WASHINGTON NEWS BUDGET

Appointment of a Special Senate Committee Asked for by Tillman, to Investigate Rumors of Speculation in Sugar and Stocks by Senators.

FINANCE COMMITTEE UNDER A CLOUD

A Statement Made in the Senate to the Effect That the New Tariff Bill Was Drawn in Close Telegraphic Communication with New York, and in Close Touch with the Sugar Trust Magnates.

Washington, May 28.—Senator Tillman has introduced a resolution for the appointment of a special committee of five senators to inquire into reports of speculation in sugar and stocks, by senators, and also to advance information by New York speculators, as to the sugar schedule of the tariff bill, also to continue the investigation made in 1894. The resolution recites that one man is serving a sentence in jail, and that another was yesterday acquitted on a technicality, and it provides for conducting an investigation in which all questions shall be pertinent. Senator Frye in the chair, promptly referred the resolution to the committee on contingent expenses. Tillman said the Democratic members of the finance committee were under a cloud, on account of the sugar schedule in the tariff bill of 1894, and that the Republican members were now under suspicion. One party was as deep in mud, as the other in mine.

Senator Pettus demanded that Senator Tillman should specify his charges, and that the whole senate should not be subjected to his sweeping assertions. Senator Tillman said the present tariff bill was made in rooms at the Arlington hotel, with close connection by telephone and telegraph with New York, and in close touch with the sugar trust magnates.

Tillman closed with the declaration that the senate should either prove the correspondents liars, or prove the senators corrupt, and then turn them out. Aldrich denied that any person connected with the sugar trust had anything to do with making the sugar schedule. No person except the Republican members of the committee knew anything about the sugar schedule, except Senator Jones, to whom it was shown prior to being reported. He had not bought or sold a share of sugar stock. At the conclusion of Aldrich's remarks the tariff bill was taken up.

Marphy, a saloon keeper. On the night of December 29, Powers stole into Murphy's bedroom, beat his head to a pulp, with a stove poker, with the object of robbery. John Lattimore and Henry Rucker were convicted of the murder of Louis Marvay on the tow path of the drainage canal, near Summit, November 29. Rucker confessed and was given a 25 year sentence.

THE JOHN SEARLES TRIAL.

Secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company Being Tried on the Same Indictment that Confronted President Havemeyer.

Washington, May 28.—The trial of John E. Searles, secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, followed that of President Havemeyer in Judge Bradley's court today. The indictment was similar to the one against Havemeyer, except that the questions asked of Searles were somewhat different. The same lawyers who appeared for Havemeyer, had charge of the Searles defense. Several members of the senate investigation committee and other distinguished persons were present.

District Attorney Davis asked that in the event the trial was not concluded today, (although he saw no reason why it should not) it should be adjourned until Tuesday morning owing to an important engagement of counsel for the defense, Judge Bradley agreed to this. None of the first 12 talesmen were challenged, but was excused. The indifference of defendant's counsel, to the composition of the jury, seemed to indicate confidence that the case would eventually be taken out of the hands of the jury, as that of Havemeyer was.

The opinion is unanimous about the case. Judge Bradley will take the case from the jury, and order an acquittal. The government rested the case against Searles. The defense moved the jury to be instructed to bring in a verdict of acquittal on three grounds. The arguments then followed.

New Time Schedules.

Durfee, Late State Superintendent of Insurance of Illinois, Who Was Accused of Being Short in His Accounts, Has Paid Every Dollar of the Shortage.

Chicago, May 28.—Bradford K. Durfee, state superintendent of insurance under Governor Altgeld, who has been accused of being $200,000 short in his accounts does not owe this sum a cent, according to State Superintendent of Insurance Van Cleave. Durfee was removed from office on May 6. He was indebted to the state $125,000 all which has since been paid. Durfee was forced to dispose of all his salable property at a sacrifice in order to square his account. Governor Altgeld denies that he was a borrower from Durfee to the extent of $42,000.

JIM PARKER CAPTURED.

The Noted Train Robber and Murderer Captured and Landed in a Jail at Flagstaff.

Special to the New Mexican.

Albuquerque, May 27.—Advice received from Flagstaff indicate that Jim Parker, the Peach Springs train robber and murderer of Assistant District Attorney Lee Morris at Prescott, was lodged in the Coconino county jail at Flagstaff at 6:30 on Sunday evening. Particulars as far as learned show Parker was asleep at Hugh Campbell's trading post, 65 miles northwest of Flagstaff. An Indian trailer in advance of Sheriff Ruffner's and Cameron's posse fired upon him, at which Parker arose drawing a gun, and fired. In the charge of the posse, drew a bead on him, calling the outlaw to throw up his hands, which order was obeyed. He was held until the posse came up and was thereupon handcuffed and conveyed to the county seat, arriving as above. An intense feeling exists against Parker at Prescott on account of his killing Morris it is not likely the prisoner will be taken there as present.

High Water at Embudo.

Special to the New Mexican. Embudo, May 28.—Very heavy rains throughout all this section prevailed yesterday, and as far as 100 miles north. The Rio Grande has risen 12 inches during the past 24 hours, and has attained the highest stage ever known here. The lowlands on the river are all under water.

COCHITI PUBLIC LAND.

The Cochiti Land Grant Cut Down to Less Than 30,000 Acres and the Mineral District on the Public Domain.

Great interest being felt as to boundaries, under the recent decision of the U. S. supreme court, of the Cochiti land grant in Bernalillo county, a representative of the New Mexican called on Surveyor-General Easley and from that official the following facts were gleaned: Under the decision of the court of private land claims and the opinion of the Supreme court of the United States, as nearly as can be ascertained, the Cochiti land grant, No. 208 on the docket of the court of private land claims and claimed by Joel Parker Whitney of Boston for 104,000 acres, will be about 25 1/2 miles from east to west and one and one-half miles from south to north, the northern boundary running about one and one-half miles north of the northern boundary of the Cochiti pueblo.

The mineralized sections in that vicinity are all without the boundaries of the grant, such as the Colla, Media Dia, Peraltas and Pina encinos; the Bland townsite is located about four miles north of the northern boundary as fixed by both courts. As nearly as can be ascertained without an actual survey, the grant, as it will be finally confirmed and surveyed, will contain between 25,000 and 30,000 acres, or less than one-third of the area claimed.

It is expected that from now on, it being certain that the Cochiti mining district is on the public domain, steady and great development of the vast mineral deposits in the district will be the order of the day and that the district will speedily become prosperous and support several good and permanent mining camps.

OUTLOOK FOR STOCKMEN.

An Interview with Hon. W. H. Jack of Silver City, Chairman of the Cattle Sanitary Commission and All Around Stock Expert.

Hon. W. H. Jack of Grant county, is in the city on business connected with his duties as chairman of the cattle sanitary commission. Mr. Jack manages cattle ranches in Grant and Union counties and is one of the best posted and most successful stockmen in the territory, besides being a first rate fellow all around. In a conversation with a representative of the New Mexican, Mr. Jack stated, that the ranges throughout New Mexico were in the finest possible condition and that water was plentiful. During the past eight months an enormous business has been done selling New Mexico feeders and stockers at very remunerative prices. These cattle have gone nearly all to Kansas, where they will be fed for market. With a good corn and hay crop in the state of Kansas this year a vast amount of money will be made by the Kansas farmers and the feeding ranches. The indications for a first-class cattle crop in that state are excellent. He estimated the number of cattle on Kansas feeding ranches at over 600,000.

Mr. Jack states that it is almost impossible now to buy any steers in this territory, in western Arizona or northern Mexico, the ranges having been depleted of the class of stock. A good many of New Mexico's stockmen have made big money during the past few months and many who lost heavily a few years ago have recuperated. The increase in cattle is very satisfactory and could not be stopped, the New Mexican cattle owners this year would have nothing to wish for.

The legislation in the interest of that great industry in this territory, passed during the Thirty-first and Thirty-second legislative assemblies is proving very beneficial and is helping the cattle owners very much. The cattle sanitary commission is very vigilant all stock shipped out or brought in to the territory is carefully and thoroughly inspected and whenever and wherever possible the commission prosecutes cattle thieves and rustlers. The number of stock cattle and cows now on the New Mexico ranges, Mr. Jack thinks, is smaller than it has been since 1881. After imparting this information, Mr. Jack smiled his genial smile, said he thought this year the cattlemen of New Mexico were certainly the salt of the earth and that he felt at peace with everybody, except the stock and cattle thieves and rustlers.

ANOTHER OPEN SWITCH.

The Atlantic Express Runs Into An Open Switch at Glenwood Springs, Colo., Killing An Engineer and Fireman and Seriously Injuring a Number of Passengers.

Denver, Colo., May 28.—A special to the Times from Glenwood Springs, Colo., says: An extra freight going west on the Denver & Rio Grande, ran upon the Cañon siding this morning, to allow No. 4 passenger, the Atlantic express, to pass. The switch was left open. The first section of the passenger ran into the open switch derailing the engine, mail and baggage cars, and one passenger coach. Engineer John West, and Fireman Denny Donahay, were instantly killed. The passengers were badly shaken up. Some of them were thrown through holes out in the coach, and were bruised and out, but it is thought that none were fatally injured.

All the passengers on the wrecked section, were brought to Glenwood on the second section. Those requiring medical attention are, Mrs. Imogene Brown of Los Angeles, Cal., head out and badly shocked; Miss Porter of Maine, arm crushed and severe nervous shock; Mrs. S. A. Ayers of Minneapolis, limb crushed and body bruised; the 6-year-old son of Mrs. Melker of Lincoln, Neb., gash in side of his head; Mrs. Sarah Barrows, missionary from Moulmein, India, severe injury to spine and nervous prostration. The blame for the accident seems to rest with the brakeman of the freight, who left the switch open. Engineer West, seeing the open switch, blew his whistle, ordered his lever and struck to the engine. But for his prompt action, many more would be numbered among the dead. The accident occurred at a dangerous point, on the banks of the river, where a little more momentum would have precipitated the entire train into the water.

NEW MEXICO MINING NEWS

The Manager of the Pacific Properties at Pinos Altos Preparing for Extensive Development Work.

TO OPEN THE CARBONATE KING MINE

A Rich Strike Made in An Abandoned Mine at Hanover—Lead Carbonate Which Runs from 40 to 50 Per Cent, with 10 to 12 Ounces of Silver.

GRANT COUNTY.

A New Hampshire and Grand Central, on Chloride Flat, are being worked by Manuel Taylor, who employs eight men in the two mines. Last month 160 tons of ore were delivered at the Silver City reduction works by Mr. Taylor.

About ten days ago I. Mayfield made a rich strike in an old abandoned mine located a half mile east of the store at Hanover. The ore, which is a lead carbonate, runs 40 to 50 per cent and 10 to 12 ounces of silver, and judging by investigations made by sinking several prospect holes along the trend of the deposit, the supply of ore is inexhaustible and equally as good in one place as another.

A. B. Laird and George Knox have begun work on the Cinco Señoras, in Hanover gulch, at the bottom of an old shaft 80 feet in depth, a good body of copper ore has been uncovered and a sample lot of ten tons shipped to the Silver City reduction works.

The Guadalupe, Oride, and Chino mines, leased by B. Gilchrist from the Santa Rita company, are under development. Thirty men are at work in the three claims, and two new whims have been ordered from Denver to be used on the properties. The new shaft on the Guadalupe is down 70 feet and shows a three foot vein which runs 24 per cent copper, and on the Chino an ore streak has been uncovered which shows 16 per cent copper.

Weems & Anderson, leasers of the copper King in the Little Hatchet mountains, have uncovered a large body of ore and with a force of 12 men are shipping from 160 to 200 tons of ore per month. The ore runs from 60 to 100 ounces in silver and 5 per cent in lead.

Negotiations are under way for opening up the Carbonate King, in the Big Hatchet mountains, owned by Jo E. Sheridan of Silver City. This property shows a good body of lead carbonate ore running high in lead, but very low in silver, and carrying about $2 per ton in gold.

The Treasury Mining company is busily engaged in placing new machinery in the mill at Pinos Altos. Development work in the mine is being pushed and good bodies of ore are showing up. It is expected the mill will be ready for work by the first of next week, and then a large force of men will be put to work in the mine and mill.

D. B. Gillette, manager of the Pacific properties in the Pinos Altos district, is retrimbering the shafts with the view of deeper and more extensive work and development. For 25 years the Pacific claims have been worked with the object of getting out everything in sight and making no improvements, and have produced millions in gold. The new management proposes to put the property in good shape and carry on the work in a systematic manner.

BERNALILLO COUNTY.

The ore taken from the Black Girl, in the Cochiti district continues to improve. The new shaft on the Master Irwin, in Peralta canon, is down 40 feet and the lead shows great value.

The Rising Sun, owned by Messrs. Chase, Faxon & Co., is at present being worked by the last named, who has begun to sink a winze near the end of the 120-foot tunnel and on a four foot vein of slightly decomposed quartz that is well mineralized.

The Crown Point, under the management of Henry Lockhart, is showing up in the shape. A one load of rich ore has just been shipped to Pueblo from the mine, and a large force of men is constantly employed in developing the property.

TAOS COUNTY.

Thirty-two miners and prospectors arrived in Red River one day last week. Manager Johnson has let the contract for 100 feet of development work on the Johnson near the Belle, operations to begin at once.

The Hidden Treasure in the Red River district in a crosscut tunnel has been driven 150 feet, cutting a two foot vein, which runs well in gold.

The Italian tunnel in the Red River camp has been driven about 150 feet, at which distance an 18 inch vein was cut. The vein was blind, not reaching to the surface, and runs high in gold from a sample taken entirely across. The Ron Boy is located in Pioneer gulch, within a half a mile of Red River City. The property has been opened by a tunnel, and at the distance of only 46 feet a four inch vein was cut which gives high assay values. The rich streak was found next a high porphyry dike, which rises above the surface fully 75 feet. But little work has been done toward developing the find.

SILVERA COUNTY.

About 60 tons of first-class ore will be shipped to El Paso from the Weeks mine this day of the week.

The output of the Hillaboro mines for the week ending May 20, was 105 tons, making a total for the present year, 3,010 tons.

Three cars of machinery have been received at Silver City for the Copper Queen mill at Cooney.

The Callard mill at Hillaboro, is kept busy on ore from the Richmond, and 250 tons are at the mill ahead of the work of reducing.

Sanders & Co., leasers of a claim on the Snake property near Hillaboro, are leading in the output, having a two foot vein of heavy sulphide ore running from four to five ounces in gold to the ton.

The sample shipment from the Maud S, sent to the Silver City reduction works for treatment two weeks ago, netted over $600 for the three tons, running two and eight-tenths ounces in gold per ton, the balance of the value being silver. As work progresses on the Maud S the ore increases in value. A fine body of high grade ore has been struck on the 375 foot level. Another strike has been made on the 150 foot level, and is supposed to be the upper portion of the ore body found below. The ore is said to be of higher average value than anything found heretofore in the mine.

Baking Powder Absolutely Pure.

COLFAX COUNTY.

Messrs. Logan, Van Allen and Lester started work, about a week ago, on the placers, and are doing well.

The placers are attracting a great deal of attention, and many are engaged in prospecting for locations daily.

Jones and Thompson have returned and gone to work on the Missing Link, and Craig and Hixenbaugh of the Elkhorn are expected in camp in a few days.

The Urraca and Bonito mining district, situated near the town of Cimarron and about 25 miles from Springer, is at present attracting wide attention from miners and prospectors, as well as capitalists.

J. L. Abren has opened up a new prospect to the west of the Fanny, and is at work sinking a 30 foot shaft, expecting to strike the vein at that depth.

Messrs. Fraser, Thurman and Davison, Cripple Creek prospectors, have located some claims. One of the party is going shortly to bring the families of all, when they will build houses and live in the Bonito.

The Urraca and Bonito mining district has shown up some excellent assays in the past two months, and it is only a matter of a short time until it makes a relative showing with a number of other good camps in Colfax county.

FRIDAY, MAY 28.

A BARRIT plague in western Nebraska makes another demand upon Mr. Bryan's genius for reform.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY is opposed to the proposition to enlarge the White House. It holds as many office seekers now as any man of his finite powers is able to cope with.

TAMMANY HALL will endeavor to capture the offices of greater New York upon a campaign of personal liberty, free silver and cheap gas. The result of the campaign will be awaited with great interest throughout the land.

The Havemeyer trial, which promised to develop several large sized sensations, was of brief duration and very tame indeed. Counsel for the defense yesterday made a motion to dismiss the case, and the court sustained the motion. That's all.

GENERAL WEYLER's press bureau is very busy these days chronicling alleged Spanish victories. Simmered down, these mean that a Cuban hospital has been attacked, the sick and wounded and physicians butchered and the women nurses violated.

SPANISH victories and pacification to the contrary notwithstanding, General Weyler is not going about the pacified provinces unless accompanied by from 30,000 to 40,000 soldiers. He must have a funny idea of the meaning of the word "pacification."

Once office seekers want Mr. McKinley to show his great and abiding love for the Buckeye state by appointing more Ohio men to office. There is one thing easily noticeable about the average Ohio man and that is, that he knows on which side his bread is buttered.

THE Greek authorities, whomsoever they might be, are informing the Cretans that they should be certain to accept autonomy. Under the Grecian circumstances, the Cretans would be wise to accept anything or nothing just as it comes.

THE president's recent visit to Philadelphia was so embittered by the importance of office seekers that it is said he will never care to go there again while in office. His annoyance could not have been more intense had it been at Canton.

AN Arizona merchant named Walker has been arrested on his way east and taken back to the territory for trial. He lingered too long in a Kansas town, and will now regret that he did not keep on walking as long as the walking was good.

MAYOR HARRISON of Chicago, does not propose to have that town as "wide open" as the criminal classes expected. And now there is gnashing and wailing among the many sports who voted for him and helped to elect him. In this case, as in most everything in politics the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

It is said that there are over 150 war correspondents of the various European and American newspapers now in Athens. Should King George order a conscription to fight the Turks, these abroad pencil-pushers will all put on broad-brimmed hats and shiny-belly coats and claim that they are Quakers, and therefore exempt from the draft.

A DIVORCE was granted a Texas woman the other day on the ground of failure to provide. The evidence went to show that on one occasion her lord and master brought home a dozen eggs and ordered them cooked. He then gave his wife one, and ate the other 11 himself. This was enough and the decree was immediately granted.

SOMEbody will be mildly dissatisfied with any possible tariff bill, and will go down to newspaper row and roar ruin through the press. That is the situation, but the masses of the people want a tariff bill, and want it badly and quickly. Lost time just now is a two-edged knife. It has been inserted, and is being twisted and it hurts. Call time on the tariff.

PRINCE CONSTANTINE has struck the right spot at last. He is at Thermopylae and for several days has declined to order a retreat, though there are Turks in full view. The prince is being educated in military affairs by absorption. The process is that of capillary attraction. That is the reason the prince spends so much time seated on the ground.

AN Indian cave has just been discovered in Indiana. It was also a tomb. There is first a cave, then a second apartment leading into the third "by means of a doorway chiseled out of solid stone." That is the proof that Indians did it. When they wanted a doorway they always chiseled it in stone. That's what their tomahawks and scalp knives were for. They were implements of art only incidentally employed occasionally in murder!

GERTRUDE FRANKLIN AHERTON, who some ten or twelve years since married into San Francisco's 400, and then disgusted her set by taking to flashy literature, has just turned out another novel that has given the fair lady's erstwhile associates a veritable shock. The book has been prohibited in the public libraries of San Francisco, and in consequence of this prohibition has had an enormous sale on the coast.

SENATOR TILMAN of South Carolina, is an experienced person. He thinks there are senators terrified by the idea of a sugar investigation. Now, nothing could be more harmless than a sweetness like that. The senators who speculate and carry on business in Wall street act through experts who do not use the telegraph or leave any tracks. The small fish only are caught in the net by the gills. The big ones get through. The senator from South Carolina will pick up the true news presently.

In an alleged interview with Weyler, which has been printed by a New York paper and telegraphed to the press of the whole country, the Spanish general refers to his proclamation declaring that the greater part of the island has already been pacified, and in the next breath he asserts that the recognition of belligerency by the United States will "assure the successful issue of the new Spanish loan and enable us to carry on the war with renewed vigor." It is a strange sort of pacification which leaves the island in such condition that a new loan is necessary to carry on the war with renewed vigor.

THE way to pass the tariff bill is to pass it, not to debate it. The friends of the measure should do very little talking. The country is tired of talk, talk, talk about the tariff. The people know as much about the principles of protection as they want to, and the way to do with the bill is to pass it promptly and talk about it afterwards. The country will be very impatient with the speechmakers. Let the Republicans avoid the condemnation. The bill will talk for itself, and as it goes through the senate it should be put through, jammed through the house without the change of a letter or a punctuation mark. Call time on the tariff.

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

The county commissioners of the respective counties throughout the territory should consider with as much favor as the law and the financial conditions of their counties allow the recommendation of Acting Governor Miller relative to additional exhibits for the Tennessee exposition. Mr. Miller says the impression seems to be that when the legislative appropriation for the exposition had been exhausted, there could be no possible further action in the matter of an additional exhibit, for lack of funds. This Mr. Miller explains is an error. The commissioners for the respective counties of the territory are fully authorized to make appropriations for this purpose, and it seems to be the general opinion that it would be a sad mistake to allow this occasion to pass unheeded. No great amount of cash is needed to make creditable displays of agricultural and other products in which New Mexico excels. There is horticulture for example. The territory has a great future in this industry alone, but it is not generally known to the country at large that New Mexico possesses very superior advantages for fruit raising. If it were known, there would be a rush to this territory, of which the whole history of immigration has no likeness. What is true of this, applies in a measure to the other industries of the territory.

At the present time but a single industry is represented at this great exposition, as far as New Mexico is concerned. This is all right as far as it goes, but it doesn't go far enough by a long way. Every one concedes the success of our mineral exhibit. It is attracting a great deal of attention and will do the territory good. Why not add to this with an exhibition of some of our other productions, in other words, why not have an all around display adequate to the occasion and to the section of country represented. If action is to be taken at all, it must be taken at once to be effective. The county commissioners should look into this matter. The chances are ten to one that they will find a strong public sentiment favoring appropriations for extending our exhibit at Nashville, until it shall embrace at least our leading productions.

THE COCHITI DECISION.

The practical effect of the decision of the Supreme court of the United States in the Cochiti land grant case is to throw the mineral land of that district open to location, says the Denver Republican. The decision of the land grant court in regard to the northern boundary of the grant is sustained by the Supreme court, which has the effect of drawing the boundary south of the valuable mineral locations.

All locations already made are good, for the land was never the property of the land grant claimant. It has always been part of the public domain since the country was acquired from Mexico. The grant being inapplicable to the locality of these mining claims by the decision of the Supreme court, it has always been inapplicable. A location made according to the mining laws when Cochiti first began to attract attention will stand if it has been kept alive by performance of annual labor, just as in the case of mineral locations on any other part of the public domain.

There is some question whether much really valuable mineral exists in the Cochiti district, but this should soon be set at rest. The case has been remanded for further investigation into the western boundary of the grant, but this need not interfere with the location and development of mineral claims. The ruling of the Supreme court on the northern boundary having thrown the mineral ground outside the grant, no one need bother about what the grant claimants may do or may not do with the land, which probably will ultimately be confirmed to them.

FOR THE LADIES.

A CHEVIOT GOWN.

A fine light-weight summer cheviot, green-green in tone with trimmings of black and white makes a pretty and serviceable costume for the summer. A style less severe than a tailor made costume and yet not over-elaborate is shown here.

The skirt is cut with a circular front and two back gores which are laid in two side plaits at the top, groups of three rows of black braid trim the foot of the skirt.

A short bolero is cut in graceful curves in front, the back being cut out in a point at the center to show the under blouse of white lisle muslin.

The deep belt of black satin fastens at the left side. Revers and turnover collars of white moccie cloth. Stock of black satin. Hat of black straw with heather and green ribbon.

A CASHMERE GOWN.

A dark pea green cashmere is effectively made with a fancy green silk of the same shade having figures of black and violet.

The silk is employed for the bodice which has a seamless back over a fitted lining, the front being gathered over a square opening in which white chiffon is shirred. The collar is of white tulle with a frill of lace. A graduated ruffle of the same lace fills the opening of the bodice at the left side of the front. The sleeves of cashmere are gracefully tucked. The skirt is finished at the foot with a band of the fancy silk. Belt of black satin ribbon. Hat of black lace and white tulle with black feathers.

OVER THE TEA URN.

He sat on the edge of his chair and stared at her miserably over the top of his teacup. The popularity of the teakettle and the chafing dish in good society seems to me a graceful recognition by women of the charm that housewifely cares still have for them. The kitchen is so attractive that even the drawing room cannot dispense with its graces. A woman who is barred out of her kitchen by a French chef will still cling to the privilege of using her chafing dish, and in her case it is beautiful and significant that it should be so, but—"Well?" asked she politely.

"I don't see what, from that point of view, you are doing with a teakettle. You have injured all that it stands for. You have found something better than the domestic life."

"That is nonsense," responded the woman of genius crossly, for her work had not gone well that day. "Personally I adore the domestic life. In general it adds the element of grace to the life and of graciousness to the woman when she takes up that form of existence not because it is the only form, but because it is the sweetest of all."

"Those are very pretty views—very pretty," he remarked gloomily, "but I have observed that you practiced them. It isn't of any particular avail for salvation to assent with one's intellect to any orthodox doctrine while one's actions are still heretic. You have refused the things that are the best of all."

Who said I had refused them?" she demanded impatiently. "You wouldn't have me marry the wrong man just to show that my views upon the woman question were conservative, would you?"

"That is an easy thing to say, but you know you will never find the right one." She looked at him—a curious, measured, wondering gaze. There was scorn in it, but was it all scorn? "No," she said slowly, "I am not unimpaired enough for that. I intend to let him find me, even though we play at hide and seek together all our days."

"Do you mean—would you really listen?"

It was half an hour later before it occurred to him that all this was violating precedent.

"Do you suppose you can be happy?" he inquired, and then he brought up the subject of the books in which the married woman of genius had always been miserable. He refrained, however, from speaking of those households which had fallen under his observation in which the husband of the genius had been dissatisfied with the cooking of the breakfast.

"Oh, books," said she, with an infinite scorn. "Haven't you noticed that people write best about things of which they know absolutely nothing? Do you really mean to say that you have been influenced in this by books?"

"I nodded silently. "And so you thought I did not care, and would not marry you, dear?"

"I thought so. Yes." An adorable smile bent her lips. "Don't you think you were rather hasty, not to say unkind, in adopting so completely the generalization that the artist rejects—love and with it life?"

"But if you had heard yourself talking of your work," he cried, "you seemed to think art the one thing in the world. Every word fell like a clod on a coffin."

"Why should I not speak of art with fervor? I feel it all, and you had not offered me any career which I preferred."

"Ah, but do you, will you always prefer it? It is not as if you were merely talented, you know, to give up?"

"Give up? But I intend to give up nothing! I am afraid you are a little stupid." "Would you mind explaining the situation to me?" he asked humbly.

"That is very easy," she said composedly. "I simply don't intend to be unequal to the combination of love and art."

The luminous brilliancy of this solution kept him silent, while she went on:

"Those women you read about, you know, were under the disadvantage of not being modern when they tried to do things. They were working against a tremendous though perhaps invisible pressure. The world wasn't adjusted so as to help them and make the solution of their problems easy. They felt that horrible weight—the pressure of the disapproval of the universe—and could not stand out against it. One has a deliciously buoyant sensation—the Lord is on our side feeling—that is in itself a guarantee of success. Then, you know, we have better health and fewer nerves than women used to have, and that makes a difference."

"But suppose," he persisted, "just suppose that you were to fail. What then?"

"One is willing to pay a certain price for the best things," she admitted slowly, "if the goods are delivered. It is possible that happiness might be a very bad bargain, even though I paid for it with art."

"Ah, darling," he began. But she went on: "But I shall not have to do it. I shall have my cake and eat it too."

He looked at her with an expression of admiration which almost hid his fundamental skepticism.

"You are," he said, with sudden illumination, "something more advanced than modern. You are she of whom we have heard—the coming woman."

She looked down at the pink palm which he had held fast in his own through all her self possessed eloquence, and suddenly a wave of color rose and swept across her face.

"Ah, no!" she said softly. But he heard her. "Whether I succeed in combining love and art or not, it seems to me I have arrived!"—Exchange.

The Best.
Young Loebinar came out of the West.
And in all the wide moorland his bike
Was the best.
Of course, you'll be careful to keep it
In view.
That of everyone's wheel quite the Same thing is true.

Complexion Indications.
The complexion of persons whose digestion is out of order, who are bilious, or who lack vigor, in many cases exhibits an unhealthy tint. It is by regulating the bodily organs and promoting digestion and assimilation, that the parchment hue indicative of ill health, is banished from the cheeks. To rectify the fault of a sallow complexion, use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an invigorant and alterative which removes those obstacles to strength, physical comfort and personal attractiveness—an imperfect digestion and secretion, and a disordered condition of the bowels. Persistence in the use of this inestimable corrective and tonic will assuredly result in renewed physical regularity and vigor, will tend to the bodily substance, and cause the glow and clear color of health to return to the sallow, washed cheek.

Bill's In Trouble.
I've got a letter, parson, from my son away
out west.
An my heart is heavy as an anvil in my breast.
To think the boy whose future I had once so proudly planned.
Should wander through the path of right an come
to such an end.
I told him when he left us, only three short
years ago.
He'd himself a plow in a mighty crooked
row.
He'd miss his father's counsel as his mother's prayers, too.
But he said the farm was hateful, an he guessed he'd have to go.
I know that the best temptation for a youngster
in the west.
But I believed our Billy had the courage to resist.
An when he left I warned him o' the ever wait-
in snares.
That lie like hidden serpents in life's pathway everywhere.
But Bill he promised faithful to be keener an allowed.
He'd build a reputation that'd make us mighty proud.
But it seems as how my counsel sort o' faded
from his mind.
An now the boy's in trouble o' the very worst kind.
His letters came so seldom that I somehow sort
o' knowed.
That Billy was a tramp on a mighty rocky road.
But never once imagined he would bow my head in shame.
An in the dust'd waller his old-daddy's honored
name.
He writes from out in Denver, an the story's
mighty short.
I just can't tell his mother—it'll crush her poor
old heart.
An so I reckoned, parson, you might hear the news to her—Bill's in the legislature, but he doesn't say
what fur.

The Fact Remains.
Men may chide and sneer, averring
That love is dead today.
Could they see pulses stirring
In the good old fashioned way.
Maid may prate that love is madness.
Wait until a lover's eyes
Wake the sleeping soul to gladness.
Only love, dear girls, is wise.

A Strong Man's Weakness.
For God's sake, don't say nuthin now, boy!
I ain't bear nuthin more, don't jes' now.
I've been hit, in his hand, but I'm somehow Er standin' at, though I allow I'm jes' dazed, not all here. I ain't kickin, Nor bit, I'm er gittin resigned.
But, for God's sake, don't speak don't say nuthin!
Leastways don't say nuthin that's kind!
I know what yo' say o' I'd let ya.
But, boys, I ain't stand er; that's all.
Ef what's kep'n yer strong men's lips twitche
Wuz told, I should break down 'n bow!
Like er baby. Don't put what's er moist'nin
Yer eyes later words! I don't mind
Ef ya talk common talk, but, for God's sake,
Now, boys, don't say nuthin that's kind!

The Crucial Test.
"I always feel so brave," she said,
"When I see the cycle pedals tread."
Like some world conquering cavalier,
I ride, unconscious all of fear!
A field mouse crossed our winding way—
A snap, a scream, a swerve, a sway!
And roadside gully did reveal
A potpourri of maid and wheel.

Self reverence, self knowledge, self control—
These three alone lead to sovereign power.
—Tennyson.

All who joy would win
Must share it. Happiness was born a twin.
—Byron.

ABERAYNORTHROWN

THE GUERRILLA CHIEF AND THE AL-LEGED MRS. ZEB WHITE.

How the Possum Hunter Impersonated
His Wife and Gave Abe a Great Surprise—After That Her Name Was a Terror in the Tennessee Mountains.

I had been trading war stories with Zeb White, the possum hunter, of Tennessee as we sat at a table together and smoked our pipes when he said:
"What made it bad for our wimmen folks yer doin' the war was the guerrillas who used to go shakin' about and robbin' burnin' both sides alike. In this nayburhood was a feller named Abe Raynor who had about 20 men with him, and he did nuthin but ride about and bluff and rob the wimmen. Now and then, as in the case of my old woman, he'd send somebody wunt stand right up and defy him, but befo' he got through with it he'd messed everybody out and left the cabins fire behind 'em. After my old woman had died him two or three times he got mad
and swore he'd drive her out at any cost,
and just about that time I got a furlough
and come home."

"When I heard what Abe had been up to,
I wanted to hunt him down right away,
but he was puttin' in to be a good Confederate, and it wouldn't jest do to kill him off. I thought over it fur awhile and then got a plan. One day when I heard he was down at the Corners with his gang I had the old woman dress me in her clothes and then sent her off up stairs to hide. I had no whiskers in them days, and when I got dressed up in female clothes I didn't 'pear much like a man. I was at work in the kitchen when a gang of a dozen guerrillas rode up to the cabin and Abe Raynor got ole and his boss and kicked the door open and yelled:
"Hello, thar, ole woman! Do yo' want to pack up any of yo' traps befo' I sot fire to the house?"

"What's the row? sez I as I goes to the door.
"We've come to burn yo' out."
"What fur?"
"Jest to keep our hand in."
"But I'm fur the south and my ole man is in General Lee's army. Reckon yo' dastn't burn down no cabins over the heads of good Confederates."

"He said it didn't make no difference to him, kase he was a bigger man than General Lee, and his plan was to burn all the cabins around yere, so as to discomfit the Yankees if they got up so fur. I begged him not to burn me out, but he only laughed at me. Bimbley I sez:
"Abe Raynor, I'm doin' fur my ole man an a furlough, and if he finds this cabin gone he'll hunt yo' down."
"Zeb White couldn't hunt down a rabbit," sez he as he laughs in my face.
"Mebbe yo' don't know him."
"Mebbe I do, and if he was yere I'd mail him to a tree by his ears and he'd cry like a child. If yo' want to save anything from this house, yo' better be mighty spry, kase we can't stand yere all day
chinnin' with a woman."

"Abe Raynor, sez I, 'I'm only a pore weak woman, but I'm the wife of Zeb White, who kin who any man in this country. Seems like yo' orter be willin to gin me a show."
"What sort of a show?"
"I'll tackle yo' single handed, and if I can't flop yo' this cabin may burn. And if yo' ain't a coward, yo' gin me a show."

"I ain't a coward, yo' gin me a show," he sez,
as his men began to laugh.
"Then yo' orter be fur me!"
"That roused him up, jest as I had counted on," said Zeb, "and after a little he promised that if I could lay him on his back he'd let the cabin stand. That was what I wanted, and I stepped out thar on that clear spot and told him I was ready. He took off his coat and flung down his hat, and I seed that he meant to use me rough. We danced around a bit, and then he came fur me. I was ready fur him, and he was on his back befo' yo could count ten. It was a fair fight, and all the men seen so, but the critter got up in a twink, he'd bin downed by a woman and felt cheap, and he said he'd hev another try at it. I was willin, and when he cum agin I gin him the back heel and a flop,
and he went head over heels and plowed up the alrth. When he got up, he was the maddest man yo' ever seed. The boys was a-chinnin' and a-laughin at him and he wasn't gwine to hev it that way. He looks at me a bit and then sez:
"Mrs. White, if yo' was a man, I'd whop yo'!"

"Yo' needn't mind my sex, sez I.
"I think I'll cuff yo' ears to I'm yo' son-
in-law!"
"If yo' think yo' kin do it, cum on!"
"The gang cried out that it wasn't a fair fight a woman, but Abe was mad clear thru, and he cum fur me. I let him play around fur a few minits, and then jumped on him and picked him up and throwed him over the fence. He cum down on his head with a crash and it was jest half an hour by the clock befo' he was able to climb into his saddle and ride off. He'd burned the cabin quick 'nuff, but the men said it was a fair bargain and sided with me."

"And was that the last of the affair?" I asked of Zeb, as he paused.
"No, not exactly," he replied. "He went away that day, but he'd bin licked by a woman and it rankled, and he couldn't abide it. The blamed critter thirsted fur revenge, and one afternoon he cum back alone to gin it. My ole woman seen him sneakin' in the brush over thar, and so I dressed up in my clothes agin and sot down yere to smoke my pipe and wait.
Purty soon he showed up, and, walkin up to me, he sez:
"Mrs. White, cum along with me."
"What fur?"
"Kase I'm goin to tie yo' up and switch
yo' and hev musle while the cabin is burn-in."

"Abe Raynor, yo' go on and don't fool with me or it'll be the worse for yo'!"
"Wuss be durned!" sez he, and he makes a grab fur me and lifts me up.
When I was on my feet, I lets out fur him, and in five minits he was a licked man. I tied him hand and foot and licked him with a switch till I was tired. Then I sent fur some of the gang, and they cum and took him off. When they had cum,
one of 'em sez to me:
"Mrs. White, did yo do this all alone
by yo' self?"
"I did, sah."

"Le me see yer hand."
"Yere it is!"
"He takes it and looks at it and shakes
his head and sez:
"That's all, Mrs. White. I ain't goin to question the Lawd's ways, but if he didn't intend yo' fur a man then may I never sot another feather bed! Pears to me like yo' had better gone to the army and let Zeb home to wash dishes!"
"And did they never find you out?"
"Never," replied the old man. "They made so much fun of Abe bein licked by a woman that he had to dig out, while as fur the rest of the gang they never cum a-nigh my cabin ag'in. One day, while the ole woman was outter roots she run agin seven of 'em in the woods, and at the sight of her the hull crowd took wings

so fast that they left a mawl behind and never cum back fur him. We had the use of him fur eight yars befo' he died. Mebbe yo' took note of the boy who was yere
last night arter meal?"
"Yes, I did."
"Wah, his father was one of the gang.
Just arter the wail closed, but befo' I had got home, my ole woman met him in the road one day and holloed at him. He made a run to the side of the mount'n to get away, and started an avalanche and was buried under it. She wanted to ax the time o' day, but he thought she was arter him fur a row, and he met his death while flyin fur his life. Kinder queer, eh? The ole woman sez the Lawd put me up to what I did, but I dunno. Didn't seem to be no Lawd in Tennessee in them days—
no Lawd 'tall, jest Confeds and guerrillas and Yanks."

JONES COUNTY JUSTICE.

How Squire Balkcom Protected His Judicial Kraime From a Son of Ham.

When his honor Squire Balkcom called the court to order this morning in the spacious umbrage of the trees that shadow his yard, he noticed a dusky son of Ham and his wife standing among the spectators with an anxious look upon their faces.
"What can I do for you?" asked his honor.
"I've come to get you to 'vorce us,
judge."
"You have?" said his honor.
"Yes, sah."
"Don't you know that such an act is beyond the pale of this court?"
"Yes, sah, shore. She facted me wid de pail, an his wuz full er wath, and busted
him over mah head, and I ain't gwine lib wid her no mo. She did shore, judge."
"I say, yo' wolly headed imp of Ethiopia, don't you know that the constitution of the United States embodied in its laws denies to a justice court the power of an-nulling the marital vows; that it belongs to a higher tribunal? Is that any plainer?"
"Yes, sah, boss, she shore did null my constitution. Why?"
"Oh, go to Gehenna! I say I can't and won't separate you. Do you understand now?"
"Say, judge, I've got de money to pay you, boss. For God's sake!"
"How much you got?" asked his honor.
"Six dollars and a half, boss."
"Then I fine yo' $1.50 for taking up the time of the court and $5 for attempting to sully its judicial crime by a bribe."

The Sea.
I am the sea. I hold the land
As one holds an apple in his hand,
Hold it fast, with sleepless eyes,
Watching the continent sink and rise.
Out of my bosom the mountains grow,
Back to my depths they tumble low.
The earth is a helpless child to me.
I am the sea.

I am the sea. When I draw back,
Blossoms and verdure follow my track,
And the land I leave grows proud and fair,
For the wonderful power of man is there.
And the winds of heaven wall and cry
While the nations rise and reign and die,
Living and dying in folly and pain
While the laws of the universe thunder in vain.
What is the folly of man to me?
I am the sea.

I am the sea. The earth I sway.
Granite to me is potter's clay.
Under the touch of my careless waves
It rises in towers and sinks in caves.
The iron cliffs that edge the land
I grind to pebbles and sift to sand,
And beach grass blows and children play
In what were the rocks of yesterday.
It is but a moment of sport to me.
I am the sea.

I am the sea. In my bosom deep
Wealth and wonder and beauty sleep.
Wealth and wonder and beauty rise,
In changing splendor of sunset skies.
And comfort the earth with rains and snows
Till waves the harvest and laughs the rose.
Flower and forest and child of breath
With have life, without me, death.
What is the ships go down in me?
I am the sea.

Lost—My Boy.
Lost! I have lost him! When did he go?
Lightly I clasped him. How could I know
Of my dwelling he would depart,
Even as I held him close to my heart?

Lost! I have lost him! Somewhere between Schoolhouse and college he was seen,
The full of whistling curl tangled hair,
Lost! I have lost him! Would I knew where!

Lost! I have lost him, Chester, my boy!
Picture book, story book, marble and toy,
Stored in the attic, useless they lie.
Why should I care so much? Mothers, tell why.

Yes, he has gone from me, leaving no sign.
But there's another call himself mine.
Handsome and strong of limb, brilliant is he,
Knows things that I know not. Who can it be?
Face like the father's face, eyes black as mine.
Step full of manly grace, voice masculine.
Yes, but the gods! he has one ally.
Why does the mother heart long for her boy?

Long for the mischievous, queer little chap,
Ignorant questioner, held in my lap?
Freshman so tall and wise, answer me this:
Where is the little boy I used to kiss?
—Good Housekeeping.

A Book.
There is no frigate like a book
To take us leagues away
Nor any couriers like a page
Of prancing post.

This traverse may the poorest take Without oppress of toll.
How fragrant is the chariot
That bears a human soul!
—Emily Dickinson in Sketches.

Be sure no earnest work
Of any honest creature, howbeit weak,
Is ever lost, ill adapted, fails so much
It is not gathered, as a grain of sand,
To enlarge the sum of human action used
For carrying out God's will.
—Mrs. Browning.

Of fortune's sharp adversity
The worst kind of infortune is this—
A man to have been in prosperity
And to remember when it passed is

GEMS IN VERSE.

A Subject.
Would I were Shylock of a pound of flesh,
The pound whereof the spectators rears supreme,
The pound which hath so many pounds' weight
That it doth often seem to weigh a ton
When I have dared offend its impious king
By nibbling but the edge of some small bit
Of toothsome pastry or some sweet. Indeed
Did I but whistle to a rabbit (Welsh)
King 'Speppia growled so fierce a growl and scowled

So ominous and Zetlike a scowl!
And hurled such thunderbolts of blazing blue
That rabbits (Welsh or otherwise) would flee
In trepidation, ears turned back and legs
Crouched for a spring of so great magnitude
That I would pause in terror 'twixt the two.
King 'Speppia hastes to come and to go.
Wherefore I say, good Shylock, what they knew!

Surround King 'Speppia's country! Run him through!
—Lillian W. Rountree in "What to Eat."

Soliloquy of the Old Dray Horse.
"What was I made for?" the old horse said,
"Munching out straw in a wind rifted shed.
My life is a curse from beginning to end.
In all the wide world I haven't a friend.
It's nothing but drudgery every day,
Toll without payment, work and no play,
And if I sink under a wearisome load
I'm made to get up with a merciless goad."

"Curses, cold quarters, hard usage, poor feed,
Too little at that for a work horse's need,
And seldom a good life of oats or fresh grass,
'Hard lines' for poor horses when slaves to an ass!
Oh, if my poor creatures were gifted with speech
What eloquent sermons to men would we preach!
Our merits and sufferings even now move
The hearts of the kindly to pity and love.
"The beast has his feelings, his needs, his desires,
Though few are the favors the poor horse requires.
Our aim is to serve men, to love and obey.
If justice and mercy in turn we may repay.
A word gently spoken, a pat on the neck,
But makes us delighted to follow your beck.
Then why, since the boon is so small that we crave,
Should it not always brighten the life of the slave?"

"Too soon did the angels our champion claim.
Gotham, where is the monument due to his fame?
Might we horses build it, how soon 'twould
arise.
A cynosure guard for American eyes!
While crowning earth's heroes neglect not his
name!"

An amaranth wreath for humanity's king.
Ho spoke for the speechless, a champion brave.
No shaft is too grand to distinguish his grave.
Who says that our sufferings here are in vain,
And in future to lighten our pain?
Who knows what our Maker may hold in his plan?
I'd hate to swap chances with many a man."
—Mrs. Mary F. Van Dyck in New York Sun.

Fame.

Why should I hope or even sigh,
Since mean and humble is my station,
To fill the public's changeful eye
Or win the plaudits of a nation?

Their days are short and full of blame
Whose works become the public fashion,
And what the poet wins of fame
He must repay in pain and passion.

"Home keeping hearts are happiest,"
The poet wrote, in tuneful phrases.
Who stays at home is truly blest
Nor fears the sting of fortune's phases.

Truth is the only lasting good,
And love the only true enjoyment.
Fame's fleeting glory fades away,
And glory's chase the fool's employment.
—Willis L. Clannahan in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

GIVES STRENGTH TO MEN.

Free to All Who Are Weak and Worn.

A METHOD TO CURE AND IN-CREASE THE POWER.

It is a reasonable fact that a man never appreciates the sufferings of others until he himself, has passed through the fire of pain or remorse. Then it is that he looks around for those who are suffering; he wants them to profit by his experience;
he gives his time and money gladly for the benefit of others and never tires of his zeal. There are plenty of men weak and worn out, struggling with remorse

and fear, the natural outcome of habits that brought ineptness; a sense of lonesomeness and a feeling as if the best side of life had been banished forever. Such men should write to Thomas Slater, Box 508, Kalamazoo, Mich. He will send free by mail, in a plain sealed envelope full particulars about the method he used,
and this will enable any man to get a complete cure at home. It is the method that Mr. Slater used to cure himself of the troubles that sap the strength and vigor and also enlarged his organs to natural size. The cure was so complete, so satisfying and such a wonderful change from his former condition that he will gladly tell others all about it, sending all particulars. He figures that he doesn't know of a better way to show his appreciation of his own cure and the sufferings of others. There must be generous men in this world to set the tide of avarice.
Write to Mr. Slater—it will cost nothing for his description and method.

Talks With Travelers.
Yes! The most enjoyable trip
I ever took to New York was over the Wabash. Only one change of cars in St. Louis; the finest passenger station in the world. Fine restaurant and cafe. Got an elegant supper for 50 cents.

We arrived in St. Louis at 6:00 p. m., and left on the Wabash New York Limited at 7:00 p. m., in the elegant through sleeper, reaching Detroit at 9:15 the following morning. Niagara Falls at 4:37 that afternoon, and arrived at New York, Grand Central Depot at 7:30 a. m., just the right time to get breakfast and attend to business.

Oh! the Wabash is the route for
New York.
By the way just write to C. M.
Hampson, Commercial Agent, Den-

gotten something.

Consumption is no respector of persons. The germs of this most dreadful of diseases float in the air
we breathe, in the water we drink, in the money we handle. Perfectly harmless in a healthy body, they are absolutely deadly wherever weakness exists. The lungs are the most sensitive of all the vital organs. The delicate lining of the lung cells and passages is easily irritated.
If the blood is impure and germful the lung lining soon becomes inflamed. Impure matter accumulates. If a consumption germ is in the body it lodges there and propagates. Soon the entire body is full of bacilli and consumption has firm hold.

Many doctors say that consumption is incurable and necessarily fatal. They are mistaken. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 95 per cent.
of all cases of consumption, if taken promptly according to directions. It has cured thousands. It is quickly absorbed by the blood and searches out every disease germ in the body. It assists nature to throw off germs and all effete matter and restores the body to perfect health and strength.

When the bowels are clogged they unload their impurities into the blood which in turn deposits them throughout the entire system. The victim of this condition suffers from headaches, blurred vision, heart-burn, sour stomach, foul taste in the mouth, flatulence and biliousness. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets promptly cure constipation and these attendant ills. One is a gentle laxative. They never gripe. Druggists sell them. Substitutes are dangerous.

Two Kinds of Insomnia.

When Nan was engaged to Jack she didn't get enough sleep, because she had to lie awake and think how much she loved him.
Well!
And now their engagement is broken and now she doesn't get enough sleep
because she has to lie awake to hate him.
