The San Juan county miners' association was organized in Farmington last week, with Rev. F. M. Roper, president; Rev. Hugh Griffin, vice president; Rev. A. McIntyre, secretary; and Rev. J. B. Wrightman, treasurer.

Mr. James Dane, a prominent merchant of Farmington, and Miss Eva Tuttle, a former teacher in the public schools of that place, were married at the home of Mr. G. H. Cooper last week. Rev. Roper performed the ceremony.

Farmington is to have a new school house in the near future. Colonel H. H. Williams has donated one acre of ground for the site and play grounds, the bonds have been placed, and as soon as the plans and specifications are completed work on the building will begin.

COLFAX AND TADUS COUNTIES.

O. D. Crane, an "old timer" in the newspaper business, has started a new paper at Red River, calling it the Review.

Tomorrow the mail route between Red River and Elizabethtown, heretofore owned by Moses Cardenas, will pass into W. C. Whitecarver's hands and a line of daily stages put on.

The people in western Colfax county are confidently expecting a prosperous year, and that during the summer several thousand new comers will find homes in that part of the territory.

Hon. Olin E. Smith, appointed district attorney recently, has filed his bond in a sum of $5,000 with himself, Christian Otto and Claus Schuller as sureties. The bond has been approved and accepted.

The Baldy, Elizabethtown, Hematite, La Belle and Red River City mining districts are attracting attention throughout the entire country, and the present season will undoubtedly witness the greatest mineral development ever made in New Mexico.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Fruit raisers are burning manure in their orchards these cold nights as a precaution against a blighting frost. This is a disagreeable job, but it is the means of saving the fruit whose practice it will be abundantly paid for their labor and expense.

DONA ANA COUNTY.

The Sacramento mountain country has an inexhaustible supply of timber, coal, water and in fact everything that goes to make an ideal country for the homeseeker. Government land is yet to be had and improved ranches can be obtained comparatively cheap.

SAN MIGUEL COUNTY.

A large force of mechanics and painters is at work on the Montezuma hotel at Las Vegas Hot Springs, and it is thought the house will be opened on April 15.

The daily noon-day temperature at the Montezuma hotel, Las Vegas Hot Springs, is telegraphed to Denver and displayed in the window of Captain J. P. Hall's office in that city.

The store of D. Winterville, in Las Vegas, was burglarized one night recently, and over $100 worth of cutlery taken. The rear door was broken open. No clue to the thieves.

BERNALILLO COUNTY.

Louis B. Thompson, an old and highly respected citizen of old Albuquerque, died very suddenly on Monday of paralysis of the heart, at the age of 77 years. Mr. Thompson had lived in New Mexico many years and was widely and favorably known.

On Sunday night two young men of African descent were arrested in Albuquerque by Officer Glover for unseemly conduct on the street. One of the lads giving the name of Eugene Douglas attracted attention because of the effeminate appearance presented, and close questioning brought out the fact that he was a wife. Miss Douglas then gave her age as 23 years and claims to have come from Wichita, Kas.

GUADALUPE AND UNION COUNTIES.

Posey R. Page and L. F. Churchhill, of Puerto de Luna, have been designated as members of the board of school examiners in Guadalupe county; Dr. S. I. North and Rev. S. A. Dyson, of Clayton, in Union county.

Doyle Murry of Tularosa, has been appointed agency farmer at the Mesquero reservation in Lincoln county.

Mrs. Frank Clark and family have moved from El Paso to Tularosa, where they will make their home in the future. During the month of April the cattlemen of western Socorro county expect to dispose of 2,000 head of cattle. Colonel Mothersell of Eagle, is making large purchases in that part of the county.

The Tularosa chief says that W. S. Shepherd has secured a sufficient number of sheep to fill his contract with the Mesquero Indian agency and the sheep have all been accepted and delivered. These sheep were purchased by the agent for the Mesquero Apache Indians and have been parceled out to them. The purchase of sheep for these Indians to use as a double purpose, to furnish them with wool to use and furnish wool for the manufacture of clothing, blankets, etc. For some time past Lieut. V. E. Stottler, Indian agent at Mesquero, has been instructing the Apaches in the art of weaving Navajo blankets and some of them are becoming quite expert at the business. After July 1, next, all rations except beef will be stopped by the government and then the Indians must rely upon their own resources. It is also expected that the government will soon parcel lands to the Apaches and the remaining unoccupied portion of the reservation will be opened up for settlement by whites.

No New Mexican library will be complete without a copy of the pamphlet, and as an acquisition to the family history of the legislators, it will possess great value to the coming generations.—San Marcella Bee.

Several blocks of houses on Sublette avenue were flooded to the second story. Police boats have rescued 20 people from them. Railroad traffic has not been so demoralized all winter. THURSDAY, APRIL 1.

The tariff bill yesterday passed the house of representatives by a vote of 205 to 122, 21 members not voting.

In all probability the last and final act in the Chavez tragedy will take place in the jail yard in this city tomorrow.

UNLESS Governor Thornton resigns, no appointment as governor of New Mexico need be expected until April 12. Hence, men and brethren, you must wait.

It is reported that many railroad companies have withdrawn from the Western Freight association, and that the remaining ten members have suspended relations with this organization.

The house of representatives has passed the Dingley tariff bill and the senate can do no better than to follow this whole-some example with the greatest speed.

Our men are still plentiful in Washington looking for any and everything in the way of office. Nevertheless Mr. McKinley is taking his own good time about the matter of filling offices with new appointments.

The Japanese representative at Honolulu has sent to Tokyo for a warship, and threatens to do all sorts of tragic things, because a recent shipment of immigrants from his country were refused permission to land at Honolulu, having failed to comply with the immigrant law.

The Washington dispatches of yesterday would seem to indicate that the administration will refuse to further interfere in the Borrego case, although nothing official has as yet been received from headquarters. Today we no doubt tell the story. There seems to be little hope for the condemned men, and the sentence of the law will probably be carried out on Friday.

THERE is a good deal of rot being talked as to this man or that man standing the best chance for appointment as governor of New Mexico. The truth is, that nothing has been determined on, so far as any applicant or any outsider knows. The truth is good enough for this paper. It will give the news of the appointment as soon as determined on, never fear.

A few days ago the Washington correspondents sent out word, that President McKinley had concluded not to appoint any applicants, who had held office under the Harrison administration. The next day the dispatches contained the news, that Frank W. Palmer, of Chicago, who was public printer under the Harrison administration, had been reappointed as such. Even the best of Washington correspondents will make mistakes. After all they are but human.

The insurgents at Crete are wisely taking advantage of prolonged deliberations among the powers to arm and equip large bodies of troops, and to otherwise prepare for a struggle now thought to be inevitable. It must necessarily be of brief duration, providing the concert of the powers is maintained, but it is just on this point that Greece and her friends of the little island find encouragement. Disunion at this time, of which there are strong indications, in the unholy combination formed to protect the sultan, would throw a ray of hope upon the situation for Greece. If not victory for her, the breaking up of this combine would at least make possible a settlement not at all to the discredit of the weaker power.

THE SITUATION OF CRETE.

The capture of a Turkish fort in Crete is remarkable for several reasons. It is mainly remarkable as a defense of the coast. The capture was effected in spite of the fire of the Turkish warships, and therefore under the guns of whatever foreign men of war may have been in the harbor of Candia. The capture was also a very spirited feat of arms, well planned and neatly executed. It will tend to hearten the insurgents and correspondingly dishearten the Turks. In fact if the powers would only keep their hands off, it seems reasonable to suppose that the Cretans would work their own deliverance from the much despised Turkish rule, without the direct assistance of the Greeks. The Greeks are keeping Turkey too busy on the Thessalian frontier to allow the sultan to reinforce his garrison of Crete, and all the signs are that the Cretans are much more than a match for this garrison if it be not reinforced. The withdrawal of the Greek troops, provided the Turkish troops were not to be increased in number, would probably solve the Cretan question, if the powers composing the concert, so called, would assent to such a solution.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD DECISION.

The Supreme court of the United States has affirmed the decision of the Supreme court of New Mexico in the case of Margaret E. Walker vs. The New Mexico & Southern Pacific Railroad company.

This was a case for damages amounting to $9,000 growing out of the great floods at Socorro in 1886 at which time the large hotel and its contents belonging to Mrs. Walker were destroyed, it being claimed that the railroad embankment so held back the water as to cause the fall and destruction of the building.

The case was tried at Socorro before Judge Freeman and resulted in a judgment for the railroad company, the court holding that the damage having been caused by surface water that there was no liability on the part of the company. The case was appealed to the Supreme court of the territory by Messrs. J. G. Fitch and N. B. Field and the judgment of the lower court was there affirmed.

The questions of law decided by the Supreme court of the United States are of considerable importance in this territory. The court holds the "special findings act" of the session of 1889 to be constitutional and also holds that the common law doctrine as to surface water is the law in New Mexico.

Mr. R. E. Twitchell tried and had charge of this litigation while it was in the courts of New Mexico, representing the railroad company, and a reading of the opinion of Mr. Justice Brewer as to the points involved in the case, demonstrates that his conception of the law of the case has been entirely correct. The opinion of the Supreme court of the United States is very complimentary to the attorneys for the railroad company in that every proposition contended for by them has been upheld.

A GRACEFUL ACT.

The surrender to the custody of the American ambassador in London, the original log of the Mayflower was a particularly graceful act, and it rather goes in grace coming as it does at a time when the U. S. senate is evincing so remarkable an exhibition of boorishness toward England. The presentation of this document was accompanied by the most bewildering exhibition of ignorance concerning American geography, ever made in England or anywhere else. The chancellor of the diocese of London, official custodian of this valuable record, inquired whether "New England was a part of Massachusetts," and found no one able to answer the question but a newspaper correspondent. Having been enlightened upon this important point, he further asked to know if Plymouth was in Massachusetts. This incident is noteworthy as showing that Englishmen otherwise well informed on a great variety of subjects, have no better disposition to inform themselves regarding America, than they were a generation or two ago. An English barrister would be ashamed of such ignorance of the geography of Hindostan as he cheerfully exhibits concerning the United States. The above incident reminds us of the English M. P. who asked Mark Twain while he was on a lecture tour in England, "if Missouri had always been the capital of the United States."

GERMANY'S MAD RULER.

The man who is doing most to humble Europe at the feet of the unspokeable Turk, is the kaiser, who puts himself forward as the champion of personal government. It is his wild assertion of Divine guidance that has, as Mr. Gladstone says, caused widespread consternation. And this young man at the head of the enlightened German nation has behaved in a way so peculiar that his eccentricities are interpreted to be indications of an unbalanced mental condition. It is a grave matter that a journal of the reputation and prominence of the London News should publish articles asserting the existence of serious apprehensions as to his mental soundness. Still there is nothing impossible or improbable in all this. The father of the emperor died of a hideous disease and he was allowed to be emperor contrary to the law which forbids one afflicted with an incurable disease to occupy the throne. There is a serious question as to whether his present majesty is not the victim of a trouble that comes within the scope of the law limiting the imperial inheritance to healthy men. Still William is slashing around as if fully persuaded not only of his infallibility, but immortality also, with all the resources of theosophy, and seems to have a lead pipe cinch on the six powers. It is rather an important question in Germany and Europe at large as to "who shall bell the cat?"

Italy is in the best position to lead the protest against making despotic madness in Germany the ruling force of Europe, but the policy of this government is tentative and timid, and it will probably fall to a stronger country than Italy to firmly oppose the rattle-brained and childish doctrine of this mad monarch who is making the European concert the laughing stock of the civilized world.

WITH THE PARAGRAPHERS.

Salient Questions of the Day, As Treated by Metropolitan Papers.

That's Correct!

It does not matter what administration is credited with prosperity, so long as prosperity comes to the people.—New Orleans Picayune.

A State in Town.
It is stated on reliable authority that Ohio has moved to Washington, and is camping in the streets.—Atlanta Constitution.

Probably He Could Not Get Away.
A Chicago man celebrated his 112th birthday yesterday. When people once strike Chicago they like to stay.—Chicago News.

Familiar Phrases.

Such familiar phrases as "robber baron," "free traders," "Pinkertons" and "Cobdenites" are appearing frequently in the tariff debate.—Washington Post.

Which is Which?

The gold Democrats of Baltimore have resolved that Mr. Gorman is "the destroyer of the Democratic party." May we ask what Democratic party Mr. Gorman has destroyed?—Atlanta Constitution.

Misdirected Criticism.

Because Mr. Ingalls chases to earn money as a reporter at the recent fight at Carson, Arkansas ministers denounce him. Criticism of his very poor report would be far more appropriate.—Chicago Journal.

A Difference Between New York and Chicago.

The Chicago city council has appropriated about $150,000 for the carrying on of the city's business for the present year. It costs New York almost $500,000 to run its municipality. One of two things must follow. Either Chicago is far smaller than her boastful citizens claim, or New York is more extravagantly run, despite the lamentations of the Chicago reformers over the misgovernment of that city.—Springfield Union.

It is not Education, that Does It.

The Galveston News is out with a proposition that education is the foe of agriculture. As soon as a young man knows much he wants to go right into town and enjoy "the vices, extravagancies, blandishments, and glitter of urban life." But then he doesn't. The farmer's boy in town lives in a boarding-house, where there is no glitter, not a bit of extravagance, neither blandishments, and not much vice. It is the itch for quick money-getting that sends the countryman to the city. Education has little to do with it, because the educated people in the country are the most successful people, just as they are apt to be elsewhere.—Brooklyn Eagle.

A Little More or Less Disgrace is of No Consequence to Nevada.

The state of Nevada will disgrace itself if it authorizes a lottery within its limits. Public sentiment throughout the nation is so opposed to lotteries that no state, and least of all Nevada, can afford to fly in its teeth. It should suffice for Nevada to have defied public sentiment by authorizing prize fighting, without going further and authorizing a lottery. The people of that state should give attention to developing its resources rather than to devising schemes to awaken the hostility of the east. It is true that the rights of a state cannot be constitutionally taken from it, and so Nevada cannot constitutionally be destroyed against its will. But at the same time there is no use in making over-conspicuous the fact that the small population of Nevada exercises the rights and prerogatives of a sovereign member of the Union.—Denver Republican.

No More Capital Punishment in Colorado.

Governor Alva Adams yesterday signed the bill abolishing capital punishment in Colorado. In so doing he placed this state in the lead of the humane movement of the closing years of the 19th century. At the same time he virtually declared to Colorado's associate states in the Union that the people of the Rocky mountains have confidence enough in their own morality to believe that the best interests of citizenship will be subserved by abandoning the severe modes of punishment and correction. Capital crime has not been frequent in Colorado since the earliest history of the state. Local conditions operate to modify rather than to stimulate the insanity of murder. Punishment by hanging or electrocution is barbarous at the best, and this community rejoices to be rid of a method of chastisement which it has found seldom necessary, even under the form of law that has hitherto existed.—Denver Times.

SWIFT'S SPECIFIC

is far ahead of any blood remedy on the market, for it does so much more. Besides removing impurities, and toning up the run-down system, it cures any blood disease, it matters not how deep-seated or obstinate, which other so-called blood remedies fail to reach. It is a real blood remedy for real blood diseases.

Mr. Asa Smith, of Greenacres, Ind., writes: "I had such a bad case of Scat Rheumatism that I became absolutely helpless—unable to take my food or handle myself in any way. I took many patent medicines, but they did not reach my trouble. One dozen bottles of S. S. S. cured me sound and well, and I now weigh 170."

FOR THE LADIES.

A GOWN OF POPLIN.

The Poplin which have finally been established in favor after great pressure from high authority, including even Queen Victoria herself, are very much like in general effect, the bengalines of a couple of years ago.

Our illustration shows a gown of grey Poplin. The skirt is the bell shape with two gores in the back. The jacket is cut short, showing the wide belt of violet velvet which confines the blouse vest of white chiffon. The vest fastens on the left side with ivory buttons. The jacket is trimmed with narrow white braid edged with gold, which is sewn on to form a single pattern.

Six square tabs of the violet velvet the same as the belt are set in the top of the collar. A frill of lace is also set into the collar, and the same lace finishes the sleeves at the wrist where will be noted novel ones.

A grey straw hat with loops of violet velvet and sprays of yellow and white flowers was designed to wear with this costume.

THE SEVENTH Beet Sugar factory in the United States was erected at Eddy, New Mexico, in 1896, and made its first "campaign," beginning November 15th, 1896, and closing February 15th, 1897.

THE CONTENT OF "SUGAR in the beet" of the crop "grown in the Eddy and Roswell sections of the valley has proven to be more uniformly high than any other part of the United States.

FORTUNATELY the land is blessed with just the fertility to produce high grade beets, and

MORE FORTUNATELY the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Co. and the Roswell Land and Water Co. have an irrigation system of great magnitude, covering a vast body of the BEST SUGAR BEET lands on earth. The water is applied to the crop WHEN NEEDED.

THE SUN SHINES more hours in the day and more days in the year in Eddy and Chaves counties, New Mexico, than in any other section of the west.

124 separate analysis, chiefly carload lots, showed AN AVERAGE of 17.01 per cent sugar in beet; 84.1 per cent purity.

THIS REMARKABLE RESULT was accomplished by raw farmers, unacquainted with the culture of beet root, on new land and under very trying circumstances, as the factory was not assured until May, and a majority of the acreage was planted between JUNE 1st AND AUGUST 10th.

THE SUGAR BOWL OF THE GREAT Southwest Is the Rich Valley of the Rio Pecos. IN THE COUNTIES OF EDDY AND CHAVES OF NEW MEXICO.

GOOD SOIL makes the seed germinate.

WATER makes the plant grow.

SUNLIGHT puts the sugar in the BEET.

THE ONLY THING left to be desired that the Pecos Valley has not on hand in abundance is PEOPLE. We need thrifty farmers; 500 heads of families each on a 40-acre farm.

NO FAIRER terms or conditions of sale of beet and fruit lands were ever made.

You may never have been, but if you cross the Atlantic, no matter how smooth the water may be, without sea sickness you are well, a lucky voyager, that is all. Old tars who have spent their lives on the ocean waves, who were almost born to speak, with their "sea legs on," suffer now and then from sea sickness in very tempestuous weather. Sea captains, tourists, commercial travelers and yachtsmen say that there is no finer safeguard against nausea than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and it has been equally reliable as a preventive by invalids who travel by steamboat and railroad, and who sometimes suffer as much in those conveyances as ocean travelers do in steamships. Bitterness, constipation, sick headache and disorders of the stomach caused by oppressive climate in inland cities or on board of some unaccustomed food or water, always yield to the Bitters speedily. This peculiar medicine also remedies rheumatism, kidney and nervous disorders, and the infirmities incident to increasing years.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a certified check of 2 percent of the amount of the bid, such check payable to Marcus Brunswick, secretary, as a guarantee that the contractor will enter into a contract for his bid, and will give satisfactory bond for the performance of his contract, as provided in the plans and specifications. A successful bidder failing to give such bond will forfeit his certified check. Bids must be made out on blank proposals, which will be furnished by the architects. J. H. BLAIN,

BERARDINELLI CONFESSES

Upon Reaching Albuquerque the Murderer Weakens and Tells Officer Carson That He Killed His Wife with a Razor.

HE CUT HER THROAT WHILE IN BED

Particulars of this Revolting Crime As Related by the Cowardly Assassin Himself.

Sheriff Kinsell returned from Albuquerque this morning, bringing with him Camilo Berardinelli. On the car coming home Berardinelli made a confession of the whole matter to Mr. Kinsell, and the confession was taken down in writing by Mr. C. F. Fowler, who sat in the seat behind.

Berardinelli said he killed his wife, and his confession, in substance is as follows: On Monday night he went to the house of Garcia, where she expected to remain until the next morning and indeed he returned home with him. This was about 9:30 o'clock. After reaching home he took his little boy to his brother's home, and on returning found his wife suffering from the toothache and it was quite late before they retired. On going to bed he occupied the side next to the wall, and for some time afterwards they talked and talked and talked. About 2 o'clock he raised up and with a razor cut her throat; she sprang out of bed and tried to find the door, and in that effort smeared the walls and floor and everything she came in contact with blood. Berardinelli got out of bed, caught his wife and a struggle followed. In this fight he lost the handle of the razor, but he threw her down and, placing a pillow over her head, held her until death came.

Berardinelli has not told what took place from the time his wife's death occurred until 4 o'clock in the morning, but it is evident from the appearance of the rooms, that he lighted a lamp and went into the kitchen, where he washed the blood from his hands and face and made preparations for leaving.

At 4 o'clock Berardinelli started for Cerrillos, walking across the country, taking with him the bloody blade of the razor, a double-barreled shot gun and 20 rounds of ammunition. On reaching Cerrillos he remained in hiding until the south bound passenger train Tuesday night.

As stated in the NEW MEXICAN of yesterday, Dr. Palmer, of Cerrillos, got off the train just as Berardinelli stepped on board. Dr. Palmer recognized him, and returned to the car, and as chance would have it found Marshal Fornoff, of Albuquerque, who had been in Cerrillos that afternoon searching for a man who had burglarized a house in his city the night before. The doctor at once informed Marshal Fornoff of the murder and told him that the murderer was on the train and volunteered to go through the car to help find him. A search was at once begun, and Berardinelli was found in a seat with his hat down over his eyes pretending to be asleep. Marshal Fornoff sat down beside him, secured the shot-gun and then raised the hat, revealing beyond a doubt the features of the man wanted. Berardinelli was searched and in his pockets were found the cartridges for the shot-gun and a ticket for Socorro, while on the seat under him was the bloody razor blade, which he had placed there in an attempt to hide it from Mr. Fornoff.

On the train Berardinelli denied all knowledge of his wife's death, or that he knew anything of the crime, but on reaching Albuquerque he confessed to Officer Carson that he committed the murder. When he was taken to jail a thorough examination was made of his person and clothing, and his underwear was found to be almost dripping with blood. When Sheriff Kinsell reached Albuquerque, he was told of the confession, but until the train was taken for Santa Fe Berardinelli would say nothing, and then he again weakened and told the whole story.

This is not the first time Berardinelli has been in trouble. About two years ago he got into a dispute with Captain J. A. Armstrong at the club in Bernalillo county and attempted to kill the captain, shooting at him once before anyone could interfere. For this he was indicted and arrested, but the case was settled by Berardinelli's pleading guilty to an assault; and he was fined $25 and costs by Judge Collier, which he paid.

Camilo Berardinelli was born in Naples, Italy, about 36 years ago, and came to America in 1875 or 1876. For eleven years he lived in this city, but for two years past he has been in Albuquerque where he was employed by the A. & P. road as a car cleaner in the shops. When he first went to that city he took his family, but about a year ago his wife and child returned to Santa Fe. A few days ago he came home, and that visit terminated in his wife's murder, jealousy being the motive for the crime.

The preliminary hearing of Berardinelli will be held before Justice Garcia on Monday.

Jail Will be Strongly Guarded.

Sheriff Kinsell was seen at the jail this afternoon at 4 o'clock, in regard to the preparations for the hanging of the Borregos tomorrow. He stated that no definite arrangements had been made at that time. A strong guard will be on duty at the jail tonight, and every precaution taken to prevent trouble of any kind, but since everything is very quiet no disturbance of any kind is looked for. One of the two companies of the National Guard will be on duty tonight, and both companies will guard the jail tomorrow.

Another Colorado Couple Married.

This morning at 9 o'clock Judge Laughlin married another couple from Colorado. The judge is bewailing the fact that under the law he is not permitted to charge a fee for tying the hymeneal knot, and is likewise barred from kissing the bride, and his only reward for such services is that which comes from making other people happy. The persons made happy this morning were Mr. John H. Gansaway, an employee of the Colorado legislature, and Mrs. Rose Young, colored people from Colorado Springs. Mr. George Brady gallantly acted as best man, and under his guidance the affair passed off without a mistake. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gansaway took the D. & R. G. train for their Colorado home.

Progressive Merchants.

Two and a half years ago Salmon & Abouseiman began business in Santa Fe in a very small way, putting in a limited stock of general merchandise. The first year they met with many discouragements, but they persevered, treated their customers in a courteous and business-like manner, and made a success of the venture. They gradually increased their stock, from time to time adding new lines as trade increased, and last month enlarged their place of business by leasing another room, tearing out the partition between, and buying a large stock of goods.

Today they carry one of the largest and best selected stocks in New Mexico, which embraces dry goods, boots and shoes, clothing, and hats and caps. This success speaks well for the business energy of the firm, and is a guarantee of future success and growth. Persons visiting their establishment will receive prompt attention, and everything will be done to please and satisfy them.

The Weather.

The weather yesterday was fair with high northerly winds. The temperature was 12 degrees below the normal, maximum 40 and minimum 23 degrees. The mean relative humidity was 34 per cent. The minimum temperature this morning was 25 degrees. Slightly warmer weather is indicated for tomorrow.
