BERNALILLO IS RICHEST COUNTY*In Territory According to Figures of Tax Roll.*ROOSEVELT AND SIERRA OUT*So Traveling Auditor Safford is Unable to Complete Final Report.

Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford has been unable to complete figures on the total assessments of the Territory owing to the fact that the tax rolls of Roosevelt and Sierra Counties have not yet been sent to his office. The contents of the assessment rolls that have been turned in up to date indicate a substantial gain in the assessments this year over last. Bernalillo County is the smallest in area but the richest in wealth in the Territory. Its official returns show a total assessed valuation this year of $4,010,639, as against $3,593,454 the year previous, representing an increase of $417,185. Exemptions pull the amount subject to taxation down to $3,700,649, which is over one hundred thousand dollars greater than the total valuation in 1905. A number of different properties are listed this year which were not scheduled last year, such as electric, gas, water and printing plants, and wool scouring and saw mills, representing an aggregate increase of $102,150. BACA CASE IS UNDER ADVISEMENT*Governor Hagerman Returns From Socorro After Hearing Evidence—Was Tendered Reception.

Governor Hagerman returned to the Capital yesterday afternoon after five days at the Territorial fair in Albuquerque, and one day at Socorro. At the latter place, he listened to testimony in the case of Sheriff Leandro Baca, who is charged by residents of Socorro County with malfeasance in office. Governor Hagerman took the case under advisement and will not render a decision until further evidence in the shape of documents is introduced by the defendant's attorneys. The hearing began at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of last Saturday and owing to the public interest, in the affair, the court room was crowded with spectators. E. W. Dobson, of Albuquerque, represented Sheriff Baca as counsel, while Attorney General W. C. Reid, was present for the Territory. Mr. Dobson objected to the governor hearing the case saying it was a matter for the district court to decide. The governor, however, said that he had investigated the law carefully, and that he was convinced that he had the power to deal with the case as he saw fit. The hearing then continued. There were some dozen charges against Sheriff Baca, all of which he denied. The principal one was the allegation that he went about twice as far as necessary in getting to a certain point in San Juan County. This he admitted but said that he went via Trinidad thinking it was the only way he could go, but later found out that he could have gone by a more direct route. It was also alleged that he was accompanied part of the way by Cipriano Baca, lieutenant of mounted police, and secured $50 from the county commissioners with which to pay the other officer but failed to give him this amount. Altogether, it is asserted, Sheriff Baca, by malfeasance of various kinds, secured something over $1,000 from the county, in which he was in no way entitled.

In speaking of the case this morning Governor Hagerman said:

"I have not decided what I shall do in regard to the affair and will not until after the submission of briefs by Sheriff Baca's attorney. I am certain that I have the right to remove Sheriff Baca or take any other action in regard to the case that I see fit. If I find it incumbent upon me to act, I had a very pleasant time at the fair and at Socorro. At the latter place, the town was gaily decorated with flags and bunting and I was received by the old soldiers whom I addressed. I am sorry that I could not have spent more time there and thus become better acquainted with the people."

SIXTEEN YEAR OLD BOY SUICIDES*Son of Augustin Mueller Hangs Himself Within Short Distance Of Home.

Manuel, the sixteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustin Mueller, of Moriarty, on last Friday committed suicide by hanging. He had gone out to round up cattle but failed to return for two days. A party was organized to search for him and came upon his lifeless body only three hundred yards from the home of his parents. He had tied a rope to the trunk of a tree and had thrown one end of it over a limb. Tying the loose end of the rope around his neck he climbed the tree and jumped. The rope severed one ear completely and the force of the fall broke the boy's neck. No cause can be assigned for his desperate deed. Interment was made at Tajique.

OLD WESTPORT LANDING AGAIN*Steamboats Ply Up and Down Missouri River.*ST. LOUIS TO KANSAS CITY*After Almost a Decade—First Boat the "Lora" Docked This Morning.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24.—Whistles and bells acclaimed this morning a renewal of steamboat traffic on the Missouri River after a lapse of more than a decade when the steamer Lora, laden with freight from St. Louis, docked at this city. The successful trip of the Lora under most unfavorable circumstances, the river being exceptionally low, and the channel unexplored for several years, proves that the river is still navigable. Movement Started Four Months Ago. The movement was inaugurated in this city four months ago. Regular traffic between St. Louis and here will be instituted on the river just as soon as suitable boats can be obtained.

OTERO COUNTY INDIAN TO PRISON*Sheriff A. B. Phillips Brought Mesquero Apache to Prison for Murderous Assault.

Sheriff A. B. Phillips, of Alamogordo, arrived in the city yesterday and placed De Chilie, a Mesquero Indian in the penitentiary. The Indian had been convicted at the recent session of the District Court of Otero County, on the charge of assault to kill, the offense being against another Mesquero Indian by the euphonious name of Crook Neck. De Chilie's sentence is six months and one day in the Territorial prison.

Sheriff Phillips was re-nominated on the Republican ticket by the Republican county convention of Otero County, last Saturday. All of the county officials now in office were re-nominated, with the exception of J. A. Smith, the superintendent of schools, in whose place Mr. Walters of Alamogordo, was selected. Sheriff Phillips is of the opinion that Otero County will again elect the Republican ticket November 6th next by a handsome majority. He returned home this forenoon via the Santa Fe Central, and will start an active campaign for the Republican nominees as soon as he gets home. The Republicans of Otero County strongly desire the re-nomination of Delegate W. H. Andrews, and expect to roll up a very handsome majority for him by election day. The sheriff says that the six delegates from his county to the Las Vegas convention will attend in person, and do their level best for the election of Delegate W. H. Andrews.

TOURISTS IN EXCITING ACCIDENT*Livery Team Ran Away With Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Linley of St. Louis—Not Seriously Injured.

People down town yesterday afternoon listening to the band concert in the Plaza witnessed an exciting runaway which resulted in the smashing of a brand new trap owned by liveryman, Charles Closson. Mr. and Mrs. Ezra H. Linley, tourists from St. Louis and guests at the Palace Hotel, were in the vehicle at the time, accompanied by Antonio Gallegos, a driver employed by Mr. Closson. They were thrown out when one of the wheels became wrenched loose, but luckily all escaped serious injury.

The St. Louis visitors had ordered a team of horses and buggy sent around to the hotel with coachman, intending to spend the afternoon riding around the city sightseeing. They thought the horses sent acted rather spirited but supposed that the driver was able to manage the animals and paid no attention when the team started off at a brisk trot. The horses increased their gait from a lively trot to a reckless gallop when they struck the park and heard the music, and the driver was powerless to hold them in check once they had taken the bits in their mouths. He simply clung to the lines and devoted his energies to keeping them in the middle of the road in the hope that they would soon tire. From Washington Avenue the runaway steeds turned west on San Francisco Street and thence south on Don Gaspar Avenue. In rounding the latter corner the vehicle skidded over against the curbstone and the right hind wheel was knocked off.

Mr. and Mrs. Linley were thrown out at this juncture. Fortunately they alighted on the road instead of being hurled onto the sidewalk and it was probably due to this circumstance that they were not worse hurt. Mr. Linley's knees were skinned and his trousers torn, but aside from that he was practically uninjured otherwise. Mrs. Linley fared better than her husband and was none the worse for her experience save from the fright and shaking up she sustained. A few feet further away the driver was also precipitated into the street. He escaped without injury. Finding themselves driverless the horses were now thoroughly frightened and sped all the faster south on Don Gaspar Avenue. The three wheeled trap away from one side of the street to the other, until the harness finally broke and the animals were freed altogether. One of the horses was captured near the outskirts of the city but the other was found five miles out in the country. The wheel of the trap that came off was entirely demolished, the spokes being scattered for a distance of a block. The vehicle was otherwise wrecked, but the worst damage done was the breaking of the wheel. Both horses were more or less scratched up.

The Plaza and streets adjoining were filled with people when the runaway occurred and those who saw the team dashing madly by the park stood for a minute with blanched faces. Mr. and Mrs. Linley were on the back seat holding on to the sides as the vehicle rocked, and the driver might just as well have thrown away the reins for all the good he did. An excited crowd followed in the wake of the runaway expecting to see the occupants thrown out and probably killed.

Mr. and Mrs. Linley had no sooner alighted on the street when they were on their feet and the bystanders were greatly relieved to find them unhurt. Both are rather heavy and of middle age. They walked back to the hotel to convince solicitous inquirers that their injuries were insignificant.

Mr. Linley was seen later at the hotel by a reporter of the New Mexican. He said that he had been informed that this is not the first time that the horses have run away, and he criticized the livery firm for sending a fractious team. He said that he did not propose to make any trouble in the matter, although he felt that his torn trousers ought to be replaced.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 24.—Today the proceedings of the Democratic state convention finds party leaders still apparently as widely apart as ever as the head of the ticket. Stensland Allowed Chance to Fight. Paul O. Stensland if he so desires when the steamer "Prinz Adelbert" arrives at New York, may commence habeas corpus proceedings. States Attorney Healey, of Chicago, said today "we are not in the kidnapping business and will leave Stensland and all the opportunities he wishes to prove his innocence."

TODAY'S SESSION DISTRICT COURT*Change of Venue Case Up—H. S. Clancy Examiner in Sanchez Suit.

The district court for Santa Fe County reconvened this morning at 9 o'clock, Judge John R. McFie presiding. A. M. Bergere was at his post as clerk.

Examining jurors to serve in the case of the Territory vs. Juan Manuel Romero, which came here on a change of venue from Taos County, was practically all that was done in court today. Up to noon eleven jurors had been accepted when the regular panel was exhausted and a special venire of six names was issued. It was expected that the one jurymen needed would be secured during the afternoon session.

Judge McFie this morning appointed Harry S. Clancy as examiner in the replevin suit of Sanchez et al. vs. Gutierrez et al., another case brought here on a change of venue from Taos County. Attorney J. B. Lusk of Taos, is counsel for the plaintiffs, while the defendants have engaged Attorney A. B. Renahan of this city to look after their interests. The case involves sixteen acres of land in Taos County.

In the case of Swofford Brothers Dry Goods Company, of Kansas City, vs. Jose Granito, of Cerrillos, a verdict was returned Saturday afternoon in favor of the defendant. The Kansas City firm sued Mr. Granito for the payment of goods which had been shipped to him but which had been damaged by water in transit, at the time of the flood in Kansas City. Mr. Granito claimed that the goods were not his property until they had been delivered to him at Cerrillos and the jury was of the same opinion.

The Plaza Colorado Land Grant case is still hanging fire. Saturday afternoon adjournment was taken until more witnesses could be secured and the case will stand adjourned until after the murder trial now before the court.

STATE TROOPS CONTROL ATLANTA*Seventeen Companies Have Situation Well in Hand and No Further Outbreak is Feared.

Atlanta, Sept. 24.—At 8:30 o'clock this morning all was quiet. Seventeen companies of the state militia have complete control of the situation. All saloons are closed under orders of the mayor. Business has assumed normal conditions and no further outbreak is anticipated.

Negro's Body Found Swinging From a Tree.

The estimate of the total number of dead is ten and those killed last Saturday night in connection with the riots have been prepared for burial. It is reported that several bodies have been taken away for burial and it is equally probable that some deaths have not been reported to the police. The body of Zeo Long, a negro, was found today hanging in the woods, eight miles south of Atlanta. Long had been locked up in jail for disorderly conduct.

The local situation at noon today was more favorable than at any time since Saturday night. The authorities have dismissed and sent home all the outside militia except those belonging to the Fifth Regiment. This leaves one full regiment in charge. The sale of firearms and ammunition has been stopped and all saloons are closed until further orders. A feature of the situation is the scarcity of the negroes usually employed about the city and an exodus of large portions of the negroes from the city is reported.

VESSEL REPORTED LOST REACHED PORT SAFELY.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 24.—A cablegram received by the Navy Department this morning from Commander Galveston at Shanghai announces the safe arrival of the gunboat Helena. It was reported that the Helena was lost in the recent hurricane in the China Sea.

THE FORM OF THE BALLOT*To Be Used November 6—One Ticket For All Candidates and Questions.

Chairman H. O. Bursum has requested the opinion of several leading attorneys upon the kind and character of the ballot which is to be used in the coming elections for Territorial delegate, legislative and county nominees, as well as to decide the statehood question, and for delegates to the Constitutional Convention. The opinions of two of these attorneys are published below, and they state that in their opinion one ballot for all candidates and on all questions to be submitted to the voters at the coming election should be used.

Attorney Charles A. Spiess, of Las Vegas, writes: "Hon. H. O. Bursum, Chairman Republican Central Committee, Socorro, New Mexico.

"My Dear Sir:—
"I have your favor of August 28th, 1906, in which you request my opinion as to whether or not there is any provision of law which prohibits the printing of the names of candidates for the Constitutional Convention and the question of whether Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state on the same ballot, which contains the name of the nominee for Delegate to Congress, and the nominees for legislative and county offices.

"I have given this matter careful consideration and cheerfully give you my views thereon as follows: Section 24, of the Enabling Act passed by Congress enabling New Mexico and Arizona to form a state government contains this provision. That at the general election to be held on the 6th day of November, 1906, all the electors of said Territories respectively qualified to vote at such election are hereby authorized to vote for and choose delegates to form a convention for said Territories. * * * That at the said general election and on the same ballots on which the names of candidates to the convention aforesaid are printed, there shall be submitted to said qualified electors of each of said Territories a question which shall be stated on the ballot in substance and form as follows: 'Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state?'

"The election provided for by the above quoted sections is to be held in virtue of Congressional legislation and directs the voters of the two Territories to answer the question which is to be stated on the ballot either in the affirmative or the negative. Section 24 contains but one limitation on the manner in which the ballot shall be promulgated. This limitation is whether the question of Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state shall be printed on the same ballot on which appears the names of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention. There is no provision which prohibits the names of the delegates to the Constitutional Convention being printed on the regular ballot upon which appears the name of the candidate for Delegate to Congress and the names of the nominees for legislative and county offices.

"I therefore am of the opinion that ballots may be promulgated which submit the nominee for Delegate to Congress, the nominees for legislative and county offices as well as the names of the candidates to the Constitutional Convention, and the question 'shall Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one state?' to the voters of New Mexico on the same ballot.

"Yours very truly,
"(Signed) CHARLES A. SPIESS.
Attorney W. B. Childers, of Albuquerque, says: "Hon. H. O. Bursum Chairman Republican Territorial Central Committee.

"Dear Sir:—
"Replying to your letter of August 28th, 1906 referring to that part of Section 24 of the Enabling Act, which reads:

"That at the said general election and on the same ballot on which the names of candidates to the convention aforesaid are printed, there shall be submitted to said qualified electors of each of said Territories a question which shall be stated on the ballot in substance and form as follows: 'Shall Arizona and New Mexico be united to form one State?' (Yes). (No).

"I see no reason why the names of the delegates and this proposition cannot be printed on the same ballot with the candidate for Delegate to Congress, legislative and county officers. The statute does not say that no other names shall go upon the ballot, but provides that the names of candidates for the convention shall be upon the same ballot. In fact, if there was any doubt about this question, I do not believe that the ballots cast in favor of it would ever be questioned or held irregular, or could be thrown out.

"Respectfully,
"(Signed) W. B. CHILDERS."

PEACE IN CUBA SEEMS ASSURED*Committees From Factions and Commission Meet.*AN ARMISTICE SIGNED*Pending Negotiations—Coal to Be Sent for Warships at Havana.

Washington, Sept. 24.—Official news in regard to the situation in Cuba is lacking in Washington this morning. The pacific tone of the dispatches yesterday had a favorable effect upon the military and naval officials and there was a marked change in their attitude from Saturday, when it was thought that intervention was near at hand. The prospect of an amicable adjustment does not deter the officials here from continuing the preparations which they have been making to land forces in Cuba if it becomes necessary. The naval colliers Leonidas, at Lambert's point, and the Hannibal at Newport News, will sail in the course of a day or two for Havana loaded with coal for the naval vessels now in that harbor and with the dispatching of these colliers as expected the naval officials will feel that all that can be done at this stage in preparation for eventualities will have been accomplished.

More War Ships to Cienfuegos to Protect Property.

It was reported to the Navy Department today that the cruiser Cleveland had sailed from Havana for Cienfuegos to reinforce the Marietta at that port.

Both Sides Signed Armistice Today But Meeting Postponed.

The first meeting of the American mediators with the insurgent and liberal committee, called for this morning, at Havana, was again postponed owing to the illness of Pelaez Garcia, one of the conspiracy prisoners, who had been added to the committee. The meeting probably will be held this afternoon. Much depends upon the attitude of the committee at its first conference. Heretofore it has been only a verbal agreement about the armistice but yesterday the insurgents' General, Guerra, and Castillo signed a written agreement which was today signed by the acting secretary of the interior, Montalvo.

PATRICK HANLEY IS NO MORE*After Chronic Illness—Native of New England, Aged 55 Years—Sister Survives Him.

After an illness of about six months Patrick F. Hanley died at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon at his apartments, 341 San Francisco Street. His demise was caused by cancer of the stomach coupled with yellow jaundice. Although his health had been failing for some time he was bedridden only two weeks. Mr. Hanley was about fifty-five years of age and was a native of New England. Santa Fe had been his home for the past twenty years and during most of that time he was in business here. The closest of kin surviving him so far as known is a sister, Mrs. Mary Ford, at Lynn, Massachusetts. The deceased was a bachelor, Joseph Ford, of Raton, was a nephew of Mr. Hanley. John Hanley, a brother, died here about six years ago. "Pat" Hanley as he was familiarly known by his host of friends in the Capital, was a kindhearted and good man whose purse strings were always open to the poor and needy.

BUSINESS DISTRICT TOPEKA DESTROYED*By Flames This Morning When Natural Gas in Theatre Exploded—One Injured.

Topeka, Kans., Sept. 24.—The heart of the business district of Topeka along Kansas Avenue was destroyed by fire which started in the basement of the Crawford Opera House by an explosion of natural gas this morning. One person was injured by the explosion.

The fire caused the destruction of the Moffatt Furniture Store, the Union Tea Company, the Crawford Opera House, and the household goods of several families. The loss is estimated at a hundred thousand dollars. Roy Distrow, a plumber, now in the hospital, severely burned, went to the basement of the opera house to search for a gas leak, lighting a match. The explosion which followed, shook the entire block.

AGED MAN DRAGGED TO DEATH BY BURROS.

Las Cruces N. M., Sept. 24.—Two men arrived in this city, tell of the ghastly death in the Organ Mountains of Celso Diaz, an aged man, who became entangled in a rope and was dragged over the mountains by two frightened burros until dead. When found, the body was still attached to the rope and the burros were peacefully grazing near their burden of death.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

AMERICANS WHO KNOW WHAT THEY WANT.

Under the heading "Americans Who Know What They Want," the New York Evening Sun prints an interesting editorial on the statehood campaign now going on in this Territory and Arizona. Some of the surmises in the editorial are not exactly correct and some of the deductions drawn by the paper are in points fallacious, but the editorial is nevertheless rather good reading for the people of the two commonwealths. Says the Sun:

"Evidence continues to accumulate that the only surprise that can come out of the vote which Arizona and New Mexico are to take this fall on the joint statehood offer made by the last congress will be a majority in Arizona for jointure or a majority in New Mexico against it. An adverse New Mexican vote would be less surprising than the other, for although exeset-of tur 2sm ten oadMwetoalsh New Mexico has been the hotbed of jointure sentiment, and New Mexicans have made astonishingly free use of the argument that their Territory has everything to gain and nothing to lose by accepting the proposition, it has begun to be said that the New Mexican majority for jointure may not be large and even that the jointists, as they are called locally, might be defeated.

"Perhaps the growth and strength of anti-jointure sentiment in Arizona might have the effect of weakening jointure sentiment in New Mexico. The Territories will vote separately on the statehood proposition, which must be accepted by both, and not by a majority on a joint vote, to be effective. At all events, New Mexican opposition to the measure seems to have increased in vigor lately, and while an adverse vote by Arizona would suffice to prevent jointure under the act passed by the last congress, the anti-jointists in both Territories are working to make an impressive showing at the polls for the sake of the effect that may be produced upon Congress. They say, indeed, that they fear the passage of an act forcing joint statehood if the vote this fall could be used as a basis for such legislation.

"If Arizona should go for jointure it would be a tremendous surprise. About all that is conceded to joint statehood now is 20 per cent. of the vote that will be cast in the Territory. The last emphatic expression of Arizona's views is contained in the plank adopted by the Republican and Democratic Territorial conventions which met separately at Bisbee, last week. This plank reads: 'We are unalterably opposed to joint statehood between Arizona and New Mexico and would prefer to remain a Territory forever than to have a joint state with New Mexico.' The expression of sentiment like these would hardly seem calculated to increase the desire of New Mexicans to join with Arizona. "Should the vote on jointure turn out as is expected, it will undoubtedly be regarded as a rebuke for Speaker Cannon and other Republican leaders who have done all that they could to add to the Union a state called Arizona and composed of the two huge Territories left in the southwest, and it will also be another demonstration following several that have been given recently, that American people know pretty well what their local wants are."

NO MORE NATURALIZATION FRAUDS.

Naturalization frauds will be a thing of the past in the United States in another week and it is high time that this should be so. That since the Civil War hundreds of thousands of fraudulent naturalization papers have been issued goes without saying. In fact those who claim to be posted in these matters say that these frauds have reached into the million and higher. Be this as it may the end has come and it is certainly a good thing that this is so. The law making the rules and regulations for naturalization stringent and strenuous was passed during the first session of the 59th Congress and is a Republican measure. It should go to the credit of the Republican party as its provisions will prove highly beneficial and very timely.

Commenting upon this the San Francisco Call says that the business of fraudulent naturalization will become difficult and dangerous after September 27, when the new federal bureau of supervision goes into operation. The Civic Federation of Chicago, in a petition presented to Congress last winter asking for the enactment of this law, showed on what an extensive scale these frauds have been worked. For instance, out of 496 certificates issued by the St. Louis Court of Appeals in three days preceding the general election in 1902, it was proved that more than 400 were fraudulent. In New York the same year the certificates issued through fraud were shown to have numbered nearly 25,000. The same thing, more or less, has been going on in every large city.

Under the new law the qualifications for naturalization are not altered, but it is required that they shall be competently proved. Under the existing law naturalization is purely an ex parte proceeding, completed in five minutes or less. After September 27 a regular petition must be filed; notice is given by posting and ninety days must elapse before the hearing of the petition. That time is given to permit investigation, and when the hearing is set the federal supervisor may intervene, if his inquiries indicate such a course to be proper. Another important provision forbids the issue of any certificates of naturalization within thirty days of a general election. It is the experience that most of these frauds are worked off immediately preceding an election. It is the imminence of these important changes in the law that caused such a flurry the other day in Chicago political circles. It had been planned to put some 12,000 persons through the naturalization mill this fall, but the manipulators have suddenly discovered that the game is blocked unless they can get through the gates before September 27.

SOME OF THE WORK OF DELEGATE ANDREWS.

The Torrance County Savings bank located at Willard, in the county named, has commenced active operations, and preparations are being made for the starting of a national bank in Estancia, the county seat. These items show clearly the growth of what is now Torrance County, and through which the Santa Fe Central Railway runs. Four years ago there were no towns of Estancia and Willard, and there was no count of Torrance, Delegate W. H. Andrews interested several Pennsylvania capitalists in the building of the Santa Fe Central Railway from Santa Fe to the town of Torrance, a station on the El Paso & Southwestern Railway. The line was built, Torrance County was created, and during the past twelve months about seven hundred homestead entries have been made in what is now Torrance County. This gratifying state of affairs must go to the credit of Delegate Andrews as he was the chief promoter of the project, and the originator of the plan of the construction of the railway which wrought everything else in its wake. "The man who does things" brought more than $2,000,000 of Pennsylvania capital into the section described with which the railroad named was built. In the west where there are railroads there follow settlements and come towns. This is certainly fully illustrated in the case at hand. Had it not been for Delegate Andrews and his work in this direction there would be no Santa Fe Central Railway today; there would be no Torrance County; there would be no several prosperous and growing towns in that section; there would not have been many hundreds of homestead entries, but that part of New Mexico would have remained as it was five years ago, a range for sheep and cattle, to be sure a first class range but no more and no less. Here is one powerful reason why the voters of New Mexico should show by their votes that they fully appreciate the work of Delegate Andrews in and out of Congress.

THE SHEEP RAISERS' ASSOCIATION.

The election of Solomon Luna of Valencia county to be the first president of the Wool and Sheep Growers' Association of New Mexico, was a admirable and wise. Mr. Luna is certainly entitled to the position. He is fully competent and there can be no doubt that the association under his guidance during the first year will increase in strength and membership and that at the close of the present year it will be in first class condition. The sheep raising and wool growing interests of New Mexico are now and will be for many years to come the leading ones in the Sunshine Territory. It is not so much the amount of money invested that brings this about as it is the fact that it gives direct work to more people and supports more families than any other business. At a very fair calculation New Mexico really is at the head of the sheep growing sections of the United States and contains today not less than 6,500,000 sheep and probably a half million more than Montana which is supposed to be first. Well posted men say that the industry employs between 15,000 and 18,000 men, that is, those who are actually engaged in herding and those who aid at times in the shearing and lambing of the animals. This calculation does not take into consideration the middle men, the wool dealers and the merchants. It is therefore plain that the assertion above made is an absolute fact. The organization of the association was made at the right time and will prove of vast benefit to every man interested in the raising of sheep.

Strange things happen in politics and strange things are now going on in Arizona. Reliable advices from the sister Territory are to the effect that the sentiment in favor of joint statehood is growing and that steadily. The joint statehood league is not confounded but is doing good work and the joint statehood candidate for the delegateship, C. F. Ainsworth of Phoenix, is letting no grass grow under his feet but is making his candidacy felt. There is yet hope for Arizona.

It has been formally announced that seal skin garments will be higher in price this winter, but as they have always been out of the reach of most people that won't make much difference to most of the population of the Sunshine Territory.

WHY NOT NOMINATE AND ELECT HIM?

The mention of the name of John V. Conway for Superintendent of Schools on the Republican county ticket made in a recent issue of this paper has been very well received and a number of citizens have called at the office of the New Mexican to signify their approval of the suggestion. Mr. Conway has served four years in that office and performed his duties acceptably and efficiently. He is a property owner and Santa Fe born. He is one of the best known of the younger citizens of the county. Why not nominate and elect him? He has served several terms as a member of the city board of education and has had considerable experience in conducting educational matters. He is not a pedagogue; he is not a school teacher. The time is coming in New Mexico when professional educators will be elected to the office of county school superintendent. This, however has not yet arrived. When it does Mr. Conway will be one of the first to accept the change and will heartily support a professional educator for the position. At this time he seems to be the right man for the right place.

THE NEW APPORTIONMENT.

The New Mexican does not know if the report that Thomas B. Catron of this county will endeavor to test the legality of the apportionment recently made by Governor Hagerman is true or not. If true this paper is in position to assert that Mr. Catron is not acting for any organized body of Republicans or for the Republican Territorial Central Committee. If he does anything in the premises he does it to please his own sweet self. As far as the Republican party of the Territory is concerned it is content to leave well enough alone. It has recognized that the new apportionment is fairer than the last one made by Governor Prince, under the present circumstances in this Territory. The Prince apportionment was all right in 1891 and up to the census of 1900. The new apportionment recently proclaimed by the Executive is more fair and more just to all sections of the Territory although a better and more equitable one could have been made.

CLIMATE AND EYE DISEASES.

High altitude not only for lung and throat diseases but also for eye trouble! Such is the announcement of an eminent French savant who has just concluded a series of successful experiments to prove that many grave eye ailments that affect the human eye and vision can best be cured in high altitudes. He takes his patients in a balloon to an altitude equal to that of Santa Fe and reports wonderful and permanent cures of eye diseases. He advises oculists to take or send their patients to higher altitudes where many diseases that affect the eyes will rectify themselves or where operations upon the eyes are more successful or where certain effects of eye disease can be averted or postponed for a long period of time. Santa Fe's climate and altitude are a wonderful resource indeed, and alone are sufficient to build eventually a large, prosperous and beautiful city.

COMPARE THE RECORDS OF ANDREWS AND LARRAZOLO.

During his ten years' residence in New Mexico, Octaviano A. Larrazolo, Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress, has done nothing for the people that anyone knows of. On the other hand, Delegate W. H. Andrews as a private citizen has brought several millions of outside capital into New Mexico for investment and as Delegate has done more and better work during one session than any other Delegate ever elected to Congress from the Territory during a whole term or even several terms. The opponents of Delegate Andrews are at liberty to investigate this statement and find out for themselves.

The Republican conventions of several of the counties so far held have instructed for Delegate W. H. Andrews. The signs of the times are that the delegate will be unanimously nominated on the afternoon of next Saturday for delegate to the 60th Congress from New Mexico.

I. Sparks, manager of the Santa Fe Telephone Company, is a good business man, thoroughly acquainted with the conditions of the county and of the city and well and favorably known. Why not nominate him for county commissioner for the first district?

STOPS ANY ITCHING.

Doan's Ointment Cures Eczema and Itching Piles. Santa Fe People Recommend it.

One application of Doan's Ointment stops any itching. Short treatment cures eczema, itching piles, salt rheum—any skin eruption or skin itching. It is the cheapest remedy to use, because so little of it is required to bring relief and a cure. Here is Santa Fe testimony to prove it: C. M. Conklin, ex-city clerk, living on San Francisco Street, says: "There came to my notice some time ago a case of hemorrhoids, commonly called piles. They were of the bleeding, protruding variety, and itched intensely. Doan's Ointment came to the notice of the party afflicted and was procured at Ireland's Pharmacy and a course of the treatment given. The first application soothed and a continuation of its use for some time longer radically disposed of that far too prevalent plague."

PRESCRIPTIONS.

A Medical Explanation of Why They Are Written in Latin.

The use of Latin by physicians in prescription writing is commonly regarded as a harmless survival of medievalism. Occasionally a lay writer suggests its abandonment. In commenting on a recent note to this effect in a daily paper, which advocates the compulsory use of English in prescriptions, the Druggists' Circular and Chemical Gazette takes occasion to make a strong defense of the time honored practice. Says this paper:

"Suppose the sapient writer quoted, who uttersances may sound all right to those who know no more of his subjects than he does, should fall sick and his physician should decide that the one thing needful to save his life was Germanium robertianum. If there were a lay preventing the doctor from prescribing in Latin he would have to choose one of the upward of a dozen English names for this drug. Suppose he chose 'redshanks' and so wrote the word in his prescription. When the druggist went to prepare the medicine he would find that 'redshanks' was the English name of at least four entirely different plants—namely, the one already mentioned, Polygoum amphibium, Polygoum persicaria and Rumex acetosa.

"As with redshanks so with hundreds of other drugs. Aurore's beard may be Cotinus cotinus, Cymbalaria cymbalaria or Saxifraga sarmentosa. Of snakeroots there are numberless kinds. Suppose the English writing doctor wanted to be sure of getting the right kind, so specified black snakeroot. Then is the druggist to dispense Cimicifuga racemosa, Asarum canadense or Santicula marilandica?"

LEGAL ADVICE.

A Case Where Proceedings in Court Were Unnecessary.

Two or three Chicago lawyers were discussing the tricks of their trade. "A big, burly fellow from the Michigan pine forests came into my office," said one of them, "and told a very mean story about a rich man in town who was trying to cheat him out of $2,000 or $3,000 and who had managed to get a pretty tight clutch on the money. The backwoodsman looked and talked like an honest man, and the old miser's reputation was mean enough to match the story, so I felt inclined to believe it. When he had finished I looked him up and down from head to foot. He asked me what I was looking him over for. 'Well,' said I, 'I was thinking that if I were over six feet tall and as powerful a man as you I wouldn't hire a lawyer to help me get that money.' The man's excited face smoothed out into blank astonishment. 'What do you mean?' he said. I answered: 'I mean just what I say. You are sure, are you, that he has that money in his office?' 'He had it there last night,' 'Well, you don't need a lawyer.' 'The man turned on his heel and left without another word. In a day or two he sent me a check for $50 and his thanks for my advice.'

Old French Bonfire. Probably the strangest detail recorded of the old midsummer eye bonfires is one in connection with those that used to be lighted in the Palace de Grove in Paris. The main constituent of the bonfire was a tree, which the king was accustomed to fire with his own hands, the ashes being afterward carried home by the people for good luck. Louis XIV. was the last king who did his part. A mysterious item of earlier times was the burning in the bonfire of a barrel, bag or basket full of cats. The registers of Paris show that a hundred souls were paid to an official for having provided during three years (1571-73) "all the cats required, as usual, for the fire," and also in one year, when the king was present, "a fox, to give pleasure to his majesty and for having provided a great bag of linen in which the said cats were."—London Chronicle.

Sixteen Miles Underground. The most remarkable canal in the world is the one between Worsley and St. Helens, in the north of England. It is sixteen miles long and underground from end to end. In Lancashire the coal mines are very extensive, half the county being undermined. Many years ago the managers of the Duke of Bridgport's estates thought they could save money by transporting the coal underground instead of on the surface; therefore the canal was constructed and the mines connected and drained at the same time.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Wise Son. "A dislike," said the gentle philosopher, "should not lead us to any active demonstration. We should merely seek to avoid its object."

"You needn't worry about that," said the belle. "The knowledge comes by nature. The most important thing is to know when he isn't going to."

ARIZONA NEWS NOTES

Cochise County.

Arizona's bitterest political fight, which has several times threatened to become tragic, has culminated in Cochise County in the indictment of Harry C. Hibben, county recorder, on two counts by the September grand jury, at Flagstaff. The indictments found against Recorder Hibben, charge him with embezzling county funds and failure to keep a record of the money he received in fees as recorder. Flagstaff and all of Cochise County has been stirred by Hibben's indictment as it has never been stirred before.

Gila County.

At a mass meeting held in Globe a few days ago the citizens of that place decided almost unanimously to proceed with incorporation. Globe is probably the largest place in the southwest that is not incorporated, and a great deal larger than many towns that have reason to be quite proud and boastful. For some reason there has been a prejudice in Globe against incorporation, but it seems to have finally faded away. The town had some kind of village incorporation years ago and that fact seems to have left a bad taste in the mouths of some of the old settlers.

Pima County.

Overcome with grief through the death of James Davis, the aged Californian and Arizonian, who met death through fatal injuries received in a fall from a bicycle, Miss Bessie Chase attempted suicide with a .38 calibre revolver, a few days ago at Tucson. She shot herself in the forehead and the bullet just grazed the brain. The parents of the young woman were in the house when the fatal shot was fired. Mrs. Chase heard the report and rushed to the room to find her daughter lying upon the floor in a pool of blood. The nature of the wound is such as to make her condition critical. James Davis was an old friend of the Chase household and had quarters in the rear of the residence. Miss Chase was greatly attached to him and his death proved a great shock to her.

Maricopa County.

One of the attractive and novel features of the second annual fair at Phoenix, will be the cowboy relay race for the championship of Arizona. This race will be confined to residents of the territory and the rules are such that the race will be determined by both the speed of the horses and the skill of the riders.

Mrs. McCall of Phoenix, the mother of Herman McCall, is in receipt of a letter from him saying the Dr. Stone automobile had been shipped to Phoenix from Buffalo. The date the letter was written, Mr. McCall had made 209 miles in the machine, traveling from London, Canada. En route west he will visit the automobile factories at Cincinnati, Toledo and Chicago. He has been gone from Phoenix nearly five months.

The blow flies are again getting in their work in Arizona, and this year the first case is reported in the Salt River Valley. A few days ago L. A. Smith of Mesa was doing work in his yard and a small fly kept buzzing continually about his face. He brushed it away time and time again, but it finally darted into his nose and was there for a moment. Its presence was accompanied by an itching sensation and in a few minutes it crawled out. In a couple of days his nose began to pain him and he called a doctor, who, after learning the circumstances, administered chloroform and removed twenty-six screw worms from the man's head. Smith is still quite sick but is out of danger.

Cochise County.

Public gambling has been placed under the lid at Douglas. By a vote of 321 to 248 the people there decided that they wanted no more of the open game. Great interest was taken in the election on both sides. It was a battle of ballots worth while. A total of 573 votes were polled. Four of these were thrown out on challenge. Both sides did a world of electioneering. The proceedings were quiet and orderly. The gamblers were rather more disappointed than surprised. The church people are naturally exuberant.

Two Nacozari engines collided at Agua Prieta several days ago, due to a mistake in throwing a switch, and both were badly smashed. Two passenger coaches were somewhat shattered. None of the passengers were seriously hurt, although a few were scratched, bruised and shaken up.

William Thom, well known to old-time Bisbeeites as one of the pioneers of the district, died recently at the Copper Queen Hospital after a long fight against the ravages of a chronic liver trouble. He was seventy-six years of age at the time of his death. One son survives him. He is a resident of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Improvements are being made at the Territorial reform school at Ben-

SKIN DISEASES

FIERY ACIDS IN THE BLOOD

All skin diseases are due to the same cause—an excess of acid in the blood caused by faulty assimilation of food and poor bowel action; this fiery acid matter is forced to the surface through the pores and glands. Pustules are formed, discharging a sticky fluid which dries and makes a crust, causing intense itching. When the crusts or scabs are scratched off the skin is left raw and bleeding. Sometimes skin diseases are in the dry form, and bran-like scales come on the flesh, or the skin becomes hard and dry, often cracking, and the painful itching causes acute suffering. It does not matter how the trouble is manifested, the cause is the same—an excess of acid in the blood. Salves, powders, cooling washes, etc., while they relieve the itching and give the sufferer temporary comfort, cannot cure the trouble because they do not reach the acid laden blood. The best treatment for all skin diseases is S. S. S., a remedy that is purely vegetable and one which acts directly on the blood with a cleansing, healing effect. S. S. S. neutralizes the acids, and purifies the blood so that the skin instead of being blistered and burned by the fiery fluids, is nourished by a supply of cooling, healthy blood. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired will be furnished without charge.

The local postoffice had the "Men Wanted" card out today. Carrier E. P. Crichton went on his annual vacation yesterday and Carrier Ashley T. Reed was taken seriously ill. The three available eligibles for substitutes are at college at Boulder, Colorado, and in Pennsylvania, and therefore part of the clerical force had to be detailed to carry out duty while the remainder of the clerks was employed. It is an example of how the red tape of the civil service at times hampers the public service for without special permission no help dare be employed unless it is from the eligible list of those who have passed the civil service examinations.

Miss Rosa Pacheco and Ramundo Sals of Rio Tesuque, were united in marriage this morning at 7 o'clock, at the Cathedral in this city by Reverend Father Antonio Fournegue. After the wedding the members of the bridal party repaired to a photograph studio where they posed for pictures, and were then driven to the home of the bride's parents at Tesuque. A reception with a dinner was held there today to be followed this evening by a dance. They will return home on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pacheco stood up with the couple while the marriage ceremony was being performed.

To Her Who Waits

BY BEATRICE STURGES

Copyright, 1906, by Ruby Douglas

"Nothing ever happens in this family," grumbled Molly Evans as she sat by the open window and watched an automobile disappear in a cloud of dust. She knew the girls who had just passed in the machine. They had waved their hands gayly at her, but she hadn't seen them. It was no fun to watch other people enjoy themselves.

"You expect too much," replied her sister Kate, who sat near by trying to make a last summer's dress look like new. "There are lots of things that might happen that you wouldn't like at all."

Kate was older than Molly and had managed to evolve for herself a philosophy that made life easier for her than for her restless sister.

"Just give up and stop expecting things, and they will come to you without any trouble," she added, with a serene smile. It must be confessed, scarcely matched her inmost feelings at that moment, for it is not the easiest thing in the world to make a last year's sleeve appear as the latest fashion model.

"Oh, that's all very well to talk, Kate," burst in Molly, "but what good has it ever done? Here we are grubbing along in the same old humdrum way. You've always been an angel and given up to other people, but you're not any nearer your ambition than ever, and just look at me!"

Kate did look at her affectionately. Molly was nineteen and Kate two years older. They had taken care of themselves for four years, Molly by teaching music and a class of little children, as their town had no kindergarten, and Kate by fine sewing and embroidery. The latter's ambition was to be a trained nurse, but that took so much time and she could not afford to give up her present income even for the prospect of a better one in years to come. She was always called upon when there was sickness and responded cheerfully, though usually her compensation consisted solely of thanks verbally expressed.

"Never mind, dear," replied the optimistic Kate. "Something will happen before you think—maybe today. Everything comes to her who waits. Suppose you walk over to Ferncliff and take this waist to Mrs. Dean. I promised it to her today, and it's all done up ready to go."

Molly arose and shook her curly brown head, smoothed out her pink frock and took the package. She kissed Kate before she started out, but there wasn't much animation in her walk.

"Something nice is on the way," said Kate. "I feel it in my bones." Molly laughed and ran down the steps. She broke off a big spray of lilac as she passed the bush by the gate and carried it along with her. The scent of the blossom brought memories that were both sweet and sad. A year ago, leaning over the gate in the moonlight by that same lilac bush, Dick Foster had first said, "Molly, I love you," and a new world of sweetness and life had been opened for her. Two months ago they had quarreled and separated. Why? Why do lovers ever quarrel? Do they know? Does anybody know? The most foolish and futile reasons on earth—jealousy, false pride and sometimes a tentative desire to gain the mastery. With Molly and Dick it was mostly jealousy, with hardly any foundation, and after that a foolish resolve on the part of each not to give in.

"I will come back when you send for me," announced Dick.

"I will never send for you," declared Molly.

And that was the situation, and that was why Mollie Evans, young and pretty and healthy, with every right to be happy, was taking a lonely walk and feeling herself the most abused girl in the world.

"Maybe Kate is right," she thought to herself. "I'll do things for other people and try to forget myself. I think I'd like to be a nun anyway. I love those white caps."

A tired looking woman passed her just then, and a sudden impulse made Molly hand the lilac spray to her. The woman looked surprised, but Molly hurried on without waiting for thanks. As she approached a little cottage that stood near the road she heard a child's screams, and the same impulse made her rush around the house in the direction of the noise. There in the kitchen stood a terrified little girl trying to put out a fire which had started from some burning oil and which had just leaped to the child's dress as Molly burst in the door. To snatch a rug from the floor and put out the latter was the work of an instant, and in a few moments more the other flames were quenched. After it was all over the neighbors rushed in and explained that the little girl kept house while her mother went out to work. The damage was slight, and neither Molly nor the child was hurt, but when Miss Evans started out again she was a bit pale and shaky.

"Well, something happened, anyway," she told herself as she went along. She left the package at Ferncliff, which was the finest estate in the neighborhood and stood not far from Dick Foster's home. She decided to walk through the village on the way back and had passed the postoffice, the drug store, of which the town had but one, and had stopped to look in the window of the little bookshop, where some new music was displayed, when she heard a commotion and turned around to see people hurrying in all directions.

"A runaway," was her first thought, and she started to step into the store for safety when she noticed a big black dog approaching and heard people excitedly exclaim, "He's mad!"

And so he was. Yelping, snapping at everything, frothing at the mouth, down the street he came. Directly across from where Molly stood was an open grass square where a dozen little children, some hardly more than babies, were playing. Toward them he came, and Molly's heart grew cold within her. Not a man moved except to throw a stone at the mad beast, and even the little ones seemed oblivious of the danger that threatened them.

Leaping, the dog gained the square, and the next instant the maddened mouth would have snapped at some helpless child, but Molly was there as soon as he was. Fear had lent wings to her feet, and she stood directly in his path, stooped down, caught his head in her dress skirt and fell upon her knees, holding him down while she screamed for help. Scores of people rushed up then. Some snatched the children, some picked up Molly, others stood and looked, while one man dispatched the dog with a revolver. A chorus of grateful mothers assailed her ears, but she was so faint and weak she felt only a desire to get home and weep on Kate's sympathetic neck. Just then the 5:30 train from New York pulled in, and the passengers promptly stepped across the tracks to the square to see the excitement. One young man who shouldered his way through the crowd caught her eye.

"Oh, Dick," she exclaimed, "I'm so glad you've come!" and then fell limp into his outstretched arms before them all.

He drove her home very slowly, for they had a great deal to say, and, of course, Dick had to bring out the ring again from his pocket and put it on Molly's finger, and Molly had to tell him how silly and unhappy she had been, and Dick had to tell her something to the same effect about himself, and all that took considerable time.

Kate was waiting by the gate for her, but all clouds of anxiety vanished from her face when she saw Dick and looked in Molly's contented and shining eyes. "Didn't I tell you?" she whispered.

"Yes, you dear old prophet, you did," replied Molly, kissing her, "and it will come to you, too, for when Dick and I are married next month you can go and study and nurse to your heart's content."

A Fish Story.

A remarkable example of the voracity of a trout, accompanied by fatal results, has just come to light. A young man employed at Mr. Sargent's mill at Tipton, St. John, on the river Otter, noticed a fine trout lying dead in the mill race. He got the fish out and was astonished to find that tightly twisted in the most extraordinary fashion into the trout's gills was an eel, which had undoubtedly strangled its captor. But this was not all. Firmly stuck in the mouth of the eel was a stickleback, little fish, probably a stickleback, little fish, being too big for the eel to swallow, had caused its death also. All three fish were very recently dead, and it was quite clear that the eel, which was a foot long, had attempted to swallow the stickleback, but had only succeeded in getting its head far enough down to choke itself.

The trout, no doubt, seeing the eel in difficulties, had attacked it and attempted to swallow it, with the result that his slippery, writhing victim had managed to choke him by entangling itself up in a wonderful way in its captor's gills. Thus the little stickleback choked the eel, which in its turn strangled the trout.—London Telegraph.

The Retort Genial.

A southern woman who is now past her prime, but whose ready wit still makes her a welcome guest wherever she goes, tells the following story about an encounter with what she terms a "northern iceberg." She was at a musical entertainment at a private house in New York, and at the end of a song which had been delightfully rendered she turned with an exclamation of pleasure to a lady who sat near and whom she knew by sight, but had never met.

The woman addressed looked at her in surprise for a moment and then asked coldly, "Have I the pleasure of knowing you?"

"No," was the answer, "but I felt at liberty to speak to you on account of your being under such very great obligations to me."

"Will you have the goodness to explain what you mean?" said the New York woman haughtily.

"Merely that I refused your husband twenty-five years ago," replied the little southerner as she moved away to seek a more congenial atmosphere.

The Great Lantern Fly.

One of the largest and most curious of the many luminous or lamp bearing insects is the great lantern fly, a species of the firefly peculiar to central and northern South America. The great lantern is hardly as large as the common dragon fly or "snake feeder," but like that creature it has lacelike wings and an elongated abdomen. In Central America, particularly in Costa Rica and Panama, the Indians capture them by thousands, using them as decorations for their headresses, saddles, etc. The Frenchman Renard who visited Guatemala in 1892 declared that the Indians used lantern flies and other luminous insects much in the same manner that we do torches and lanterns and that by the light the insects give out they were able to find their way through dark woods and swamps.

THE CAMPFIRE LAUREL.

How the Laurel is Extracted From the Wood of the Tree.

The camphor laurel, from which the greater part of the camphor of commerce is produced, is a native of China, Japan, Formosa and Ceylon. It is a hardy, long lived tree and sometimes grows to a great size. It has evergreen leaves, yellowish white flowers in panicles and is a very ornamental tree, the trunk running up to a height of twenty or thirty feet before branching. The fruit is very much like a black currant.

In the extraction of camphor the wood is first cut into small chips, and the chips are put into water in a still and steamed. The head of the still is filled with straw, and as the steam carries off the camphor in vapor it is deposited in little grains around the straw.

The crude camphor is then heated in a vessel, from which the steam is allowed to escape through a small aperture. The camphor sublimes in a semitransparent cake. In the manufacture of camphor the tree is necessarily destroyed, but by a rigid law of the lands in which the tree grows another is planted in the place of every one that is cut down. The wood is highly valued for carpenter's work.

Camphor was unknown to the Greeks and Romans and was first brought to Europe by the Arabs.

BROEK, IN HOLLAND.

It is Said to Be the Cleanest Town in the World.

The cleanest town in the world is said to be Broek, in Holland. It is only a few miles from the capital, and has been famous for its cleanliness from time immemorial. It is also notable on account of the fanciful style of its houses and yards and gardens and streets.

The people, though only peasants, are all well to do, and all feel a pride in their town. It seems to be the first business of their lives to keep their houses freshly painted, their gardens in perfect order and their yards and streets as clean as a new pin. No carts are allowed in the streets, and no cattle.

Though the raising of stock and the making of butter and cheese are their occupations, a stranger would never imagine that there were any cattle in the region, unless he went to the beautiful green meadows at the back of the houses or the stables out there, where cows are kept in stalls scrubbed and washed like a kitchen.

The streets are too fine and neat for the feet of the animals to step on. All are paved with polished stone, intermingled with bricks of different colors, and kept so scrupulously clean that a lady could walk anywhere in white satin slippers.—Pearson's Weekly.

Part of the Battle.

"A pleasant disposition goes a long way," said Uncle Eben. "I sympathize with the Indian, but I don't believe he'd have had near as much hard luck if he'd been good natured as I learned to play de banjo."—Washington Star.

There is no duty we so much under-rate as the duty of being happy.—Stevenson.

THE REAL LINCOLN.

He Was Not Homely, and He Was Not Slovenly in Dress.

For many years it has been the fashion to call Mr. Lincoln homely. He was very tall and very thin. His eyes were deep sunken, his skin of a sallow pallor, his hair coarse, black and unruly. Yet he was neither ungraceful nor awkward nor ugly. His large features fitted his large frame, and his large hands and feet were but right on a body that measured six feet four inches. His was a sad and thoughtful face, and from boyhood he had carried a load of care. It is small wonder that when alone or absorbed in thought the face should take on deep lines, the eyes appear as if seeing something beyond the vision of other men and the shoulders stoop as though they, too, were bearing a weight. But in a moment all would be changed. The deep eyes could flash or twinkle merrily with humor or look out from under overhanging brows as they did upon the Five Points children in kindest gentleness. So, too, in public speaking, when his tall body rose to its full height, with head thrown back and his face transfigured with the fire and earnestness of his thought, he would answer Douglas in the high, clear tenor that came to him in the heat of debate, carrying his ideas so far out over listening crowds. And later, during the years of war, when he pronounced with noble gravity the words of his famous addresses, not one in the throngs that heard him could truly say that he was other than a handsome man.

It has been the fashion, too, to say that he was slovenly and careless in his dress. This also is a mistake. His clothes could not fit smoothly on his gaunt and bony frame. He was no tailor's figure of a man, but from the first he clothed himself as well as his means allowed and in the fashion of the time and place.

In reading the grotesque stories of his boyhood, of the tall strapping whose trousers left exposed a length of shin, it must be remembered not only how poor he was, but that he lived on the frontier, where other boys, less poor, were scarcely better clad. In Vandalia the blue jeans he wore were the dress of his companions as well, and later, from Springfield days on, clear through his presidency, his costume was the usual suit of black broadcloth, carefully made and scrupulously neat. He cared nothing for style. It did not matter to him whether the man with whom he talked wore a coat of the latest cut or owned no coat at all. It was the man inside the coat that interested him.—Helen Nicolay in St. Nicholas.

Pelted With Epithets.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the most famous temperance advocate in England, was the target of the political wits. During his last campaign for parliament Sir Wilfrid was greeted as a "perpetrating pump handle," "an old cracked teapot," "a confederate molly-coddle," "a washed out water party," "a pop bottle pump orator," "the apostle of slops," "a maudlin mountebank" and "a buffoon." The last epithet was so often hurled at Sir Wilfrid that he remarked it reminded him of "Selah" in the Psalms. His hatred of war and rum led to an epigram which has frequently been repeated. "The country," he said, "is governed by two heathen deities—Bacchus and Mars, or, in other words, by the god of bottles and the god of battles."

Painting and Drawing.

Sir Frederick Leighton once supplemented words of advice and encouragement to a struggling young artist by handing him an envelope containing a check for $250, with the remark, "One day, my friend, I do not doubt that you will be able to draw even better than this." This reminds one of the anecdote told of the visit of old Joseph Gillott, the pen man, to Turner. "I have come to swap some of my pictures for yours," he said. "What do you mean?" exclaimed Turner. "You don't paint?" "No, I don't, but I draw," said Gillott, unfolding a roll of Bank of England notes, "and here are some of my pictures."

Mutual Satisfaction.

"What's this I hear about the plumber and the paper hanger in the next block? Have they been trading houses?"

"Not exactly. They did a lot of work for each other and each had to take the other's house for his pay."—Chicago Tribune.

Richard Oasley, an old time resident of Taos, spent Friday and Saturday in this city, en route from Albuquerque to his home. He had been a visitor to the Albuquerque fair. More than twenty years ago he was for a time a resident of this city, and still has many friends here. He was greatly pleased with the many improvements he noticed while in town.

The Second Annual Northern New Mexico Fair and Fall Festival will begin there tomorrow and will be continued until Thursday night. The principal attractions of the Albuquerque fair will be there and there will be several new features besides. The fair proper will be held in the beautiful Gallinas park.

Celso Lopez, present county treasurer, seems to have the inside track for re-nomination on the Republican ticket. No other candidate has as yet been nominated.

D. S. Lowitzki this morning received a shipment of chinaware from England. The dishes and other articles were packed in hogheads and barrels.

The Sunday afternoon band concerts in the park will be as popular as the evening program, if the crowd down town yesterday listening to the music may be taken as a criterion.

The Woman's Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting this afternoon at the library building, at which time the plans and bids for the new building were submitted to the members.

David M. White, chairman of the Republican Central Committee, is talked of for permanent chairman of Wednesday's Republican County Convention which will nominate the Republican ticket in this campaign. Mr. White has acted in that capacity before, and understands the duties of that position well.

There is quite a lively fight on over the nomination for probate clerk in this county on the Republican ticket. George W. Armijo is a candidate, and has been working quite hard for some time past for success. David M. Gonzalez is also a candidate, and has many friends to support him. Both candidates claim at this writing, that they have a majority of the delegates, but the vote in Wednesday's convention will tell the tale.

Music lovers who attended divine worship yesterday at the First Presbyterian church were treated to a delightful surprise. Mrs. Addie T. Owen, of Greenville, Texas, who is in the city visiting her son Frank Owen, manager of the Santa Fe Water and Light Company, presided at the pipe organ at both services. ## FATHER COUDERT ENDS LIFE WORK

Aged Catholic Clergyman Dies in Harness at Bernalillo—Pioneer in Southwest.

Father J. N. Coudert, pioneer among Catholic clergy of the southwest, and until three months ago, the pastor of the parish at Bernalillo where for over 25 years, he has attended to the duties of that position, died Saturday, after illness due to old age. He was over 75 years old and had spent nearly fifty years in a hard working, pious life in New Mexico, laboring for the advancement of his church and the people. Instead of a sermon at the 9:30 o'clock mass yesterday morning, Rev. Father Antonio Fourchegu devoted some time to a discourse on the life of the deceased priest and requested the prayers of the Santa Fe parishes for the repose of his soul. Father Fourchegu said that about forty years ago, while still a young man, Father Coudert spent a short time in Santa Fe as an assistant priest at the Cathedral. However, he was not here long enough to become well acquainted, although he was well known and revered by his parishioners in Bernalillo. Rev. Father Coudert was born and educated in France. When yet a young man he left school, after being ordained and came to America. He was sent from the east to this city and at once took up the task of learning two new languages, English and Spanish, both of which he spoke, read and wrote fluently at the time of his death. The funeral took place at Bernalillo where the aged remains of the father was buried in the Catholic cemetery.

Rev. Father Fourchegu and other members of the priesthood in this city, were in attendance. Requiem mass for the late priest will be said in a number of the Catholic churches of New Mexico, during the week and the congregations will unite in offering prayers for the eternal repose of his soul.

VIOLATED THE EDMUNDS ACT

John Myers, Alias John Maus, Found Guilty Before Bernalillo County Court—Sloan Land Case Up.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 24.—John Myers, alias John Maus, was found guilty here Saturday by a jury in the United States Court, before Judge Abbott, of violating the Edmunds act. He has not yet been sentenced. His attorneys will ask for a new trial. It is charged that the defendant had a small harem or more wives than the law allows.

The United States grand jury which has been in session since last Monday, Saturday began the investigation of the Sloan coal land entries in Sandoval, Bernalillo and Torrance Counties, for which Dr. Sloan of Santa Fe, and his associates were recently cited by the United States land office, to show cause why they should not be prosecuted for violation of the land laws. A large number of witnesses are to be examined in connection with this investigation and it is probable that the jury will not have completed its work until the end of this week.

The Territorial grand jury was called today by Judge Abbott.

THE POLITICAL POT.

The Republicans of San Miguel County held a convention Saturday last at East Las Vegas and elected twenty delegates to the Republican Territorial convention to be held in the Meadow City September 29th next. The resolutions endorsed the national administration of President Roosevelt endorsed Governor Hagerman's administration and declared strongly in favor of the re-nomination of Delegate W. H. Andrews as the candidate of the Republican party to the 60th Congress.

The Republicans of Otero County in convention assembled in Alamogordo last Saturday selected the following delegates to the Territorial convention at Las Vegas: Charles P. Downs and A. B. Phillips, of Alamogordo; T. A. Haxby, of Clouderoff; Frank W. Beach, of Orogrande; D. M. Sutherland, of La Luz, and W. D. Tipton of Tularosa. They are strongly in favor of the re-nomination of Delegate W. H. Andrews. No resolutions were passed and the present Republican county officials were re-nominated with the exception of the superintendent of public schools. The new nominee is Mr. Walters.

Frank Staplin, editor of the Farmington Enterprise, a live and influential weekly newspaper published in San Juan County, will represent the Republicans of his county at the Republican Territorial Convention in Las Vegas next Saturday. He has been elected a delegate and will carry the proxies of the other two delegates elected, as they will be unable to attend the convention.

Mr. Staplin will work for the re-nomination of Delegate W. H. Andrews, as the convention of San Juan County Republicans which was held last Friday instructed him so to do.

The Republican County Convention for the nomination of delegates to the Las Vegas convention of the counties of Socorro and of Valencia will be held next Wednesday, at the county seats of the respective counties. It is understood that instructions will be given to delegates to be selected to vote solidly in favor of the re-nomination of Delegate W. H. Andrews.

From Las Vegas comes the report that the delegation from San Miguel County to the Las Vegas Republican convention Saturday next will be solidly in favor of the re-nomination of Delegate Andrews. There were no instructions given, but it is believed that the sentiment is as herein indicated.

The Republicans of Rio Arriba County will hold their convention at El Rito tomorrow, and select delegates to the Las Vegas Republican convention. Instructions to vote for the re-nomination of Delegate Andrews will very likely be adopted, but there will be little said of joint statehood, or for that matter of any other kind of statehood, as the situation in that county on that question is rather delicate.

Special to the New Mexican.

Estanola, N. M., Sept. 24.—Torrance County Republicans held their county convention here today. The following are the delegates selected to attend the Territorial Convention, which will be held at Las Vegas: Manuel S. Sanchez, Antonio Salazar, Juan C. Jaramillo, Perfecto Jaramillo, and Candido Padilla. Resolutions were adopted unanimously favoring joint statehood, endorsing the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt, and also endorsing Hon. W. H. Andrews for re-nomination as Delegate to Congress.

ACTIVE WORK AT MADRID

Big Coal Mines Opened Up—Forty Miners Under Experienced Men Employed.

The Cerrillos and Albuquerque Coal Company has commenced active operations in the Madrid coal camp. This is good news to Santa Fe coal consumers who receive their supplies of hard and bituminous coal from that camp. W. H. Hahn of Albuquerque, is the manager of the company and John Lamb, an experienced coal mine superintendent is in charge. About forty miners are now employed and about sixty more can find employment at remunerative rates, if they can be had. The company is anxious to get at least that number for immediate work. The hard coal mine is now being worked and coal has been turned out since the middle of last week. Shipments will commence tomorrow and the first five car loads are to come to the capital. A company store has also been opened and within a few weeks the coal mining camp of Madrid is expected to be lively and to supply work for two hundred miners, if they can be had. The company has leased the properties from the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, which has operated it for many years and which closed down when the fire broke out in the soft coal mine about a year ago; this latter will also be reopened and gotten ready for work as soon as the hard coal mine is in good working order. The company expects to turn out as much coal per day as was ever done in the palmy days of the camp.
