SANTA FE NEW MEXICAN.

VOL. 43.

SANTA FE, N. M., THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1906.

NO. 111.

PREDICTS DEFEAT FOR STATEHOOD

Former Governor is Opposed to Jointure.

ARIZONA TO KILL MEASURE

Prescott Statesman Says Vote Will Be Forty to One Against Project.

Ex-Governor N. Oakes Murphy of Arizona was in Santa Fe today on his way home to Prescott, Arizona, having arrived from Las Vegas last evening and having been at Albuquerque on Tuesday. The ex-governor strongly repelled the insinuation that he was here to talk politics or even to look into the subject, but if he is in earnest, he came to the wrong place, for Santa Fe has been saturated the past week or two with discussions of the statehood question, and its relation to politics.

The session of the Territorial Supreme Court has brought together not only the six judges of this court, who take some interest in the statehood fight, but also many attorneys and active politicians.

The first official step taken yesterday by Governor Hagerman in calling together the committee to apportion New Mexico into districts for the delegate election to the proposed constitutional convention seems to have opened the campaign, although his speech at Raton several weeks ago was the first blast from the campaign trumpet.

Center of Discussion. It was quite natural, therefore, that Governor Murphy was the center of animated discussion, not on the condition of the cattle ranges in Arizona, or on the state of the money market in New York, but on the statehood question, and despite his denial of interest in politics at present, the ex-governor of the neighboring Territory managed to express himself very forcibly upon the question at issue.

It seems significant, too, that he should stop a day in Santa Fe, even though it was only to put his ear to the ground to listen to the first signs of the earthquake that is predicted for November 6th. Strange to say, he was as popular among Democratic politicians last evening as he was among Republicans. In fact, he seemed to be drawn to the former by some bond of sympathy, which may be more apparent later on in the history of the two neighboring commonwealths.

To Be a Fair Fight.

Ex-Governor Murphy told a representative of the New Mexican that Arizona would fight its own statehood battle; that it would not attempt, in fact, does not dream of attempting to influence New Mexico in its decision on the statehood question. He added significantly that Arizona would certainly resist any interference from the outside, be it administration pressure from Washington or meddling by New Mexico, such as he ascribed to Judge B. S. Rodey and Attorney W. B. Childers in coming over to Arizona some time last year to create joint statehood sentiment.

"But," he continued, "do not believe that the national administration will exert any pressure to coerce the people of Arizona to vote for joint statehood. I know that President Roosevelt will honor us more for standing up for what we conceive to be our rights than he would for yielding to considerations of patronage or fear of administration wrath."

Forty to One Against.

"Arizona will vote forty to one against statehood under the conditions offered, and I, for one, will fight the measure tooth and nail. Both great parties will unite in their platforms in protesting against jointure with New Mexico. Every Territorial and county candidate will be pledged against the act, and every county, with the exception, perhaps, of Apache County, will adopt resolutions similar in tenor to those of the Territorial conventions. Yes, joint statehood will be overwhelmingly defeated in Arizona—that is, if there is no change in sentiment during the next two or three months," he concluded, guardedly.

Governor Murphy promised that he would resist any tendency in the fight against joint statehood, resolving itself into an attack upon New Mexico. He admitted that the two Territories have too many interests in common, and that it is too profitable to be good neighbors to imperil cordial relations by injudicious attacks by the people of Arizona upon the people of New Mexico, and he is certain that the leaders of both parties will discountenance all appeals to race prejudice.

Says It is Mistake.

Governor Murphy believes that it will be a serious mistake on the part of New Mexico to vote for joint statehood, although he does not want his opinion to influence a single New Mexican voter. The prediction that New Mexico would be admitted to statehood in 1907, if it gave a rousing majority for the joint measure this fall, he believes to be without foundation, but he does believe that both Territories will be admitted as separate states.

HOW EACH COUNTY WILL BE TREATED

Un-Official Figures Showing Apportionment of Statehood Delegates.

Under Sections 23 and 24 of the Hamilton joint statehood law, the Territories of New Mexico and Arizona are to be apportioned into districts by the governor, the chief justice and the secretary of each for the purpose of electing delegates to the constitutional convention, which will be held December 3d next. Should the voters of the two Territories on November 6th, 1906, vote "yea" upon the question "Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united into one State?" The New Mexican has made a calculation of the apportionment, based upon the 1904 vote in New Mexico in the sections above referred to. The basis is upon a vote of 43,011, the total vote for 1904, and is divided among the counties as follows:

Bernalillo, 3,415 votes, five delegates; Chaves, 1,527 votes, two delegates; Colfax, 2,803 votes, four delegates; Dona Ana, 1,350 votes, three delegates; Eddy, 605 votes, one delegate; Grant, 1,768 votes, three delegates; Guadalupe, 1,319 votes, two delegates; Lincoln, 1,303 votes, two delegates; Luna, 479 votes, one delegate; McKinley, 628 votes, one delegate; Mora, 2,341 votes, four delegates; Otero, 1,414 votes, two delegates; Quay, 649 votes, one delegate; Rio Arriba, 1,151 votes, two delegates; Sandoval, 582 votes, one delegate; San Juan, 835 votes, one delegate; San Miguel, 3,884 votes, seven delegates; Santa Fe, 2,624 votes, four delegates; Sierra, 815 votes, one delegate; Socorro, 2,735 votes, four delegates; Taos, 1,887 votes, three delegates; Torrance, 795 votes, one delegate; Union, 1,073 votes, three delegates; Valencia, 1,843 votes, three delegates. Total, 66 delegates.

This calculation is based upon one delegate for each 652 votes and upon one delegate for each fraction over and above 326 in cases where this is applicable.

It is not official, but is believed to be as nearly correct as the deductions can make them. The Governor, the Chief Justice and the Secretary of the Territory will meet tomorrow for the purpose of considering the question and determining the official apportionment of delegates to the convention for the Territory of New Mexico.

Thereafter Governor Hagerman will issue a proclamation giving official sanction to this apportionment and calling the election for furnishing these delegates in accordance with the provisions of the Hamilton joint statehood law.

JURY HOLDS THAW FOR WHITE'S DEATH

Pittsburg Society Man Must Answer Murder Charge.

WIFE REFUSES TO TESTIFY

Says She Might Give Damaging Evidence—One Star Witness.

New York, June 28.—The grand jury returned an indictment against Harry Kendall Thaw, who shot and killed Stanford White, an architect, at the close of a performance at Madison Square Garden Monday night, charging murder in the first degree.

Thaw will plead to the indictment before Justice Cowin tomorrow.

Before the grand jury made its report the coroner's jury held Thaw responsible for White's death.

Refuses to Testify.

Mrs. Harry Thaw refused to testify before the grand jury, and pleaded she should not be made to give any evidence that might be damaging to her husband.

She asked permission to sit by her husband's side at the inquest today, but the request was denied.

Soon after the close of the coroner's inquest, the proceedings against Thaw were begun before the grand jury. Mrs. Thaw was in the grand jury room for fifteen minutes. She then went to the Tombs to visit her husband.

The coroner's jury found that Stanford White "came to his death by a gunshot wound inflicted by Harry K. Thaw."

The most important testimony was that given by Lionel Lawrence, the stage director at Madison Square Garden theater. Lawrence said immediately after the shooting Mrs. Thaw rushed up to her husband, threw her arms around his neck and said: "Never mind, Harry, I will stick to you through thick and thin."

Thaw turned to the crowd which surrounded them and said: "That"—pointing to White's body—"ruined my wife, and I got him and fixed him for it."

MRS. MIZNER WILL RECOVER.

Chicago, June 27.—At midnight Mrs. Yerkes-Mizner was reported as much improved. Physicians say there is no reason to doubt her ultimate recovery.

BURIED FOR DAY FINALLY RESCUED

Plumber Imprisoned in Sand Pile for Twenty-Two Hours.

New York, June 28.—After fighting against death for more than twenty-two hours, Jeremiah Fisher, a plumber, was rescued alive today from a sandpile at Tomkinsville, Staten Island, in which he had been imprisoned since yesterday forenoon.

He is in a pitiable condition from exhaustion and may not survive. Fisher was working in the excavation, when a street car loosened the ground and sent an avalanche of sand upon him, which held him as in a vice, only his head being visible.

Hundreds of men were employed in the work of rescue.

RADICALS ROUT ANTI-BRYAN MEN

Progressive Democrats Score Big Victory in State of Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 28.—After a bitter fight in the Democratic state convention, in session here, the radical wing of the party scored a complete victory over the conservative element. As a result, strong resolutions endorsing Bryan were adopted.

The state platform is as radical as was ever adopted by a La Follette convention, and calls for many of the measures advocated by the junior Republican senator.

The platform demands the enforcement of the statutes against trusts, combinations and monopolies; it favors tariff revision; it calls for the election of senators by direct vote, and government control and regulation of all public service corporations.

No nominations for state officials were made.

REFUSES TO GIVE LISTS.

New York, June 28.—General Soileitor McIntosh of the New York Life Insurance Company sent to Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the international policy holders' committee yesterday a reply to his letter asking that the committee, at its own expense, be allowed to obtain lists of the New York Life policy holders. McIntosh flatly refused to accede to the suggestion, saying that the law does not require such action, and that it is unwise to give publicity to the lists.

DRAFT OF RATE BILL NOW READY

Joint Conference Submits Railroad Measure.

SENATOR TILLMAN DISAGREES

South Carolina Man Refuses to Sign Report—Postmasters Confirmed.

Washington, D. C., June 28.—The conferees on the railroad rate bill formulated their third report today and it will be signed by Senators Elkins and Cullum and the three House representatives, Senator Tillman withholding his signature.

The McClaurin commodity amendment was made to apply to "railroad companies," the word "companies" having been added to the previous agreement, which changes the application from "common carriers" to "railroads," in order to exempt pipe lines.

Senate Pass Amendment.

The pass agreement was based on the provisions of the Senate bill, but two or three exemptions were stricken out. The pass provision is re-drafted along the lines of the amendment passed by the Senate. It prohibits broadly and generally the issuance of any free transportation for interstate passage and then provides for excepted class as follows:

"No common carrier subject to the provisions of this act shall after January 1st, 1907, directly or indirectly issue or give any interstate free transportation for passengers except to its employees and their families, its officers, agents, surgeons, physicians and attorneys-at-law; to ministers of religion, traveling secretaries of the Young Men's Christian Association, inmates of hospitals and charitable institutions, and persons exclusively engaged in charitable and eleemosynary work, to indigent, destitute and homeless persons and to such persons when transported by charitable societies or hospitals and necessary agents employed in such transportation; to inmates of National homes or state homes for disabled volunteers, soldiers, officers, and sailors' homes, including those about to enter and those returning home, after discharge, and boards of managers of such homes; to necessary caretakers of live stock, country and fruit; employees on sleeping cars, express cars and to line-men of telegraph or telephone companies; to railway mail service employees, post-office inspectors, customs officials and immigrant inspectors; to newsboys on trains, baggage agents, witnesses attending legal investigations in which common carrier is interested, persons injured in wrecks and physicians and nurses attending such persons."

Disagree On Amendment.

The conferees on the agricultural bill at 2:10 today reported a disagreement regarding the meat inspection amendment. Senator Proctor reported to the Senate an agreement reached as to the other provisions of the bill.

The Senate committee on public buildings and grounds today reported the omnibus public buildings bill with net increase of $4,084,500 over the bill as it passed the House.

The new items included: Evanston, Wyoming, $5,000; Lander, Wyoming, $7,400; Denver, $500,000. The Senate also increased the House appropriations as follows: Rawlins, Wyoming, $10,000 to $80,000; Sheridan, Wyoming, $115,000 to $150,000.

Passes Relief Bill.

Special to the New Mexican.

Washington June 28.—The bill introduced by Delegate W. H. Andrews for the relief of John B. Bowie, of New Mexico, was today referred to the House committee on claims.

Speedy Confirmation.

New Mexico postmasters yesterday appointed, namely: Harry C. Carter, of Las Cruces; John M. Wiley, of Silver City, and Harry W. Hamilton, of Artesia, were unanimously confirmed within an hour after their nominations were received last evening; this upon request and recommendation of U. S. Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania, who acted upon the suggestion of Delegate W. H. Andrews in the matter. Senator Penrose is chairman of the committee on postoffices and post roads of the Senate. This speedy action is almost unprecedented and is the same as in the case of Postmaster Paul A. E. Walter, of Santa Fe, some weeks ago, whose nomination was also taken up immediately and confirmed.

Chance for Albuquerque.

Delegate W. H. Andrews feels very good. He has the promise of leading senators that the amendment by Senator Penrose to the public building bill, providing for an appropriation of $200,000 for a public building at Albuquerque will be favorably considered.

HOCH FAVORS DENATURED ALCOHOL DISTILLERY.

Tonka, Kans., June 28.—Governor E. W. Hoch favors the establishment of a denatured alcohol distillery at the Kansas penitentiary and the employment of convict labor in its manufacture.

Cheverne, Wyo., June 28.—A high wind this morning blew over a train of eleven cars at Weir, a small station east of this city.

The cars were used as quarters for Japanese laborers, twenty of whom were injured, seven seriously.

POPULISTS ISSUE RADICAL ADDRESS

Wants Government Ownership of Monopolies.

TARIFF POLICY CONDEMNED

Declare It Protects Only American Trusts—Other Recommendations.

St. Louis, June 28.—The national committee of the Peoples Party today adopted an address to the people. It says in part:

"It has been completely demonstrated that the Peoples Party was right in its advocacy of the quantitative theory of money and this economic theory will probably never again be denied."

Government Ownership.

"All monopolies should be owned and operated by the whole people. This doctrine has been widely adopted, except in the United States, and in some degree even here. Wherever adopted, the people will not listen to any argument in favor of the return of governmental control to monopolies in private hands."

"We are opposed to any tariff that in its administration is for the benefit of the American trust combinations, which sell to foreigners cheaper than to American consumers."

"Growing evils, such as government by injunction, militarism, autocracy in the postoffice and in all other departments of government, graft and favoritism everywhere, are mere expressions of the increasing degeneracy in the machine rule system which will be terminated as rapidly as the people's sovereignty is established."

"To expand club organizations till our movement shall reach every country in the land is the political need of the hour."

"We recognize with pleasure the growing tendency toward co-operation at the polls and the purpose to vote together of all reform organizations that have for their object the welfare of the people and uplifting of humanity."

A resolution introduced by H. J. Mullins of Tennessee providing that this conference agree in work being performed by the conference provisional committee caused a turmoil which took most of the morning session, but was finally adopted on a rising vote.

To Question Candidates.

A resolution, introduced by George H. Sibley of Washington, president of the People's Sovereignty League of America, was adopted providing that each local organization of the Peoples Party shall immediately question candidates in their respective districts and publish their replies concerning their attitudes on labor and political questions.

TO DESTROY ALL SALOON BUILDINGS

Kansas Official Threatens Drastic Action Against Liquor Dealers.

Kansas City, Kans., June 28.—The anti-saloon crusade here was renewed today with increased vigor.

C. W. Trickett, assistant attorney general, appointed by Governor Hoch to enforce the prohibition law, gave warning that in addition to destroying the stocks of liquor and bar fixtures he would demolish saloon buildings, if the owners persist in renting them to keepers of "joints."

There are about 100 saloons in the city, half of which have been closed.

Officials continue spilling liquor and breaking up saloon fixtures.

COME VIA BUGGY AUTO AND RAIL

Judge and Mrs. Pope Have Unique Trip From Roswell.

Judge and Mrs. W. H. Pope, of Roswell, who arrived in the city Tuesday evening, had a very enjoyable but rather novel trip.

They came from Roswell to Torrance on the automobile line. This was the most pleasant and pleasing incident of the voyage. The road is smooth, the air is of the best and the automobile rushed along at the rate of twenty miles per hour.

From Torrance to within about five miles of this city it was comfortable in the passenger car of the Santa Fe Central Railway. When about five miles from town the water plug of the boiler of the engine blew up.

Judge and Mrs. Pope did not wait for the arrival of a substitute locomotive, but rode into town in a buggy. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker on Grant Avenue.

New York, June 28.—A severe wind and rain storm blew down upon New York today.

WOMEN TO HOLD BIG FETE TONIGHT

Board of Trade's Annual Celebration Promises to Be Success.

The annual fete of the Woman's Board of Trade, which is always looked forward to with pleasurable anticipations, will take place tonight in the Plaza, beginning at 7 o'clock. From the unusual exertions that have been made by all concerned, there is no doubt that all former records will be broken, in the style and variety of the amusements that will be presented. The construction of the library building, for which these energetic and noble women have been working so long, will soon be commenced, and as it will be for the accommodation of all citizens and sojourners in the city, everybody should make it his or her business to attend the fete and contribute as liberally as possible to the library fund.

The following is a list of the good things in store for the friends of the library fund: First, lemonade stand, ice cream and cake, homemade candy for the sweet tootsies. Second, all who desire to take a peep into the future will be accommodated in the gypsy tent, for which a real gypsy has been imported. As such an opportunity will not soon again be presented, all who wish to draw aside the veil that separates the present from the future and look into the misty vistas should not fail to consult this remarkable fortune teller. Third, a country store, amply supplied with goods to suit all tastes and pockets will be open to the public, and as all the articles on hand will be disposed of at the ridiculously low rate of ten cents per article, all would-be purchasers should call early to avoid the rush. Fourth, the time-honored rummage table will be opened at 5 o'clock, and everything on hand will be disposed of regardless of cost.

Fifth, an elaborate Spanish supper, served by the best caterer in town, will be given in the Plaza restaurant in the Catron Block. The ladies will be prepared to wait on their guests at 5:30 o'clock. Don't forget to bring the children, as they need not "keep off the grass," on this occasion, and may enjoy themselves to their hearts' content. Sixth, the grand ball will commence at the Palace Hotel at 9 o'clock and will continue as long as dancers desire. This will take place in the spacious dining room of the hotel.

Captain of Marine Corps Complies With Department's Request.

New York, June 28.—Captain Robert F. Wynne, United States Marine Corps, yesterday sent his formal resignation from the service as requested by the Navy Department in consequence of the verdict of the court martial against him, to Brigadier General Elliott, commandant of the Marine Corps, to be forwarded to the President.

The marines are preparing a "round robin" begging the President not to dismiss Captain Wynne or accept his resignation.

GOOD EXAMPLE OF MODERN METHODS

Enterprise of Reed & Company Illustrates How Business Is Done.

An example of how quick modern business is to recognize and grasp opportunities is given by Reed & Company, engineers and contractors of New York City. Howard S. Reed, the president, and Walter G. Hopkins, vice president, were seated at their desks in Los Angeles when the earthquake and fire reached them. In three or four sentences they called each other's attention to the great opportunity to capital and enterprise from the outside to clear away the wreckage and to rebuild the city. It took but a few minutes to get into action and a few hours afterwards Mr. Hopkins was on his way to San Francisco with the actual cash necessary, credentials and plans to get into action immediately, even before the smoke had entirely cleared from the ruins.

YALE CREWS WIN ANNUAL BOAT RACE

Harvard is Defeated By Old Eli in Two Close Contests.

New London, Conn., June 28.—Yale won Varsity four-oared race by eight lengths. Time—Yale, 11:46 3/5; Harvard, 12:14.

This race was over a distance of two miles up stream. Harvard led at a quarter by quarter length, but Yale spurred and at the half, was leading, never being headed for the rest of the distance.

Harvard won Varsity eight-oared race over four-mile course down stream. Time—Harvard, 23:02; Yale, 23:11.

The Freshman eight-oared race was over a two mile course. Yale caught water first and immediately secured a slight advantage. At half a mile Harvard had regained the distance lost at the start, her bows showing just a little ahead of Yale. Nearing the mile mark Yale led at half a length. At the mile and a half Yale was leading by a few feet. Soon after Harvard pulled to the front, but Yale regained the lead and won. Time—Yale, 10:35; Harvard, 10:41.

WILL OPEN NEW BANK AT TAOS

Howard S. Reed and Judge Laughlin Are Interested.

CITY'S ONLY FINANCIAL HOUSE

Institution Will Be Ready For Business About July First.

Taos is to have a bank. It will be a first-class bank, a bank of which a more populous community might be proud, a bank that will be ready for business shortly after July 1. In fact, it is to be a Fourth of July present to the ancient and historic county seat of Taos County. Howard S. Reed, president of the United States Bank and Trust Company of Santa Fe, is emphatic in saying that credit for this is due to Judge N. B. Laughlin, one of the bank's directors.

Down to Business.

It was Saturday forenoon of last week that Judge N. B. Laughlin and President Howard S. Reed started for Taos. They spent the night at Wamsley's Hot Springs, and proceeded to Taos the next day. They found time enough to fish in the Arroyo Hondo and the Rio Pueblo, proving themselves as good fishermen as they are financiers. However, not much time was wasted. The leading businessmen of Taos were interested and extended an enthusiastic welcome.

A fine room in the new Martin business block, all glass front, was leased, and carpenters and painters set to work immediately to prepare elegant banking headquarters. The location of the new bank is in the heart of the business section, between the court house and the Ellis pharmacy. P. S. Wilson, formerly director of the U. S. Mint at Denver, Colorado, is on his way to Taos, to take charge of the management of the bank, which will be a branch institution of the United States Bank and Trust Company of Santa Fe, thus cementing the ancient and cordial trade relations between Taos and Santa Fe, to the mutual advantage of both towns. Last evening the wires were kept busy with orders for bank fixtures, books and other supplies needed for the new bank, and in a very short time the bank will be doing business.

An Empire in Resources.

Mr. Reed warms up when he speaks about Taos and Taos County. Brief as was his stay, he recognized the many latent resources of that section. He saw that the soil was deep and fertile; he noticed that not one half of the flowing waters were used for irrigation; he recognized that even now, before the coming of a railroad, the town of Taos does a tremendous business. He knows, too, that at the present day, such resources and undeveloped wealth will not lie idle much longer, even were they not as evident as the sunshine of Taos Valley. He noted the scenic beauties and he does not forget that these have their commercial advantages; he saw the sheep on a thousand hills; heard of the mineral indications, of the prosperity of the small farmer and the stock grower, and outline these facts together, he did not have to rely upon what somebody else told him, but figured it out for himself that a great and prosperous future awaits Taos. He also likes the people he met and was impressed with the cordial reception given the new business enterprise.

EVEN-HANDED AND SWIFT JUSTICE.

Evenhanded and swift justice is the order of the day in many counties in New Mexico. The latest case in point is the one of Venecio Gallegos, now in the penitentiary under sentence of forty years for murder in the second degree. The crime for which Gallegos suffers was committed on the 8th day of April last near Gallup, McKinley County. After a night of debauch and drinking, the convict assaulted his comrade in carousing, split his head and injured him so badly that he died after twenty-four hours. The victim's name was Francisco Torres. The murderer was arrested, bound over to the grand jury and indicted. At the recent special term of the court for McKinley County, a jury was empaneled, a trial had and the indicted man convicted of murder in the second degree in one day and evening. No interpreters were necessary, except to translate the testimony of witnesses and of the accused. The verdict was brought in after short deliberation and it is believed that the jury was induced to announce it murder in the second degree instead of the first degree by the fact that both men involved had been drinking heavily and that there was no malice aforethought or premeditation shown. The next day the convicted man was sentenced to forty years imprisonment by Judge Ira A. Abbott.

No state or territory in this wide Union can show a better record than this case makes for New Mexico. This is only one of several in which similar expediency and energetic action has been had by grand juries, by the trial judge and by petit juries. Several of these have occurred in what is called Mexican counties. These are facts, and they certainly speak strongly and eloquently for the people of the Territory, for their respect for law and their intention and desire to carry out the provisions of the law in criminal cases as they should be carried out. To be sure, there have been several mis-trials in murder and other important cases of late; if one compares these mis-trials with the hundreds of such cases occurring in the states right along, he will find that they have occurred in what is called to a greater extent the American counties than in those inhabited mostly by native-born citizens of Spanish or Mexican descent. Credit where credit is justly due.

THE TRUE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

The statements issued by the two national banks doing business in Silver City, under call of June 18th, are striking illustrations of the business prosperity prevailing in this section at the present time. The statement of the Silver City National Bank shows total deposits of over $550,000, while the statement of the recently established American National Bank shows deposits of over $70,000. No better index of business conditions could be had than these statements and they certainly speak well for prevailing conditions.—Silver City Independent.

Who would have thought it? According to the editorial columns of the Albuquerque Fakir Journal and two or three yellow dog sheets there is the greatest of distress, the most dire of sorrows and complete subversion of the business and property interests of the Territory, no matter of what character on account of the ruinous, heavy and exorbitant rates of taxation and assessment values obtaining, and because of the awful dishonesty and fearful amount of grafting which has been going on in the Sunshine Territory since a Republican administration came into power in June, 1897. The Independent is a Democratic newspaper and likely the most influential one in the Territory. It cannot justly be accused of partiality for Republican administrations, for Republican politics and for Republican officials, but it is a fair and decent paper and hence the above item can well be considered as giving the true state of affairs.

AN APOLOGY.

"The New Mexican still persists in saying that all the Democratic papers in the Pecos Valley are in favor of classing the native voter with the southern negro. This statement should be qualified in regard to the New Mexican Sun, which from first to last opposed the action of the central committee, and was one of the main factors in having that action repudiated by the county convention."—Carlsbad Sun.

Thank you, the New Mexican stands corrected, and herewith tenders its apologies to the Carlsbad Sun and hopes the same will be accepted. The New Mexican does not desire to do any newspaper or any person, no matter of what political shade, an injustice, great or small. It is but human to err and to make mistakes and once in a while the New Mexican is human and probably very much so.

The school district of Hope, Eddy County, will bond itself in the sum of $10,000 for the purpose of procuring funds to erect a public school building. Another indication, according to the New Mexican yellow dog sheets, that this territory is retrograding and that the people are going down hill pell mell on account of greatly increased and burdensome taxation and corrupt official dealings.

AN EXAMPLE TO BE FOLLOWED.

A Roosevelt County farmer has gone into tree culture in a very sensible manner. There is every reason to believe that his venture will prove a success. His example should be followed not only all over Roosevelt County, but throughout the Territory generally. If it is practicable in Roosevelt County where there is less rain and more heat than there is in the mountain sections of New Mexico it certainly should pay more than well in the valleys of the Rocky Mountains and of the larger streams. The Texico Trumpet describes the situation in this case very aptly in the following editorial:

"R. Vernon, who owns a claim two miles west of town, has set out 8,000 locust trees and 5,000 catalpas on twelve acres of ground. He expects to put 80 acres in trees with the idea of their growing into post timber. Figuring two posts to the tree in six years' growth, this twelve acres now planted will net at ten cents a post, $2,400. This opens a field for profitable tree culture, inasmuch as the second growth, after the first cutting, will no doubt prove more profitable than the first cutting, as the growth will then be straighter and more valuable for posts."

TAXATION IN THE STATE OF ARIZONA.

The income of New Mexico and Arizona from taxes is one million and a quarter of dollars a year. The income from the $5,000,000 cash and $30,000,000 land donation to the state of Arizona, will be at least that much and in years to come it will be much more. In other words, the munificent gift of Congress equals an annual fifteen million levy upon all the assessed taxable property in the two commonwealths for some time to come. One of the main arguments against statehood, and especially joint statehood on the part of Arizona, has been that of increased taxes, but it is certain from the above figures, not to speak of the tax limitation in the constitution of the new state, that the tax burden will be much lighter than the tax burden of the territorial condition, in fact, there is every ground to predict that under statehood, taxes will be only one-half of what they are now. A reason that appeals to the pocketbook of the taxpayer is always a strong one and may prove irresistible by November 6.

TAFT FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Justice David J. Brewer, of the U. S. Supreme Court, on alumni day at Yale, informally nominated Secretary Taft as the man who had safely guided the Nation through the intricacies of the Philippine situation and is at present coping successfully with the great Panama Canal problem. He predicted that he would carry to the Presidency the same strength of character he has shown in dealing with these and other problems. It is no secret that President Roosevelt looks upon Secretary Taft as his successor who will carry to their logical conclusion the far-reaching policies inaugurated by the President. There are many strong men within the Republican party, ambitious to secure the nomination of the party for the highest office within the gift of the people, but at present Secretary Taft's chances are the best of all and what it better, he is built of splendid presidential timber. If New Mexico is given the opportunity, its electoral vote will certainly go to Judge Taft for the Presidency by an overwhelming majority.

At this season of the year political bees are humming in every direction and it is refreshing to turn from such bees to the contemplation of the real bee, even if it is the business end of the busy little insect. Frank McGinnis, a Philadelphia machinist, this week, at an exhibition of bees at Jenkintown, Pennsylvania, demonstrated that the sting of the bee is an unfailing remedy for rheumatism and allied ailments. Several months ago he was so crippled by rheumatism that he had to use crutches. He resorted to the painful bee cure and soon was able to throw away his crutches. At the exhibition he mounted a platform and permitted fifty bees to sting him, apparently enjoying the procedure. To some people the cure may seem as bad as the disease, but then it is well for the rheumatist to know that there is a cure for him if he is brave enough to take it.

The muck raker is abroad insisting that the Congress should have selected a sea level type for the Panama Canal in place of the lock type. Had Congress chosen the sea level type for the Panama Canal then the muck rakers would have been loud in their assertions that the lock type should have been selected; as Congress fixed the lock type, therefore, the muck rakers are at work claiming that the sea level plan would have been better.

The tax assessments of Colfax County will show an increase of $400,000 for the present year. This is attributed to the natural growth and extension in population and business of that favored subdivision of New Mexico. Another instance of oppression, misrule and corruption, according to the howls and fabrications of the yellow dog sheets of the Territory.

LET THE FIGHT BE A CLEAN ONE.

It has been agreed among the leaders of both parties, tacitly, if not officially, that each of the two territories, New Mexico and Arizona, will fight its own statehood campaign. No orators from the one commonwealth will invade the other and there will be no open effort to have New Mexico convert Arizona to its way of thinking or as it does. But, nevertheless, there will be powerful though silent influences, there will be combinations in the dark, there will be secret individual and political alliances of far-reaching importance, for the battle is to be fought for large stakes and it is not human nature to leave anything undone that may tend toward victory. In Arizona, especially, there will be an appeal to race prejudice, even though ostensibly disavowed by the leaders. U. S. Senator Spooner's uncontradicted statement that there are at least ten counties in New Mexico in which interpreters are absolutely necessary for the conduct of the business of the courts; that it is impossible to secure English speaking juries in those counties, the most populous of the twenty-five having a population greater than that of Arizona, will be used to keep the anti-joint statehood voters of Arizona in line. The ghost of the unfortunate John Conley case will be awakened and it will stalk through Arizona with all its horrors and untoward circumstances to make votes against joint statehood.

That all this is to be regretted goes without saying. It will in the end prevent a clean campaign, although as far as the Republicans of New Mexico are concerned, it will be a clean fight from beginning to end, no matter what other parties in the neighboring territory may do. It is in Arizona, where prejudice and hatred have been avowed, although without real cause, and it is to be hoped that the thinking, the unselfish men of Arizona, will be able to keep the campaign along those lines and in the spirit in which it is the firm resolve of the Republicans of New Mexico to maintain it. No matter what the decision of Arizona on the statehood question, it is a sister territory, in many respects its fate is linked with that of New Mexico, it confronts many of the same problems and it should not spur the hand of comradeship now extended, even if it cannot vote to come into the Union as one commonwealth under its own name, to share the municipal gifts and the great privileges of statehood with New Mexico.

Secretary Metcalf, of the Department of Commerce and Labor, delivered an address yesterday at the commencement exercises of Yale University. The gist of his remarks consisted in insisting that the standard of the legal profession be raised. Correct you are, Mr. Secretary! There is certainly great need for this and especially in the Sunshine Territory.

"If the New Mexican is really offended because we commended its advocacy of the publication of weekly crop reports, we will be careful how we stir up its feeling by bestowing flattery. We forgot that if there is anything the New Mexican can't bear it is flattery."—Las Vegas Optic.

All right, friend and neighbor. Not much harm done, anyhow.

At Barcelona, Madrid, the heat on Monday reached 117 degrees in the shade. All wealthy people are leaving the town on account of the prolonged hot spell, and the poor are suffering terribly. Before returning to Barcelona, a Texas wealthy people should visit El Paso, Texas, in order to get acclimated.

The Las Vegas Optic is of the opinion that a telephone franchise in the Meadow City, considered of not much value at present, in a few years may be of great and financial importance. The Optic is correct. It is not good policy now or hereafter for any of the towns of New Mexico to give away public franchises for the asking.

The New Mexican does not believe that Senator Dupont of Delaware will introduce a resolution asking for the investigation of the power trust at an early date. The Senator is somewhat interested in that trust.

Colonel Bryan may take another trip up Salt River in 1908. Who knows? If he does he will find it an easy job. He has had more experience in that line than any other living man.

New Mexico may not have a chance to elect United States Senators within the next twelve months, but it looks as if her people will have quite a try at it.

The coronation ceremonies at Drondhjeia, Norway, are ended and the new King and Queen are still alive.

Russian anarchists and the Russian police are just now employed in laudable work. They are shooting each other.

A COAT OF ARMS.

How One May Be Acquired For a Consideration in England.

The practice of granting arms is still in vogue in England, Ireland, Scotland, Austria, Spain, Portugal, Italy, Germany, etc., and at times the pope, as sovereign pontiff, exercises the power. Indeed, it is by patent or grant alone that a new family can legitimately acquire a coat of arms.

The modus operandi in England, for example, is as follows: The applicant may employ any member he pleases of the heralds' college and through him present a memorial to the earl marshal of England, who acts for the crown in these matters, setting forth that he, the memorialist, is not entitled to arms or cannot prove his right to such and praying that his grace the earl marshal will issue his warrant to the kings of arms, authorizing them to grant and confirm to him due and proper armorial ensigns, to be borne according to the laws of heraldry by him and his descendants. This memorial is presented and a warrant is issued by the earl marshal, under which a patent of arms is made out, exhibiting a painting of the armorial ensigns granted, the royal arms of England, the arms of the earl marshal and those of the college and describing in official terms the proceedings that have taken place and a correct blazon of the arms. This patent is registered in the books of the heralds' college and receives the signatures of the quarter and one or both of the provincial kings of arms.

A grant or patent of arms is made to a man and his male descendants. This gives him a fee simple of them—that is to say, to him and to his male descendants equally and altogether and to his female descendants in a qualified manner—i. e., for life, to bear the arms in a lodge or impaled with their husbands' arms (if the husbands have arms), as arms can only be brought in by arms, or, if they be heiresses or co-heiresses, on an escutcheon of pretense upon their husbands' shields, and in the last case their descendants inherit such maternal arms, but only as a quartering.—Nineteenth Century.

SMUGGLING.

It Was Considered a Legitimate Pursuit in Days Gone By.

A book by J. C. Wright entitled "In the Good Old Times" throws some interesting light on the ways of days gone by: "Of every three pounds of tea gone by, one was for contraband. In fact, smuggling was considered a perfectly legitimate pursuit. Every body was ready to profit by it, from the squire, who filled his cellars with cheap wine, and his wife, who adorned herself in cheap silks, to the shopkeeper, who got cheap groceries, or the laborer, who got high wages for work that was secret, unlawful and perilous. Even Adam Smith confessed to a weakness for smuggling and nobody was above bargaining to have a pipe or a hoghead put in his cellar at a low figure. But smuggling on a large scale was not carried on without bribery, perjury, informing, violence and murder."

Of the old time London watchman: "He was wrapped in a wide skirted heavy coat, a useful garment for protecting him from the cold, but not adapted to enable him to cope with the bullies who assaulted the weak and unprotected. He wore low shoes and a big broad brimmed hat, which could be turned up or down, worn forward or backward. The only means of defense which the watchman seems to have possessed was a staff something like a handle. In his left hand he carried his lantern."

In those primitive times plus were manufactured by hand and went through several stages of manufacture: Worker No. 1 formed the wire, No. 2 cut it into lengths, No. 3 smoothed it, the fourth man made the head, the fifth stuck it on, the sixth ground the point, the seventh washed and dried it, and it had to go through three more hands after that; hence it used to be a familiar proverb, "It takes ten men to make a pin."

Queer Judicial Decisions.

Some queer judicial decisions in Victoria are mentioned in the Australian Review of Reviews. A man who embezzled some money from a bank has received a sentence of nearly three years' imprisonment, while a man who murdered his mother by stabbing her to the heart received only one year, and another man, who shot his sister and killed her, was sentenced to only two years, and immediately after that a man who wrote a letter to another man threatening to kill him received three years' imprisonment.

Schoolboy Answers.

Here are some assertions from compositions by American schoolboys: "Franklin's father was a tallow chandler." "The climate of North America is embracing." "This song is in the key of B flat." "There are five bowels—a, e, i, o and u." "The snow is painting the town white." "He lived in Cambridgeport." "Man is in the muscular gender because it denotes a male." "They went to the foolish (Polish) church." Question: "What is geography?" Answer: "Geography is round, like a ball."

Fame.

It is an indiscreet and troublesome ambition that cares so much about fame, to about what the world says of us, to be always looking in the faces of others for approval; to be always anxious about the effect of what we do or say; to be always shouting to hear the echoes of our own voices.—Longfellow.

Laws are like cobwebs—if any trifling or powerless thing falls into them they hold it fast, while if it is some thing weightier it breaks through them and is off.—Solon.

POLITICAL POINTERS.

Opinions on Campaign Subjects of interest to the Dear People.

Not Necessary.

The passage of the statehood bill created no excitement in this neck of the woods.—Hillsboro Advocate.

Correct You Are.

Any kind of statehood were better than fifty years more of territorial government.—Roswell Daily Record.

You Believe Correctly.

Plenty of time between now and November to make up their minds on how to vote on joint statehood. But the Reporter believes our citizens will accept the proposition rather than remain a territory.—Raton Reporter.

The Argus for Joint Statehood. The following editorial from the New Mexican, than which there is no stancher Republican newspaper published in the Territory, so clearly states the position of the Argus on the statehood question that this paper copies the article and endorses every word of it.—Carlsbad Argus.

Those Down-trodden People of New Mexico.

A number of our enterprising citizens got together Wednesday of this week and raised sufficient money in a short while to insure the building of a large amusement hall for Texico. The building, which will be begun at an early date will be 40x100 feet, provided with a stage and moveable seats, thus enabling it to be used as an opera house, or any kind of public meeting place, as well as a hall for roller skating.

Prospects Not Alarming.

Democrats of New Mexico and Arizona are now being advised to vote against the joint statehood measure. In the hope that the election of 1908 will seat a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress. It is hardly probable, however, that Democratic opposition, however complete, will defeat the statehood measure. As for the chance of electing a Democratic President and Congress, the prospects are not alarming at present.—Raton Range.

No Force Is Being Used.

Every argument that has been advanced during the past few years against joint statehood for Arizona still holds good and others of weight are daily being added to the long list.

On the other hand, the same meaningless threats, the same high-sounding and rosy promises and the same groundless arguments that have no foundation in fact are being used to force the people into a statehood alliance that is repugnant to nine-tenths of Arizona's citizens.

However, the statehood bill as signed by the President makes the people supreme and their will as expressed at the polls next November, will be the force that will settle the future of Arizona and they may be depended upon to settle it right and to the best interests of all.—Arizona Gazette.

Nevertheless, It Looks Like Statehood.

Congress has finally consented to grant statehood to Arizona and New Mexico, provided that the two territories will consent to come in as one state. The proposition is unjust and also an unworthy action of the Congress of this great country. The reason is plain: That little section of country known as New England, which now has such a large and disproportionate representation in the United States Senate is jealous of the West and will do everything possible to hold down its representation.

However, it looks like joint statehood is the only kind obtainable, for some years at least, and any old variety of statehood is preferable to being subject to legislation by old fogies two thousand miles away. For these reasons, and many more that could be mentioned, the Reporter is in favor of joint statehood and feels confident that the proposition so far as New Mexico is concerned will carry by a very large majority when submitted to a vote next November.—Raton Reporter.

McKinley County For Joint Statehood. As far as Congress can do anything in the matter of joint statehood has been granted to Arizona and New Mexico. It will soon be up to the people of the two territories to say whether they want a state government or to remain indefinitely as territories.

The Hamilton bill with an amendment has been passed and the people will vote this fall for delegates to the constitutional convention and whether this union of the territories as one state shall be consummated. The bill provides that the federal government shall give the new state $5,000,000 cash to go to housekeeping with and provides for many millions of dollars worth of government land to be given the state, Arizona the Great, if it is created by the votes of the people.

As the matter stands it is no sure thing that we will get statehood, the anti-campaign of the large companies and the politicians of Arizona may defeat this measure which is popular with the people of this territory and with a large number of independent people of Arizona. The general feeling is that New Mexico will vote for jointure. Arizona is the uncertain quantity. Undoubtedly a well conducted campaign, carried on by the jointure people will work a change in the sentiments of the Arizonians. The very people who are working against the measure would be enough in some communities to secure an overwhelming majority. A glance over the list of papers in Arizona that are in the anti-ranks, show which way the wind blows, they are every one of them in some way controlled by the large companies, while the papers that are with us are owned by individuals who have no favors to ask of the companies or the selfish politicians, the pie hungry politicians who have thrived under the territorial government.

These people might do as well under a state government, there would be more offices to fill and undoubtedly larger campaign contributions for them to distribute.

JESSE JAMES.

The Little Rock, Arkansas, Daily Democrat has this to say about the W. I. Swain Jesse James show that is to appear here Monday, July 23: "The citizens of Little Rock were royally entertained with a new form of amusement last night."

"The W. I. Swain Jesse James company, presented a three hours show last night and it is safe to say that never in the history of Little Rock did so many people gather together to see a show except to the biggest of big circuses."

"The entertainment was of the western character, portraying the James boys during their famous career covering the time from the war to the death of Jesse. The show was moral, and of a much different character than one is led to believe before seeing the show. Instead of all shooting, and dime novel play, it teaches a grand lesson, showing the hardships and deprivations of an outlaw, and the sufferings of a man after becoming an outcast."

CHEAP RATES TO NEW YORK.

The Mexican Central has recently placed on sale tickets to New York and return, going via the Mexican Central to either Vera Cruz or Tampico, thence via the famous Ward Steamship Line to New York. The return will be by rail over any line to El Paso. The entire trip, covering thousands of miles, Havana, Cuba, and its famous Moro Castle, Newport, and a dozen of the largest cities of the United States, can be made for $122.50. A more delightful trip can not be planned, as stop-over privileges are allowed and the tickets are good for one year from the date of sale. The trip includes the City of Mexico, the "Paris of America." Further information can be secured by addressing A. Dulohery, Commercial Agent, El Paso, Texas, or W. D. Murdock, Assistant General Passenger Agent, City of Mexico.

MARRIAGE LICENSE LAW.

The new marriage license law requires probate clerks to post three copies of the new law in conspicuous places in each precinct. The New Mexican has printed the law neatly on cardboard and is now ready to fill orders in English or Spanish at fifty cents for each poster. Probate clerks should enter their orders immediately, as the new law went into effect on April 1, 1905.

The New Mexican Printing Company is prepared to fill promptly and satisfactorily all orders for engraved visiting cards, marriage announcements, invitations and all work of that kind. Prices as low as compatible with good work. Call at the New Mexican office and examine samples and prices.

MINOR CITY TOPICS

At the Santa Fe Hardware and Supply Company's store there are many things suitable for this season of the year. Read the advertisement and drop in.

John Langston, Pueblo, Colorado, registered at the Normandie yesterday. He is an engineer on the Santa Fe system and comes to the Capital City for a rest.

Ed and D. L. Parsons, Denver bricklayers, arrived in Santa Fe yesterday and registered at the Normandie. They have been attracted here by the extensive building now going on.

We treat every customer as a fellow-worker who is co-operating with us in building up a bank which will be really helpful to him and to us.—United States Bank and Trust Company.

The New Mexican Printing Company has on hand a large supply of pads and tablets suitable for school work, the desk, and also for lawyers and merchants; good anywhere. We will sell them at five cents in book form, but will give a discount on quantities.

The Santa Fe Railway Company is making extensive improvements in the yard facilities at Lamy. New tracks are being laid, six new coal tipples have been built, and the water storage capacity has been increased sixfold by the building of two huge steel tanks.

Ansel Hart, electrician, today installed the lighting system to be used in the Plaza during the Plaza fete to be given tonight by the Woman's Board of Trade. Everything has been practically completed and the fete promises to be the most successful ever given.

Jose Martinez y Padra, aged 66 years, died yesterday morning at his home on Canon Street at 9:30 o'clock from a chronic stomach complaint. Deceased is survived by a widow, five daughters, three sisters and one brother. Remains will be laid to rest tomorrow in Rosario Cemetery.

The Archaeological Society will hold an important meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Ben Hur room in the Old Palace. All those who desire to accompany the excursion to the cliff dwellings should register before that time, as final arrangements for the trip will then be made.

The special communication of Santa Fe Chapter No. 1, Royal Arch Masons, for this evening will be called to order at 7 o'clock promptly, that the session might close early to enable those who desire to attend the Woman's Board of Trade dance at the Palace Hotel. There will be work in the M. M. and P. M. Degrees.

The New Mexican Printing Company is prepared to do the best of brief work in short order and at very reasonable rates. Lawyers, who desire to have their briefs printed rapidly and correctly and to present them to the Supreme Court now in session here on time, should call on the New Mexican Printing Company and leave their work there.

The Santa Fe branch train now makes connection with train No. 8, from the west and south, at Lamy and waits 45 minutes for the arrival of that train before returning to Santa Fe. This enables passengers from the south and west to reach Santa Fe at night and to make proper connections. This branch train leaves this city at 8:40 and returns, if the main line train is on time, at 10:50 at night.

The ten pretty waitresses at the Spanish supper this evening have strict orders not to accept tips of less than $5 and to decline all tips of over $1.00. They will be dressed in white and wear white lace caps. They are ten in number, namely: Miss Pain, of Kansas City; Miss Otero, of this city; the Misses Walz, Fawell, Christensen and Julia Christensen, of El Paso; the Misses Anna and Maria Nellis, of Topeka, Kansas; and the Misses Barney and Anita Bergere, of this city.

Generally fair tonight and Friday with stationary temperature is the weather forecast as received by the New Mexican from the local weather man. The temperature at 6 a. m. today was 58 degrees and the lowest point reached during last night was 50 degrees. The maximum temperature yesterday was 81 degrees at 2:45 p. m. and the minimum of 56 degrees was registered at 2:30 a. m. There was a mean temperature for the day of 68 degrees and a mean relative humidity of 20 per cent.

Attention is called to the minutes of the proceedings of the board of County Commissioners at the session which commenced June 4th last. The proceedings are of importance as they contain the action of the board sitting as a Board of Equalization for the purpose of examining the tax returns, making assessments, raising and reducing such and performing other duties the results of which come home to many citizens and property owners individually. The proceedings are published on page six of this issue and will be continued tomorrow.

NEWS NOTES FROM ESTANCIA VALLEY

Company to Furnish Artesian Water to Be Incorporated Soon.

Special to the New Mexican.

Estancia, N. M., June 28.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held in the Walker building Monday night for the purpose of pushing the artesian water movement for the valley, and the result was most satisfactory. There is now sufficient money in the treasury to incorporate and the company will soon be in working order.

The intention is to push the matter as rapidly as possible until a good flow of water is developed, then Estancia will be on the same footing as regards water supply as Roswell. Times are good in the metropolis of the Estancia Valley, notwithstanding the fact that the stockmen are busy on the ranches and seldom come to town except to get supplies. Several new buildings are being completed, among the number the business house of Felix Gurule on Williams Avenue, a new market building, erected by Trinidad Romero, Jr., on Fifth Street, a four-roomed cottage now being erected by C. F. Easley of Santa Fe.

All arrangements have been perfected for a rousing celebration here July fourth, and a barbecue will be one of the main features. All New Mexico is invited, and an excursion train will be run from Santa Fe to accommodate the big crowd from that city.

Most of the sheep growers of this region have finished shearing and some have commenced dipping. There seems to be a general tendency to hold the wool for better prices than are being offered at present, and a number have decided to store the wool.

The force of workmen at the local shops of the Santa Fe Central has been materially increased during the past two weeks and things are taking on quite a lively appearance in the mechanical department.

A BLOOD RED LAKE.

Peculiarly Manifested by a Sheet of Water in Switzerland.

Lake Morat, in Switzerland, has a queer habit of turning red about two or three times every ten years. It is a pretty lake, like most of the sheets of water in that picturesque country, and its peculiar freak is attributed to a disposition to celebrate the slaughter of the Burgundians under Charles the Bold on June 21, 1476, but the French say that it blushes for the conduct of the Swiss, who in that battle gave the Burgundians no quarter.

This phenomenon, of course, has its legend. The old fishermen of the lake, who catch enormous fish called silures that weigh between twenty-five and forty kilograms, say when they see the waters of the lake reddening that it is the blood of the Burgundians. As a matter of fact, some of the bodies of the Burgundians killed in the battle were thrown into the lake, while others were tossed into a grave filled with quicklime. This historical recollection angered the Burgundian soldiers of the victorious armies of the republic in 1798 so much that they destroyed the monument raised in honor of their compatriots who fell heroically in that battle, and Henri Martin very justly reproached them for that piece of vandalism.

It would hardly do to attribute the reddening of the waters of the lake to the blood of the soldiers of Charles the Bold. The coloring is due simply to the presence in large quantities of little aquatic plants called by naturalists Oscillatoria rubescens. The curious thing about it is that Lake Morat is the only lake in which this curious growth is developed.

THE TURKISH KAIK.

It More Closely Resembles the Gondola Than Any Other Craft.

Crawford, the author, to whose skillful pen Constantinople is indebted for one of the most charming volumes ever issued in its praise, has a word to say about the Turkish boatmen and their vehicle, the kaik.

"Constantinople owes much," writes he, "to the matchless beauty of the three waters which run together beneath its walls, and much of their reputation again has become worldwide by the kaik. It is disputed and disputable whether the Turks copied the Venetian gondola or whether the Venetians imitated the Turkish kaik, but the resemblance between them is so strong as to make it certain that they have a common origin. Take from the gondola the 'felze,' or hood, and the rostrated stem and the remainder is practically the kaik. It is the most easy to handle and the most comfortable, and the Turks generally are admitted to be the best oarsmen in Europe.

"Indeed, they have need to be, for both the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn are crowded with craft of every kind and made dangerous by the swift ebb of currents. The distances, too, are very great and such as no ordinary oarsman would undertake for pleasure or for the sake of exercise. It is no joke to pull fifteen or sixteen miles against a stream which in some places runs four or five knots an hour."

CAUGHT WITH A HOOK.

A fine mess of speckled beauties were received at the Bon Ton from an old time friend who sent them to the manager that they may be served to the patrons of this popular place. Call and get them now while they are fresh. They have a cook that knows how to fix them, and if you want a real treat in the eating line, why just give them a call, and you will be twice as glad.

WORK FOR SYLVIA

By Joanna Single

Copyright, 1906, by E. C. Parcells

Sylvia Maine stretched out a gaunt arm and slammed down the window of her little dressing shop.

"Looks like spring wanted to get in here, too," she remarked precariously through the mouthful of pins which she was deftly transferring to the folds of the gleaming white satin gown draped on the lovely girl who stood patiently before her. She continued:

"The laycock buds is all bustin' out, and the wind smells good enough to eat, but I can't have it blowin' your hair into my eyes and settin' these folds skewin'. You'd have a conception of it if your weddin' dress didn't set good, and so would I. It would disgrace me. I've made every weddin' dress in this village for fifteen years, all except Mandy Butler's, which was city made, though I don't just say that had anything to do with her bein' divorced in a year's time." Nelly laughed as she replied:

"I'm not sure that I'd know it if it didn't fit, Sylvie. Is it silly to be so happy? Here Harry and I've been engaged only a year, and our folks all like it, and now his grandfather leaves him all that money, and everything's perfect." She blushed with shy pleasure to the roots of her beautiful blond hair. The withered little spider dressmaker sighed. Her only love had in anger married another woman and had been unhappy till his early death.

"It's silly not to be as happy as the Lord will let you be, Nelly. I don't let myself get too old to forget that. You and Harry be as happy as you can and be good. There—ain't that sleeve sweet? I got to get this dress of yours done this week so's I can get it at Annie Paine's. Her weddin' is in June too. It's the Lord's own month for weddin's, and there had ought to be another besides yours and Annie's in this village." Nelly's resplendent image in the glass made her ask absently:

"What other wedding do you mean?"

"John King's and Alice White's."

Nelly considered the fit of her little girl before she said carelessly:

"Why, they've been engaged forever. Everybody's used to it. I guess they are themselves, or they'd do something about it. I know Harry would not wait that way for me—he cares too much."

Nelly at twenty saw no romance in a ten years' engagement, but Sylvia knew that no woman gets used to being always engaged and never married. She took the last pin from her mouth and explained:

"It's his mother and her father that stand in the way. They are selfish old coots to stand in the way of the children's happiness. Even if Alice's father had any one to look after him I doubt whether Alice, who is the sweetest thing that ever lived, could get along with John's mother. She's a heady old piece if she is smart and handsome, and she likes her own way too well to want a daughter-in-law to have first place in the house John has earned and built with his own hands. His father was no earthly account, and folks do say Mr. King married him for was to spite Cornelia Jones, who was dead in love with him and was never married on that account, they say."

Sylvia took the soft satin carefully off over the girl's pink shoulders. Nelly's sympathy was aroused. As she dressed she made a laughing proposal.

"Well, something ought to be done, and it's work for you, Sylvie. You're always setting things straight for people. Why don't the old folks get themselves out of the way? Why, they might get married—they might marry each other! You attend to it—you've done harder things—and I'll help you out."

As the girl stepped out into the sunshine Sylvia sank into a chair.

"She beats time!" she muttered. "But it ain't a bad idea. It ain't a half bad idea, and I wonder at myself for not thinkin' of it."

Meantime Nelly sauntered toward the King cottage, where John's mother was at work among the flower beds. The widow was a tall, slim old lady, as neat as wax and still handsome in a warlike sort of way, with very black, snappy eyes, white teeth and thick gray hair. Nelly stopped and leaned over the fence.

"Good morning, Mrs. King." The old lady came along, with her trowel, to smile at the pretty girl. She was extremely fond of any girl who was engaged or not likely to want her son John. Nelly chatted away.

"I've been for the last fitting of my wedding dress. Sylvie's a genius! She's perfectly lovely! When is—John going to be married, Mrs. King?" she inquired innocently. The old lady stiffened, but Nelly continued: "I'm so happy that I want everybody to be! Sylvie says that Cornelia Jones is setting her cap at Alice's father, and I hope she gets him, so Alice can come here with you and John. She would take the work off your hands, and she's so sweet! But I'll be rather shy for Mr. White. Cornelia is such a desperate old maid and no cook or housekeeper at all, and he's so good looking and well off that he deserves a better woman to take care of things. Well, men are queer, and she certainly must have been awfully pretty once."

Mrs. King snorted.

"She was never a mite pretty, to my mind. She set her cap at John's father when we were girls, but she didn't get him. Oh, must you go?"

Nelly said goodbye and went her way, seemingly unconscious of the storm of wrath she awakened in the widow's bosom. John's mother knew he would marry some day in spite of her, and she dreaded the day.

Toward evening Sylvia went to see Alice White, though she knew perfectly well that the girl would be at choir practice. She lingered a moment on the porch, where Alice's father sat smoking. He was a straight, blue-eyed old man. Sylvia sat down on the steps to rest.

"It been awful busy," she remarked. "Folks will get married, and that means weddin' dresses. I'm just fix-

"Why, you won't believe it, but that half blind, hobbling old Judson is making up to the Widow King, they say. She's handsome and young lookin' and well beeled, the best cook in town and excellent about John's marryin'. Alice, and I kind of hate to see her throw herself away. But Judson's a sly old coot. Anyhow, I hope she marries and leaves John free. He and Alice have waited long enough—it ain't right! Well, I got to be goin'." You tell Alice I was here." She walked off, leaving the old man with a new fear—and with a new idea in his head. That Judson! He and Judson had always conflicted. He grunted and lit his pipe.

Spring passed into early summer and in June Nelly and Harry and Annie and Richard were married. Alice, sweet and grave and dark eyed, sang at the weddings. Her rich soprano was indispensable. John watched her in love and despair and began to wonder if, after all, prudence and caution were not sometimes vices as well as virtues. Would he never be free to take Alice to his own home? Would she never leave her father to come to him? He went to see her much oftener than had been his habit, and strange to say, of evenings her father disappeared, no one asked where, and left them to themselves. John and Alice were again almost the boy and girl lovers of ten years ago. They took twilight walks and long drives unnoted and unquestioned and were very happy.

With surprise John began to realize that his mother no longer nagged him about his engagement nor had fits of weeping, during which she declared that he was going to make her a stranger and a dependent in her own house. Then one evening he took courage and masterfully laid before Alice a plan to brave everybody. Finally she yielded, though she dreaded the explanation that would have to follow.

One soft September evening John, with a license in his pocket, drove to her door and told her father he was going to take her for a drive to Lynville, ten miles away, and that they would not be back till evening. The old man was used to their driving and said nothing. In fact, he seemed almost anxious to have Alice go.

Late in the evening they returned man and wife. John tied the horse and went in to have it out with Alice's father. But the old man, strangely enough, was not to be found. They waited awhile, and then John left her to go tell his mother.

When he had gone Alice sat, silent, in the big chair on the porch, happy in spite of the probable trouble John's mother would make, happy in the face of her father's certain anger. At any rate, nothing on earth could make her anything but John's wife. So she waited for John and wondered where her father could possibly be. In half an hour she heard John's quick, eager footsteps. He swung in at the gate and almost ran to take her in his arms. He kissed her, and he laughed—actually laughed—like a boy. Then he explained:

"He's at my house—your father. It seems they took advantage of our absence to marry each other, Alice. How's that for sly? They braved me to my face, but they were so afraid that we would be angry that they were positively relieved when I told them what we'd done. They are coming over here tomorrow, dearest, and then our home will be our own."

Then John, being a man, could not just see why Alice could declare that she was perfectly happy and still should weep on his shoulder. But Sylvia was a woman—she would have known the reason.

The World's Water Supply.

A German scientist predicts that the time will come when there will not be water enough remaining on this globe to support human life. We are left to suppose that our shrinking sphere will form caverns in its interior into which the oceans will sink. For a similar reason, as some astronomers believe, there is no man in the moon, the former waters on its surface, if there ever were any, having retired into its cavernous interior. We have no evidence at present of subterranean hollows of any extent, and the earth's crust is continually adjusting itself by earthquakes.

Stationary Fads.

Most noticeable of all the stationary fads is the sewing fad that is used by every one now. It does not look like the kinds most of us are familiar with, because it is made in the delicate pastel shades to match the new tinted papers, and women will search all the shops in the city to get a wax that corresponds with the tone of the paper. Occasionally, when this is impossible, they select a shade that will make a sharp contrast and yet be of the same color.

Elbow Sleeves.

Elbow sleeves are upon nine-tenths of the dressy blouses, but they usually come below the elbow, ending in a close fitting band or little frills, and if they end above the point of the elbow deeper frills cover the elbow. The blouse even at its best is only informal or demitotelet, and sleeves for such wear should cover the elbow point.

For All Round Wear.

The model illustrated is exceedingly simple and shown as a wrap for ordinary carriage wear, a garment to take the place of the old time "duster" that our grandmothers donned to cover and protect their best gowns. Just a little touch of ornamentation in the shape of oriental embroidery makes this garment quite as suitable for piazza or garden party use as for more simple wear.

If a becoming style is selected in a mode not too extreme, but with a touch of originality in its lines or makeup, a coat of this sort will not look passé if worn for several seasons and may be sent to the cleaner or dyer and come out like new each time, while garnitures can easily be replaced.

Lightweight cloths of plain surface or with serge finish are quite as suitable as the rough silks, but hardly as stylish or as durable.

Lowell's Motto.

In a eulogy which appeared in the Century Magazine just after Lowell's death are these words: "This is Lowell's legacy as a patriot, not the sentiment, 'My country, right or wrong,' but 'My country—it shall never be wrong if I can help it.'"

No Disguise.

Husband (admiringly)—There's no use trying to disguise the fact that you are smarter than I am, my dear. Wife (complacently)—The fact, my love, has never been in disguise among those who know us.

Diaries.

If the people who keep diaries are wise they never put into them the things that would make them most interesting to other people in the years to come.—Boston Globe.

No man likes to be surpassed by men of his own level.—Livy.

arate states after the next census and before the national election of 1912. That long, Arizona is very willing to wait, if it can thus avoid jointure with New Mexico.

This opposition to jointure on the part of Arizona, Governor Murphy does not ascribe to ill feeling against this Territory, but to fundamental objections, which go to the very roots of the principles of self government.

Great Arizona Power.

It goes without saying that Governor Murphy is a power in Arizona, that he numbers his friends by the hundreds, not only in the neighboring Territory, but also in New Mexico and at Washington, D. C. That he will make a spirited campaign against joint statehood in his own particular balliwick goes without saying, and that his fight will have a decided influence upon the result is very natural. He is one of the men who must be reckoned with seriously when it comes to predicting that Arizona will by November 6th come over to the joint statehood side.

At Albuquerque.

Says the Albuquerque Citizen: "Ex-Governor N. O. Murphy of Phoenix, Arizona, who arrived in the city yesterday afternoon on private business, stated before leaving last night for Las Vegas that he was of the firm conviction that Arizona would vote down joint statehood by an overwhelming majority."

"There is no question whatever as to how Arizona will vote, and if the people of New Mexico entertain any doubt on the subject, all they have to do is to send a committee of their best citizens in whom they have entire confidence to their sister Territory to find out and report the true situation," said Mr. Murphy.

"Former Governor Murphy conceded that Apache County might give a majority for statehood, but added that this was the only county in the Territory that could by any possibility be induced to cast a majority vote for joint statehood."

"Speaking of the growth and development of Arizona, Mr. Murphy stated that mining and all industries were improving steadily, especially in the Prescott District, and that he predicted a brilliant future for that portion of the Territory."

At Las Vegas.

According to the Las Vegas daily Optic: "Ex-Governor N. O. Murphy of Arizona, who passed through Las Vegas today, homeward bound to Prescott, was interviewed by a representative of the Optic concerning the statehood question. In response to the inquiry of the Optic man, Governor Murphy said:

"I am informed that you in New Mexico are going to vote for joint statehood. Well, we are going to vote it down ten to one out in Arizona. Therefore the vote of New Mexico will be wasted unless you have some good reason I don't know anything about. However, that's your business. I feel this way about it. It is out of place for me to give advice or offer suggestions to the people of New Mexico. We felt that way about it when Rodey and Childers came out to Arizona a few months ago to tell us what we ought to do."

Should Be Friends.

"I would not say any unkind word about New Mexico or anything to reflect upon the people of this Territory. The two Territories are neighbors and should be friends. Personally I believe that if jointure is defeated, separate statehood will come within a few years. Certainly not later than the next census, which is four years hence. While I do not expect my judgment to be taken into consideration in New Mexico, it seems to me that after such a valiant fight for separate statehood as the people of your Territory have made, they could well afford to wait a few years longer and get the full benefits to which they are justly entitled. But, as I said in the first place, under no circumstances would I assume to offer advice."

"From all the information I can get, both Territories are exceedingly prosperous and will grow with increasing rapidity in the future, and each Territory is entitled to a star in the flag."

GOOD EXAMPLE OF MODERN METHODS

were written by the firm and crews of men put to work on contracts to clear wreckage. The labor problem was a serious one. As long as men received three meals a day free it was difficult to get them to do the hard and dirty work of clearing away the piles of debris, even at good wages, but with the aid of the city authorities, this problem was partially solved. When it was found that it took too long to clean bricks in the salvage from mortar, Mr. Hopkins designed and ordered a machine built for that purpose. Similarly, when it was recognized that to cut by hand the tangled and fused steel and iron framework that had been bent and twisted by the fire, pneumatic chisels and machines were put to work. The railroads built their tracks right up the asphalt streets to the trestles and bunks being erected by Reed & Company for the loading of the salvage on cars. The price of teams is going up; it is $6 today for a mule team, by next week it may be $10 a day, and Reed & Company have therefore bought 150 Missouri mules, none weighing less than 1,100 pounds. It is but an example of how American grit and business methods, backed by ample capital will overcome difficulties and as a consequence San Francisco will arise more beautiful and more prosperous than ever before. It also shows that the business opportunities of Santa Fe, of Taos and of the natural wealth of their surroundings will not lie undeveloped many years longer, and that the day of growth and prosperity is at the door, even if those accustomed to the old ways do not recognize it at this moment.

COURT NEWS.

Suit to quiet title has been brought in the district court for Rio Arriba County by Maria de la Luz Romero against J. R. Martinez, et al. Plaintiff alleges that by inheritance from her parents, Manuel Romero and Nestora M. de Romero, she is entitled to one-fourth undivided interest in a certain tract of land consisting of fifty varas and situated in Precinct No. 17, Rio Arriba County, just west of the town of Las Notritas; another tract of fifty varas bounded on the south by the lands of Juan Manuel Velasquez, and from there a straight line to the lands of Encenada, on the north by the road to Parkview, on the east by the lands of John Manuel Velasquez and on the west by the lands of Gabriel Velasquez; another tract of land 100 varas wide, bounded on the north by the divide of Los Valles, on the south by the hogback of Las Notritas, on the east by the lands of Juan Martinez, and on the west by the lands of Juan de Luna; and another tract of land situated east of the town of Las Notritas. The plaintiff asks that her right and title to these lands be ascertained and established; that all adverse claims be set aside and that her title be forever quieted.

Judge John R. McFie has issued a final decree in the case of B. F. Adams, trustee for Mary Finch, beneficiary, vs. Joseph Rutledge et ux., brought in the district court for Santa Fe County. This suit was brought to recover on a promissory note and judgment of $161.37 was found for the plaintiff. The judge further decreed that the plaintiff had first lien upon a tract of land, situated in Santa Fe County, and described as follows: Northwest one quarter of section 22, township 16 north, range 11 east, which land is to be sold within 90 days to satisfy the amount of the judgment.

THE JAW AND THE TEETH.

What May Happen If We Continue Using Soft Foods.

The teeth are really appendages of the skin, and not of the skeleton, as people generally believe. The jaw is formed in accordance with the necessity for providing a hold for the teeth—that is, if there were no teeth to come, the jaw would grow differently, and would not have its present shape. The jaw is not an independent part, as it would like to be; it has to form itself to accommodate tenants with which, strictly speaking, it has no ties of kindred.

The use of soft foods decreases the size of the teeth, and they will ultimately disappear, unless we make more use of them.

As there does not seem to be any likelihood of a change in our habits, we must expect to lose them in course of time. Then the jaw will assume probably another shape. Further, the gums might disappear, for there can be no use for them after the disappearance of the teeth.

The loss of the teeth makes the lips fall in, and brings us near to the Punch form of face! We find it impossible to pronounce sounds, such as t, d, sh, ch. The change of face, so to say, will certainly lead to a modification of the tongue, and this in turn to the inability to pronounce other sounds.

Atonic Dyspepsia.

The ultimate cause of atonic dyspepsia is constitutional depression. It may be due to overwork, and especially to prolonged worry. Sometimes the dyspepsia is the first manifestation of tubercular poisoning. Again, there seems to be an inherent failure of the digestive organs. Once established, dyspepsia is, in turn, the cause of loss of strength, of mental inertia and visceral weakness. Some degree of simple anaemia is almost inevitable. The exciting cause may be an illness of any kind, the excessive use of tea, coffee or other beverages, the lack of proper food, some error in habits of eating. Often it is not discoverable.

Consolatory.

A correspondent of an English paper tells how some one visited a wild beast show and saw a countryman come in bearing unmistakable signs of having had a glass too much. A tiger scratched the back of the hand with which the man grasped a bar of the cage. The laceration was severe, and the pain was great. The sufferer danced about and twirled his shillalah, crying: "Let him out! Let him out till I have me will av him!" A companion tried to soothe the irate dancer, with this neat impromptu: "Never mind, Pat. Sure, he only wanted to scrape acquaintance wid ye."
