THREE CENT RATE BILL PASSED

By Vote of Eighteen to Three in House

FIGHT OF THREE HOURS

By Minority—Measure Good Naturedly Contested—Adjournment Until Monday.

After a busy week, both branches of the Legislative Assembly are in adjournment until Monday afternoon, after having considered many measures and taken action upon quite a number. Monday the legislature opens for two weeks of hard work prior to adjournment. There are many matters to be taken up and at the same time they must be given careful and conscientious consideration. However, both the Council and House have their work well in hand and no trouble is anticipated in clearing the decks before the gavel finally falls for the closing of the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly of this Territory.

CATTLE MEN KILL DROVES OF SHEEP

War Between Livestock Owners in Wyoming

FIGHT RANGE SUPREMACY

Promises to Be as Bloody as on Former Occasion—Camps Burned.

Sheridan, Wyo., March 9.—Northwestern Wyoming is again threatened with a range war between the cattle and sheep men. Closely following the attack on the Wisner Camp last week when 400 head of sheep were killed and the camp burned, comes the report of a similar outrage in the Owl Creek country. The Sugh Dickey camp was attacked by twelve masked men.

Thousands of Sheep Killed. The raiders drove off the herders, fired the camp and began shooting sheep. Out of a total of 8,000 sheep, 4,000 have disappeared and are supposed to have been killed.

The cattlemen had marked out a "dead line" and the Dickey sheep were a mile over it.

War Will Undoubtedly Spread. The war will probably spread to other camps and further trouble is likely to occur.

Former War Deplorable Affair. When the sheep men first entered northern Wyoming, one of the fiercest wars in the history of the western range was precipitated. The cattlemen were up in arms for several months and dozens of men on both sides were killed, either from ambush or in open fights. The sheep men were driven below the cattlemen's "dead line" for a time but under pressure of the officers of the law, soon spread towards the north. The cattlemen lost considerable of the range which they claimed by right of occupancy. The sheep men it is said, have gradually encroached upon the range until the cattlemen are in danger of being driven therefrom.

Sheep Men Prepared to Fight. Following the first slaughter of sheep by cattlemen, the sheep owners armed their herders and these men showed equal bravery and coolness in the defense of their flocks. The result of the present trouble is problematical but the bloodshed of former days is not expected as each side has too much fear of retaliation upon the part of the other.

PROPHET DOWIE DIES SUDDENLY

Founder of Zion City Succumbs to Long Illness

FEW AT HIS BEDSIDE

When End Came—Remarkable Life of Dreamer Who Apostled Strange Creed.

Chicago, March 9.—John Alexander Dowie died at 7:40 o'clock this morning at Shiloh House, Zion City. There were present at the death bed only Judge D. N. Barnes and two personal attendants.

Dowie had been failing rapidly for the past few weeks and during that time he had not appeared in public. Friday he received a few of his followers and seemed to be in about the same condition as he had been for the last two weeks.

End Came Quickly

Shortly before 1 o'clock this morning Dowie became delirious and his talk was the same as at religious meetings in the days of his prime. Gradually he became weaker and his attendant telephoned for Judge Barnes who arrived at seven o'clock. Forty minutes later Dowie was dead.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

Scotchman By Birth.

John Alexander Dowie was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, May 25, 1847. In 1860 his parents removed to Adelaide, Australia, where for seven years, as a youth, he was clerk in a large business house. He saved his money to return to Edinburgh at the age of twenty to take a five-year course in theology and arts.

Set Up Free Christian Tabernacle.

Six years of denominational activity wearied Dowie and in 1878, he went to Melbourne, Australia, where he set up a free Christian tabernacle, the first one of its kind in the country, and organized a divine healing association which afterwards became international in character.

Dowie became president of this association and gained fame by going into the country during the prevalence of putrid fever and apparently effecting many cures by prayer and laying on of the hands.

Settled in Chicago in 1890.

He arrived in San Francisco in 1888 and in 1890 removed to Chicago which was the theater of his great work. During the next five years he was arrested at least a hundred times for violating the city ordinances relating to the care of the sick, but Dowie gained in popularity constantly.

Proclaimed Himself Elijah.

The Christian Catholic Church in Zion City was formally organized in February 1896. Dowie becoming its general overseer. Four years later, before a large audience, he announced that he was Elijah, the restorer, spoken of in Holy writ. Previous to this he marked out his plan for Zion City, the crowning effort of his life.

Founded Zion City.

In August, 1901, the first building was erected in Zion City, which a year later had a population of ten thousand people. In Zion City as well as in the church, Dowie reigned supreme. The title of six thousand acres bought with the money of his sect rested in him. All the lots were leased, not sold.

In December 1903, Zion City was placed under the control of a federal receivership, which was dissolved a week later on Dowie's showing his ability to pay dollar for dollar on all the indebtedness. At the time Dowie estimated his holdings at $25,000,000.

Stricken With Paralysis.

Eighteen months later Dowie began the promotion of the second Zion City in Mexico. While engaged in this undertaking his health failed and he went to Jamaica to recuperate. While there he suffered a stroke of paralysis from which he never fully recovered. It was at this time that he appointed Wilbur Glenn Voliva, his first lieutenant and general overseer of the church.

Deposed By Voliva.

Voliva by the power of attorney vested in him by Dowie had all the property belonging to the church transferred from Dowie to Overseer Granger, charging extravagance and gross mismanagement by Dowie.

In addition he called a meeting of all the Zionists and denounced Dowie. With the exception of less than 200 of Dowie's former followers all the inhabitants chose Voliva as their future leader and sent word to Dowie that he had been deposed. Dowie immediately returned and took the controversy to the courts for settlement.

Rickard has posted a forfeit of $10,000 in a Reno bank.

RUEF DEMANDS FAIR TRIAL

Grave Charges Alleged Against Justice Dunne

DENIES THAT HE FLED

To Escape Facing Charges—Held Under Guard in Hotel Apartments.

San Francisco, March 9.—Abraham Ruef who was taken into custody last night by Court Elisor W. J. Biggs, assisted by Detective Burns of the district attorney's office, and who is being held under arrest at a hotel, will not be brought before Judge Dunne in the superior court for trial until Monday morning.

To Apply for Habeas Corpus.

It is anticipated by the prosecution that Ruef's attorneys will apply to one of the higher courts for a writ of habeas corpus. The state supreme court has not yet rendered a decision in the application of Ruef's counsel for a writ of prohibition restraining Judge Dunne from proceeding with the trial. The identical writ was denied by the district court of appeals. Ruef today issued the following statement:

Was Only Taking a Rest.

"When my case ended in Judge Hebbard's court last Monday and by a writ of error was put into the supreme court of the United States, knowing that Judge Dunne had no further jurisdiction of the proceedings, I thought I would take a rest for three or four days.

Denies He Tried to Escape.

It was never my intention to evade jurisdiction of the court or leave the jurisdiction of the court or leave the jurisdiction of the court. My reason for taking the case to the Supreme Court of the United States was that I was advised that Dunne had practically contracted to pack the jury in the case which was to be heard before him.

Willing to Be Tried.

"I am willing to be tried upon this infamous charge, of which I am not guilty, but I want a fair judge and a fair jury."

FORMER ACQUITTAL PLEA OF DEFENSE

In Case of United States vs. Jacob Auerand of Santa Cruz—Court Hearing Arguments.

The United States District Court for the First Judicial District continued in session at the court house today, Judge John H. McFie, presiding, and Clerk A. M. Berger at his post.

The time of the court was taken up today hearing arguments on the plea of former acquittal which the defense has set up in the case of the United States vs. Auerand, formerly postmaster at Santa Cruz, who was arrested charged with embezzling a letter. The defense claims that Auerand is being twice placed in jeopardy. He was indicted once, but upon trial the United States failed to prove the indictment and he was subsequently released. However, he was again indicted and is this that the defense is fighting on the ground that Auerand was formerly acquitted of the same charge and cannot be again tried for the offense.

The United States grand jury it is understood is investigating alleged fraudulent coal entries in San Juan County, but so far it has returned no indictments.

FIGHT MAXIMUM FREIGHT RATES

Railroads in Missouri Seek to Have Temporary Injunction Against Law Made Permanent.

St. Louis, March 9.—The maximum freight rate hearing was resumed today before Special Commissioner Schofield. In this hearing a number of railroad companies are endeavoring to have made permanent the temporary injunction issued against the enforcement of the maximum freight law passed by the Missouri Legislature during the session of 1905. The cases of the different railroads are being taken up separately.

ROBBER SHOT POLICEMAN

Safe Blowers Surprised By Officers After Dynamiting Postoffice Safe and Fled Without Booty.

Carlinville, Ill., March 9.—After dynamiting the postoffice safe here early today two robbers engaged in a running fight with two policemen. Officer Vanmeter was seriously wounded by one of the robbers. The robbers were interrupted before they looted the safe.

ROCK ISLAND TRAIN INTO OPEN SWITCH

Topeka, Kan., March 9.—Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific passenger train No. 28 from Denver to Chicago, ran through an open switch just west of the Topeka yards, and five cars and the locomotive were derailed. The derailed cars plunged into a hand bank and did not turn over. About twenty passengers and employes were bruised, and two women were seriously injured. The only car that remained on the track was the diner.

RATE BILL CAUSED A BATTLE ROYAL

On Floor of House—Holt Led Minority

STRONG SPEECHES MADE

By Those Opposing Measure—No Hard Feelings Resulted From Fray.

The three-cent rate bill introduced in the House yesterday afternoon by Mr. Gallegos, of Quay County, and which passed that body by a vote of 18 ayes, 3 nays, two absent and one not voting, precipitated the hottest fight of the present Legislative Assembly.

Moreover it demonstrated what a minority composed of bright men learned in the ways of parliamentary battle, could do when determined in their opposition to the passage of a measure.

The fight began following the reading of the bill the first and second time by title, when Mr. Gallegos moved the suspension of the rules for the third reading of the bill preparatory to its passage. Mr. Holt, who led the minority fight against this bill in an admirable manner, promptly amended the motion to refer the bill to the committee on railroads. The roll-call was demanded.

Mr. Abbott, of Santa Fe, who was one of the most valuable members of the fighting minority and contested the bill to the last ditch, made a strong plea for fair play in the consideration of the bill declaring that it should be fully considered as it was of paramount importance to the Territory. He opposed passing it until it had been in the hands of a committee and favored Mr. Holt's motion.

Representative Horace C. Abbott, of Colfax County, was in the thick of the fight. Mr. Abbott placed himself squarely on record against the proposition. His speech was earnest and eloquent although his cogent reasoning did not change the majority.

Not Time for Three-Cent Rate.

Mr. Abbott did not think that the time for a three cents fare had arrived as yet in New Mexico; that the time will come he has no doubt and he hoped that the increase in population would be so rapid that it would be had at an early date. He did not believe it fair to make a three cents per mile passenger rate as the new railroads that have been building in the Territory during the past few years and are now building are in sparsely settled sections where business—both passenger and freight—must be developed and where passenger business for some time to come must be small. He said that it was the intention of the legislature to encourage the construction of best sugar factories, cement factories, smelters, etc., by exempting them from taxation for six years; this would be useless without railroads as without such these industries could not exist and thrive.

An Argument of Great Weight.

In fact without railroad communication they would be useless and capital invested in them would prove a loss. Representative Abbott was the only member not an attorney who stood solidly against the proposition and voted accordingly.

He did this because he believed it was right and proper so to do. In addition he stated that he would not vote for any measure that had not been carefully and thoroughly examined and was thoroughly understood by the members.

He favored the committee of the bill to the Committee on Railroads, to be carefully investigated, reported and a full discussion had upon its merits.

Mr. Gallegos said the bill was very similar to House Bill Number 16, which had been for some time before the Committee on Railroads and a printed copy of which was on every desk in the House.

Mr. Hudspeth said he was the author of House Bill Number 16 and that he had despaired of it ever being reported by the committee and favored the passage of Mr. Gallegos' bill.

Mr. Beach asked Mr. Hudspeth to come before the Committee on Railroads and explain why the Territory should enact a three-cent fare law. He said if the bill introduced by Mr. Sanches, of San Miguel, became a law, it was doubtful if the legislators would ever care for a three-cent fare.

Ruppe Again Stopped the Clock.

Mr. Ruppe said: "It has been quite a while since I have had the pleasure, gentlemen, of stopping that clock." (He pointed to the House clock which press reports said a flow of oratory from him had once stopped.)

He then said he had waited patiently for some such legislation and was heartily in favor of it. He was called to order by Mr. Holt who appealed to the Speaker that Mr. Ruppe had used more than one minute in explaining his vote. Mr. Ruppe sat down, voting "no."

Later Mr. Holt apologized to Mr. Ruppe, saying that five minutes were allowed a member to explain his vote. Mr. Ruppe wanted the remaining four minutes of his time, which caused considerable mirth. The additional time was not allowed.

Mr. Studley said the Interstate Commerce Commission was the body before which such a measure should be taken and said the Legislature had not the right to enact a law for a three-cent or any other railroad fare.

The motion to refer the bill was lost by a vote of 6 ayes, namely, Mr. Abbott of Santa Fe, Mr. Abbott of Colfax, Mr. Beach, Mr. Holt, Mr. Studley and Mr. Speaker, and 17 nays.

Both Sides Were Determined.

Mr. Gallegos' motion to suspend the rules was then put. Mr. Holt demanded a roll-call. The fight was then on in earnest. The minority unable by its vote to accomplish anything, conducted its battle along oratorical lines being determined to delay the passage of the measure as long as possible by talking and then force an adjournment. However, the word had been passed among the majority members that the bill was to be passed if the members had to remain in their seats all night.

Each member of the minority consumed every minute of time allowed under the rules in explaining his vote and upon the final roll-call, the motion for third reading prevailed by a vote of 17 ayes, 6 nays. The minority vote standing firm.

Mr. Beach was on his feet in an instant.

"Mr. Speaker," he said, "I move that the House make this bill the special order of business for Monday. I do not want to oppose the desires of the members of this House, but I do want to know what that bill contains in order that I may vote intelligently."

Mr. Gallegos amended the motion of Mr. Beach to table his motion indefinitely. A roll-call was again demanded.

Again followed explanation after explanation from the minority in an effort to gain time. The resources of the minority were again shown. It seemed almost impossible that five or six men could hold off the passage of the bill as did Mr. Holt and his handful of followers.

The Motion of Mr. Gallegos Prevailed by the Usual Vote.

Motions to adjourn were then made, motions to reconsider the votes by which they had been defeated were put and motions to make the bill special order on Monday and on Tuesday were made and motions to reconsider them were voted down. It was a fight to the end and during all that time, the minority talked, talked, talked. There was no display of ill-feeling and the friendliest of sentiment existed on all sides, the speakers often being interrupted by bursts of hearty laughter. This was especially true when Mr. Holt moved to amend the bill by making a provision that all railroads should carry free at all times members of the legislature, territorial district and county officers, ex-officers and ex-legislators. This amendment was received with a burst of mirth, which went far towards showing the friendliness of

BIG FEES FOR THAW WITNESSES

Expenses of State and Defense Are Heavy

EXPERTS COME HIGH

Not Fully Decided How Jerome Will Arrange Testimony of Prosecution.

New York, March 9.—When the Thaw trial is resumed Monday it will be exactly five weeks since the actual hearing of testimony began and seven weeks since the case was first called in court.

The expense to both the state and the defense has been very heavy, particularly to the defense. As an instance may be mentioned the fact that Dr. Evans, principal alienist expert for the defense is reported to be receiving $200 a day, Dr. Wagner $150 and Drs. Hammond and Jelliffe, $100 each.

Prosecution Has Many Witnesses.

In just what order the witnesses for the prosecution will be called has not fully been decided upon.

The Tomb's physician, Dr. McGuire, who has maintained an almost constant surveillance over the prisoner during his confinement, Drs. Flint, Macdonald and Mahon, alienists, F. W. Longfellow, who was Thaw's confidential counsel; May Mackenzie, and Mrs. C. J. Caine, friends of Mrs. Thaw and probably Abe Hummel, Howard Nesbit and Charles Hartnutt are expected to be called.

Brother to Testify for State.

Hartnutt was for years confidential secretary to White, Mrs. Evelyn Thaw has also been subpoenaed and besides being questioned about the letters she received from White, she may be confronted by the testimony of her brother and asked to explain how she forgot posing for a certain photographer and a statue which are said to be not so conventional as she spoke of them in her testimony.

Divorce Story Is Denied.

The statement was credited yesterday to Howard Nesbit to the effect that the Countess of Yarmouth hoped to bring about a separation between Thaw and his wife, was denied today by Mrs. George L. Carnegie, one of Thaw's sisters. She said none of the family desired a divorce or separation and that Thaw would not have consented if they did.

TRUSTED IN GOD BUT A SUICIDE

A Texan in New York Drank Prussic Acid

FIRST STOLE $100,000

By Means of Forged Notes—Lost Money on Races Then Wrote Farewell Note.

New York, March 9.—That Leonidas M. Preston, secretary and manager of the Timkin Roller Company, forged the name of E. R. Hewitt, a member of that company to notes aggregating $75,000 to $100,000 was the substance of a statement made to the coroner today by James A. Shea, the counsel for Mrs. Preston.

Death From Prussic Acid.

Preston died suddenly Thursday after drinking Prussic acid while three members of the company were waiting to question him about his affairs. Preston left a note saying that he had been insane for some time. The coroner decided that the man committed suicide and that there was no occasion to continue the investigation upon the theory that a murder had been committed.

Went to New York From Texas.

Preston came from Dallas, Texas, several years ago and was reputed to own considerable property near Dallas and to be an heir to an estate in New Orleans reported to be worth three million dollars. An investigation has not located any of this property and it is believed that he suffered heavy losses.

Brother Never Heard of Fortune.

His brother in Paris, Texas, has informed Preston's associates that he does not know of the existence of the reported fortune of three millions. As secretary and manager of the Timkin Roller Company, Preston received a salary of $12,500. In the note he left Preston said:

Still Trusted in God.

"I have lost my mind, my power to grasp things, my memory, I have lost everything except my firm faith in God and his Son, Jesus Christ. I leave it all to Him."

FAIR SUPPORT FOR THE INSTITUTE FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

A fair appropriation should be made for the maintenance of the Institute for the Deaf and Dumb in this city. The appropriations heretofore made were entirely too inadequate to do the good desired. Had it not been for the fact that the Institute was closed for several years during which appropriations were saved for the 56th and 57th fiscal years, it would have been found impracticable to have the Institute opened and in operation during these years. The sum of $2,800 per annum heretofore allowed cannot by any possibility be stretched to do for present needs. There are 20 inmates now attending the Institute and this number will soon reach 30 and more. Two hundred and fifty dollars per annum is a low cost for each inmate and at the rate of 30 per annum this would make necessary an appropriation of $7,500. The attendance within a year will be forty and hence the appropriation should be not less than $10,000. The Institute is one of the most deserving in the Territory and is doing great and good work for the unfortunate for whose benefit it is established. No miserably or parsimonious policy should prevail. The Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly will do the right thing at the right time by treating the needs of the Institute fairly and justly and appropriating the needed sums of money for its proper maintenance and operation for the next two years.

The Las Vegas Optic rejoices that the chances for colonizing 100,000 or more acres of the Las Vegas land grant are excellent, and that conditional contracts for the sale of 100,000 acres have been made; upon this tract actual settlers are to be placed and that within the next two years, else the forfeits put up by the contract purchasers are forfeited to the board of trustees of the Las Vegas land grant. This is great good news indeed, and is very naturally gratifying, not only to the citizens of Las Vegas, to the Optic and to San Miguel County, but to every well meaning and progressive citizen of the Sunshine Territory. Dry farming experiments are to be tried on a large scale, and those who are competent to judge are of the opinion that they will be successful.

MORE SELF-GOVERNMENT WANTED.

The people of the sister territory of Arizona, judging by the tenor of articles in a number of daily and weekly papers published there are also somewhat impressed with the idea of self-government and with a desire to have as much of that as is possible under a Territorial form of government. The plan to elect members of the Territorial Board of Equalization is being discussed, and is meeting with considerable favor in various sections. The New Mexican does not believe it will be adopted and that the present method of appointing the members of the board by the Governor of the Territory will continue, yet the movement shows which way the wind is blowing and that there is much unrest among the people not only in these two territories, but also in the states as to the centralization of power in the hands of executives, in boards named by governors and in minor appointive officials. Of late there has been considerable getting away from a government of the people, for the people, by the people both in federal and state affairs and it must be admitted by candid observers that "the people" do not like it a bit. Discussing the Arizona idea of electing members of the Territorial Board of Equalization, the Bisbee Review says:

"There is one measure which should be passed before the adjournment of the legislature and that is one providing for a new make-up of the Territorial Board of Equalization. The present organization places the entire taxation power in the Territory into the hands of the Governor, who may dictate absolutely what shall be paid as revenue by the various classes of property. The Territorial Board of Equalization should not be amendable for its acts alone to the Governor, as it is now, but should be composed of men elected by the people.

"This paper has several times in the past suggested that it would be wise to have the Territorial Board of Equalization composed of the several chairmen of the Boards of Supervisors in the counties of the Territory. Such a board would be composed of thirteen members and each one would be informed especially as to the condition and property valuations in his county, and as a whole the board would be responsible directly to the people of the Territory and not alone to the Governor, as is the case with the members of the board as now composed.

"This kind of a board would be placing the matter of assessment and taxation of all classes of property in the hands of men chosen by the people of Arizona and taking it away from a board which is subject to the control of the arbitrary dictation of one man, appointed by the President above-board and the people will appreciate the matter at the proper time.

that the legislature will pass such a law."

JUST CREDIT FOR DELEGATE ANDREWS.

Among the members of Congress who are entitled to the greatest possible credit for obtaining the appropriation of $1,000,000 for commencement of actual work on the Elephant Butte dam and reservoir system near El Paso in this Territory, should be placed Delegate W. H. Andrews of New Mexico. The appropriation is an advance of funds from the United States treasury to the U. S. Reclamation Service which is to be repaid to the treasury in due course of time from the reclamation fund and which was made in order that work on the project might be commenced at a much earlier date than it would have been possible otherwise to do by the service.

As the completion of the project is several years off at the very best, a gain of a year or two is remarkably good luck for the sections to be benefited, namely, the Rio Grande Valley in the counties of Sierra and Dona Ana in this Territory, and in El Paso and other counties in the state of Texas. Delegate Andrews had considerable influence with members of the House Committee on Appropriations and used this to the fullest extent. His knowledge of the project and the fact that he represented the people of New Mexico who are so vitally interested therein, came in right handy and gave his work more strength and increased power. There were many others who aided and the department of state did all in its power for the appropriation and urged that it was necessary to redeem pledges of a treaty that had been made. The Republican majority in the House of Representatives took a just and sensible view of the situation and acted accordingly. To be fair and just, credit should be given to Delegate Andrews in this matter. The people of New Mexico are to be congratulated upon the fact that they have so successful and so energetic a delegate in Congress as Mr. Andrews.

A SPLENDID VINDICATION.

By the passage of a stringent anti-gambling bill without dissent the Legislative House has thrown down the gauntlet to its detractors. Action on this reform demanded by the people is after all the test of the mettle of the present Legislative session. The passage of the bill shows conclusively that the House acknowledges no master but the people; bows to no individual, to no selfish interest, but acts along the straight line of duty and justice. It is noteworthy that the bill was introduced by a native son for it has been said in secret, if not openly, that it is the native people who fastened the curse of legalized gambling upon the Territory and who will oppose tooth and nail any effort to abolish it. Men who have been violently attacked, whose motives have been questioned and whose acts have been denounced, men like Speaker Baca, Representatives Holt and Beach and others, were to the fore in the passage of this proposed legislation and deserve special credit, for they could have delayed and frustrated the passage of the bill without much trouble and yet, might have shifted the blame upon someone else. There has been considerable opposition to the "Swift Seventeen" aspersions have been cast upon them individually and as a party; they have been denominated "Bursum's tools" and no epithet was too vile or too low, but that the Fakir Journal has used it in speaking of these stalwart Republicans, but their action on the anti-gambling bill speaks far louder to the people than all the insinuations and mud slung at them by discredited journals and a pinhead opposition. It is now up to the Legislative Council to make good as the House has done and their favorable action as that of the House will disprove to the people and to posterity many of the lies and all of the accusations against the Legislative Assembly that have been uttered thus far.

THE "SWIFT SEVENTEEN" SHOULD REMEMBER.

"Once more the Morning Journal would appeal to the gentlemen who constitute the majority of the Lower House of the Territorial Legislature to exhibit in their official conduct a modicum of respect for the opinions of mankind."—Albuquerque Morning Journal.

A few days ago the sheet of good, graft and malice, the Albuquerque Morning Journal, called the seventeen Republican members of the House of Representatives fresh from the people as their representatives and elected by handsome majorities, "Tools of Bursum," "Boddlers," "Grafters" and "Thieves" and now this cheeky exponent of greed, graft and malice and arch-enemy of the Republican party of New Mexico, whinnies appeals to them as "Gentlemen." The "swift seventeen" should remember this and the why's and wherefore's of it.

There is absolutely nothing to hide in the actions and doings of the Republican majority in the present Assembly. Their record is open and above-board and the people will appreciate the matter at the proper time.

ACTOR ASSASSINATION.

ning upon a recent editorial in the New Mexican under the heading "Character Assassination," the Citizen, a paper devoted to the best interests of the of the county of Bernalillo and the city of Albuquerque, and advocating the same constantly, says:

"For sound judgment, clear and unimpassioned expression and unanswerable arguments, the Citizen can truly say that it has not often seen an article in a newspaper which it so heartily commends, as an editorial in the New Mexican last evening. It is headed "Character Assassination," and has reference to the hue and cry raised by the anti-Republican press, especially of this city, against H. O. Bursum, as former superintendent of the Territorial Penitentiary."

The Socorro Chieftain makes two suggestions for proposed legislation, both of which if carried into effect would prove beneficial. One of them has already been heeded and a bill has been introduced by Councilman Miera, providing that registers of deaths and births be kept by the probate clerks of the several counties. This is the custom in every state and continental territory and should be so in New Mexico. The benefits to be derived from such registers are so great and so apparent that not much discussion is necessary. The other proposition to collect the poll taxes of railroad employees from the companies that employ, is also timely and sensible. A bill should be promptly introduced and enacted into law. There is no railroad employee in this Territory who would grudge giving a dollar per annum for the support of the public schools thereof. Every railroad employee would pay this tax cheerfully and willingly were he called upon by the proper officials so to do. The reason why this is not done now rests simply in the lack of efficiency exhibited by school poll tax collectors. As the Chieftain says there will be no objection from anybody concerned to such a statute. Both measures should be enacted.

Only ten more days of work for the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly. Night sessions will have to be held during the coming week in order to clean up the business. That friction exists between the two Houses and that there is no unity of interests between the Governor and the Assembly is too patent to be denied. It is an unfortunate condition and how it will be solved cannot be foretold at this moment. However, when the session is finished the blame will fall where it properly belongs.

An anti-gambling bill must and will be passed by this Assembly. The Sanches bill passed by the House is a splendid measure; the Spleiss anti-gambling bill now pending in that body. There should be no more delay. It is understood that one or two members of the Council Committee on Territories are working against the measure and are endeavoring to hold it back for report and action. The Council should not tolerate this. Every day of delay means injury and detriment to people of the Territory.

On Monday next the Council should pass either the Sanches anti-gambling bill passed by the House or the Spleiss anti-gambling bill now pending in that body. There should be no more delay. It is understood that one or two members of the Council Committee on Territories are working against the measure and are endeavoring to hold it back for report and action. The Council should not tolerate this. Every day of delay means injury and detriment to people of the Territory.

One of the most important projects awaiting action by the present Assembly is the revision of the laws. It is acknowledged by all who have any knowledge of the subject that this is of the greatest importance and should be had. The promise for favorable action, however, is not very good and it may go glimmering like many other projects before the Assembly.

The House having tabled the code of revenue laws passed by the Council should make haste to have drafted another code that meets its wishes more thoroughly than did the Council bill. The present revenue laws are inadequate and contradictory, and the present Legislative Assembly will not have fulfilled its duty to the people unless it provides a remedy for existing defects.

Legislative matters and affairs are flowing and there will be much doing during the next few days. The House of Representatives means business and the Council is getting to mean business. But ten more days of the session and it is therefore no wonder that haste is being made.

"Hon. W. H. Andrews, our delegate in Congress is making his mark in the way of getting appropriations for New Mexico."—Las Cruces Citizen.

Yes, and is looking out in every other possible way for the best interests of the Territory and its citizens, and that successfully. Credit where credit is due.

The Spleiss anti-gambling bill seems to be slumbering in the Council Committee on Territorial Affairs. The session is drawing to a close and the sleeping season ought to be over. What is the matter with reporting the bill and acting upon it?

If President Roosevelt is really so anxious to have water in the Panam Canal, he should call upon E. H. Harriman, the railroad trust magnate. What Mr. Harriman does not know about putting water into railroads and canals, is not worth knowing.

Fake interviews do not pay, but then they will continue to appear in the Albuquerque Morning Fakir. Danny Macpherson and his gang love them.

STORIES OF THE CAT.

Legends and Facts About the Still but Half Tamed Animal.

"There are few tales of cat fidelity and many of dog, yet one thinks no worse of the cat for this," says an observer. "His very independence commands respect. He walks by his wild ways, waving his wild tail, through the wild woods, as an inspired modern writer has set forth. All the generations have not served to tame him, and the most domestic of the race will revert sooner to a wild life at the call of the blood than any other friend of man. It is thus scarcely surprising to find that the most famous cat lovers have been drawn from the ranks of politicians and poets, those whose reasons of state or a sensitive temperament have rendered averse from trusting their fellow creatures and who consequently bestow all their affections upon the 'fleshy sphinx.' We are invited to believe that the most famous of all cats, he who brought fame and fortune to his master, Dick Whittington, was no four legged animal at all, but merely the French word 'chat' to buy and sell at profit—and that the great merchant made a pet only of his merchandise from the very beginning. Thus in later years do the idols of our youth topple about our heads."

"But other legends—any, facts—are left us. Cardinal Wolsey, for instance, when acting in his official capacity as lord chancellor is said to have had his favorite cat always seated beside him, and another prince of the church, Richelieu, found his only relaxation in keeping a number of kittens in his private cabinet and watching their gambols during his spare moments. We cannot really reckon Richelieu as a true lover of the race, however, for directly the kittens grew to three months he had them sent away and replaced by others. Lord Chesterfield left in his will life pensions to his favorite cats and their kittens. Victor Hugo's great cat Chantrelle always sat on a large red ottoman in the center of his salon and received his guests in state, showing marked displeasure if any one failed to greet or praise her."

"Tasso wrote a sonnet to his favorite cat, and Petrarch had one he loved as dearly, we are told, as Laura. No doubt she was the confidant of many of his trials and consoled him for much of the fair lady's disdain, and when puffed by the poet had her enshrouded in the Egyptian fashion and carried her mummy about with him everywhere. Baudelaire, the French poet, a very shy man, was always ill at ease in his new house he entered until the family cat was brought up and introduced to him, after which, with the cat on his knee, he was perfectly happy in his silent poet fashion."

"Traditions respecting cats are, of course, legion. From time immemorial they have been regarded as somewhat uncanny, omens of weal or woe, beings to be either conciliated or crushed. The cat worship of ancient Egypt and, later, the Roman creed that the cat was sacred to Diana speak of the one; the wild charges of witchcraft—or concern in it—life during the dark ages of Europe will attest the latter. But there is another popular belief deserving also of mention, that which sets forth the old maid as the cat's only friend, a legend arising in the medieval nurseries overruled with nice, where one or more cats were always kept and were no doubt much petted by the good nuns."—Chicago News.

A Hard Burial.

Some few winters ago a gang of carriage washers was engaged washing carriages on one of our northern railways when one of them remarked to his mate, an old soldier who was famous as a long bowler, "It's awful cold this morning, David."

"Cold! This is nothing," said David, "I remember when I was in Canada in 1880—one of our mates died, poor chap. And you will have some idea what sort of frost it was when I tell you it froze the body so stiff and the ground so hard that we had to get hammer and chisel, make a nick in the ground and then drive him in with a pile driver. That was the only way we could give the poor chap decent burial."—London Answers.

Using the Eyes.

A scientific writer quotes Helmholtz as saying that in his work he could only liken himself to the mountaineer, painfully and slowly climbing, often obliged to turn backward, lighting later on new traces leading forward, and finally reaching the goal, only to find to his confusion that a plain road led thither, if he had only had the eyes to see. Darwin said he thought he was superior to the common run of men in noticing things which easily escape attention and in observing them carefully.

Cheap Generosity.

A great smoker handed his cigar case to his right hand neighbor. "Thank you, but I don't smoke," said the man.

He therefore handed it to the man on the left, who made the same reply, whereupon his wife nudged him and said, "Why don't you hand it to the captain?"

"No, thank you; he smokes."—Nes Loisirs.

The Mean Thing!

"Who was that fool you bowed to?" "My husband."

"Oh, I—er—I—humbly apologize, I—"

"Never mind, I'm not angry. But what a keen observer you are!"—Cleveland Leader.

FENCING OUT RATTLES.

A Precaution of Animals That Man Uses to Advantage.

Did you ever hear of a rattlesnake fence—not one made of rattlesnakes, of course not, but one made of prickly thorns to protect one from the rattlers and keep them away? That is what the Arizona campers build, and the only way to keep these deadly poisoners away is by building one of these fences of okes, a shrub covered with thorns which grows on the desert.

As the tents have no doors and are not set much above the ground, it would appear easy for Mr. Rattler to effect an entrance. Imagine the sensation of crawling into bed some cold night to strike against the clammy skin of a snake, and this is just where Mr. Snake likes to snuggle, in among the warm blankets.

To avoid this men who work in the mines have found that a snake will not go near this okes, and they have built closely knit fences around their tents, with little gates to go in and out, and beyond this the rattler will not penetrate. It was first the Indians of the desert who discovered this deadly shrub, and they got the secret from birds and animals, which, to protect their young, travel sometimes many miles back and forth, bringing the thorns with which to cover their little nests. Gophers and other small animals there cover their nests in this manner.

It is strange that in that country, so dry and forbidding, many things grow in exuberance, and especially noticeable are the great fields of Brown Eyed Susans, the yellow daisies with the brown centers. They grow so high and wild that you can step in a field and your head will just peep over the top of the nodding sea of bright eyed faces. Los Angeles Times.

All Three Galleys.

A St. Louis physician telephoned an order to a drug store which was received by the druggist's son, a boy of fourteen years. The boy misunderstood the order and sent an overdose of a drug which killed the doctor's patient. The coroner's jury held the physician, the druggist and the boy responsible for the death.

Tripoli Powder.

A grain of Tripoli powder contains the skeletons of 187,000,000 animals—læ. It is used in the making of dynamite.

Red Billed Weaver.

The red billed weaver bird is a constant companion of the giraffe, perching itself upon the withers and flying along when its host takes to flight and immediately alighting again on its back at the first opportunity.

Scotch Farmers.

Scotch farmers in plowing do not want the furrow turned over, but set on edge, because if on edge it will not harden so soon and will be more easily worked.

Mountain Ranges.

The long, undulating folds in which the Appalachians were produced when first thrown up are characteristic of mountain ranges the world over. The Alps, the Pyrenees, the Caucasus, Himalayas, Andes and Rockies are built in just that way. They are enormously thick beds or masses, and they are all ridged up into these folds.

Something to Look Like. Mr. Bighart—Wiggins, old boy, we have raised $50 to get the boss a Christmas present, and we want something that will make a show for the money—something that will look big, you know. Can't you suggest something?

Wiggins—Sure. Buy $50 worth of rice and bolt it—Men and Women.

LEGAL NOTICE.

United States of America, Territory of New Mexico, The United States of America, Plaintiff;

The above named defendant, Mathias Ebert, is hereby notified that a complaint has been filed against him by the above named plaintiff, the United States of America, in the above entitled cause, in the First Judicial District of the Territory of New Mexico, at Santa Fe, New Mexico, and that said cause is now pending in said court.

The general object of the said action is that a patent to a certain lot, tract and parcel of land, heretofore issued by said plaintiff to the said defendant, Mathias Ebert, be by judgment of this court declared void, and as such to be held for naught and set aside and cancelled, for the reason that at the time patent was issued to Mathias Ebert, defendant herein, the land for which said patent was issued were within the Navajo Indian Reservation and were reserved for the use of the Indian and were not open to sale or settlement; that the said patent was issued without authority of law and was therefore null and void, and the purpose of this suit is to cancel the patent to the lot, tract and parcel of land aforesaid and restore same to plaintiff.

That the description to the lot, tract and parcel of land aforesaid is as follows, to-wit: Southwest ¼ of the southwest ¼ of Section 2, and the southwest ¼ of the southeast ¼ of Section 3, in Township 29, north of Range 16, west of the New Mexico Principal Meridian, Santa Fe land district, Territory of New Mexico.

Defendant is further notified that unless he enters his appearance in the said cause on or before Monday, April 15th, A. D. 1907, judgment will be rendered against him by default.

TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO,
 Adjutant General's Office.
 Santa Fe, N. M., February 25, 1907.

Circular No. 1.

There has been mailed to each officer of the National Guard of this Territory a pamphlet published by the War Department which contains instructions for conducting correspondence, and keeping the records in the National Guard.

Too much cannot be said of the value of learning how to conduct military correspondence properly, by those in the military service; and the value of knowing how to keep records correctly, cannot be estimated.

During active service, there is little, if any, time to learn these things which should have been learned before. All officers are requested to carry out, to the best of their ability, the instructions as outlined in the publications mentioned; and thereby increase the efficiency of the National Guard of this Territory.

By Command of the Governor,
A. P. TARKINGTON,
 Adjutant General.

BAD FIRE VISITS EAST LAS VEGAS

East Las Vegas, N. M., March 9.—This city was visited by a fire at an early hour Thursday morning, which for a time threatened the entire business district of the city. But for the prompt work of the fire departments from both towns, a conflagration would have resulted. The fire started in a large barn on the corner of Lincoln and Seventh Streets. The barn was totally destroyed and the flames spread to the barn of J. C. Johnson & Sons, undertakers, destroying this, thence to the warehouse of the Daily Optic Company, the outbuildings of the Roth butcher shop and other small outbuildings, all of which were consumed. The Optic was about the heaviest loser. It lost all of the files of the paper extending back for over thirty years, which were bound and kept in storage in the warehouse. About half a carload of paper was ruined by the flames, water and smoke. A shed containing machinery, a large supply of coal and forty gallons of gasoline was burned to the ground. The fire attracted a crowd of several thousand people.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. Frank Dibert and daughters Miss Eloise and Miss Diberia are in Los Angeles, California, where they will remain for some months.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wilson, of Albuquerque, who have been guests at the Palace Hotel for some days, returned to their Duke City home last evening.

Mrs. R. W. Hopkins and daughter, of Albuquerque, have gone to San Diego, California, for a sojourn. They are the wife and daughter of the postmaster of the Duke City.

Colonel G. W. Prichard, who has been in White Oaks and in the Lincoln mining districts, Lincoln County, on legal and mining business, has returned home.

Mrs. Charles F. Easley and two daughters were sojourners in the Estancia Valley, the guests of friends during the week. They are expected to return home tomorrow.

Secretary and Mrs. J. W. Reynolds have issued invitations for an "at home" on next Thursday evening from 4 to 7 o'clock to meet the wives of the members of the Legislative Assembly then in the city.

Mrs. J. H. Garrison and Miss Judith Garrison, of St. Louis, Missouri, have arrived in the city and are house guests of Prof. and Mrs. W. E. Garrison on the South Side. They will remain here some time.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Diaz have sent out invitations for a musicale at their home, corner Don Gaspar Avenue and Water Street, Monday evening next in honor of Hon. and Mrs. Carl A. Dalles, of Willard.

Mrs. Jennie V. Greenley, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, who has been a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pliske, on Cathedral Place, expects to leave during the coming week for the coast. Mrs. Greenley enjoyed her visit here greatly.

President Charles A. Spies of the Legislative Council left last night for Las Vegas to spend Saturday and Sunday at his home. Mrs. Spies is slowly recovering from her recent serious indisposition, but is not yet able to travel. She expects, however, to visit Santa Fe before the close of the session.

Representative and Mrs. Abbott entertained.

Representative and Mrs. H. C. Abbott, of Springer, entertained at the Palace Hotel on Thursday evening at a delightful card party followed by an elaborate banquet. The event was one of the most successful social functions during the present session of the Legislative Assembly. The forepart of the evening was taken up with cards, five hundred being the game.

This was played at nine tables in the parlors of the hotel, the honors of the evening going to Mrs. S. G. Cartwright and Judge John R. McFie. At 11 o'clock cards were laid aside and the guests repaired to the banquet room where an elegant luncheon was served. Pink and white carnations were used profusely on the table and plates were laid for fifty. At one end of the festive board sat President Charles A. Spies, of the Council, while at the other Speaker Baca held forth. The hosts were numerous and witty. Hon. E. C. Abbott, of Santa Fe, began the toast making by moving that Representative Frank W. Beach as the only bachelor and the only pebble on the beach, should respond to the toast "The Ladies."

Mr. Beach in his usual witty and eloquent manner responded and also recited the "Pace on the Bar Room Floor" with great effect. Speaker Baca responded to the toast "The Council," and President Spies to "The House of Representatives." Hon. H. B. Holt responded to the toast, "Our ex-Governors," in an eloquent speech, referring to the nine-years successful service of ex-Governor Otero and the good services of ex-Governor Prince. Judge McFie responded to the toast "The Relations of the Judiciary to the Legislature."

His remarks were received with applause by the banqueters and were highly appreciated. He pictured the Council and the House as being weighed, one balancing the other and always looking to the judiciary to decide their actions. Ex-Governor Prince responded to the toast "The History of the Bench in New Mexico," going back to the time when but three judges presided in the Territory and were the supreme court. He illustrated how much easier it was to confirm the decisions when it only took one to decide, compared with the present time when there were six judges comprising the supreme bench. After the banquet the guests returned to the parlors of the hotel where they were entertained by delightful vocal selections by Mrs. Cameron, Mrs. Dalles, W. E. Gortner, of Las Vegas, and others. The guests numbered fifty and were as follows: Ex-Governor and Mrs. Otero, ex-Governor and Mrs. L. B. Prince, Judge and Mrs. McFie, Hon. and Mrs. Elmer E. Studley, of Raton; Hon. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, of Carlsbad; Hon. and Mrs. S. E. Aldrich, of Gallup; Hon. and Mrs. H. C. Abbott, of Springer; Hon. and Mrs. Carl A. Dalles, of Willard; Hon. and Mrs. E. C. Abbott, Hon. and Mrs. M. B. Stockton of Raton, Hon. and Mrs. W. G. Sargent, Hon. and Mrs. R. L. Baca, Hon. and Mrs. H. B. Holt, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Easley, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Renahan, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Schroufe, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gortner, of Las Vegas, Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wilson, of Las Vegas; Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Pliske, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fischer; Mesdames Frost, Greenley, of Minneapolis; Mrs. Wingert, and Governor Hagerman, Hon. Solomon Luna, Hon. Charles A. Spies, of Las Vegas, Charles Springer, of Cimarron, and Hon. Frank W. Beach, of Orogrande.

Use the long distance telephone when you have business with people in Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Haton, Las Vegas, Thornton Bernalillo, Albuquerque, Los Lunas, Belen and Socorro. Timely Suggestions.

There is no part of the home, that should receive more attention, in equipping the same, than the kitchen.

This is true, whether we employ a chef or attend to the culinary duties personally, and much of the happiness of the home depends on the ability of the cook, for whether we are epicures or not, good cooking is indispensable.

An up-to-date household, uses up-to-date appliances, for, "That which today is a luxury, tomorrow becomes a necessity," in this progressive world, and this applies to the kitchen.

If you will allow us to show you some of these articles, we feel sure their utility and merits will be obvious.

Hubbell Versus Terry

When old John Fallows, childless widower, became partially blind, people wondered how he was going to get on. It was not long before their anxiety was allayed by the announcement that Rebecca Hubbell, a young lady socially prominent and much sought after, had of her own free will resigned the world to devote herself to the poor old man.

Fallows' only descendant was a niece, Jane Terry, the daughter of his sister. When Miss Hubbell entered upon the care of John Fallows, Miss Terry was a schoolgirl. A year later she was graduated, and it was supposed that she would relieve the woman who was giving up her life to devote it to the invalid by taking her place. But she did not. Then people began to talk. A story was circulated that she was bent rather on frivolity than shutting herself up to be a prey to the whims of a peevish old man. Miss Terry gave color to the report by accepting the offer of a woman who took a fancy to her to introduce her into society. Being attractive, her social success was looked for by her friends. Nevertheless she was a failure. She was blamed for permitting Miss Hubbell to do a work that she should have done herself. This feeling was more pronounced since Miss Hubbell had been prominent in the circle to which Miss Terry had been introduced. Besides this, there were a number of little sayings going about the origin of which could not be traced.

When Mrs. A. asked Mrs. B. why Miss Terry did not assume her proper place with respect to her uncle, Mrs. B. would say that she had heard it stated that the old gentleman was so nervous and irritable that only one of a serene disposition could manage him. When Mrs. C. asked Mrs. D. the same question, Mrs. D. would look grave and say that Miss Terry was jealous of the influence of that angel over her uncle and would like to get near him if she could. It was the old man who kept her away. Whatever truth there was in these reports, certain it is that they blocked Miss Terry's social aspirations, and after being present at a few functions she was dropped.

Then came a surprise. John Fallows died, and instead of leaving a competency, as had been supposed, he left millions. But, as a still greater surprise, he bequeathed everything to his niece, Jane Terry, not remembering Miss Hubbell with a penny. Society was shocked. Miss Hubbell's sacrifice was unrequited, while Miss Terry, who had shirked a duty in order to attempt to assume a place in society, which declined to receive her, was made rich. A few cynical people predicted that society might protest with its heart against such injustice, but that Miss Terry would open with a golden key a lock that would not turn with one of lesser metal. But these did not reckon on the hold Miss Hubbell still held on the social leaders. Society with unexpected generosity took up the cause of the poor girl who had been wronged and turned its back on the girl it assumed had wronged her.

Then it was rumored that the deceased had drawn a codicil to his will leaving a considerable part of his estate to Miss Hubbell. This codicil had been appropriated by Miss Terry. Miss Hubbell commenced suit to break the will. All would depend upon securing possession of a slip of paper on which the codicil had been written. It was known or at least supposed to be in the keeping of Miss Terry or her attorneys. Could they be forced to produce it in court?

Miss Terry surprised every one by taking the management of her affairs into her own hands. She engaged her lawyers and instructed them in the method of their defense. They were to admit the existence of the paper in question, but were to decline to produce it till compelled to do so in open court. This course only inflamed Miss Hubbell's supporters against the heiress, and the social doors remained barred against her.

At length of waiting have an end, and so did the suspense attending the case of Hubbell versus Terry. The lawyers for the defendant came into court with their suitcases full of papers and their chests loaded with law books. Rebecca Hubbell showed great confidence for her lawyers assumed her that they would win of her enemies to produce the codicil. The most careful study of Miss Terry's face failed to reveal what she felt. Society was present in large numbers, and for once society was deeply interested in seeing a wrong righted.

Miss Hubbell's principal attorney asked a few preliminary questions to a witness who had admitted he had seen the much talked of paper bearing the codicil asked of the court that it be produced by the defense. The attorney for the defense objected. The court ruled that the document must be brought out. Slowly the attorney drew from his pocket a wallet and from the wallet a half sheet of letter paper and handed it to the claimant's advocate. The latter read it and turned pale.

Ten minutes later the claim was withdrawn, and claimant and defendant left the courtroom, the former a broken down woman, the latter serenely victorious. This was the codicil: "To be used only in case Rebecca Hubbell attempts to break this will. For years she has dominated me. She tried to force me to marry her. She has kept my niece, Jane Terry, from me."

Jane Terry did not need to open social doors with golden keys. Her enemy was silenced. There was no further opposition to her entrance.

GIVEN UP TO DIE.
 B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? For sale at the Ireland Pharmacy.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is a new remedy, an improvement on the laxatives of former years, as it does not gripe or nauseate and is pleasant to take. It is guaranteed. For sale at the Ireland Pharmacy.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed. If all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poison enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or packages. For this reason mothers and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison-marks on Dr. Shoop's labels and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison mark there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by Fischer Drug Company.

For Catarrh, let me send you free, just to prove merit, a Trial size Box of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. This is Worth Remembering.

A WIDOW and A WIDOWER

(Copyright, 1905, by McClure, Phillips & Co.)
They looked upon Aaron Turner at the family hotel in Paris where he was stopping as something of a curiosity. He did not look at all like the man who travels. On the contrary, they set him down as a filler of the soil and wondered how he had ever found his way across the Atlantic. He was slow moving and slow spoken, with what seemed a religious turn of mind.

They had looked to see Mr. Turner register as "judge" or "general," and they had expected him to boast of his herds of cattle in Montana or his oil wells in Texas, but he had disappointed them. His name went down as plain Aaron Turner. After a week or so it came to be understood that he was a widower, having lost his dearly beloved about a year before.

When plain Mrs. John Gates arrived at the same hotel a few days later than plain Aaron Turner, she also proved to be something of an enigma. She had no diamonds and no style. She was dressed in mourning and was often found with tears in her eyes.

In due time, which in this case meant two days after her arrival, the widow Gates was sought out by plain Mr. Turner. His first excuse for presenting himself before her was that both were Americans. His second was that both had lost their beloved partners and that there should be a bond of sympathy between them.

The tearful widow Gates was also communicative. She had made the trip with her husband in the hope that it would improve his left lung. It had been hard scraping to get the money together, and the last $10 had been raised on the family sewing machine. Just as the lung seemed to be growing better her dear departed had been taken off a race of people who drank absinthe instead of buttermilk and who shrugged their shoulders instead of sweating right out. She resorted to tears as she finished her plaint. Mr. Turner spoke comforting words. He reminded her that in the midst of life we were in death and that human nature was so constituted that it could not go on grieving forever. As a matter of fact, the widow felt quite cheered up when he took his departure, and during the next two weeks they were often seen together. They became quite confidential before the widower decided to trust the widow with a secret. He wanted to do something for the minister and the Sunday school class at home. Deacon Pegram would be expecting some sort of a present, and there was his sister, who kept house for him. Taken altogether, he would be expected to make a score of presents. While none of them would be of great value, each one would be cherished for the sake of the giver. As the two were going home on the same steamer and as he had only a small trunk with him, would the widow kindly take charge of the packages as he brought them to her?

The widow would and did. While she was financially hard up, she was also buying a few presents, and all could go into her trunk together. The two did not go out together or shop together. For some reason they didn't propose such a thing, although it would have been perfectly proper. The Frenchmen realized that it would have been proper, and when it didn't occur they shrugged their shoulders and muttered something about "American eccentricity." By and by sailing day came, and the widow and the widower took the train for Havre and found themselves on board of their steamer. They were hardly settled when the widower made a proposition. There was nothing matrimonial about it. He had discovered that there was a passenger on board who knew him, and if he was seen acting as escort to the widow there would be talk about it at home. He therefore proposed that they should seem to be strangers for the voyage.

The widow was agreeable. She also had a reputation to preserve. On landing in New York she would go to a certain hotel, and the widower would call there and say farewell and receive his presents. As neither had brought along anything dutiable, there would be no trouble at the customs house. Things were settled this way, and no one aboard came to know that plain Mr. Turner and plain Mrs. Gates had spoken words of consolation to each other on the soil of France. It was only when the steamer had sighted Sandy Hook that the widower looked at the widow in a peculiar way. She interpreted it to mean that the custom house officers would soon be aboard and asking for declarations, and she returned his look with one calculated to put him at his ease. Plain Mr. Turner was one of the first ones ashore when the steamer docked. He had nothing to do but to disappear. As the widow Gates had a mournful and innocent look, the inspector passed her baggage after a perfunctory inspection, and then she disappeared.

Two hours later the widower called at the hotel agreed upon. There was no widow there. He called again and again. He called until he learned from a clerk that the customs officials were after a woman who had smuggled $15,000 worth of lace and silks on her own account and $30,000 worth of diamonds on account of a "pal," and then he made himself scarce. He was on a still hunt for the woman for the next three months, but he didn't find her. They were both liars and deceivers and smugglers. It was a case of dog eat dog, and the big dog had been eaten.

NEW YORK BY NIGHT.

The Spectacle of Its Lights From Rivers and Harbor.

By whatever route you reach or leave Manhattan Island in the evening the river lights are beautiful. On the North river the spectacle varies according to the hour and season, for the downtown lights in Manhattan are more numerous when the days are short and the tenants of the great office buildings have to light up to finish their day's work. Across from the lower Jersey ferries late in the afternoon of a winter day glow and sparkle the great company of tall shafts grouped against the sky, each one pierced to the top with regular rows of shining windows. A memorable sight they make, those shafts and huge blocks of gleaming holes, reaching far above their neighbors that come between them and the river. There is much in that spectacle to recompense a tired man for being a commuter, and nowhere else on earth is there the like of it.

And, besides the tall shafts and the intervening lower lights and the glow of the streets that run to the river and border it, there are all the river lights—the ferryboats, with their long rows of bright windows, hurrying on their various courses; the sound steamers going out, other steamers coming in; all manner of lights more sober on all manner of shipping; the street glare and the ferry house and wharf lights ashore, and, higher up, here and there the electric and commercial but none the less radiant advertising signs.

The downtown office building lights go out early, most of them, but up the river some of the tall uptown hotels continue, all the evening and in spite of curtained windows, to be light houses.

On the East river, besides the city lights and the river lights, are the high, curving bridges, very striking and beautiful, with their unobstructed outlines marked by the glow of the electric bulbs.

There is poetry in these river lights bordered and framed by the dark shining water and reflected in it.—E. S. Martin in Harper's.

SALT RIVER.

It is a Real Stream, Although Not a
Navigable One.

Salt river, sacred to defeated candidates, is a real stream. While not navigable, it is used every winter as an ice harbor by the towboats which go out of Pittsburgh for the south. Salt river empties into the Ohio about twenty-five miles south of Louisville. It is a small stream, which flows from the Kentucky hills to the great water, and is as tortuous, as crooked and as unpleasant to navigate as the mind can imagine. Yet it is navigated for a short distance from its mouth by steamers of light draft. Flatboats and rafts are floated down upon its bosom. Before the civil war it was an important stream in the matter of bringing Kentucky whisky down in the flat boats to a point where they could be unloaded to a river steamer. Refractory slaves were generally assigned to the task of bringing these boats down, as the work was arduous.

Salt river became a bugaboo among the negroes, and it was from the unpleasant character of the work on this river that "a trip up Salt river" came to be used in politics to express the destination of a defeated candidate. There is not a river captain or pilot in Pittsburgh who does not know Salt river, and there are few who have not sought shelter within its mouth when the ice was running out of the Ohio.

The salt name is supposed to have come from the salt springs which flow into it at its source. It is also said the name grew out of the fact that great quantities of salt produced in the Kentucky country are floated down this stream.—Fuel.

The Largest Topaz.

In the Vatican at Rome is the largest topaz in the world. It weighs seven pounds and has carvings upon it that occupied three Neapolitan lapidaries sixty-one years.

A Simple Remedy.

A teacher of health culture declares that a simple remedy for removing the blood from a too active brain is to exercise the muscles of the feet. Stand firmly on the ground and then raise the heel and rest on the toe for a second. Do this for a dozen times or so in succession. It will bring a certain degree of relief after a hard day's mental work.

River of Red Stones.

The Indians called the Des Moines river the Inyanah-shah-wopka, "River of Red Stones."

Battle of the Moat.

The battle of the Moat was a conflict before Medina between Mohammed and Abu Soffian. It was so called because most of the fighting was done in the moat that Mohammed had dug to protect the city from the besiegers.

Putting on a Plaster.

Before having a plaster applied to the back or chest one should take a deep breath and hold it while the plaster is being put on. If this is done the patient will not be annoyed by that drawing of the skin which is so unpleasant a feature when the plaster is ordinarily applied.

New York's Great Blaze.

The great fire of New York took place in 1835. The value of the property destroyed on this occasion was $15,000,000.

Tobacco Smoke.

The smoke of burning tobacco contains nicotine, nictotamine, salts of ammonia, hydrocyanic acid, sulphureted hydrogen, three or four volatile acids, phenol, creosote and several other substances.

St. Croix River.

The St. Croix river, in Maine, was named from the cross made by two rivers at its mouth.

Reasons for Widowhood.

The illustrious Isabella de Gonzaga, after losing her husband, declined to marry again. She said that if her second should prove good she would be in constant fear of losing him; if otherwise, in constant fear of not losing him.

Theory and Practice.

Dr. Johnson said, "No man in his senses, if he could get a young girl, would marry a widow." He himself married a widow many years his senior.

The Mole.

The mole is not blind, as many persons suppose. Its eye is hardly larger than a pinhead and is carefully protected from dust and dirt by means of inclosing hairs.

Marengo.

In the battle of Marengo 58,000 men participated, and of that number 13,000 were killed or wounded, about 22 per cent. Napoleon thought Marengo his greatest victory. He always kept throughout life the uniform he wore on that day.

DINING TABLES.

The Transition From the Festive
Board of Primitive Man.

The first dining table was probably just a block of stone or a log of wood, but even primitive man must soon have discovered that these devices did not provide for the comfortable disposal of his legs and have set about taxing his ingenuity to invent something else. It is probable that as the result of his cogitations a rough hewn piece of board supported on two big stones came into fashion among the elite in these far prehistoric times.

The early trestle table which was used in the beginning of the fifteenth century consisted of a parallelogram of wood, fashioned into a board, resting upon two or more pedestal-like supports. And we have a reminiscence of this movable kind of table in the expression, "A seat at the board," today, while that of "taking the chair" is obviously a survival of the time when a chair was the place of honor reserved for the master of the house or given by the grand seigneur to the guest whom he wished to honor, the other diners sitting upon rude benches placed at the side of the table.

One can imagine the inventor seated at the head of his new dining table, clad in his best beak and surrounded by a select and admiring company of his intimates, who ate roast flesh literally off the festive board and who drank the first toast at this first primeval dinner party in his honor in cool water from a stream hard by. From this stage to planks resting on rude trestles would be an easy transition, and civilization had of course made considerable progress before the supports and the board were joined as one piece of furniture.

The Word "Studio."

"Studio" is one of the many foreign words that have acclimated themselves in the English language. It is a recent import from Italy, unknown to Johnson's Dictionary and apparently not occurring before the nineteenth century, but it has supplied a want. "Studio," which is the real English for "study," suggests a room for reading and writing, and "workroom" indicates distinctiveness. The French get along with "atelier," which literally means a place in which small planks are prepared—in other words, a carpenter's workshop.

A Dramatic Death.

A sergeant major of an infantry regiment stationed in Bremen was sentenced to a slight disciplinary punishment for having mortally wounded a man with a revolver in the course of a fight. He appealed against this, but was informed that his appeal had been rejected. He then ordered his men to load their rifles with blank cartridges, but during their absence reloaded them with ball cartridges. He then drew up his men in firing line and carefully showed them how to aim their rifles straight at his heart. With the utmost calm he then ordered, "Fire!" and fell with four bullets through his heart.

WEARING APPAREL.

The Tunic, the Toga and the Leather Dress of the Ancients.

Ancient wearing apparel was not cut to fit, as is our modern clothing. Having no definite shape of its own, it did not disguise the wearer's figure, and the grace and beauty of Greek drapery are dependent almost entirely on the perfect proportions of the figure beneath.

The tunic worn by both Greeks and Romans was little, if at all, fitted to the wearer and when ungirded hung in folds all round, while the toga was little more than a sheet and was worn in all sorts of ways, according to the prevailing fashion. The Jews of old seem to have worn breeches, but the rest of their clothing seems to have been simply wrapped round them, for it was difficult for them to run or even walk fast without first "girding up their loins." The clothing of the northern races was probably always more of a fit than that of the southern, for they used leather, which does not lend itself to simple drapery, but our ancestors probably wore an almost shapeless tunic belted at the waist.

Another striking difference is found in the gradual monopoly by women of the ornamental element in dress. Once masculine dress was by far the most splendid, and woman, holding an absolutely subordinate social position, had to content herself with humbler attire. As she has won her way to freedom and equality she has annexed not only the beautiful, but the extravagant elements of costume and left man to content himself with a condition of colorless utility.

BOILED POTATOES.

Why They Should Always Be Cooked
In Boiling Water.

Pare potatoes with a sharp vegetable knife just as thin as possible, for that part of the tuber lying close to the skin is richest in mineral salts. And put each potato as peeled into a pan of cold water to prevent discoloration. Have ready meanwhile a kettle of boiling water and when the peeling process is complete take the potatoes from the cold water and, covering them with boiling salted water, set them on the range, covered, to boil. Twenty minutes usually suffice, but to test them use a skewer or fork, and when they can be pierced easily remove at once from the fire, pour off all the water and set them on the back of the range, uncovered, to steam dry, assisting that process occasionally by a slight shaking of the kettle.

If one asks the reason why potatoes should always be cooked in boiling water try the following experiment for proof: Take two cups, in each of which has been put a teaspoonful of ordinary starch. Pour over one a quarter of a cupful of boiling water and over the other the same quantity of cold water and observe the result. The one over which the boiling water was poured stays in shape, a compact mass, while the one with the cold water dissolves into a soft paste. The potato is largely composed of starch, and from this trial any one may draw his own conclusions. If you wish a pulpy, watery potato use cold water, but if a dry, meaty, snowy ball that would delight the heart of Epichorus himself always use boiling water.

THREE CENT RATE

BILL PASSED

Plaza of Santa Fe to mark the Santa Fe trail terminal. The bill was read a first and second time by title and ordered printed, and referred to the Committee on Finance.

House Bill Number 193, by Mr. Walters, an act fixing the time for holding court in the First Judicial District. The bill was read the first and second time by title and, upon motion of Mr. Walters, the rules were suspended, the bill was read a third time in full and passed the House by viva voce vote. It is in reality a substitute bill recommended by the Committee on Judiciary to replace another bill which passed the House and Council, but which was found to conflict with the civil code.

House Bill Number 194, by Mr. Sanches, of San Miguel, by request, an act providing for the transportation by railroads of public officials. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered printed and referred to the Committee on Railroads.

House Bill Number 195, by Mr. Gallegos, an act providing for 3 cents a mile fare on all railroads for all persons over 6 years of age. Children under six years of age, when accompanied by adults paying full fare, are to be transported free by any railroad under the provisions of this bill. This measure is practically a redraft of House Bill Number 16, introduced in the House by Mr. Hudspeth and which is now in the hands of the Committee on Railroads. After numerous roll-calls and debates and explanations lasting from 1 o'clock until 7 o'clock, the 3-cent fare bill finally passed the House, the final roll-call vote being 18 for the passage of the bill and 3 opposing. The three dissenting votes were cast by Mr. Abbott, of Colfax, Mr. Holt and Mr. Studley. Mr. Baca did not vote. Mr. Denniston was absent and another member of the House was temporarily called from the hall, although he had voted steadily in favor of the passage of this bill.

The House then adjourned until Monday at 3 p. m.

LEGISLATIVE POINTERS.

Much favorable comment was the rule yesterday, especially among the business men and substantial citizens as to the prompt action of the House in passing the Ramon Sanchez Anti-Gambling Bill Wednesday last. Since approval was the rule. It was also generally remarked that there was some distrust as to what action the Legislative Council would take upon the bill, although it was generally hoped that no delay would take place and that the Sanchez gambling bill would be promptly passed by the Council.

A large delegation of influential citizens of Clayton, Union County, whose members have been here for several days at work against any dismemberment of their county or the creation of Foraker County, returned some last night. The delegation consisted of R. P. Ervin, member of the Territorial Board of Equalization, and manager of the Clayton Water and Light Company; Charles Schlatter and Christian Otto, sheep raisers; S. J. Bitterman, merchant; Paz Valverde, merchant, Dr. J. S. North, N. V. Gallegos, editor of El Fenix, and Howard Earnest, real estate and insurance broker. They appeared and made arguments before the Committee on County and County Lines of the House and of the Council and interviewed members of the House and of the Council individually and persistently. In the House they found considerable sentiment in favor of the creation of Foraker County, but in the Council they believe there will be a majority against the measure. They enjoyed their visit to the Capital City greatly and made a good impression on all those whom they met.

The House Committee on Finance, Chairman H. B. Holt, was in session today at work on the appropriation bill. The committee will hold daily and nightly sessions henceforth until the bill is completed and ready for report to the Assembly. This it is believed will be Tuesday next.

The special committee under House Resolution Number 8, of which Representative E. C. Abbott, of Santa Fe, is chairman, and which investigated the connection of Governor Hagerman with the delivery of certain deeds recently by him to the Pennsylvania Development Company which it is charged is in violation of law, held a several hours' session today and completed the investigation. Its report will likely be ready Monday next. The House Committee on Investigation was in session this afternoon. Governor Hagerman and Attorney General Reid, so it is understood, were subpoenaed to appear before the committee in order to give testimony as to the charges that deeds for certain timber land purchased by the Pennsylvania Development Company have been illegally and improperly delivered to an agent of the corporation. Attorney General Reid appeared and gave testimony, but the Governor declined to appear. F. W. Shearon, a clerk in the office of A. A. Keen, land commissioner, was also a witness before the committee this afternoon.

The Las Vegas Optic yesterday contained the following dispatch from its special correspondent in the National Capital:

"Washington, March 8.—Secretary of the Interior Garfield and Senator Beveridge each deny the reported Barnes interview. IRA M. BOND."

In Santa Fe it was reported yesterday and the day before that Mr. Barnes had received a dispatch from Secretary Garfield to the effect that his interview as published, was substantially correct. People who read may take their choice. In the meantime the New Mexican has received no withdrawal of the information from its special correspondent in the National Capital which was published Wednesday last.

the contest. On the final vote only Mr. Holt, Mr. Abbott, of Colfax, and Mr. Studley stood by their guns, voting no to the last.

Mr. Abbott, of Santa Fe, voted in the affirmative in order to move a reconsideration of the action of the House if this were found to be possible.
