'FRISCO RELIEF FUND PLUNDERED

By City Officials Alleged--An Investigation.

PRESIDENT BACKS MOVEMENT

To Run Down Guilty Persons
--Mayor Schmitz' Name
Mentioned in Affair.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 14.—The Chronicle says today that a new investigation is in course of development in the local graft scandal. It now appears that sums of money, large and small, that were sent from different states to San Francisco for the relief of the sufferers never reached the relief committee. Some of these amounts, which aggregate a large sum, were mailed in care of Mayor Schmitz. Detective Burns and about one hundred government agents have been making an investigation. President Roosevelt is behind the investigation.

President Roosevelt is the moving spirit behind the inquiry and he declares that no person guilty of defrauding the relief funds shall escape justice. These cases come within the jurisdiction of the federal government because it is alleged that mails were tampered with. A considerable sum also was sent through the Wells Fargo and other express companies and these companies are also investigating. It is reported that in the aggregate these stealings will amount to a million dollars.

People of Country Contributed to Aid Sufferers.

Following the terrible earthquake and fire which practically wiped out San Francisco, a great wave of sympathy swept over the country. Thousands upon thousands of dollars were collected within a week's time and rushed to the stricken city for the assistance of the homeless and helpless people. Much of this money was contributed by persons in poor or very moderate circumstances and represented real charity.

Indignation at Fever Point When News of Theft Was Heard.

The reports which began to come from San Francisco alleging that a large per cent of this money had been stolen at a time when it was needed the worst, caused indignation on the part of the public all over the United States. Should assistance be needed, it is understood that large sums of money would be readily forthcoming to aid in the prosecution of those responsible for this breach of public trust.

BUSY CARRIZOZO

Division Headquarters of the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad Moved.

Special to the New Mexican.

Carrizozo, N. M., Nov. 14.—Monday was a busy day in Carrizozo. All the details of changing the division from Alamogordo to this place were completed Sunday and at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon the first train load of men and material arrived. Later a second train came in and the town was literally full of railroad men. Today everything is life and bustle at the shops and yards. The machine shop is working with a large force of men, and big gangs are at work laying tracks and doing other work which had not been completed.

With this change, and the increased demand for houses, the building which has been so active for the past two months will get a fresh impetus and every workman to be found will be in demand. As yet there are not accommodations for one half of the people who have been so suddenly made citizens of our town, and two or three strings of bunk cars are pressed into service as sleeping apartments, while the hotels and restaurants are crowded to their utmost capacity early and late.

PRESIDENT LANDS ON COLON DOCKS

In Heavy Rain--Louisiana and Escorts Arrived Ahead of Schedule.

Colon, Nov. 14.—The battleship Louisiana, with President Roosevelt on board, arrived at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon ahead of time, accompanied by the escorting warships. The three ships anchored a mile from the docks. A heavy rain was falling when the President reached port. President Amador had not reached Colon when President Roosevelt arrived here.

HEARING OF OIL CASES

At St. Louis Postponed Until Tomorrow--Attorney General Could Not Attend.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—The hearing of the depositions for the defense in the ouster case of the State of Missouri against the Standard Oil Company, set for today, was postponed until tomorrow because Attorney General Hadley was unable to come to St. Louis before then.

ANDREWS' OFFICIAL PLURALITY 326

Corrections in Returns of Tuesday
Change Final Figures Slightly
--Stood 258 Yesterday.

Owing to several corrections which have been made in the official count, Delegate W. H. Andrews' plurality today is 326 instead of 258 as given yesterday. Where it was stated yesterday that Larrazolo had received a plurality of 206 in Union County, the corrected official returns give him only 196. The plurality of Delegate Andrews in Colfax County was reported yesterday as 770 and the corrected returns give him 771. In Lincoln County, the returns yesterday indicated that Delegate Andrews had a plurality of only 19, whereas the corrected returns show that he had 75. A special to the New Mexican from that county today reads as follows: "Corrected official returns give Andrews 623 votes and Larrazolo 548 votes. Andrews' plurality is 75."

The official returns from all the counties have been received, and according to the figures therein contained, Delegate Andrews is re-elected by a safe plurality. Following is a table of the official pluralities:

RECEIVED SECOND

HIGHEST MAJORITY

Manager J. A. Wood, of the Gold Bullion Company in the Golden mining district in this county, was in town today on business. Mr. Wood was a candidate for member of the constitutional convention on the Republican ticket in the recent election and was elected by a very handsome majority. The proverb that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country" does not hold good in his case. In his precinct he received 51 votes out of 56 showing that there were but five men opposed to him in any way, political or personal. This is certainly an excellent recommendation for a man in his vocation and who insists on a strict requirement and proper performance of duty by the employees of his company. His vote in the county was 1414, he led all the candidates on the Republican county ticket by 35 and his vote is exceeded only by that of one other candidate on the ticket, namely, Roman L. Baca who ran for member of the House of representatives from the 10th district, the county of Santa Fe. Certainly, Mr. Wood has good cause to feel very proud of the endorsement his fellow citizens in his own precinct and in Santa Fe county gave him the 6th instant.

GENERAL WILLIAM ELY DEAD.

Norwich, Conn., Nov. 14.—General William G. Ely died suddenly at his home here last night from heart trouble. He commanded the Eighteenth Connecticut Volunteers in the Civil War and was brevetted a brigadier general at its close.

OREGON MAN BUYS NEW MEXICO RANCH

J. P. Van Houten of Portland Secures
100,000 Acres in Cherry Valley.

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 14.—Judson P. Van Houten, of Portland, Oregon, has closed a deal here for the purchase of the Glen Mora ranch, known as Park ranch in Mora county, consisting of 21,432 acres. In addition Van Houten also purchased the Hugh Wood and Brady ranches and made lease of 49,000 acres in Cherry Valley of E. B. Wheeler of the Butler estate. This gives him about 100,000 acres in the Cherry valley. Mr. Van Houten will convert his vast holdings into a cattle ranch.

PRESIDENT CASTRO MAY BE DEAD

And Facts Concealed to Prevent An Overthrow of the Venezuelian Government.

Port de France, Martinique, Nov. 14.—The Dutch cruiser Kortenaar arrived here from Willemstad, Island of Curacao, and reported today that at the time of her departure from Curacao it was reported persistently and generally believed that President Castro of Venezuela was dead and that his death was being concealed by the Venezuelan government in order to maintain itself in power.

ATTEMPT TO BRIBE JURYMAN

Charged in Standard Oil Case of Ohio.

$500 AMOUNT OFFERED

Members of Panel to Testify
Now Before Court--Agent
Not Known.

Findlay, Ohio, Nov. 14.—According to C. C. Myers, a member of the jury that convicted the Standard Oil Company of violating the anti-trust law, a bribe of $500 was twice offered him during the trial, once on the street and once in the basement of the court house, on condition that he hung the jury and forced a disagreement. Myers says he does not know the man who tendered him the money, though it was the same man in both instances.

Second Bribe Might Have Been Much Larger.

The bribe offered in the second instance may have been greater than $500 as the agent did not state the amount, merely displaying a huge roll of bills. Members of the jury on which Myers served have been summoned before a grand jury to give testimony.

COUNTESS WINS DIVORCE CASE

Woman, Formerly Miss Anna Gould,
Gets Rid of Count Boni After Much Trouble.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The tribunal of the first instance of the Seine, Judge Dite presiding, at noon today granted a divorce to the Countess De Castellane (formerly Miss Anna Gould) and gave her the custody of her children, who however will not be allowed taken from France without the consent of their father. The end of the case came suddenly. The court brushed aside the demands of the count's lawyers for an examination of witnesses and as anticipated, the public prosecutor did not even ask to be heard. In granting the petition giving Countess the custody of her children, the Count is allowed the usual rights to see them at stated periods and share in the control of their education. The Count's demands for an allowance of $50,000 was rejected by the court and judgment given with the costs against the Count.

BRIGHT FUTURE MANY HOMES

To Be Found in Estancia Valley--
John W. Corbett Tells of Recent Election.

John W. Corbett, probate clerk of Torrance county and a real estate agent well known in that section, accompanied by Mrs. Corbett visited Santa Fe yesterday coming here from his home at Estancia. Mr. Corbett, who is one of the enterprising men of the Estancia valley, is a great believer in the future of that country as a farming section. When his term of office expires in January of next year he expects to engage in the real estate business on a wholesale plan and will open offices at Estancia, Willard and Mountainair.

To a New Mexican reporter he said: "This much can be said of Torrance County and that is, when the next election comes around, the many new homeseekers who did not have a vote this fall are going to make themselves felt. They are good, honest, independent people and will constitute a force in politics to be reckoned with. I am sorry that their vote this year could not have been cast."

"Torrance County is booming. There is no wild stampede or anything of that sort but the people are coming in gradually and taking up the land. Within the last year there have been hundreds of farmers who have taken up their residences in the Estancia Valley and I do not know of a single one who has a complaint to make. New houses have been erected on homestead claims and hundreds of acres of soil are now under cultivation. The crops raised in this valley during the past year were really remarkable. If they are half as good in the future, the average farmer will be satisfied. I expect that fully double the number of homeseekers will come to Torrance County during the coming year."

After attending to business before the local United States Land Office Mr. Corbett and his wife left via the Santa Fe Central for their home.

WORK ON ALAMO.

GORDO SANITARIUM

An Alamogordo dispatch says that work will commence on the new sanitarium in that city immediately upon the arrival of a party of St. Louis capitalists who are financing the enterprise. Over $60,000 has been raised for the project. It is asserted, most of the money coming from St. Louis. A St. Louis contractor will have charge of the erection of the buildings, but the exact location of the sanitarium has not yet been announced.

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

It Will Be Two Thirds Republican.

SPLENDID BODY OF MEN

All Interests Well Represented But the Law Predominates.

With the exceptions of Union and Mora counties, the twenty-five counties of the Territory have reported the vote on delegates for the constitutional convention. From these returns it is seen that 49 of the delegates to this body, which will probably meet at Santa Fe next month, are Republicans and 17 are Democrats. According to birth, 26 of the members have names indicating Spanish origin, while the other 49 indicate blood other than of native birth. The following is the list of delegates elected:

Bernalillo County--E. S. Stover, Frank W. Clancy, George S. Klock, Tomas R. Duran and Federico Chaves. Chaves County--John W. Poe and Granville A. Richardson. Colfax County--Charles Springer, Jerome Troy, Manney M. Dawson and Pedro y Santistevan. Dona Ana County--R. E. McBride, I. F. Elliott and Jose Gonzales. Eddy County--E. P. Bujac. Grant County--John L. Burnside, R. P. Thompson and Theodore W. Carter. Guadalupe County--F. D. Morse and Celso Baca. Lincoln County--George W. Prichard and John Y. Hewitt. Luna County--James N. Upton. McKinley County--Edward Hart. Mora County--Frank J. Roy, Gavino Sanchez, Crecencio Fernandez and Blas Sanchez. Otero County--J. M. Helm and J. L. Lawson. Quay County--C. C. Davidson. Rio Arriba County--L. Bradford Prince, Thomas D. Burns, J. M. C. Chaves, M. S. Salazar, E. A. Jacques, Roosevelt County--George L. Reese. Sandoval County--Paulin Montoya and Manuel Armijo. San Juan County--Jay Turley. San Miguel County--Jefferson Reynolds, R. E. Twitchell, William R. Tipton, Romeo Gaydos, W. V. Osigono, Margarito Romero and Enrique Sena. Santa Fe County--Thomas B. Catron, J. A. Wood, J. W. Akers, David M. White. Socorro County--H. A. Wolford. Torrance County--H. O. Bursum, M. Cooney, A. A. Sedillo and Perfecto Armijo. Taos County--E. D. Leon, Jose I. Garcia and Antonio C. Pacheco. Torrance County--Francisco A. Samora. Union County--J. S. Holland, J. R. Bryant and J. P. O'Dell. Valencia County--Higinio Chaves, Manuel P. Chaves and Bolesio Romero.

The large number of attorneys among the above sixty-six members is quite natural, for by education, training and experience, they are best fitted to draft a constitution that will be free from contradictions and error. However, their number is not so large as to overshadow the other interests represented, bankers, journalists, pioneers, merchants, stock growers and farmers. No more representative body of men could have been chosen; certainly none that would inspire more confidence. Such men as ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince, whose experience as chief executive of this Territory and prior to that as one of the men who drafted the New York constitution, and whose name suggests itself at once to all for president of the convention; Jefferson Reynolds, the aged Las Vegas banker; Hon. Thomas B. Catron, ex-delegate to congress; Charles Springer, whose scientific attainments are well known; former Attorney General George W. Prichard; John W. Poe, the pioneer banker of the Pecos Valley, and many others guarantee that the constitution which will be drafted by this convention will be a statesmanlike document of which this Territory will be proud, whether it becomes the fundamental law of the future Sunshine State or not. It will be a document to impress congress with the idea that New Mexico is indeed fit and worthy to govern itself.

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE

Of the Entire Territory by the Y. M.
C. A. of the New Mexican College of Agriculture.

Special to the New Mexican.

Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 14.—Just recently a body of twenty-three members of our College Young Men's Christian Association attended a conference held at Douglas, Arizona. As a result of this trip the whole body of the College Young Men's Christian Association have decided to make a strong effort to build a permanent home for the association.

Our association was formed a little over a year ago and its work has been of the most encouraging nature. Over half of the male student body is numbered among its members and the work has had and is having through its meetings and bible classes a strong influence upon the religious life of the institution.

At present the Young Men's Christian Association has no quarters of its own. The accommodations at the college are so overcrowded that it is impossible for us to secure any space whatever. Even if we should be able to do so it must be remembered that the highest development of the association will be secured in a home of its own and the ends for which the association is striving are virtually dependent upon this.

The students whose resources are limited have begun active work and have decided to raise among themselves and their friends in every part of the Territory a sum of money sufficient to do this. They feel that the college is a territorial institution and a center of general influence and that any moral progress made here must ultimately be a benefit to the Territory at large. There is no college in the United States where hitherto, owing to a lack of religious advantages, there has been more need of the work of the association and, as we have said before, the results have been most encouraging.

Feeling that this is an opportunity for doing we invite you to co-operate with us by contributing what you can and by asking your friends to do the same or by sending us the names of any persons who would be willing to help with the work. Contributions may be sent to the secretary of the association.

Before Deportation to Siberia
--Royalty Fears Terrorists' Bombs.

Cronstadt, Russia, Nov. 14.—Twenty-five sailors who were sentenced to labor in the mines for life after having been convicted of participation in the August mutiny escaped last evening while awaiting deportation. They were allowed to visit the baths under an escort of sixteen soldiers, whom they overpowered, killing one man. The convicts then donned civilian clothes and disappeared. A strict watch is being maintained along both the coasts of the gulf of Finland, but only one fugitive has been captured.

Royalty Living in Fear of Terrorists.

Royalty in Russia is living in seclusion. While it is asserted that the worst of the political crisis has passed, yet there is a wholesome fear of the terrorists on all sides. Few regiments in the imperial army can be trusted with loaded cartridges in quarters. The Cossacks still form the backbone of the troops used in holding the terrorists in check.

INDIAN COMMITTEE HEARS TESTIMONY

Of Whites Who Intermarried Among
Cherokees--Would Sell Lands.

Vinita, I. T., Nov. 14.—The Senate Indian Committee today heard a committee composed of intermarried whites of the Cherokee nation who ask the privilege of selling the improvements placed on their lands and certain other rights. The United States supreme court recently rendered a decision adversely to intermarried whites who sought to sell their share of the lands allotted to the Indians.

Coldwater, Mich., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Charles Mowry and her three children were burned to death on a farm at Batavia Station near here early today. It is thought that they were suffocated while asleep.

WATCHMAN ALARM BOXES FOR CAPITOL

Custodian Committee Decided That
They Were Needed--To Adjust
Loss With Insurance Companies

The Capitol Custodian Committee met yesterday afternoon in the office of its secretary, A. A. Keen, and listened to the reports of the custodian and others regarding the fire which, early yesterday morning, threatened to destroy the handsome structure.

It was the general opinion that the fire resulted from a defective light wire. The members of the committee decided that this was the probable cause after viewing the room in which the fire occurred. From the appearances, they decided that the flames had started at the ceiling and had burned downward, thus giving the impression that wires caused the fire.

After a general discussion, it was also decided that there should be a system of keeping tabs on the night watchman. The installation of watchman alarm boxes was suggested and the secretary was instructed to write to the manufacturing firms and secure prices. The boxes will undoubtedly be installed and the night watchman will then be kept busy making the rounds of the structure in order to pull the boxes at certain intervals.

A local contractor was asked to make a thorough inspection of the damage done to the building by the flames, and a statement of loss or damage to fixtures, books and documents, if any, will be prepared. The insurance companies were notified of the fire and asked to make arrangements for estimating and settling the loss.

LOCAL FREIGHT TRAFFIC PROFITABLE

Claimed by Missouri in Suit Against Burlington Railroad--Test
Rate Law.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—E. M. Fleser of St. Paul, an expert accountant employed by the state of Missouri to examine the books of the Burlington railroad, was on the stand this morning in the maximum freight rate hearing, which is being conducted here by Attorney General Hadley. He made the statement that the Burlington frequently charged a rate for the movement of freight less than that named in the Missouri maximum rate law now being contested. The state sprung a surprise when it announced that it would place Charles S. Ludham of New York on the stand to disprove the claim of the Burlington that there was little profit in the handling of local freight. Ludham is an expert and the state asserted that it would prove by him that the local freight business is exceedingly profitable to railroads in Missouri.

MORE PAY FOR RAILROAD MEN

President Ripley Vaguely Remarks
That Concessions Will Be Made by Trans-Continental Line.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Rumors of a general raise in wages on all three of the trans-continental railroads--the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe and the Salt Lake--were verified to some extent here yesterday by President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe. He stated that various Western railroads had sent representatives to a meeting to be held in this city next Saturday at which the claims of the several unions of railroad employees that are entitled to higher wages will be given consideration. "There will be some increase in wages on all trans-continental railroads," said Mr. Ripley, "but the various unions will not get all they are asking for. I cannot state now just what departments are likely to receive increased pay or how much. But the railroads will grant something soon."

MAJOR RUST IS NO MORE

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Major Horatio Nelson Rust, a noted archaeologist, Indian authority, philanthropist, friend and companion of John Brown and a veteran of the Civil War, died in South Pasadena today, aged 78 years. He has been identified with public interests in this section for twenty years.

FATHER WOULD ANNUL MARRIAGE

Of Son--Prince De
Broglie Wedded
American.

NOW IN VAUDEVILLE

Girl Was an Actress--The Ceremony Took Place in Chicago.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Prince Ademe de Broglie, the father of Prince Robert de Broglie, has filed in the Paris courts a demand for an annulment of his son's marriage with Miss Estelle Alexander of California.

Prince De Broglie and his wife are now touring the country in vaudeville.

Miss Alexander was married to the Prince on August 14 in Chicago and it was claimed at the time that the marriage was not valid according to the laws of France because the Prince's divorce from his former wife has not been approved.

Prince Hides Behind Laws of Illinois.

The Prince, however, claims his marriage is legal under the laws of Illinois and has instructed his lawyer in Paris to bring suit against his family to compel them to recognize his marriage and also to recover the interests to which he is entitled.

FARMERS FOR ESTANCIA VALLEY

Party From Oklahoma Found Fine
Locations Near Moriarty Station
--Some Predictions.

The party consisting of seven citizens of Newkirk, Kay county, Oklahoma, has returned from the Estancia Valley, where its members examined conditions with a view to settling and becoming permanent residents. They preferred the northern part of the county and have made homestead entries on a tract about four miles west of Moriarty station, on the Santa Fe Central Railway. The following made homestead entries of tracts of 160 acres each: Joseph Chambers, Robert Walker, Westley Walkup, Bert Bailey, Mrs. R. A. Sullivan, Judge Huber and Dr. Leape.

They are practical farmers and Mr. Chambers said to a reporter of the New Mexican:

"We are well pleased with the locations we have made. The ground is rich and virgin; I have farmed for the past eighteen years partly in Illinois and during the past eleven years in Oklahoma. I believe we will be able to raise good crops of cereals, vegetables and potatoes on the lands we have taken up. Of course we will have to cultivate strongly and work hard, as we intend to raise crops without irrigation. I fully believe we will succeed. Water on the tract we have homesteaded is in abundance and of the best quality. In a well which is now being dug on one of the quarter-sections a strong flow of the best water was struck at a depth of twenty-five feet and there is now eighteen feet of water in the well. The country is prairie and now supports a luxuriant growth of alfalfa, grama grass as I ever saw. We expect to leave for our old homes either tonight or tomorrow and we will be back in time to put in crops next year, to build homes, erect fences and improve the land for next season. We will bring considerable live stock, also farming implements and household goods and our families will accompany us."

"We will endeavor to induce our friends and neighbors in Oklahoma who desire to better their conditions to come to the Estancia Valley in the Sunshine Territory and do so. The climate of New Mexico is so far superior to that of Oklahoma that the two should not be mentioned at the same time. Although this is November the weather in the Estancia Valley was fine and every day we basked in very mild and pleasant, you might say, spring weather."

Mr. Chambers reported that Mr. Spahr, a friend and neighbor, at Newkirk, had purchased a well boring outfit that will go a depth of 3,000 feet and has shipped the same to the Estancia Valley to bore for Artesian water. His son is now in Estancia waiting for the arrival of the drill to commence active operations. If Artesian water is discovered in the valley by the first of January 1908, he predicts that there will be about 5,000 Oklahoma farmers in the Estancia Valley.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

LET THE TRUTH BE TOLD.

The Roswell correspondent of the El Paso Herald permits his political bias and personal spleen to run away with him when he says that the "Republican defeat" in New Mexico is due to the record of the past two legislative assemblies, the exposure of the penitentiary management under Hon. H. O. Bursum and the connection of Delegate W. H. Andrews with the Enterprise bank failure. Were these assertions made by the yellow press of New Mexico they would not be worthy of refutation but in the El Paso Herald, a Republican newspaper of wide circulation, they deserve attention.

In the first place, there has been no Republican defeat. The Republicans have elected their candidate for congress; they have elected a legislature with more than three-fourths Republican majority; they have elected the great majority of their candidates for county offices. In other words, the voters have endorsed the Republican party and its candidates territorially, have approved the legislative policy of the party, especially the actions of the legislative assemblies of 1903 and 1905, which have been most bitterly assailed, and have expressed satisfaction with Republican county management.

Although Delegate Andrews received as large a vote on November 6 as he did two years ago, there was a defection of Republican votes in certain parts of the Territory. The New Mexican has pointed out the falsehoods and the animus of those who have sought to accuse him of wrecking the Enterprise Bank; it has demonstrated that Hon. H. O. Bursum was innocent of any intentional wrongdoing in the management of the Territorial penitentiary and had built it up into a splendid penal institution; a Territorial grand jury after a thorough investigation cleared him of all charges of criminal culpability in such shortcomings which it was alleged had been disclosed by a so-called ex-parte investigation, until even his most obtuse enemies began to understand that the movement was directed against him personally with the motive of destroying him politically. The New Mexican has also shown that the Republican legislative assemblies have to their credit a remarkably large amount of salutary legislation.

But it was not these accusations that took away votes of the Republican party from Delegate W. H. Andrews. Those arguments were most widely circulated in the lower Pecos Valley and there would have attained a maximum effect. But what was the result? The Democratic majority given there was five hundred less than what the Republicans had conceded before election day; the increase in the Republican vote was greater in percent than the increase of the Democratic vote. Next to the Pecos Valley, it was in the large cities that these arguments would have created the most adverse effect. But what was the result there? The cities stood, with but one exception, by their former Republican majorities or polled at least as large a Republican vote as they did two years ago.

Next to the Pecos Valley and the cities, the effect of the accusations against Delegate W. H. Andrews and Hon. H. O. Bursum would have had the most powerful influence among the new voters, the newcomers to the Territory who did not see the motive behind them. But look at the returns. The Republicans received a much larger share of the new vote than they had counted upon. Where then were the defections? In Rio Arriba and other counties, in precincts far away from railroad and telegraph, where newspapers are rather scarce and among voters of whom not one in ten knew of the failure of the Enterprise bank or of a so-called penitentiary investigation, and even if they had known would not have been moved from their political allegiance by this knowledge. The greatest political surprise and the most complete political revolution occurred in Rio Arriba County, and it is easily accounted for. The causes are so well known that they need hardly be reiterated. The old Bismarckian maxim that blood is thicker than water is the keynote to the situation and explains why O. A. Larrazolo came so near to election. The method employed was contemptible, it was treason and treachery.

The Republicans could have counteracted it by circulating in these very same precincts the resolutions of the Eddy County Democracy excluding native voters from their primaries, by distributing translated copies of the editorials in the Pecos Valley press asserting that the native voters of New Mexico were a class by themselves hardly as fit for the franchise as the negroes of the South; but an appeal to race prejudice is a two-edged sword and the race fire easily kindled will soon assume the proportions of a conflagration difficult to extinguish. The Democratic party by its methods has lit its own funeral pyre and New Mexico today is more solidly Republican than ever before. Instead of being a rebuke to the Republican party, the splendid Republican legislative majority; the success of Republican candidates for county offices and the election of Delegate W. H. Andrews to Congress in the face of the most vituperative opposition, are a magnificent indication of Republican policies and Republican candidates.

To sum up, The voters of native birth who deserted the head of the Republican ticket are only a small percentage of all the native voters; they are not to blame, for they were simply deluded and their pride of race and birth was appealed to in such a manner that they could not resist. In 1904, Delegate W. H. Andrews polled 22,365 votes; this year he polled over 23,000 votes, a gain of 1000; two years ago his opposition polled 20,706 votes. This year 23,000 votes, a gain of 2300 or an actual gain over the Republicans of about 2000. Two years ago, Rio Arriba County gave Andrews 1024 majority, this year it gave Larrazolo a majority of 218, a Democratic gain in this one county of 1245, or as much almost as the entire Democratic gain over the Republicans in the whole Territory. This shows where the defection occurred and proves conclusively that no other cause had the potency exercised by this appeal to race prejudice by the Democratic bosses made too late to be refuted before the ballots were cast. Two years hence the Republicans may fight fire with fire, and then watch the result!

GOVERNOR CREEL'S PHILANTHROPIC PLANS.

Enrique Creel, governor of the State of Chihuahua, for many years one of the leading and most public spirited citizens of the sister republic, is a philanthropist and always at work to better the conditions of his fellow citizens, not only in the state of which he is governor, but also of the republic at large. He is a man of superior attainments, brainy, well educated and a financier of great success and acumen. Referring to Governor Creel's latest idea in sociology and to improve the conditions of the laboring men of his state, the El Paso Herald, published in a city just north of the State of Chihuahua, and well posted on affairs in the Mexican states to the south of El Paso, says that Governor Creel of Chihuahua wants to see the laboring class better its lot. He will urge the legislature to enact a homestead law, under which homesteads will be exempt from execution for debt. The object is to protect the natives against their own thriftlessness.

As part of the plan the government will sell to workingmen, lands in the municipalities at half the usual rates, on certain conditions. Five years will be given to pay for the land, and the land so acquired cannot be sold or mortgaged without the consent of the government. Houses built on the lots will be free from tax for 10 years.

A most curious and interesting proposal of the Governor is that the mayors of the twelve districts of the state keep a register of the laboring class; and that to every man who keeps from violating any law during five years, the state give a bronze medal; for ten years' good behavior, a silver medal; for fifteen years, a medal of gold. It looks like a big contract, but maybe not.

Finally, the labor unions and mutual societies will be allowed to elect each year one of their number, who will be given a tract of land by the state; the idea back of this is that the award will go to men who have rendered special service to the laboring classes.

The progress of the Chihuahua experiments will be watched with much interest throughout the United States.

CHAS. A. SPIESS FOR PRESIDENT.

The New Mexican takes pleasure in reproducing from its esteemed contemporary, the Las Vegas Optic, approval of the New Mexican's nomination of Hon. Charles A. Spiess for president of the Council of the next Assembly. The New Mexican reproduces the editorial that the people of the Territory may know how the friends and neighbors of Mr. Spiess feel on the subject. The Optic says:

"An agitation has been begun in favor of Hon. Chas. A. Spiess of this city as president of the Territorial Council. It is not likely that any other name will be suggested in opposition to Mr. Spiess, who is peculiarly fitted for the position. He is a masterly parliamentarian. He has had long legislative experience. Time and again, because of ability to preside over the deliberations of an organized body, he has been chosen chairman of Territorial and county conventions of his party. He is discerning, fair and well posted on all the finer points of parliamentary practice.

"Mr. Spiess will make an ideal president of the legislative council. He has adorned every position to which he has ever been elected or appointed. Young able, strong and just, one of the highest honors that can be conferred in the Territory will be given when Mr. Spiess is chosen as president of the Council, but it is in the minds of the people of New Mexico to honor him still more highly. He has served well in the Territorial legislative halls and the members of his party anticipate seeing him, before many years have passed over his head, serving in the interests of the Territory in the national field."

TIME TO CALL A HALT.

The slaughter of the innocents still goes on apace. In the press dispatches of last Monday a half dozen railway disasters were reported, all attended with the loss of much life and afflicting bodily injury on many people. The wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad near Woodville, Indiana, in which an immigrant train collided with a freight train because proper train orders had not been sent, is certainly an awful example of the reckless disregard and inattention to life and bodies of passengers that characterizes the management of many of the railroads of the country. It seems that the time to put a stop to this nefarious and bloody business has arrived. Great commotion is made over freight and passenger rates and legislation is enacted to bring about a fair and just treatment of such. So far, however, on the other side, comparatively speaking, little has been done for the protection of human life and body on railroad trains. Is it not time to call a halt?

A new Santa Fe railway depot in this city and a comfortable and commodious hotel at Lamy are the needs of the hour on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway system in this Territory. The road is making extensive improvements all along its lines for which millions and millions of dollars have been appropriated. It is not too much to ask for an appropriation of $50,000 for the purposes above named for the city and county from which the road gets its name, which name has given it prestige and fame. This is respectfully but earnestly referred to General Manager James E. Hurley at Topeka.

Dona Ana did not do as well as was expected but as its voters gave a fair majority for Delegate W. H. Andrews and heavy majorities for the legislative and county tickets it is well to consider that "all's well that ends well." The "lump in the Andrews vote" there cannot be ascribed to the creation of forest reserve, nor the sale or leasing by the Territory of large bodies of land to cattle men. Presumably, other false charges were sent to the native born voters by the Democratic campaign committee and influenced them to some extent.

The cattle kings and land barons of Chaves, Eddy, Socorro and Grant counties who are holding large bodies of land which they would not sell at $20.00 per acre and who are returning them for taxation at less than one-twentieth of their value are howling for economy and reduction of taxes. . . . course they are; they deserve pity; they are so poor and down-trodden and so overwhelmed by the wicked and nefarious legislation of the "Mexicans." This burdensome taxation will ruin them if something is not done for their immediate benefit.

The county of Lincoln cast 1019 votes in the recent election. The voters gave Delegate W. H. Andrews a majority of 19 and defeated the entire Republican county ticket. Lincoln County years ago was strongly Democratic but is now in the doubtful list. Unfortunately, no intense campaign was made in the county. Had such an one been had it looks now as if the county would have given 100 and more for Delegate Andrews. The Republicans will know better next time.

It is understood that Roman L. Baca of this city, member elect of the Ninth District, the county of Santa Fe, and Captain E. C. Abbott, also of this city, member elect of the Tenth District are candidates for election to the speakership of the House on its meeting next January. Truly, truly, "How happy could the New Mexican be with either, were either fairer charmer away." At any rate a Santa Fe man should have the position.

The best sentiment in the Territory demands the holding of a Constitutional Convention in this city and the framing of a proper constitution. "Faint heart never won fair lady." New Mexico should not be backward in presenting to the Congress of the United States and to the people of the country the right kind of a constitution and demand admission as a state. Never go backwards.

The official returns are all in and it is Delegate elect W. H. Andrews to the 60th Congress. The majority should have been just about twenty times what it was but as it is, small favors thankfully received.

A trust never lacks an excuse. Though the government pays for the most inspection, the meat trust says the raise in prices was made necessary by the heavy expenses of the inspection.

SEE THE DERBY ONCE.

The Horse Race Incident is by Long Odds the Least of It.

It is a matter of twenty odd miles from London to Epsom, in whose vicinity the historic race course lies, and samples of almost every curious thing there is in old England are to be seen along the various roadways. If there were but one road to Epsom, half of the procession that starts from London on the morning of Derby day would be left struggling in the outskirts of the city long after the great race had been run. But there are many, though none too many, since each is packed to the point of discomfort from early dawn until far into the night.

The Derby is a thing for the foreigner to see once and ever afterward to hold in grateful memory, because it is an experience that could never repeat itself to the satisfaction of the mere onlooker. Primarily it is, of course, a horse race, but the race, which occupies such a fleeting breath of time, is by long odds the least of it. Otherwise it is an expression of Britishism such as may not be witnessed upon any other occasion. It is the one day in the year, I believe, on which English society levels itself out upon the first principle of the brotherhood of man. "Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, merchant, chief," without distinction and with perfect camaraderie, come together for the purpose of proving that to be merely British is all that any true Briton can reasonably desire.

The foreigners are the only spectators. Everybody else is "in the cast," as it were, and it is difficult to judge whether the king, with his nobles and their bevy of brilliantly attired ladies, or the coster in his donkey cart, with "the missus and the kids," is the leading actor. Perhaps it would be better to call it a variety show and to decide that each in his "turn" is a star in his own particular performance.—Leslie's Weekly.

A Welsh Rip.

Every nation has a Rip Van Winkle of its own, but the Welsh story of Rip is unique. He is known as Taffy ap Sion. One morning Taffy heard a bird singing on a tree close by his path. Allured by the melody, he sat down until the music ceased. When he arose, what was his surprise at observing that the tree under which he had taken a seat had now become dead and withered! In the doorway of his home, which to his amazement, had also suddenly grown older, he asked of a strange old man for his parents, whom he had left there, as he said, a few minutes before. Upon learning his name the old man said: "Alas, Taffy, I have often heard my grandfather, your father, speak of you, and it was said you were under the power of the fairies and would not be released until the last sap of that sycamore had dried up. Embrace me, my dear uncle—for you are my uncle—embrace your nephew." Welshmen do not always perceive the humor of this somewhat novel situation of a youth—for Taffy was still merely a boy—being hailed as uncle by a gentleman perhaps forty years his senior.

Heads or Tails For Love

(Original.)

Alice Wren was a witch. It's singular that when we apply the title to an old woman we mean a hag, and when we apply it to a young girl we mean something fascinating. Alice was a young girl. She had no end of lovers and was always trying to see how far she could go with any of them without being caught in a matrimonial net. She did not draw them by her wiles; there was no necessity for that; but she would agree to marry them on impossible conditions. The consequence was that when she at last met a man who inspired her with at least uncertainty, she had formed a habit of toying with lovers that made her only more reckless with this one.

When Walter Trask proposed he was treated the same as the others. He was not refused outright. He was laughingly given a conundrum to solve. If he solved it he had won; if not he had lost. He coldly admitted that he had no brains for puzzles, and since the task was impossible he must give up the prize. Not being accustomed to have her suitors give her up so easily, Alice was piqued, but as Trask did not bite at any of the baits she held out to him she found no opportunity for revenge. Finally, when, her eyes snapping with mischief, she told him she would decide for or against him by spinning a coin, he declared that that was a proposition he could understand and assented. Taking a penny from his pocket, he asked her whether "heads" or "tails" meant "yes," but she declined to use any coin for her decision except a silver dollar that she had long kept in her treasure box. She went for it, and showed it to the applicant for her hand to prove that all was fair. Walter looked it over and, seeing nothing unusual about it, handed it back to her. "If it falls head up," she said, "I am yours; if tails, I am not yours."

Going to a highly polished table, she removed everything from it and set the coin spinning on it. It whirled for a long while, then gradually settled down tails up.

"Best two in three," said Walter. "Anything to please you," she replied, and spun it again. It settled down as before.

"Best three in five," he pleaded. The operation was repeated, and again the reply was "no."

Walter begged for one more chance, or best five in nine. She granted his request, declaring as she did so that another spin, if tails, would be a final decision. She twirled the coin, and tails it was. Walter asked to examine the coin again, but she refused him and took it away.

That afternoon Bobbie, Alice's brother, aged nine, came along whistling "The Girl I Left Behind Me," and Walter agreed to give him a dollar bill if he would exchange a silver dollar for the one his sister kept in her treasure box. Bobbie proved doubly corruptible. He accepted Walter's bribe, but not being able to get into the box offered to divide with his sister if she would unlock it. Then he accepted a bribe from her to take her coin to her lover and keep her knowledge of it a secret. Walter on receiving the silver dollar tested it to see if it were loaded, but found it an honest piece of money. Then he brought a microscope to bear on it and discovered that a fine file had been drawn lightly over the beveled edge on the head side. This caused it when spun on a smooth surface to slip on this side and throw tails up. Walter bribed Bobbie to take it back to the box and say nothing.

The lover's next object was to persuade Alice to make a new decision on the fall of a coin furnished by him. He expected a refusal, but was surprised at a granting of the boon on condition that Alice should be permitted to examine the coin. Walter showed her a new silver half dollar. She examined it and, handing it back, said: "Tails you win; heads you lose."

Walter's face fell. He had filed the coin so as to throw heads up. Not caring to acknowledge the fraud, he spun the coin, knowing that he must lose, and he did lose.

If Alice Wren had known whether she wanted Walter Trask or not she might have acted accordingly. Not knowing it, she permitted herself to be drawn on in a game that two could play. Walter, not feeling equal to the task (or being too lazy), consulted a professional gambler. The gentleman gave Walter two silver dollars. Walter left him feeling that he was quite capable of using them to advantage. Nevertheless he went home and spent a good two hours practicing changing one for the other.

The next time he went to see Alice he bawled her to let him make a final trial with a silver dollar of his own to decide if the fates decreed that he was to lose her. She consented. He showed her a new silver dollar, and she examined it.

"Hands you win," she said, handing it back. It appeared to be a genuine coin that had not been tampered with. She was ready to give him even chances.

Walter suddenly started and looked out of the window. Alice looked the same way. He changed the coin, spun it double, and every time it came heads. He had won. Alice tried to snatch the coin, but in the struggle Walter got her in the chancery and took a betrothal kiss. Then she agreed to keep her contract if he would tell her how he had done the trick. He produced three silver dollars, one from the United States mint, one a spurious double header, the other a spurious double taller. The last would have been used if "tails" were to win.

NEW MEXICO RUBBER INDUSTRY

Likely to Be Large and Lucrative—
Discovery of Method for Using Wild Plant.

It was by an accident that the virtue of a plant native to this part of the country from which it is claimed a fine substitute for rubber can be made was discovered. The Western Parent Crude Rubber Company of this city has secured the patent rights for the manufacture of this new substance with which its promoters expect to revolutionize the rubber industry of the United States. Benjamin F. Spencer was the discoverer and it was from him that the patent rights were obtained. Mr. Spencer has identified himself with the local concern as vice president. All of the other officers are well known residents of Santa Fe. Ishmael Sparks is the president, H. F. DuVal the secretary and Dr. Charles A. Wheeler the treasurer. The company was incorporated about two years ago under the laws of New Mexico at a total authorized capitalization of $100,000. All of the stock has been subscribed.

Mr. Spencer learned of the rubber making possibilities of the plant while on a prospecting trip several years ago. His water supply gave out unexpectedly while he was many miles from civilization and a long distance from any spring or stream. He began searching for a certain weed that grows in the mountains and semi-arid regions, the roots of which when chewed have a thirst quenching effect. He had been in a similar predicament before and had cooled his parched throat by masticating the moisture giving roots of this plant. He hunted high and low for one of the weeds but could not find any anywhere. Finally in desperation he pulled out a plant closely resembling the kind he was looking for and began chewing the roots in an effort to slake his thirst. To his surprise the roots began assuming a gum like consistency and collected in a ball in his mouth. The similarity of the substance to rubber in its crude state led him to make experiments with the weed upon his return to his home at Denver. The result of the tests was his application for a patent covering the exclusive right to manufacture the substitute for rubber from the weed and the subsequent organizing of the Western Parent Crude Rubber Company.

This rubber weed grows prolifically all over the Rock Mountain region. It is found in greatest abundance in the high altitudes. It is probably best known as pinguicula, a name given to it by the Indians. According to an estimate made by one of the officers of the company there are two hundred thousand acres of these weeds in New Mexico. The concern has not placed any of the new article of commerce on the market or established a factory yet for its manufacture. The promoters up to the present time have been devoting their time to experimenting with different processes of extracting the gummy particles from the plant and perfecting machinery with which to do the work. The plastic substance contained in the weed is insoluble in water but dissolves readily in gasoline, benzine or other light hydrocarbon. The imitation rubber can be separated and stuck together.

Shortly after Mr. Spencer applied for his patent a Colorado Springs Company was formed to utilize pinguicula for rubber making purposes. The local corporation at once instituted legal proceedings to prevent the rival enterprise from infringing on its monopoly and won in the courts. The patent was granted last week after the law suit had been settled and the coveted document is now in Santa Fe.

"Owing to this litigation we have not been able to make much progress financing the enterprise," Mr. Sparks informed a reporter of the New Mexican, "but now that it is out of the way we propose to push the matter."

STUDENTS' PRANK PUZZLES FACULTY

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 14.—The mystery of the explosion of the University cannon in the vicinity of the girls' dormitory which shattered windows and demolished the big gun is still unsolved. A Sherlock Holmes may be imported to work on the slender clues. At all events notwithstanding the fact that keen detective ability has been shown by members of the University faculty, the embryo artillerymen are yet unknown. One sleuth's suggestion which has been tried and from which as yet no results have been received was a marvel. It was nothing less than the measuring of the footsteps about the place where the cannon was exploded and a later measurement of the shoes of all the students who occupy the dormitories. It is also reported that some cigarette ashes found on one of the cannon wheels which survived the explosion have been saved and may figure later. But this is merely conjecture.

FIRE ON CUNARD LINER.

Queenstown, Nov. 14.—On the arrival of the Cunard liner Caronia off Roehes Point at the entrance to the harbor Tuesday reported that a fire broke out in the electric fan room at 1 o'clock this morning. The flames were extinguished before the vessel reached Queenstown. All possible precautions were taken against eventualities and there was only momentary excitement among the passengers.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

THE WORST DISEASE IN THE WORLD

Contagious Blood Poison is the worst disease in the world; not only those who contract it suffer, but the awful taint is often transmitted to innocent offspring whose lives are blighted and bodies diseased because the virus of Contagious Blood Poison has been allowed to remain in the family blood.

The first sign of this disease is usually a little pimple or blister, then a red rash breaks out, the mouth and throat ulcerate, the hair comes out, copper colored spots appear on the limbs, back and breast; and as the disease more thoroughly pollutes the blood, sores and ulcers form and if the trouble is not checked the finger nails drop off, and the soft bones of the nose and head are destroyed. S. S. S. goes down into the blood and forces out every particle of the poison and makes a complete and lasting cure. As soon as the system gets under the influence of the remedy the symptoms begin to pass away, and when the cure is complete the patient is left in perfect health. So thoroughly does S. S. S. rid the system of the virus that no signs of the disease are ever seen in after years, and posterity is born with a rich, pure blood supply. Book with complete instructions for home treatment and any medical advice desired will be given without charge.

Santa Fe Citizens Gladly Testify and Kidney Pills.

It is testimony like the following that has placed Doan's Kidney Pills so far above competitors. When people right here at home raise their voice in praise there is no room left for doubt. Read the public statement of a Santa Fe citizen:

"Manuel Montoya, of Canon St., says: 'Eight months ago and for a year and a half previous to that my back ached continuously. If there was any time when a change was noticeable it was during wet and rainy spells, when possibly the aching increased. Doan's Kidney Pills procured at Ireland's Pharmacy effectively stopped the aching and what to me is considerably more important and value, during the last eight months there has not been a sign of a recurrence.'"

THE BEAUTIFUL ESPANOLA VALLEY

Finest Possible Conditions for Fruit Raising—Abundance of Water.

The Espanola Valley of the Rio Grande beginning twenty miles north of Santa Fe and extending north twenty-five miles to Embudo is perhaps the greatest irrigated valley in New Mexico. No other valley has a better climate, soil, variety of products or more abundant supply of water for irrigation. The soil in this valley is free from alkali, cold, stormy winters or excessively hot summers; it is shut in by high mountains and as a fruit district the conditions are almost perfect. Thousands of acres lie uncultivated and eighty per cent of the waters of the great Rio Grande roll by unused. Home seekers are settling here rapidly and more are welcomed to help make this beautiful valley the best in the Rockies.

For further particulars in general, prices of bearing orchards, improved and unimproved lands, etc., address Roscoe C. Bonney, real estate and immigration agent, Espanola, New Mexico.

For the Stomach Heart and Kidneys

Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a Cause
Cure—not a Symptom Cure.

It is a common mistake to take artificial digestors for stomach troubles—or heart stimulants for weak heart—or so-called kidney remedies for diseased kidneys. These organs do not act separately or of their own accord—they have no control over themselves—and not once in 800 times is the sickness the fault of the organ. It is the fault of the nerves which control the organ—and only through these nerves can stomach, kidney or heart disorders be cured. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a powerful nerve tonic, and it is the only medicine that will cure the nerves—thus curing the stomach, heart, kidney, and all other ailments. It is a powerful nerve tonic, and it is the only medicine that will cure the nerves—thus curing the stomach, heart, kidney, and all other ailments. It is a powerful nerve tonic, and it is the only medicine that will cure the nerves—thus curing the stomach, heart, kidney, and all other ailments.

SESSION COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Canvas Election Returns—Marcelino A. Ortiz Paid Part of Amount Due County.

Besides sitting as a board of canvassers and making the official count of the votes cast at the election last Tuesday, the county commissioners at their meeting Monday disposed of several routine matters.

Ex-Assessor Marcelino A. Ortiz, who has been re-elected to that office, appeared before the board and paid $355.73 to be placed to the credit of the general county school fund as part payment of $482 he owed the county on account of assessors' fees of four per centum allowed him for 1903 and 1904. This leaves a balance still unpaid of $226.28.

County Treasurer Celso Lopez was instructed to allow tax exemption for the year 1906 to Catalino Lujan, Francisco Lujan, Victor Lujan and Celedio Lujan. The county treasurer was also ordered to correct the tax rolls of 1906 in the assessment of Alberto Garcia of Precinct No. 17. Mr. Garcia was allowed exemption of $125 on personal property.

After ordering the clerk to prepare certificates of election for the successful candidates the board adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.

GONE TO NEW MEXICO

Title of Compliment Paid E. P. Davies of Waterloo, Iowa, a Recent Arrival.

"Gone to New Mexico" is the caption of a news article telling of the departure of E. P. Davies and family from Waterloo, Iowa, in a recent issue of the Waterloo Daily Reporter. Mr. Davies is an attorney by profession and has located at the thriving little town of Willard. The Iowa newspaper gave himself and family the following complimentary send-off:

E. P. Davies, for the past four years a practicing attorney in this city, left last evening for Willard, New Mexico, where he will practice law. While in Waterloo Mr. Davies was regarded as one of the brightest young attorneys in the city, and the records of cases on file at the court house will show that he has been connected with as many or more cases tried as any young attorney. In a majority of cases he has been successful and in departing leaves a good law practice. He goes with the belief that New Mexico offers greater opportunities for a young man than Iowa, and from investigation carried on, together with other interests he has entered into the vicinity of Willard, he feels that expectations will be fulfilled.

Before coming to Waterloo and after graduating from the law college at Iowa City he was for two years connected with the executive office in Des Moines, under the Shaw and Cummins administrations. This association was of much benefit to him and in various ways fitted him for the practice of his chosen profession. Frank Campbell, another Waterloo boy, has entered a partnership with Mr. Davies, and together they will conduct the business of the firm.

During his residence in Waterloo Mr. Davies and his estimable wife have won many friends who regret very much to see them take their departure from the city, but wish them full measure of success in their new home.

WOOL MARKET NOT SO ACTIVE

Boston, Mass., Nov. 14.—The activity of the wool market is not so pronounced as in recent weeks, but a substantial business is still under way. The future of the market seems to be greater as to the ease with which wool may be sold at the dealer's valuation.

THE MODERN CHILD.

Natural Development and the Fads of the Theorists.

Today even idleness has become a text for child study. The infant must be taught to be idle as he must be taught to work. The theorist who shudders at the vision of the alphabet and the theorist who intends every pastime to convey a lesson toss the child between them like a shuttlecock. "We forget," says one earnest writer upon education, "that the very definition of school means leisure, that the child must have it in abundance and that he must be protected and sheltered from the activities of the great world." Accordingly he is occupied from the time he is three years old doing something which is to mold his character for life, and an audience of adults breathlessly awaits the outcome of every fresh experiment. He is protected from books (his natural friends), but taught "with greater economy of his mental tissues" in a series of infantile lectures. He is protected from using his own mind, but invited to prey upon the minds of his teachers. He is protected from the frank old games of childhood, which are frowned upon as "boorish" and "immoral," and encouraged to think that his most rapid amusements are matters for grave concern. He is protected sometimes from the very sound of words which form part of our common vocabulary and from contact with ideas which form part of our common experience. I have known a family of little children so hedged and guarded lest they should hear of sin, of death, of pain, of trouble, of failures, of ghosts, of Santa Claus, of Satan, of fear, of prohibition, of transgression, that conversation in their presence resembled those intelligent little one syllabled books which were published in great numbers some years ago for the enlightenment of the infant mind.—Agnes Repplier in Appleton's.

PRETTY EYES.

It Takes Care and Patience to Acquire and Preserve Them.

The woman who wants pretty eyes will not have them circled with dark lines. Nor will she have great eye sacs under her eyes. The pretty girl's eyes are never heavy in the lids. They are never laden underneath with great bags. They are never red as to the lashes, and the brows are never unruly.

On the contrary, the eyes of the pretty girl are of the shining variety, beautifully clear, and of the kind which can open wide and look one right in the face. To get eyes like this one must not abuse the eyes. The girl who sews late at night, the girl who rubs her eyes, the girl who lets her lids and lashes become neglected, this girl cannot hope to have pretty eyes.

The eyebrows should not be neglected. The woman who wants nice eyebrows can beat a little almond oil and apply it nightly to the eyes with a small brush. In this manner the eyebrows can be influenced. Often they are inclined to grow straggly. But by painting them with a brush regularly they can be trained into shape.

NURSERY NOTES.

Where the laundry is considered, children's bibs or napkins made from Turkish toeling have been found very practical. They can be easily washed and do not require ironing. A nurse who has any nervous habits, such as biting the nails or fidgeting with the hands or feet, should never be kept, as children are very quick to notice and copy such habits, which are extremely difficult to correct.

If a child has a bad bump on the forehead use an application of witch hazel as hot as can be borne. It will take out the soreness and prevent swelling. A little oil or vaseline rubbed in afterward will prevent any tendency to discoloration.

Much trouble is saved in mending children's clothes if the knees and seats of boys' trousers and the elbows of jackets and girls' waists are made double. It is also economical in the long run.

A DYSPETIC'S HORROR.

Is solid food. In nine cases out of ten, however, if the man with a weak stomach would take a glass or two of Dr. Lauritzen's Health Table Malt with each meal, he would soon find that he could eat anything. It's the best tonic in the world for a weak stomach.

HER FORTUNE

(Original.)

They were sitting by the library table, a lamp swinging from above. She was playing solitaire.

"Can you tell fortunes with cards?" he asked.

"No, can you?"

"I have a method of my own at card fortune telling. Shall I try yours?"

"Yes, do."

She passed him the cards, and, after shuffling, he turned over a card at a time till he came to the queen of hearts.

"That's you," he said.

"Oh, how flattering!"

"The six of clubs, the ten of spades, the three of clubs, the four of spades, the king of diamonds." He paused.

"Well!" she asked.

"That means a rich man is your suitor."

"I don't know any such."

"You're not supposed to know just who loves you till you are told."

"You think so?"

"I said not supposed to know."

"Oh!"

"The king of clubs," he went on, "the queen of spades. The queen of spades indicates that a dark girl wishes for herself some one who loves you. Look out for her. The nine of hearts, the three of diamonds, the jack of clubs. The jack is that little black I mean I don't get personal."

"The jack, falling between the jack of hearts and the queen of spades and directly under the queen of hearts, indicates that you prefer him and that the dark lady loves the jack of hearts, a blond man, who prefers you."

"And who is the jack of hearts?"

He sighed. Then he went on dealing. The next important cards were the ten of clubs, that fell under the jack of clubs, and the ace of hearts, that fell under the jack of hearts. He paused and looked serious.

"What's the matter?" she asked.

"A great deal. The dark gentleman has ten chances to the blond gentleman's one."

"He hasn't. I mean I prefer blond men to brunettes."

Two hearts fell, one on each side of the king of diamonds. "It looks," he said, "as if, after all, you would marry the rich suitor." The king of hearts fell under the king of diamonds. "Your father favors him."

"Papa doesn't."

"Oh, here comes the queen of diamonds, also in the line under the king of diamonds. That's it; your mother favors the rich suitor."

"How silly!"

"These hearts falling all about the jack of clubs indicate that the dark gentleman is far ahead of the rich one, notwithstanding your mother's influence."

"What's the blond gentleman doing all this while?" she asked softly, her eyes bent on the cards. He cast a sharp glance at her and without reply went on dealing till the jack of hearts was surrounded by cards of his own suit.

"Late in the game the blond gentleman seems to be finding more favor with the queen of hearts, but these clubs falling between it and the queen of spades indicate a complication between the dark girl and the blond gentleman."

"What possible complication can there be?" she asked sharply.

"Well, having been discouraged by the queen of hearts—that is, you—he might have gone so far with the dark lady as not to be able to withdraw."

"She can't have much pride to hold him if he doesn't want to be held." She spoke with a great deal of asperity.

"You shouldn't have discouraged the blond gentleman."

"How did I know?" She paused.

He gave her time to frame what she had to say, but she failed to do so.

"The blond gentleman certainly made his feelings plain."

She stared at the cards without reply.

"Let's go on. Something may turn up," he added.

If there was any method in his dealing it could not be discovered. She did not seem interested in the method, only in the result. He dealt a number of the club suit about the jack of clubs.

"This is strange," he said. "The black little I mean the dark gentleman seems to have found favor with the dark lady. It may be that she will not stand between the queen and jack of hearts after all. Choose one of the cards on the table, and it will indicate how the affair is coming out."

Reaching forward, she touched the five of hearts. He took her hand in his and placed it on the six of hearts, saying: "The five and the six of hearts make eleven, or the jack. In other words, you will make the blond little man happy, won't you?"

He waited some time for a reply, when he heard a faint "Yes."

There were footsteps in the hall, and in came several young men and women.

"What are you two doing?"

He had withdrawn his hand at the first sound and was dealing the cards vigorously. "I am telling her fortune by a process of my own."

He went on dealing, the others looking on, trying to discover his rules of procedure. He married her to a dark and a rich gentleman, whereupon they reminded him that a girl can't marry two men unless one dies or is divorced after she has married him. That stopped the fortune telling, and in a few minutes the fortune telling couple disappeared.

LUMINOUS PAINT.

You Can Make It From Oyster Shells and Powdered Sulphur.

Have you ever seen a room on a dark night whose walls gave out light? If you have, it was because the walls were covered with luminous paint, and this will tell you how to prepare the paint at home.

Wash oyster shells in warm water until they are thoroughly clean and then heat them for half an hour or so in a hot coal fire. When they have grown cool pound them in a mortar, removing and throwing away all gray pieces until only the white remains ground to a fine powder.

Get a quantity of flowers of sulphur equal to the white powder from the shells and put into a crucible a layer of the powder, then a layer of the sulphur, alternating the layers until all the powder and the sulphur have been used.

Cement the lid of the crucible with sand mixed with glue and bake it in hot coals for an hour. When the crucible is cooled off and opened the resulting powder in it should be white. If any is gray, remove it.

The white powder can now be made into paint by mixing it with gum arabic and water. The powder is sulphide of lime formed by the union of the lime of the oyster shells with the sulphur. Any object coated with this paint will have for a long time the quality of glowing in the dark, and if the interior of a room is painted with it the room will be filled with a faint light on the darkest night.

Any boy in the city or in the country can easily make this luminous paint. It need not be used on the walls of a room, but may be used with a curious effect on toys of various kinds, which will glow in the dark like little ghosts. It is sometimes used on the face of a small clock, the glow being bright enough to enable one to tell the time in the dark.

Floating Paper Trick.

Take a piece of writing paper about three inches square and with a lead pen draw a circle in the center of the paper. Then draw a line from the center of the circle to the top edge of the paper, and another line from the center to the bottom edge. Now fold the paper in half, and then in half again, so that you have a small square. Then unfold it, and you will find that the lines you drew are now visible on the other side of the paper. This is the floating paper trick.

QUEER LOVEMAKING.

A South American Bird Which Wins Its Mate by Dancing.

There is a bird in South America that makes love with its feet. It is a handsome creature, but walks clumsily, and the only sound it can utter is a hoarse cluck. It dances, however, in a way that wins admiration from the females of its sex, though its antics only serve as an incentive to laughter to human beings, who see them.

This bird, known as the cock of the rock, lives in the northern mountainous portion of South America. It is about the size of a large chicken.

The entire bird-body, head wings and tail is blood red in color, with the exception of the tail feathers, which have a narrow band of brown across them near the ends which are tipped with buff. On the head is a crest of feathers like a great red ball, which contracts or expands at the pleasure of its owner.

When the mating season comes seven to ten males seek some secluded spot where there is a level patch of ground and clear it of any sticks, stones or leaves, stamping down the dirt till it is hard and level.

Then they call the females, who stand at the edges of this novel arena. One at a time the males then perform a most curious dance. Each dancer will first strut up and down a few times and then, to the apparent delight of the rest, commence to caper around in an extremely ludicrous manner, spreading his tail and wings, puffing up his crest, bowing to the others and at the same time keeping up a hopping gait until he is exhausted.

When all the males have danced each female will choose a mate, and the happy pairs depart to begin housekeeping.

A Centenarian's Chair.

A curious chair stands at one of the entrances to the citadel of Calao. It was placed there for the gatekeeper, who died aged 125. It bears the inscription, "Only he who by the favor of God has lived a hundred years may sit here."

Marmalade.

Marmalade, then made only of quinces, was known in Henry VIII's reign. The word is derived from "mer-melo," a quince.

His Limited Usefulness.

Blind—Yes, she's considered a great drawing card. The vaudeville people pay her $500 a week.

Wing—And who is the funny little man I've seen walking with her?

"That? That's her husband."

"And is he an artist too?"

"Oh, no. She just takes him along to button the back of her waists."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Wiles of Man.

"Say, Halton, what is the name of that new poker club you are going to join?"

"Why, 'The Office.'"

"'The Office'? Isn't that a rather odd name?"

"Not at all. It is so very convenient to tell your wife you were defeated at 'The Office.'"—Detroit Free Press.

Jumping to Conclusions.

In a place in New Jersey the town officers had just put some fire extinguishers in their big buildings. One day one of the buildings caught fire, and the Philadelphia Ledger, and the extinguishers failed to do their work.

A few days later at the town meeting some citizens tried to learn the reason.

After they had freely discussed the subject one of them said, "Mr. Chairman, I make a motion that the fire extinguishers be examined ten days before every fire."

Napoleon's Tomb.

The windows in the Chapel of the Invalides in Paris, where the great Napoleon lies buried, are of a singularly translucent amber glass. When the sun shines full upon them the rays are transmuted into gold, and they fall like a ladder of light upon the bronze sarcophagus of the conqueror until he seems glorified from the skies.

The Purse.

The invention of the purse was doubtless contemporaneous with that of money. The purse is mentioned in Old Testament history as a part of a traveler's outfit. When the disciples, spoken of in the gospels, were sent forth to preach they were commanded to take neither gold nor silver nor brass in their purses.

Bertha—I say, father, are you still growing?

Father—No, my dear. Why?

Bertha (puzzled)—Why, because the top of your head is coming through your hair.

Perhaps.

Critic—That is the reason it exists.

Frenchwomen's Waists.

The small waists of Frenchwomen are believed by some scientists to be the result of heredity. Ages of tight lacing, they say, have produced a physical peculiarity in the nation.

Cologne.

An excellent cologne may be made with half an ounce of oil of bergamot, quarter of an ounce of oil of lemon, half an ounce of oil of orange, half an ounce of oil of English lavender, half a dram of neroli and one quart of alcohol. Shake the bottle several times a day for four or five days.

South Carolinians.

South Carolinians are "weasels," "sand hillers" and "ricebirds," the first an allusion to the thinness of the early natives, the second to their place of residence, the third to a common crop and bird which feeds on it.

Yawns and the Man.

Travelers' tales which often add charm to the conversation of an agreeable person frequently render a bore more tiresome than ever, a fact that was amusingly illustrated by an occurrence in a Baltimore clubhouse not long ago.

"There I stood, gentlemen," the long winded narrator was saying, after droning on for an hour with reference to his trip to Switzerland—"there I stood, with the abyss yawning in front of me."

"Pardon me," hastily interjected one of the unfortunate men who had been obliged to listen to the story, "but was that abyss yawning before you got there?"—Harper's Weekly.

Always the Way.

"Don't you want to take a chance on this lovely silver shaving set?" asked the fair attendant at the church bazaar.

"Not I," replied Sinxer. "I'd never win that."

"But even if you don't shave yourself—"

"Oh, but I do; that's why I say I'd never win it. It's bound to go to some fellow who has no use for it."—Boston Transcript.

Tennyson's Astronomy.

In Tennyson's "Palace of Art" occur the lines:

She saw the snowy poles and moons of Mars,
That mystic field of drifted light
In mid Orion, and the married stars.

This at first looks like a literary parallel to Swift's well known fortuitous forecast of the discovery of the Martian satellites, and J. S. Stevenson, writing from Blairtown, Norwood, Ceylon, points out that Professor H. H. Turner quotes it in "Modern Astronomy" as having been written in 1835.

This, however, appears not to have been the case, for Mr. Stevenson on reference to the biography of the late poet laureate by the present Lord Tennyson has found the note: "The 'Moons of Mars' is the only modern reading here. All the rest are more than half a century old." Scientific discovery was thus not anticipated by Tennyson in the mention of Martian satellites.—Nature.

J. W. Patterson, of Chicago, who has been spending several months in Santa Fe, expects to leave the coming week for Prescott, Arizona, where he will enter the employ of a mining company. Captain E. C. Abbott came back last evening from Estancia. He has been there for the purpose of investigating charges of alleged election frauds in Torrance county. He was sent there by the Republican territorial central committee.

Demetrio Trujillo, school teacher at Ojo Caliente, is a visitor in the Capital. Mr. Trujillo arrived in the city yesterday and will remain here for a few days.

Superintendent Clinton J. Crandall, of the U. S. Indian Training School, returned at the early hour of 5 o'clock this morning from the southwest. He boarded the Santa Fe train at Bernalillo which proved to be only six hours late. Mr. Crandall came from the Jemez pueblo where he was on the twelfth instant watching the conduct of the Indians at their annual feast and where he inspected the two day schools at Jemez and Zia. The fiesta was the most orderly and peaceful ever conducted there and no boisterous or disorderly conduct occurred. A good many Navahos were present and they behaved themselves well. Pueblo Indians from the neighboring pueblos were there in great numbers. The two day schools were found in satisfactory condition and doing good work. Mr. Crandall is well pleased with the condition of affairs in Jemez and Zia.

D. H. Anderson, of Chicago, editor of the Irrigation Age, and secretary of the National Irrigation Congress, spent the day in the city en route east. Mr. Anderson has been in Albuquerque and has visited the Rio Grande valley from Albuquerque north to Whitewater canyon and along the proposed line of the Rio Grande Land and Irrigation Company in the interest of the publication of which he is editor. Mr. Anderson was a caller at the office of the Bureau of Immigration and procured copies of the several publications of the bureau made during the year 1906 and secured much information for use in his sanctorium. He left tonight for his eastern home.

J. A. Krenis, a druggist of Albuquerque, arrived in Santa Fe today for a visit with his brother-in-law, Frank P. Stuges.

Minor City Topics.

Funeral services were held this morning at Albuquerque over the remains of the late Mrs. Anna Maria Romero, who died at her home in that city Tuesday. Requiem mass was solemnized at the Church of San Felipe de Neri followed by interment in Santa Barbara Cemetery. Mrs. Romero was sixty-five years of age and leave a husband and three sons to mourn her loss. She died of pneumonia after a brief illness.

The remains of Mrs. Mary L. Lukens, who died recently at her home near Grant's station, have been forwarded to Albuquerque, where they will be held prior to shipment to Lodi, Ohio. The deceased was the wife of Jesse Lukens, who is interested in mining twenty miles out from Grant's station. Mr. Lukens ordered the body sent to Albuquerque until he could settle up his affairs and return to his old home at Lodi.

Residents and others who have occasion to use Galisteo Street will be glad when the proposed new bridge is erected across the Santa Fe river. The old bridge is fast going to decay. In the meantime several of the rotten planks in the flooring ought to be replaced with new ones.

A divorce case of Petra Gonzales de Villareal vs. Manuel Villareal has been filed in the first judicial district court for Rio Arriba county by Attorney Benjamin M. Read. In the petition for divorce the plaintiff states that the marriage of herself and the defendant took place on May 30, 1890, and that they lived together until September 30, 1901. She charges that her husband left her and their four minor children in destitute circumstances and has since refused to support them. She asks for an absolute divorce and the custody of the three youngest children until they become of age in addition to possession of their home the four room adobe house they are now occupying at Plaza Alameda, Rio Arriba county.

Train report at 4 p. m.: Denver and Rio Grande two hours late; Santa Fe Central an hour and a half late; Santa Fe train No. 1 on time; Santa Fe trains Nos. 2, 3 and 10 arrived an hour and a quarter late. No report of Santa Fe trains Nos. 7, 9 and 8, due tonight, but probably late.

FOURTEEN VOTES COST BUT $5.22

Statement of Campaign Expenses As Compiled by W. F. Dobbin, Socialist Candidate for Sheriff.

There have been all sorts of surprises in the recent election but the Socialist candidate for sheriff of Santa Fe County, W. F. Dobbin, created a mild stir when in his statement of campaign expenses as published below, he shows that the fourteen votes which he received cost him only $5.22. As Mr. Dobbin admits, he did not make a whirlwind campaign but a careful study of his accounts for the same might prove an interesting and beneficial lesson in "political economy." This is Mr. Dobbin's statement:

Expense account of W. F. Dobbin, Socialist candidate for sheriff of Santa Fe County, incurred during the campaign he conducted for that office.

Cost of letter of acceptance of nomination from Socialist Party $ 2
Postage 2 10
Peanuts 20
Dances nothing
Parlor meetings nothing
Whisky (drank by myself) 1 40
Bonquets for ladies nothing
Automobiles nothing
Cigars nothing
Car fare (I walked) nothing
Court plaster 1 00
Beef steak 50
Total $5 22
(Signed) W. F. DOBBIN.

P. S.—I circulated several (100) Socialist cards announcing my candidacy (which my friends kindly donated and for which I extend sincere thanks) and while I did not make a "whirlwind campaign" like some of my Democratic and Republican opponents yet I placed myself in the hands of my friends trusting to them to vote for the one whom they felt like supporting for the office.

The returns show on their face that I am not elected. My only regret therefore will be that I will not be able OFFICIALLY to work for the erection of an elevator to the dome of the capitol building, which the public has long needed.

If every lady and gentleman who promised to vote for me, had done so, there would now be no doubt of my success at the polls. Whether they forgot their promises or were improperly approached by the "enemy" has not yet transpired but I am sure many of the ladies forgot or were unduly influenced by their husbands who are held in bondage by the dominant parties, to vote for my opponent. Perhaps they did not wish to scratch the ballots at the polls in the presence of so many people.

No Operation

Mrs. Malinda Akers, of Basham, Va., writes: "I had what doctors call 'prolapse,' and couldn't stand straight. I had pain in my back and shoulders, and was very irregular and profuse. Doctors said an operation was needed, but I couldn't bear the thought of the knife. After taking three bottles of Wine of Cardui, I could walk around. Can now do my housework and am in splendid health."

Cardui is a pure, vegetable, medicinal essence, especially adapted to cure women's diseases. It relieves excessive periodical pains, regulates irregularities, and is a safe, pleasant and reliable remedy for all sick women. In successful use for over 70 years. Try it.

At Every Drug Store in $1.00 Bottles.
