SATURDAY, APRIL 10.

A few arbitrary rulings might do the United States senate some good.

KENTUCKY is tired of its senatorial fight and so is the country at large.

THE Democratic minority in the national house of representatives seems to have a surplus of leaders.

It is to be hoped that the next consular general to Havana will know the difference between a Cleveland consul and an American consul.

NEW MEXICO expects every assessor, every collector, every county commissioner and every member of the board of equalization to do his full duty. Do you understand?

THE fight between Calvin Brice and John R. McLean for the U. S. senatorship to succeed Mark Hanna has already commenced; and what, if Mr. Hanna should succeed himself.

MR. PRESIDENT, we do not like to hurry you, but the sooner you settle the question of the appointment of a governor for New Mexico, the better will the people of this territory like it.

WHILE the weather in Washington is reported very mild, it is nevertheless a fact that some of our friends, who desire office and are in Washington now, are feeling very blue and cold.

IN considering the result of last Tuesday's elections in Chicago, but one observation need be made and that is, that the Republicans of that city had better get together and stay together.

BEFORE the election the Chicago newspapers reported several great soundbells to be running for the office of mayor in that city. And now people wonder which soundbell was elected mayor last Tuesday.

SENATOR WOODRUFF's trip to Europe may not have done the cause of bimetalism any good, but it evidently helped him with the administration. This is well indicated by recent federal appointments in Colorado.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND soldiers are in camp in southern Russia and more are being sent there from other portions of the Muscovite empire; this certainly indicates that Russia expects no great blessing of peace this year of our Lord.

IT is expected that the agony over the appointment of a governor for New Mexico will come to an end next week. Small favors thankfully received, Mr. McKinley, and larger ones id proportion.

IT is said that the president is tired from standing off office seekers. Now there is no use in wasting any sympathy on him in this regard. He has none but himself to blame. Why does he stand them off, we'd like to know?

TASCO county bids fair to outstrip the rest of New Mexico in the discovery and operation of rich mines. But what benefits one section of New Mexico, to some degree benefits all. Hence let's give Tasco county all the help she needs in advertising and calling attention to her magnificent mineral resources.

THE Pecos valley, enjoying a great many natural advantages denied other sections of the territory is doubly blessed at present as being the objective point of large sums of capital, to be expended in developing this fertile and well watered region. There are land reclamation schemes and railroad projects galore, and from these numerous prospective enterprises, some good must come, even while they are yet in an embryonic state. Immigration follows closely upon projected railroad development, but there can be no doubt that these recently organized corporations mean business, and that the consummation of the various projects now on paper, will be only a matter of time.

RAILROAD CONSTRUCTION.
The falling off in railroad construction in this country has been generally attributed to over stimulation during the boom years between the close of the war and the reactionary period which set in about 1890, and with some reason, for in 1887 there were 12,938 miles of new tracks laid, while in 1896 only 1,848 miles were laid. But a table of statistics published recently in the London Engineer giving railway mileage of the different countries would justify the impression that there is plenty of room for railway building in this country yet.

For example, according to the tables in question, the railway mileage in Belgium is 29.1 to the hundred square miles; in Great Britain 16.6; in the Netherlands 13.5; in Germany 13.6; in Switzerland 13.1; in France 11.5; in Italy 7.8, and in the United States 5.7. Of course the population of these countries to the thousand square miles of territory is also considerably greater than in the United States, but not in proportion to the railway mileage thus estimated, and, therefore, with a revival of business and in view of the dissolution of the Steel Rail trust, it would not be surprising if there should be a considerable revival in railway construction in the near future.

BOSSISM REPUDIATED.

The late municipal election in Cincinnati conclusively proves that the people of that city had done with political bossism. The verdict at this election was a strong repudiation of political jobbery as exemplified by such men as George B. Cox and others of this ilk who trade in politics as hucksters trade in apples. When these high handed party bosses attempted to hold up the president until he would surrender to them the patronage of his office for Ohio, the people of their country quietly decided to administer a stirring rebuke. Accordingly a mixed or fusion ticket was nominated against the Cox combine, and upon the occasion of the recent election those noisy and meddlesome politicians were buried under an avalanche of over 7,000 votes. This was the answer of the citizens of Hamilton county to boss rule of which they apparently have had enough.

A TRYING CUSTOM.

It is estimated that President McKinley has within the past five weeks given personal audience to over 18,000 people beside the 18,000 with whom he has shaken hands at public receptions. There is a tradition in Washington that the White house was located at what was at one time a remote distance from the capitol, in order to remove the president as far as possible from the interference and importunity of the office-seeking constituents of senators and representatives. If this was the design it has proved a mortifying failure. Place hunters have abolished distance and take no note of time, and the president so far from being lodged in a calm retreat might as well be left standing in the rotunda of the capitol.

This is more than flesh and blood can stand for any protracted period, and it is generally and specially a great outrage. The vast majority of the host who beset the president, who crowd upon him at all hours of the day and night, want something of course. They come to importune him for office, to beg, to coax, to bully, to praise themselves to vilify somebody else, in short to bore, to vex, to irritate, to fatigue, and to wear out the chief executive.

Every president has been subjected to this kind of treatment, and every one has protested against it to no purpose. Its effect may be seen in the case of Mr. McKinley. He is a man of splendid physique, sociable and companionable by nature and training, but giving audience to 36,000 people in five weeks has proved too much for him, and he has gone to drown his sorrows in the healing waters of Chesapeake bay. It is indeed a great thing to be president of the United States.

A JUST REBUKE.

The A. P. A. council at Omaha recently sent to Senator Allen of Nebraska a communication in which the senator was instructed to vote against the confirmation of any known Catholic appointed by the president. To this foolish piece of intolerance, Senator Allen replied that he had taken an oath to support the constitution of the United States as well as that of the state of Nebraska, and that he intended to strictly observe his obligations in both cases. Continuing he says:

"I could not, if so inclined, vote to reject a competent and worthy man for a public position to which he might be appointed by the president because of his church connection or religious belief, nor would I do so under any circumstances." This act of perjury, the senator properly remarks, "no constituent has the right to ask me to commit."

It is almost incredible that in this enlightened age, any great number of American citizens should band together for the propagation of such a doctrine as is indicated in the request sent to Senator Allen, and his prompt and manly answer to these fanatics is deserving of general commendation.

It is clear enough, as he says, that he could not vote against the confirmation of a worthy appointee of the president on account of his religious belief or church connection, even if he were so inclined. We supposed that it was generally understood by intelligent American citizens that the government of the United States is completely and forever divorced from the church, and that any citizen, regardless of his religious belief, if otherwise qualified, is eligible to any office in the gift of the people. It seems, however, that the Omaha organization was unaware of the constitutional provisions in this case, and Senator Allen deserves the thanks of the whole country for the terse and forcible manner in which he has conveyed the needed information.

Salient Questions of the Day. As Treated by Metropolitan Papers.

Just About So.

A good many Democrats, especially in the south, are coming squarely over to the protection side. Of course when they get all the way over they will cease to be Democrats and become Republicans.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Quite Right You Are.

The London Times' Cuban correspondent is inclined to the belief that it were better for the United States to stop worrying about Armenia and Crete and pay a little attention to the emeralds practiced in Cuba. Quite a number of Americans take this view of the case.—Washington Post.

Colorado is Modest.

Colorado wants population to fill its 104,000 square miles of territory with 1,004,000 inhabitants in place of the 450,000 inhabitants which it now owns. To this many people it offers 2,000,000 acres of land that can be irrigated from the water resources of which the state has an unlimited quantity; and it offers as many more acres which can be redeemed by the new process of "dry farming."—Denver Times.

Hawaiian Annexation.

The renewal of activity for annexation of the islands at this time means that the Hawaiians are going to hold the Republican party to its promise of annexation. Up to the time the last administration took an interest in the fortunes of the deposed queen the uniform and unvarying attitude maintained by all previous administrations from the time of the acquisition of California was that our paramount position on the Pacific coast made it a political necessity that these islands be prevented from passing into the hands of any foreign nation, and that when the opportune time came they should be annexed to the United States. If the maintenance of that attitude for so many years meant anything the Hawaiian government expects now to accomplish annexation.—Sioux City Journal.

This day shall be a holiday in all the public schools of the county and the school officers and teachers are required to have the schools under their respective charge observe the day by planting trees and other appropriate exercises.
Given at my office this 21st day of March, A. D. 1897, in the city of Santa Fe.

His Mistake.

Miss Oldgirl—I met a man in that awfully dark street, and, my, how I ran! Mr. Guyer—And couldn't you catch him?—New York Journal.

Really Remarkable.

"I haven't seen him in a long time, and of course I don't know much about him as a man, but as a boy—a college boy—he was one of the most wonderful and remarkable persons it was ever my fortune to meet."

"What was there so remarkable about him?"

"Well, he didn't know anything at all about poker."

"A little unusual in a college youth, but I shouldn't call it so very remarkable. I've known others who didn't know anything at all about poker."

"So have I, but this boy not only didn't know anything about the game, but he knew that he didn't know anything about it. That was the extraordinary feature of it. Most of them think they know it all."—Chicago Post.

A Real Spellbinder.

"Dobbins is a good talker, isn't he?"

"Good talker? I went to his office once to borrow $50, and before I got away he had borrowed $50 from me."—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Rule.

"If any one feels angry, he should count ten before he says anything."

"Yes; when my wife is angry, it always pacifies her if I count out $10."—Chicago Record.

A Chappie's Plait.

"I'm awfully tired doing nothing, dear boy."

"Why?"

"Think's so much of it to do."—Truth.

FOR THE LADIES.

A FOULARD GOWN.

Foulard is to have a great boom if we may judge from the counters of our great stores. Shades of plum, purple and prone with white figures not too large, bid fair to outclass the long popular blue and white. An attractive way of making up this fabric shows a combination of colors which is artistic. The gown is plum colored. The skirt is made separate and joined at the band only, to a foundation skirt of abalone green taffeta. Sections of white net edged with white Valenciennes lace are let into the skirt and through them the lining is visible, making a pretty combination. The waist is made with a vest front of net trimmed with ruffles of the Valenciennes lace over a lining of white satin. Sections of the net decorate the edges of the waist. The neck and belt are finished with folds of green silk used for the lining. A bow of silk is worn as a tie. A rosette of the silk edged with ruffles of the Valenciennes lace finishes the printed belt in front. The back of the gown is seamless, smooth across the shoulders and gathered into the belt.

THE SEVENTH Beet Sugar factory in the United States was erected at Eddy, New Mexico, in 1896, and made its first "campaign," beginning November 15th, 1896, and closing February 15th, 1897.

THE CONTENT OF "SUGAR in the beet" of the crop grown in the Eddy and Roswell sections of the valley has proven to be more uniformly high than any other part of the United States.

FORTUNATELY the land is blessed with just the fertility to produce high grade beets, and

MORE FORTUNATELY the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Co. and the Roswell Land and Water Co. have an irrigation system of great magnitude, covering a vast body of the BEST SUGAR BEET lands on earth. The water is applied to the crop WHEN NEEDED.

THE SUN SHINES more hours in the day and more days in the year in Eddy and Chaves counties, New Mexico, than in any other section of the west.

124 separate analysis, chiefly carload lots, showed AN AVERAGE of 17.01 per cent sugar in beet; 84.1 per cent purity.

THIS REMARKABLE RESULT was accomplished by raw farmers, unacquainted with the culture of beet root, on new land and under very trying circumstances, as the factory was not assured until May, and a majority of the acreage was planted between JUNE 1st AND AUGUST 10th.

OF NEW MEXICO.

GOOD SOIL makes the seed germinate.

WATER makes the plant grow.

SUNLIGHT puts the sugar in the BEET.

THE ONLY THING left to be desired, that the Pecos Valley has not on hand in abundance is PEOPLE. We need thirty farmers; 500 heads of families each on a 40-acre farm.

NO FAIRER terms or conditions of sale of beet and fruit lands were ever made.

RESULT OF FINAL CANVASS

City Clerk Frank Andrews Completes the Canvass of Votes Cast at Tuesday's City Election.

DEMOCRATIC JUGGLING IS ATTEMPTED

Pressure Brought to Bear to Defraud the Two Republican Candidates Elected in the Second Ward of Certificates of Election.

City Clerk Frank Andrews canvassed the vote cast at the city election on Tuesday last, yesterday afternoon and the result appears below. Strong pressure was brought to bear on Mr. Andrews to withhold certificates of election from the two Republican candidates elected in the Second ward, it being claimed by some of the Democratic politicians, who care more for political success than for honesty and decency, that an alleged omission in the Republican ticket of that ward gave the clerk as canvassing officer, power so to do. Mr. Andrews, however, looked up the law, satisfied himself that he was simply a ministerial officer, was firm in rejecting this evil and bad advice and performed his duty as the law required and as an honest official should. He did not issue a certificate of election to Mr. Salazar, one of the Republican candidates in the Fourth ward for alderman, because he considered that the office was not vacant and that W. G. Hemingway was still in office, he having written to the mayor that he expected to return to Santa Fe soon.
