FIRE THREATENS
CAPITOL BUILDING*Smouldering Flame
in Basement Store
Room.*SMOKE DOES MOST HARM*Thick Coat of Soot in Every Office --- Custodian Miller Rendered Unconscious.

The handsome Territorial Capitol, which with its furnishings cost over $150,000, was threatened with destruction at 3 o'clock this morning, when the night watchman discovered the entire building full of choking smoke, as the result of a fire which was fast gaining headway in the store room near the center of the basement. David L. Miller, custodian, was overcome by smoke and fell unconscious at the edge of the fire. He was rescued by his son, Walter Miller, who carried him through a window into the air, where he quickly revived.

It is not possible to estimate the loss at this time. It is certain to amount to several hundred dollars at least. Owing to the fact that the valuable books in the library are damaged and not an office escaped some harm from smoke, the amount may be much larger. It is said that the whole building was endangered for nearly an hour by a recently appointed night watchman, who apparently made inefficient efforts to extinguish the flames without summoning sufficient assistance. This is borne out by the fact that no alarm reached the fire department.

To the prompt work of Custodian Miller, however, really belongs the credit for saving the Capitol.

Whatever loss there may be is fully covered by insurance, the total amount on the building and fixtures being about $150,000.

It seems that about 3 o'clock this morning Thomas Alarid, the night watchman, smelled the smoke which was pouring into the corridors from the basement. He investigated and found that in the long store room back of the engine room, near the center of the building, there was a fire. He could not enter the room because of the clouds of smoke. The watchman then summoned the engineer and several others whom he could arouse having failed to communicate with the telephone exchange because the fire had burned out the wires to the telephones in the building at the point where they entered the capitol. The frightened men made an attempt to extinguish the blaze, which was smouldering for want of air. Being unsuccessful, they sent post haste for Custodian Miller who, with his son, arrived quickly. Mr. Miller opened the windows leading into the engine room in order to let out the smoke. Instantly there was a flash of flames, as the fresh air reached the smouldering fire.

Custodian Fell Unconscious at Edge of Fire.

Before opening the windows, Mr. Miller dragged a line of hose into the engine room and as near to the fire as he could get. He then stood his ground, playing a stream of water upon the fire until he grew so weak from inhaling smoke that he could no longer hold the nozzle. He called for assistance, but the janitor force under the directions of his son, was engaged in getting other hose. Just what happened then Mr. Miller can not clearly recall except that he fell in the smoke at the edge of the fire. His son, entering the room a minute later, found Mr. Miller and carried him through a window to the fresh air, where he revived. Father and son, with lines of hose, then re-entered the store room and began directing effective streams of water on the fire which was quickly subdued. The other men worked valiantly in fighting the fire, removing combustible material and aiding in handling the nozzles.

Cord Wood and Fuel Added to Danger.

The greatest difficulty which the fire fighters had to prevent two long cords of wood, piled in the store room from becoming ignited. Had this wood caught fire, it is doubtful if the building could have been saved. Besides the fuel, the woodwork of the structure was exposed to the flames and that it ignited easily is shown by the manner in which it is charred and blackened.

There is considerable mystery as to how the fire started. At first it was thought that a defective wire from the electric light company's cable caused the flames. Manager Frank Owen, however, made an examination and found the wires intact, except where the force of water from the hose had torn the cables loose from the fastenings. The lights were burning in the building and there was nothing to indicate that a short circuit had been formed. It therefore developed that spontaneous combustion was a probable cause, but whether it is the real reason for the fire is not yet known. A box full of soot from the engine, which had been left in the store room, might have had something to do with the starting of the fire which, from appearances, originated in that vicinity. Members of the custodian committee will make a thorough investigation.

Smoke Caused Greatest Damage to Structure.

The greatest damage to the capitol resulted from smoke. The pungent odor of the fire is strong in the building this afternoon, although doors and windows were opened in an effort to rid the place of the disagreeable smell. Not a single office escaped. The law books in the library two stories above where the fire burned, were covered with a thick coating of smoke giving them the appearance of having been scorched. The Governor's office was filled with the clinging, sooty substance. The work of the smoke was noticeable on all sides. The walls can probably be cleaned after considerable work, but at present in many spots they are covered with a dark coating, giving them an unsightly appearance. Leaves were strewn about the wide corridors where the men had left the doors open in order to clear the building of smoke.

Some Safeguards Badly Needed in Capitol.

The fire this morning has given rise to many suggestions for safe guarding the Territory's big headquarters. One thing is certain and that is watchman alarm boxes should be placed upon each floor. They should be connected with a register in the office or home of the custodian so that if the watchman at night failed to pull the lever at the appointed time each hour, his work during the night could be investigated.

Another timely suggestion is that the exposed woodwork in the basement should be coated with fireproof paint, which has been found a great safeguard in all large institutions and plants.

Capitol Was Destroyed by Fire in 1892.

Santa Feans have not forgotten the destruction of the Territorial capitol by fire, which occurred on May 12, 1892. The old capitol, which cost $200,000, was burned to the ground by flames which originated in one of the cupolas. All efforts at combating the fire were fruitless. At that time the structure was not insured and the whole was a total loss.

REGULAR SESSION
CITY COUNCIL*First Time in Several Months—City
Marshal on Carpet—SideWalls Talked Of.

The city council met last night in regular monthly session. Mayor Thomas B. Catron presiding. There were present, Councilmen H. S. Kaune, R. L. Baca, J. H. Walker, Celso Lopez, G. W. Armijo, Pedro Quintana and Teodosio Castillo. A. P. Hill was at his post as clerk.

For the first time in several months the mayor and nearly all of the aldermen were in attendance at the meeting and considerable business of a routine nature was disposed of during the hour and a half that the session lasted. It looked for a time as though there would not be a quorum and the mayor dispatched a messenger after one of the absentees. A few minutes later three councilmen came straggling in and the meeting was called to order.

After listening to the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the monthly reports of the various city officials, the council proceeded with the unfinished and new business brought to its attention. City Marshal Charles Conklin did not have any report to submit for the past month as no commitments had been served or fines collected. Justice of the Peace Jose Ma Garcia who is also the police magistrate reported a number of arrests. The offenders tried and found guilty of infractions of the city ordinances were given time in which to pay their fines and turned loose. Mayor Catron reported that he had employed two extra policemen for each of the four precincts on election day.

City Marshal Conklin was taken to task for his seeming negligence in the matter of detaining the policemen to regular beats. Councilman Kaune called attention to the fact that he had seen three policemen parading up and down the streets in the business center together when the ought to be patrolling in separate parts of the city. He said that one of the policemen was in the habit of loitering in the park and he had seen this particular officer holding down one of the benches for hours at a time. The matter was referred to the committee on police for investigation, and a report will be made at the next meeting.

The committee on streets and bridges was instructed to take the necessary legal steps to proceed with the construction of the proposed sidewalk from the capitol building to the Union Depot. Some of the property owners interested are willing to go ahead and lay the pavement, but several of them have not as yet signified their intention of doing likewise. Attorney R. H. Hanna was present at the meeting in behalf of one of the owners of property abutting the proposed sidewalk, and he stated that his client was anxious to have the pavement laid by the city and to have the expense pro-rated among the property holders.

The committee on streets and bridges was authorized to proceed to contract for the brick that would be required to build the entire sidewalk. The paving brick will be purchased from the Territorial penitentiary. Twenty-three thousand brick will be needed, according to the estimate of City Engineer J. H. Walker.

Leo Hersch was present with a petition to have an ordinance passed for the building of a side walk on the west side of Washington Avenue. He recently built himself a handsome home at the northwest corner of Washington and Hillside Avenues. He said that he was ready to lay the sidewalk alongside his property as soon as an ordinance was passed to that effect and he was assured that the other property owners would do the same.

Mr. Hersch attended the council

WITTE BACK IN RUSSIAN CAPITAL*Maintaining Silence
---Cold Bomb Did
Not Work.*CONSCRIPTS REFUSE OATH*Of Allegiance and Troops
Called in---Soldiers Killing Suspected Peasants.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 13.—The arrival of Count Witte here yesterday scarcely created a ripple on the surface of Russian politics. Count Witte denied himself to reporters and declined to make a statement regarding his reported resignation of a seat in the council of the empire and being a candidate for parliament. The constitutional democrats are eager to receive him into their ranks in case he decides to be a candidate.

Frozen Bomb Failed to Do Work.

Irkutsk, Siberia, Nov. 13.—Owing to the chilling of the explosive, a bomb thrown at General Rennenkamm, the governor of Trans-Balkalia, yesterday failed to injure him. Two aides de camp, were slightly injured. The general has been on the terrorists' death list for some time on account of the severity used in repressing mutinies and armed revolts. The would-be assassin was immediately captured. Within four hours after the throwing of the bomb he was placed on trial before a drumhead court martial. The prisoner has not been identified.

Conscripts Refused to Take Oath.

Moscow, Nov. 13.—During the swearing in of conscripts here today disorders broke out over half the recruits refusing to take the usual oath of loyalty to the emperor on account of the phrase pledging them to defend his majesty against all interior enemies. Troops were summoned but bloodshed was finally averted.

Troops Kill Ninety Peasants in Few Weeks.

The punitive expedition which has been operating in the Krutberg district during the last few weeks killed ninety peasants belonging to the revolutionary organization termed the Forest Brothers, who levied tribute on the surrounding country. Several robbers have been tried by court martial and executed.

INDICTMENTS FOR ACCEPTING REBATES*Returned by Kansas City Grand Jury
Against Prominent Shippers and Buyers.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 13.—Indictments were returned here today by the Federal Grand Jury as follows: Against David H. Kreskey of Kansas City, a Kansas City freight broker, charged with conspiracy to violate interstate commerce act in securing concessions on export shipments of flour which were shipped to New York over the Missouri Pacific, the Chicago and Alton, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul and the Nickel Plate lines; against W. A. McGowan, agent at Kansas City for Nickel Plate, for conspiracy with Kreskey; against Henry S. Hartley, a dealer in cotton seed meal, charged with accepting a rebate over the St. Louis and San Francisco and Burlington. Service on all three will be had during the day.

meeting for a double purpose. "sidewalk proposition was a secondary consideration. Several years ago he purchased a lot on Johnson Street for which he paid $80. It developed afterwards that the piece of land in question did not belong to the city but was owned by a woman living in another city. Now Mr. Hersch wants to be reimbursed for the amount he paid for the lot. He said that he would not charge the city any interest on the money involved, nor would he expect to be reimbursed for taxes he had paid before he discovered that the land belonged to somebody else. He exhibited checks to show that the money had actually been paid to the city and they bore the proper endorsements. At the time he purchased the lot he was informed that it was sold to pay for survey work done by City Engineer John L. Zimmerman. The matter was referred to the finance committee with power to act.

Councilman Walker said that Adolf Seybert was desirous of purchasing fifteen acres of land on the city grant near St. Katherine Indian school. Councilmen Walker, Kaune and Armijo were appointed by the mayor as a committee to set a price on the land and negotiate the sale.

When the question of the half mill levy on the tax of 1906 for the maintenance of the public library being built by the Woman's Board of Trade came up, Mayor Catron suggested that a committee enter into correspondence with Andrew Carnegie. He felt confident that if the library building was turned over to the city the steel king, who is making a desperate effort to do poor, would donate four or five thousand dollars toward the erection of the edifice. It was finally moved that a committee of two be appointed to act with the mayor in a conference with members of the Woman's Board of Trade.

The Council then adjourned.

INTERESTING HOME-STEAD CASE*From Estancia Valley Decided in Favor of Rev. Ruoff, Defendant by Default.

A homestead contest which was set for hearing yesterday at the local office before Receiver M. R. Otero was decided in favor of the defendant because of the failure of the complainant to appear. It seems that William M. McCoy filed on a desert land claim near Estancia and sold his relinquishment to Rev. J. G. Ruoff of Estancia. Rev. Ruoff forwarded the papers with the necessary data for a homestead filing to the land office here, but before the envelope containing the documents was opened in the mail Samuel S. Phillips, who had come to town on the same train, filed a contest. Had the mail been opened promptly it is alleged the claim could not have been contested. Phillips did not appear for the hearing, however, and the claim went by default to Rev. Ruoff.

SAN CRISTOBAL
HISTORIC SPOT*Rich in Suggestions of Strange People.*INTERESTING PICTOGRAPHS*Cover Mountain Side---Old
Pueblo Scenes --- Santa
Feans Tell of Wonders.]

The San Cristobal ruins which are located about twenty-five miles southeast of Santa Fe and about seven miles south of Lamy are among the most interesting places in the country to be visited. They can be reached in five hours with a good team and the road is not bad. A party consisting of Professor W. E. Garrison, principal of the high school at A. B. Craycraft, photographer, Irineo A. Chavez and Claud Hutto, left Santa Fe last Friday evening a little after 6 o'clock, making one stop of about half an hour between Santa Fe and Lamy, reaching the San Cristobal ruins about 12:30 o'clock. One of the party was interviewed yesterday morning and gave the following report:

"The weather was very good, but the moon did not rise until after midnight. The latter half of the night, however, grew very cold and icicles eighteen inches and more in length were suspended from an irrigation flume near our camp when we arose Saturday morning. A good camp fire was in evidence and we would have gotten very cold had it not been for this. Our bedding was not equal to the occasion. Regardless of the short time we spent in bed, each one of our crowd was very glad when daylight came. When it became light enough to see we were off investigating. Just across the irrigation ditch from where we were camped, are some of the most interesting pictographs that are to be seen anywhere. Many of these were photographed. They consist of Indian heads, deer, bears, turkeys and other figures which are too numerous to be mentioned here. One that is especially interesting shows two Indians, one behind and the other in front of a turkey, endeavoring to strike the same with a stick. The one behind has outstretched arms and is doing all possible to make the turkey pass the Indian in front so that the latter can use his big stick and bring in the game. It is a picture worth studying and one that presents character. Another very interesting view is that where an Indian has shot an arrow through the head of one of their supposed rulers. The figures of both are shown very plainly. The bow and arrow are visible, the arrow through the head of the official and the bow in the hands of the perpetrator.

Respect for Law.

"After shooting his arrow through the head of his enemy the Indian who performed the deed takes his bow in his left hand and points with his right hand to the man whom he has shot. His head is in an opposite direction and he presents the appearance of a man who has in this day and time performed some awful deed and is at the mercy of the law or in the hands of a mob. Fear is in his heart, but it is too late. From this picture can be taken many a thought and one which may lead a person to believe that even during the time when the Indians occupied the old pueblo of San Cristobal, law and order were a part of life.

"Another picture is that of a number of deer. The antlers which the ancient artists have attached to these 'deer' pictographs are very large and especially so for the size of the deer. They seem to be a little out of proportion, but the picture brings to light the thought that in the early days deer was very plentiful and that the Indians had an easy time to live.

"These pictographs cover a space of half a mile on the mountain side which is in the shape of the outside of a half circle. Every rock which has a flat surface is covered with imitations of animals, vegetables, fowls and human beings. Most of these pictographs are a quarter of an inch in depth. How they were cut this deep in such hard stone is a mystery. Iron tools were not in use by the Indians in that time and sharp pointed rocks evidently had to be used. It must have taken several years to do all this work. It shows that the Indians in that day and time were not at all ignorant in that line and were lovers of pictures and paintings.

Finds Old Pueblo.
"Going down the mountain side and across the arroyo we came to the ruins of a very old pueblo. On the east side of this pueblo there was a stone wall, which was 1200 feet in length, extending from the arroyo on the north to a larger arroyo on the south. The height of this wall can not be told as it has fallen and a large amount of the rock has rotted. There were four entrances to the pueblo through this long stone wall. The main entrance was about the middle of the wall and about eight feet across. After examination we decided that the large entrance was used much more than the three smaller ones. The thought is prevalent that this large wall was also used as a corral in which the Indians kept their stock at night. There was also a small entrance at the back of the pueblo on the southwest, leading down to the arroyo. On the south side of the pueblo is a natural wall over 100 feet in height in places and perpendicular almost from one end to the other. On the north side is an arroyo, but no natural wall. From observation we concluded that a stone wall was also erected and afterwards came to the ground on that side.

"The ground near the three smaller entrances both on the inside and on the outside of the wall is not as hard and was not trampled as much as that near the larger entrance. From this will be gleaned the thought that the smaller entrances were only used in case of emergencies. When the enemy was making headway into the pueblo, the dwellers must have made their escape through these smaller entrances which from all appearances must have been kept closed most of the time.

Good Water Supply.

"The water supply of the pueblo was not lacking. At present the water is very strong with alkali; however, it might have not been in the early times. This water at present runs through a ditch, which has recently been made, into a reservoir of about four acres, whereupon many duck can be found during a large part of the year. This ditch has been cut near the edge of one of the two burial grounds which were used as places of interment by the early pueblos. The one near the church, which is not very large, has been explored to a small extent and some digging has been done on the inside of the half circle wall, which is still standing. The remaining part of the old corral. From the bottom of this excavation to the top of the wall is thirty feet or more, while the outside of the wall is about twenty feet in height. There is a large burial ground which has never been explored and was evidently not found by any one except our crowd. The chances are that when this burial ground is explored many skeletons will be brought to light and more information gathered as to the early life of the pueblos there. The ground is soft and pliable and has often been and is today the resting place of many a coyote who knows not what his bed is made of and that he is trespassing upon the dead. The coyote does not confine his range to the old burial grounds was in evidence when we lay down to rest at night. We could hear them far and near and in all directions.

Pueblo Built of Stone.

"This great pueblo was built of stone which has to a great extent rotted away. On the south side of the pueblo across the arroyo is located the old church, about one-third of which is still standing. This church is not so old as the pueblo or it was built of much better stone as, after close observation, we decided that it will stand many a year. Near this church is a crowd found the skull of an Indian squaw, which is at least two centuries old. This was brought to the city.

"The San Cristobal ruins are worth visiting and there, one who has seen the ruins of many other pueblos, can find things that are new and which will add much to his knowledge of such subjects."

BIG ADDITION
TO LOS ANGELES*First Step in Annexation of San Election.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 13.—By a close vote in its favor the plan to annex the large territory between this city and San Pedro was approved in a special election by the voters of the city and the county districts. When the returns are passed upon by the state authorities, a strip one-half mile wide and sixteen miles long will become a part of Los Angeles, making San Pedro and Los Angeles adjoining cities. This is the first step in the plan to annex the San Pedro harbor to Los Angeles.

Washington and Smiled--- Visited Sub-Treasury.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 12.—Secretary Shaw was at the sub-treasury today. It is understood in Wall street that his visit was to consider the money situation with a view to determining whether government aid would be necessary. Money on call loaned at 14 per cent today soon after the stock market opened. Secretary Shaw said that he had discovered no material change in the financial situation since Saturday, when he said he would take no measure for the relief of the money market under the conditions then prevailing. His chief business in New York, he said, had to do with matters concerning the custom house.

A "Duffer" at Washington Keeping Posted.

Secretary Shaw in explaining his visit said:

"You may say there is a 'Duffer' at Washington who is trying to keep posted on conditions and who is in sympathy with the United States."

"How about Wall street?"
"Wall street is not the United States of America by any means," replied the secretary with a broad smile.

UNION LABOR
IN POLITICS*Defined by Report Read at Convention of American Federation.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13.—The recent political activity of the American Federation of Labor occupied a prominent place in the report of the executive council which was read today at the convention of the federation. The report defines the attitude of organized labor towards politics. Again, the federation report says that it does not contemplate the formation of a distinct political party, it does not intend to dictate party membership to any union man. It does propose to suggest legislative measures of advantage to labor and to secure the nomination and election of representatives favorable to their enactment.

"We have never opposed politics in our organization," says the report, "although we have always opposed partisan politics. Independent voting with an eye to single out the interests of labor is urged upon all members of the affiliated unions."

TO FACE CHARGES

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—A federal grand jury will convene here tomorrow and investigate a shortage of $61,500 in the St. Louis sub-treasury traced to the department of Receiving Teller D. P. Dyer, Jr. Dyer's father, Colonel D. P. Dyer, who is the United States attorney here has, at his own request, been temporarily relieved from taking any part in the investigation.

ALLEGED TRAIN ROBBERS TO FACE CHARGES

John Black, James Black and John Murphy, the alleged train robbers who have been held for safe keeping at the Territorial penitentiary, were taken to Las Vegas today in charge of Deputy United States Marshal Harry Cooper and Sheriff Cleofes Romero of San Miguel County. The trio will face trial during the present term of the United States court for the Fourth Judicial District for the third time on a charge of holding up a train two years ago at Logan, N. M. The two previous trials resulted in hung juries. At the last term of the court the case was continued on account of the absence of one of the witnesses for the prosecution. The Rock Island engineer whose train was held up positively identifies the three men as the robbers. The prisoners, it is said, expect to prove alibis through witnesses who will testify that they were working at the mines of the Sunnyside Coal Company at the time of the train hold-up near Logan.

THE SATISFACTORY RESULTS OF THE RECENT ELECTIONS.

The smoke of the recent political battles has cleared away, the results have been carefully compiled and are known throughout the country. That these are very satisfactory to the Republican party must be admitted even by the worst enemies of the party and by those who approve very hard for its defeat, especially where the membership of the House of Representatives of the 60th Congress were concerned.

The Pueblo Chieftain puts the situation in a very clear and interesting way. Reviewing the results of the recent elections and declaring that regardless of the acute contests that developed in several state campaigns and in a large measure controlled the voting on Tuesday, probably the most satisfaction over the election outcome is caused by the return of decisive Republican majority to the Sixtieth Congress. It insures congressional support for President Roosevelt and the policies for which he stands and serves as a guarantee that the accomplishments of the past two years in the way of national legislation will be supplemented by the enactment of much needed additional laws.

It has been repeatedly the history of American elections that the one midway between the presidential years has been the time of reactions in partisan control of Congress. And notwithstanding the fact for the past decade the Republican party has been in complete control of the national government and that during this period the country has experienced unprecedented prosperity, there were those who predicted that the time was ripe for a change in the political makeup of the national legislature. That the Republicans should emerge from the campaign with such a decisive victory is not only gratifying, but most significant. It could not be expected that the high mark of the Roosevelt wave of two years ago could be reached, but the present results are conclusive and all that is necessary.

One of the most satisfactory features of the result is that it stands forth as an emphatic and decisive endorsement of President Roosevelt and the national policies for which he stands. This issue was recognized by the Democratic candidates throughout the country. It was accepted by the people as the most important among the issues and proved to be the controlling force in the voting for congressional candidates. The result places beyond question the popular approval and determination that during the last two years of his term the President shall not be handicapped by a hostile partisan majority in conducting the affairs of the government.

But the significance of the result does not stop here. By the same sign it places a greater responsibility upon the Republican party for successfully and effectively carrying out the progressive policies with which the leadership of President Roosevelt is identified. Every Republican representative who shall occupy a seat in the Sixtieth Congress is particularly commissioned to support and further the Rooseveltian policies. The people have spoken, and was to that Republican congressman who shall fail to heed their admonition.

THE AFTERMATH OF THE HEARST ELECTION.

It would be a grave mistake to assume that Hearst's defeat in the recent election means his elimination from politics; on the contrary, it has developed what a dangerous power for evil he controls. At a meeting of the New York Democratic State Committee, it was resolved by a vote of 30 to 13 that an immediate investigation be made of the conduct of State Senator McCarren and the King's County Democratic Committee. It is claimed that McCarren's active opposition to Hearst cost the latter 40,000 votes. A petition was presented to the State Committee asking for the removal of McCarren and the entire King's County Committee, giving as one of the reasons for that request that they had "destroyed the Democratic organization of the county and made that organization simply an annex or ally of the Republican organization."

In reply to said charge Senator McCarren declared that at a meeting of the King's County Committee he had said some things about Mr. Hearst.

"And if the opportunity presents," he declared, "I shall repeat them. When a fellow hits you on the jaw I do not believe in turning the other cheek. I believe in striking back, straight from the shoulder. If on another occasion I could make my statements regarding Mr. Hearst any more emphatic I should certainly do so."

"Mr. Hayes, who is here opposing me, never voted a Democratic ticket in his life. I have never voted a Republican ticket. I deny that I knifed the ticket of the Buffalo convention. As to Mr. Hearst, I regarded him as the bolter, not myself. And the King's County organization regarded him as a bolter."

Mr. McCarren concluded by offering a resolution providing that the investigation be extended to all the counties of the state where Mr. Hearst ran behind his ticket.

Once they called his "fire-alarm" foraker; now he is heralded as the spokesman of the ultra-conservative in the Senate. No wonder some politicians don't know where "they are at."

the time being Perry Belmont was asked to resign from the state committee by a delegation led by George B. Stoddard of Oyster Bay, in a resolution in which it was declared that Mr. Belmont's attitude was not that of a Democrat, and that in view of his failure to support Mr. Hearst he should resign.

Promptly Mr. Belmont got to his feet and offered his resignation, which was just as promptly accepted. In his stead Edward Bailey, Jr., of Patchogue was elected.

In all these movements looking to the punishment of Mr. Hearst's enemies he had the unanimous support of Tammany Hall, and thus he is at the head of the Democratic party of New York, and will use it for his own sinister purposes. Every effort will now be made to whip the recalcitrants into line previous to the Presidential election. It behooves the Republicans of New York to present a united front to the enemy for it will take all the votes they can control to carry the Empire State then. Without the support of McCarren and his followers in Brooklyn and the Sullivan Democrats in Greater New York, Hughes would have been defeated.

THE QUESTION OF GOOD ROADS.

New Mexico is a country of magnificent distances as well as magnificent scenery. In order to utilize both to the fullest extent, good roads and safe highways are absolutely necessary. New Mexico possesses a delightful climate and travelers, health seekers and people generally in search of recreation would spend several months each year in the Sunshine Territory by the thousands were there good roads and highways for automobiles for carriages and for wagons, especially in the mountain regions in the central and northern part of the Territory, say from Santa Fe County north. The scenic highway between this city and Las Vegas should be promptly and speedily constructed by the Territory, thence its extension to Raton should be undertaken. The scenic highway should be connected with the towns and places of interest in the mountain country through which it runs, by a system of well constructed roads so as to make access to the grandeur and attractive sections, especially of the Sangre de Cristo range easily and speedily accessible.

The fine road system in France is worth many millions of dollars annually to the people of the French Republic. A similar road system in New Mexico would bring about the same result. The present road laws need amending in many directions. The 37th Legislative Assembly will, the New Mexican hopes, pay prompt and diligent attention to this very important subject. In addition to providing for the construction, finishing and maintenance of the scenic highway from Santa Fe to Raton, the existing road laws should be amended so that comfortable and safe highways and public roads will be the result, if not within a year, then within the next two or three years. A commencement has been made and there should be no delay in well doing.

BRAVO, FOR SOCORRO REPUBLICANS.

The Republicans of Socorro County achieved a splendid victory in last Tuesday's election. The official returns give Andrews, Republican candidate for delegate, 619 majority over Larrazolo, Democrat, and the entire Republican legislative and county tickets are elected by from 200 votes for Aniceto Abeytia for sheriff to Jose E. Torres, treasurer and collector, by 933 votes. This is one of the counties in which the party organization was strong and in good order and in which the Republicans stood solidly by party principles, party organization and candidates. Naturally the result is very satisfactory to all concerned, especially the people of the county who will be given a clean economical and effective county administration and will be well and faithfully represented in the House and Council of the 37th Legislative Assembly. Verily, the voters of the county did well for themselves, the territory at large and for the Republican party and the New Mexican takes great pleasure in congratulating them upon their good stand and in doing the right thing at the right time.

The election precinct of Rosa in Rio Arriba County was not provided with Republican ballots hence a number of Republicans there did not vote. Another instance in which the present election laws are vulnerable and defective. The law should provide that every election precinct is furnished with a sufficient number of ballots for the use of all political parties who have made the regular nominations of candidates for office in accordance with law. The present distribution of ballots gives too many chances of fraud, for corruption, for carelessness, for getting even. A change is necessary.

The fines paid by the railroads convicted of rebating will pay at least a fraction of the fees of the lawyers employed to convict. It's an ill wind that blows no one good.

Many political liars in New Mexico will now be compelled to utilize their talents in other lines of faking.

Lazy men have to hustle these days to dodge the work that is offered them on every hand.

The county of Valencia stands grandly as the Republican bulwark of New Mexico. There are some people in this Territory who dislike this fact but the voters of Valencia do not seem to care. They know what they want and have no hesitancy in expressing themselves as behovees free American citizens. They think they are just about as good as the average citizens of any other section of the Territory and in this they are right. They are not a bit afraid of the Democratic counties on the eastern frontier of the Sunshine Territory.

A reduction of taxation by an increase in assessment should be the policy to be pursued in this Territory hereafter. Assessments are entirely too low and many, many classes of property escape assessment altogether that is where the shoe pinches. There are too many tax dodgers and they are found in every walk of life. It is well to say right here that this condition of affairs seems to exist all over this great broad land. It would be funny were New Mexico an exception to what seems to be a universal rule.

The vote of Union County on Tuesday last was 1626. The county went Democratic as was expected. The immigration into it within the past two years has been mostly from Democratic sections of the country, especially Oklahoma and Texas. In addition, the county during the past ten years has been close in politics and its voters favored the Democratic tickets offener than they did Republican candidates. The Republican County organization has done quite well in holding down the Democratic vote.

New Mexico lambs and wethers are in great demand by feeders in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Western Missouri. New Mexico mutton is the best produced and it is therefore no wonder that the animals bring very high prices. When it comes to raising sheep par excellence, both as to wool and mutton, New Mexico is at the top of the list.

A primary election law in New Mexico will work well if not too complicated and cumbersome. Blanket ballots will not do. At any rate the 37th Legislative Assembly should take up and consider the question carefully and thoroughly. It does seem as if the time for the adoption of such a system has arrived here.

In Bernalillo County they want a reduction of taxes paid for the support of the Territorial Government. Now, the question arises, how long and how strong will they kick should an attempt be made to reduce their appropriation for the maintenance and operation of the University of New Mexico situated in the Duke City.

Banking in the United States evidently pays. A news dispatch last Saturday states that the State Bank of New York City has declared 900 per cent in dividends. Its capital was only $100,000, but its profits have been so immense that this dividend had to be declared in order to relieve the bank of a plethora of money.

Nothing can be lost and much can be gained by the holding of a constitutional convention in this city next month. Should this be done and a first-class, up-to-date and fair constitution be formulated it would do the people of the Sunshine Territory great good and hasten statehood.

The Democratic campaign bosses are indulging in the hope that a contest will accrue to the benefit of Octaviano A. Larazolo and will give him the congressional seat for which he was defeated on Tuesday last. Their hopes will prove a vexation and a vanity. Nothing more and nothing less.

The people of the Mountainair precinct in Torrance county were deprived of their right to vote by the fact that the poll books did not arrive in the precinct until the afternoon of election day. Someone blundered.

One of the counties that did first class in the recent election and stood straight by Republican principles, is Taos. The majority for Delegate Andrews was 362 and the entire Republican legislative and county tickets are elected by a greater vote. Taos did right and ought to be patted upon the shoulders.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has increased its dividends, but still declines to reduce its passenger rates. It seems there are certain western railroads in the same fix. For instance the Southern Pacific.

Kaiser Wilhelm has decided that in Germany, a chauffeur shall be called a "wagenfuhrer." Over in this country they are usually called unprintable things.

Know-it-all scientists are wrestling with the problem of why longevity is highest where least attention is paid to the so-called laws of health.

The Albuquerque Citizen wants an adjustment of freight rates and a reduction of the same to the Duke City. There are others.

Indians are in one thing, like bad boys, the more they are coddled the more they have to be coddled to keep them quiet.

T. P. O'Connor should explain how he got the idea that President Roosevelt could help Ireland secure independence.

Several New Mexico citizens are now wondering what made them simple enough to believe they would be elected.

Many political liars in New Mexico will now be compelled to utilize their talents in other lines of faking.

Lazy men have to hustle these days to dodge the work that is offered them on every hand.

Pessimism.

[Rondeau redouble.]

"It's pretty hard to get along today; The world is getting rotten, don't you think?"
"I've heard a lot of people lately say That everything is going on the blink. And so it's up to me to spill some ink On pessimism. That's the proper lay. For times are scarce. I say it with a wink— It's pretty hard to get along today."

"It didn't always seem to be that way. Life used to be a radiant, rosy pink. And now it looks to me like dappled gray. The world is getting rotten, don't you think?"

"Dams Fortune's given me the rinky dink. It's twenty-three for mine; me to the lay. Now, honest, wouldn't that drive you to drink?"
"I've heard a lot of people lately say. They've said it; yes. But is it true? Nay, nay!"

To Fortune! Come and let your glasses clink! Why, what a shine idea to convey— That everything is going on the blink! This is the last time that I'll ever tinkle Er with a rhyme like this. Hooray! Hooray!"

It's done—except this last—this missing link. Hast ever done a rondeau redouble? It's pretty hard—

What He Needed to Know.
As the ocean liner was entering the narrow channel the president of the steamship company, a nervous, fussy individual, came up to the pilot, a whiskered old salt who had spent most of his many years on the sea.

"I suppose you know all the dangerous places in this channel," suggested the resident.
The pilot, looking straight out into the night, gruffly replied, "Nope."
"You don't?" said the magnate. "Then why on earth are you in charge of that wheel? What do you know?"
"I know where the bad places ain't," replied the old pilot.—Woman's Home Companion.

Curious Customs.

In many parts of England there exists even today a very curious custom which makes it imperative for the girl friends of a bride to drench the doorstep of her home with boiling water if they wish other marriages to follow very quickly. At the wedding, therefore, great kettles of hot water stand ready for this strange ceremony, and long after the rest of the guests have dispersed the young girls of the party may be seen keeping the threshold warm as long as the water supply will last. Likewise, in Iceland, where various interesting and fantastic superstitions abound, there is an ancient custom that every bride must invite all her friends to a dinner in her own home, and every article of food must be prepared by the bride herself. If she succeeds in pleasing her critical guests she achieves not only praise for her own skill alone, but she helps along her own younger sisters, who are then assumed to be equally well instructed in the intricacies of the culinary art and consequently have their chances of immediate marriage more than doubled in this northern country.

A Soldier's Vindication

[Original.]

Bob Hazard was a good natured, devil may care sort of fellow, whom everybody loved. His hair was fax, his eyes were robin's egg blue, and he wore a perpetual smile on his lips. He looked so good that butter wouldn't melt in his mouth.

When the Spanish-American war broke out, Bob, who was a member of the national guard of his state, went with his regiment to Cuba and fought through the battles that resulted in the capture of Santiago. He seemed insensible to fear, and his companions said of him that he was too lazy to worry about getting shot.

Bob didn't get shot, but with that luck which comes to reckless people who rather deserve punishment he received a wound just severe enough to enable him to show the scars of a war veteran. A Mauser bullet went through the biceps of his right arm, giving what might pass for two wounds, one where it went in and one where it went out.

Hazard, not being able to handle a musket during this time, had abundant leisure for mischief. Removing two balls from cartridges, he sent one to his best girl, with a letter in which he said that to her and her alone he gave the Spanish bullet which he had been shot. The other he sent to his other best girl, with a similar message. He enjoined each to keep the secret of his preference, since he didn't wish to appear to attach any importance to his wound.

Now, the recipients, Miss Edith Spencer and Miss Della Marsh, were extremely feminine young ladies. While neither were in love with the young soldier, both were proud of the preference. Each knew that the other counted on Private Hazard as one of her especial friends at the front in those exciting days when not to have an especial friend at the war made a girl feel and appear like a "wall-flower" at a ball. The next time Miss Spencer met Miss Marsh after the receipt of her bullet she asked, with a triumphant sparkle in the eye and toss of the head:

"Heard from Bob Hazard lately?"
The response was doubtless influenced by the questioner's manner. "Yes, the poor fellow has been severely wounded."

"I know," replied the other, with an air of superiority. "He wrote me all about it."
"So he did me, and sent me a keepsake."
"He sent me the bullet that struck him."

Miss Marsh gasped for breath. "I have that bullet," she said, "in my escritoire."
"And I have it in my jewel box."
This was the preliminary part of a conversation that led to the exhibition of two bullets, each with a polished surface, which is never found on one that has been fired from a gun, to say nothing of being sent through a man's arm. Had the girls been disinterested they would have smiled. As it was, they vowed that when Private Robert Hazard returned he should explain this strange proceeding and pronounce upon the genuineness of the ball that had wounded him.

When the war ended, it virtually began for Bob Hazard. An enemy awaited him which would have stricken terror into any man of less bravery. His regiment marched through the city from which it had departed with flying colors and martial music. The first communication he received after being mustered out was a note from Miss Spencer asking him to come and see how she had mounted the keepsake he had sent her. He called that evening and found Miss Spencer and Miss Marsh together. On the table was an open jewel box that had held a pair of solitaire earrings, and in place of the earrings were two bullets. The expression on the faces of the girls was ominous.

"Will you please," said Miss Spencer, "tell us which of these two bullets wounded you?"
Bob looked at the leaden missiles. Their polished surfaces should have brought the blush of shame to his face, but they did not. Indeed he took no note of anything, he was thinking how to wiggle out of the scrape he had brought upon himself. Finally, with an injured air he asked permission to take off his coat, which was granted. Removing the coat and a pair of gold sleeve links, he rolled up his shirt sleeve.

"This wound," he said, pointing to the scar where the missile that had really struck him on the inner surface of the arm, "was made by the bullet on the right. This," pointing to the scar where the original missile had left his arm, "was made by the bullet on the left."

The girls looked at each other. "You two young ladies," he continued, "as especial friends of mine, I thought might like to have a bullet that had struck a simple soldier of the Spanish war. Having a bullet for each wound, I was enabled to send one to each of you."

Again the girls looked at each other. "I told you," began Miss Spencer. "And I told you," interrupted Miss Marsh, "that there was some."
"That you were very unjust."
"Do you mean?" flashed Miss Marsh. "Girls," said the soldier, "I am really at fault. I should not have made so much of so trifling a matter."

The victory was with the villain. Neither girl had loved him till his fraudulent vindication, his display of modesty. Then both loved him—while he loved them both.

The enrollment of the Raton City schools has now reached 900. The attendance and general welfare of the schools were never better.

After a hot legal battle, Raton City finally won out in the cases resulting out of the refusal of the city council to grant saloon licenses to proprietors known to keep disorderly places.

An explosion in the Van Houten coal mine near Springer recently killed two miners whose names have not been made public.

The work of building the large Santa Fe railroad bridge over the Cimarron river near Springer is again progressing nicely after a recent delay of several days, caused by the discharge of the engineer of the hoisting engine, who is said to have been found asleep at his post of duty. Already it has been almost three months since work was commenced on the steel work of this bridge, one delay of several weeks being made necessary by the wrecking of the large hoisting derrick. It is expected now that the bridge will be ready for traffic by the end of the month, when the old bridge will be taken up, the large steel water tank moved to its new location and other removals, then the company will run its trains through the city over its new line.

ARIZONA NEWS NOTES

Henry B. Davis, the negro who a month ago shot and killed State Jones and who is awaiting action of the grand jury, charged with murder in the first degree, made a desperate attempt to escape from the county jail a few days ago at Globe.

In the rear of the cells is a room in which the prisoners are allowed to wash their clothes, and while in this room Davis and a white boy named Keenan, who is awaiting trial for burglary, placed a bench against the wall and, climbing upward, displaced a portion of the temporary corrugated iron ceiling and made their way to the second floor of the courthouse through the opening. Deputy Sheriff Gish discovered the would-be jail-breakers before they made their escape and recaptured them at the point of a six shooter.

A brakeman named Howard employed on the Gila Valley, Globe and Northern railroad had a narrow escape recently from being burned to death and is now in a hospital at Globe. He tried to start a fire in the stove of a caboose by pouring coal oil into it, with disastrous results. The cab exploded and in a few seconds his clothes were aflame and the blazing oil ignited the caboose. Howard made his way to a car adjoining and thus saved his life. The freight train on which the accident happened was stopped before the caboose was totally destroyed, but the trainmen lost all of their personal belongings in the car.

Cochise County.
In addition to voting for county and territorial offices the voters of Tombstone elected city officials on Tuesday. Those elected were: A. Wentworth for mayor; councilmen, J. F. Duncan, John Rock, W. G. Buchanan and William Cavanaugh. George Bravin was re-elected as chief of police without opposition.

Pima County.
As she was walking along the road near the ranch of Max Enzenberg, one day recently Miss Anna Blingham was startled by hearing the feeble cry of a little child. Her astonishment was increased later when she saw a little girl scarcely able to walk come toddling up the road. The child was the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Johnson who live near Fort Lowell. The little girl had wandered away from her mother and became lost. News that the child was missing had been brought to Tucson and within a half hour three conveyances loaded with searchers and a number of horsemen were en route to Ft. Lowell. Their services were not needed as the child had been found just before the searchers reached the Enzenberg ranch.

Samuel T. Hughes, one of the pioneers of Tucson and better known as "Uncle Sammy" Hughes was thrown from his buggy in a runaway and seriously injured. Several ribs were broken and a deep gash was cut in his head. He was taken to his home and is reported to be resting fairly easy. Mr. Hughes is 78 years old and is very vigorous for his age.

TOMBSTONE MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Tombstone, Nov. 13.—The remains of Juan Senoqui, the unfortunate man who was burned to death here, have been interred in the county cemetery. From reports had of the tragic affair it is still thought the origin of the fire was due to a lighted cigarette, and Senoqui, who is believed to have been drinking, was overcome by the smoke and unable to find his way out of the burning room. His body was badly charred. The faithful little dog of Senoqui met the same fate of his master, being unable to get out.

RAILROAD THROUGH SALT RIVER VALLEY.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 13.—It is stated on good authority that the Southern Pacific Railroad Company contemplates running its main line through the Salt River valley, leaving the present main at Howie, coming across to Mesa, connecting there with the Maricopa and Phoenix thence through Tempe to Phoenix. From Phoenix it will build in a southerly direction through the Buckeye and Arlington countries and thence onward to a point on the present main line near Yuma.

While it is rumored that there are two proposed routes under consideration, the one to join with the line running from the main line north to Globe appears to be the one which will better meet the requirements of main line traffic as well as accommodating a much better local trade.

There are not a few reasons which might be advanced which would make the building of such a line a plausible undertaking. For through travelers, it would mean a scenic route as well as shortening the long desert ride and within the last few years tourist patronage has been eagerly south after by roads having western coast connections.

MURDER MYSTERY MAY BE CLEARED

Francisco Zapata Arrested on Suspicion of Killing Aged Woman at Tucson Ten Years Ago.

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 13.—Through the arrest of Francisco Zapata, the law has dragged aside the curtains which have hung about Tucson's grimmest murder mystery. Ten years ago an aged woman known widely for her kindly ways, disappeared from the Barrio Libre as though the earth had swallowed her. While her name has long since been forgotten residents of the city still recall the chill of horror experienced when a few days following her disappearance, out among the cactus and sage brush, was found the charred and half-baked body of the woman.

She had lived in a two story brick front house on Meyer street near McCormick street, where a man known by the nickname of "Panfino" conducted a bakery, assisted by his wife and several sons. The accepted theory was that for some unknown reason the baker and his sons had choked and beaten the aged woman. Then her body was believed to have been cast into the bake oven in a crude attempt to cremate it and destroy all evidence of the crime. The body was partially consumed by the heat, but from the trunk, which was merely baked, and some of the aged woman's teeth, identification was still possible. "Panfino" sold out his bakery and left town a few days later before the ghastly crime was discovered.

Francisco Zapata, connected with the Mexican Customs Service, is the man alleged to be "Panfino." The police decoyed him to the American side of the line and there arrested him. At present no charge is placed against his name. He is simply held while the threads of the old mystery are again put together.

Preventives, as the name implies prevent all Colds and Grippe when "taken at the sneeze stage." Preventives are toothsome candy tablets. Preventives dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventives are thoroughly safe for children, and as effective for adults. Sold and recommended in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes by Fischer Drug Co.

Pneumonia Follows a Cold.
But never follows the use of Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough, heals and strengthens the lungs and prevents pneumonia. Ireland's Pharmacy.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Book containing valuable information free. The Bradfield Regulator Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ANSWER IT HONESTLY. Are the Statements of Santa Fe Citizens Not More Reliable Than Those of Utter Strangers?

This is a vital question. It is fraught with interest to Santa Fe people.

It permits of only one answer. It cannot be evaded or ignored. A Santa Fe citizen speaks here. Speaks for the welfare of Santa Fe. A citizens statement is reliable. An utter stranger's statement is not.

Home proof is the best proof. Rupert Martinez, of Griffin Street, says: "I knew that a pretty sure indication of kidney complaint is an aching back, but in my case there was added to that annoyance trouble with the kidney secretions. At first the pain across the loins was the only evidence, but latterly the condition and action of the kidney secretions plainly told me that I must do something for my kidneys or aggravated trouble would follow. I went to Ireland's drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills, took a course of the treatment and the complication stopped. To show my faith in Doan's Kidney Pills, let me tell you that while working at Watrous getting out stone for the railroad an acquaintance of mine was compelled to stop and go home on account of his back. I advised him to use Doan's kidney pills. He acted on my advice and in a couple of days after commencing their use he returned to work."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PROPOSALS FOR FOUR BRICK BUILDINGS. Department of the Interior, Office of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C., October 29, 1906. SEALED PROPOSALS must be placed on the outside of the sealed envelope "Proposals for Brick buildings, Santa Fe, New Mexico," and addressed to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C., will be received at the Indian Office until 2 o'clock, p. m., of December 3, 1906, for furnishing and delivering the necessary materials and labor required to construct and complete a dormitory, and a mess hall and bakery, both of brick with plumbing, steam heat and electric lighting, also an addition to the brick warehouse and a brick bath house, both with electric lighting, all at the Santa Fe School, New Mexico, in strict accordance with plans, specifications and instructions to bidders which may be examined at this office, the offices of the "Improvement Bulletin," Minneapolis, Minn.; "American Contractor," Chicago, Ill.; "Citizen," Albuquerque, New Mex.; "New Mexican," Santa Fe, New Mex.; "Evening Herald," Durango, Colo.; the Builders and Traders' Exchange at Omaha, Neb.; Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Paul, Minn.; Minneapolis, Minn.; The Northwestern Manufacturers' Association, St. Paul, Minn.; the U. S. Indian Agency, at Chicago, St. Louis, Omaha and New York; and at the School. For further information apply to Clinton J. Crandall, Superintendent, Santa Fe, New Mexico, or F. LARRABEE, Acting Commissioner.

In Time of Peace.
In the first months of the Russia-Japan war we had a striking example of the necessity for preparation and the early advantage of those who, so to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale by all druggists.

THE BEAUTIFUL ESPANOLA VALLEY
Finest Possible Conditions for Fruit Raising—Abundance of Water.

The Espanola Valley of the Rio Grande beginning twenty miles north of Santa Fe and extending north twenty-five miles to Embudo is perhaps the greatest irrigated valley in New Mexico. No other valley has a better climate, soil, variety of products or more abundant supply of water for irrigation. The soil in this valley is free from alkali, cold, stormy winters or excessively hot summers; it is shut in by high mountains and as a fruit district the conditions are almost perfect. Thousands of acres lie uncultivated and eighty per cent of the waters of the great Rio Grande roll by unused. Home seekers are settling here rapidly and more are welcomed to help make this beautiful valley the best in the Rockies.

For further particulars in general, prices of bearing orchards, improved and unimproved lands, etc., address Roscoe C. Bonney, real estate and immigration agent, Espanola, New Mexico.

COULD NOT REST NIGHT OR DAY

With Irritating Skin Humor—Whole Body Affected—Scalp Itched All the Time and Hair Began to Fall Out—Wonderful Result From

APPLICATION OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I am never without Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment since I tried them last summer. About the latter part of July my whole body began to itch. I did not take much notice of it at first, but it began to get worse all the time, and then I began to get uneasy and tried all kinds of baths and other remedies that I could find. I was very skin humors; but I became worse all the time. My hair began to fall out and my scalp itched all the time. Especially at night, just as soon as I would get in bed and get warm, my whole body would begin to itch and my finger nails would keep it irritated, and it was not long before I could not rest night or day. A friend asked me to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I did, and the first application helped me wonderfully. For about four weeks I would take a hot bath every night and then apply the Cuticura Ointment to my whole body; and I kept getting better and by the time I used four boxes of Cuticura I was entirely cured, and my hair stopped falling out, but I continue to use the Cuticura on my scalp. It keeps all dandruff out and scalp is always clean. I always use Cuticura Ointment on my face after shaving and have found nothing to equal it. I will never be without it." D. B. Blankenship.

Oct. 27, 1905. Indianapolis, Ind.

RECOMMENDED TO ALL MOTHERS

"I have used Cuticura Ointment for chafing of infants, and as they grew older all skin diseases were given treatment with that and the Cuticura Soap. I never found it necessary to call a doctor, as these Remedies are a sure cure, if used as directed. I am glad to recommend them to all mothers." Sincerely yours, Mrs. F. A. Kennard, June 21, 1905. The Santa Fe Central Railway was at Willard today, where he superintended the loading of twenty-three cars of sheep bound for the San Luis Valley. A special train conveying the sheep will arrive in this city tonight, and the fleecy animals will be turned over here to the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad.

Frank Dibert, assistant cashier of the Santa Fe Central Railway, is expected to return tomorrow from Eureka and other points in Kansas where he went a week ago on personal business.

Octaviano A. Larrazole, the defeated candidate for Delegate to Congress, who has been for several days in the Capital, left last night for his home at Las Vegas.

Chairman A. A. Jones of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee left last night for Las Vegas. Mr. Jones came to the city a few days ago to look over the political situation. He still claims the election of O. A. Larrazole as the Delegate to Congress is spurious, the fact that the returns show a majority for W. H. Andrews.

Jose S. Esquivel of Las Vegas, who has been in the city on a visit to relatives, has returned home. Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, United States attorney for New Mexico, is in East Las Vegas in attendance on the present term of the United States District Court there which opened yesterday. Major Llewellyn expects to visit Santa Fe at an early date.

SCHOOL BOYS GAVE CORN DANCE

Youngsters Who Played "Hokey" From School to Visit Tesuque Raided Lunch Baskets.

Some twenty apologetic looking youths entered the class rooms of the city schools this morning, braved the sour looks of the teachers and manfully stood their ground while the sentence pronounced yesterday was passed upon them and all because they played "hokey" to visit the Tesuque Pueblo and attend the corn dance of the Indians. From reports received from Tesuque, the hilarious youths out shone the Indians when it came to dancing. After "vamping" from school, they formed in columns of two's and under command of the leader, marched the six or seven long miles to the Indian village. Upon coming in sight of the place, the leader carefully deployed his army and the boys then charged the pueblo with wild yells. Even the Indian dancers stopped in amazement while the tourists thinking an outbreak was about to occur, took to the woods. The boys captured a supply of lunch baskets and retreated in good order. They then went into camp in the vicinity and, after disposing of the captured lunches, they rigged themselves out in wild costumes and gave a corn dance, the like of which was never before seen at Tesuque. The spectators said that it was more fun than the Indian festivities. Late in the evening, the boys formed in column and marched back to Santa Fe. When they arrived here the "good little boys" told them what was in store for them at school. As a result, at noon today, the "bad boys" gathered all the "good boys" they could find and forced them to "run the gauntlet." Running the gauntlet is to march the good boys between two files of bad boys, the latter meantime belaboring the good boys with paddles on the tender part of their anatomy.

ROCK ISLAND BUYS MEXICAN CENTRAL

Report of Railroad Deal of Great Advantage to Southwest Heard in El Paso.

El Paso, Nov. 13.—It is reported here on what is considered good authority that the Rock Island system, which also controls the Frisco lines, has concluded a deal whereby it takes over the control and management of the Mexican Central railroad. This line runs from the border of Texas at El Paso to Mexico City. It is further said that this is the important announcement which President A. A. Robinson stated in Mexico City Sunday would be made within a week.

At present the Rock Island reaches El Paso via Santa Rosa, New Mexico, over the El Paso and Northeastern, a part of the El Paso and Southwestern system.

The line from El Paso to Amarillo will traverse the finest cattle section of Texas and will be without competition in that rich section. Either line—the Amarillo or Brownwood—would give the Rock Island a direct line from Chicago to the City of Mexico.

Sells More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Than of All Others Put Together.

Mr. Thos. George, a merchant at Mt. Elgin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I sell as much of it as I do of all other lines I have on my shelves put together. Of the many dozens sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself and given it to my children and always with the best results." For sale by all druggists.

Cut this out and take it to any drug store and get a free sample of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. For biliousness and constipation they are unequalled. They improve the appetite, strengthen the digestion and regulate the liver and bowels.

THE MESSAGE FROM HOME

Is more apt to strike a responsive chord at this season than at any other. That's probably because you've had a prosperous season and your thoughts are with your folks and former friends "back east" or "up north," and there is yearning to visit them and again see the old familiar places.

If you've an attack of "homesickness"—(it's not a serious malady, but it ought to be humored)—write me at once for particulars of our Home Visitors' Excursions to be run October 23 and November 13 and 27. Home Visitors Excursions to Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Missouri. Via the Santa Fe.

One and one-third fare for round trip. Minimum, $10. On sale October 23 and November 13 and 27. Thirty days' limit.

THE MODERN CHILD.

Natural Development and the Fads of the Theorists.

Today even idleness has become a text for child study. The infant must be taught to be idle as he must be taught to work. The theorist who shudders at the vision of the alphabet and the theorist who intends every pastime to convey a lesson toss the child between them like a shuttlecock. "We forget," says one earnest writer upon education, "that the very definition of school means leisure, that the child must have it in abundance and that he must be protected and sheltered from the activities of the great world." Accordingly he is occupied from the time he is three years old doing something which is to mold his character for life, and an audience of adults breathlessly awaits the outcome of every fresh experiment. He is protected from books (his natural friends), but taught "with greater economy of his mental tissues" in a series of infantile lectures. He is protected from using his own mind, but invited to prey upon the minds of his teachers. He is protected from the frank old games of childhood, which are frowned upon as "boorish" and "immoral," and encouraged to think that his most rapid amusements are matters for grave concern. He is protected sometimes from the very sound of words which form part of our common vocabulary and from contact with ideas which form part of our common experience. I have known a family of little children so hedged and guarded lest they should hear of sin, of death, of pain, of trouble, of fairies, of ghosts, of Santa Claus, of Satan, of fear, of prohibition, of transgression, that conversation in their presence resembled those intelligent little one syllabled words which were published in great numbers some years ago for the enlightenment of the infant mind.—Agnes Repplier in Appleton's.

PRETTY EYES.

It Takes Care and Patience to Acquire and Preserve Them.

The woman who wants pretty eyes will not have them circled with dark lines. Nor will she have great eyes under her eyes. The pretty girl's eyes are never heavy in the lids. They are never laden underneath with great lashes. They are never red as the lashes, and the brows are never un-ly.

On the contrary, the eyes of the pretty girl are of the shining variety, beautifully clear, and of the kind which can open wide and look one right in the face.

To get eyes like this one must not abuse the eyes. The girl who sews late at night, the girl who rubs her eyes, the girl who lets her lids and lashes become neglected, this girl cannot hope to have pretty eyes.

The eyebrows should not be neglected. The woman who wants nice eyes brows can beat a little almond oil and apply it nightly to the eyes with a small brush. In this manner the eyebrows can be influenced. Often they are inclined to grow straggly. But by painting them with a brush regularly they can be trained into shape.

NURSERY NOTES.

Where the laundry is considered, children's bibs or napkins made from Turkish toeling have been found very practical. They can be easily washed and do not require ironing.

A nurse who has any nervous habits, such as biting the nails or fidgeting with the hands or feet, should never be kept, as children are very quick to notice and copy such habits, which are extremely difficult to correct.

If a child has a bad bump on the forehead use an application of witch hazel as hot as can be borne. It will take out the soreness and prevent swelling. A little oil or vaseline rubbed in afterward will prevent any tendency to discoloration.

Much trouble is saved in mending children's clothes if the knees and seats of boys' trousers and the elbows of jackets and girls' waists are made double. It is also economical in the

and to buy material sufficient for two pairs of sleeves for everyday clothes.

The Kitchen Sink.

The ideal sink is of porcelain with rolled edge, round corners, porcelain back and open plumbing, without a crack or crevice for dirt or the ever ready water bug. He is ready still, but he must live in the open and not be concealed. A white enamel sink is almost as good as the porcelain and much less expensive. Soapstone and slate are very good, and so, too, is the copper lined sink. The great danger in the porcelain and enameled sinks is the breaking of delicate china and glass. The copper lining is much the best for that. The wooden drain boards tipping slightly toward the sink are a great convenience. Frequently rubber mats with roughened surfaces are placed on these to keep the dishes from slipping. There are besides wire and nickel plated dish drainers, which will keep the plates separated one from another while draining.—Harper's Bazar.

HOW THEY GOT AHEAD OF THE OLD FOLKS

(Original.)
Miss Julia Wardwell had breakfasted and was attending to her canary when the postman arrived and left a letter for her.
"Good gracious!" she exclaimed. "Mamma to be married? 'Sorry she can't come home quite as early as expected.' 'Mr. Arbuckle.' 'Hopes I'll not be naughty about it.' 'What in the world am I to do? I can't get used to a strange man in the house. I'll'—"
A maid entered and handed her a card on which was written, "Henry Durand Arbuckle."
"Well, I declare," the girl went on with her soliloquy, after telling the maid to say that she would be down soon, "this is 'disaster following fast and following faster.' I hardly learn that I am to have a stepfather when I am called to face him. I wonder if mamma has gone and made a silly of herself by taking a young man. She always disliked old ones. So I suppose she's got a boy. Heigho! I wish I had some one to marry myself."

She prinked a little before the glass and then went down into the drawing room. A handsome young man of twenty-five arose as she entered. He looked rather embarrassed and stammered a few incoherent sentences.
"Beg pardon, Mrs. Arbuckle—I mean Miss—no, Mrs. Wardwell, for calling so early. I have but a few hours in the city, and—"
"You are quite excusable, Mr. Arbuckle. I received a letter this morning—"
"So did I. Quite charming, I assure you, to find so young a person. I feared—"
"And I am quite surprised in you."
"I think I shall love you very much. My mother died when I was but four years old, and I have no remembrance of her."
Miss Wardwell looked surprised.
"His mother?"
"I remember my father," she replied, "and I'm quite sure no other man can take his place, but—"
"You will not object to the love of a son?"

Miss Wardwell paused again. "The love of a son? Is mamma to marry a lunatic?"
Meanwhile Miss Wardwell had taken a seat on a sofa, and Mr. Arbuckle, who had taken a chair, got up and sat down beside her.
"You have no idea," he said, "how charmed I am in finding so agreeable a young person. I'm sure we shall get on famously. You will find me dutiful, obedient, loving."

"And I," she replied, "am equally pleased. Just before you called I made up my mind that I couldn't endure—"
"Same here. We have both felt alike. How delightful to have dissatisfaction turned to pleasure! Oh, mother, let us—"
"Mother!" she exclaimed, drawing back. "What do you mean?"
"I mean that father couldn't have chosen a more satisfactory stepmother for me."

"Stepmother! Why, I'm to be your stepdaughter."
"What do you take me for?"
"Mamma's new husband that is to be."

"Are you not Mrs. Wardwell?"
"I am Miss Julia Wardwell. Do I look old enough to be your stepmother?"
"This is very astonishing. I supposed I was calling on father's fiancée."

"And I supposed you were my mother's fiancée."
"Father wrote me that Mrs. Wardwell would arrive in the city yesterday and, as I was passing through, asked me to call on her."

"I have just received a letter from mamma saying that she has been delayed. I supposed she had chosen a young man. She has never liked old ones."

"Well, well! Upon my word! And you're not to be my stepmother after all!"
"I should say not! And you're not to be my stepfather, and I'm to have an old man in the house! I'm disappointed."

"And I'm to have an old woman for a stepmother."
"I shall not live with them."
"Nor I."
"I shall take apartments and live alone, with a maid and other servants."

"You can't do that."
"Why not?"
"You're too young—and pretty!"
"Oh, dear! I'm disgusted."
"So am I. I shall go into bachelor quarters."

"Why will parents make themselves happy by making their children miserable!"

"It's very selfish of them."

"They've had their fling and should defer to their offspring."

"I'd like to get ahead of the governor. It would serve him right."

"I'd marry a clown to get even with mamma."

"I wouldn't mind helping you out."

Miss Wardwell turned away her head. Her stepfather that was to have been moved closer.

"Do you know when our parents are to be married?" he asked.

"On the 1st of July, mother says Your father has business in England in that month, and they are to sail as soon as married."

"Very well. We'll beat them by two weeks."

"Father's a fool."

"So is mother."

"They'll quarrel."

Kisses here interfered, and the dialogue became unintelligible.

THE GIRL WHO EARNS MONEY

She Owea a Duty to Herself in the Disposal of Her Income.

The girl who throws her money around carelessly, who never realizes the difference between use and abuse, who never has the courage to say that she cannot afford any pleasure, is not doing her duty. Her mind is going to be troubled and her life will be full of worry unless she mends her ways.

The girl who earns money owes a duty to herself in regard to it. It is very delightful to buy this and that, to give here and there and to feel that it is one's very own that is being used. Did you ever stop to think that you give so much of your life in exchange for this money? Shall you count your lifeblood as nothing and waste it?

Shall you forget your duty to yourself as a natural sequence to every body else?

The money that is earned so hardly should be spent so that it will bring the greatest comfort, so that it will be an umbrella for the rainy day.

It is the duty of the girl who earns money to be thoroughly informed not only as to her income, but her outgo.

It is the duty of the girl who works to buy clothes of good standard fabric. The girl who works is to be honored because she is a worker, but she must not put on the garb of a butterfly.

The girl who works generally has some one else to care for, and that is much to her credit. Sometimes it is the people at home, sometimes it is a younger sister who is to be helped with her education, but always a helping hand is needed.

The girl who works and uses her money only for nonsense is not fit to control money or to be the wife of either a rich or a poor man.

Learn the value of money. Have that knowledge, no matter whether you are a worker or an idler, whether your income be great or small.

The girl who earns money will never do her duty, will never do what is right, until she is brave enough to draw the strings of her purse against extravagance and sickly sentimentality and to open it to justice and proper generosity.—New York Press.

A BABY BAG.

Good Scheme For Keeping the Little One Covered at Night.

Keeping the baby covered at night is often a difficult task, for the little ones do love to kick off the clothes, with a cold or an attack of croup frequently the result. The scheme shown in the illustration seems to solve the problem. Take half an old blanket (use a cotton one in summer), stitch up the sides and make a bag. Open at the top, put baby into it and pin at sides on to his night dress. He can't get out, and he can't kick or twist as much as he likes, and you can put on a little worsted jacket in cold weather to protect the chest and arms.

The Finger Nails.

The condition of the finger nails is the crowning attraction of a beautiful hand. Black rimmed nails show lack of culture and refinement. Every woman who is moderately bright can learn how to take care of her nails, although it is best, of course, to employ the services of a manicurist at least once a week. Shape the nails with a file, soak the finger ends in hot soap-suds, lift up the cuticle with an orange wood stick and snip away the shredded particles with the pointed scissors. When the finger tips are soft and moist it is an easy matter to push the cuticle in good condition. Never polish the nails too highly and beware of the claw-like outline. Apply a bit of nail rouge, then powder and use the chamomile skin buffer, after ward bathing the hands in warm soap-suds and using a nailbrush to remove every sign of the tinting cosmetics.

Care of Pet Birds.

After purchasing a new bird do not put it in the cage with the other birds for a week or two until it is seen whether or not the new arrival displays any signs of disease which might be imparted to the pets already belonging to the household. Birds which have been kept crowded in cages in shops sometimes contract diseases which do not show at once. Another thing to remember when bringing home a new bird is not to introduce it at once to a very warm temperature when it has been exposed to the cold air. When a bird loses its voice completely it has, as a general thing, caught cold and should be treated for it at once before it strains its throat in an effort to make a sound.

Gum Benzoin.

Gum benzoin is soluble in alcohol, but not in water. Therefore when the tincture, which is a solution of gum benzoin in alcohol, is mixed with water, the gum or resin separates. Put the tincture in the wash bowl, add a little alcohol and then the water.

First Thermometer.

The first thermometer was made in 1621 by a Dutch physicist named Cornelius Van Drebbell and consisted of a tube filled with air, closed at its upper end and dipping at its other extremity, which was open, in a bottle of nitric acid diluted with water. As the temperature rose or fell the air in the tube increased or grew less in volume and consequently the liquid descended or rose. This instrument is now known as an air thermometer, but as its measurements were based on no fixed principle it was of little use.

No Relative of His.

Duncan, aged two and a half, had been naughty. To punish him his mother tied him in his high chair and kept him there for one hour, by the clock. His father got home before the hour was quite up and asked the youngster why he was tied up.

"Father," replied Duncan, pointing an accusing finger at his mother, "I'm completely surprised at that lady."

BASE HITS.

St. Louis' new pitcher, Charles Rhodes, is the smallest pitcher in the National league.

President Soden says there is absolutely no truth in the rumor that the Boston Nationals are to have a new owner.

Manager Clarke of Pittsburgh has not lost confidence in Lefty Melville. He believes that the husky south paw will prove a winner.

The St. Louis National club has traded Pitcher Al Egan and Shortstop George F. McBride to Kansas City for infielder Billy Phyle.

Catcher Kling of Chicago is a much feared man by every base stealer in the National league. He whips them down to second in great shape.

Leon Ames of the New York Giants invariably encounters difficulty in locating the plate and in order to get the ball over lets up perceptibly.

The Cincinnati club emphatically denies having made overtures to Dr. Retzlaff, the ineligible player, now with the Lancaster (Pa.) outlaws club.

Catcher Schiel of Cincinnati is making an effort to back up Hanlon's statement that he is a better man than Bowerman. Schiel is hitting the ball hard and often.

Chesapeake Bay.

Few people fully appreciate the great size of the Chesapeake bay. It is the largest indentation on the Atlantic coast, and it has often been called the Mediterranean of America. On its bosom the navies of the world could easily float. It is 200 miles long, and in some places it is forty miles broad. It has an area of over 2,000 square miles, and it shoots off into great rivers with an aggregate length of thousands of miles.—Baltimore American.

The Mexican Central has recently placed on sale tickets to New York and return, going via the Mexican Central to either Vera Cruz or Tampico, thence via the famous Ward Steamship Line to New York. The return will be by rail over any line to El Paso. The entire trip, covering thousands of miles, Havana, Cuba, and its famous Moro Castle, Newport, and a dozen of the largest cities of the United States, can be made for $122.50. A more delightful trip can not be planned, as stop-over privileges are allowed and the tickets are good for one year from the date of sale. The trip includes the City of Mexico, the "Paris of America." Further information can be secured by addressing A. Dulohery, Commercial Agent, El Paso, Texas, or W. D. Murdock, Assistant General Passenger Agent, City of Mexico.

If you cannot afford to pay for a daily paper, subscribe for the Weekly New Mexican Review and get the cream of the week's doings. It is a good paper to send to your friends.
