows are to be shipped from this city at once. A great portion of them are intended for feeding.—Las Vegas Optic.

Quigg, were united in the sacred bonds of matrimony, Rev. Phelps, of the M. E. church officiating.—Springer Stockman.

W. W. Hite and wife, well known newspaper folks, formerly proprietors and editors of the defunct Daily Times of this city, passed through the city this morning from Washington, D. C., for El Paso, where they will visit Carleton J. Ennis and wife. Mr. Hite is a government employee at Washington.—Albuquerque Citizen.

Postoffice Inspector C. M. Waters, of Denver, arrived yesterday morning from Lamy, where he has been investigating the postoffice robbery which took place last Tuesday at that place. He said the robbers got away with $10,221 in stamps, $4 in money and $261 in merchandise from the general store of Pfleger & Haberland, all of which have been recovered. They also took seven plots of whisky which no doubt led to their capture, for in the eight hours that intervened until overtaken by the posse, they drank so much of it they became stupefied, which made them easy to capture and prevented them making much headway in escaping.—Albuquerque Democrat.

W. C. Rogers is having constructed a fine boarding house on the present site of his residence, when completed to be used especially to accommodate the Lone Star force.

The Washington mine has increased its force and is adding improvements at and about the mine. The Washington continues to be an occasional shipper, and is producing a plentiful supply of good ore.

The Beckman mill has been running steadily for two weeks and by Sunday will produce the first bar of bullion that has ever been made in the district with the use of the cyanide process, which in this instance has proved satisfactory.

In blowing off a part of the lead that rose thirty feet above the surface, the operatives on the Crown Point struck a quantity of ore that averages six ounces in gold. This strike was made close to the surface and when encountered quartz was taken out which assayed thirteen ounces gold. The force at the Crown Point has been increased and shipments are regular. It is probable that another force will soon be put to work on this mine in sinking the old shaft.—Bland Herald.

FOR DELEGATE TO CONGRESS,

H. B. FERGUSSON.

"New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona are entitled to statehood and their early admission is demanded by their material and political interests."—W. J. Bryan's letter accepting the Democratic nomination for the presidency.

Bryan goes marching on to victory.

Fergusson is making a brilliant and energetic campaign.

Col. Tom Hughes is camping closely on the trail of that public printer who which Boss Catron has promised him so long.

Any tax-payer who votes for Catron in Santa Fe county invites Wall Street Shylocks to confiscate more than one-half of his property.

All the corporation lawyers are working for McHanna's syndicate candidate and the gold standard. Geo. R. Peck is doing Kansas in these interests.

BERNALILLO county Democrats come up smiling with a strong and able ticket. The Perea pie-consumer trimmers will scarcely be able to stem the tide against that sort of Democracy and Fergusson.

Mr. Bryan's physical endurance is the marvel of the age. In Michigan, the other day, for instance, he made twenty-three speeches, addressing 169,000 people in one day. If that number of people desired to visit McKinley it would require 3,380 coaches and 225 engines to transport them!

CATRON'S COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Republican county convention, which convened at the court house in this city on Saturday afternoon, was a decidedly tame, listless, perfunctory affair. It was distinctly a convention of the boss, by the boss and for the boss. The hand of Catron was plainly discernable in every detail of its proceedings from the beginning to the end.

Such Republicans as do not approve of Catron and Catronism; do not approve of the methods whereby Catron attempted to foist upon the people of Santa Fe county a fraudulent bonded indebtedness of $750,000 as the price of congressional approval of the capitol rebuilding bonds; do not approve of Catron's shameful, unblushing and unparalleled nepotism in the appointment of his two sons to cadetships at West Point and Annapolis, each being also named as the alternate of the other; do not approve of Catron's action, when one of his sons failed to pass the prescribed examination, in appointing a resident of Maryland as a cadet to West Point without giving the boys of New Mexico the slightest chance to compete for the honor of representing their territory at the national military school; do not approve of Catron's obstinate opposition to carrying out the clear intent of congress in the matter of throwing open to prospectors and miners the mineral in land grants; do not approve of Catron's systematic tax dodging as especially exemplified in his memorable remark that he did not purpose to be taxed to educate the "d—d paper brats of Cerrillos;" do not approve of Catron's desperate efforts to cheat justice and frustrate the orderly administration of the law by shielding self-confessed and crimson-handed murderers; such Republicans, we say, were either deprived of a voice in the convention by chicanery and conspiracy or their many voices were smothered in the preliminary caucuses.

The convention was cut and dried in caucuses. Everything was fixed in secret. The minutest details were arranged behind closed doors as guilty deeds are invariably planned. Its transactions were too harmonious to be the honest handiwork of honest freemen. It is true that the better, the anti-Catron element in the convention, accomplished something in caucuses, was sufficiently assertive and threatening to force one or two nominations that Catron did not fully approve, but in the main the candidates named wear the collar of Catron and if elected would prove the willing tools of Catron.

These remarks especially apply to the legislative ticket, which is headed by Charles A. Spiess, Catron's creature and partner, for member of the territorial council. Of course it is needless to tell the intelligent people of Santa Fe that there is nothing Spiess would not do in slavish obedience to the orders of Catron. Catron gave him all the prominence he has in this county; crumb from Catron's table feed him; Catron owns him body and soul. When Catron ordered Spiess to sign an affidavit that the four convicted and condemned murderers of Francisco Chavez were never arraigned before Judge Hamilton, Spiess signed his name under that of his master to the lying document as quickly as did the fourcrying wretches who hoped thereby to stay the hand of the executioner. Spiess can always be depended upon to do what Catron tells him to do and hence he was easily nominated for the council over such self-respecting and many Republicans as Dr. Manley and T. J. Helm.

While Larkin G. Read and Jose D. Sena, whom the convention nominated "by acclamation" for representatives in the legislative assembly, are not as notoriously and completely the personal chattels of Catron as is Spiess, no one acquainted with them doubts that, if elected, they would do the bidding of Catron in the legislature under any and all circumstances. Their nominations can be explained on no other hypothesis. Neither is especially fitted by ability or experience to make laws for the territory; neither is strong in the confidence and affections of the people; neither stands as fair a chance of election as a score of untrammelled Republicans in the county whom we could name in as many seconds. Read doubtless owes his nomination in part to the fact that he and his brothers have for some time threatened to bolt Catron unless suitably rewarded for past servile fidelity to his cause; but we confess our total inability to explain the "great honor bestowed on Sena" upon any other theory than that when the roll was called and considered it was discovered that there was a great scarcity of Republicans in whom Catron could implicitly confide. Surely the fact that Sena was overwhelmingly repudiated by the people of Santa Fe, when he was a candidate for city clerk last spring, did not weigh very heavily in his favor.

Personally no serious objections can be legitimately urged against most of the candidates named for the strictly county or non-political offices. Most of them are reputable citizens, whose qualifications are not disputed, and it may be truthfully added further that several of them are not entirely satisfactory to Catron and for that reason could under no circumstances have been named for places on the legislative ticket. They were nominated with the hope of conciliating the better element in the party and not because the boss had any use for them. This also explains why every really desirable and lucrative county office was given to an American and why worthy native citizens were snubbed and ignored. Catron believes he has the native members of his party so completely under his personal domination that there is no danger of their rebelling and that he is obliged only to make concessions to American Republicans. This fact was plainly brought out in the secret caucuses and the knowledge of it was swiftly brought to the New Mexican by a trusted messenger who was behind the scenes. Whether self-respecting native Republicans, who are not bound hand and foot to Catron by "Button" and Borrego gang fetters, will relish and sanction this sort of treatment we are unprepared to predict.

Taken as a whole, particularly in the light of all the ugly facts and unpleasant circumstances surrounding the nominations, we candidly regard the Republican ticket in this county as exceptionally weak, and entertain no doubt that the Democrats will have the wisdom to place candidates in the field this afternoon that will easily win at the ensuing election.

NEW MEXICAN PRINTING COMPANY.

The PECOS VALLEY of . . . NEW MEXICO

OFFERS unequalled advantages to the farmer, fruit grower, live stock raiser, dairyman, bee-keeper, and to the home-seeker generally.

The soil of the Pecos Valley is of high average fertility, and under irrigation produces bountiful crops of most of the grasses, grains, vegetables and fruits of the temperate and some of those of the semi-tropical zone. In such fruit as the peach, pear, plum, grape, prune, apricot, nectarine, cherry, quince, etc., the Valley will dispute for the pre-eminence with California; while competent authority pronounces its upper portion in particular the finest apple country in the world.

Enormous yields of such forage crops as alfalfa, sorghum and Egyptian corn make the feeding of cattle and sheep and the raising and fattening of hogs a very profitable occupation.

The cultivation of canals—a tanning material of great value—is becoming an important industry in the Pecos Valley, a home market having been afforded for all that can be raised, at a price yielding a handsome profit.

The climate of the Pecos Valley has no superior in the United States, being pre-eminently healthful and health restoring.

Land with perpetual water-rights are for sale at low prices and on easy terms. The water-supply of the Pecos Valley has no equal in all the arid region for constancy and reliability; and this with the superb climate, productive soil and the facilities afforded by the railway which extends through the Valley's entire length, will cause these lands to enjoy a constant, and at times, rapid increase in value.

The recent completion of the Pecos Valley Railway to Roswell will cause the more rapid settlement and development of the upper portions of the Valley, including the rich Felix section. The company has recently purchased many of the older improved farms about Roswell, and has now for sale lands to meet the wants of all—raw lands, partially improved lands, as well as farms with houses, orchards and fields of alfalfa and other crops. In the vicinity of Roswell several pieces of land have been divided into five and ten acre tracts, suitable for orchards and truck farms in connection with suburban homes. Certain of these tracts are being planted to orchards, and will be cultivated and cared for by the company for three years at the end of which period they will be handed over to the purchasers. Write for pamphlet fully describing the terms and conditions on which these several classes of tracts are sold. MIDSUMMER DROUTH.
When the tree toad shrieks all day
For the rain that will not come,
When the dust chokes all the way,
And Nature is stricken dumb;
When the red-hot humid wave
Doth over the broad land float;
When vividly throbs the pave,
And parches the urban throat;
When the rose in the tree doth burn
And shrivel till crisp and dry—
Then even the worm will turn:
Into a butterfly.

Malaria Disarmed of its Terrors.
Malaria, that fell atmospheric poison, is disarmed of its terrors and health restored to thousands residing where the noxious exhalation periodically infects the air, and engenders intermittent and remittent fever, by Chamberlain's Stomach Bitters, the most popular remedy in the land, of preventives, alteratives and tonics.
In numerous localities where the demand for sulphate of quinine was formally immense, the hurtful alkaloid has been almost entirely supplanted by this safe, popular and effective substitute, which is prompt in action and entirely unobjec-tionable. It nullifies the influence of malaria by giving a more active impulse to every vital function, quickening and enriching the blood, overcoming a tendency to biliousness, and prompting digestion.

THE EFFECT ON HIM.

rascal.
And what did he do?
He elbowed the waiter into the back so hard that he dislocated the telephones at both ends of the line.

Resson sometimes tells a man many things that he would just as soon not know.
When all things are going well with us we are apt to forget that it is a long lane that has no turn.

The Darlington, Wis., Journal says editorially of a popular patent medicine:
"We know from experience that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is all that is claimed for it, as on two occasions it stopped excruciating pains and possibly saved us from an untimely grave. We would not rest easy over night without it in the house." This remedy undoubtedly saves more pain and suffering than any other medicine in the world. Every family should keep it in the house, for it is sure to be needed sooner or later. For sale by all druggists.

A WASHING DAY.

It was a windy day. Washing days are generally windy unless it happens to storm, which it is quite likely to do.
Mrs. Tibbs lifted her hands from the suds and felt of her crimping pins to make sure that none of them had slipped out, for the washing day net that afternoon, and she wanted to look well, and she remarked with emphasis that "she wished to heavens that it didn't always blow like sixty on washing days." And she added as a motological fact that "it blowed last Monday and a week ago last Monday too."

Mr. Tibbs was reading an article on the tariff, the writer of which had proved conclusively to Mr. Tibbs' mind that if the present tariff continued the bottom of all things would fall out inside of six months, and the paper he had read before breakfast contained an article which had shown him just as clearly that if the existing tariff should be changed creation would go to everlasting smash in the twinkling of a cat's tail.

Tibbs scratched his head and gave vent to his perplexed state of mind by exclaiming: "Well, by Jimby, I don't see what a man can do."

"I'll tell you what to do," said Mrs.
Tibbs, whirling the clothes wringer round with a will as she ground out the grist of Tibbs' shirt and drawers into the clothes basket. "You go and put up that clothesline out there and hang up those clothes.
Blows enough to take a woman right off her feet."

Tibbs rose reluctantly. All men dread the clothesline racket. It is trying to the masculine nerves. Tibbs put his hand to his back and volunteered the information that he "guessed he was going to have a little trouble with his back, but he would try to make the best of it." Tibbs was not in the slightest degree interested in Mr. Tibbs' gloomy antipations, but went on wrestling with the clothes wringer and spattering the suds in every direction.

Mr. Tibbs put on his hat, buttoned his coat, tied his neck up in a red muffler and shivered. "Seems to me," he remarked, "that I feel a touch of that old solatia in my hip joint."

"Now, you put that clothesline up right," said Mrs. Tibbs, entirely ignoring his observation. "Last week the sheets dragged on the ground, and I had to rise 'em up. Pull it tight. Mind the hooks don't come out of the posts. Be careful of it where it's tied. Put up the oldest part of the line under the pear tree for the oldest clothes, for they'll mildew the white things. Hang that ragged sheet under the shirts, so's the holes won't show.
Folks is allus staring at a clothesline. Put that embroidered nightgown of mine next to the street. Mind now, and not set the basket so 't'll tip over."

And in the midst of it Tibbs went out, with a bag of clothespins and the line in one hand and the basket balanced on the opposite hip, and the water which the wringer had not squeezed out running down over his leg in little rills. There had been some snow, and then, by way of reminder, there had been some rain, and then it had frozen, and the footing was exceedingly slippery and insecure. Tibbs soon found that beyond a doubt that passage of Scripture which tells us that "the feet of the wicked stand on slippery places" is true. He had great difficulty in preventing himself from going down the side hill, where the clothes posts were located, faster than he wanted. Of course the line was full of kinks, which is a family trait of clotheslines, and Tibbs skinned his hands by pulling the line through them to get out the kinks, and when he got mad and banged the board on which the offending line was wound against the wood pile he barked his knuckles and tore off one corner of his thumb nail.

Mrs. Tibbs and her cousin, Sally Green, who had dropped in for a morning call, were looking out of the window to see how he was getting along, and they both laughed at his mishap and said that was just like a man.

Mr. Tibbs got desperate. He took his pocketknife and severed the line in its kindest part, and having tied up one piece of it, he began to hang up the clothes. He had his mouth full of clothespins, just as he had noticed Mrs. Tibbs always had her mouth on such occasions, and he slipped the clothes on to the line with a will.

Up flew the kitchen window, and Mrs.
Tibbs stuck out her head.
"Turn that shirt 'other side up! Don't hang them sheets by the corners! Put the towels on that old line! Don't hang them flannel drawers of Tom's up by the legs!
Pull out that edging on Mary Ann's skirt!
Look out, there—you've stepped right into the clothes basket! Wint fools men are!
I knowed you'd make a mess of it! I wish I'd hung 'em up myself if I had blowed to Gutches in doing it!"

Tibbs discharged the clothespins and began to swear. It relieved his mind. He got the other piece of line and fastened one end of it to the post, then he gave a good pull on it to make sure it was tight, and it parted amidships, and the sudden let up upon Tibbs' equilibrium, and in spite of himself he went rolling down the icy hill like an empty flour barrel.

Mrs. Donovan's pet goat was enjoying a little frolic on a batch of old tomato cans and some discarded oldclothes half way down the hill, and when she saw Tibbs coming she quit the oldclothes and charged on him, with all her batteries open, so to speak.
It was an exciting scene, and it was made still more so by the appearance of Mrs. Donovan, with the mop, and Donovan's two dogs, barking the loudest, and they took samples of Tibbs' pantaloons.
Tibbs doesn't hang out clothes now—

Dangers of the Baltic.
There is no part of the world which has such a black record for wrecks as these narrow Baltic seas. The number in some years has averaged more than one a day, the greatest number of wrecks recorded in one year being 428 and the smallest 154.
About 50 per cent of these wrecks became total wrecks, all the crews being lost. In the four years 1877-81, no less than 700 lives were lost. With regard to these wrecks the fact, however, must not be lost sight of that many of the vessels navigating these seas are old and ill found, especially those engaged in the timber trade, for which any vessel condemned for other traffic used to be thought good enough.
Many boats which fail to pass the board of trade survey are sold to the Swedes and Norwegians and run for many years afterward in the Baltic trade. Sailing vessels are much more liable to be wrecked on these coasts than steamers, and as the former are rapidly being superseded the proportionate number of wrecks is decreasing.
—Langman's Magazine.

A DEBT DANCED OFF.

The general impression among Jim Percival's friends was that he might have done a good deal better for himself than he did in his matrimonial venture.

An M. P. with a safe seat and decided abilities, young, good looking, well connected, but having only a limited income, he was just the man who should have married money, and this is exactly what he had not done.

He met his wife in Paris during a holiday trip. She was a pretty, vivacious Irish woman, ladylike and attractive, but she had no fortune and was of no particular family.

There could be no doubt that under the circumstances his marriage was an imprudent one. With his $4,000 a year Percival had subsisted comfortably enough as a bachelor, but as a married M. P. he found that his income went simply no way at all.

The natural consequence followed. Percival got into debt.
He already owed nearly $5,000, a crushing liability to a man with a small income and no capital. Indeed, he did not attempt to disguise from himself that unless something very unexpected turned up he must soon be hopelessly insolvent.

The house was in committee on a bill which was being fought tooth and nail by the opposition, and urgent whips had been issued to the members of both parties to be as frequently as possible in their places.
But there were many dreary intervals of debate, when no big division was imminent.

In his worsted state of mind the dullness of a domestic evening or the yet duller boredom of a political conversation was unrelieved.

Within a mile of the palace of Westminster there is, as all the world knows, a famous theater of varieties. One evening during a particularly dreary debate a follow M. P. had suggested to Percival that they should run across to the X and see the rainbow danceuse.

After that night he went to see her pre-tently regularly.

Just before the dance the stage was darkened; behind loomed a background of murky clouds; gloomy as the sky before an impending storm; underneath, then a brilliant blaze of sun! It burst upon the shadowed scene, and whirling wildly in its dazzling rays appeared the famous rainbow dance-use.

If it had ended with his merely admiring this ravishing beauty from a distance all might have been well. But such in-fantuation as Percival's was not satisfied to confine itself within those modest limits.

He actually addressed one or two letters to the young lady. To his great chagrin she sent him no reply. At last in desperation he procured an introduction to the manager of the X, and besought that gentleman's aid in his foolish and culpable project.

"Well, Mr. Percival, I will communicate your wishes to the young lady, and will then let you know her reply."

The following night, when he ought to have been in his place in the house, listening to the ministerial leader's statements, he was hovering near the stage door of the X.

Percival had a cab waiting for him at the corner. He noticed another cab drawn up opposite the stage door.
In a few minutes he saw the girl hurry out and get into her cab. Then he jumped into his own, having instructed the driver to follow the other vehicle and keep it carefully in sight.

When they had driven about a mile, his cab stopped. The M. P. got out. He saw the young lady alighting from her cab about a hundred yards away. With a beating heart and trembling steps he followed her.

Percival realized with a certain thrill of uneasiness that it was P— street, the street in which his own house was situated.
But something worse was in store. The young lady stopped and appeared to be carefully scrutinizing the numbers. Then, after some evident hesitation, she walked straight up to the door of Percival's house and rang the bell. A minute later she was admitted.

All at once the truth flashed upon the unhappy M. P. There could, of course, be no doubt upon the subject. This young lady, annoyed and frightened by his persistent attentions, and seeing that silent diadems had no effect in stopping them, had taken the ready and effective method of reporting him to his wife.

He entered the drawing room. His wife was now alone. She looked up at him with a cold, altered expression that made him wince. But he persevered. He told her all. She averted her face and heard his confession to the end in ominous silence.

"And so, Jim, my make up, my golden wig and my whirling draperies—no saying nothing of the shifting lights and shadows thrown upon me—baffled even your penetration. Eh, sir?"

Jim was staring at his pretty wife, who had now risen and stood before him smiling archly, in evident enjoyment of his obvious relief and astonishment.

"And you fell in love with my make up
—for that is what it comes to, doesn't it, Jim?"

"By Jove!" he exclaimed with emphasis, "that explains it. It was your eyes that did it. Little did they draw me to the theater night after night to worship you. I could not resist the spell. I could not explain it to myself. To think I never guessed! By Jove, I was a dunder. I ought to have known that no such other eyes were to be found in all England."

"Or in all America either!" questioned the rainbow danceuse playfully.

"But, I say," asked Jim, an idea striking him, "these social functions which you have been attending so assiduously for the past few months—have they been simple bluffs to dupe your unsuspecting husband—oh, Jim?"

"Not at all, sir. I went to them all.
But as my 'turn' at the theater lasted only ten minutes or so, I was able to go there as well. Besides," she added with the slightest tinge of playful reproach in her tone,
"you have not been at home enough lately to miss me very much, have you, Jim?"

"By Jove," he cried, "I will turn over a new leaf in that respect tonight."
"There! Dear old Jim!" she exclaimed.
"Mr. Y. has paid me—what do you think?—$250 a week. That is a check for ten weeks' salary. At this rate your rainbow goddess will soon dance you clear out of debt, won't she, Jim?"

And she soon did—London Truth.

He Was the Winner.
"You seem to have plenty of money today. Been committing a robbery?"
"Hardly. I sat in a garage last night where a lot of fellows were teaching a man to play poker."

"Teaching a man to play poker? And you actually won?"
"Easy. I was the learner."—New York

TERRITORIAL DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The representatives of the Democratic party of the territory of New Mexico, in convention assembled at Santa Fe, on this 25th day of September, 1895, re-affirm our allegiance to the principles of the Democratic party as declared by its founders, and our belief that, for the first time in more than thirty years, the party has returned in its platform declarations to the principles enunciated by Jefferson and by Jackson of the Chicago platform, every sentence of the Chicago platform, and declare that we believe it to be the best expression of Democratic faith ever emanating from an assembly of Democrats, and, while thus endorsing and adopting the Chicago platform, we desire particularly to express our gratitude to the members of that convention for those portions of that platform which, without equivocation, and in language which can not be misunderstood, favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the consent of either nation, and which declares for a tariff for revenue with duties so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country, and not discriminating between class or section, thus guaranteeing to our wool and live stock interests that same measure of protection which is accorded by law to the manufacturing industries of the country.

We heartily endorse the nomination of that magnificent exponent of Democracy, the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, and of Arthur Sewall, of Maine, always a steadfast friend of silver, whose selection refutes the oft-repeated charge that the Democracy of the country seeks in this campaign to array section against section and class against class.

We heartily endorse the present Democratic administration of affairs in this territory by the governor, secretary and the judiciary thereof, as well as the officials of the land department including the surveyor-general, the registers and receivers of the various land offices, the United States marshal, the internal revenue collector, the assistant U. S. attorney for New Mexico, and the inspector of mines, and we commend the solicitor-general and the several district attorneys of the territory for the ability and zeal with which they have enforced the laws of the territory, contributing so much to the suppression of crime and the punishment of criminals.

We invite the attention of all intelligent voters of the territory of New Mexico to the administration of county affairs in those counties where the Democratic control the county administration as compared with those other counties where the Republicans are in control, believing that such comparison can but be favorable to Democratic control.

We condemn the action of the Republican delegate in congress in making subservient to the interest of his private clients the interests of the whole people of the territory of New Mexico, and preventing the passage by congress of needed legislation in the interest of the whole people, by amending the bill to validate the bonds issued for various meritorious public institutions, including the capitol, so as to cast an enormous and unjust burden upon the already overburdened people of the territory of New Mexico in the interest of his private clients. We point to him as a most conspicuous failure, so far as securing legislation in which the whole people are interested, and a complete success in his efforts to further his own selfish interests.

We declare our belief that only through the success of the Democratic party is statehood for New Mexico possible, and the Republican delegate in congress having failed to pass a statehood bill through a house with an overwhelming majority of Republican members, we charge that the Republican party in the territory and in the nation is opposed to the admission of New Mexico as a state because of our views on the silver question, and that their professions to the contrary are untrue. We call the special attention of the residents of this territory to the declaration of the territorial platform in favor thereof in the national platform and to the declaration of the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, in his letter of acceptance, in favor of statehood.

We call attention to the hardship inflicted upon our people by the lack of legislation throwing open to prospectors the mineral within claimed land grants in this territory, and we pledge the nominee of this convention to use all honorable means to secure the necessary legislation to correct this evil at the earliest possible moment.
