H. O. BURSUM, Chairman.
CHARLES V. SAFFORD, Secretary.

A STRONG MAN AND HONEST.

About seven years ago, Hon. H. O. Bursum, now mayor of the City of Socorro, upon the earnest solicitation of Governor Miguel A. Otero, assumed management of the territorial penitentiary, at what both knew, was a great personal sacrifice to Mr. Bursum. The task that confronted the new superintendent was not a light one; it had not only staggered but also put to rout some very able predecessors, for the Territory was poor, its finances were in bad shape, it could not afford to spend much for the maintenance of a penal institution which was called upon to house, clothe, feed and discipline an ever-increasing number of inmates, which had to meet and solve new problems almost daily and which was bound by an immense amount of red tape embodied in the Compiled Laws, "a self-contradictory jumble of nonsense," as several eminent members of the bar called it at a recent meeting of the New Mexico Bar Association, and a compilation which has been disregarded systematically by governors making new appointments to tax collectors rebating taxes out of their commissions, failing to collect penalties or compromising delinquent taxes, or mayors holding dual municipal positions. The affairs of the penitentiary when Mr. Bursum assumed charge, were in a moribund condition; there were no appreciable convicts' earnings; the convicts were huddled together in unsanitary cells; the discipline was lax and conditions all around showed that unless a master hand took hold, out from red tape and introduced reforms by main force, that there would be a disgraceful collapse of the penal system of the Territory and another incident that would prove to the outside world that New Mexico was not fit to govern itself.

What a magnificent change has been brought about in the institution during these seven years! According to the report of an expert just made public in an Albuquerque Sunday paper, the convicts' earnings have increased from $3,245.93 in the fifth fiscal year to $32,448.87 in the 57th fiscal year, an increase of one thousand per cent. Nor does this expert mention the hundred thousand and more bricks and labor the latter furnished free or at cost to territorial institutions such as the Blind Asylum, the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, the Capitol, a material saving to the Territory, in some cases amounting to fifty per cent of the cost of construction. Nor does he mention, except to condemn, the furnishing at cost or at reduction of brick to the Santa Fe Central High School and for other improvements in Santa Fe, including 17,000 brick for crossings, to the Young Men's Christian Association at Las Vegas, to the Sisters of Loretto and other charitable and semi-public institutions. At the same time, this report shows that last year, the cost of maintaining the penitentiary was only 90 cents per day per prisoner, this including the cost of constructing the scenic highway, of permanent improvements, of management and of all incidental expenses. Is there any other penal institution in the United States that can make as good a showing? Quoting from the same report, the earnings of convicts last year were over $130 per convict, this including the sick, the disabled, the weak, the obsequious and the women. Again, where is there another penal institution making so good a showing in this respect?

Nor is the financial betterment of the penitentiary the greatest reform and accomplishment of Mr. Bursum's management. When he assumed charge, the prisoners were spending their time in degrading idleness to a large extent. He set them to work. He installed modern brick making machinery, he purchased additional ground so that the prisoners might be employed in raising vegetables and supplies for their own use, being profitably employed in healthful occupation at the same time. Best of all, he devised and perfected methods of employing prisoners on public buildings and in road making. This alone would have been a task of a life time, great enough to give fame to the average man, but Mr. Bursum is not an average man. Well do readers of the New Mexican remember how single-handed he quelled a formidable mutiny after the mutineers had disabled or put to flight every one else, had practical possession of the penitentiary; how he rushed from his bed room, partly clothed, and with unerring aim stretched two of the mutineers cold upon the ground and overpowered the others. But that was a mere incident in his career and he modestly disclaims any special credit for his heroism. The discipline he introduced was a combination of rigid firmness and humane consideration, and that it worked well is the testimony of every prison expert who has visited the penitentiary in the past seven years. It would take more space than is at the command of the New Mexican to give a detailed account of what Mr. Bursum has wrought for New Mexico's penal institution, but the above is sufficient to indicate what manner of man he is and how successful has been his management of the penitentiary. Over two years ago, Mr. Bursum desired to be relieved of his duties but the self-evident success of his management, the fertility of looking for another man big enough to succeed him and to work for the small salary which fell to his lot, resulted in the retention of Mr. Bursum against all will to rear further the fine structure for which he had not only laid the foundation but which he had nearly completed to the roof, and to complete the preliminary work which under good management will make the penitentiary self-sustaining in the near future. Certainly, Mr. Bursum deserves well of the Territory and its people. When he retired several months ago, he asked for a strict accounting, he offered to employ an expert to strike the balances and gave his word that every penny found to be short, even though only apparently, would be made good by him. It is unnecessary to say that Mr. Bursum's word goes farther with business men and bankers today than does the oath of the average man backed by a dozen strong endorsements. No one who knows him, ever doubted or ever will doubt, the personal honesty of Hon. H. O. Bursum.

Despite these facts it caused no surprise when it was announced that a rigid examination of the penitentiary management had been inaugurated. This examination was to cover only Mr. Bursum's term of office although it should have gone to the beginning. Mr. Bursum was not asked to be present or to have a representative while the books were gone over, a privilege universally granted the meaneast self-confessed embezzler. No demand was made of Mr. Bursum to make good any shortages nor were his bondsmen approached upon the subject. The penitentiary commissioners, who are primarily responsible for an accounting, were not present and the report instead of being directed against them, was solely and primarily directed against Mr. Bursum. It was intimated to him, though without authority, no doubt, that if he agreed to certain political propositions, the investigation would be dropped. In the meanwhile Mr. Bursum found that in making a final settlement, through no mistake of his, he had been credited with something like $1,700 which should have been credited to his predecessor. He at once made good, although against the advice of his friends who told him that he would thus discredit himself. The answer was characteristic of the man. He said: "When I find myself in the wrong, I lose no time to right the wrong, no matter what the personal consequences. Right must prevail!"

Two weeks ago, the street corners knew not only the nature of the forthcoming report, but discussed its details from the Donovan incident to the open accounts owed by individuals and business firms to the penitentiary. The Daily New Mexican expressed a willingness to publish the report but this was denied it and arrangements were made to publish the report first in an Albuquerque Sunday paper.

As to the report: The New Mexican's space at this time does not permit its discussion in detail, but sifted down it amounts to this: Mr. Bursum, mindful, first last and all the time of the good of the penitentiary, the Territory and the people, met emergencies decisively as they arose and, therefore at times did not adhere rigidly to the red tape of the much condemned Bate-man and similar acts, which eminent legal talent hold unconstitutional anyway; that in seven years of management, subordinates "apparently," and the expert uses the word "apparently" very judiciously, received $84.66 in cash which was not turned into the Territorial treasury. Of course, Mr. Bursum will make good this shortage, if shortage it really is. In addition there are a number of "apparent" errors in bookkeeping, a number of uncollectible accounts such as are contracted even in a small business enterprise and a number of open accounts which have been settled in part since the report was made and will be settled in full in the course of business. It also accuses Mr. Bursum of being too friendly to charitable institutions by furnishing these with bricks at a rebate, to the City of Santa Fe, by furnishing it 17,000 brick for street crossings, and of making good defects or short count in material by giving rebates, since which at least Santa Fe and every good business man will forgive him, for they are in accordance with the "square deal."

How easy it is to deduce conclusions from a formidable array of figures such as in the expert's report published on Sunday and which covers eighteen columns of reading matter!

That the charge of mismanagement can easily be substantiated from apparent shortcomings goes without saying. Contractors, for instance, say that the brick turned out at present by the penitentiary are not fit for building purposes. This can happen even under the best of management but what an opportunity for the knocker! There have been escapes lately, not only of Territorial but also of United States prisoners. These occur even in the best managed penal institutions but what a chance for experts to say that the penitentiary management is grossly negligent if not incompetent! But after all, the true test is the cost per prisoner, the earnings per prisoner, the freedom from self enrichment of the management with public moneys and whether the institution serves the end for which it was established at the least cost to the people and the best results possible to be procured. Of course, there must be a strict accounting for every cent received and expended and for every step taken under the law or without the law, and Hon. H. O. Bursum in the last man to deny this, in fact, he asked for such an accounting and eventually will receive it. In the meanwhile, it does not take a prophet to foretell that Mr. Bursum will continue to tower head and shoulders above his street corner traders who imagine that their time has come to throw mud at a man so much bigger than they that he has provoked their venomous envy. Long after they are in well deserved oblivion Mr. Bursum will be to the fore in public affairs respected alike by foe and friend, a loyal, unselfish worker for New Mexico and its most vital interests.

POSITIVE PROOF.

Because it's the evidence of a Santa Fe citizen.

Testimony easily investigated.

The strongest endorsement of merit The best of proof. Read it:

Mmanuel B. Delgado, county clerk, says: "During the four or five years I was subject to attacks of backache I knew the cause came from some disturbed action of the kidneys but I did not know how to stop it although I tried more than one highly recommended medicine guaranteed to cure such symptoms. An attack was annoying me just before I went to Ireland's Pharmacy for Doan's Kidney Pills. It was perhaps not as aggravated as it was in the past for I had been laid up unable to work for a week at a time. The treatment with Doan's Kidney Pills radically disposed of all symptoms of kidney trouble."

NO REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.

Several eastern newspapers that are evidently not well posted on the political situation in the Mexican Republic, are worrying themselves about a revolution which is to break out in the land of Montezuma and for which the day is set September 10th, next. Harper's Weekly, a very conservative and at times really too conservative weekly paper, in a recent issue contained an article in which it is very fearful of the serious consequences which will come to American business and political interests on account of this revolutionary movement. Here in New Mexico and on the border where people are quite well acquainted with the conditions of the sister Republic, there is no apprehension of the kind feared by Harper's Weekly, as well as by other eastern newspapers, that are now worrying themselves almost to death over the situation. They need not go to pieces, but can well afford to recover from the scare and a sane even tenor of their nays. Porfirio Diaz, the president of the Republic, has been ruler of its destinies for many years and next to Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, is the man longest in service in the position as head of a republic or monarchy alive. He has the firmest possible hold upon the people and upon the administration. Indeed, he has formed the present government. In his old age, he is still strong and virile enough to use the steel-gloved iron hand to put down any uprising by revolutionists who have nothing but the destruction of the country as their aim for their own personal aggrandizement and gain. The Mexican army is better organized than ever in the history of the country; it is also better officered and truer to the government than any before it. Railroads now traverse Mexico in many directions and troops can be moved speedily and rapidly to put down pronouncements in short order and very effectively. The lives of revolutionists are of no more consequence today in Mexico than they were twenty, thirty and forty years ago and in those days when caught with arms against the government there was a speedy drum-head courtmartial and a speedy execution in front of an adobe wall and that was the end in most cases. The 10th of September is not far off and the New Mexican believes that it will pass by, either very quietly or with slight disturbance, if any. The more railroads, the more prosperity, the more education in Mexico the smaller the chances for successful rebellions. The people of that country enjoy one of the most liberal and progressive administrations of any Latin-American country. The influx of capital is great. Manufacturing has attained splendid proportions within recent years; peace and harmony never known before the Diaz administration exist and there seems to be every good reason to believe that this condition of affairs will continue for time to come. The Mexican nation is advancing at rapid strides and indeed its progress is astonishing to Americans who have studied the history of the country and of its people. It would be a sorry day indeed for the people of the south; republic were rebels to get the upper hand and overturn the present progressive, public spirited and firm government of President Porfirio Diaz.

HUMOR

HE DIDN'T BUY.

Experience of a Man in Search of a Present For His Girl.

"A fellow never realizes what a woman's articles of wear cost until he is engaged to be married," observed a young business man. "This fact was impressed on me with particular emphasis. I happened to meet on lower Broadway a college chum, now in business and in moderate circumstances, who has just become engaged to a nice girl, also without an independent fortune."

"Come in here with me, Jack," he said, stopping in front of a well known shop. "Tomorrow is Minnie's birthday, and I want to get her a remembrance."

"What is it going to be? I asked as we made our way in."

"Well," he replied, "I've sent her so much candy and flowers and stuff of that sort that I think I'll vary it with something useful this time. I've been thinking of some nice handkerchiefs."

"I agreed that handkerchiefs were always a satisfactory possession, and we wended our way to the proper counter."

"I want to look at women's handkerchiefs—something rather nice, suitable for a gift," said Jim, my companion.

"The saleswoman produced a box of filmy affairs about the size of the palm of your hand, with a narrow border of lace and some kind of fancy business in each corner."

"Those are neat and simple looking," said Jim approvingly. "How much are they?"

"When the answer came, 'Twelve dollars,' Jim thought, and so did I, that the price named was for the entire box."

"Very well, I'll take a dozen," he answered, with a care free tone which made the saleswoman look at us a little curiously.

"Excuse me, but how many did you say?" she asked.

"One dozen. There are a dozen in the box, are there not?"

"Yes, sir," returned the young woman, with an impressed air. "One hundred and forty four dollars, please," she said, making out the slip.

"It was our turn to stare."

"I—I don't understand you," said Jim, gasping. "I thought you were quoting the price by the dozen."

"You'll hardly get linen and real Valenciennes with those hand worked corners for a dollar apiece," snuffed the saleswoman superciliously.

"I don't know hand work from fish net myself," retorted Jim crossly. "But I do know I'm not going to pay $12 for a lot of rag three inches square. Come away, Jack; I'll get some kind of a hange at the jeweler's."

"When we had escaped from the withering glance of the damsel behind the counter Jim mopped the perspiration from his brow."

"And then they say modern young men are too selfish to marry," he groaned.—New York Press.

LONG-LIVED

NEW MEXICO HAPPENINGS

Colfax County.

During the past week a number of cars of horses have stopped in Raton for feed and rest. A great many horses are going east from New Mexico, and Oklahoma and Indian Territory are furnishing a market for many range horses and they are ready sellers among the farmers and cattlemen. T. J. Reese was in Raton with a car of range horses, which he is shipping from Deming to Tulsa, Indian Territory, where he will place them on the market. J. W. Bishop also had a car of horses and range ponies purchased at Deming which he will market in the same locality in the Indian Territory. O. F. Laskey was in Raton with three cars of American horses and Indian ponies mixed which he is taking from Gallup to Alva, Oklahoma, for market. C. F. Hunt, formerly of Raton and a brother of James Hunt, of that city, was in Raton Monday with a car load of fine drivers and saddlers which he is taking to the City of Mexico for market.

Allen Hallas and wife returned to Raton Wednesday from a four months' visit to their former home in old England. It was their first visit since they left there over a quarter of a century ago and of course they enjoyed visiting scenes of their youth. They were accompanied home by L. Edmunds, who intends to settle at Raton and in due time become a citizen of the United States.

W. W. Givens, of the firm of Givens & Jackson, butchers of Raton, has purchased the ranch property of Richard McMichael, adjoining that city, on the northeast. The ranch comprises a little less than 54 acres and if the town continues its growth, it will be very valuable as a townsite. Mr. Givens and his father, J. R. Givens, intend taking up their residence on the ranch very soon. The consideration of the sale has not been made public.

Otero County.

On the third level of the Lucky mine, near Orogrande, a big vein was cut last week, in a drift ninety feet long. At the point where it was broken into, the vein is solid sulphide and the same is very heavy. It is said that this strike is the most important in the hustling little camp, since active operations began there not a year ago.

Pipe for the Orogrande water system is arriving and work will begin at once laying the mains and making connections. B. C. Thayer, of Orogrande, has the contract. Fire plugs are to be installed and a fire department of volunteers will be organized.

Last Friday afternoon, excursionists to Orogrande witnessed a riding and bronco busting contest which was anything but a fake. One Jim Kennedy, by name, a stranger in the camp, carried off the honors after the cowboys had given up trying to ride an eight year old outlaw horse. Kennedy rode the animal until the latter hadn't a fight left in him, and departed $50 ahead of the game, that sum being awarded him by the judges for first prize.

A shunting engine did some tall stunts leaving Brice last Thursday. A slight rain had made the rails wet, and the engine started down the grade at a clip, that made her slip and slide and dance around the curves at a so alarming a rate that mother earth looked good to the fireman, who made the flying leap for life. The engineer soon got the engine under control, and picked up his mate.

The offices of the New Mexico Land and Developing Company, have been moved from St. Joseph to Orogrande. All the books and furniture of the company have been installed in the office there, and the place presents a scene of the greatest activity. Last week, the annual meeting of the company was held, at which practically all of the outstanding stock was represented, and all votes cast were unanimous in favor of the plans for pushing and developing the company for the ensuing year.

The Colorado Fuel and Iron Company has contracted for 300 tons of iron ore daily, to be shipped from Orogrande mines.

Last Tuesday night the stockholders of the new Smelter and Merchants bank at Orogrande, met, and elected directors for the first year, as follows: R. G. Milled, F. R. Scheel, W. Divan, J. G. Hohl and M. A. Gleason. The stockholders instructed Mr. F. R. Scheel, the president, to purchase a fireproof vault, burglar proof safe, and safety deposit boxes, together with banking fixtures, and to commence at once the construction of a cement block, fireproof building. The building is to have cement floors and metal ceiling. It is expected that the financial institution will throw open its doors, for business, October 1.

Lion Had the Toothache.

"King Edward," the famous lion with the Sells-Floto shows, has quite a history. He is a real African lion, and one of the few lions on exhibition that was actually born in the jungle, and instead of being secured while a cub was captured when almost full grown after a desperate battle with native hunters. There is something of the lordly freedom of the wild beasts in King Edward's walk and manner, while his great size and beauty of his head and mane make him particularly interesting to the students and artists, and he has had enough photographs taken of him by sight-seers to paper the biggest house in town.

"Would he hurt anybody?" inquired an amateur zoological student, with one foot in the air ready to run. "Oh, I don't know. That depends. Maybe it wouldn't be a good thing for a stranger to go into his cage. He would likely resent that as an intrusion on his privacy," replied the keeper. "But he would never make any row if I was to go to sleep in his den. The only time I ever had any trouble with Edward was last season on the road. One day I noticed he had suddenly developed a cranky disposition. He even resented my going into his cage, so I was at a loss what to do, so I called the doctor with the show.

"Why he has a slight toothache," said the doctor after examining him. "You would naturally think the King would object to anybody fooling around his jaws, but he seemed to know the doctor was there to help him, so after the medicine man cleaned out the cavity in one big tooth and sprayed a little antiseptic solution into it and plugged up the hole with a fist full of amalgam, he never whimpered and kept his mouth wide open without the slightest urging. The next day he was all right, and has never had an ache since, so far as I have been able to discover," as will be seen at the Sells-Floto shows when the menagerie is on exhibition, all the animals are kept in prime condition. The date set for Santa Fe is September 13.

Captain of Liner (good naturedly) Waiting for the moon to come up, eh? Sufferer—Oh, dear me! Has that got to come up too?—Tattler.

Another Matter.

At the end of a day's journey a traveler in the far west stopped for the night at a small farm. As he sat on the doorstep with his host a troop of children began playing about them. "These children all yours?" inquired the traveler.

"Yes."
"How many?"
"Let's see," and the farmer hesitatingly began counting them up on his fingers.

Just then a flock of sheep came into view.
"Tours?" asked the traveler.
"Yes."
"How many?"
"Five hundred and sixty-three," was the instant response.—Cassell's Journal.

Evidence Against It.
"The Society Record printed some very flattering notes about me yesterday," began Miss Vane.

"Yes," replied Miss Celcius, "but wasn't it hateful of the editor to go and spoil it all the way he did?"
"Spoil it! Why, he said I was a beautiful belle of the younger set, and—"

"Yes, and then he put your picture right under it!"—Catholic Standard and Times.

A Partisan Shot.
"I hear," said Mrs. Gaddie, "that your husband's got a job as superintendent of a cemetery and you're going there to live."

"Well, I was thinking it would be an awful ghostly and creepy sort of neighborhood."
"Perhaps, but the neighborhood wouldn't be trying into our business."—Philadelphia Press.

THE BEAUTIFUL ESPANOLA VALLEY

Finest Possible Conditions for Fruit Raising—Abundance of Water.

The Espanola Valley of the Rio Grande beginning twenty miles north of Santa Fe and extending north twenty-five miles to Embudo is perhaps the greatest irrigated valley in New Mexico. No other valley has a better climate, soil, variety of products or more abundant supply of water for irrigation. The soil in this valley is free from alkali, cold, stormy winters or excessively hot summers; it is shut in by high mountains and as a fruit district the conditions are almost perfect. Thousands of acres lie uncultivated and eighty per cent of the waters of the great Rio Grande roll by unused. Home seekers are settling here rapidly and more are welcomed to help make this beautiful valley the best in the Rockies.

For further particulars in general prices of bearing orchards, improved and unimproved lands, etc., address Roscoe C. Bonney, real estate and immigration agent, Espanola, New Mexico.

Twenty Minutes Time Enough?

To Cure the Worst Headache From Any Cause—New Reduction Method.

Most headaches and pains yield instantly to the new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure. The cause for these pains is congestion—a rushing of blood to the nerve centers—which distends the veins to nearly bursting point. Swollen and enlarged, these veins and capillaries exert an irritating pressure on the myriads of nerve branches and fibers. Then there's a pain, and finally that excruciating, ceaseless ache. This new Reduction Method—Dr. Shoop's—disperses the blood, distributes the overflow, and directs it to the proper channels. It relieves the pressure and the irritation—the pains and aches disappear because their cause has been removed. You may try it without any danger, and find relief and cure. But the remedy is prompt relief and cure. It will be successful because it reduces the congestion—it must embody the Reduction Method. Dr. Shoop's Twenty Minute Headache Cure is a prompt, perfectly suited to all forms of Headache and absolutely positive in every instance. For sale and recommended by

The publication of the report of the Colorado Springs expert, who has been here over two months investigating the accounts and books of the territorial penitentiary, by an Albuquerque paper has not caused anything except lively talk here. Pretty much everybody who was at all on the situation knew the tenor of the report two or three weeks ago and its forthcoming contents had been freely talked over in the saloons, on the street corners, in stores and in political and business places generally. In official circles there was considerable talk and much head shaking, in business circles and with citizens generally the affair is considered as too one-sided to be given serious attention. No one man out of twenty who received a copy of the Albuquerque Fakir Journal took the trouble to look at it. "Figures can be made to show anything," said one business man this morning to a representative of the New Mexican: "I have neither the time nor the inclination to read the stuff and I don't believe it any way." This is about the sentiment as expressed by nine out of ten people whom one meets. The personal enemies of Mr. Bursum, and they are probably two or three dozen, are greatly overjoyed and are making all they can out of the affair. Outside of this the town is very quiet, this being Labor Day.

SELECTIONS
CHINA'S AWAKENING.
Wonderful improvements in Peking in the Past Two Years.
A competent authority on things Chinese states that during the last two years China has made more real advancement than in the previous millennium. That his judgment is sound is apparent to those who enjoy the vantage point of a residence in Peking. It has long been predicted that changes would be surprising in their speed, but the most sanguine had not hoped for what is taking place.
In passing through Peking the streets seem to be the most striking phenomenon. Three years ago there seemed little hope that the black mud and the disgusting sights and stenches would ever give place to anything better. The board that had been appointed to repair the streets was considered to have an August task and was the butt of many facetious remarks. Now the broad thoroughfares are fast being converted into handsome avenues. The central portion, a strip of about seven yards in width, is being well macadamized with the aid of steam rollers. This is flanked on each side by shallow drains of brickwork, a row of trees, an unpaved strip of five yards in good repair, then a curbed sidewalk of varying width, cheaply cemented with pounded lime and earth. The building line has been straightened, necessitating the rebuilding of many shops the rehabilitation of which is in keeping with the rest. Long forgotten sewers have been reopened and places of conveniences erected, the use of which is made compulsory. Innumerable unsightly sheds which have occupied half the roadway are being removed, forever, it is hoped, and the squatters have sought other fields in which to ply their trades. The new roadways are guarded by uniformed police in their sentry boxes and kept in order by numerous laborers. Fine telephone poles, strung with countless copper wires, replace the tippy tippy line of the last few years. The telephone is no longer a curiosity, but is fast becoming a necessity to progressive business men. Joseph Franklin Griggs in Century.

The Underground Era.
A subterranean age, when theaters will be built underground and the busy hum of factories will resound from far beneath the sidewalk, was forecast by Engineer John M. Ewen in an address before the Men's club of St. Peter's Episcopal church. Ewen's subject was "Erecting a Chicago Skyscraper." While he pointed out that the erection of buildings fifty stories high is perfectly feasible, he said it is also probable that in future more attention will be paid to digging habitable holes beneath the street level. Ewen declared that the San Francisco earthquake proved the superiority of modern fireproof steel construction over all other methods of building. He advocated the use of wire glass with metal frame and sash in place of plate glass and wooden frame and sash as a measure of fire protection. He outlined a new method of construction. Stated briefly, it contemplates leaving the earth unexcavated until the superstructure is well along, the exact reverse of the other method. Ewen said the advantage of the method lies in the fact that it insures against the sinking of streets and adjoining buildings. San Francisco Chronicle.

Dining Room to an Apple Tree.
An ingenious family of East Aurora, N. Y., certainly deserves honorable mention in a "keep cool" symposium. Close by the house is a wide branching apple tree, and in this, with the aid of simple carpentry, has been constructed a novel dining room. A roomy platform, easily reached by a short flight of steps, has been built among the apple boughs and surrounded by a low railing. When the round dining table is placed on this platform there is ample space for the chairs and their occupants and also for the passing to and fro of the maid. A pulley line is run from the pantry window to one of the apple boughs, and by this means linen, dishes and food are trolleyed back and forth in a huge basket, thus simplifying and hastening the getting and clearing away of meals. Under the leafy canopy with the spicy fragrance of ripening apples every evening meal-time becomes a delight even on the hottest day. Good Housekeeping.

THE AFTER-EFFECTS
Distinguish Schlitz beer from the common.
Other beer may be equal to Schlitz in your liking. But perhaps it is green beer—insufficiently aged; and the after-effect is biliousness.
Or it may be impure, unfiltered, unsterilized; and the after-effect unhealthy. More than half the cost of our brewing is spent to insure purity.
That is how important we deem it.

ECZEMA SKIN RAW AND FEVERISH-ITCHING INTENSE
Eczema is a tormenting, stubborn disease caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing redness, inflammation and almost intolerable itching. An inactive state of the system and sluggish condition of the eliminative members leaves the waste and refuse matter of the body to collect and sour instead of passing them off through nature's channels of bodily waste. The blood in its efforts to purge the system of all foreign matter absorbs this acid and throws it off through the pores and glands of the skin. The acid humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire, the straw colored, sticky fluid drying and forming crusts, and the itching is intense. When these pustules are scratched off the skin is left raw and feverish and often a solid sore is formed and kept up by the constant escape of acids from the blood. Local applications of salves, powders, lotions etc. are desirable and should be used because they allay the itching and give the sufferer temporary comfort, but are in no sense curative, because they cannot reach the seat of the trouble, which is in the blood. S. S. S. goes down into the blood, cleanses the circulation of all acids and humors, builds up the thin, sour blood and by removing every vestige of the cause cures Eczema permanently. The irritating eruptions disappear, the itching and burning cease, and the acid-fried skin, being fed by a fresh, cooling stream of blood, becomes soft and smooth again. S. S. S. is made of healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks that will not damage any part of the system. Book on skin diseases and any medical advice free.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPENED TODAY
Work Will Not Begin Until Tuesday
Owing to Fact That This Is Labor Day.

Vacation days for the school children are over. The Santa Fe public schools were re-opened this morning at 9 o'clock but the pupils were dismissed an hour later on account of its being Labor Day. Today's brief session was held to give the teachers time to assign lessons and text books as well as to enroll the names of the pupils. Prof. J. A. Wood, superintendent of the city schools, was anxious to have all children report in the various ward schools promptly at the opening. Recitations will commence Tuesday.

None of the basement rooms in the new school building will be used this year. The kindergarten and primary rooms are on the first floor. The grammar and high school rooms are on the second floor.
Superintendent Wood has been apprised of the fact that some of the parents are afraid to send their children to the new high school building for fear they might be in danger in case of a fire. The superintendent wishes to dispell any uneasiness on this score. He has a fire drill by means of which all the pupils can be marched down stairs and out of the building with all of their books and wraps in perfect order in less than two minutes from the time the first signal is given. This drill will be ready and put into practice before any fire for heating is needed in the building. Mr. Wood says that no child accustomed to this fire drill has ever been injured in a fire.

Miss Grace Grygle, teacher in the third ward, returned to the city Thursday evening. Other local teachers who have been out of the city spending their summer vacations returned Friday.
A meeting of the teachers was held Saturday afternoon in the superintendent's office at the high school when arrangements were made for the re-opening of the schools today.

An American Widow

By LOURENE RICHARDS

Copyright, 1906, by P. C. Eastment

It was at Lausanne, Lake Geneva, and at one of the small and quiet hotels, that Judge Fordham, U. S. A. was told by the landlady:

"You will be glad to learn that I have a compatriot of yours here. She has been here a week. She is a widow. I believe she comes from Chicago, Canada."

"Sure it isn't Philadelphia, Montana?" asked the judge.

"I will at once find out all particulars, your excellency."

"Never mind just now. I'd like a few hours' rest before meeting the widow, American or otherwise. If you will be so kind, you needn't mention to her that I am here. I came away from my home in Boston, California, to escape a widow, and, you see, I don't want to bump up against another too soon. We Americans always want to walk around awhile before getting acquainted."

"It is so, your excellency, and your wishes shall be respected," said the obsequious host.

"How does the widow happen to be here alone?" inquired the judge without much show of interest.

"Her brother is at Lyons, France. He is a buyer of silks for Americans. He will soon be here."

"Is she good looking and rich?" asked the judge.

"Had I known, your excellency, that Chicago, Canada, had such handsome women I should have gone there for my second wife. As for riches, she has my best rooms and orders what she wants. My bill against her will be very much."

"Think she's on the marry?"

"When I saw you, sir, and knew that you were an American I said to myself:

"He comes from the same country. He looks like a widower. He appears to be rich. Why should not the widower marry the widow and thus make each other happy?"

"Thanks for your interest in the case, old man, but go slow. An American widower and an American widow will always find each other in good time if you leave them alone. Just leave it to us."

They met at the table, but were not introduced. A sharp-eyed person would have noticed that they were sizing each other up. Two days later, as the widow sat on the veranda with a book in her hand, the landlady and the judge approached, and the former indulged in a dozen bows and scrapes as he said:

"I have the utmost felicitation in presenting Judge Fordham to Mrs. Chatham."

The judge found the widow to be a woman not much over thirty. She was bright and keen and self-possessed. She found the judge to be a man of about forty-eight, hale and hearty and inclined to be frank spoken. Of course they became interested at once, and after a few minutes the landlady re-entered the office to say to his wife:

"Today, Marie, I have done a noble thing. The widower will marry the widow, and when they return to America they will probably live in New York, Arizona, and be happy all their days. Did I not tell you when we were married that as a landlady I should be a magnificent success?"

Neither the Widow Chatham nor Judge Fordham had a story to tell. It came out casually in conversation that she was the widow of a Chicago wholesale grocer and had taken the trip abroad at the instance of her brother Tom, who was a silk buyer for a New York house and who would soon be with them. It came out the same way that the judge had retired from the bench in New York and was now taking it easy abroad while his bonds went right on piling up interest. They found themselves agreeing on almost all subjects, especially on the greatness of Chicago and the purity of American politics, and now and then the landlady looked out to smile and turn to his wife with:

"Marie, compliment me on my magnificence. The widower and the widow are becoming more and more interested in each other."

The judge rather took charge of Mrs. Chatham after the first day. They rode out together, they boated together, they climbed the hills together. The subject of love wasn't even hinted at, but there were other persons than the landlady who smiled in a knowing way.

There was just a bit of mystery about the brother. He was to arrive at such a time and such a time, but he didn't arrive. It was all the fault of the silk men, he wrote. They were taking things easy and refused to be hustled. He would be along in good time, however, and in one of his letters he wrote that it would be a pleasure for him to meet the judge. The judge smiled grimly when this extract was read to him. He seemed to doubt it.

After their acquaintance had lasted two weeks and one day just after a telegram had been received by the widow the judge strode into the railroad depot and found her about to take a train—that is, he thought she was. She had no baggage and appeared to avoid observation.

When she saw that she was discovered she made some excuse and left the depot in his company. She was a bit glib for awhile, but soon rallied and was very gay that evening. Two days later a telegram announced that Brother Tommy was ill at home. The widow said that she would run over there for a day or two, and the judge said he would accompany her. He had a curiosity about the silk mills, and this would be a good time to gratify it. The widow suddenly decided that Tommy might get over his illness without any of her help. She had her fair share of sisterly affection, but Tommy was one of those fellows that always played even with a cold in the head.

Two mornings later the judge took his morning walk. It was an hour before breakfast. He walked on to the depot to see the 8:30 train out. He was on time, and he saw Widow Chatham there. She dodged and returned to the hotel instead of taking the train. When they met at last neither one said anything about their walk, but the landlady rubbed her hands and smiled and said to his wife:

Its importance as a great commercial railroad city in the near future cannot be estimated.

"Marie, my magnificence grows. The widower and the widow were out for a sunrise walk this morning. That means love and matrimony. I was the one to introduce them and bring two happy hearts together. Of course it will go into both bills as an extra."

There is a pretty fair mountain at Lausanne. It is high enough to have precipices and rugged enough to put a man out of wind to climb it. When you have followed "Lovers' walk" far enough you strike into "Heart's high-way," and a quarter of a mile farther you debouch upon a platform called "Maiden's rest." The judge and the widow had been up there twice. On the afternoon of the early morning walk they took the path again. When they had reached the plateau and found seats and had a few words to say about the view the widow looked the judge fair in the eyes and said:

"Mr. Fordham, in about three minutes, unless you promise to leave Lausanne by the evening train, I shall begin to scream."

"Yes," he calmly replied.

"I shall run down the path shouting for help."

"Yes."

"I shall meet people and declare that you threatened me. I think you will understand what that will mean to you."

"Certainly, but there are loopholes in your plan. For instance, I have no less than three witnesses concealed behind the rocks up here. Then I have a telegram to the effect that your Brother Tommy is in custody at Lyons. I also have a second stating that his extradition papers, for which I have been waiting these many days, are ready for me."

"Where do I come in?" she asked after awhile.

"You don't come in. Tommy did the embarrassing, and you simply ran away with him. So far as my instructions go, you are to be left behind here in Europe to enjoy yourself as best you may. No doubt you have some of the stolen money to pay your bills with, but I was not instructed to arrest you. I was simply keeping tab on you until the papers were ready for Tommy. Is there anything more to say?"

"Sir, I do not know you," answered the widow as she arose and started down the path by her lonesome.

"And so you go away to Lyons?" repeated the landlady after the judge had announced his intentions.

"Yes; have to go."

"And the widow from Chicago, Canada?"

"I must leave her in your keeping. We have had a misunderstanding. You know how cantankerous American widows are."

"Marie," said the landlady to his wife that evening, "I may be magnificent and I may not. The widower and the widow have quarreled and he has started for Lyons, and it may be that he will never come back to plead for a reconciliation. The main point, however, is that I charged him two extras for falling in love with another guest of my house and falling out again, and maybe I am magnificent after all."

Virtues of "Sold" Sign.

"Get this parlor suit out at once, John," said the manager.

"Oh, let's just put a 'Sold' tag on it till tomorrow," grumbled Salesman John. "The men are fearful busy."

"John," said the manager, "you know very little about human nature if you're willing to leave a suit of furniture marked 'Sold' in sight of the public. If we left the suit here everybody that came in would be attracted by the 'Sold' sign on it and would want to buy it or its duplicate. The suit can't be duplicated, as you know, and so the people would be dissatisfied. This suit, because they couldn't have it, would seem to them the only desirable one in our stock. They would take no other. We should probably lose half a dozen sales."

"Why, John, there are some dishonest dealers who put 'Sold' signs on goods that are a drug, so as to dispose of those goods quickly, and it is a fact not creditable to human nature that fake 'Solds' will move a slow stock more quickly even than fake reductions."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Wit of a Scotch Lunatic.

This lunatic asylum story comes from Glasgow: Two councillors of that city were taken over a large asylum the other day by one of the patients, a safe man. He had led them to a room to display a view from a window, when some one shut the door, with its self acting lock, and the three men were prisoners. The patient alone preserved his composure. While the councillors clamored to be released he remarked:

"If I were you I would be quiet."

No help coming, the councillors grew desperate. Beads of perspiration stood on their brows, and they fairly yelled.

"If I were you," repeated the patient soothingly, "I would keep quiet."

"But we're no daffs," pleaded one of the visitors.

"Hoots non, that's what I said myself when I was brought in!"

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

In many provinces of India the cobra is still worshiped, and not only worshiped, but pampered and protected.

An English court has just allowed the heirs of a young man who went down with a ship in a storm in the Indian ocean in 1857 to "presume" that he is dead.

A policeman in London arrested a man seventy-six years of age for singing in the street, "Darling, I Am Growing Old." The magistrate declined to punish him for growing old. The emir of Afghanistan recently discovered that three of the muffs of his court had been grafted and also had been guilty of oppressing the poor. He ordered them buried alive, and this was done without delay.

Bound to Be Comfortable.

A Philadelphia man went to Maine on his vacation, and he found the nights very cold and bedclothes scarce.

"Are these all the bedclothes you give?" he inquired of the chambermaid. "This is all that goes with one room," she replied.

"Then give me a couple of rooms," said he.—Philadelphia Press.

Pounds and Quires.

"Judging from Miss Thompson's treatment of the organ," sarcastically remarked the choir master, who objected to the new organist engaged by the rector, "you prefer to buy your music by the pound."

"Well," replied the rector quietly, "it isn't always supplied by the choir."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Could Hardly Believe It.

"Did you know," asked Mrs. Oldcastle, "that Mr. Milligan was ambidextrous?"

"No," replied her hostess as she dug her pearl studded dog collar on the center table. "Are you sure about it? I'm almost sure I've seen him drink punch at the Rockingham's reception."—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE STAY AT HOME.

Let others go
For pomp and show
Where ocean beats or mountain towers
I'm glad I've got
A homelike spot
To rest in after working hours.

My wife and I
Contented sigh
For nothing that the haunts of pleasure
By sea or lake
Could add to make
Our joy in life of greater measure.

Good food to eat
(Despite the heat,
I love my meals, and so does Kitty)
And not a care
What clothes to wear
We're quite contented in the city.

Although to stick
Where walls of brick
Encapsulate one in all directions
Is hard, we've got
A cinch. That's what!
We're apoging on my wife's connections!

Re Never Tumbled.

"Whew! This is a tough bit—oak, I reckon."

A Shattered Romance.

"Yes, we were at the play this afternoon. All the girls think Lester Scraggs is just too lovely for anything. What was the play about? I don't know. We were too much absorbed in watching Lester to pay any attention to the play. He looked just too killing in a yellow wig, with a blue plush cloak hanging over his arm. And he had the sweetest jeweled sword!"

"After the play we all went around to the stage door and waited for him to come out. And, say, he isn't the least bit handsome when you see him close. His face is awfully shabby, and his hair is short and thin and kind of sandy. There was a fat woman in a freak hat came up just as he started away and took hold of his arm, and they walked along together. I wonder who that woman is? I said to Jane Snoopy, 'A coarse looking man near the door heard me. That's his wife,' he said."

"Then we all went home,"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Tommie—The kind a feller's got to split.—Yonkers Statesman.

Didn't Like It.

The abhorrence of respectable British persons for the synonym for "sanguinary" is almost as extraordinary as its popularity with the lower classes. In days gone by O'Connell spoke of the "base, bloody and brutal Whigs," and the Times in reporting him rendered it very ingeniously, with a view to exhibit his bad language, as the "base, — and brutal Whigs."

Bottle Nursing.

It is commonly supposed that nursing infants with the bottle is a modern custom, but some time ago Dr. Gottstein pointed out that that custom was widely prevalent in German cities 200 years ago, and more recently Dr. Grotzahn discovered pictorial evidence of such nursing 1,500 years ago.

The Mexican Central has recently placed on sale tickets to New York and return, going via the Mexican Central to either Vera Cruz or Tampico, thence via the famous Ward Steamship Line to New York. The return will be by rail over any line to El Paso. The entire trip, covering thousands of miles, Havana, Cuba, and its famous Moro Castle, Newport, and a dozen of the largest cities of the United States, can be made for $122.50. A more delightful trip can not be planned, as stop-over privileges are allowed and the tickets are good for one year from the date of sale. The trip includes the City of Mexico, the "Paris of America." Further information can be secured by addressing A. Dulohery, Commercial Agent, El Paso, Texas, or W. D. CANTALOUPE.

Nice rich, sweet cantaloupes in plentiful supply, at 5c and 8 1-2c each.

PEACHES.

Small size peaches at 60 cents per twenty pound box, up to $1.25 for fancy yellow stock.

VEGETABLES.

APPLES.

We have apples that are nice and clean and smooth almost entirely free from worms. Per pound, 5c; per box, $1.50.

CANNED CREAM.

For some reason the trade on canned cream has grown very large the past year or two. Many say the quality is the reason, others claim the canned article is more convenient and economical. We can especially recommend the following brands as being very fine: Pet, in three sizes, 5, 10, and 12 1-2 cents. Carnation in the large 20 ounce cans, only 12 1-2 cents.

MUSHROOMS.

We carry mushrooms in several sizes and grades. The best in one pound tins, 35 cents. They are perfect in size, shape and color. Small cans, one quarter pound, 15 cents. Second quality, not perfect in color, and a little irregular in size, one pound tins, 30 cents. Third quality, pieces and stems, one pound tins, 25 cents. Third quality, in one half pound tins, 15c.

MEAT MARKET.

We are now receiving on each Friday, a limited quantity of fresh oysters. Also a nice assortment of fancy fish, both eastern and California. The price ranges from 15c to 20c. We receive at our market several times per week, a fine lot of corn fed beef, pork and mutton. This meat is something that it will give you pleasure to see and to eat.

SPICES.

Most spice that is sold is of inferior quality. There is little produced that is good enough to put under the "Fernell" label. Perhaps you do not wish to use twice as much spice as you do now. If you are getting the ordinary kind, a change to "Fernell" will double your pleasure, and probably increase your use of these condiments. We have all sorts in cans at 10 cents per can, except cinnamon, the cinnamon we are compelled to get 15 cents for. Mixed pickling spice in bulk, four ounces for 10 cents.

NO UPRISING IN MEXICO

September 16, Says J. C. Burke, Who Knows Conditions—Mexican People Are Good Class.

James C. Burke, whose home is in Chicago, and who has business interests in the Republic of Mexico, is registered at the Claire. Mr. Burke has spent many years in Mexico and is acquainted with some of the officials of the Mexican government. He talked freely last evening when seen by a reporter of the New Mexican. He is now on his way to the interior of Mexico and expects to be there for some time. The reporter told Mr. Burke that he had read articles in which certain eastern newspapers stated that on September 16th next, there would be an uprising in Mexico. In reply to this Mr. Burke said: "I have been traveling in and out of Mexico for the last thirty years. I am well acquainted with President Porfirio Diaz and many other officials. I have been in his office after time and have had many conversations with him. There will be no uprising in Mexico as stated in eastern newspapers. These papers cannot verify a single thing that has been published in regard to this matter; they seem to think they are getting the news first and are ready to publish any 'rot' that is sent them. We have men in the United States who are always ready to send such papers stuff for publication that is not based upon facts. So, it is in the Republic of Mexico. This trouble, and it is exaggerated very much, in Mexico, is caused by Americans who leave the United States. These men leave their own country as it is for their best interests to do so, or rather most of them are forced to depart; these are the men who are stirring up the native people of Mexico. They get drunk, carouse and fight each other and if they are put before the people at all, it is in a bad light. They rush into Mexico thinking they can continue their old bad ways of doing. They seem to forget that Mexico has a code of laws and that she is ready and does enforce them whenever necessary; this is done irrespective of nationality. Such a class of people, of course, has no regard for the laws and before they know it, they are receiving justice at the hands of Mexican officials who are directed to enforce the law. They shout 'American Citizen, defy the law!' Right here I can say that President Diaz has been very lenient with such men. More so than he is with his own people and therefore why should such newspaper truck as appeared in Harper's Weekly, and other eastern papers create the sentiment that there will soon be a civil war in Mexico? It is all nonsense and based upon imagination. We have a class of people who often go down into Mexico to tour the country. These people know nothing of the Spanish language and are full of bigotry; they seem to be ready to expose same and often do so when they meet the native people of Mexico, forgetting, it seems, where they are. They also come in contact with the law and create more or less trouble; this of course, is printed by some newspapers that are willing to print anything. "The hospitality of the average Mexican in Mexico is far superior to the hospitality of lots of our American people. They will get up in the middle of the night and cook you a meal and not charge you a cent for it; they will walk a half mile to show you the right road; they are the best people I ever saw if they are treated right and it seems they cannot do enough for you. "A short time ago, I was in Chihuahua and had a personal interview with Acting Governor Enrique Creel. I know of no better man. He is very friendly to Americans who go into Mexico to help build up the country and to advance their own financial interests. He encourages every enterprise, American or Mexican, that is established for the betterment of the country. Prosperity is the word of the day in Mexico and the people there are taking great strides in that direction. Governor Creel of Chihuahua, and President Diaz, have the same opinion in regard to the 'uprising' business and there will be none."

SHIPPING OUT OF TAOS

Much Needed Improvement at Hand—Banner Crops Only Awaits a Railroad.

Special to the New Mexican. Taos, Sept. 3.—The new telephone line from Taos, seven miles south, via Ranchos de Taos is completed to Taos, and poles are set ten miles north toward Servilleta station on the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad. Taos is the largest town in the United States without outside telephone connections. Dr. T. P. Martin and P. C. Ellis are putting in the Servilleta extension which will be completed this month; the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad will wire the station and put in an operator which will give Taos outside communication, something the town has needed for 10, these many years. Frank P. Sauerwen, artist, and Mrs. G. T. Gay and son, of Los Angeles, California, are registered at the Taos Hotel; Mr. Sauerwen will remain until after the big Indian feast day of San Geronimo, the 30th of this month. Lorenzo Vasquez of Ranchos de Taos, met with a serious accident Wednesday, in which the bones of his left shoulder were badly broken. Dr. Martin reduced the fractures, and at this writing he is out of danger. This is a banner crop year for Taos County and the indications are that hundreds of tons of hay and alfalfa will spoil for want of a market. Oh! for a railroad; the St. Louis Rocky Mountain & Pacific will be completed to Ute Creek this month, where it will stop for this year; as to when it will reach Taos, quiet safe.

LIGHT SPRINKLES AND SUNSHINE

With Continued Pleasant Temperature Are Weather Conditions Here—To Continue.

There has been little change in the weather here since Saturday. Clouds gathered overhead this morning and it looked as though a storm was imminent, but the clouds were dissipated after shedding a few drops of rain. The delightful cool temperature still continues much to the delight of the tourists who have recently arrived from the sweltering eastern and central states. Fair and warmer tonight and Tuesday, was the forecast today of the local weather man. The temperature at 6 o'clock this morning was 49 degrees. The lowest temperature during last night was also 49 degrees. The maximum temperature yesterday was 73 degrees at 12:10 p. m., while the minimum temperature was 52 degrees at 8:30 p. m. The mean temperature for the day was 62 degrees with a relative humidity of 47 per cent. The precipitation was 0.06 of an inch. Saturday's maximum temperature was 76 degrees at 1:06 p. m., while the minimum temperature then was 50 degrees at 5:50 a. m. The mean temperature for the day was 63 degrees with a relative humidity of 45 per cent.

SHEEP AND WOOL GROWERS' ASSOCIATION

For Benefit of Those Interested and All Will Have Voice in Affairs.

The following letter from Hon. Solomon Luna, president of the Territorial Fair Association to the editor of the New Mexican, is self explanatory and is worthy of the attention of all interested in sheep and wool growing as well as all who have the advancement of the Territory at heart: Dear Sir:—

It is unnecessary for me to tell you of the importance of the result of the Sheep and Wool Growers' Convention to the sheep and wool growing interests of New Mexico. The final action relative to the interests of New Mexico sheep and wool growers will be taken before this convention adjourns, so that the people in Washington may know just what the different sheep and wool growers require in the passage of the bill regulating the leasing and grazing of the public domain.

The rates on all railroads leading into Albuquerque at this time are so low that everyone can be in attendance. I want to add further that every sheep and wool grower will be entitled to a voice on the floor of the convention regardless of whether he is a regularly appointed delegate or not. The object is to find out just what the sheep and wool growers of New Mexico want.

Trusting to meet you here at that time, I am, SOLOMON LUNA, President.

REMARKABLE SUMMER CLIMATE

Highest Temperature Recorded at Santa Fe in August Only 83 Degrees—Sunshine Every Day.

The maximum temperature of 83 degrees, and a minimum of 48 degrees, were recorded by the Weather Bureau at Santa Fe during August. In these two figures lies the explanation of Santa Fe's most delightful summer climate. The greatest daily range in temperature was only 29 degrees, on August 6, and the least range was 15 degrees, on August 1. There was only one cloudy day, but 16 partially cloudy days, and 14 clear days, not a single day, however, having less than fifteen per cent of the possible sunshine, the average sunshine for the month being 72 per cent, which is pretty good for a month which has the reputation of being the cloudiest of the year. There has been a deficiency in temperature since New Year of 190 degrees and an excess in precipitation of .65 of an inch. The precipitation during August was 1.84 inches and the greatest precipitation in any twenty-four consecutive hours was only .47 of an inch on August 3. The total wind movement was 4,463 miles mostly from the south-east, an average of only six miles an hour and a maximum of only 29 miles an hour which was recorded on August 5 and blew from the east. The average maximum temperature was only 78.8 degrees, which is remarkable for August, while the average minimum was 54.4 degrees, an average range of only 22 degrees. The relative humidity for the month was 59 per cent, but the average at 6 p. m. was only 45 per cent. What more need be said in praise of Santa Fe's summer climate than a reproduction of the above official figures?

COSME SALAS WAS DISCHARGED

Police Judge Garcia Held That He Was Justified in Beating Sandoval.

Holding that the assault was justifiable and as the complaining witness was not present to give his version of the affair, the case of the Territory vs. Cosme Salas was dismissed Saturday afternoon by Justice of the Peace Jose Ma. Garcia. Salas has been arrested for attacking Manuel Sandoval about 3 o'clock on the morning of August 19th last. The complaint charged assault with intent to kill. When Salas was arraigned for preliminary hearing he told a straightforward story of the trouble and it was corroborated by other witnesses. According to the testimony introduced, Sandoval was intoxicated at the time and made insulting remarks about two women who were with Salas. The latter promptly struck his tormentor a stinging blow with his fist. Sandoval fell to the sidewalk, striking his head violently. It was feared that concussion of the brain might develop but he has since practically recovered, although he was unable to appear at the trial.

THE SANTISTEVAN ASSIGNMENT

Contention Over Sale of Sheep Made By Assignee—Case Continued to October 16.

The hearing in the assignment of Juan Santistevan, of Taos, which has been in progress during the past week before Referee Harry S. Clancy, was closed Friday for the time being and continued to October 16th next. During the week the examination was upon the matter of the sale of certain sheep belonging to the estate by Receiver A. R. Manby, also of Taos. It is claimed on behalf of Mr. Santistevan that the sheep were disposed of at too low and too ruinous a price and that with proper care the receiver could have procured greater returns for the animals. This contention is not admitted by Mr. Manby and testimony upon the matter was had. It looks as if the case will take several months before a final closing of it can be had. A. B. Renahan, of this city and J. B. Lusk, of Taos, appeared for the assignor and creditors, and Catroy and Gortner, of this city, for the assignee.
