JUSTICE MANN
DISMISSED CASES*Against Reclamation
Engineers of Hondo Project*BY SUSTAINING MOTION

For That Purpose—Cases Relate to Private Claims For Water Distribution.

In the cases of Rufus J. Donahoe versus W. M. Reed et al. and T. M. Daniel versus W. M. Reed et al., Judge Edward A. Mann yesterday afternoon sustained the motion filed by counsel for the defense dismissing the causes for want of jurisdiction. Mention of these cases has already been made in the New Mexican and the facts involved are fully covered by the opinion rendered by the court. Mr. Reed and associates who were made defendants to the two suits are officials of the United States Reclamation Service having charge of the construction of the Hondo Reservoir project and Judge Mann maintains that the United States to secure proper jurisdiction should have been made a party to both actions.

The opinion is of general interest in New Mexico because of the question of water rights involved and is in full as follows:

In the Fifth Judicial District of the Territory of New Mexico, Sitting in and for the County of Chaves.

Rufus J. Donahoe,

vs. No. 1068.

W. M. Reed, et al.

vs. No. 1069.

W. M. Reed, et al.

Memorandum Opinion.

Mann, A. J.

In order to determine the question of jurisdiction raised by the motions filed in these cases, it is necessary to determine in my judgment whether the relief sought is from the nominal defendants or from the United States, or in other words whether the defendants, as individuals, are trespassing upon the alleged rights of the plaintiffs so that they as individuals can afford the remedy without involving the rights and property of the United States.

The substance of the complaint is that they, the plaintiffs, had certain water rights to the waters flowing in the Hondo River in Chaves County, and had diverted and were using a certain amount of water through a certain ditch to irrigate their lands, and that the defendant constructed a dam which closed their intake and cut off the water so being used by plaintiffs and conveyed all the waters of the Rio Hondo by means of ditches to a reservoir known as the Hondo reservoir, and prays that the dam be changed in its construction so that the water claimed by plaintiffs be allowed to flow down by them for such purpose, or to so arrange its management and operation that it will not prevent the water from so flowing to their said lands.

Property of United States.

Answering the defendants' denial that plaintiffs owned the water rights claimed or that they had used such water for years, alleged abandonment of the ditch claimed by plaintiff and averred that the dam as constructed as alleged in the complaint was built under the provisions of the Reclamation Act, acting through the Secretary of the Interior, and that the dam, reservoir, canal and entire system is the property of the United States and the defendants had no interest whatever in the matter, being merely employees of the Reclamation Service. Plaintiffs reply denying any means of knowledge or information as to the ownership in the United States or the interests of the defendants, therefore deny the same.

I have not attempted to cover all the allegations in the pleadings but only those portions bearing on the question of jurisdiction, the merits not being under consideration at this time.

Counsel for the defendants move to dismiss upon the statements contained in the pleadings upon the ground that the United States is a necessary party within the meaning of Section 1874, R. S. U. S., defining the jurisdiction of the Territorial District Courts.

As I view it the reply admits the allegation that the dam and irrigation system set up in the answer being the dam of which they complain, was built by the United States under the provisions of the Reclamation Act (Act June 17, 1902), and while it is true that they deny knowledge or information as to the ownership, yet the above admission must carry with it an admission of ownership in the United States as the act in question expressly provides "that the title to and management and operation of the reservoirs, and the works necessary for their protection and operation shall remain in the government until otherwise provided by Congress."

Could Not Interfere With Government Property.

It thus appears that the relief asked necessitates an interference with government property or an exercise of control over the management and operation of property which is by law placed in the government of the United States, and that this court in order to grant the relief prayed for must so interfere with government affairs. True, the prayer for relief is no part of the cause of action and can not be so considered, but I can see no other relief which the court could possibly grant than that prayed for nor has any been suggested. I fully appreciate the contention so ably made by counsel for plaintiff, that officers of the government may be enjoined from unauthorized acts of trespass done even by order of their superiors, and it may be that if the allegations of the complaint are true, they might have enjoined the building of the dam in question, but this they do not seek to do. They have waited until the system is finished and the property passed by operation of law into the hands of the government, and now seek to interfere by a mandatory injunction with this property and its management and operation.

I think this case comes within the doctrine announced in Stanley vs. Schwalby, 162 U. S. 255, and also in Belknap vs. Schild, 161 U. S. 10. In the latter case Mr. Justice Gray, says: "No injunction can be issued against officers of a state, to restrain or control the use of property already in the possession of the state or money in its treasury, when a suit is commenced, or to compel the state to perform its obligations, or where the state has otherwise such an interest in the object of the suit as to be a necessary party."

And this rule also applies to the United States.

In Cunningham vs. Macon & Brunswick R. R. 109 U. S. 446, the court says:

Dismissed for Want of Jurisdiction.

"The inference is that where it is manifest upon the face of the record that the defendant had no individual interest in the controversy and that the relief sought against them is only in their capacity as representatives of the state, which alone is to be affected by the judgment or decree, the question then arising whether the suit is not substantially against the state is one of jurisdiction."

In the case at bar no relief is sought against the defendant as individuals, the dam which they are asked to change is not theirs, but the government's, and the management which the court is asked to control is placed in the government by the Reclamation Act. This in my judgment makes the distinction between the doctrine announced by the Supreme Court in the cases of Osborne vs. U. S. 9 Wheaton, 739, and in U. S. vs. Lee, 106 U. S. 196, and the other cases following them, and the case at bar. There the relief granted did not affect government property already in its possession and under its control, but only decided as to the individual rights of the parties claiming to act as its officers and agents. These cases distinctly say that the government's and its rights and property are not affected by the decision.

It follows that the United States being a necessary party and in fact the only party adverse to plaintiffs, who can afford the relief sought, the motion to dismiss for want of jurisdiction must be sustained.

EDWARD A. MANN,
Associate Justice, Acting by Stipulation of Counsel in the Place of Hon. Wm. H. Pope, Associate Justice, and Judge of the Fifth Judicial District.

POWERFUL FLEET ON PACIFIC COAST

Will Be Formed—Report in Navy Circles Says Five Battleships Will Be Launched.

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—It is authoritatively, although unofficial, reported in local naval circles that the formation of a naval armored fleet on the Pacific coast will be inaugurated by dispatching the battleships Indiana and Iowa at an early date to this city. The new battleship Nebraska is nearly finished at Seattle and the battleships Wisconsin and Oregon are being extensively overhauled at Puget Sound Navy Yard. These five battleships may be reinforced during the next few months by two more from the Atlantic coast.

EVELYN THAW
MAY BREAK DOWN
Before Harrassing
Details Are All
Told*WILL GET BIG REWARD

For Testifying in Husband's Behalf Is Current Report—
Examination Board.

New York, Feb. 23.—Evelyn Thaw sadly needed the three days' grace brought by the holiday from District Attorney Jerome's searching examination. That she is suffering greatly under the ordeal is plainly apparent and some fears are expressed that she may not be able to withstand the trying situation still before her.

Two Days More of Strain.

It is not believed that Jerome will finish with this witness under two days more. Today reports are revived that Jerome is nearly ready to bring his application for a lunacy commission to examine the defendant. It is said he has examined Thaw's family physician and family history and has become convinced that Thaw is now insane.

Reported Wife Will Get Reward.

Both Thaw and his wife are greatly concerned about the report that no matter what the outcome of the trial may be, Evelyn would receive $300,000 reward for testifying for her husband. She refused to say anything about it, but Lawyer Gleason denied it emphatically.

Jerome Has Hard Fight.

Any attempt made by Jerome to have a commission in lunacy appointed to examine Thaw will be vigorously opposed by Thaw's attorneys, according to a statement made today by Attorney Peabody. This announcement was called forth by the persistently repeated rumors that it is Jerome's intention to apply for such a commission as soon as he completes the cross examination of Mrs. Blingham and Deemer. Mrs. Thaw visited her husband early today and remained the full three hours allowed to visitors. He appeared in better condition physically today than yesterday.

Two to One for Thaw's Conviction.

San Francisco, Feb. 23.—In the pool rooms along Fillmore Street, where bets are placed on fights and races, hand books are being kept on the Thaw case, the prevailing odds being two to one that the trial will result in a conviction.

HOUSE ATTACKS
SPECIAL AGENTS

Of Department of Interior—Work Unnecessary Hardships on Homesteaders Alleged.

Washington, Feb. 23.—The House in committee of the Whole placed itself squarely on record yesterday for limiting the power of special agents of the department of the interior, by a vote restricting $25,000 covered by the civil appropriation bill to pay the salaries of such agents. By a vote of 104 to 170 the committee adopted an amendment offered by Mondell of Wyoming and debated for two hours by Messrs. Cushman of Washington, Lacey of Iowa, Mann of Illinois, Burke of South Dakota, Reeder of Kansas, Bonyune of Colorado, Gronna of North Dakota, Steenerson of Minnesota, Gaines of Tennessee, and Smith of Iowa.

During the debate the work of special agents was severely condemned, and the orders of the president regarding final proof on homesteaders criticized as working unnecessary hardships upon settlers.

Mr. Clark of Florida offered a resolution calling upon the secretary of war for a statement as to the cost of the Philippines since their acquisition by the United States but it was defeated by a vote of 104 to 105.

The House passed 360 Senate private pension bills in thirty minutes.

The sundry civil bill was still in the process of reading when the House adjourned at 6:45 p. m. and the consideration will be concluded today.

GENERAL SERVICE PENSION LAW

Delegate Andrews Will Push All Proper and Deserving Cases.

At the request of Delegate W. H. Andrews, the New Mexican publishes the General Service Pension Law granting pensions to veterans of the Mexican war and of the Civil war, recently passed by the Fifty-ninth Congress and signed by the President. Delegate Andrews will cheerfully send blank applications for pensions to all such entitled to pensions and will apply to him for them and will push all just and fair claims with energy and dispatch before the commissioner of pensions and, if possible, to a favorable conclusion. The act reads:

An act granting pensions to certain enlisted men, soldiers, and officers who served in the Civil war and the war with Mexico.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled:

That any person who served ninety days or more in the military or naval service of the United States during the late Civil war or sixty days in the war with Mexico, and who has been honorably discharged therefrom, and who has reached the age of sixty-two years or over, shall, upon making proof of such facts according to such rules and regulations as the secretary of the interior may provide, be placed upon the pension roll, and be entitled to receive a pension as follows:

In case such person has reached the age of sixty-two years, twelve dollars per month, seventy years, fifteen dollars per month; seventy-five years or over, twenty dollars per month; and such pension shall commence from the date of the filing of the application in the Bureau of Pensions after the passage and approval of this act:

Provided, That pensioners who are sixty-two years of age or over, and who are now receiving pensions under existing laws, or whose claims are pending in the Bureau of Pensions, may, by application to the Commissioner of Pensions in such form as he may prescribe, receive the benefits of this act; and nothing herein contained shall prevent any pensioner or person entitled to a pension from prosecuting his claim and receiving a pension under any other general or special act:

Provided, That no person shall receive a pension under any other law at the same time for the same period that he is receiving a pension under the provisions of this act:

Provided further, That no person who is now receiving or shall hereafter receive a greater pension under any other general or special law than he would be entitled to receive under the provisions herein shall be pensionable under this act.

Sec. 2. That rank in the service shall not be considered in applications filed hereunder.

Sec. 3. That no pension attorney, claim agent, or other person shall be entitled to receive any compensation for services rendered in presenting any claim to the Bureau of Pensions, or securing any pension, under this act.

Approved, February 6, 1907.

ELECTION FRAUD
HUMBLED EXPOSED*Attorney Prichard
Tells of True
Conditions*IN TORRANCE COUNTY

Democrats Were Dupes of Larrazolo Contest—Not a Single Indictment.

In spite of the attempts of politicians from the Democratic ranks to bolster them up and notwithstanding the unwarranted and sensational newspaper publicity given them, the truth has at last leaked out, as it always does, about the so-called gross election frauds of Torrance County. The truth is simple—there were no election frauds.

The contest between the defeated Democratic candidate for Delegate to Congress O. A. Larrazolo and Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews, as much of a contest as it is—said to be responsible for the dragging out of the forlorn hope of proving election frauds in Torrance County. There are a number of Democrats in the Estancia Valley who came there as home seekers and who are in no way acquainted with the true condition of affairs either in their own county or in the Territory at large. These well meaning individuals have been freely used, it is said, by the friends of Larrazolo, in continuing the election fraud charges in order to give the Democratic candidate some grounds, though very slight ones—for inaugurating his contest for a seat in Congress which it is generally admitted even among Democratic leaders, he can never hope to secure.

No Hope of Conviction.

Colonel George W. Prichard, the well known attorney and former attorney general, who has just returned from Estancia, where he has been on legal business, was retained by those charged with violating the election law in the November, 1906, election, as their counsel. He has a full and detailed knowledge of the true conditions and is authority for the statement that there is not the slightest hope on the part of the district attorney for securing convictions should these cases ever come to trial, which it is probable they will not. In the first place, there has not been a single indictment for election frauds as yet and the matter has gone no further than the filing of information against certain judges and clerks of election. This will probably be the sum total of all the talk the matter has precipitated.

Unjust Prejudice Against Natives.

It is noticeable also that the charges in every case are made against natives of Torrance County. Against men who were there before ever a settler thought of building a cabin on the plains and against men who have voted for years in that county without ever having been accused of illegal work at the polls. This goes to show that there exists to a certain extent, an unfounded and unjust prejudice against these native citizens among certain Democratic new comers which cannot help but react.

Attorney Prichard in speaking of the so-called fraud cases in Torrance County last evening gave the following lucid statement of conditions: "Contrary to newspaper reports sent out by a poorly informed correspondent, the grand jury, recently in session at Estancia did not return a single indictment for election frauds. The matter has gone no further than the filing of informations sworn to by persons, in most cases, not in position to actually know the facts.

Voters Were Not Registered.

"In Precinct Number 1, known better as Tajique Precinct, the judges of election, Candido Sanchez, Manuel Otero and Jesus Candelario, are charged with having prevented the following persons from casting their ballots: Alfredo Schubert, William Dow, John Harding, Solomon Schubert, William King, Pedro Schubert (now sheriff by appointment of the Governor), Polonario P. Schubert and Santiago Mares. It is said the reason for the action of the judges was that these men desired to vote the Democratic ticket. So much for the charges.

"I saw the defendants. They stated that not a single one of the men above named was registered as the law requires they must be to vote. Furthermore, the judges say, not one of these men offered to vote under affidavit as the law provides in case they are not registered. When these men came early in the day of November 6 and wanted to vote, they were not allowed to do so. They were not refused this privilege by the judges for political reasons as is alleged but because they were disqualified by law. Later in the day, friends of the judges prevailed upon them to let the men vote. I believe six of these men who were not registered, did vote by permission of the judges. It is claimed, however, that the judges did not count the ballots of these six voters.

"It is evident that under the law, the judges of election were right in the first instance in refusing to allow these men to vote and wrong in registering later. Whether after letting the six men vote, the judges should have counted the ballots is a matter open to considerable discussion. It could not have materially changed the face of the returns at all events.

Charged They Let Minors Vote.

"These same judges are also charged with allowing two minors to vote. It does not even yet appear whether these two voters were under age or not. However, the judges could only act upon the best information obtainable. That was a statement from the parents that both young voters were of age. It seems to me the parents should know more about such a matter than any one else.

"In Precinct Number 3, known as Manzano precinct, Herberto Gutierrez, Eulalio Samora and Benigno Baca, judges of election are charged with preventing the voting of Anastacio Romero as he was not a resident of the precinct. The laughable feature of this charge is that both the judges and Romero himself, deny its truth. The same facts exist in the case of Roman Mirabal.

"It is also alleged that these judges allowed one Secundino Garcia to vote when he was not a citizen of the United States. Garcia says he is not only a resident of the United States but that he has voted in Torrance County for twenty-five years. He had never before been questioned or challenged.

Another Absurd Set of Charges.

"One of the most absurd of these bolstered up charges is the one made against Judge of Election James Spencer in Precinct Number 4. He is accused of examining the ballots of Fred Trelloff, Frank H. Courtney and Frank Lookinghill. Spencer has witnessed to prove his assertion that these voters came to Precinct Number 4 with certificates of registration from another precinct and asked to be allowed to vote. They had their ballots rolled in their certificates, and when Judge of Election Spencer examined the certificates, the ballots were exposed. The complaints in this case were not made by the persons whose ballots were exposed for two are brothers in law of Spencer. Outside parties who evidently wanted to make trouble, filed the complaints.

"Another charge which is amusing comes from Precinct Number 11, Pinos Wells. The judges and clerks of election are charged with certifying only fifty-one votes from that precinct when there were fifty-four cast. The judges and clerks have only this to say: If such a charge is true, it was not intentional on their part to miscount the ballots and if there was a miscount, it was an error pure and simple and not a matter for court jurisdiction. This can only be determined by a recount of the ballots.

Election Judge Was Not of Age.

"In Precinct Number 5, known as the Punta de Agua precinct, Pablo J. Jaramillo and Teo Torres, judges of election, are charged with preventing Gregorio Sanchez from acting as judge and with filling the vacancy thus created with the election of Enrique Velasquez. The explanation of these judges is that Sanchez was a minor and could not meet the legal requirements for such an office.

"I do not think I need to comment further. These comprise the so-called election frauds in Torrance County of which so much talk has been spread by the Democratic friends of Larrazolo who would like to boost him into a Congressional seat to which he is not entitled.

"There were no election frauds in Torrance County—at least that I could find and I looked for them earnestly."

NEW COUNTY OF PYRAMID

Will Include Most of Railroad Property in Grant County if Created—Its Boundaries.

Considerable interest is manifested in the proposed creation of Pyramid County from the south portion of Grant County, as provided in a bill introduced in the House by Representative Frank W. Beach. According to the provisions of this bill, the north boundary of the new county would be a line extending directly west to the Arizona line from the northwest corner of Luna County. The Southern Pacific and the El Paso and Southwestern railroads through Grant County, would be included in Pyramid County. These lines under the six-year exemption law now on the statute books, would begin paying taxes next year and the new county would derive considerable income therefrom. This will cause opposition from Grant County people who are opposed to losing this revenue.

Lordsburg would be the county seat of Pyramid County. It is asserted that from some portions of Grant County, it takes residents almost a week to get to the present county seat at Silver City. The passage of the bill is a matter of considerable question.

PULLMANS PLUNGE
INTO RIVER*Pennsylvania Limited in Disastrous
Wreck*FIFTY PERSONS INJURED

Fourteen Missing—Bolt Caused Brake Shoes to Drop—Information Withheld.

Johnston, Pa., Feb. 23.—The Pennsylvania special fast eighteen hour train on the Pennsylvania Railroad between New York and Chicago, was wrecked at Black Diamond, Pennsylvania, seven miles east of Johnstown shortly after midnight. From forty to fifty were injured and fourteen are reported missing. The train was running at fifty miles an hour and was thirty-five minutes late. When rounding a sharp curve at Black Diamond, the whole train swayed. The engine and smoker remained upon the tracks but the Pullmans left the rails and plunged down a sixty foot embankment.

Missing May Be in River.

The railroad officials refuse to give any information but it is reported that fifty-four passengers were on the train when it left Altoona and only forty it is said are accounted for. It is believed the missing are dead in the wreckage in the river into which the train plunged.

An "Unavoidable Accident" the Cause.

The wreck was caused by what is termed by railroad men "an unavoidable accident." The brake rigging upon the first Pullman following the combination coach upon the train dropped down and tore up the right rail for a distance of three hundred yards. Among the injured are a number of prominent people including Frederick A. Busse, postmaster of Chicago; Samuel F. Nixon, of Nixon, and Zimmerman theatrical proprietors, the latter probably fatally injured; Felix Isman, real estate broker of Philadelphia, seriously injured; M. A. Singer, manager of the La Salle theater of Chicago, seriously injured; J. Wood Wilson, of Marion, Indiana, seriously injured; Lightner Henderson, of Chicago, of Purdy and Henderson, civil engineers; George S. Wood, manager of the Colonial theater of Chicago, seriously injured; J. I. Kern, ex-State Attorney of Chicago, seriously injured.

Official Report of Accident.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 23.—The statement given out from the train dispatcher's office of the Pennsylvania Railroad, gives the following account of the accident:

"One of the bolts holding up the brake rigging under the engine snapped with the result that the brake shoes were let down on the rails. One of the brake shoes got under one of the main driving wheels and partly derailed the big engine. About 300 yards of the track were torn up, after which the engine left the track and dragged with it three cars.

Cars Plunged Into River.

"These cars slipped down an embankment and landed on their sides in the Conemaugh River, submerging them to a depth of about two feet. There were fifty-four passengers on the train and all were more or less injured. The more seriously injured were taken to Altoona and all the passengers have been accounted for."

None Killed Says One Report.

Altoona, Feb. 23.—So far as can be learned from Pennsylvania officials here, no one was killed in the wreck of the eighteen hour flyer near Johnstown last night. Only one passenger, John F. Kline, postmaster at Joliet, Illinois, was fatally injured.

COMET MAY STRIKE EARTH

London, Feb. 23.—The Mail publishes a Rome dispatch in which Professor Matteucci, of the Vesuvius observatory is quoted as declaring that towards the end of March the substance of the new comet discovered by Marchette, will come in contact with the earth's atmosphere, with consequences probably dangerous to the earth. The professor is of the opinion that the danger will be brief but it may be acute. If the earth comes into a collision with the comet's tail, the earth's atmosphere may possibly cause ignition and destroy human life.

WELCOME SHOWERS.

True to the prediction yesterday of the local weather prophet, welcome showers of rain fell in Santa Fe and vicinity last night and today. The total precipitation was only about enough to lay the dust. Today's forecast calls for generally fair weather tonight and Sunday with colder temperature in the east portion tonight.

The temperature at 6 o'clock this morning was 36 degrees. The lowest temperature during last night was also 36 degrees. The maximum temperature yesterday was 54 degrees at 2:25 p. m., and the minimum temperature 32 degrees at 4:10 a. m. The mean temperature for the day, therefore, was 43 degrees while the relative humidity was 78 per cent. The precipitation was .09 inch.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE PROJECTED LEASING OF THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.

The policy of leasing the best public domain in the western states and territories to livestock owners thus imperiling the rights of the homestead settler and regarding the growth and settlement of the Rocky Mountain section especially which is advocated by administrative officials in the National Capital is meeting with great opposition in the section of the Territory most interested. The people, the plain people, are very much interested and are awakening. They do not view the policy with anything like favor; quite the reverse; they look at it with distinct disfavor and undisguised hostility. Looking out for posterity is a good policy, but too much of it is neither healthy nor wise. Posterity will take care of itself just as the present generation is doing. What is wanted in the great west is an influx of population now combined with turning the tracts of the public domain now unproductive into productive farms, fields and orchards.

Fortunately there is no danger of any adverse legislation by the 59th Congress as this will cease to exist within a few days. Nine months will elapse before the meeting of the 60th Congress and these nine months will be used for the purpose of combined movement against the passage by that Congress of any legislation that might conflict with or retard the rights of citizens duly qualified by law to make homestead and desert land entries on the public domain and enjoy the benefit of the homestead and desert land laws. Concerning this the Denver Republican pertinently says that it is improbable that legislation of importance will be enacted by Congress during the present session respecting the public lands. There is not sufficient time to secure the passage of bills on a matter of such importance, or even the adoption of amendments to pending measures.

The country is not disposed to adopt off-hand theories of department officials in Washington which would work a revolution respecting public lands, the use to which they should be put and the means by which they could pass from governmental to private ownership. To lease all grazing lands and to withdraw from entry and sale all coal and oil lands would erect a barrier to the settlement and development of the Far West, and thus inflict great injury upon the states of the Rocky Mountains and other parts of the arid region.

Congress is not ignorant of these things, and the members of that body have not been blinded into thinking that the policy which prevailed during the early settlement of Kansas, Nebraska, and the two Dakotas should be abandoned upon the suggestion of a few bureau officials who wish to extend their jurisdiction and enlarge their power.

In case nothing is done at this session, there will be ample time before the meeting of Congress next fall to enlighten the public on the effect of the change in the land policy which has been suggested. Let the facts be brought out and there will be such a storm of indignation protest that Congress will not entertain for a moment a thought of taking from the people the right to settle upon the public domain and make homes in these Far Western states. The public lands are for the people, and the officials of the federal government should regulate at once any suggestion that they be turned over to great cattle companies, and that persons desiring to secure homesteads should be driven back for even so much as a day.

THE LIFE IN THE OPEN.

Said a New Mexico physician recently: "When I came to New Mexico twelve years ago, I had an unmistakable case of tuberculosis; in fact an eminent specialist had pronounced it incurable and his prognosis gave me less than a year to live. My only hope of prolonging life a few months was a change of climate from Chicago to the high tablelands of New Mexico. When I arrived here, I was a physical wreck; every afternoon at the same hour my temperature rose; I had frequent night sweats; I could not sleep; soporifics had shattered my nerves and other drugs had impaired my digestion. I was ready to give up, but fortunately I fell into the hands of an old practitioner who was an apostle of the outdoor life. He insisted, almost with vehemence, upon my giving the outdoor life a trial. It seemed to require too much of an effort for a man in my condition but I obeyed, for it was the last hope. It took me four years to get well, but in those four years I did not spend four weeks altogether in any house or even tent. I dropped all drugs and while the first two weeks I suffered indescribable tortures from sleeplessness and what I thought were the rigors of outdoor life in windy winter weather, my night sweats disappeared; the periodical rise in temperature vanished; I regained my appetite and was soon sleeping like a babe, twelve out of every twenty-four hours; I gradually laid out flesh and even to this day a stay of an hour or more in a closed house seems to me like imprisonment. If I were to fall ill today, I would make my bed in an open lot. Certainly not in any house, even the best ventilated, for those who insist upon staying in the house fifteen, or twelve or even five hours out of every twenty-four, might as well stay at their home in the East. They can have just as pure, as dry, as aseptic air in a house at Chicago as they can at Santa Fe, but they cannot have the outdoor sunshine and air at Chicago that they can have at Santa Fe. Even a tent, although better than the best ventilated room in a house, lacks materially the curative properties to be found alone in the open. Practitioners have come to this conclusion elsewhere and in New York today, at the Presbyterian Hospital, severe cases of pneumonia are taken to the roof of the hospital where the patient must stay out-doors night and day, cold or warm, rain or shine. As a result, the percentage of recoveries is remarkable when compared with former statistics. What a pneumonia patient can stand in the open in New York, the average consumptive can certainly endure in the open at Santa Fe. Let me repeat, the greatest service a physician can do the health-seeker who comes here for climatic change, is not to drug him with drugs, or to oppress him with dietetic rules, or to tell him to spend several hours of the day in the sunshine, but to insist that he spend every minute of his life in the open until and after he is cured; to tell him that in this lies all the virtue there is in the climatic cure; that all else is humbug and charlatanism." The New Mexican is disposed to agree with this outdoor enthusiast and is inclined to believe that the physician who does not urge the open-air life to the health-seeker is doing his own reputation and the welfare of his patient the greatest possible harm.

RESTORATION TO CITIZENSHIP.

Under the head "Makes Felons Eligible to Office" the Albuquerque Morning Fakir handles the subject matter of a bill introduced by Speaker Baca providing that citizenship should be restored to persons who have been convicted of crime and served sentences, five years after the expiration of such sentences, provided they had in the meantime conducted themselves in a law-abiding, peaceful and commendable manner. As usual, the Albuquerque Morning Fakir makes a mountain out of a mole hill and uses a lot of wind and newspaper trash for the purpose of throwing dust and blinding the people to the merits of the bill. Under the present statutes, convicts who have served terms of sentences in the Territorial penitentiary and have a good record, are restored to citizenship upon the expiration of their sentences as a reward for such conduct. This law has been in effect in New Mexico for eighteen years and its provisions have worked well. The bill in question is meant for the relief of persons who were tried, convicted of felonies and sentenced for such prior to the enactment of the present statute. It simply aims to place these persons upon the same footing as does the present statute in the case of convicts convicted of similar offenses. There are few of these in the Territory. There is certainly nothing improper, nothing indecent, nothing corrupt in restoring such persons to citizenship in cases in which they have for many years past conducted themselves in an exemplary and proper manner. No fair-minded or decent man who has even a few drops of the milk of human kindness in his heart, will object to extending to such men the right of citizenship which they forfeited at one time, when this boon is extended immediately to convicts who have a good record upon release from the Territorial prison. However, nothing else can be expected from the Albuquerque Morning Fakir as it is impossible for that sheet to be fair, just, decent or humane.

A BITTER TRADUCER.

In the mind of the decent and reputable citizens of the Territory, there is no doubt that the lies, the slanders and libels published by the Albuquerque Morning Fakir are leading citizens of the Territory and prominent members of the Legislative Assembly are "A Territorial Disgrace." This is too plain a fact for successful contradiction. For sinister reasons and in order to get even that sheet has pursued a most rotten course in its comments on the acts of the present Assembly from the very outset; its baseless hostility has now increased greatly in vindictiveness, in bitterness and in venom because of the expulsion of its representative from the privileges of the floor and galleries of the House of Representatives, hence it out-herods Herod and injures the fair fame and good reputation of the Territory of New Mexico, of its people and of the 37th Assembly by its baseless and constant misrepresentations and perversion of facts, by its falsifications of records and news and by its libelous and slanderous attacks on patriotic and good citizens. This is an unfortunate condition of affairs to be sure, New Mexico has never had a more bitter traducer and a more cowardly calumniator than the sheet but the Territory will get over it all right.

INVITE THE PRESIDENT.

President Roosevelt will in the near future visit the Southwest. The press dispatches say that he will spend considerable time in this part of the country. His primary objective point will be Prescott, Arizona, to attend the unveiling of the monument to "Bucky" O'Neill, the Rough Rider, who was killed before San Juan. Not so long ago, the President expressed a desire to visit the cliff dwellings and if these are not included in his itinerary, it will not need much urging, it is believed, to induce him to pay the Pajarito Park a visit of a week or two, for hunting is good in that part of New Mexico and the cliff and cave dwellings are an interesting study. The start, of course, for the park, would have to be made from Santa Fe. It would be a graceful act on the part of the Legislature and on the part of the city of Santa Fe, to extend a formal invitation to the chief executive to visit this historic city again and to spend some time at the Cliff Dwellings as the guest of the city or of its Archaeological Society. The invitation should be extended in good time so that it can be considered when the itinerary for the proposed Southwestern trip is arranged. Santa Fe assures the chief executive as hearty a welcome as he received upon his first visit here, the memory of which is undoubtedly a pleasant one in his mind and certainly is on part of all those who were privileged to extend greetings to him on that historic day.

The U. S. Senate did right in its decision not to unseat Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, because he is a believer in the Mormon doctrine or religion if you please. A man's religious opinions have absolutely nothing to do with his qualifications for holding office under the federal constitution, and it would indeed be a sorry day when this rule is changed. There was nothing in the testimony adduced which could be taken as proof that Senator Smoot is a polygamist, was guilty of any crime, or is not a loyal supporter of the Constitution of the United States. It is indeed well for the country that the hysterical and far-fetched outcry against him was not heeded by the U. S. Senate.

There is one point the New Mexican desires to make in the matter of the agitation for the selection of county school superintendents by members of the Territorial Board of Education as recommended by the leading educators of the Territory and that is, that the Territorial educational officials and the professors holding places in Territorial educational institutions, should not forget that they hold office and are officials by the grace of the plain people of the Territory of New Mexico, and that they are supported by taxes paid by the same plain people. Their desire in this matter seems to indicate that they want to be "bigger" than the plain people which is not exactly as it ought to be.

Under the present law live stock is taxed in the county where it is located on the first of March of each year. There can be no question that under that system the Territory and the counties far better than they would were the live stock assessed in the county where the owners reside. The latter method has been tried for years and was found wanting and very much. Under the present law fair and more just assessment has been had from cattle growers and sheep raisers. This is the statement made by territorial and county officials who ought to know and there is every reason to believe that these officials are correct in their views.

From various counties in the territory comes a demand for the enactment of a law providing for the proper assessment of land containing merchantable timber and coal. This seems to come especially from the counties of McKinley, Valencia, Rio Arriba, Santa Fe and Colfax. Letters from officials and citizens requesting such a measure have been received of late by members of the Assembly and the agitation seems growing. The recommendations of Governor Hagerman on this subject delivered in his message to the Assembly are looked upon with approval by many taxpayers with the result that great interest by them is shown in the question.

The knackers and black mailers of the New Mexico press are endeavoring to make capital against the Republican party and against the Republican majority in the Assembly by asserting that the gambling element will be strong enough to defeat real anti-gambling legislation and that some fake anti-gambling bill which will really be a protection to the gamblers will be the result of the session, no more and no less. They have nothing to base their charges on except imagination and their readiness and willingness to falsify and to prevailate. The future will demonstrate.

Speaker Baca's bill providing for a bond issue of $100,000, the proceeds of the bonds to go towards the erection of necessary additions to the Capitol and to Capitol grounds is a timely measure which should receive the careful consideration and the approval of the Assembly. There is especially great need for a library room; thousands of valuable volumes pertaining to the library are now stored in the cellar of the Capitol building and are inaccessible. Much more office room than the present building affords is also greatly needed.

The Texas Legislative Assembly is considering the advisability of establishing experimental dry farming stations near the city of El Paso. While that town is in a dry spot of the country, nevertheless, it has been very wet every since its first settlement and a dry farming station may do the people there some good.

THE ENGLISH SYSTEM.

Not a Hundred Persons Affected by a Change of Administration.

"All told, the government of England consists of only forty-six persons, and the transfer of political control from one party to another directly affects only these forty-six persons and a few great functionaries of state whose duties are purely ornamental," says A. Maurice Low in Appleton's. "In all not 100 persons are concerned by a change of administration. Postmasters, government employees of every class, from messengers to ambassadors and colonial administrators, are not disturbed by the transfer of power. Clearly no political party in England can count upon patronage as a political asset."

"The principle on which the parliamentary system of England is founded is the rule of the majority, and the majority elects to surrender its power to one man—the premier. The power of the majority is so strictly recognized that the rules of the house of commons deprive the minority of all power to initiate or shape legislation. When a majority of the electorate of the kingdom has sanctioned a policy represented by a political party that party is given free hand to put its policy into operation. In all legislatures the power of the majority is the control which it exercises to tax the people and spend their money. See, then, how absolute is the power of the prime minister in his command of the treasury."

LETTERS BY MESSENGER.

A Postal Law of Which You May Not Have Knowledge.

The statement made in an uptown club one evening lately that the law prohibits carrying an unstamped letter past a postoffice and delivering it caused much argument. Inquiry was made at the postoffice, where an official said that the question had been asked frequently. "You may send a letter by messenger anywhere, past as many postoffices as you please," said the official, "but you have no right to send your mail that way regularly or at stated periods. This is prohibited by the postal laws and regulations. Sections 1136 and 1137 were enacted to prevent the establishment of private mail routes, because the postoffice department is recognized as having the absolute monopoly of the transportation of letters by regular trips and at stated periods on all post routes. As to open letters and circulars, they may be delivered by rival concerns, but the people who make the delivery of circulars a business have no right to deliver unstamped closed letters. The law shuts out the milkmen and the tradesmen, who travel regularly along established post roads, who would otherwise become rivals to the United States post office for the purpose of accommodating their customers."—New York Tribune.

An Anecdote of Shelley.

The poet Shelley tells an amusing story of the influence that language "hard to be understood" exercises on the vulgar mind. Walking near Covent Garden, London, he accidentally jostled against an Irish navvy, who, being in a quarrelsome mood, seemed inclined to attack the poet. A crowd of ragged sympathizers began to gather, when Shelley, fully facing them, deliberately pronounced:

"I have put my hand into the hamper. I have looked out the sacred bark. I have eaten out of the drum. I have drunk and am well pleased. I have said 'Knox Ompax' and it is finished."

The effect was magical. The astonished Irishman fell back. His friends began to question him. "What barley?" "Where's the hamper?" "What have you been drinking?" and Shelley walked away unmolested.

As Clean as a Whistle.

Any one who has witnessed the manufacture of a rustic whistle can be at no loss for the origin of the saying, "As clean as a whistle." A piece of young ash about four inches long and the thickness of a finger is hammered all over with the blade of a knife until the bark is disengaged from the wood and capable of being drawn off. A notch and a cut or two having been made in the stick, the cuticle is replaced, and the instrument is completed. When stripped of its covering the white wood, with its colorless sap, presents the very acme of cleanness.—London Answers.

Joseph Bonaparte.

Joseph Bonaparte fled to America after the hundred days and bought a home in Philadelphia, where he lived in winter, and a mansion in New Jersey, where he passed his summers. He was much liked in this country, but could not make up his mind to stay here, so returned to Europe, hoping to profit by the changes of government in France. He was always disappointed and found himself an unwelcome guest in every country save England. He finally secured permission to live in Italy and died in Florence in 1844.

Considerate.

Singleton—What have you in that package, old man? Wedderly—An ash receiver. It's a present for my wife, Singleton—What? You don't mean to tell me she smokes cigarettes? Wedderly—Oh, no, but if she has an ash receiver for me to put my cigar ashes in it will save her the trouble of sweeping them up. See?—Chicago News.

COFFIN WOOD MINES.

The Chinaman Digs For Wood Prized For Burial Caskets.

There exists no object which the average Chinaman exhibits more regard for than the narrow box which is destined to contain all that is mortal of him. He is never happy until it is in his possession. It occupies a conspicuous position in his house, and the richer he is the more he expends on its acquisition and adornment.

The coffins most esteemed by the Celestials are manufactured from a peculiar resinous wood, possessing quite extraordinary preservative properties and found only in one small district in Tonquin, buried in the earth, no living specimens of the tree now being in existence.

The natives search for it quite as eagerly as elsewhere gold and precious stones are run after, and, indeed, the deposits, for such they are, are to all intents and purposes mines of wood, the origin of which has never been satisfactorily explained.

Local legends have it that in a far distant past vast numbers of these trees existed in the dense forests with which the whole region was covered and that as a result of some tremendous cataclysm they were uprooted and precipitated into the ravines. Whether this account is true or not, the buried trees are today a source of quite considerable wealth to the lucky person who finds them. For a coffin made of this special wood a Chinaman does not consider $50 or $60 at all too high a price to pay.—Grand Magazine.

TRADES THAT CURE ILLS.

If You Want to Drive Away Disease, Turn Shepherd.

"Oil workers are never bald," said a druggist. "Visit our oil regions or those of Russia. Examine the workmen's hair. It is soft and thick and glossy, for petroleum cures incipient baldness, and if your hair is thinning rub some in. Never mind the snell. It will do you good."

"Shepherds enjoy remarkable health. The odd odor of a sheep seems to drive away disease. Sheep are especially good for whooping cough. In the sheep country when a child takes the whooping cough it is the custom for the mother to put it to play among the sheep, and the next day it is well."

"The men and women who work among lavender, gathering it or distilling it, never have neuralgia or nervous headache. Lavender, moreover, is as good as a sea voyage for giving tone to the system. Run down persons often work for nothing in lavender plants in order to build themselves up."

"Salt miners can wear summer clothes in blizzard weather without fear of catching cold, for colds are unknown among salt workers. Breweries and tanneries and printing ink factories bar out consumption. Turpentine works and ropewalks bar out rheumatism. Copper mines bar out typhoid."—New York Press.

When Chloroform Was New.

Here is a curious little story about Sir James Simpson, the man who introduced the use of chloroform into surgery, and a peril which he escaped, as recorded by Lyon Playfair. Simpson when busy with his researches in the subject of anesthetics called one day on Playfair and asked if he had anything new likely to produce anesthesia. Playfair had just prepared a liquid which seemed worthy of trial. Simpson, who knew no fear, prepared instantly to test it on himself. This Playfair refused to allow until it had first been tried on rabbits. Two were procured and placed under the effects of the anesthetic. Next day Simpson proposed to try it on himself. "We might as well see how the rabbits have fared," said Playfair. "They found both the animals dead."

The Christian Sunday.

The keeping of Sunday, the first day of the week, as a sacred day in memory of the resurrection and of the descent of the Holy Ghost dates from the beginning of Christianity. It was called the Lord's day in all the churches, but gradually acquired the name of Sunday from the Romans, who called the first day of the week dies solis, or day sacred to the sun. The first official recognition of Sunday as a holy day is in an edict of the Roman Emperor Constantine in 321 ordering that all work should cease in the cities "on the venerable Sunday," but permitting necessary farm work to be attended to.—St. Louis Republic.

A Harshship.

Favored Walter—I'm goin' to leave here when my week is up. Regular Guest—Eh! You get good pay, don't you? "Yes, 'bout the same's everywhere." "And tips besides?" "A good many." "Then what's the matter?" "They don't allow no time for goin' out to meals. I have to eat here."—London Mail.

The Danger.

A lawyer while conducting his case cited the authority of a doctor of law yet alive.

"My learned friend," interrupted the judge, "you should never go upon the authority of any save that of the dead. The living may change their minds."—Nos Loisirs.

The First Thought.

"What would be your first thought if you were to strike oil or in some other way become suddenly wealthy?" "Well, I suppose, like all the rest of 'em, my first thought would be concerned the shortest and quickest way to New York."—Chicago Record-Herald.

TO HONOR "BUCKIE" O'NEILL

President Roosevelt To Unveil Statue to Hero

AT PRESCOTT IN JULY

Chief Executive Pays Tribute Internal Revenue Collector Bardshar.

In a recent issue of the Rocky Mountain News appears an interesting biographical sketch of "Buckie" O'Neill, the Prescott, Arizona, hero—the first of the famous Rough Riders to fall in the battle of San Juan hill during the Spanish-American war. In next July at Prescott, President Roosevelt will unveil a statue to O'Neill on the occasion of the annual reunion of the Rough Riders. In the article President Roosevelt also pays a high tribute to Internal Revenue Collector Henry Bardshar of this city. The News says:

"Prescott has been selected as the place at which will be held the annual reunion of the Rough Riders. Prescott is the former home of 'Buckie' O'Neill—the first of the Rough Riders to fall in the San Juan fight.

"He was mayor of Prescott at one time and at near that place some of the most extraordinary feats of his amazing career were performed. It is therefore considered appropriate by the Rough Riders that he be the subject of unusual honors at his meeting of his old companions at his old home. And evidently President Roosevelt agrees with the members of his former regiment.

"Charles A. Hunter, president of the Rough Riders' Association and commander of the Department of Oklahoma, Spanish War Veterans, is authority for the statement that President Roosevelt will officiate at the unveiling of the O'Neill statue. Mr. Hunter's statement indicates that President Roosevelt may at that time make a considerable tour of the Southwest.

"Buckie" O'Neill, to whose memory this signal hour is proposed, was captain of Troop A, one of the two troops from Arizona that were with Prescott, then Colonel, Roosevelt, in the Cuban campaign. He was shot through the head and instantly killed at the foot of San Juan hill, just before the charge of the Rough Riders. Previous to that, however, he had proven himself one of the most efficient of the Rough Rider officers, and it is doubtful if any among them was more thoroughly liked by President Roosevelt.

"O'Neill was mayor of Prescott when the news came that a regiment of 'rough riders' was to be raised by Dr. Leonard Wood and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt, to be specially mustered into the service as the First United States Volunteers. Like many another man with a thirst for adventure, O'Neill at once began preparations to enlist in the Rough Riders—with a commission if possible, as a trooper in the ranks if necessary.

"His reputation as a man of iron nerve and his experience in campaigns against the Apaches and as a leader of men, together with his ability to rally a personal following of men after his own fighting style, secured him a commission.

"One of his first qualifications in the eyes of President Roosevelt, after consideration of O'Neill's own record of personal prowess, was the fact that his father had fought in Meagher's Irish Brigade during the Civil war. Meagher was an Irishman, one-time governor of Montana, and whoever had in his veins the blood of any of the members of that hard-fighting, fierce-fighting brigade, was considered by the chief of the Rough Riders as being possessed at once of prime qualifications for the business ahead.

"Throughout President Roosevelt's book, 'The Rough Riders,' O'Neill's name appears with probably greater frequency than that of any other man. That this is not due alone to the fact that O'Neill was killed, and the desire thus instigated to do his memory full justice, is plainly apparent.

"It was Dr. Church who first gave me an idea of O'Neill's versatility," says President Roosevelt, 'for I happened to hear them discussing Ayrton root-words together, and then sliding off into a review of the novels of Balzac, and a discussion as to how far Balzac could be said to be the founder of the modern school of realistic fiction.'

WINE OF CARDUI

"Such mental equipment, combined with 'Buckie' O'Neill's physical and personal qualities, evidently won the President at once. After that O'Neill seems to have occupied a great deal of his attention.

"He tells of an incident during the landing of the Rough Riders at Daiquiri: 'While I was superintending the landing at the ruined dock, with Buckie O'Neill, a boatful of colored infantry soldiers captured, and two of them went to the bottom. Buckie O'Neill plunged in, in full uniform, to save them, but in vain.'

"O'Neill, with Captain Mearns Jenkins, commanded Colonel Roosevelt's left wing in the Las Guaymas fight, and throughout the story of that engagement President Roosevelt keeps the Arizona name and position before his readers. Captain O'Neill it was who went with him over the ground after the fight and helped count the dead and care for the wounded.

"But here is an analysis of the man to whom the Prescott monument is to be raised, and a tribute to him as President Roosevelt saw him:

"Most of the men had simple souls. They could relate facts, but they said very little about what they dimly felt.

"Buckie O'Neill, however, the iron-nerved, iron-willed fighter from Arizona, the sheriff whose name was a by-word of terror to every wrongdoer white or red, the gambler who with unmoved face would stake and lose every dollar he had in the world—he alone, among his comrades was a visionary, an articulate emotionalist. He was very quiet about it, never talking unless he was sure of his listener, but at night, when we leaned on the railing to look at the Southern cross, he was apt to tell tales of his hard and stormy past than he was to speak of the mysteries which he behind courage, and fear, and love, behind animal hatred and animal lust for the pleasures that leave tangible shape.

"Had he lived and had the war lasted, he would surely have won the eagle, if not the star.

"Of O'Neill's death President Roosevelt speaks briefly but feelingly as follows:

"The most serious loss which I and the regiment could have suffered he fell just before we charged. Buckie O'Neill was strolling up and down in front of his men, smoking his cigarette, for he was inveterately addicted to the habit. He had a theory that an officer ought never to take cover—a theory which was, of course, wrong, though in a volunteer organization the officers should certainly expose themselves very fully, simply for the effect on the men; our regimental toast on the transport running: 'The officers: may the war last until each is killed, wounded or promoted.'

"As O'Neill moved to and fro his men begged him to lie down, and one of his sergeants said, 'Captain, a bullet is sure to hit you.' O'Neill took his cigarette out of his mouth and blowing out a cloud of smoke laughed and said: 'Sergeant, the Spanish bullet isn't made that will kill me.' A little later he discussed for a moment with one of the regular officers the direction from which the Spanish fire was coming. As he turned on his heel a bullet struck him in the mouth and came out at the back of his head; so that before he fell his wild and darkened soul had gone out into the darkness.

"This, then, is the man to whom the President will unveil a monument at Prescott in July.

"O'Neill's death came near precipitating a panic among the men of his immediate troop. They had learned to rely entirely upon him. Of this President Roosevelt says:

"When O'Neill was shot his troop who were devoted to him, were for the moment at a loss which to follow. One of their number, Henry Bardshar, now internal revenue collector at Santa Fe, New Mexico, a huge Arizona miner, immediately attached himself to me as my orderly, and from that moment he was closer to me, not only in the fight, but throughout the rest of the campaign, than any other man, not even excepting the color sergeant, Wright."

CURED TO STAY CURED.

How a Citizen Found Complete Freedom from Kidney Troubles.

If you suffer from backache—From urinary disorders—From any disease of the kidneys. Be cured to stay cured. Doan's Pills make lasting cures. Santa Fe people testify. Here's one case of it:

Alberto Garcia, living on Galisteo street, Santa Fe, New Mexico, says: "The statement I gave some five years ago relating to my opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills was correct in every detail and now I can positively and emphatically say that my cure has been a permanent one. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at the Ireland Pharmacy and used them for backache and too frequent action of the kidney secretions, troubles which had annoyed me more or less for a couple of years. I used three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me absolutely and now I have a higher appreciation of the medicine that I formerly entertained for them.

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince is a Denver visitor. He is expected to return home Monday or Tuesday evening.

President Charles A. Spiess, of the Legislative Council, was a passenger for East Las Vegas yesterday to spend the legislative vacation at home. He will return to this city tomorrow evening.

The Capital City Club gave an enjoyable Washington birthday dance last evening at Elks hall on Upper Palace Avenue. About twenty couples enjoyed the pleasures of the evening and the light fantastic was tripped until the wee sma' hours of the morning.

Councilman James S. Duncan is at his home in East Las Vegas for a short visit and will return to the Capital tomorrow evening to resume his legislative duties.

Judge Daniel H. McMillan, is in Denver, preparing for removal with his family to Las Cruces where the judge has rented the McFie home—stead whereupon there is a very comfortable and well arranged residence.

Mrs. W. H. Pope, of Roswell, wife of Associate Justice Pope of the Fifth Judicial District, has reached the city and is a guest with her husband of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Walker on Grant Avenue.

Miss Amelia Frenger, of Geneva, Switzerland, who has been a guest of Miss McFie at the McFie residence for two weeks, has returned to Las Cruces where she is temporarily sojourning with Mr. and Mrs. Numa Raymond.

C. T. Brown, Socorro mining engineer and expert, has been traveling in southern Mexico during the past two weeks inspecting mining properties for eastern capitalists. The past week he spent in the state of Tamaulipas. He does not expect to return home until the middle of March.

Invitations have been issued for an "at home" by Mrs. S. G. Cartwright and Mrs. E. A. Fiske at the former's home, 117 East De Vargas Street on Wednesday the 27th instant, from three to five in the afternoon in honor of Mrs. H. O. Bursum, and Mrs. W. E. Martin, of Socorro and Mrs. Greenly, of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Dr. G. W. Harrison, wife and three children of Albuquerque, who have in the city for several days guests at the Palace Hotel, returned to their Southern home last evening. Dr. Harrison was here on legislative business as chairman of the New Mexico Board of Health which desires to secure legislation in the present Assembly.

Mrs. J. H. Sloan returned home during the week after an absence of nearly three months, during which time she has been assisting in nursing her aged father at Des Moines, Iowa. She was summoned to her parental home early in the winter upon receipt of a telegram stating that her father had sustained a stroke of paralysis. He is still in a critical condition and she expects to leave in a few days again for Des Moines.

Charles E. Linney, section director of the Weather Bureau in this city, who is to be succeeded by R. M. Hardinge, relieved from duty as observer at Grand Junction, Colorado, is preparing to leave for Cairo, Illinois, tomorrow. The station property and instruments were turned over by him yesterday and today to J. B. Sloan, assistant observer who will be in temporary charge until Mr. Hardinge arrives.

Judge Matt G. Reynolds, of St. Louis, is a guest at the Palace. Judge Reynolds has many warm, admiring friends in this city and in the Territory and has a thorough acquaintance throughout New Mexico, having been stationed in this city for ten years as attorney for the United States for the U. S. Court of private land claims in which position he made a most enviable and successful record as a lawyer and as a man. He now holds the important position of circuit judge in St. Louis in which he was elected by a large majority.

Santa Fe society folk extend a cordial welcome to the city to Miss Hilfred Hansen, formerly of Des Moines, and a member of the Midland Opera Quintette. Miss Hansen is not only a gifted vocalist and violinist, but she has a charming personality and is a delightful conversationalist. While on the concert tour with her troupe last fall, Miss Hansen became attached to this city, its superb climate, its many scenic attractions, and the hospitality of its citizens, and decided to make her home here in the future. She is a house guest at the McFie residence on Palace Avenue.

A Washington's birthday luncheon was given by Mrs. Percy F. Knight yesterday afternoon complimentary to Mrs. Hiram Hadley, wife of the retiring superintendent of public instruction, who will remove shortly to Las Cruces. The affair was both unique and appropriate, and was greatly enjoyed by those fortunate to be present. The house was decorated with dainty festoons of red, white and blue paper streamers, and miniature cherry trees, hatched and flags suggestive of the day were conspicuous. The favors comprised tiny imitation stumps of cherry trees with candied cherries and hatched. The Washington idea was also embodied in the table decorations very tastefully. During the luncheon Lu'Ree and Virginia, the two little daughters of the hostess, entertained with several musical selections. Little Miss Lu'Ree also read a story entitled "George and the Hatched." Besides the hostess and guest of honor there were present, Mesdames A. J. Abbott, H. C. Luckenbach, Walter, Garrison, Sevier and Miss Daniels.

Mrs. A. B. Renahan expects to leave on March 1 for an extended trip to Reception for Mrs. Pope.

Mrs. William H. Pope, of Roswell, wife of Associate Justice Pope, was the guest of honor at a reception Thursday afternoon from three to five o'clock given by Mrs. John H. Walker at the latter's handsome home on Grant Avenue. The residence was decorated very prettily with a profusion of carnations and greenery. Red and white were the prevailing colors in the drawing-rooms while the color scheme in the dining-room was yellow and white. Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Pope and Mrs. Faison, of Washington, D. C., were in the receiving line. Mesdames McFie, Griffin, and C. L. Bishop presided in the dining-room and were assisted in serving by Mrs. Haynes and the Misses Staab, Spitz, Shewell, Easley and Dougherty. The refreshments embraced a variety of delicacies and were in keeping with the other elaborate appointments. The list of guests follows: Mesdames Pope, of Roswell; Faison, of Washington, D. C.; Bursum, of Socorro; Dalles, of Willard; Studley, of Raton; Abbott, of Raton; Aldrich, of Gallup; Cameron, of Alabam; Martin, of Socorro; Chaves, of Albuquerque; Reynolds, McFie, M. A. The funeral services over the remains of the late Charles L. Thayer, Sr., will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence, 136 Cerrillos Street. Interment will be in Odd Fellows' Cemetery. No funeral notices were sent out but all friends of the family are invited to attend.

A tax suit has been filed in the First Judicial District Court for Rio Arriba County by District Attorney Alexander Read against the New Mexico Irrigated Lands Company. The amount of taxes due and unpaid is $3,400, including a penalty of $161.90. The defendant concern is located on a portion of the Juan Jose Lobato land grant and the appraisal valuation of its property as set forth in the complaint is $92,517.

Assessor Marcelino Ortiz, desires to give notice to property owners that tax schedules for the present year should be made out, sworn to and filed in his office on and after March 1st coming. The time during which citizens are required to do so is sixty days from the 1st of March to the 30th of April. Necessary blanks will be furnished by the assessor on application in person or by letter. Mr. Ortiz also proposes to send deputies into various county precincts for the purpose of making a complete assessment this year.

A recent issue of the Sunday supplement of the Pittsburg Gazette Times contains a two-column descriptive story under the option of "School's Work in Land of Pyramids," written by John Fielding, Jr., a clerk in the general offices of the Santa Fe Central Railway. The article is profusely illustrated with scenes in and around the historic Egyptian town of Assiut. Mr. Fielding was formerly a member of the Assiut College, an American institution located in the town of the same name, as professor of English and Political Economy. He had been engaged for three years, but was forced to resign after six months' work as tutor on account of ill health. He became a victim of Egyptian fever which is similar to malaria.

A difficult operation was performed yesterday by Drs. Knapp, Harroun and Diaz, at the Diaz Sanitarium upon Frank C. Chaves, a well known and prominent citizen of Abiquiu, Rio Arriba County. A tumor weighing six pounds was taken from his left shoulder. Some years ago Mr. Chaves while opening a gate mounted on a mule was thrown by the animal striking the ground very heavily on his left shoulder. He recovered from this injury with the exception that a small outgrowth appeared on the spot where his shoulder struck the ground. This increased in size until it turned out to be a venous tumor which at

It Is Much Cheaper

A good deal quicker and much more satisfactory to use the telephone instead of the telegraph. Use the long distance telephone when you have business with people in Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Baton, Las Vegas, Thornton Bernalillo, Albuquerque, Los Lunas, Belen and Socorro. The Santa Fe Telephone Company's instruments connect with these places. Terms more reasonable than the telegraph.

Timely Suggestions.

There is no part of the home, that should receive more attention, in equipping the same, than the kitchen. This is true, whether we employ a chef or attend to the culinary duties personally, and much of the happiness of the home depends on the ability of the cook, for whether we are epicures or not, good cooking is indispensable. An up-to-date household, uses up-to-date appliances, for, "That which today is a luxury, tomorrow becomes a necessity," in this progressive world, and this applies to the kitchen. If you will allow us to show you some of these articles, we feel sure their utility and merits will be obvious.

JOCK

By GEORGE
ETHELBERT WALSH.

Copyright, 1906, by George Ethelbert
Walsh.

THIS isn't a dog story, but, come to think of it, a little brindle mongrel cur figures pretty prominently in it. Jock never posed as a hero, and I guess he isn't one. I've seen him run from a bigger dog, yelping for dear life and curling that tail between his legs like an ostrich burying its head in the sand.

Jock simply came to me, and I tolerated him because he showed so much affection for a forlorn, homesick engineer doing duty in a distant land.

Jock and I went everywhere, slept together, ate together and tramped the country like two old outcasts. But he wasn't good for much else than a companion. He was too lazy to keep awake at night to watch out for danger and too big a coward to stand between me and another man or animal.

When I was commissioned to inspect the new docks and piers that the government was having built in Manila, Jock and I prepared for sundry little excursions along as pretty a coast as any man laid eyes on.

On the fifth day out from Manila we reached the new government dock, where heavy supplies for the army were to be landed for shipment to the interior. This was a large wooden affair running 500 feet into the bay. The contractors had just finished their work, and the government was waiting for my final report before accepting it.

The dock was firmly built of huge piles driven into the soft mud and sand and boarded up on both sides to keep the floating debris from collecting under it. There was an entrance under the dock at the extreme end, but one could enter it only at low tide.

It was a very hot day, and after making a close examination of the dock I decided at noon to eat lunch under the cool shade of the mammoth wooden floor and then take a nap.

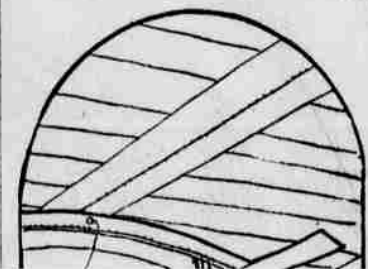

Jock made no objection to this unspoken proposition, but wagged his tail with intuitive appreciation of my plans. I pushed the small, flat-bottomed puddle of water up to the ankles. I considered a lake and a stream three feet deep a river of mighty volume. Therefore, I confess with shame, I hadn't learned the gentle art of swimming.

I pushed the boat toward the end of the pier, bumping my head repeatedly against the boards overhead. There, ten feet below the surface, I could see a path of light which showed me where the entrance to our prison was located. A good diver and swimmer could easily reach it and come up on the other side.

Jock looked down and wagged his tail, inviting me to dive. It was dog talk just as plain as day. I smiled with chagrin and shook my head.

I was not a kind to die easily, and while I had a few minutes of respite

I reached under the boat.

The boat had imprisoned a lot of air, and the rising water had held it. The bottom and sides of the boat were with air and water tight. Jock had held the place of escape either accidentally or by instinct.

I breathed easier and found my position more comfortable. There was a lot of six inch space for the head, and could rest my elbows under the seat the boat. It was all a question now whether there was sufficient air to support the two of us for half an hour less. By that time, I judged, the tide would turn, and we could crawl it.

The water could not rise higher under the boat on account of the imprisoned air, but our breathing steadily chaunted the oxygen of the latter and added to our discomfort.

My nerves grew tense and snappy, and my senses began to reel. Jock, too, ceased to bark and whine. A great number appeared to possess us. How long we had been there I had no way to judge, but when my head seemed ready to split I could stand it no longer. I must have fresh air!

I ducked my head under the gunwales of the boat and crawled out. There was a moment of spluttering and gasping and then a deep breath of fresh air that sent the blood tingling through my whole body.

The tide had turned, and there was space enough under the dock to live and breathe in comfort. I filled my lungs until they ached for more.

Then, remembering Jock, I reached under the boat and hauled his nearly lifeless body up to the fresh air.

When the tide fell low enough for us to crawl upon the bottom of the boat I flung myself at full length on it and rested. Jock spread himself out by my side ready as ever to rest and sleep.

Later I examined the high level of the tide under the dock and found that the water had come up to within half an inch of the boards. No man could have lived there, and had not Jock found the fresh air under the boat neither of us would be here to testify to the truthfulness of this tale.

But Jock doesn't pose as a hero, and I'm not saying that he is one, but you must admit I owe my life to him.

der the dock had been closed to us. The light which had flooded the place when we went asleep was thus shut out, and we were dependent upon a few feeble rays that made their way between cracks in the boards overhead.

"Hello, Jock! We're in a pickle!" I exclaimed.

Jock wagged his tail and tried to bark, but it only ended in a mournful whine.

"You little coward," I added in disgust. "You're a brave one to give a man moral courage!"

But I had no time to devote to the art of reasoning. I knew that the tide was coming on to an extreme

ONE MEAL A DAY.

Two Women Who Solved the Problem of No Dishwashing.

One meal a day is enough for a woman. At least, that is what Miss Williamina Burnett and Miss Ginevra Falkenberg assert, and, having practiced this self denying ordinance for something over a decade, they have a right to an opinion. Williamina is forty, Ginevra forty-three, but neither is said to look a day over twenty-five, and the two, though not related, have lived together like sisters for twenty years. These singular persons walk five miles to work every morning, work eight hours at some manual labor in the city of Pasadena and then walk five miles back, to dine on whole grains, fruits, raw vegetables (skins and all) and nuts. Bread they consider a curse to humanity. Eggs they look on with acute suspicion. Potatoes are dropped, diseased growths. Meat is a crime. Salt, pepper, sugar and spices? Never! There are no plates or dishes or glasses on their table. The fruits, nuts and grains, which are all they have to eat anyway, are served in baskets and eaten—probably—with the fingers, while not even water is drunk except between meals.

The repast finished, Ginevra and Williamina go to bed at once, for they regard exercise after a hearty meal as a most beneficial practice, and from dark to daylight they sleep on cots near open windows. In their quest after nature these "girls" have discarded many superfluities of feminine apparel and have built for themselves a charming one room bungalow at a cost of $350. People laugh at them, but they laugh back, and from all appearances Williamina and Ginevra have the best of it, in spite of their names.

Mrs. A. M. Bergere and daughter Miss Otero have returned home from a week's visit to Mrs. Neil B. Field, in Albuquerque.
Mrs. Amado Chaves returned last evening to her home at Albuquerque after a delightful two weeks' sojourn in the Capital. She was a house guest while here of both Mrs. James L. Seligman and Mrs. Roman L. Buea.
General Manager S. B. Grimshaw, of the Santa Fe Central Railway will return during the coming week from a business trip to Denver and Chicago. He has been in the latter city several days and is expected to leave there for home tonight or Sunday.

Hon. and Mrs. S. E. Aldrich, of Gallup, who were guests for a time at the Palace Hotel, are now domiciled at St. Vincent's Sanitarium. Mr. Aldrich is a member of the House of Representatives from the district comprising Valencia, McKinley and Torrance Counties.

Mrs. Jennie V. Greenly, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, arrived in the city last night and will be a guest for several weeks of Mrs. E. A. Fiske. Mrs. Greenly is on her way to the Pacific coast on a pleasure trip and stopped here to renew acquaintance with Mrs. Fiske and visit the points of scenic and historic interest in and around Santa Fe.

Mrs. A. B. Renahan entertained at a card party on Tuesday afternoon at her home, "The Willows," in honor of a coterie of women. "Five hundred" was the order of the afternoon, and it proved a charming vehicle of amusement. Mrs. Amado Chaves, of Albuquerque, carried off the prize. Those invited were Mesdames Bursum, of Socorro; Pope, of Roswell; Studley, of Raton; Abbott, of Springfield; Cameron, of Carlsbad; Martin, of Socorro; Chaves, of Albuquerque; Reynolds, McFie, A. Seligman, J. L. Seligman, Llewellyn, Spitz, Hall, Sargent, Walker, Misses Baum, of Denver; Holzman, of Albuquerque, and Spitz.

Hon. and Mrs. J. Wallace Reynolds were host and hostess on Monday evening at an elaborate box party at the theater to witness the performance of "Under Southern Moss." The guests were Mr. and Mrs. James L. Seligman, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Renahan, Miss Mabel Helen Baum, of Denver; Fay Sperry, and Mark B. Thompson, both of Las Cruces; R. C. Gortner and C. C. Catron. After the play all repaired to the Reynolds' home where a sumptuous repast was served. Mr. Reynolds presided dexterously at one chafing dish and Mr. Thompson at another in a contest of culinary skill. The occasion was voted a most pleasant one.

Reverend E. McQueen Gray, the newly appointed rector of St. John's Episcopal Church at Albuquerque, and who was a house guest recently of Governor Hagerman, is a visitor at East Las Vegas. He will deliver a sermon there tomorrow in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Concerning him the Las Vegas Opile of yesterday says: "The Reverend E. McQueen Gray, the learned rector of the Episcopal Church of Carlsbad, arrived in the city yesterday and remained last night as the guest of the Reverend Mr. Moore and of Chief Justice William J. Mills. Las Vegas will be pleased to hear that Mr. Gray will preach at St. Paul's Church Sunday, March 10th. Furthermore a number of Las Vegas have asked him to deliver an address on the Saturday evening preceding on good citizenship and a meeting will probably be arranged. Mr. Gray has been spending several days in Santa Fe as the guest of Governor Hagerman. The reverend gentleman is widely known both in England and America for his ripe scholarship and his delightful writings, both in prose and verse. His poems of western life are finished and charming productions and should be read by every New Mexican. Mr. Gray as a Shakespeare critic and interpreter has few superiors. He came to the Territory from England fourteen years ago in such poor health that his physicians gave him only a year to live. He has entirely recovered and leads a life of strenuous and many-sided activity."

Attorney W. W. Gatewood, of Roswell, left this afternoon for his home via the Santa Fe Central Railway and the Automobile Line. Mr. Gatewood was in the city representing the plaintiffs in the two cases against officials of the Hondo reservoir project which came up for hearing here before Judge Edward A. Mann. Mr. Gatewood was asked about his views on the county division proposition in the Pecos Valley but declined to discuss them for publication.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Osburn, of Artesia, were among the arrivals today in the Capital and registered at the Cliffr. They rode on horseback from their home to this city, a distance of about three hundred and fifty miles via the White Mountains. They traveled leisurely and enjoyed their trip immensely. They will remain here until Monday. Mr. Osburn is a lawyer by profession and is also president of the Artesia Commercial Club. Being a resident of Artesia he is naturally in favor of the creation of Artesia County.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Wade, of Las Cruces, left Wednesday last for southern California, for a visit and for rest and recreation.

Hon. Solomon Luna, president of the Territorial Sheep Sanitary Board, has returned from a ten days' visit to Washington, where he was in consul-tion with federal officials and a Congressional committee regarding legislation for the leasing of the public domain. Mr. Luna will be in Santa Fe Monday.

Mrs. J. W. Reynolds entertained informally at cards Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. H. O. Bursum and Mrs. W. E. Martin, of Socorro, who are among the visitors in the city during the session of the Legislative Assembly. "Five Hundred" was the game played, and there were five tables. Prizes were awarded as follows: First, Mrs. Spitz; second, Mrs. Baum; consolation, Mrs. Fischer; guests' prizes, Mrs. Bursum and Mrs. Martin; visiting ladies' prize, Miss Holzman; prize for "grand slam" hand, Mrs. Studley. A unique feature of the party was the fact that no refreshments were served.

Colonel and Mrs. Jose D. Sena were married fifteen years ago yesterday and celebrated their crystal wedding anniversary with a family reunion. A sumptuous dinner was the feature of the observance and twenty-two relatives were gathered around the festive board. Host and hostess received a large number of presents as mementoes of the occasion and tokens of esteem. Mrs. Sena was formerly Miss Euphrasie L. Clouthier. She and Mr. Sena were united in marriage at Taos on February 22, 1885. Mr. Sena was forty years of age on the twelfth of February and his wife arranged a birthday celebration on the previous evening at which a Spanish supper was served and the guests were fellow members of the local lodge of Elks.

A. H. Brodhead and C. L. Haberlein returned last evening from a brief outing at Pajarito Park. Dr. F. E. Mera and W. W. Corbett who accompanied them remained to make a more thorough examination of the cliff dwelling region. Mr. Brodhead in speaking about the trip today said: "Pajarito Park offers great possibilities and he believes the day will come when the beauties of scenery and historic interest surrounding it will attract annually large numbers of tourists."

Professor James E. Clark, assistant superintendent of public instruction, will leave this evening for Chicago, where he will attend the meeting of the department of superintendence of the National Educational Association, February 25-28. He anticipates being absent a week. This is a national convention of all of the state and territorial superintendents of public instruction, county school superintendents and city school superintendents. First in War, First in Peace, First in the Hearts of His Countrymen.

"O, peerless one, serene and matchless Washington!"

It was in the honor of the "Father of His Country" that an assembly that would have been deemed distinguished even in the largest city of the land, gathered last evening at the hospitable and beautiful home of ex-Governor Hagerman, for there were present the Governor of the commonwealth, the President of its Legislative Council, the Speaker of its House of Representatives, many legislators and their wives, members of the Supreme Bench and of the bar, federal and territorial officers, and many others in public and business life besides prominent visitors to the city and leaders in its social life. The grand hall or museum, of the Prince home, wherein are garnered antiquities of inestimable value and representative of various peoples and different epochs, lends itself admirably to purposes of entertainment, and last evening its austere and noble outlines were softened by the profusion of floral and patriotic embellishments. There were festoons of flags, two life-size portraits of Lieutenant Pike, the centennial of whose entry into New Mexico will be celebrated on next Tuesday, and other patriotic emblems and Revolutionary heirlooms besides magnificent bouquets of American Bayberry roses, proud carnations and a bank of violets from which each lady guest present was presented with a fragrant and generous nosegay. In the reception room there were roses, carnations, hollyhocks and similar in profusion. The programs were elegant souvenirs, having upon their cover a colored portrait of Lieutenant Pike.

Mrs. L. Bradford Prince, state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, under whose auspices the 175 anniversary of George Washington's Birthday was so fittingly observed, wore a magnificent colonial gown of black velvet and the insignia of the order and of her exalted rank, sparkling with rare gems. The other members of the order also appeared in colonial costume and powdered hair, presenting a charming picture of olden times. The program gave promise of a rare intellectual, literary and musical banquet, that was borne out by its rendition. Mrs. Prince presided with dignity over the exercises of the evening for which a platform had been erected at the north end of the museum and chairs had been arranged in opera fashion. Mrs. B. M. Thomas, in opening the program, read effectively from the impressive ritual of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Governor Hagerman made a brief but eloquent patriotic opening address in which he dwelt especially upon the unselfishness of the character of the first president of the United States, who looked neither for reward nor recognition as long as he followed the line of duty to his country and its people. Mrs. Prince requested a copy of the address for the archives of the society and pronounced it publicly the best George Washington's Birthday address to which she had ever had the pleasure to listen.

The other address of the evening was by Judge William H. Pope, of Roswell, and of the Territorial Supreme Court Bench. It was a delightful effort sparkling with wit and humorous sallies and ending in a splendid peroration paying tribute to the exalted character of the Father of His Country. Judge Pope spoke as a representative of the Society of Colonial Wars of which he, as well as Mr. Crane of New York, one of the guests of the evening, are members. An interesting letter from Judge Ira A. Abbott, of Albuquerque, also a member of the Supreme Court Bench, was read, in which he dwelt upon several lesser known but characteristic incidents of Washington's life. Judge Abbott was upon the program for an address, but was unable to be present to his great regret, expressed in his letter. Mrs. Jacob Weltmer, member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, read an interesting essay describing the relation of Washington to his times and to the future, and Mrs. Prince greatly pleased her audience with a select reading, the pathos and beauty of which she brought out with touching effect. The musical part of the program was in keeping with the occasion. Miss Virginia Bean as violin soloist in two fine selections, earned new laurels. Miss Elizabeth Massie on the piano, and Mrs. Bean on the violin and piano, rendered several classical selections that were gems in execution, especially Schubert's Musical Moments and Raff's justly popular Cavatina. Miss Emilie A. Walter, as the vocal soloist of the evening, proved to be in good voice and moved her auditors to repeated applause in singing two ballads and the patriotic song: "The Flag of the Free." The audience joined in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee," at the beginning of the program, and "The Star Spangled Banner," at its conclusion.

Delicious and delicious refreshments were served and the rest of the evening until midnight, was spent in social intercourse and music. The following was the program:
