A TERRIBLE FIRE

Jerome, A. T., Wiped Out by the Most Destructive Fire in Arizona's History.

LOSS ONE MILLION DOLLARS

The Only Building to Escape Was the Methodist Church—Blowing Up Buildings Did No Good, the Flames Sucked Them In.Prescott, A. T., Sept. 12.—The town of Jerome, near here, was completely wiped out yesterday by fire, entailing a loss of $1,000,000. Eleven bodies have so far been recovered, while a score or more people are said to be missing.The fire originated in a gasoline store in a cabin and spread so rapidly and fiercely that it was impossible to save even clothing. However, it was confined mostly to the business part of town. The open ground intervening between that and the mammoth works of the United Verde Mining company, saved the latter's plant.Over 150 residences, averaging in value $5,000 each, 25 general merchandise and other stores, saloons, etc., were wiped out; in short not a single business house remains. The only building to escape was the Methodist church. The number of homeless people is placed at 1,500, and they are being cared for by the Messrs. Giroux and Allen, of the mining company. Two special trains have left here, carrying tents and other material.Where the fire originated was the scene of a drunken carousal. Various parties are endeavoring to extricate the remains from the ruins, and until the ground cools sufficiently to permit rescuers to approach the debris it will be impossible to ascertain definitely the names of the victims. Several prominent mining men are said to have been in town and are unaccounted for.Hundreds of pounds of giant powder were used in an attempt to arrest the flames by demolishing buildings, but eye witnesses state that as soon as a gap was made, the scattering buildings were licked up as if by suction and thrown hundreds of feet in every direction, only to ignite and increase the fury of the fire. The reservoir which supplies the town with water was undergoing repairs, but eye witnesses state that had water been abundant, the result would have been the same.

Printing House Burned.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 12.—Fire destroyed the extensive printing house of the Rose Printing Company today; loss, $65,000.

A $2,500,000 FIRE.

New Westminster, B. C., Blotted Out, Entailing Several Fatalities—Sparks from a Steamboat Caused It.Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 12.—The business part of New Westminster was totally destroyed by fire yesterday; loss estimated at $2,500,000. Despair and suffering are the lot of hundreds of homeless people. Food, clothing and aid of all kinds are being hurriedly dispatched from Vancouver. It is feared several people were burned to death.
Campbell, a fireman, fell off the roof of a burning building and was killed. A woman dropped dead from fright. One woman who had been confined two weeks ago, died while being moved from her house; and another suffering from typhoid fever, did not survive the shock.Three river steamers were destroyed.
Every industry, save the Vancouver City planing mills and the Cleveland Canning Company, have been wiped out.
The Canadian Pacific railway station and the bridge across Fraser river were burned. The fire was caused by a spark from a steamer about midnight, and within three hours, ten streets were ablaze.At New Westminster this morning there are many peculiar scenes after the fire. On the wide open space just beyond where the fearful fire stopped, a city of tents has arisen. Here the provisional government and the Vancouver authorities are housed in tents lent by the militia department as well as all the homeless sufferers. Burned out families seem to be as comfortable as possible under the circumstances. Already active merchants are starting to rebuild their stores and renew their business.

GASOLINE DID IT.

Forty Gallons of This Dangerous Fluid Destroy Four Lives and Three Buildings.Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—By an explosion of 40 gallons of gasoline in the cellar of a grocery store at 1444 South street last night, four and possibly a dozen lives were lost.As an immediate consequence of the explosion, the building where it occurred and those adjoining on either side collapsed. Four bodies were found in the ruins, and three of them were identified as Samuel Shattenstein, keeper of the grocery and his two children.
Eleven persons seriously injured were taken to the hospitals.

And Yet Another Fire.

Cincinnati, Sept. 12.—A fire broke out today in that part of the Rush building occupied by the Kenton baking powder company. Valuable establishment was all around in close proximity, but the fire department was so prompt in responding, that the fire was confined to its original limits. Loss estimated $75,000.

300 KILLED AND WOUNDED.

Real Pleasant Way They Have Down in Guatemala of Conducting Elections—Extra Not a Favorite.New Orleans, Sept. 12.—The steamer Olympia from Puerto Cortez, brings news of serious rioting in Guatemala during the recent elections. Although Prospero Morales died after his capture in a cave by the government forces, his followers are ill-content to submit to the election of President Estrada.They gathered in force at the polls, although troops had been posted near all the polls. When the disorder became extensive, the order to fire was given.
It is said that 300 persons were killed or fatally wounded.

HIS FINE ITALIAN HAND.

General Miles Getting In His Work at Washington—Camp Wikoff to Break Up.New York, Sept. 12.—A dispatch to the New York Press from Camp Wikoff says: "Under peremptory orders from General Miles, preparations are being made to break up this camp at once by sending home all soldiers here. This is entirely contrary to what has been the understanding of the officers in command."Shafter said last week that 6,000 or 7,000 men would be kept here at least until October, and this was supposed to have been the order of Secretary Alger.

Nothing New in the Order.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—Concerning the reports from Camp Wikoff that that camp is preparing to break up under peremptory new orders from General Miles, Secretary Alger said today:
"There is nothing new in that. Camp Wikoff from the first was mostly intended as a detention camp. The purpose from the first has been to get the soldiers away from there as soon as possible." Relative to the statement attributed to General Miles to "never mind what Alger says," etc., the secretary positively refused to speak.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

Admiral Cervera and His Men Depart for the Land of Ferdinand and Isabella Delighted with Their Treatment Here.Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 12.—Most of the sailors and marines who survived the disaster which befell the warships of Admiral Pascual Cervera, at Santiago, July 3, embarked this morning on the steamship City of Rome. Admiral Cervera, with his son, Angel, made farewell visits to the officers at the navy yard previous to boarding the steamer. On the boat the admiral said he would carry home with him many happy recollections of the kindness and generosity from those high in official circles as well as citizens in every walk of life.

Battleship Texas Honored.

New York, Sept. 12.—A special to the Herald from Washington, says: There is reason to believe that the Navy department has selected the Texas as the future flagship of the Asiatic squadron to replace the protected cruiser Olympia, which will be ordered to the United States as soon as her relief arrives at the Asiatic station.

Alexander Callaghan, private in the 1st

was shot dead last night, and his companion, Jack Elliott, a civilian, was wounded in the abdomen by Harry Owens, a supernumerary policeman.
Owens says he attempted to arrest the

when they threw him down, kicked him, and beat him. The immune was wounded yesterday, and most of them were down town celebrating.

U. S. Government Acting in Good Faith.

Madrid, Sept. 12.—The French ambassador at Washington, M. Cambon, who has been acting for Spain in the peace negotiations, has called to the government the American reply to the Spanish protest against hostilities on part of the insurgents in the Philippines, in spite of the peace protocol.
The United States promises to send envoys to induce the Tagalos to respect the suspension of hostilities and to prevent violence leaving Manila with insurgents having any intention of propagating the insurrection in other islands.

SPANIARDS WIPED OUT.

Caroline Islands in the Hands of the Natives and the Spanish Garrison Destroyed.San Francisco, Sept. 12.—Private advices have been received in this city to the effect that the Caroline group of islands, which this country contemplated seizing, had the war with Spain been prolonged, is probably by this time in the hands of the natives.Two native kings of the group who had long been at war with each other,
some months ago declared a truce, combined their forces and began war against the Spanish authorities. The latter sent in vain to Guam for aid, after concentrating their forces at Bonap, but they were poorly supplied with ammunition and in no position to resist a prolonged attack. The supposition is that the place was captured and the Spanish garrison wiped out. This would virtually mean the capture of the group of islands.

It Laid Her Heart Open.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 12.—A post mortem examination has been held on the remains of the late empress of Austria who was assassinated Saturday by an Italian anarchist whose name has been variously given as Lucheni, Lu-chesi and Luigni. The autopsy showed that the weapon, completely transfixed the heart, penetrating three and one-third inches, making a wound one-sixth of an inch wide. The fact that her majesty walked 50 yards to the steamer is ascribed to her remarkable will power and natural energy.

YELLOW FEVER IN PUERTO RICO.

Over 1,000 Soldiers Ill Out of a Command of 11,000—Highest Per Cent Yet Reported.Ponce, Puerto Rico, Sept. 12.—Charles Miner, a private in the 19th infantry, died Friday, but it was not until an autopsy was held yesterday that the surgeons pronounced the cause yellow fever. General Henry's report to General Brooke yesterday on the condition of the troops on the south side of the island shows there are 1,553 sick out of a total of 11,000, the highest percentage yet reported.

Death of a Noted Lawyer.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 12.—Judge Thomas M. Cooley, the noted jurist and constitutional lawyer, died today. Three months ago he returned from a private sanatorium at Flint, Mich., where he had been treated chiefly for mental weakness. He was then so much improved in mental health that he was able to recognize his acquaintances, and often expressed the wish that death would come. Several weeks ago he relapsed into a comatose condition. During the ensuing interval the only intelligible utterance he made was when he inquired once for his oldest son.

Maine's Usual Vote.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Today's election was no exception to the rule.
Neither the Republicans or Democrats made an active campaign, and the vote was light today. The Republicans will undoubtedly re-elect Governor Powers and four congressmen. Reed, Dingley, Burleigh and Bottelle, and nearly the whole Republican legislative ticket will be elected. There were only five Democrats in the last legislature.

Jewelry Fancier.

Pedro Romero was arrested today on two warrants from Justice Garcia's court, charging him with appropriating to his own use $6 in money and $12.50
worth of jewelry entrusted to his care.
The festive Pedro will prance on the carpet at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Funeral of Wm. White.

A quiet funeral service, over the remains of Mr. Wm. White, was held at his late residence yesterday afternoon by the Rev. Father Gay, the minister in charge of the Church of the Holy Faith in this city. Mr. White, a quiet, unobtrusive gentleman and an excellent citizen, was a grandson of Bishop White, of Pennsylvania, who was in a sense, the father of the Episcopal church in the United States, as he with two others, Provost, of New York, and Madison, of Virginia, was the first to obtain the necessary Episcopal consecration from England. Bishop White was one of the fathers of congress. He was also the friend and pastor of General Washington, and in many matters one of his counselors, and was an ardent patriot.
He was probably at the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and was who put their names to that immortal document. Mr. Gay is preparing a historic memorial discourse in which he will bring out these and many other facts of wide and national interest, not only concerning the White family, but of many of the fathers of our country.
Due notice will be given as to the time for the delivery of this discourse.If you want a cheap camera, call at

"I have been troubled for the past two years with falling of the womb, leucorrhoea, pains over my body, sick headaches, backache, nervousness and

"For a long time I suffered with chronic inflammation of the womb, pains in abdomen and bearing-down feeling. Was very nervous at times, and so weak I was hardly able to do any-troubled with leucorrhoea. After doctoring for many months with different physicians, and getting no relief, I had given up all hope of being well simply past belief. After taking four

A convention of the Republican party of the territory of New Mexico is hereby called to meet in the city of Albuquerque at 10 o'clock in the forenoon on Saturday, October 1, 1898, for the purpose of placing in nomination for the suffrages of the voters of New Mexico one candidate for delegate from New Mexico to the 56th congress.

The several counties will be entitled to representation in this convention as follows: Bernalillo 10 delegates, Chaves 1, Colfax 1, Dona Ana 10, Eddy 1, Grant 1, Guadalupe 1, Lincoln 5, Mora 1, Rio Arriba 1, San Juan 1, Santa Fe 10, Santa Rita 1, Sierra 2, Socorro 1, Taos 1, Union 1, Valencia 10; total number of delegates 71.

Proxies will not be allowed unless held and voted by citizens and residents of the same county from which the delegate giving the proxy is sent. Alternates will not be recognized.

County central committees will call regular county conventions for the nomination and election of delegates to this convention such time and place in the several counties as in their judgment seems best, provided that all such conventions must be held at least three days prior to the date of the meeting of the territorial convention.

Where there are no regularly constituted county committees, the members of this committee are charged with the duty of calling and holding of the proper county conventions.

Chairmen and secretaries of county conventions are requested to forward to the secretary of this committee at once upon the holding of the county conventions in their respective counties, a full list of delegates elected and also copies of resolutions passed by such bodies.

By order of the Republican Territorial Central Committee.

E. L. BARTLETT, Chairman.

MAX. FROST, Secretary.

Practical politics in Colorado seems to consist in being quick on trigger.

The Democrats of New Mexico are not so cock sure of electing a Democratic delegate to congress as they were three weeks ago, and the question, whom will the Republicans nominate? is causing the leaders of the territorial untiered many sleepless nights.

The czar was a little bit slow with his disarmament idea. The United States inaugurated the idea on May 1, when a portion of one navy was disarmed and continued the good work until the peace protocol between this country and Spain was signed. The czar or king who gets ahead of the Americans will have to rise before the sun every morning.

The assassination of the empress of Austria by an anarchist will not add to the fame or glory of the members of that society in Europe. A more uncalculated, for brutal murder has not been committed in the history of anarchists doings, and the severe measures which will undoubtedly be adopted against participants in the plot which culminated in the death of the empress will call for no protests from the civilized portions of the world.

The Brooklyn papers are discussing the knotty problem of "how to avoid an ice famine?" Here in New Mexico at the present time the problem that is worrying the people is, has winter really come or is the cold spell now on only a bluff? The one comfort in the situation is that in the summer time Santa Fe people never suffer from the heat and in the winter the cold days are few and far between. In the north and east the folks are kept guessing whether the summer will be hotter than the winter was cold, or the winter colder than the summer was hot.

From all indications Spain will endeavor to postpone the evacuation of Cuba and Puerto Rico indefinitely by adopting tactics of procrastination in dealing with the American commissioners. That plan may work for a few days, but when the time to appear polite has expired, the American commissioners will begin to "talk turkey" and something will drop. The third of the drop will be the Spanish officials hunting for quiet spots along the sea coasts where passing vessels can pick them out without attracting undue attention. "Manana" is a mighty poor word to conjure with among the "Yankees."

It is not strange that all the attacks against the San Miguel county commissioners, with which the New Mexican, the Citizen and the little busy Bee, of San Marcial, have abounded, should come from outside of the county and not one word of complaint should be heard from the county.—Las Vegas Optic.

There is nothing strange about it. The county commissioners, to judge from the public records, have taken particular pains to provide for any such contingency by "buttering the bread" of every one in the county who might be expected to make a row over the manner in which the business of the county is being conducted. Such being the case, the only way possible for the unlawful proceedings of the board of county commissioners to be shown up to the voters in their true light was for "outsiders" to take up the fight for the law and equal rights for all tax payers.

And There Are Others.

It is not so long ago since European journals were holding up their hands in a sort of amazed horror at the scandals sprung in this country immediately on the conclusion of the war with Spain; and for the time, the triumphs of the boys in blue at Santiago and Manila were lost sight of in the charges, countercharges and sensational attacks on the administration of the War department, and particularly on the commissary and quartermaster branches thereof, made for political effect by those opposed to the administration. But while the sensation is at its height, it is noticed that other nations are having their little troubles. France has become involved in a revival of the Dreyfus scandal, on account of which a prominent French army officer has suicided, if he was not deliberately murdered in his cell, a new trial of the accused officer, Dreyfus, has been ordered, and the French republic is being stirred to such an extent that it is feared in more than one quarter the disturbance will result in the destruction of the republic and the restoration of the monarchy. England has become embroiled anew on the upper Nile and in the Sudan, in consequence of which thousands of Dervishes have gone to join Mahomet, Spain is all broke up by internal political dissensions in which the butcher Weyler is taking a prominent hand. Her present dynasty is likely to suffer an overthrow and Don Carlos be put upon the throne. The empress of Austria has just been assassinated by a mongrel anarchist at Geneva which has thrown the Austrian nation into the deepest grief. Emperor William is in a fair way to entangle himself in a war with this country over the Philippines, Russia is walking softly lest she and the British lion come openly into conflict and the Turks are getting a much deserved thrashing in the island of Crete.

There is trouble and grief all around, so that the foreign journals ought to have all their eyes and ears open in looking after their own funerals without bothering about army scandals in the United States.

Effect of Dingley Tariff Upon Labor.
Wars are temporary conditions which come and go at longer or shorter intervals, but the creation, development and protection of native industries, and raising revenue incidentally therefrom are always present and must be constantly attended to. With the destructive results of the Democratic Wilson tariff, yet fresh in memory, it is almost incredible that any party or person could be so lacking in good sense as to desire a repetition of such a measure. And yet the free trade Democracy stands ready to re-enact it with all its ruinous tendencies, utterly regardless of consequences. To the wool growers of New Mexico, who, after seeing their product an unsaleable drug on the market under the Wilson law, and now see it commanding a high price, under the present Republican tariff law, it should not be necessary to make any argument, the bare facts being amply sufficient to convince any reasoning man of the bad tendencies of the former and the beneficent results of the latter. Still with the facts staring them in the face there are men who will continue to vote the Democratic ticket with the certainty of bringing about the miserable consequences from which they have just escaped. In this connection attention is called to an able and elaborate report on the Wilson and Dingley tariff laws and their effects on the industries of the country at Jarge. The report was prepared by one of the ablest statisticians in the country, the Hon. R. W. Taylor, of the Lisbon district in Ohio. Returns were received by the Protective Tariff League from 47 states and territories, from upwards of 2,000 different concerns engaged in 300 different kinds of production. The following quotations give the satisfactory results in a nutshell. Only the most stupid or the most prejudiced can fail to be convinced of their truth and significance:

"In March, 1895, when the Wilson tariff law was in full tide of successful operation, 2,229 establishments employed 204,580 hands and paid them $7,079,323.34 in wages.

"In March, 1898, the same 2,229 establishments employed 209,329 hands and paid them $10,196,136.94.

"In the 2,292 establishments from which reports were received, 64,749 more hands were employed in March 1898 than in March 1895. Is there no significance in this? Can it be explained by any other fact or facts than the change in tariff conditions?

"So much for the general result of the investigation. Let us look at it a little more in detail. How does it look geographically?

"From Colorado there are reports from 80 concerns which employed 4,758 hands in 1895 and 6,632 in 1898. The wages paid in 1895 were $200,475.61; in 1898, $318,155.34. Here was an increase of 40 per cent in the number of hands employed; but each man received nearly 15 per cent more wages than those employed in 1895 received.

"From Connecticut there are reports from 78 concerns which employed 13,829 hands in March, 1895, and 15,576 in March, 1898. The wages paid in 1895 were $508,967.39; in 1898, $605,368.28. The relative increase in the number of hands is not as great as in Colorado, nor is the increase in the average rate paid as great; yet we find 16 per cent more hands employed in 1898 than in 1895 and the average rate of wages is 19 per cent higher.

"From South Carolina there are 15 reports from concerns which employed 3,718 hands in March, 1895, and 4,892 in March, 1898. The wages paid in 1895 were $62,804.18; in 1898, $174,610.74. Here it will be noticed that more than twice as many hands were employed in March, 1898, and the average rate of wages increased nearly 20 per cent.

"From Missouri there are 206 reports from concerns which employed 5,057 hands in 1895, and 7,555 in 1898. The wages paid in March, 1895, were $132,473.84; in 1898 they amounted to $247,473.84. The increase in hands employed was 50 per cent, but there was an increase in the average wages paid of 10 per cent.

"From Ohio there were 86 reports from concerns employing 18,578 hands in March, 1895, and 22,313 in March, 1898. The wages paid for the month were $704,295.28 in 1895, and $1,130,333.85 in 1898. In these establishments there were nearly 4,000 more persons employed, and the average wages for the month sprang from $39 in 1895 to $51 in 1898. This is a most significant fact, and it is noticeable that the wages paid was due partly to an increase in the wage rate and partly to the increase in the number of days' work per man.

"From the state of Washington there are 108 reports representing concerns which employed 3,846 hands in March, 1895, and 4,900 in 1898. The wages paid for that month in 1895 were $188,889.77; in 1898, $430,258.82. The number of hands almost doubled and the wages paid more than doubled."

The statistics in the report include every state in the Union and are therefore fairly representative, but want of space prevents giving them in extenso. The subject is left for the present, fully agreeing with Mr. Taylor's conclusions:

"It is a shameful abuse of the credit of tariff reformers that always, under a protective tariff, we have more work and more wages; more men employed, higher wages paid, and a day's wage paying for more and more of the things the wage earner needs."

"The tariff reformer thinks these are mere coincidences; but the ordinary intellect has ceased to separate prosperity from protection."

Would Be An Acceptable Candidate.

(Lordsburg Liberal.)

El Republicano, a paper printed in Spanish at Socorro, edited by W. E. Martin, comes this week with a picture of Captain Max Luna, of the "Rough Riders," and urges his nomination as delegate for congress on the Republican ticket this fall. Captain Luna is the only officer of Spanish descent who fought on the American side during the late war with Spain. As a representative of the war spirit he would be an acceptable candidate to the large number of voters in the territory who will have the say as to who shall be our next delegate. The Republicans must nominate a man who was known to be all right on this question.

People Sick and Tired of Paying Exorbitant Salaries.

(Deming Headlight.)

The Headlight announces right here that it will vigorously fight any attempt being made by the next legislature from repealing the act of reducing the fees of county officers. The paper is informed that at least some aspirants for office are making the race upon the supposition that at the proper time they will go to Santa Fe and secure the repeal of the act passed by the last legislative assembly and consequently have fat county jobs at the expense of the taxpayers. This will not be permitted, if the people have anything to say at all. And furthermore it would be mighty good politics for both parties to announce their intentions upon this subject in the platforms. The taxpayers of this county are thoroughly sick and tired of paying men who ordinarily could not command salaries of over $100 per month, $4,000 and $5,000 per annum for doing nothing, but posing as county officers.

Have No Regard For Law.

(Lordsburg Liberal.)

THE SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN recently sent a reporter to Las Vegas and had him examine the county records. He reported that the county commissioners constantly violated the law of the territory in allowing taxpayers to settle with the county by turning in accounts against the county as part of their payments, which is a direct violation of the law. The reporter discovered that the chairman of the board of commissioners was one of the men who paid his taxes in this manner. The Las Vegas Optic, in commenting on this exposure made by the New Mexican, said that this action of the county commissioners was not new, as the proceedings of the board have been printed in the county papers and every one has a chance to know about it. The Optic said further that no taxpayers in the county objected to this violation of the law, because the county was really better off financially because of this action, although, according to the New Mexican's account, it might be suspected that the reason they did not object was that they were the taxpayers in the county paid their taxes in this way. It rather looks as though some of the people of San Miguel county have no more regard for law than some of the people of Dona Ana county. In one case the violation of the law is in the direct act of murder, while the other case it is in the nature of larceny.

TERRITORIAL TOPICS

Colfax County.

Springer schools will not open until October 1.

Captain Ed Terrell and family have returned home to Raton after an absence of several months.

Miss Maud Wheeler, of Raton, has gone to Denver to enter Wolfe Hall, the well known Episcopal school.

Santa Fe engines are being rebuilt at the Raton shops for the Las Vegas-Albuquerque run. The roll at the Raton shops for August was over $30,000.

Springer is all torn up over the attempted removal of the county jail to Raton, and the men in charge of the removal, although acting under the orders of the county commissioners, have been arrested and destroying county property, and besides are threatened with popular violence.

The loss by the recent fire at the plant of the Raton Coal & Coke Company at Gardiner, will amount to $30,000, and for a while 300 men will be thrown out of employment. The loss is partially covered by insurance. The company will replace the destroyed building fire proof structures.

It is reported that there was never, so many quail, turkey, deer and other game before in northern Dona Ana.

Thomas Montez, of Las Cruces, accidentally shot himself through the hand recently, but will save that useful member.

Mrs. H. D. Allen and Miss Kate Hess, of Las Cruces, have returned from a three weeks' overland trip to La Luz and Tularosa.

There are tons of fruit reported rotting in Tularosa orchards because of lack of transportation facilities to the markets. Better start a cannery and an evaporator.

The Dona Ana County Republican call attention to the difficulty the sheriff of this county has in getting his deputies at his command to properly preserve the peace, and calls for two troops of rangers for that part of the county.

Las Vegas.

A 550-pound bear has been shot near a Las Vegas sheep dip.

Teodoro Ortiz y Salazar, an old and respected citizen of Mora county, has died at Las Vegas.

John W. D. Voeder, of Las Vegas, has received from a relative an English clock 200 years old which still keeps good time.

Las Vegas seems to be in need of a decent water supply, for there are frequent complaints about the sickening qualities of the local aqua.

There is so much profanity among Las Vegas children that a local preacher, Rev. Norman Skinner, has felt called upon to deliver an especial sermon on the matter.

Tom Davis, son of T. A. Davis, of Las Vegas, who ran away last April, has turned up as "able seaman" on the battleship Iowa. He was all through the engagements of the Santiago campaign.

The San Miguel county commissioners have appointed Felix Martinez, Jr., a cadet to the Military Institute at Roswell, with Cecil Hays as alternate.

In the case of Louis Sulzbacher vs. Administrator William Nagelin, of the estate of Henry Korte, Judge Mills rendered judgment for the plaintiff in $573.

Sacramento will send a carload of local products to the territorial fair.

The managers of the Territorial Fair association have decided to continue the fair from September 27 to October 1.

The wooden bridges between Albuquerque and Las Vegas, on the Santa Fe road, are to be replaced with stone culverts and iron bridges.

Chaves County.

Hobbs Bros. have an artesian well on their place near Roswell, 681 feet deep, yielding 300 gallons of water per minute. The well will be sunk until a flow of 500 gallons is secured.

Eddy County.

Marion Edwards and Horace Williams are in jail at Eddy on a charge of brutality and perhaps fatally beating Walter Rausberger, a lively stable hand who found that a hired rig by the two men to go to a dance had been returned in a damaged condition.

Taos County.

The fruit crop in the Taos valley is reported the largest in years. There is also a fine wheat crop that is now being thrashed.

Mining Notes.

More prospecting is reported in Grant county than ever before.

The huge cyanide tanks at the Old Ab mine at White Oaks have been completed.

New mining machinery is being moved into the Jicarilla planters in Dona Ana county.

A great deal of work will be done on the mining properties around White Oaks the coming winter.

A party of Detroit capitalists have visited Watson to investigate the Copper Zone Mining Company's properties.

There is a great deal of prospecting going on in the Bonita and Ruidosa country in Lincoln county, and the approach of the El Paso & Northeastern road is putting new life into all of that property.

The sulphur mines in Guadalupe county are being rapidly developed, and one concern of which A. C. Cheateau is manager, is putting in a furnace capable of reducing 100 tons of ore daily. The price of sulphur has risen $25 to $40 per ton.

The Hematite mill at Red River has been sold to Messrs. Longdorf, Mason & Kelly, and arrangements are being made to start it up without delay.

An Explanation.

He—That he has outwitted his doctor, I suppose.

HER BLUNDER.

Carolyn Vermet was of that order of women to whom their admirers are wont to apply such adjectives as "regal," "magnificent," "imperial."

Many lovers sought to win her, and many were disappointed when rumor announced her engagement to young Frank Reade.

To be sure, Frank was handsome as a prince and brilliant as wit and talents; was poor, hadn't even "expectations."

Early orphaned of both his parents, he was educated for the law by a rich uncle, who made it understood that said education was all he meant to give Frank.

His presumptive heir was another nephew, Frank's cousin.

Well, these considerations had their weight with Miss Vermet, and she had hesitated before accepting the young lawyer, but his attractions of mind and person proved too much for her worldly wisdom, and it was an engagement.

Only the stipulated that it should be no more until Frank should have sufficient income to support her in good style.

Of course Frank must needs go away to seek his fortune. He went to Europe. There was a tender parting between the lovers, at which Carolyn was tearful and despondent, Frank brave and hopeful.

"Don't think of my absence, dearest," he urged cheerfully. "Think of the time when I shall return with a fortune to offer you."

"Return when you will, Frank," sobbed Carolyn, "you shall find me true. I will wait for you faithfully, dear Frank."

Frank Reade went to Europe, and for a month Carolyn was inconsolable.

However, this did not last long, and at the end of a month Carolyn had so far recovered from her grief as to accept an invitation to Mrs. De Smith's soiree.

At that soiree she met Albert Reade, that fortunate cousin of Frank's.

Mr. Reade was a rather good looking young man. She saw at once that he was destined to become her adorer. Besides, he was Frank's cousin, reason enough why she should like him.

Still she did not speak to him of Frank; neither did Mr. Reade allude to his cousin, but Albert was ignorant of Miss Vermet's engagement to Frank. He began from their first meeting to devote himself to her, and Miss Vermet, not being blind, especially to such attentions, did not mistake it, yet she did not discourage him.

And when occasionally she heard some comment on her society not flattering to her constancy she said indignantly:

"Of course she must go about with someone, and who could be a more proper escort than Frank's cousin?"

So she continued to "go about" with Albert Reade. Of course you see the sequel. Carolyn, who had been under the fascination of his presence she had yielded her selfishness, but now that he was gone worldliness had resumed its sway, and ambition began to suggest that Albert was a better match than Frank.

"Society," that astute and considerate body, had long foreseen the event and was not in the least surprised when Miss Vermet authorized the information that she was soon to marry Albert Reade, and society thought it a very sensible proceeding.

And Carolyn married Albert Reade. They went to live with Uncle Jenkins, who gave the bride a set of diamonds and did the handsome thing generally, and somebody was good enough to send to Frank in Europe a paper containing the marriage notice. What a crushing blow to all his hopes that notice was he never told any one. He did not return home, and society was left to forget or remember him as it would.

It chanced to remember him, for Carolyn, riding on a ferryboat about two years after her marriage, heard a lady and gentleman at her side conversing as follows:

"I suppose Maria told you about her friend Frank Reade's good fortune?" queried the lady.

"No. What about that? I understand that he was rather unfortunate at one time."

"You mean about his engagement to that Miss Vermet, was it I suppose? Yes, he did take her inconstancy very badly, Maria says. They say she was a great beauty, and men are silly about a pretty face—begging your pardon, mon ami!"

"Granted," laughed the gentleman.

"Well, you know, as soon as he was safely out of the way she married a rich man, some relation to Frank Reade, I believe."

"Yes, I have heard all about that."

"Well, now comes the sequel. Frank went to Switzerland on some wild goose chase, and while there saved the life of a certain rich, benevolent, childless gentleman. Well, the benevolent old gentleman insisted on taking his brave young preserver home to England with him. Then he adopted him, and in due time he capped the climax by dying and leaving his immense fortune unconditionally to Frank. Now, won't that be a bitter pill to the faithless beauty?"

Carolyn heard no more, but she had heard enough, and later the story had plenty of comment. It was a bitter pill to her. But the worst was not yet.

In the course of nature Uncle Jenkins died and was buried, and his lawyer came to read the will to the heir presumptive. With serene satisfaction Mr. and Mrs. Reade listened to the following:

"I give and bequeath to my nephew, Albert Reade, all the property of which I die possessed, amounting—"

Here the lawyer paused to wipe his spectacles.

"Amounting to $5,000, invested in—"

etc.

That was all. Uncle Jenkins' apparent wealth had been all a sham, and Carolyn had sold herself for $5,000! She had lost not only a true, loving heart, but what was of more value—a princely fortune!—Cincinnati Post.

A Great English Statesman's Secret.

The secret of a celebrated English statesman's long life was his systematic way of eating. Every bite of food was chewed thirty times before swallowing. The result was his naturally enjoyed good health. Most men and women bolt their food, and eat things which were never intended to be eaten. They become constipated, have a bad complexion, lose flesh, are irritable and nervous, and the first thing they know they are "played out." It is gratifying to know that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters cures stomach troubles. It is a purely vegetable medicine that has stood the test of many years. It cures cases which seem to be hopeless. Sufferers from any disorder of stomach, liver or bowels should try it.

Not an Unmixed Evil.

Does your wife always make you give an account of yourself when you get home late at night? No. She always occupies the entire time telling me what she thinks of me and detailing just what she is sure I have been doing. Sometimes you see a woman's desire to talk is a good thing, after all.

Waning Affection.

"He—Carrie, you don't seem to care so much for me as you did when we were first married." She—As for that matter, I don't think so much of my hat as I did when I got it just before Easter.

A CRITICAL TIME

During the Battle of Santiago.

SICK OR WELL, A RUSH NIGHT AND DAY.

The Packers at the Battle of Santiago de Cuba were all heroes. Their heroic efforts in getting ammunition and rations to the front saved the day.

P. E. Butler, of pack-train No. 3, writing from Santiago de Cuba, on July 23, says: "We all had diarrhoea in more or less violent form, and when we landed we had no time to see a doctor, for it was a case of rush and rush night and day to keep the troops supplied with ammunition and rations, but thanks to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, we were able to keep at work and keep our health; in fact, I sincerely believe that at one critical time this medicine was the indirect saviour of our army, for if the packers had been unable to work there would have been no way of getting supplies to the front. There were no roads that a wagon train could use. My comrades and myself had the good fortune to lay in a supply of this medicine for our pack-train before we left Tampa, and I know in four cases it absolutely saved life."

The above letter was written to the manufacturers of this medicine, the Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Burlington Club-houses on wheels.

The buffet-smoking-library cars which go east on the Burlington "Chicago Special" are veritable club-houses on wheels. The smoking-room is a brilliantly lighted apartment, beautifully carpeted, furnished in oak, and furnished with easy chairs, settees, tables, and a writing-desk. Here you can lounge, read, write, gossip, smoke, or play cards. Under conditions like these, a 1000-mile railway ride is something to be looked forward to with pleasure.

A LIGHT WOMAN.

She had as many loves as she had follies, and all her light loves sang her praises, but now beneath a tangle of sea hollies and pale sea daisies.

Here at the limit of the hollow shore, Folly and praise are covered neatly over.

We will not tell her heads of beauty ever. All that we say and all we leave unsaid is buried with her now, since there's no lover but settlers on her bed. Pansies for thoughts and woodruff white as she. And, for remembrance, quiet rosemary.

Here is the end of laughter, and here wither. Sorrow and mirth, here dancing feet fall still. Here where the sea pink flower and fade to—

Even at the wind's wild will. Ah, hush her softly in her quiet home! She was your sister, and light as foam. —Nora Hopper in Black and White.

A CIRCUS ROMANCE.

"Why is Miss Ryland so indifferent to me?"

The question was asked by a curious woman who had just left the dashing young equestrienne's apartments at the Ringling Bros.' circus one evening last week.

"And why is she so fond of a black costume?" queried another. "Notice that she rides in somber colors nearly every night."

Behind the answer to these interrogatories lies a story flavored with romance, but unaccompanied by the usual denouement that makes the romance complete. There is sadness at the beginning and end of it and just enough in the middle that is joyful to make the tale pretty. It is a pathetic narrative, on the whole, and interesting, though it does recount the woes of lovers.

Miss Ryland was not born into her art. She is not the seventh daughter of a seventh daughter of circus fame. Her abundant auburn tresses blossomed into radiance under the warm rays of a Mississippi sun, and her muscular brawn was early developed on her father's plantation where she was a mistress.

Mr. Ryland was one of the largest cotton growers in his vicinity. He lived three miles from his plantation, on the outskirts of a pretty southern town. His handsome home was the scene of numerous fashionable events, and Elena, his only daughter, was the most admired woman in the place.

In the later eighties a small circus visited the town. Mr. Ryland allowed the management to use part of his spacious grounds for show property. Everybody in the village was out to see the first and only performance given by the aggregation in the little city, among others Elena Ryland.

In the circus was a young bareback rider, Alfred Julian by name. He had been with the company only a few weeks and was doing a mediocre performance. By profession he was an artist, but fame and fortune did not roll his way, and he gave up the pencil for more lucrative employment under the canvas. He was a good looking, educated fellow of 30 years and became quite popular with his fellow performers.

The young man was unfortunate on his appearance that night. In attempting to leap through a hoop and on to his horse's back he missed his footing and fell with terrific force on the box curbing surrounding the ring. He was picked up in an unconscious condition, and it was found that his right arm and leg were broken.

The accident stopped the show. The spectators left their seats and crowded about the ring to learn the extent of Julian's injury. Mr. Ryland was one of the first to reach the youth's side. The circus doctor was summoned and advised that the young man be taken at once to a hospital. There was no hospital in the place, and the only accommodation available was the temporary shelter of the dressing room.

Ryland came to the aid of the management by offering the use of his home to the injured man. The offer was gratefully accepted, and Julian was removed to the magnificent Ryland residence for treatment. The generous, noble hearted planter went further. He insisted on calling in the family physician to treat Julian, and when the circus left town the next day the bareback rider was resting easy in the most comfortable quarters he had enjoyed since he quit his eastern home three weeks before.

Julian required a nurse. Elena Ryland, sympathetic and loving, gladly took upon herself the task of ministering to the needs of the suffering man. She would be his nurse, she declared, and she performed her duty more faithfully and with greater pleasure than could be expected of any paid servant.

The second day after his fall Julian regained consciousness. He opened his eyes and looked in wonderment on his strange surroundings. He did not speak for several moments. Then he inquired in a soft voice of his fair attendant, "Where am I?"

"You are in a friend's house," Miss Ryland replied. "The circus is gone, but you need not worry for your safety." He did not worry. He suffered excruciating pain and often would have murmured over his lot, but the gentle words of his watchful nurse helped him to bravely bear his troubles in silence.

Slowly he recovered. As he grew better he learned to appreciate the service of his kind attendant. She was more than a sister to him, and her heart was filling with more than a sister's love for a friend in distress.

He asked all about his accident and the events following it. He was somewhat humiliated at his ill luck and vowed he would never again enter the circus ring. Miss Ryland was fascinated with his stories of circus life and listened intently to every word that fell from his lips.

The patient was interested in his fair nurse. He fully reciprocated her attachment for him. A feeling stronger than that of friendship endeared her to him. He was in love with her, but he dared not tell her. Her station in life, he thought, was so far above his that to dream of such a thing were folly.

The days passed pleasantly for the pair. For hours and hours they sat talking, or she would read to him. Lovers could not have been more companionable. Neither could regard the other more highly, yet neither breathed a word of love.

Julian remained at the Ryland home until he had completely convalesced. When he left, it was as if the son of the family had said farewell to those nearest and dearest to him. Alfred kissed Elena goodbye.

"I am going to study art again," he said, "and I will write you when I get back to New Jersey. I shall always remember your kindness. Some day I may be able to repay it."

Three months after he left George Ryland, wealthy sugar planter, was a business wreck. Faithless employees had robbed him, his property had been mortgaged, but there was not enough money on hand to pay off the debt, and the family were forced to give up their elegant home and take quarters in a poor quarter of the village. The blow was too much for Ryland. The worry and strain unnerved him, and he died a short while after of sheer physical collapse.

Elena Ryland and her mother were in destitute circumstances. The girl resolved to be the support of the family and to that end sought employment in the town. She was not successful and in despair wrote to her friend Julian in New Jersey. She begged him to get her a position in the circus. She was a fairly good rider and, with a little practice, thought she could hold her own in a second rate company.

Julian had made a good start in the east and offered the despondent girl another way out of her trouble. He proposed marriage. He had loved her, he said, many months, but hesitated, because of his lowly position, to ask her to be his wife. Now that they were both on the same level, financially she might look with more favor on his suit.

Elena accepted the proposal, but she could not, out of respect to her father's memory, marry within a year. So she asked Alfred if he could not meantime secure for her a position with the circus with which he had traveled.

That's how Elena Ryland came to be a bareback rider in a big circus. Why she is not the wife of Alfred Julian is another story. Alfred concluded to go to Paris and finish his studies, while Elena was waiting for the year to elapse until they could be united in marriage.

Elena was successful as a daring rider, and within a few months after she started with the one ring show she received an offer from the Ringlings. She has been with them for the last three years.

Julian never came back from Paris. He took sick and died of pneumonia. Miss Ryland did not even know that he had been ill until she received word of his death. His body was laid to rest in France.

The news of her lover's demise was a terrible shock to Miss Ryland, and for two weeks after the information reached her she was too ill to fill her part. For a year she rode in mourning costume, and even now she wears black most of the time. She is quiet and does not mingle much with the rest of the performers. Her mother rarely speaks of her love affair and its sad ending, and very few of her friends know the story of her life. It is such an unhappy story, too, that the young folks in the big jolly aggregation of performers do not like to hear it.—St. Louis Republic.

Whipped the Four Hundred. An officer of the steamer Empress of Japan, recently arrived at Vancouver from the orient, tells of an exciting street fight which he witnessed in the streets of Hongkong prior to the sailing of his vessel. There are many sailors in that harbor attached to the war vessels of various nations, and they imbibe strong national prejudices as they watch the international game in the east. The trouble started in a saloon. The Russian sailors combined with the French and Germans and formed a double line down a narrow street and dared any Johnny Bull or Yankee to pass.

The English and American sailors joined forces and found they mustered 150 to the enemy's 400. Nothing daunted, they seized a lot of jirikishas, formed a wedge with them and rushed on the foreigners with a cheer. They broke the line, smashed the jirikishas and continued the fight with fists and pieces of the debris until, as the informant relates, they had the 400 allies badly whipped. The din was dreadful, but above it rose the singing of "America" and "God Save the Queen," both, of course, to the same tune. The authorities were powerless and appealed to the commanders of the warships, who ordered the men to stop, and the hostilities ceased.

Thus has been begun the much talked of Anglo-Saxon alliance against the world.—Argonaut.

Sarcasmic Novelist. The people who want—and do not scruple to ask for—favors from public men are sometimes so unreasonable as almost to deserve a rude answer. Such an answer, for example, as The Golden Penny quotes:

A certain novelist, not unknown to fame, received from a lady an unstamped letter asking the loan of his book, on the plea that she could not obtain it at the bookseller's in her town. His reply was worded as follows:

DEAR MADAM—In the town where you reside there appears to be a lack of all sorts of things which are easily procurable elsewhere. I am not only of my recent work, but also of postage stamps for letters. I have in my possession, it is true, the book you desire to obtain and also the stamps to pay its carriage, but, to my regret, I am without the necessary string to make it into a parcel. If you can supply me with a piece, I am at your service."

Not to Be Thought Of. Subbute—What an enormous quantity of coal these warships consume. His Wife—But just imagine how much they'd consume if it were winter. —New York Truth

Woman's power is largely dependent upon her ability to interest, entertain, attract and please. It is for this reason that women strive to become accomplished. They study in order that they may converse intelligently on all subjects. They strive to become good musicians, graceful dancers and amiable hostesses.

All accomplishments are unavailing if a woman suffers from ill-health in a womanly way. The special weakness peculiar to the womanly organism, will rapidly wreck the general health. The sufferer will lose her natural vivacity, her wit, her good looks, and the ambition and power to display the accomplishments at her command. Any woman affected in this way should resort to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a wonderful medicine for ailing women. It is the invention of an eminent and skilful physician, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It aims to cure but one class of diseases, and claims to be good for nothing else. It imparts health, elastic strength, vigor and vitality to the delicate feminine organs. It prepares a woman for wifehood and motherhood.

Mrs. Ramon Sanchez, Penasco, Taos County, N. Mex., in a letter to Dr. Pierce says: "From a grateful heart my voice goes up to God both night and day in a solemn prayer that He may guard your health and preserve your life. I hereby express my gratitude to you for the relief I have received from your wonderful medicine. I am to-day a healthy and happy wife, and can truthfully recommend to women the use of the 'Favorite Prescription' as a regulator of the monthly periods."

HER ONLY THOUGHT.

How Weyler's Wife Proved Herself Like Other Women.

All don't regarding the ability of America to successfully invade Spain after the conquest of Cuba, the Camariacs and the Philippines had been set at rest. A terrific bombardment of the coast paved the way for a land force. Before the haughty highaloes could realize their peril a victorious army was storming at the gates of Madrid. The Spaniards made a last desperate stand. For days the conflict raged without ceasing, and the fortune of battle hung in the balance. In her palace sat Mrs. Weyler, sadly sewing and shuddering at the hoarse booming of the guns that tore the town to pieces.

"Valeriano!" she murmured. "My husband, Val!"

Crash! The door flew open with a bang, and in rushed General Weyler, bloody and disheveled, followed by his staff.

"Pasquita," he harshly ordered, "something to eat at once for myself and men! Quick!"

Bursting into tears, she fled from the room. With angry stride the general flew after her.

"What means this foolery?" he cried. "Speak!"

"Oh, V-V-V-aleriano!" she sobbed, "and you once p-p-promised never to b-bring anybody home to dinner without telling me b-b-beforehand! P-p-perfect strangers, t-t-too, and not a t-th-th-ing in the house f-f-fit to eat!"—New York Journal.

A Practical Joker Punished. A "practical" joker is at present taking a good, hard dose of his own medicine. About two weeks ago he packed a dry goods box with old shoes, empty tin cans and other rubbish and sent it off to Tampa, Fla., consigned to one of the companies of the Third regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers, with express charges collect. The soldier boys thought it was a box of supplies sent by some kind friends, and gladly paid the charges.

Their chagrin in discovering the contents of the box may be imagined. But they have since been turning the tables with a vengeance. They learned the name of the joker, and for a week past nearly every man in the company has been writing a letter of thanks every day to the sender of the box. The letters are mailed with the soldiers' privilege of sending mail without stamps, postage to be collected from the receiver.

The "joker" is paying about $2 a day in postage for the letters of thanks he is receiving, and he's wondering how much longer they will continue to come.—Philadelphia Record.

TO WELCOME "ROUGH RIDERS."

Regiment Will Be Mustered Out Thursday
Next—Ladies of Santa Fe Preparing Royal Welcome.

The following letter has been received by Harry Motley from Corporal James M. Dean, relative to the return of the "Rough Riders" and other matters connected with the troops:

Camp Wikoff, Sept. 6.—I rejoined the troop August 31 and was glad to get back. I prefer this place to the Key West hospital; we are fed better and the climate is invigorating, while some deteriorating conditions exist that might be present anywhere where a large body of troops is mobilized, most of the boys are fast regaining their health and will return looking about as well as ever, but another month or two in Cuba would certainly have caused more than 50 per cent to remain there always.

Everybody is disgusted with the way newspapers exaggerate incidents of the war, and I hope, while Santa Fe people may desire to extend to us a memorable welcome on our return, that sympathetic expressions may be entirely eliminated, as we do not desire and do not need them. Major Hersey is ascertaining how many of Troop E will return to Santa Fe so we can charter a car, stopping over at New York, Washington, Chicago, Omaha and Kansas City one day each, and thence to Santa Fe.

Mustered Out On Thursday.

Captain Max Luna last night telegraphed the New Mexican as follows:
Camp Wikoff, Sept. 11. The regiment will be mustered out on the 15th. Captain Llewellyn is back in splendid health. Health of men improving and good feeling prevails.

Ladies Preparing a Royal Welcome.

At the meeting held Saturday afternoon, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Ladies Soldiers' Aid Society decided to unite in their efforts in preparing a grand reception for the returning "Rough Riders." The former society will erect a triumphal arch in front of the historical rooms, and the Ladies Soldiers' Aid Society will prepare and serve a banquet on the arrival of the troops. No spurious liquors will be served during the banquet, but the gentlemen who wish to contribute cigars, provisions or cash for the occasion will be given an opportunity to do so.

As the exact day of the arrival of the "Rough Riders" has not been learned, but will undoubtedly be the first of next week, the ladies are proceeding with all preparations in order that everything may be in readiness. The boys will receive a welcome that they will never forget and the day should be one of a holiday nature.

Death of Mrs. Sloan.

Mrs. Rose Keller Sloan, wife of Dr.
Sloan, died at 4 p. m. yesterday, after a final illness of only five hours from heart disease. She was the daughter of W. H. Keller, of this city, a well known citizen, and had lived in Santa Fe with her husband since 1883. She has been suffering from weakness of the heart for the past two years, and a year ago went to Kansas City for relief; but while there she was taken so sick that her husband had to be telegraphed for to bring her home.

Mrs. Sloan was apparently well yesterday morning, and went out into her placita to pick some flowers, but presently not feeling well, went indoors to lie down. Shortly, the hired boy heard her call for help, and he hurried off to Mrs. Keller's, where he summoned Mrs.
Carson, sister of the doctor. The doctor was also hurriedly called home.
This was at 11 a. m., and Mrs. Sloan was unconscious when friends and aid arrived. Nothing could bring her back to consciousness, and at 4 o'clock she passed away.

Mrs. Willis, sister of the deceased, was wired to at Roswell, and also her brother, Charles Keller, at Flagstaff. The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, the interment to be at Fairview cemetery.

MINOR CITY TOPICS.

The New Mexican office acknowledges handsome receipts from ex-Governor Prince and Dr. Harroun.

The Santa Fe railway is arranging for the big orange rush which is promised shortly, first from Mexico, and then from California.

Special meeting of the school board tonight, at Fischer's drug store, for the purpose of determining when the city schools will open.

The Santa Fe has orders to move 60 double deck cars of sheep from Magdalena, the shipment amounting to nearly 20,000 ewes and lambs.

The stamp-on-a-check tax takes $25-000 annually out of the Santa Fe Railway Company's pocket, as that company pays its help in checks.

There was a washout south of Albuquerque Saturday night, and the north bound train did not reach Lamy in consequence until 10 a. m. yesterday.

The Santa Fe road has discovered that center ice tank refrigerator cars are a failure. The company is equipping all its freight cars with automatic couplers in conformity with the federal law regulating the equipment of railroad rolling stock.

Mass for the repose of the soul of Ramon Garcia will be celebrated in the Guadalupe church next Saturday morning at 6:30 o'clock.

The Santa Fe road has adopted a new headlight called the Star. It is smaller than the old style and the reflector is but six inches deep, but the light is clearer and is thrown further than by the old headlights.

A little excitement was occasioned in some quarters this morning by the finding of a number of burro skulls yesterday, near the city, which started the report that the Rocky mountain canaries were being slaughtered for sale as fresh beef.

The Ladies Soldiers' Aid Society is spending considerable money each week for the care of sick soldiers who have returned from Cuba and the various camps and hospitals, and as their funds are running low, contributions for the work will be thankfully received.

A cornet has been added to the Methodist choir, and the pastor hopes to further increase the instrumental force with a violin. A valuable aid to any choir is two cornets, to play lead and alto, a horn to play tenor, and a baritone to play the bass part.

Ex-Delegate Antonio Joseph went north this morning to his Ojo Caliente home from Roswell, where he has been to place his son in school. He says things look wonderfully promising in the Pecos valley and in fact all through southeastern New Mexico which is perhaps the most flourishing part of the territory today.

It was learned yesterday that the reported movement of the territorial regiment was a mistake. The regiment will not leave Whipple until the latter part of this week, and if the train passes through Lamy at any reasonable hour of the day, Agent Lutz will run a special excursion train from this city to meet the boys at the junction.

The territorial regiment is now divided as follows: First battalion, Company A, Phoenix; Company B, Tucson; Company C, Prescott; Company D, Indian Territory. Second battalion, Company E, Albuquerque; Company F, Las Vegas; Company G, Santa Fe; Company
H, Las Cruces. Third battalion, Companies I, K, L, and M, Oklahoma.

In the haste of making up the list of awards at the fair, as published on Saturday, some inaccuracies were unavoidable. A carefully corrected list is now being prepared. The following corrections may be noted now: Third premium for best 20 kinds of apples belongs to Grant Rivenburg. On currants George H. Cross is first and Mrs. Wientge second. On Pawaakee apple (omitted Saturday) L. B. Prince first.

The snow storm which set in Saturday continued intermittently through yesterday, the snow falling between Raton and Denver, and on the mountain tops in the central part of this territory.
The mercury fell rapidly, the thermometric fall extending as far south as El Paso, but the snow so snow on the plains south of Raton. So the air was quite wintry this morning, but very exhilarating. The storm is evidently part of the equinoctial change which comes on the 21st of this month, when the sun crosses the equator on its southbound march.

Saturday evening Antonio Fink was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Huber on the charge of buying stolen cattle.
Deputy Sheriff Quintana, of San Miguel county, came to Santa Fe looking for the missing animals and requested Mr.
Huber to make the arrest for him. Fink gave bonds for his appearance at Pecos-town this morning, and in company with A. B. Renahan went over this morning to answer to the charge. The cattle which it is claimed that Fink bought were stolen from Herman Hernandez, in Mora county, but further particulars of the case cannot be learned until the return of Fink and his attorney from Pecos-town.

and his preliminary hearing will be had

ing at 10 o'clock.

The United States Indian school in this city opened this morning with an attendance of 150 pupils. There was a misunderstanding in regard to the time the school would begin and the number present at the opening hour was only about half of what was expected. The enrollment will soon be over 300.

Trooper Fred McCabe received a telegram from the War department today, saying that since his regiment, the "Rough Riders," was to be mustered out at Camp Wikoff, his discharge would be sent to Santa Fe by the commanding officer.

U. S. weather bureau forecast for New Mexico: Fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer.

Miss Nellie Blanchard sang the offertory at St. John's yesterday morning.
There is a call for the mayor to order a clean up of the city's alleys.

witness a game of ball played between

Browns. The team lined up as follows:

SANTA FE. POSITIONS. ALBUQUERQUE.

sulted at the end of the sixth inning in a score of 16 to 11 in favor of the Colts.
At this inning the Browns gave up the game on account of having to leave on the afternoon train. The visitors were accompanied to the station by a large number of citizens, who voted them as jolly a set of boys as they ever met.

A reorganization of the ball team will take place in two or three days, and a strong team will be sent to the Albuquerque fair.

Gratifying Assays.

President A. W. Tennant, of the Copper Zone Mining Company, went north to Taos Saturday morning, to be gone several days.

Mr. Tennant is justly in good spirits over recent flattering developments at his company's well known mining property. A late output he rather thought looked suspiciously rich, so he had a 100 pound lot sampled from eight or ten tons of the ore and shipped to the Calumet & Hecla people in Michigan for a more complete analysis than is possible to secure in this part of the country; and the returns from the Michigan assay office was what might be called "clear out of sight." In fact they showed that the New Mexico ore "panned out" 37.10 per cent better than the best ore from the famous northern mine.
The nuggets assayed 66.06 and 67.92 per cent. The vein matter with very small nuggets assayed 10.39 per cent;
the vein matter after all the copper was taken out by hand assayed 3.09 per cent; and then there was a total of 9.67 in the vein matter.

Such a showing as this is very gratifying not merely to the owners of the mine, but to all citizens of this territory as it will do much to set the merits of this wonderfully territory in their right light before the eyes of the investing community.
