JAPAN'S OPPOSITION.

She will Continue to Firmly Oppose Annexation by the United States Even to the Extent of Overstepping Diplomatic Grounds.

New York, July 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says that Japan will continue to oppose the Hawaiian annexation treaty as is conclusively shown by the latest protest of the Japanese government under date of July 19, now made public. While couched in polite and diplomatic language, the protest is sufficiently firm in tone to show that Japan will continue to wage a diplomatic war and possibly go further, to prevent the consummation of the annexation policy. The reply concludes: "Japan has absolutely no designs of any kind whatever inimical to Hawaii, and no motive in her dealings with this country, except to secure by legitimate means due observance of her just obligations."

Humored Appointment.

Washington, July 26.—It is understood that Robert E. Tracwell of Indiana, has been selected for comptroller of the treasury.

The Maybrick Case.

Washington, July 26.—The British government has again declined to interfere in the execution of the sentence on Mrs. Florence Maybrick, on the ground that there is no reason for a change of judgment.

German Situation.

London, July 26.—The English newspapers have devoted a good deal of space to the situation in Germany, and record with thinly disguised satisfaction, the defeat of the emperor in the Prussian diet, under the law of the association bill.

A COMPLETE TIE-UP.

The Strike Leaders Claim That They Have Adopted Measures That Will Make a Complete Tie-Up This Week.

Pittsburg, July 26.—The miner officials claim they have adopted measures, that will make a complete tie up this week. The West Virginia miners are waiting the action of the men in the New York and Cleveland mines of this district. It is claimed if they strike, the latter ones in West Virginia will fall in line, thus making the strike effective by shutting off the supply of coal.

The report that a raid on the mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas and Coal company, was without foundation. The fifty special deputies called for last night, returned to the city this morning, but no strikers appeared in the vicinity. No raid is probable until after the Debea meeting on Thursday. If the men refuse to come out then a demonstration will likely be made later.

Railroad Accident.

Marietta, O., July 26.—While an excursion train was returning from Zanesville, O., last night, the trestle work over the bottom lands, three and a half miles from Marietta, gave way and two of the four coaches were precipitated to the cornfield below. Job Trautman, whose spine was injured, may die. Others injured will probably recover.

Gold Fever Increasing.

Port Townsend, Wash., July 26.—The steamer City of Topeka arrived this morning from Alaska. She brings news that the Cloudy fever is on the increase at Juneau, nearly every able bodied man there having gone to the rich gold fields. At Byee there is now much freight piled up as Indians can pack over the divide in the next 18 months. This condition practically precludes the possibility of hundreds of gold seekers reaching the mining region this year.

LAS VEGAS LAONICS.

John Carroll of Denver, will open a cigar factory in the Fairbank block soon. The marriage of Mr. Prospero Baca and Miss Anita Marquez took place today at Agnes Zaron.

Lowenstein & Straness of Mors, shipped 58 wagon loads of wool to Boston from this place on Saturday.

W. B. Starr, an extensive sheep buyer, has gone to Puerto de Luna to buy a large number of lambs and sheep.

Messrs. L. E. and J. J. Frey, jr., sons of General Manager Frey of the Santa Fe road, were visitors at Las Vegas Hot Springs last Friday.

Mr. A. O. Millicee has accepted a good position on the Bell ranch, and begins work this week. Mr. W. O. Reid will go to the ranch with him to remain until the first of August.

Mrs. Florencio Baca has applied for letters of guardianship in the Probate court of San Miguel county, to receive and manage some money coming from the United States for Indian depredations. The fight between the city authorities and the Agua Fura company, over water rates, still rages. The company has served notice on the city council that the following motions have been filed in the case: (1) a motion to vacate the appointment of an examiner; (2) a demurrer to the city's cross bill; (3) an amended bill of complaint.

Eager for Settlement.

Cleveland, July 26.—Thomas E. Young, manager for M. A. Hanna & Co., does not feel hopeful over the conference of operators at Pittsburgh tomorrow. He says the outlook is discouraging. All the Cleveland operators will attend the conference, and express themselves as eager for settlement. The coal supply is low.

MESA ENCANTADA.

Seated After Four Centuries of Mystery by Professor Libby of Princeton University.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 26.—After four centuries the Mesa Encantada has been sealed. The honor belongs to Professor Libby of Princeton university. A cannon was anchored in the desert, and cord 3,000 feet in length shot over the mesa. The workmen made the ascent, followed by Professor Libby and others. On the summit there was no evidence of inhabitants. The party spent the entire day on the summit, gathering specimens of flora.

Death of a Railroad Man.

Manhattan, Kas., July 26.—Colonel John B. Anderson, a prominent citizen of Central, Kas., is dead, aged 80. At the opening of the civil war, he was superintendent of transportation of the Louisville & Nashville railway. The commander of the army of the Cumberland placed him in charge of all U. S. military railways of his department. Of late he has been identified with railroad projects in the west.

Censuring Priests.

Paris, July 26.—Figaro predicts the early issuance of a papal encyclical, censuring the priests who, despite the warnings of their ecclesiastical superiors, continue to incite workmen of France and other countries to demand their rights, forgetting meanwhile their own priestly duty, to enjoin workmen to respect the rights of their employers.

ALBUQUERQUE NOTES.

Company G, Albuquerque Guards, held a special inspection Friday evening preparatory to an inspection by Captain James of the United States army. Sergeant Harding was promoted to the rank of first sergeant, and Corporal Auerbach to sergeant.

The Santa Fe company is either ballasting the road in the vicinity of Mitchell, about 60 men going there Saturday to assist in the work, which will require several months. Nearly 300 men will be employed until the work is finished.

Saturday night last Mrs. Snell, Mrs. Burdette and daughter, Mrs. and Miss Stagg and Mr. George Jones, and family left for Los Angeles, where they will reside in the future. The removal was caused by transfer of railroad offices from this city to the coast.

Mr. W. H. Cobb has returned from the Chichu country, where he has been in the interest of the Chicago Univ. city. Mr. Cobb's object in going to the Chichu was the making of a collection of pictures to assist ethnologists of the university named in making a study of the origin of some of the Indian races of the territory.

The new boiler shop in course of erection by the Santa Fe company is 60 by 180 feet, and when finished will be equipped with the best of modern machinery. It is expected that the building will be ready for use by September. At present boilers are sent to Topeka for repairs, but the shop here will obviate the necessity of long transportation of boilers needing attention. The company is also building two repair tracks in the yards, 600 yards long each, and rumors have it that an addition of 12 stalls will be made to the round house.

The Montezuma Reopened.

NEW MEXICO TURQUOIS

A Veteran Prospector Strikes a Rich Lead of Precious Stones.

He Exhibits a Perfect Specimen Weighing 100 Carats.

He Has Not Much to Say About the Locality, But He Does Avow That the Mines Were Worked by An Ancient People Who Used Stone Implements.

(From Sunday's Denver News.)

A perfect turquoise, tipping the scales at 14 1/2 carats, is not seen every day of the year, much less is it customary to meet with a specimen of cerulean blue weighing 75 to 100 carats without a flaw. When a guest of the Albany hotel quietly requested Joe Clark yesterday to place two or three quarts of magnificent specimens in the vault for safe-keeping, he knew that somebody had made a great find. He was not mistaken. The find was made by George Simmon, a veteran prospector who has tramped thousands of weary miles over the mountains. For more than 20 years Simmon has been working the nickel gobies, and at last luck has smiled on him. The turquoise deposit which he has located certainly produces fine specimens. The only question is whether the mine will continue to yield as it yields near the surface.

"I accidentally learned of my over-eight mine of New Mexico," remarked the prospector last evening. "I noticed that the ground in the neighborhood was seamed with blue, but the miners said it was copper stain and I let the opportunity pass for location of a turquoise mine which has yielded fortunes within the last five years. I accidentally learned of my over-eight and in a new district where I was working a gold mine, I came across the same indications as had aroused my inquiries in New Mexico. I went to work, took out a few specimens, got discouraged and quit awhile, but started in again and today I believe I have the finest turquoise mine in America. Imperfect veins are to be found in many parts of the southwest, but nodules is what the turquoise miner wants, and nodules it is that I have."

The lucky prospector reached his hand into his pocket and brought forth an ancient sample, which the stone-cutter told him would produce a perfect specimen, weighing 100 carats. Seventeen street dealers say the perfect stones are worth $10 to $15 a carat. The specimen owned by Mr. Simmon is about the size and shape of a libart and appears seamless. He has other specimens larger in size, which he proposes to have tested while in the city.

"The mines," said he, "were once worked by an ancient people. I leave it to the archeologists to give the name of the people that worked them, but one thing is sure—they filled up the shafts level with the ground before they left the country. The original workers used stone hammers, for I have found the rude stone implements in the shafts. They built fires in the bottom of the shaft and cracked the hard stone by throwing water upon it after it became heated. There are plenty of evidences of fire."

"The workings are very extensive. The elevation of the country where the mine is located is perhaps 4,500 feet, but I am not saying anything of the locality, as I do not care to indicate others to prospect in the region. I have had the specimens thoroughly tested and today had half a dozen stones sent in this city to learn their true value."

The principal turquoise mine of the world is within a few miles of Cerrillos, N. M. The mine is worked by the Tif-fays of New Mexico, and is closely guarded from prying eyes. The governor of New Mexico, according to recent published reports, was refused admission to the mine. The Persian turquoise mines are said to be approaching the point of exhaustion, and the principal source of supply is in New Mexico. Several turquoise deposits have been discovered in this state, but the specimens are imperfect. A dealer of Denver has expended thousands of dollars upon a Colorado lode, but his efforts have been fruitless. The cut samples shown by Mr. Simmon were pronounced by experts yesterday absolutely perfect in color and texture. The location of the Lost mine is a question of great interest to dealers. Mr. Simmon says he filed upon the land as upon any mining claim, and has been performing regular assessment work.

DEVILISH DANCES.

Indian Cruelty and Persecution Led by Them—They Should be Stopped.

Captain Charles E. Nordstrom, of the Tenth United States cavalry, acting Indian agent at the Pueblo and Jicarilla agency, in New Mexico, has written an interesting letter to the commissioner of Indian affairs with regard to the Indian dances. The letter treats of the subject in a manner novel of official communications, and throws new light on a matter that has long given great concern to everybody interested in the Indian question. The letter is dated June 25. Captain Nordstrom says:

"During my recent inspection of the school at the Pueblo, I have seen, in the presence of many of the teachers complained that on the occasion of a 'dance' in the Pueblo they were either locked in their rooms and compelled to remain there until the festivities were over or were driven out of the village entirely, and ordered not to come back under a given time—the teacher at San Felipe being ejected and driven across the Rio Grande."

"The Indians pretend that it would be sacrilege to admit an outsider to a participation in them, or even to be present as a spectator, but this is only a pretext, an excuse to allow them to assert their prerogative, the traders at Jemez and Zuni inform me that neither of them are molested when the dances are going on, and that they have both been invited to and have witnessed even the most secret of them. If these dances, like the meeting of the southern negro, are really so innocuous, the traders at Zuni relate the circumstances of one case which took place in that village not long ago, which does not speak very well for the advancement of those engaged in it."

"A young man, just from Carlisle, was ordered to dance, and declined, representing that he had graduated at school, had learned a trade, and was now an American, and Americans did not dance that way. Thereupon the governor arrested him, tied him up to a tree, and ordered him beaten, and beaten he was—nearly to death. He danced after that."

"Zuni, it will be recalled, was the scene of the recent hanging of a poor old creature as a witch. While I was there, Miss DeSette, the estimable principal of the school, sent for the victim of this revival of the days when our New England forefathers piously devoted their neighbors to the stake, and bared her poor, old arms to my inspection. There was no difficulty in discerning the scars made by the cruel cords, which had cut the flesh through to the bone. This poor old woman is at least 75 or 80 years old. At the imminent risk of her life, and the forfeiture of her popularity with the medicine men, Miss DeSette went to the old woman's house, and by nursing her night and day revived the flickering flame of life which had so nearly been extinguished. As this lady, her voice trembling with indignation, described the circumstances of this unspeakable horror, my own cheek flushed at the thought of my life had been spent in the service of a government under which such things could be done."

"The trader's cook, an Indian youth about 20, unfortunately incurring the displeasure of the medicine men, was arrested as a witch, and, but for the friendship of his employer, would have been put to death, and even now he dares not venture outside the premises after dark for fear of being kidnaped by the emissaries of these fiends in human shape, who will never rest satisfied until he is immolated upon the altar of their beastly superstition."

"It may be asked, 'What has this got to do with dances?' Everything, because all the outrages committed originate in a dance. Is rain wanted? They dance. If there is a flood? They dance. Should the doctors have made a mistake in their estimate of the amount of humidity the clouds contain, and precipitation fail to ensue, or if the rain continues, and the floods fail to subside, they immediately cast about them for a scapegoat, who is arrested and threatened as a witch, for making medicine against their medicine; and they invariably hit upon some poor old woman who has neither money nor friends, or other poor devil (no profanity intended) without connections or influence, whom they devote to torture, often to death, and thus save their reputations as magicians and soothsayers."

"This whole question in all its damnable ramifications, will, of necessity, have to be settled sooner or later. The government cannot go on appropriating millions year after year for the civilization of the Indian while these plague spots exist, and thrive on its bounty. But this letter is principally concerned for the protection of the teachers. What shall I do to secure them from insult in the future? I respectfully ask for instructions. It is no use to turn the matter over to the territorial authorities. That has been tried and failed. The general government has got to take hold of it, through the strong arm of its arbitrary powers. Force, by which these people govern themselves, is the only argument which appeals to their obedience and the state of things I have described will continue to go on until, by a show of force, they become convinced the government is in earnest."—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

MONDAY, JULY 26.

The shepherds of New Mexico are feeling good over the passage of the tariff bill.

The cattlemen of New Mexico are also feeling good over the passage of the tariff bill. It helps them in several ways.

It is said that France and England will not permit the United States to build the Nicaragua canal, but as their consent will not be asked, we fail to see the relevancy of this condition.

None of the Atlantic coast summer resorts have yet reported a sea serpent. Coney Island got up a small sized tidal wave last week, and now waits for the next one to move.

The showing that the United States controls nine-tenths of the trade of Hawaii is one more argument for annexation, as containing the means for capturing the other tenth.

By all means let everybody join in inviting the president to visit the west this fall, and then let the west as it can, make his visit an incident the most pleasant in his memory in after life will be able to recall.

It is not strange on the whole that the man rashly bold enough in youth to marry Josie Mansfield should have gone insane from long dissipation. Men have been driven to hard drink by smaller things than that.

If Mr. John Wamsamaker would announce his retirement from politics without the brass band accompaniment, there might be more general credence given to that gentleman's sincerity. As it is, the circumstances suggest rather a retirement only in spots.

The miners of New Mexico will soon feel the beneficent effect of a duty upon lead and lead ores. Many low grade silver and lead properties throughout this broad territory will be worked in the near future and many a miner will be employed at good wages and steady work.

If our statesmen had not been careless about boundary lines we might have had the whole North American coast of the Pacific. Our statesmen have been slow about annexation—with the exception of Jefferson and Polk, and those who helped them. The only way to make amends is to lose no chance in the future to take an island.

LILLICOLANI has taken to song writing and while the remuneration may not be large and the lady's true friends will hold the opinion that she would have shone with brighter lustre as a leader of the ballet, the new departure is distinctly more creditable than hanging around Washington trying to keep up appearances on the profits of the pretender business.

It will be really a sad reflection that the gentlemen composing the government at Ottawa cannot take out all the gold at Clondike, but they cannot, and that settles it. The adventurous men who go there and dig, some small proportion of them, will be the ones who will be rich—and whatever their nationality, they will earn what they get. Just what the Canadian statesmen are going to do about it is not clear.

Of course Japan will agree to arbitrate the differences with Hawaii. It is a different thing, dealing with a helpless little government and dealing with a power with millions of men and more millions in money, ready to fight at the drop of the hat. When President Dole's country has been recognized as a part of Uncle Sam's great heritage, conditions undergo one of those marked changes not at all infrequent in the lives of nations.

It is a significant fact that the striking miners who raised a riot which ended in bloodshed in Illinois last week, were a mob composed of 300 or 400 Belgians and other foreigners. These men, who have little regard for the law at home, certainly have less than none for the laws of this land, whose language, even, the majority of them do not understand. The incident, moreover, throws some light on the great strike, not shed heretofore.

The Democratic party is the property of the silver trust and has no principle except to support that trust in its pretensions to possess the government. The Democracy are in a fine position to go screaming about "Trust-made Tariffs." They are in the sad position of having nothing to say, and to be obliged to say something.

The passing of the whiskers of Senator Peffer from public life is a matter which has been permitted to go with small comment considering the gale that blew them into the senate; but, after all, they have thus only followed the law of nature. Great winds always die away into gentle zephyrs, scarce stirring the air, and the disturbed atmosphere settles once more in the calm that is normal, even on the wide-spread prairies of Kansas. Vale Peffer and the long beard! The new socks of Simpson and the silk night-shirt of William Jennings Bryan, embroidered down the front, will not be far behind you.

One Thomas J. Lipton, an English millionaire, has come to America in search of a wife, according to report. Let it be understood that he is not seeking somebody else's wife, but wants one for himself—which demonstration of a desire to promote true reciprocity will do more to put the two nations in line for a treaty of arbitration than all the words of all the statesmen who ever preached for peace. It is this thing of our girls endowing poor Englishmen with their dollars, for which this country receives no adequate return, that has kept the spirit of bitterness alive.

A MAJORITY has been found for the protective system that opens a new chapter in American history. It is of first importance that all the world knows now that protection has returned to the United States to stay, and that the details are in possession of the business men in all the industrial and commercial centers. This is a starting point that will be long remembered. The president is entitled to the full credit for the new law. He called the extra session, and outlined the policy from first to last, and the success in getting through the tariff bill in early summer belongs to him. It is one of the most important acts for which any president has been responsible.

DANGER IN THE DISTANCE.

One danger of trouble eventually with England is more likely to come from Canada than from England. The Canadians are an intense people. They think it very hard that we do not humor them to free trade.

They would be glad to trade over their southern border openly, freely, where they now smuggle a great deal. Very largely they are free of speech about the alleged imperfections of our institutions. They are wholly responsible for the wholesale murder of the mother and baby slain in the north Pacific, and the fact that we are urgent for the preservation of the herd is very offensive to the Canadian statesmen; and Salisbury and the rest of the "good fellows" of the late jubilee are quite nice with us until it comes to business, and then they sustain the Canadian pirates and jabber over law points, and dispute notorious facts—anything, everything, to go on with their favorite massacre. Now they are talking of excluding all but British subjects from the gold mines on their side of the boundary line—a disputed boundary at that. Well, they will have a good time excluding Americans from these mines and their actions will be regarded with intense interest.

NEW SANTA FE TIME CARD.

Yesterday morning at 3:50 a new time card on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad went into effect out of Denver, which means vastly improved train service all over the southwest. South of Denver and embracing the territories of New Mexico and Arizona a saving of time is made varying from four to 24 hours. This change will not only be a great benefit to those who travel, but will put those who stay at home in closer touch with the outside world, by affording them an opportunity for reading the Denver papers upon the same day that they are published.

The train leaving Denver at 3:50 a. m. by the new time card, arrives in Trinidad at 12:42 and at Raton at 1:35 p. m. Las Vegas is reached at 5:15 in the evening, and Santa Fe will get its mail and its passengers a little over three hours later namely at 8:30 p. m. Albuquerque is reached at 10:25 and Socorro at 4:32 the next morning.

Heretofore the St. Louis and San Francisco newspapers have had an advantage over Denver, for the reason that the newspaper train serving this territory left the Colorado metropolis at an unfortunate hour. But it is not only from a newspaper standpoint that benefits will be derived from the new Santa Fe train service. Travelers will hail the change with joy, because the journey that formerly required two days, can now be made in one. Hotel men, especially of this territory, will be greatly benefited, and in fact all classes will welcome this change which is far reaching in its effects.

THE CURRENCY MESSAGE.

President McKinley on last Saturday sent his promised currency message to congress, recommending that a special commission be created, non-partisan in its character, the duty of which shall be to make recommendations of whatever changes in our present banking and currency laws may be found necessary and expedient, and to report conclusions on this subject—on or before the first day of next November.

The president in this message calls attention to the fact, that in convening the extraordinary session of congress, now about to close, he called attention to a single subject—that of providing revenue adequate to meet the reasonable and proper expenses of the government—because this seemed to him the most pressing subject for settlement at the time.

A bill with the provisions as outlined above, having been passed by congress, another question of importance now appears for consideration—that of establishing our currency and banking system upon a better basis.

President McKinley goes on to say that while our money is all good, the financial system generally is in need of revision; that the value of our money shall not be further threatened. He is of the opinion that the country is in favor of early action in this matter on the part of congress, to the end that currency laws may be removed from partisan consideration. He calls attention to the Indianapolis convention of last January which recommended to congress the appointment of a monetary commission. He expects this report from the proper commission before the first day of next November in order that it may be sent to congress at its next regular session.

The course of the president in issuing this message will be approved by the party and the thinking men of the country generally. He has taken a wise, judicious and conservative course in getting at the defects in our currency and banking systems, which will be generally admitted.

THE OMAHA EXPOSITION.

The Administration Arch—Description of a Beautiful Building.

The attractive feature of the Administration arch gives promise of the beauties which may be anticipated. The drawing shows a beautiful building designed along the "free classic" style, which dominates all the buildings on the main court, but the French renaissance stands out more prominently in this particular building than in any of the other main buildings. The Administration arch is 50x50 feet on the ground and is 150 feet in height. It is intended to be used as a general headquarters for the reception of distinguished visitors, besides giving a finished effect to the architectural ensemble of the main court. It is much taller than any of the other buildings of this court and forms the central figure of the group of buildings facing the lagoon.

In general effect the building is a solid rectangular mass with four rectangular spires surmounted by a high-hipped French roof and lantern. The drawing is in black and white, giving the silhouette and detail in strong lines. On the building itself, color will be used freely. In the loggia all the half lights and under the arches color will be used with freedom and strength. The contrast between the lower, solid portion of the building and the roof will be emphasized by colors.

To heighten the architectural effect, statuary of heroic size will be used above the cornice. On each of the four spires will be four symbolic figures, and at the center of the south side, facing the lagoon, will be a group symbolizing "administration." Models for these figures have already been prepared by Sculpture Mettler, who has been engaged on them for several weeks.

The space beneath the roof of this building will be utilized as a location for the chime of bells for which a concession has been asked. Beneath the roof and the main cornice, will be an open space, which will be utilized as a point of observation, this being above the roof of the other buildings. The contract for this building has been let and work of construction will be begun within a few days.

After all it is Nature that makes the cures. Only now and then she gets into a tight place and needs the helping hand of science. When the right thing is needed to check diseased action and start the organs and tissues on the way to health, Scott's Emulsion comes as the helpmeet of Nature. It feeds, nourishes, strengthens; and it does this all round—the Hypophosphites act upon the nerves; the Cod-liver Oil feeds the body.

FOR THE LADIES.

A GRENADINE.

Gowns of this fabric that lend themselves gracefully to gathering are readily made with plain skirts, but are almost invariably flounced or ruffled. Skirts are fitted perfectly over the hips, flaring very slightly at the foot, all the fullness being massed at the back variously arranged at the top in gathers, plaits or box-plaits.

A gray grenadine over a silk of the shaded red—known as the watermelon tint—is shown in our illustration. The skirt is four yards round and finished with three ruffles at the foot, bound with black satin. The fullness in the back is laid in two over lapping side-plaits on either side, which meet at the center.

The waist is of the blouse model, bulging both back and front over a pointed belt of the red silk bound with black. At the opening where the blouse fastens at the left side are two full ruffles, one of the red silk and one of black satin.

The sleeves are tucked their entire length, each tucked being bound with black satin.

A gray feather box is the finishing touch. These gray boxes being among the novelties of the moment.

THE SEVENTH Beet Sugar factory in the United States was erected at Eddy, New Mexico, in 1896, and made its first "campaign," beginning November 15th, 1896, and closing February 15th, 1897.

THE CONTENT OF "SUGAR in the beet" of the crop grown in the Eddy and Roswell sections of the valley has proven to be more uniformly high than any other part of the United States.

FORTUNATELY the land is blessed with just the fertility to produce high grade beets, and

MORE FORTUNATELY the Pecos Irrigation and Improvement Co. and the Roswell Land and Water Co. have an irrigation system of great magnitude covering a vast body of the BEST SUGAR BEET lands on earth. The water is applied to the crop WHEN NEEDED.

THE SUN SHINES more hours in the day and more days in the year in Eddy and Chaves counties, New Mexico, than in any other section of the west.

124 separate analysis, chiefly carload lots, showed AN AVERAGE of 17.01 per cent sugar in beet; 84.1 per cent purity.

THIS REMARKABLE RESULT was accomplished by raw farmers, unacquainted with the culture of beet root, on new land and under very trying circumstances, as the factory was not assured until May, and a majority of the acreage was planted between JUNE 1st AND AUGUST 10th.

Albert Kneeland, an Ex-Soldier With a Pension and a Fenchant for New Mexico, Gets Into the Iron Clutches of the Law By a Recent Adventure Matrimonial.

The Kneeland case as outlined in Saturday's New Mexican came up for a hearing this morning before Acting Governor Wallace, the point to be determined being as to whether he should honor a requisition for Kneeland filed on Saturday last by Deputy Sheriff William Allison, who brought Kneeland up from Las Vegas where he was arrested.

In the hearing today Kneeland was represented by Hon. L. C. Fort of Las Vegas, while Hon. Chas. A. Spies appeared for the sheriff.

The entire forenoon was taken up in arguing the case, pro and con, after which Mr. Wallace announced that he would render a decision in the matter late this evening or tomorrow morning.

The argument developed the fact that Kneeland was a married man. He is an old soldier with a pension, manifesting at all times a perfect willingness to assume the marriage relation, without any reference to past escapades in that regard. Shortly before the war broke out, according to the evidence adduced at the hearing, he married a woman in Ohio. Four years service in the army seems to have affected his memory. At any rate it wiped out all recollection of his first love, and when the war closed, instead of going home he went to Kansas, which was not bleeding at that time and really had no need of Kneeland. True to his early proclivities the first thing he did in Kansas was to hunt up a wife in the person of one Miss Davis. Not long after he forgot to go home again, deserting his second wife after a brief honeymoon. For this he was charged by his wife's parents and proceeded, getting into the Kansas penitentiary.

He served four years and three months, and then looked for another wife. He found a woman willing to share his love and his pension in St. Louis.

In due time, or according to the evidence, before a child was born, and for a time all went merrily in the Kneeland home.

One morning in May, 1896—said to be a great morning for Cupid—Kneeland again forgot to go home. Instead, he went to St. Joseph and looked about for another wife. He discovered his affluence in Miss Moon and they were married. For a time he sent a part of his pension to support his wife and child in St. Louis, but after a time Mrs. St. Joseph Kneeland, nee Miss Moon, stopped this pension money—diverted it so to speak to her own wants, and then came trouble. The St. Louis woman had him arrested and here he is before the acting governor in a peek of trouble.

Mr. Skinner was a native of Ohio and came westward in 1863, settling in Denver, where he remained several years before coming to New Mexico. He was 58 years of age and leaves besides his wife, two daughters and two sons. The former are married, one to Harmon Wynkoop, an employee of the New Mexican, and the other to Wilbur Lebow, who also resides in Santa Fe. The boys are both grown, the oldest, Pearl, being a printer by trade and an employee of this office, and Arthur, who lives here. Mr. Skinner leaves, also, a large number of sympathetic friends. He was buried in Denver yesterday afternoon.

An Official Compliment to ex-Secretary Miller.

The accounts of Hon. Lorion Miller, as secretary of the territory, have been examined and found correct at the U. S. treasury department. They have been closed and in so informing Mr. Miller, the auditor for the interior department writes under date of July 19, as follows:

OFFICE AUDITOR FOR STATE AND OTHER DEPT'S., Washington, D. C., July 19, 1897.

Lorion Miller, Esq., Secretary of New Mexico, Santa Fe, N. M.

Sir:—Your accounts with the United States treasury, for the various appropriations made by congress for the benefit of the territory of New Mexico, have been settled and closed in this office by certificates No. 7275, No. 7276, No. 7287.

In notifying you of the adjustment of your accounts, I take pleasure in testifying to the promptness and accuracy with which they were rendered, and to the efficiency with which you have discharged the duties of distributing agent.

Respectfully yours,
EMORY G. TIMME.

Honest vs. Dishonest Advertising.

A pleasant feature of the advertising put forth by the Royal Baking Powder Company frequently commented upon by consumers, is the absolute confidence that may be placed in the truthfulness of all its claims and statements. There is evidently the same care and accuracy in the framing of the Royal advertisements that there is in the compounding of the Royal powder.

It appears, unfortunately, that not all baking powder people are so scrupulously careful. The recent letter from the Judge of Awards on Baking Powders at the Chicago World's Fair, exposing the falsity of the claim of another house that the baking powder had received the highest award for purity, strength, excellence, etc., is a scathing rebuke to those manufacturers of inferior baking powders who have no regard for the truth, but habitually seek, in their public announcements, to deceive consumers. The Judge of Awards states that no such award was given to the concern in question, and has notified it that it must cease publishing his name in connection with its false statements.

DIDN'T DO A THING,
But Wipe Up the Earth with the Madrid Nine.

At 3 p. m. yesterday game was called and the Santa Fe's and Madrid's went after each other with a vengeance. The Madrid's being the much heavier team of the two and the fact that Nowell, Crawford, Choteau and Scousen were unable to play caused some fear as to what might be the result; it is true that the Santa Fe's did not play good ball, but that was not due to weakness—but because the team that played Madrid, had but a part of the regular Santa Fe team for the game.

The Madrid's demonstrated yesterday that they could not play ball and as early in the game as the fifth inning the Santa Fe's had the game won and allowed Madrid to amuse themselves. Had the game been won by kicking, the Madrid team would certainly have made a shut out, because they kicked against the rules made by the National association and the Madrid's were made by them at being out, was mistaken by people down town for that of a bengal tiger.

Ally through the game Santa Fe's hammed the ball around the field, and the Madrid's appeared unable to catch on to the fact that it was their duty to try and get the Santa Fe's out.

The features of the game were the fielding and batting of Arthur Parsons, Ashford, and Webber's catch of Smith's hot-line drive.

The principal reason why Madrid came out of the game beaten by 17 to 12, was because every Santa Fe player outplayed, outbatted and outgeneraled the Madrid team from first inning until the last, and that settled it.
