COMPROMISE ON STATEHOOD BILL*Submitted By Senator Carter--Probably Accepted.*SEPARATE VOTE ON QUESTION*Of Joining Two Territories
Before Delegates Go to Constitutional Convention.

Washington, June 8.—The basis of a compromise, if not the exact form, which is said to be acceptable to a majority of Senators for a settlement of the differences on the statehood question has been submitted by Senator Carter. This provides for a vote at the next regular territorial elections of Arizona and New Mexico to be held next November for delegates to a constitutional convention to frame a constitution for the proposed new state and to vote on the question of statehood to be submitted in this form: "Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united as one state?"

If a majority in each territory vote in favor of joint statehood then delegates to the constitutional convention will be called together. If a majority of either territory be recorded against statehood then the convention shall not assemble. It eliminates the expense of holding a constitutional convention in the event that the decision of either territory is against statehood and avoids a confusion of the statehood question with the election for state officers.

Vote on Statehood Report Will Be Close.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, June 8.—Both sides in the Senate are marshaling their forces on the statehood question. The vote will be very close, but those best posted on the situation claim that the conference report will be adopted by two or three majority.

Packing House Report to Committee.

Washington, June 8.—In response to a request from the House committee on agriculture, the President today forwarded to Chairman Wentworth of that committee the report made by him to the committee of the department of agriculture regarding conditions in the Chicago meat packing houses. Accompanying the report was a letter from the President in which he points out that there is no conflict in substance between the Neill-Reynolds report and that of the agricultural department experts.

Alcohol Bill Signed.

Washington, June 8.—The President today signed the denatured alcohol bill.

Rebate on Building Materials for San Francisco.

Washington, June 8.—Representative Gaines of Tennessee, and Representative Williams of Mississippi, have called to the attention of the House the fact that the ways and means committee has failed to take action on the bill to grant San Francisco a rebate on building material. Mr. Williams says that this was due to the "stand patism."

Mr. Kahn of California made reply by saying that the relief would not extend over a longer period than one year and that the people of San Francisco interested, practically agree that to extend the provisions of the bill for a period of less than three years would prove no advantage whatever. The people of California had ample assurance, he said, that orders for structural steel would be given priority over all other business and that the prices of the commodity should not be advanced.

To Pass Pure Food Law.

Washington, June 8.—In reply to an inquiry from Mr. Hinchey of Nebraska, Mr. Mann of Illinois made the emphatic statement to the House that so far as he knew it was the intention of the House to consider and pass the pure food bill and he had no doubt but that it would become a law at this session.

Rate Bill Back to Conference.

Washington, June 8.—After a day devoted almost exclusively to the conference report on the railroad rate bill the Senate decided at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon to send that measure back to the conference. The debate covered free passes, salaries of the interstate commerce commissioners and the penal provisions of the bill. There were differences of opinion

BRITISH ALARMED BY PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE*Regarding Packing House Filth—Want to Know How Consumers Are Protected.

London, June 8.—Sir Howard Vincent, the conservative member of Parliament for Central Sheffield, and one of the most pronounced advocates of protection and preferential treatment for colonial products, has given notice of his intention to present to the board of trade in the House of Commons a request for a statement on the subject of the meat packing disclosures in the United States. His question is evidently drawn up with a view to eliciting information which may be utilized by the fiscal reformers in pushing their propaganda. Sir Howard wants to know what is the total amount of the importation of American canned meats, game, fish, fruits and other preserved foods into the United Kingdom and British Empire generally during the years 1900 and 1905 respectively and what steps the board of trade proposes to take in order to protect British consumers from the evil of such foods generally, in view of the recent disclosures.

DECLARES PACKERS
ACCEPTED REBATES*Interesting Statement of District Attorney in Kansas City—Twenty-three Cents per Hundred.

Kansas City, Mo., June 8.—A. S. Van Valkenburg, district attorney for the western district of Missouri, in the federal court here this morning, presented the government's side of the case of Armour & Company, Swift & Company, Cudahy & Company, and the Nelson-Morris Packing Company on trial on the charge of accepting rebates from the Burlington Railway on export shipments. Van Valkenburg declared that the packing companies' acceptance of a rate of 23c a hundred when the regular tariff was 35c, was a plain violation of the interstate commerce act. The case will probably go to the jury early this afternoon.

Frank Hagaman, representing Armour & Company, and speaking for the other defendants also, followed Van Valkenburg in a rebuttal argument. His argument was lengthy and technical. When recess was taken at noon, Judge McPherson announced that immediately upon reconvening this afternoon he would instruct the jury and give them the case.

TWENTY KILLED IN RUSSIAN RIOT*Persons Imported to Replace Russian
Suffer Penalty—Revolutionists Securing Munitions.

Tsaritzin, Russia, June 8.—In a fight here yesterday between the Persians, whom the local contractors had imported to take the places of the striking longshoremen and a mob of strikers, a score of the latter were killed. Revolutionists are arming. Moscow, June 8.—There is a noticeable increase in the revolutionary activity here and it is evident that the leaders are preparing to take advantage of the first opportunity to start an armed uprising. The workmen of the factories and the mills are being systematically armed with Mauser rifles and drilled under the supervision of army reserve soldiers. Revolutionary emissaries are being sent in all directions to the interior of the country to induce the desperate and hungry peasants to appropriate the land and strike on the big estates.

Premier Guremykin To Go.

St. Petersburg, June 8.—According to a reliable report from Peterhoff, the emperor has about decided to retire Premier Guremykin. The emperor is extremely dissatisfied at the premier's failure to make headway towards rapprochement with the lower House of Parliament and is now ready to sacrifice him.

on all these points, but the dominant thought was favorable to sustaining the Senate provisions thereon. The bill providing for control of the waters of Niagara River was passed.

Filibustering to Continue.

Washington, June 8.—The leader of the minority, Mr. John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, discussing the statehood conference report in the House yesterday, said:

"If it shall appear that we are to be forced to swallow the conference report in the gross, either to vote against it altogether or vote for it altogether, without an opportunity to express an opinion on the question, then we will resume the policy of demanding that every constitutional requirement shall be complied with before any legislation is carried on by this body."

Alleged Presidential Extravagance.

Washington, June 8.—An attack on and a spirited defense of the President were the features of a busy day in the House of Representatives yesterday. Mr. Brundage, of Arkansas, assailing the items for the care of the White House and grounds as grossly extravagant and in contrast to "past simplicity."

Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, championed the appropriations.

The naval appropriation bill was sent to conference, the conference being Mr. Foss, of Illinois, Mr. Louden-lanier of New Jersey and Mr. Meir of Louisiana.

The bill was passed extending the act of March 3, 1901, to officers of the navy and marine corps advanced at any time under sections 1506 and 1605 for conduct to battle. After completing twenty-five pages of the sundry civil bill the House adjourned.

STRIKERS SHOT
BY TROOPS*In Pennsylvania

With Band.*TWO KILLED EIGHT INJURED*Miner Caused Sad Affair By Firing a Revolver at State Constabulary.

Indiana, Penn., June 8.—The new mining town of Ernest, five miles from here, was the scene early today of a conflict between a detail of the state constabulary and the striking coal miners, in which two strikers were killed and eight others were wounded, three fatally. Shortly after daylight a body of strikers headed by a brass band marched to the station to meet expected mine officials from Punxsutawney. At the station they encountered a detail of twelve members of the constabulary and as they passed a member of the band fired a revolver at the troops. No one was struck, but the constabulary immediately retaliated with a volley. When the smoke cleared away, ten strikers were lying on the ground. All is quiet now and no further trouble is expected.

RAILROAD TAXES
GET BIG RAISE*Arizona Board of Equalization Takes Radical Action—Fifty Per Cent Increase.

Phoenix, Ariz., June 8.—The Arizona Board of Equalization at the end of a three days' session yesterday made a series of radical raises in the valuation of property of the Southern Pacific Railroad for taxation, of the Pullman Company, the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and the railroads incorporated in this territory.

This action followed hearings at which representatives of the railroads appeared but which failed to influence the board in its determination to secure a fair valuation of railroad property in this territory, a valuation which has been ridiculously low in the past.

A year ago the board made raises in the assessed valuation of mining property which resulted in a test case in the local courts in which the action of the board was sustained, and it is expected that the present action of the board will result in litigation. The Arizona railroads claim exemptions of various kinds which have in the past relieved them of a large portion of taxation and their assessment has been very low. The action of the board is a surprise, as it was not believed the members would vote to make any large increase in railroad valuations. The members of the board are J. H. Page, member at large; T. F. Wilson, of Tucson; Chas. F. Solomon, of Solomonville; F. H. Parker, of Phoenix; T. J. Coulter, of Flagstaff, and Charles Newman, of Tombstone.

Valuation Increased $15,000,000.

A partial report made today by the board infers that it has raised railroad valuations about fifty per cent. The Southern Pacific was valued last year at a little less than $7,000 a mile; this year its valuation is placed at $11,000 a mile. The total taxation of the company in Arizona is raised $100,000 over last year's figures, and the Grand Canyon Railroad, which was not taxed heretofore, is listed for taxation by the board. Total taxable valuation on property in the Territory approximated last year $50,000,000 and this year it is estimated that the valuation will be increased by $15,000,000.

Denver, Colo., June 8.—The Western Federation of Miners today adopted a resolution thanking the various labor unions of the country for financial assistance given the Federation to aid it in the defense of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone. The morning session of the convention was adjourned early and the delegates marched to the depot to meet the incoming delegates from Butte, who had been elected to take the place of those who bolted the convention early in the session.

ROCK ISLAND
TRAIN DITCHED*Thirty Miles From Topeka, Kansas—
Fifteen Passengers Injured—
None Fatally.

Topeka, Kan., June 8.—A special train from Norton, Kansas, says passenger train No. 6 of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad was wrecked near Jennings, thirty miles west of here. The engine and all the coaches were derailed. Eighteen or twenty passengers are reported seriously injured. The train was east bound.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon it was reported from the Rock Island offices that fifteen passengers were injured, but none fatally.

MEXICANS ADMITTED
WITHOUT FUNDS*In Order That Railroads May Secure Enough Men to Carry on Work.

El Paso, June 8.—The necessity for labor on the railroads has become so stringent that the government has decided to come to the rescue of the railroads and relax the immigration laws once again.

Until a few months ago, for a period of several years past, the officials have not been very strict in the enforcement of the immigration laws against Mexican laborers applying for admission along the border, but some weeks ago the citizens of Arizona and New Mexico began complaining that idle Mexicans were causing a reign of terror and were not working when allowed to come into the country, but were robbing, stealing and endangering the lives of Americans.

The department at once put up the boards and prescribed that a Mexican laborer must stand the same examination as any other foreigner—that is, that he must have a certain sum of money in his possession, before he could come into the United States.

This cut down the immigration over 50 per cent, and then the railroads set up a complaint. They declared that they could not get help and that the only way to remedy the matter was for the immigration officials to return to the old custom.

After the roads had all been heard, Commissioner Sargent decided to accede to their request in a way. He decided to waive the money question, but ordered that all applicants for admission must stand a rigid examination. They must go before the examining board at each port, and the matter is left entirely with the board. If the members—three immigration officers—are satisfied that the applicants really want work and that they will not become public charges or criminals, they will be allowed to come in. The examination will be rather rigid, but any honest, working Mexican can pass it.

FAIRBANKS FEARS
SPEAKER CANNON*Vice President Disquieted Over Report
That Uncle Joe Has Aspirations.

Washington, June 8.—Vice President Fairbanks is disquieted over the growth of the feeling in Congress that Speaker Cannon will be a fit subject for the suffrages of the people when the time comes to elect a successor to Theodore Roosevelt. The Vice President has shown his unrest in no unmistakable manner. He has taken means at this early period of the campaigning days to strew thorns in the path of his successor.

Circumstantial evidence presented in the case is as strong as any direct evidence ever adduced, and friends of Mr. Cannon have taken note of the proceedings and are properly resentful. Mr. Cannon is not an announced candidate for the Presidency. It is perhaps too much to say that he is not a receptive candidate, for the high office is one which a man cannot well put from him if the people choose to proffer it. But even though the presiding officer of the House is not seeking to succeed Mr. Roosevelt, he has been subjected to the attacks of a candidate who sees in him a possible rival.

The personal newspaper organ of Vice President Fairbanks attacked the speaker viciously in its editorial columns, and at his door laid the sin of pure food delay, and intimated that it was his will that a measure which would make for the health of the people should die.

This newspaper attack is taken in Washington as significant of only one thing, and that is the desire of the presiding officer of one House of Congress to remove from the field of Presidential rivalry the presiding officer of another. That ill feeling has been created is too patent to be controverted.

LOAD BECAME
EXPLODING BOMB*Miner Carrying Keg of Powder Came In Contact With Electric Wire
Igniting Blast.

Florence, Colo., June 8.—Joe Rankin and Albert Jones were injured seriously and John Jenkins, better known as "Shorty," was burned slightly by a terrific explosion at the Radiant coal mine Wednesday. It happened at 7 o'clock in the morning. It is a miracle that Rankin was not blown to atoms as he was carrying the powder on his right shoulder. Along the roof of the tunnel two electric wires were strung seven inches apart. These furnished light throughout the mine. One is a positive wire and the other a negative wire, and as Jenkins walked along the keg on his shoulder slipped in between the two, causing a short circuit. Instantly the twenty-four pounds of blasting powder exploded with terrific force and Rankin was knocked senseless, landing several feet away. He was burned terribly about the face and body and may die. He will be terribly powder marked if he does recover. Jones was about to pass Rankin at the time of the explosion and he also was burned badly and bruised. Jenkins was twenty-five feet away and was hurt only by flying rock. If the air current had not been good all the men would have been suffocated by the smoke, as they were 1,400 feet from the mouth of the tunnel. The two badly injured men were taken to the Colorado Fuel and Iron hospital at Pueblo.

Electric Wire Caused Loss of Over $50,000.

Baton Rouge, La., June 8.—The saving of the state capital from destruction by fire last night was accomplished in a spectacular manner with Governor Blanchard, assisted by many Louisiana legislators dressed in their night clothes and by hundreds of citizens, supplementing the fire department. The fire started from a defective wiring near the roof of the Senate chamber, destroying the capitol's eastern wing above the first floor. The Governor directed the work of saving the valuable papers. The capitol was first built in 1847 and was destroyed by fire during the Civil War. The present structure was erected in 1889. The loss is estimated at between fifty and a hundred thousand dollars.

RECLAMATION ACT
INCLUDES TEXAS*Money From "Restricted Fund" to Build Rio Grande Irrigation Project.

El Paso, Texas, June 8.—The bill introduced by Mr. Smith of this district and passed by the House, after some opposition had developed and had been placated, has now passed the Senate, and goes to the President for his signature. The President recommended the measure in his annual message.

The act provides that Texas shall be included in the national reclamation act, on a par with the 16 other states and territories named in the act. Money derived from the sale of public lands anywhere in the country may be applied upon reclamation projects anywhere in Texas, on the same terms as in other states.

The act, besides providing means by which arid Texas can be greatly benefited, reinforces an important principle. Part of the reclamation fund is what is called a "restricted fund," that is, 51 per cent of the money derived from the sale of the public lands in each state and territory has been entered upon the books to the credit of the state or territory where the lands lie whose sale provided the money. This 51 per cent is supposed to be spent within such state or territory, while the remaining 49 per cent may be used elsewhere. Already as a matter of policy it has been determined that the 51 per cent also may be used elsewhere, provided it be returned to the fund within ten years to be spent within the state of its "origin." But this Smith bill recognizes the right of all the states in proceeds of the sale of public lands—the partnership property of the public lands. Though Texas has no national public lands, she shares ownership with all other states in the public domain, and the arid part of the state is now included with the other arid regions in the reclamation act.

In order to build the Rio Grande project in the near future, money will have to be taken out of the "restricted funds" of the other states and territories. The more strongly the policy of temporary diversion can be entrenched the more chance there is to get the big dam started.

PROFESSOR THOMPSON IS RE-ELECTED

Roswell, N. M., June 8.—The board of education has re-elected Professor C. D. Thompson superintendent of the Roswell public schools and most of the old corps of teachers for the coming school year.

The walls of N. Costa's handsome new business building going up on the west side of Main Street between Second and Third, are up almost to the ceiling.

Dr. Julius Garst of Worcester, Massachusetts, is going to tear down the fronts to three or four of his business houses just south of N. Costa's new building and put in handsome, modern fronts, and add a second story to the buildings as soon as the present tenants can find other locations so as to vacate the buildings.

TERRITORIAL BOARD OF EDUCATION

The Territorial Board of Education met this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the office of Professor Hiram Hadley, superintendent of public instruction at the capitol building, Governor Herbert J. Hagerman presiding. The following members were present: Professor E. J. Vort, president of the New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas; Professor W. G. Tient, president of the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque; Professor Luther Foster, president of the Agricultural College at Mesilla Park, and J. E. Clark, superintendent of the public schools at Albuquerque. Professor Hiram Hadley, secretary of the board, was at his post. Routine business matters were taken up and discussed during the afternoon's session.

BOYS AND CIGARETTES
WIPED OUT TOWN*Youngsters Smoke in Vacant House Causing Disastrous Fire in Mining Camp.

Florence, Colo., June 8.—The entire business section of Querida has been destroyed by fire. Starting at 10 o'clock on Monday night, it raged until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, when it burned itself out. Querida is a mining camp in Custer County, thirty miles south of here.

The loss cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy, but it is not under $20,000. The flames are thought to have started in an empty building. It was caused accidentally by some small boys who had gathered there and were smoking cigarettes. Some people claim that it was the work of an incendiary.

A strong wind was blowing and other buildings caught fire. In a few moments it was seen that a large part of the town was doomed. Querida has no water system and the only method of fighting the flames was by a bucket brigade from the numerous private wells. Not a single piece of apparatus was in the place and the bucket brigade was beaten back by the intense heat.

Dynamite then was tried and several buildings blown up, but to no avail. By morning three blocks, the best part of the town, were in ruins. Only the direction of the wind saved the residence part, although, as the houses were rather scattered, some might have been saved even had the fire kept on burning.

A. T. Easton, a Rockvale merchant who had a branch store there, probably is the heaviest sufferer. He lost about $3,000. L. D. Reeves, who also had a general merchandise store, was also a heavy loser. Dr. Sherry, who had a drug store, lost his entire stock; also his household goods, as he lived back of his store. Others affected by the fire are: John Gill, George Phillips, Amy Suff, M. M. St. Clair, A. D. McKenzie, state representative from Custer County, and E. W. Eddy, formerly of Coal Creek.

The Bassick mine, one of the most famous silver mines in the state, was far enough away from the town to escape destruction. None of the mine buildings located near by are reported damaged. It is not likely that much of the town will be rebuilt, as the mining industry there is not booming at present. In the early days Querida was a well-known camp, but as silver declined so did its prosperity.

The place received its greatest blow two years ago when the big cyanide mill erected by the Bassick Company was destroyed by fire. Only a year ago a block of the town was burned and a large hotel gutted. At that time dynamite was used to blow up other buildings and the town was saved.

POLICE FIND
BOY'S RELATIVES*Child Deserted at Booneville, Missouri, Nephew of a New York Woman.

New York, June 8.—Willis Farris, the five year old boy left at Booneville, Missouri, yesterday, and supposed to have been kidnapped from New York, is a nephew of Mrs. Farris, of Staten Island, according to information which Mrs. Farris gave the police today. She did not explain when, or how, the boy left New York or why he should have been sent to Booneville.

More Relatives Found.

Booneville, Mo., June 8.—Two brothers running as engineers out of Toronto, Peter and Terry Farris, are relatives of Willis Farris, an engineer, who was killed in Mexico three or four years ago, leaving a widow and an infant son who would now be about five years old. Mrs. Farris married again at San Antonio, Texas, and later moved to New York City. The fourth brother is at Rockport, Missouri, and it is thought likely that little Willis was sent to him. He has not yet been located.

Caracas, June 8.—General Gomez, the acting president, is offended at the attitude of reclamation of General Castro, who recently resigned the presidency in Gomez's favor. Gomez wishes to resign and has requested Castro to resume office. The latter persistently declines to do so unless the nation acclaims him and Congress approves of his resuming the presidency.

In view of the deadlock the second vice president being in Europe and constitution not contemplating the present situation, Gomez has announced his intention to convoke Congress and present his resignation. The correspondence exchanged between Castro and Gomez is couched in somewhat acrimonious terms.

The friction between the acting president and the former president is affecting trade, but no disturbance of the peace is feared. Corporations and other public bodies daily send Castro resolutions praying him to resume the presidency.

LONG DISTANCE
PHONE LINES*Connections With Kansas City and
St. Louis.*COST AT LEAST $800,000*Denver Company to Build Extensive Lines—New Mexico Points Included.

Denver, Colo., June 8.—Construction of telephone lines between Colorado and Kansas City, also Omaha, is the purpose of the Colorado & Eastern Telephone and Telegraph Company, which has been organized by E. B. Field, president of the Colorado Telephone Company and associates. Another purpose is to extend the company's service in Colorado and New Mexico.

"The incorporation of the Colorado & Eastern Telephone and Telegraph Company is the first step taken toward connecting the Colorado Telephone Company's system in the state of Colorado and Territory of New Mexico with the entire long distance, and exchange telephone system in the east and the south," said Mr. Field.

"For several years I have been working with this comprehensive telephone connection in view, and I am glad to say that it will now be an accomplished fact."

"It was necessary first, that a telephone system should be constructed in the state of Colorado which would reach enough telephone subscribers so that a sufficient business would be assured to the long distance eastern connection to which would be necessary."

Hello to Chicago.

"It will be an interesting fact to the people of our state to know that we have now the largest telephone development projected to the number of inhabitants of any state in the Union, and this fact, and the liberal patronage of our local long distance lines which we are receiving has been the determining factor which has enabled me to accomplish this long distance connection."

"The Colorado & Eastern Telephone and Telegraph Company will operate under the Bell patents and the long distance line which will be constructed will be of the best telephone construction known. Three copper metallic circuits will be constructed from Kansas City directly to Denver, coming into our state in Prowers County, and thence to this company's exchange at Pueblo, thence north to Colorado Springs and thence into Denver."

"This line will cost in the neighborhood of $800,000 to construct. It will be equipped with all devices to render what is known as commercial telephone talking. As soon as this particular line is finished, another route for a similar line will be laid out, which line will run north through Boulder, and to Greeley, and thence east to the Nebraska state line, and then on to Omaha."

Better State Service.

"These two lines, which are contemplated under the incorporation of this company, when completed, will enable the merchants in all of the cities and towns connected with our Colorado system to have direct commercial telephone talking with Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and all intervening towns."

"It is with a great deal of personal pleasure that I am enabled to announce this, for it cannot but be a very important factor in the upbuilding of our state and the Territory of New Mexico."

"The question may naturally be asked as to whether the construction of this line means that we will be able to talk with far eastern cities, like New York and Boston, and it is well for me to say in the first place that talking from Denver to Boston or New York will not be possible, for the state of the telephone art does not as yet, permit of practical talking for a distance much over 1,200 or 1,500 miles. It is my belief, however, and that of all others engaged in the telephone business, that it will not be very long before much longer distances can be covered by telephone talks."

FREIGHT WAGON*Cook in Railroad Camp Loses His Life in Peculiar Accident.

Raton, N. M., June 8.—James Cassidy, a cook in the employ of the Utah Construction Company, which is constructing the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain and Pacific Railway was killed Sunday afternoon by being run over by a freight wagon on which he was riding near Des Moines. Cassidy was on top of the loaded wagon and as it was descending a grade he lost his balance and fell and the wagon passed over his chest, crushing it so badly that he died in a few hours.

His body was brought to this city and prepared for burial by the Fugate-Fry Undertaking Company. A sister of the deceased living at Union City, Oklahoma, was notified of her brother's death and wired to have the remains interred here. The body was interred in Fairview Wednesday afternoon.

MET A JUST DOOM.

The anarchist who threw the bomb a few days ago in Madrid in order to take the life of the King and his bride, has met his reward. He died an ignominious death and a much easier one than he deserved. The Denver Republican treats the subject well and timely saying that Morales is dead. The man who sought to take one particular life and succeeded in killing twenty, against whom his bomb had not been aimed, killed another in defense of a life of which he seemed to think so lightly that a moment after killing the arresting officer, he extinguished it. Morales and a score of others are dead, but the King of Spain, the object of his hatred, still lives.

What a tangling of the skein of Neith it all makes! A score to whom life was sweet laid low in a wink of time without warning, the agent of death himself his own victim, and all because one man had assumed to himself the responsibility of reforming the world according to his own ideals!

Morales was an anarchist, a man opposed to all government. Not content to grant the majority of his fellowmen the right to say to what form of government they would subscribe, he assumed the role of dictator and in that assumption decreed that the ruler of that government should die as a protest against its continuance.

Aside from the point that no man has the right to take the life of another, what right had Morales to make himself the dictator of Spain, to say that the millions of the realm should not be ruled by the inheritor of its throne, or to place his own wishes, his own ideas, superior to those of all its people?

The ideal government is one of the people and by the people, but deny as we may the right of Kings or argue that the kingly form of government is a relic of the dark ages, so long as the people of any land are willing to submit to it, it is their privilege to do so, and the Morales idea of striking at a system by murdering the man who happens to stand as the representative of that system cannot be excused by any law of God or man.

Morales was a fanatic. The chances are largely against the supposition that he had a better form of government to suggest than the one against which he struck. He is one of those who complain against the existing thing without offering a practical substitute. His protest was against one man being king and millions not being kings. There is no evidence that the kingship had injured him personally beyond the tentative injury which such a form of government may be charged with working on all who are of it. He failed in his undertaking to kill the King. Had he succeeded in that yet would he have failed, because a new King would have risen and Morales would have done nothing more than murder a man. Men die peacefully or are killed by anarchists, but the kingships they held go on and will continue to go on until the people of them in their own minds say that it is time for a change and by their own actions work the revolution.

Men of the Morales type do not hasten that day. They delay it. They delay it because all recognize them to be underlying all other rights that inalienable one of every man to life, liberty and the privilege to pursue happiness in his individual way. On that principle is based all justice and no justice can come out of anything that would interfere with the operation of its fundamental principle. That is why Morales failed, why he would have failed even had he succeeded in his design to murder the King of Spain on the day which man universally concedes should be the happiest in the life of any man.

GOOD ROADS AND RURAL DELIVERY ROUTES.

The improvement in the public roads and highways of the Sunflower State is apparent and some of the credit for this is due to the postoffice department which insists that the roads used on rural free delivery routes be kept in repair. In New Mexico, unfortunately, the number of free delivery mail routes is too few to be taken into serious consideration. The day is coming when this condition will be bettered. Remarking on these affairs in Kansas the Topeka State Capital says that the weekly papers of the state last week gave evidence of the energetic efforts the postoffice department at Washington is putting forth to help the good roads movement along. Prominent in nearly all of the several hundred Kansas weeklies was a notification from the local postmaster in very courteous and civil, but firm tones, to patrons of rural free delivery routes that Uncle Sam will withdraw the free mail delivery privilege unless the people benefited exhibit sufficient interest to keep the roads in good condition for the carriers. Many of the postmasters specifically recommend the King road drag. Credit should be given the administration at Washington for much of the encouragement which road improvement has been getting recently in Kansas.

THE ADVANCE IN SILVER.

The Silver City Independent, published in one of the most progressive mining counties of the Southwest and which knows whereof it speaks rejoices over the advance in the price of silver and that justly. Increased prices of silver mean much prosperity for several of New Mexico's counties where silver ores abound, especially when the fact is taken into consideration that these ores can be much more cheaply mined and treated today than they could be in the silver days between 1870 and 1890. The Independent puts the situation correctly when it says:

"The silver mining industry is looking up in Grant County these days and if the present prices continue, or better still, advance, it will only be a short time until silver mining in this immediate section will be as active as it was in the early boom days. No part of the nation has more extensive or richer silver mines than exist right here. Mr. Guggenheim makes the statement that sixty-seven cent silver is worth as much to the west now as it was a few years ago when it was quoted at a dollar an ounce, and there is a whole lot of good common sense in his reasoning."

THEY MUST COME TO THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN COUNTRY.

The medical profession has been rather proud of the fact that the number of deaths from consumption is annually growing less but the havoc created by the White Plague is still enormous. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, of Wednesday of this week, for instance, says: "According to the annual report of the board of health, which was submitted to the mayor yesterday, tuberculosis is on the increase. The report shows that in the last year the death of one person in every twelve was due to the White Plague." It seems that whatever decrease in the death rate from consumption is noted elsewhere is due to the climate cure or its application as far as possible by those unable to come to New Mexico. There is only one certain hope for the consumptive anywhere in the United States, and that is life in the arid plateau regions of the Rocky Mountains, especially in New Mexico, where Santa Fe and surroundings lead as far as climatic conditions most conducive to the cure of consumption as concerned. The experience of the past fifty years has proved this without a doubt and the medical fraternity, though reluctant at first, no longer denies this fact.

Deaths from the heat or from tornadoes and cyclones are the rule almost every day throughout many sections of the United States during summer but not in New Mexico. People living in the Sunshine Territory are certainly to be congratulated while those who cannot do so are entitled to commiseration.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION AND BOSS CATRON.

The situation in the matter of the refusal of T. B. Catron, president of the City Board of Education, to sign the deed for the lot on Lincoln Avenue which has been properly and legally sold to the Elks' Lodge of this city by the City Board of Education, under and by virtue of a resolution properly and lawfully passed by that body, is clear and easily understood. The board had the legal power to do what it did and exercised its right accordingly. Its presiding official, who is unlawfully holding two offices at the same time, declines to carry out the wishes of the board as embodied in the resolution in this matter adopted. The board acted within its province and within its powers. The president of the board is acting in an illegal and highly reprehensible manner. In this respect he is the servant of the board and not its boss. It costs him nothing to go to law, hence he asserts brazenly that should mandamus proceedings against him be brought, he would fight them to the courts of last resort and would make as much delay as possible in the case. If this is a proper conception of duty on his part, it is certainly a conception that is directed against law, against decency and against the business interests of the city of Santa Fe.

The New Mexican understands that two of the principal reasons for inducing this office holder to take this miserable step are: He blames several members of the Elks' Lodge for coming to the New Mexican and inducing this journal "to roast him"; also that he has not been consulted. The New Mexican "roasts" nobody; it leaves that business to His Satanic Majesty, which being, if it exists, will very likely, sooner or later, have some roasting to do. Whatever criticism this paper makes is against the official course of T. B. Catron as a public servant, although he considers himself a public boss in place of a servant of the people; in fact, this paper has suppressed many a report and many and many an item concerning the aforesaid Mayor and President of the City Board of Education of a character that would make this official shown up none too favorably. The matter is up to the Board of Education. It has acted lawfully and legally, and the New Mexican hopes that its members will have manhood enough, will stand up for their own action and will help the best interests of this city by carrying out the provisions of the resolution which was properly adopted in the case. There is no question in the minds of well informed attorneys that Mr. Catron cannot serve legally as mayor of this city and as president of the Board of Education at the same time. The board should take cognizance of this fact, declare his seat vacant, elect another president and see that this official complies with the resolutions of the board passed in this case. It is well understood by everybody who is at all fair minded and a loyal citizen of Santa Fe, that the building of an opera house and Elks' Lodge Hall here would prove of great and lasting benefit. Such a building is absolutely demanded by the necessities of the city and the exigencies of the times. In fact, Santa Fe suffers a great deal and loses traffic and trade by the fact that it has no such institution. The conduct of this man and his opposition to public improvements are seemingly based on selfish motives and therefore, ought to meet with the condemnation of every well meaning citizen and well wisher of New Mexico's Capital.

The salaries in the postoffices of seven of the larger New Mexico towns have just been increased by the postoffice department on account of larger receipts for the past fiscal year than for the year previous. This indicates clearly and unequivocally that these towns have been growing considerably and have advanced in the volume of business done by the merchants and in population. Straws of this kind show conclusively that New Mexico is constantly increasing in population and wealth and that the people are not near as down-trodden and as unhappy as some of the yellow dog sheets in the Territory desire to make out. Quite the reverse. The people of the Sunshine Territory are certainly more prosperous, better fixed and do more business these days than ever before since New Mexico became a Territory of the United States.

The Kansas City Journal asserts that the meat packers of its city will lose at least ten millions of dollars in the volume of their business, and this on account of the publicity given by President Roosevelt to the reports by special agents of the Department of Commerce and Labor describing the rotten condition existing in the big slaughter houses of the country in Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha. Well, why should not they suffer? Should they be immune if they have done wrong? That they have done so seems to be an established fact.

Talk about the power of the press waning! There would have been no insurance, no Standard Oil, no political, no packing house, no drug trust exposures had it not been for the press. Every reform of the past five decades, including the abolition of slavery, has been brought about by the press, and even the mighty T. B. Catron may well wince when it comes to a fight with the press. He may be able to bluff the Board of Education and even fool the voters for a time, but the press will depose him from his lofty pedestal ere long.

The packing industry is a big one and in its ramifications its prosperity more or less affects New Mexico. But there is no need of fearing that the industry will be ruined by recent exposures. People will continue to eat meat and after the public is thoroughly convinced that the packing houses have undergone a good house cleaning and that federal inspection really inspects, the packing houses and their millionaire owners will be doing business at the old stand to an even greater extent than heretofore.

Judging by the platforms adopted by recent Democratic state conventions, anti-imperialism and the tariff will again be the issues of the campaign this fall throughout the United States. These questions are time honored and moth eaten and have been so thoroughly discussed that but little can possibly remain to be said about them; if the Democrats choose to fight over the old battle, well and good. The Republicans can ask for nothing better.

To make the Good Roads movement a matter of national legislation is the effort of its leaders. And why should the building of good roads not be made a federal affair? There are precedents for it even as far back as the days of ancient Rome, whose great military highways are still a marvel of the world and even in Porto Rico, poor and despised Spain set an example in road building that should make the United States ashamed of itself.

There are conditions in this Territory in which changes are demanded and this fact will likely induce many citizens who are sincerely and strongly in favor of separate statehood for New Mexico, to vote for joint statehood with Arizona should the Hamilton joint statehood bill become law. Should this happen, the New Mexican will take a hand in explaining these conditions and why the changes are necessary and will be very welcome.

The New Mexican is not selfish or local when it comes to boosting the resources of New Mexico. Be it the coal camps of Colfax County, the artesian wells of the Pecos Valley, the smelters and mines of Grant County or the opportunities for homeseekers in the northeastern counties, the New Mexican is keeping them to the front day in and day out and as a result the Territory is growing with giant strides.

Peanut politics in the city administration are hampering and retarding the advance and growth of Santa Fe. It is too bad that this should be so, but, then the voters of this city brought this condition on themselves. They were warned in due season but took no heed. They are now making sour faces at the broth they brewed on city election day last April.

The War Department has detailed Captain Warren S. Barley, U. S. Army, retired, as military instructor at the New Mexican Military Institute. This is a recognition of the high standing and efficiency of New Mexico's School of arms that must be very gratifying to every well wisher of the Territory.

In the statehood situation it seems to be Mr. Speaker Cannon against Mr. Senator Foraker with Mr. Senator Beveridge in the rear. The tangle may be straightened out this week and again it may not be. In the meantime, the people of New Mexico have a chance to wait and pray.

DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Santa Fe Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all. Santa Fe people endorse our claim. Juan A. Ortega, ex-policeman, of Loma St., says: "If all troubled with pain in the back have that annoyance ended as quickly as the use of Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Ireland's Pharmacy ended mine, then backache due to kidney complaint would cease to have any terrors for users of this strengthening and curative preparation. No one in Santa Fe need be in the least dubious about using Doan's Kidney Pills if they require a medicine to strengthen their kidneys."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

A NEW MEXICO COAL MINE.

THE COAL FIELDS OF COLFAX COUNTY

The Fuel in Sight That Can Be Mined Profitably Is Worth One Hundred Times as Much as the Assessed Valuation of Territory--Within Two Years Mines Will Produce Ten Million Tons a Year.

Van Houten Mine.

The Van Houten mine, heretofore known as the Willow mine, is located in Sections 34 and 35, Township 30 North, Range 22 East New Mexico principal base and meridian; J. Van Houten is the general manager. The mine is situated about fourteen miles southwest from Raton and about nine miles from Hebron Station on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad. A branch railroad was completed and operation commenced December 1, 1902, since which date the Willow, or Van Houten mine, has been one of the largest and steadiest coal producers in New Mexico. The coal is a good quality of bituminous coal, from which a good quality of coke is made, the slack being hauled by railroad to the washery and coke ovens at Gardiner, New Mexico.

The seam is from six to eleven feet in thickness and lies nearly horizontal, dipping one and a half per cent to the northwest. Three openings are being worked, one upon the north side and one upon the south side of Spring Gulch, about one-half mile west of the junction with Willow Creek. Upon the north side of Spring Gulch the coal seam is from six to eleven feet in thickness of clean, marketable coal, averaging about nine feet. On the south side of Spring Gulch the coal seam shows a parting of bone or shale four feet in thickness, leaving from four and one-half to five feet of clean coal, both above and below. Another opening is operated upon the same coal seam about three-fourths of a mile south from the openings on Spring Gulch. This opening is situated upon the main fork of Willow Creek. The general characteristics of the coal seam at this point are similar to those described on the south side of Spring Gulch. These three openings are known collectively as the Van Houten mine.

This magnificent coal seam covers a known area of forty to sixty square miles through a formation apparently little faulted or disturbed. At many places throughout this area the coal seam is exposed by erosion of canons and gulches. At every place where an outcrop is found there is seen the same uniformity as to the size of coal seam, and apparently little disturbed bedding plane. Electric power is employed for haulage, running fans, etc. Three electric generators and two ventilating fans are in use. Three steam engines are in commission, producing a total of 550 horse power. Three motors are used to haul the coal from the partings in the mine to the tipples—one 10-ton Jeffrey motor and two 15-ton Morgan-Gardner motors. The system of working is double entry, room and pillar. Average length of main drift entry, about 3,500 feet. Number of men employed underground, 278; number of boys employed underground, 5; average number of men employed outside, 20; average number of boys employed outside, 4. Nationality of employees, mostly Italians, Austrians and Germans, of the more intelligent and educated class, as evidenced by the fact that nearly all of them speak English and 90 per cent of them can read and write, as shown by signatures to vouchers. Number of days mine was operated during the past fiscal year, 261. Gross product of mine, in tons of 2,000 pounds, 390,000 tons; amount used in operating mine, 2,600 tons; net product, 387,400 tons; estimated value of net output of mine, $184,250. At present the mine produces 1,500 tons a day, which can be increased to 2,500 tons when ever wanted.

The coal is sold to the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad and at various points throughout New Mexico, Arizona and Texas. From present indications the ratio of increase of production from these mines for the coming fiscal year will be much greater than for the year just past.

The Blossburg Mine.

The Blossburg Dutchman mine is situated in Dutchman Canon, about six miles by wagon road in a northwest-erly direction from Raton. J. Van Houten is the general manager. A spur of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad connects the mine with the main line of railroad at Dillon Station. Like the other Blossburg mines, it is located upon what is locally known as the Raton vein, by some called the Blossburg vein. The coal is a good grade of bituminous coal, making a good grade of coke. The coal seam is from six to eight feet in thickness; dip of vein about one and one-quarter per cent northwest. The mine is worked on the double entry, room and pillar system. Th entries have been driven to a distance of 6,000 feet from the outcrop. The mine is ventilated by a 24-foot Guibal fan, exhaust, but reversible; capacity, 75,000 cubic feet per minute. The fan is run by an independent engine. One 550-volt 75-horse power Card generator furnishes the power for pumping and lighting, while tail rope haulage is operated from the mine partings to the tipples, the power being furnished by a 200-horse power steam engine. Average number of men employed outside, 10; average number of boys employed outside, 1; average number of men employed underground, 104; average number of boys employed underground, 1. The men are of various nationalities, Italians predominating. About 90 per cent of the employees can write, as shown by signatures to receipts and vouchers. The mine was operated 280 days during the past fiscal year; gross output, 210,000 tons; amount used in operating mine, 2,304 tons; net product of mine, 207,696 tons; estimated value of net product at mine, $259,620. The net product shows an increase in tonnage over the preceding fiscal year of 171,982 tons. The coal is marketed in Arizona, New Mexico and Texas and is shipped from the mine via the Santa Fe system. The production of this mine has been restricted by reason of shortage of railroad cars and dearth of miners. The demand for the product of this mine is good and in excess of supply.

Extensive improvements have been made at the coke ovens at Gardiner, which are operated on slack from this mine and from the Van Houten mine. A new coal washery has been built for the treatment of the slack. The plant has a capacity of four hundred tons per day at present and the company intends doubling this capacity in the near future. One hundred new coke ovens are being built in addition to those now in operation. There is good reason to expect an increased production from this mine during the ensuing year.

Brilliant Mine.

The Brilliant mine is located on the same branch as the Gardiner and Blossburg mines and J. Van Houten is its general manager. This is a new mine only recently developed. It is located upon the upper seam, known as the Tin Pan seam, which is six or seven hundred feet higher in the coal measures than the Blossburg seam, which is worked in the Blossburg Dutchman, Van Houten and Dawson mines. The coal is from 5 to 7 feet in thickness and the dip about one and a half per cent to the northwest. A drift entry has been driven 400 feet and development work is being prosecuted as fast as conditions allow. The mine is operated on the double entry, room and pillar system. Thirty-four men are employed underground at present and 50 men outside. The mine will be ventilated by an exhaust fan. As the pitch of the seam is light, the grades in the entries will allow of the economical use of mules for haulage, which will be the method employed for a considerable length of time. While the coal is of an exceptionally good coking quality, it still surpasses the product of the lower seam as a domestic coal. The analysis shows a higher percentage of fixed carbon and lower in ash than the coal from the lower seam. The mine is situated about five miles northwest from the Blossburg Dutchman mine. The company has erected shaking screens and other devices necessary to put the coal in the best possible shape to supply the demand for a first-class domestic coal.

Llewellyn Mine.

This mine is located about twelve miles northeast from Raton. It lies about 200 feet beneath the lava sheet which constitutes the top of Johnson Mesa. The coal seam outcrops in the several canons eroded along the sides of the elevation known as Johnson Mesa. The Santa Fe, Raton & Eastern Railroad has been built within a few miles of the property. The coal is a good quality of bituminous; thickness of vein, 7½ feet; lies nearly horizontal; system of working, drift, single entry, room and pillar; length of main drift entry, 550 feet; system of ventilation, air shaft.

Turner Mine.

The Turner mine is located about twelve miles northeast from Raton. Like the Llewellyn mine, it lies about 200 feet beneath the lava sheet. Thickness of coal seam, 4½ feet; kind of coal, bituminous; system of working, drift, room and pillar; ventilation by air shaft; length of main drift entry, 500 feet. The new camp of Yankee has been created near this mine within the past year.

Honeyfield Mine.

The Honeyfield mine is situated about nine miles northeast from Raton on the Santa Fe, Raton & Eastern Railroad. The coal is a good quality of bituminous; thickness of coal seam, 5 feet, nearly horizontal; system of working, drift, single entry, room and pillar; length of main drift entry, 250 feet.

Sperry Mine.

The Sperry mine is located about eleven miles from Raton. It is opened by a drift entry about 200 feet in length. The mine is on the Santa Fe, Raton & Eastern Railroad.

Climax and Sugarite Mines.

The Climax mine is located about one and one-half miles northwest of Raton. The product is a good grade of bituminous coal; thickness of vein, 1½ feet, nearly horizontal; system of working, drift, single entry, room and pillar; length of main drift entry, 250 feet.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sold by Druggists. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. WORST ECZEMA DOCTORS EVER SAW

Spread Rapidly Over Body—Limbs
and Arms Had to Be Bandaged and Scalp Looked Dreadful—Suffered Untold Misery for Three Years—Better in Two Months

MARVELOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My son, who is now twenty-four years of age, when he was four months old began to have eczema on his face, spreading quite rapidly until he was nearly covered. We had all the doctors around us and some from larger places, but no one helped him a particle. The eczema was something terrible, and the doctors said it was the worst case they ever saw. At times his whole body and face were covered, all but his arms, his scalp was just dreadfully itchy, and many kinds of patent medicines before trying the Cuticura Remedies, all to no avail.

"A friend teased me to try Cuticura. At last I consented, when my boy was three years and four months old, having had eczema all that time, and suffering untold misery. I began to use all three of the Cuticura Remedies; the Cuticura Soap helped as well as the Ointment. He was better in two months; in six months he was well, but I gave him the Cuticura Remedies one year, using twelve bottles. I think, and always used the Cuticura Soap for bathing, and do now a good deal. He was four years old before he was well, and his skin became perfectly fair when cured. I give you permission to publish this letter for I am always glad to do good when I can. I think I have told you all there is necessary to tell." Mrs. R. L. Risley, Oct. 24, 1905. Pierson, N. H.

The following postal cards are held at the postoffice for postage: Miss Eva Price, Belle Plains, Kansas; Miss Lulu Grist, Belle Plains, Kansas; Miss Elsie Parker, Belle Plains, Kansas; Miss Masie Chwyhart, Belle Plains, Kansas; and Mrs. W. T. Barry.

Work on Governor Hagerman's residence on Lincoln Avenue is progressing rapidly. The archway leading from the walk to the house has been completed and makes a splendid addition. Work on the interior is being pushed and will be completed as rapidly as possible.

The Board of County Commissioners met in the office of Probate Clerk Marcos Castillo at the court house this morning. This forenoon they completed the work of reviewing the assessment rolls of the county precincts and this afternoon began on the city precincts.

There is still plenty of snow in the mountains, especially on Mount Baldy and the Lake Peak, the snow line extending as low as 9,000 feet and can be distinctly seen from Santa Fe. In consequence, the Santa Fe River and all irrigation ditches are still running full with water.

Considerable complaint is being made by people living on Agua Fria Street near the Guadalupe Church on account of the irrigation ditch running beside the road which is not kept in good repair. The Santa Fe Central base ball team is practicing every evening for their game with the McIntosh Browns at Albuquerque Sunday. It is the intention of the Santa Fe team to even matters with the Browns if possible. They have so far played three games, of which the Albuquerque team has won two. SHOT TO SAVE BROTHER'S LIFE

Testimony in Hendrick's Case Showed Deputy Rainbolt Threatened the Prisoner's Life.

Roswell, N. M., June 8.—There was a dramatic scene in the district court Tuesday shortly before the prosecution rested its case in the Hendrick's murder trial. Mrs. M. D. Minter was recalled to the stand and identified and pointed out the defendant, Nathan Hendricks, as the man who came to her house one month before the murder occurred and said: "WH Rainbolt killed Mr. McElroy, the best friend I ever had, and if I ever have any trouble with him I'm going to kill him."

At this point the prosecution rested and the defense immediately made a motion to have the defendant discharged, as he had been tried on the same charge before, had been convicted of a lesser degree and was being tried for his life again. The motion was overruled. The first witness for the defense was Will Pondergrass. He stated that Rainbolt arrested Oliver Hendricks on the charge of carrying a gun, and had taken the gun from him and had his Rainbolt's gun leveled on Oliver Hendricks and cursing him in a violent manner when the fatal shot was fired by Oliver's brother, Nathan.

Charles Dale gave practically the same testimony and said the officer said to Oliver Hendricks: "You ———, get into that buggy or I will shoot your heart and liver out."

The crowds still continue unabated at J. H. Blain's stupendous sale.

Coal Fields of Colfax County

working, drift, cross-entry, room and pillar; ventilation by means of drift entry through the hill; length of main drift entry, 1,500 feet; main haulage, the coal is hauled in wagons to the town of Raton, where it is sold for domestic use.

Sugarite mine is located on the west side of Cugarite Creek, and on the east slope of Bartlett Mesa, about 3 1/2 miles in a direct line in a northeasterly direction from Raton. The mine produces a good grade of bituminous coal; thickness of vein, 5 feet, nearly horizontal; system of working, drift, cross entry, room and pillar; length of main drift, 600 feet; natural ventilation. During the past year shipments have been made to Oklahoma and Kansas. Considerable work is being done by eastern capitalists in anticipation of immediate development of coal properties which they own and which are located on Bartlett Mesa and Johnson Mesa.

Industrial Potentialities.

In the production of these coal mines, which will be inexhaustible for several generations to come, lies great promise of industrial possibilities of which the Saint Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific Railway Company will take advantage, for it is already planning to build, in addition to its machine and repair shops at Cimarron, furnaces of the latest type to utilize the extensive hematite iron deposits near Cimarron. Later on steel works are to be erected which will eventually rival those of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company at Pueblo, Colorado, at least, such is the prophecy of those who seem to be close to the wealthy Saint Louis and New York capitalists who are spending money so lavishly, although at the same time wisely in the coal camps of Colfax County.

More Mines Needed.

Work on the grade of the St. Louis, Rocky Mountain & Pacific Railroad to Raton from Clifton House, is progressing rapidly. The big steam grader of the Cahill outfit is making rapid progress and the work when completed makes an excellent grade. It is stated that trains will be running over the new line into Raton in less than sixty days. Many miles of track have been laid west and south of Preston, and work is being rushed with rapidity toward the Cimarron. The track as laid is exceptionally good, the most approved machinery being used in the work and a large force of men being employed in surfacing and finishing. The yards at Preston present a business-like appearance. Hundreds of cars of road material of all kinds are stored there and with the engines and cars waiting for use, fill the long sidings.

The camp at Koehler, as the Crow Creek mining camp will be called, indeed promises to be one of the largest camps in the county. The best coal proposition in the Territory presents itself here and the company is busily engaged in opening up the ground and laying out the mines and town. The railroad will soon be built into the camp and shipping will begin by August 1st from the camp. The coal here is easy of access and is of an excellent quality, while the vein is said to be the largest in the Territory.

The mines at Van Houten are working to as full capacity as is possible to do with the help available. The company could use one hundred miners at the camp in addition to those now employed. In fact, every camp in the county is short of help, and an effort will be made to bring men from eastern states for work in the new mines which must be opened up. The miners in Colfax County are prosperous and make and save more money than the miners of any other section in the world, and yet it is difficult to secure enough men to keep up with the rapid development of the mining industry. It is estimated that in less than two years the total output of Colfax County camps will be more than double the total output of the camps of the entire Territory at present. For all this development men must be brought into the county from eastern states.

The labor problem now in the county is of much more import than the question of capital. Millions of capital are now assured for the development of the resources of the mountains in our vicinity and the rapidity of growth simply depends on the labor question more than on any other.

ARIZONA NEWS NOTES

J. T. Lesurer's drilled well near Mesa has been completed and proves to be very satisfactory. An electric motor has been installed and the pump throws 600 gallons an hour.

It is understood that the Porter Ranch of 450 acres of the very best land near Fort Thomas has been incorporated and Free Hubbard will be the manager. A specialty will be made of raising fine stock cattle.

The decomposed body found near the fair grounds at Phoenix last Saturday has been almost positively identified as the remains of William J. Timmerman, of East St. Louis, Illinois, who was in that city for his health. It is thought that his suicide was planned ahead.

The wages of section hands on the Santa Fe through Arizona has been increased to $12.25 a day. The road is experiencing trouble in getting this class of labor and it is rumored that negroes from the South will soon take the place of the Mexicans.

The books of the Salt River Valley Water Users' Association were opened Monday for the registration of all lands in the reservoir district not now signed to the association and which the owners desire placed on the waiting list for admission to membership when the Secretary of the Interior shall so designate.

The activity in real estate in the vicinity of Phoenix continues to increase and is of a most healthy character. The purchasers are mostly home seekers who have come to the Territory with the intention of making it their permanent home. They will improve their lands and make citizens of whom Arizona may feel proud.

Pima County will pay off bonds to the amount of $250,000 in June. The bonds carry 7 per cent interest and are the last of the issue carrying that high rate. The bonds were issued many years ago when money was at a premium. Most of the county bonds carry 5 per cent interest. The bonds are held in New York.

It is reported on the best authority that the Gold Road Mining and Exploration Company is to install a large electric plant in Kingman for the purpose of generating power for transmission to Gold Road. The plant is to be located in the southwestern part of town, a site for it having already been secured. The installation will cost about $150,000 and work will be commenced on it within a few months.

Glenn Stannage, a 13-year-old boy living near Mesa, sustained perhaps fatal injuries while on his way home from a creamery in a milk wagon. He was riding with one foot hanging out and accidentally got it caught in the wheel, breaking his leg just above the knee. The bone was protruding one-third of its length through the flesh. The injury is of so serious a nature that there are doubts as to whether the limb or even the boy's life can be saved.

The sign ordinance in Bisbee is to be tested in the courts. For several days City Marshal Shodgrass has been notifying merchants with swinging signs and other obstructions on the streets which were ruled by this ordinance to be abolished from the city, to clear them off. The merchants notified do not feel disposed to comply with the ruling of the city marshal and a test case will be brought before the courts within a few days.

A change has been announced in the affairs of the Phoenix Light and Fuel Company, which, by the way, is now the Pacific Gas and Electric Company. This change has been made for the purpose of carrying out extensions and improvements made necessary by the growth of the city. Under the articles of the Phoenix Light and Fuel Company, which was capitalized at only $500,000, the company could not legally borrow sufficient money to make the improvements desired.

An unknown man who appeared to be about 70 years of age and of German descent, was found dead at Red Rock along the Southern Pacific tracks last Monday. The only thing to identify him by was an envelope bearing the address of Mrs. J. M. Lipps, Naco, Arizona. A copy of the Ventura, Cal., Free Press was also found on the body. On the wrapper was the name of Mrs. M. A. Barnes, Rillito. A jury was impaneled and after an investigation it was decided the man had come to his death from old age and exposure.

W. J. Gilbert, the only surviving member of the engine crew in the Esmond wreck several years ago when two passenger trains came together in a head-on collision about fifteen miles east of Phoenix, was taken to a hospital in that city Monday evening hopelessly insane. Although he escaped from the wreck with his life, Gilbert sustained injuries so severe that they finally resulted in his losing his sanity. His physical condition is not good and it is believed that he will not live long. He is about 32 years old and unmarried.

A fatal accident occurred in the bottling department of the Globe Ice and Cold Storage Company Sunday afternoon a few minutes after 5 o'clock, the victim being M. J. Pitts, an employee. He was charging bottles of mineral water with gas and was standing quite close to the carbonator, which exploded and hurled him ten or twelve feet against the wall of the room, crushing his skull at the base and fracturing several ribs, which were driven into the right lung. The carbonator had been in use about three years and was under 200 pounds pressure when it exploded. It was guaranteed for five years and to withstand a pressure of 500 pounds.

SCROFULA AN INHERITED MISFORTUNE

Every one has a hereditary right to a pure blood supply, which insures a strong, healthy body; but how many do we see who have inherited that greatest of all misfortunes, Scrofula, and are struggling under a legacy of disease and suffering? Scrofula is a constitutional trouble handed down from parent to child, a curse from generation to generation as long as the scrofulous matter is allowed to remain in the family blood. As the very foundation of the blood is diseased we see this awful affliction manifested in many ways, such as enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, chronic Catarrh of the head, skin diseases, etc. This blighting disease being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a pallid, waxy appearance of the skin, loss of strength, and often lung affections show that the disease is entirely destroying the rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. There is but one way to cure Scrofula and that is to purify the blood and rid it of the germs of disease, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. Its purifying and building-up properties make it the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all poisons and germs, gives strength, richness and vigor to the weak, polluted blood and cures Scrofula permanently. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine, made from roots, herbs and barks and may be taken with absolute safety by young or old. It so thoroughly removes the poison from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again and posterity is blessed with a pure blood supply. Book on the blood and any medical advice desired without charge.

Ciphers and Settlements

By GORDON LENOX

It had all been very simple and very absurd. Brian in the stress of business had forgotten that he had promised to take Madge to the theater and had not even telegraphed her that he had an important interview to meet. There on Miss Carline had very properly sent back the ring and had refused to listen to any explanation, a proceeding which led Brian to vow that he would seek pardon no more. In turn Madge decided to search for forgetfulness in travel abroad.

The only person who displayed common sense was Howard Carline, who furnished Madge and her mother with money for the trip and encouraged Brian in his manly stand against a woman's whim. But, while his sympathy had been plentiful, his allowance of money had been small indeed, and even Madge had complained of the smallness of the sum.

"That's all right," he said cheerfully enough. "I'll fix a code, and you can send for more when this is gone."

"I think," said Mrs. Carline, "I had better send it by wireless from Nantucket on the way across. We shall need it almost as soon as we get there."

Something in her husband's laugh reassured her, and nothing more was said. Madge looked back on the city where her heart lay buried, then, after a merciful interval of seasickness, looked forward to a winter on the continent, while Brian at his desk in her father's office tried to persuade himself she was nothing at all to him now that she had so clearly shown her lack of tolerance.

But he did feel lonesome, and he felt more so when Mr. Carline announced his intention of taking a trip west. "I guess you can run the office all right," he said to Brian as he stood on the platform in the train shed and nervously fingered his sleeper ticket.

"Take good care of things and forward any cablegram to me immediately," he said. Then he passed through the gate, leaving Brian very much alone. He had taken a place in Howard Carline's office at a time when his engagement to Madge had first been announced. There was no real necessity for his working, but he liked to consider himself useful, and in two years he had become invaluable to his employer. Now he found some refuge from his thoughts in hard work, and until the cable came announcing the safe arrival of Madge and her mother he had almost convinced himself that he had forgotten.

He had forwarded the cablegram to Mr. Carline, rejoicing in their safe arrival, but when a second cable came two days later his hands shook so that he could hardly open the envelope. Ten minutes later he had sent a telegram reading, "Mrs. Carline dangerously ill; am leaving on today's steamer," after which he gave the chief bookkeeper instructions about running the office and was driven to the pier of the liner sailing that noon.

A week later a four wheeler drove up to the entrance of the Carleton hotel in London and a young man strode across the sidewalk just in time to notice two ladies whisk past in a hansom. He would have got into the cab again had not the elder lady pushed up the trap and ordered her driver to stop. She came across the sidewalk to Brian.

"Is there anything the matter?" she asked eagerly. "Is Howard ill?"

"Not at all," he assured her. "How have you been?"

"Never better," she said, with a laugh. "I have not seen Madge looking so well in a long time. What brings you over?"

"Nothing much," he said, with an elaborate assumption of indifference; "just a customer I thought it would be best to talk with instead of cabling."

"Come and see me this evening after dinner," she urged. "Madge is going to the theater with friends, and we can have a long, quiet chat."

They had their chat, but Brian was ill at ease. The more Mrs. Carline questioned him regarding his presence in London the more uneasy he became, and he was glad when at last he could find an excuse to retire.

He had the unpleasant knowledge that he had blundered somehow. In some way that cablegram had been misread. Probably there had been an error in it, but he could not imagine a message which would admit of such a mistake. At any rate, it would never do to confess that he had crossed the ocean to come to the woman for whom he professed an utter indifference, and he blindly hoped that the cablegram he had sent to Mr. Carline immediately after having seen Mrs. Carline and Madge in good health

LAUNCHING A VESSEL.

The Crucial Moment Is When She Takes the Water.

That a launch is a matter of mathematics, as well as of great skill and labor, is shown by the fact that the man of science who has the matter in charge always makes a set of calculations showing the strain of the ship and its precise condition at practically every foot of the journey down the ways. If a boat should get in the way, or if it should take an unusual length of time to knock out the keel blocks, or if any one of half a dozen things should cause serious delay, the scientific man knows just how long he can wait and just how far the limit of safety extends.

There is always one supreme moment in a launch, and it is at a time that escapes the average spectator. It is when the vessel gets fairly well into the water. This is when an important factor known as the "moment of buoyancy" comes into play. If you can imagine a vessel sliding down an incline without any water into which to drop, you can see that the vessel would tip down suddenly at the end which has left the ways and would rise at the end still on the incline. But really in successful launches the stern of the vessel is gradually lifted up by the water, and this throws the weight forward on that part of the ship still resting on the ways. The force of the water is called the "moment of buoyancy," and the natural tendency of the ship to drop to the bottom of the stream is called the "moment of weight." Now, the moment of buoyancy must always be greater than the moment of weight, but it must not be very much greater, for if it were it would throw too much weight forward on the part of the ship still on the ways and might break them down or injure the plates or keel of the ship.

When the English battleship Ramillies was launched, this did really happen, and so great was the strain near the bow that parts of the cradle were actually pushed right into the bottom of the vessel. It is this danger of disaster that causes the scientific launcher to make the most careful calculations as to the conditions surrounding the ship at every foot of her journey into the water.

Hatching Eggs in the Month.

Some curious examples of the egg laying habits of certain frogs are related by naturalists. The female of one species, a species which was recently exhibited at a meeting of the Zoological society, carries the eggs about in her mouth until they are hatched. When the young emerge, they are tadpoles, but fully formed, though, of course, diminutive frogs. An American tree frog, again, has a pouch along the whole extent of its back, in which the eggs are carried until hatched. It is the Nototriton marsumplum of zoologists, the name referring to this curious habit. The case of the Surinam toad is equally curious. In this species the male places the eggs, one by one, in hollows in the loose skin on the back of the female, where they are developed.—London Globe.

Waiting to Be Found.

Last one evening in a side street off Charing Cross, a small terrier came for the next six days at nightfall to the same spot, waiting to be "found" and scanning eagerly every passerby. The constable on the beat got to know her wistful little face and the bright silver collar she wore quite well, but she was never to be seen by daylight. It was only on the sixth evening, half starved and weak with waiting, that she allowed herself to be captured and taken to the dogs' home at Battersea, where she was eventually claimed by her owner.—St. James' Gazette.

Her Gift.

A Lancashire vicar was asked by the choir to call upon old Betty, who was deaf, but who insisted in joining in the solo of the anthem, and to ask her only to sing in the hymns. He shouted into her ear, "Betty, I've been requested to speak to you about your singing!" At last she caught the word "singing" and replied: "Not to me be the praise, sir, it's a gift!"

Justice.

"Why is Justice represented with a bandage over her brow?" "There is a classical reason for it," said the lawyer, "but to my mind it serves chiefly to impress the frequency with which Justice gets a black eye."—Washington Star.

VETERAN MUSICIAN
DIES SUDDENLY

Professor Francisco Perez, Band Leader and Instructor, No More—An Interesting Life.

Professor Francisco Perez, 66 years old, veteran band leader and musical instructor of Santa Fe, died last night, of a chronic complaint, at his home on Agua Fria Road near Guadalupe Church. His death was not unexpected although it was thought that he would live several weeks longer. A widow survives him. At the time of his death, Professor Perez was leader of "Professor Perez's Santa Fe Band," an organization which has been conducted by him for over twenty years. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock from Guadalupe Church and interment will be made in Guadalupe Cemetery. Owing to the death of the leader, the band will not give its weekly concert in the Plaza Sunday evening.

Professor Perez was born and spent his boyhood in Chihuahua, Mexico. At the outbreak of the Civil War he went to Texas where he enlisted as a trumpeter in a Confederate regiment, which was sent in 1862 to operate against the Union forces in New Mexico. He participated in the fights between the Federal troops and the Confederates and when the Confederates were finally defeated, he retreated with them across the line. He then returned to Chihuahua but in 1865, he came again to New Mexico with a band. After visiting a number of the towns in the Territory, he located at Santa Fe and resided here continuously since that time. The band which he brought to Santa Fe, formed the nucleus for many musical organizations, and until his death, he was at the head of and conducted a musical organization. At one time he was the only musical instructor in Santa Fe County, and few are the older musicians in the Capital City, who do not owe their training to Professor Perez. Music was more than a hobby with him, and practically all of his time was given to its study and practice.

For twelve years he was at the head of the First Artillery Band, New Mexico National Guard, maintaining it until it was mustered out of service a few months ago because of the age of the musicians.

About seven years ago Professor Perez, who until that time had remained single, married Miss Mercedes Aragon, who survives him. For the past few years, he conducted a small grocery store in a building adjoining his home.

Professor Perez, was well known among the older residents of Santa Fe, as the leader of an orchestra which for years played for all of the banquets in the Capital City.

The band which bears his name, will assist at the funeral services tomorrow.

PROSPEROUS
SOCORRO COUNTY

Mayor Bursum Making Important
Municipal Improvements at County Seat.

Cipriano Baca, Lieutenant of Mounted Police, was in the city yesterday on official business. He has been spending the last two weeks in the western parts of Sandoval and Bernalillo Counties and at Socorro, having been in attendance at the regular term of district court for Socorro County in the latter town. Socorro is Mr. Baca's home and he is enthusiastic over the improvements which are being made there, concerning which he had the following to say to a representative of the New Mexican:

"Since the election of Hon. H. O. Bursum as mayor, some great changes have taken place in Socorro. That he has the interest of the town at heart is evident on every hand. He spares no personal expense whenever the interests of the community are at stake; the people, I am confident, are appreciating what he is doing.

"At present he is having the natural water works regulated, which should have been done long before now. New pipes are being laid, and when the work is completed Socorro will have an excellent water system. Mayor Bursum is superintending the work and has secured an expert from the east who has charge of the laborers and whom he is paying out of his own pocket.

"Everything is running along smoothly at the present term of court. H. A. Wolford, the recently appointed district attorney is doing satisfactory work. He is a conscientious prosecutor, and conducts cases in such a manner as to incur the least possible expense to the county. Eleven Indians arrested by myself and Police-man Julius Meyers last November for violation of the game law pleaded guilty and were fined $50 and sentenced to fifteen days in jail, but their sentences were suspended during good behavior. This will be a busy term of court as there are a number of important cases to be tried. A very good grand jury has been empaneled, and it is doing good work.

"The country about Socorro is looking fine, and crops are in good condition. This has been one of the most successful seasons that sheep raisers have ever had and their flocks are in the best possible shape. Taken as a whole I cannot remember when Socorro County was as prosperous as it is at present."

SATISFACTORY COAL
OIL INSPECTION

New Stations for the Purpose Opened in Northern New Mexico.

The deputies recently appointed by Territorial Coal Oil Inspector Eugenio Romero have been hard at work during the past few months with the result that the oil sold in New Mexico has been well up to the standard required by law. From reports received at the Capitol Building, considerable oil was being shipped to points in San Juan, Rio Arriba, Taos and Union Counties from the distributing points in Colorado, namely, Trinidad, Durango and Alamosa, where stations are maintained by the Continental Oil Company and similar concerns. This oil was sent out in quantities less than car-load lots and shipped direct to the retailers. This made it difficult to inspect the oil before it reached the consumer. In order to obviate this difficulty the agents of the Continental Oil Company, the chief operators in this field, upon the suggestion of Governor Hagerman, consented to establish distributing points in these Counties, so that all oil may be inspected before it is placed in the hands of the retailers. The towns chosen for this purpose are Farmington, San Juan County; Chama, Rio Arriba County; Clayton, Union County, and Española, Rio Arriba County. The establishment of these stations necessitates the appointment of two or more deputies to the inspector's present force in order to facilitate the inspection of oil shipments.

There is a report that oil concerns, besides the Continental and other companies now doing business in New Mexico are soon to enter the field which will probably mean the establishment of a number of other distributing stations.

DUMB 21 YEARS
NOW HE TALKS

Power of Speech Regained By Chicago
Man After Smoking Cigarettes for Week.

Chicago, June 8.—After twenty-one years' struggle between will power and nature, Louis Mendelson can talk again. He was 19 years old when his voice gradually died away. Today he is 40 years old and it has just come back to him. During all that time he never gave up hope that he might talk again. For five years every resource of medical science was brought to his aid. For the remaining sixteen years he fought alone, never confiding even to relatives or nearest friends the dearest hope of his life, for fear they would realize how bitterly he felt the affliction of silence.

Six months ago a change seemed to come over him and he became confident that speech was returning. When alone he would attempt to read the newspapers aloud or pronounce familiar words. Some unaccountable power seemed to tell him that the missing faculty was returning, even before sound came from his throat.

A week ago he started smoking cigarettes for the first time in 11 years. Yesterday he spoke to one of his brothers. Another was called up over the long distance telephone and he talked to him. Today he was transported into a new world. He could talk like other men and utter the same sounds which in silence he had heard them utter for twenty-one years.

SUCCESS TO NEW CLOTHIER

Edward Ehle, Who Has Established
New Haberdashery, Adopts Right Method.

Edward Ehle, who recently opened a gent's clothing and furnishing establishment in the new Laughlin building, joined the list of New Mexican's advertisers today. He will also carry a line of bath robes and smoking jackets as well as a popular line of hats.

The store room occupied by Mr. Ehle is one of the most convenient in the city. He has had it well equipped with show cases and in a few days will dress a handsome show window. Mr. Ehle has secured the services of Harry J. Beldeman, an experienced tailor from the east, who will take measures for clothes and assist in the clerical work. The new haberdashery will fill a much needed want among the men and young men of the city.
