SPECIAL ORDER MONDAY

Spies Anti-Gambling Act
Reported Favorably in Council.

THE HOUSE.

35th Day--Night Session, March 12.
The House did not reconvene until 8 o'clock owing to the slowness of members in arriving. Speaker Baca presided. When the Chief Clerk read the roll, the following were absent: Mr. Moran, Dennison, Ruppe, Lucero, Sanchez of San Miguel, Studley.

The Speaker announced having signed the bills previously reported, enrolled and engrossed by the committee having that matter in charge.

Mr. Holt then moved that House Bill Number 142, the original draft of the appropriation bill, be tabled indefinitely. This motion prevailed, by a roll-call vote of 17 ayes, 1 nay. Mr. Abbott, of Colfax, dissented. He stated that in voting for the substitute bill at the afternoon session, he did so under a misapprehension and wanted to go on record in opposition to the bill.

By unanimous consent the following bills were introduced:

House Bill Number 220, by Mr. Beach, an act to amend Section 5, Chapter 2, Laws of 1905, relative to the amount of the debt of Valencia County assumed by Torrance County when said county was created. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered printed and referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

House Bill Number 221, by Mr. Herrera, an act regulating interest. The bill was read the first and second time by title and ordered printed and referred to the Committee on Finance.

House Bill Number 222, by Mr. Mirabal, an act for the relief of Torrance County. This bill provides for an additional Territorial loan to Torrance County for court purposes of $1,000 for a period of five years under the usual conditions. By a recent act the Legislature provided for a loan of $2,000 to Torrance County for court purposes. Mr. Holt explained that there were several important murder cases pending in Torrance County and that Judge Edward A. Mann desired to hold a special term of court in June to try these cases and that therefore the additional loan was necessary. Mr. Holt moved the suspension of rules. The bill was read the first and second time by title and in full on its third reading and it then passed the House by a viva voce vote without discussion.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary favoring the passage of House Bill Number 123, an act regulating the practice of pharmacy, etc., was read and, upon motion of Mr. Holt, seconded and carried. A number of amendments recommended by the committee were read and adopted. Mr. Beach moved that the bill as amended be considered read in full, which motion prevailed. The bill then passed the House on motion of Mr. Abbott, of Santa Fe.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary opposing the passage of House Bill Number 116 and recommending the passage of a substitute bill was read and, upon motion, seconded and carried, the report was adopted.

This is a bill providing for the registration of births and deaths. The substitute bill was read the first and second time by title and in full preparatory to its passage. Mr. Trujillo moved to table the bill indefinitely. Mr. Gallegos moved to amend the motion to table Mr. Trujillo's motion indefinitely. The amended motion prevailed. The bill then passed the House as amended. Mr. Gallegos moved that the original bill be tabled indefinitely, which motion prevailed.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary favoring the passage of House Bill Number 146, relative to practice in the Supreme Court, was read and, upon motion, seconded and carried, the report was adopted. Amendments to the bill were read in full and, upon motion of Mr. Holt, they were adopted by viva voce vote. Mr. Holt explained that the bill had been carefully drawn by the attorney general and members of the Supreme bench and moved that it be considered read as amended and do then pass. This motion prevailed and the bill passed the House by viva voce vote.

The report of the committee favoring the passage of House Bill Number 176, an act providing for the bringing of suits in certain cases, was read and upon motion of Mr. Holt seconded and carried, the report was adopted. Mr. Hudspeeth opposed the bill, although he stated that he had promised its author not to do so. Mr. Holt defended the bill in a short speech and said the House had already passed similar legislation. Upon a roll call vote the House declined to pass the bill, the vote being 8 ayes, 13 nays. Those voting aye were Mr. Abbott, of Santa Fe, Mr. Abbott of Colfax, Mr. Aldrich, Mr. Beach, Mr. Bierbaum, Mr. Holt, Mr. Studley and Mr. Speaker. Upon motion of Mr. Hudspeeth, the bill was then tabled indefinitely by a vote of the House.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary favoring the passage of House Bill Number 168, an act regulating the use of waters for mining and milling purposes was read and upon motion seconded and carried the report was adopted. The bill then passed the House by viva voce vote on motion of Mr. Beach.

The report of the Committee on Penitentiary, Mr. Green, chairman, favoring the passage of House Bill Number 145, an act providing for an indeterminate sentence was read and upon motion of Mr. Beach seconded and carried, the report was adopted.

The bill was read in full the third time and there followed some discussion as to its provisions with the result that Mr. Gallegos moved to table the bill indefinitely. This motion did not prevail and the bill was thereupon re-committed to the Committee on Judiciary on motion of Mr. Beach, who said it needed work along legal lines.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary on House Bill Number 159, an act relative to community ditch officers, recommending its passage was read and upon motion seconded and carried, the report was adopted. The bill was read in full the third time and passed the House by viva voce vote on motion of Mr. Holt.

The report of the Committee on Judiciary favoring the passage of House Bill Number 120, an act relative to private claims of individuals on waters under control of the Reclamation Service, was read and upon motion of Mr. Holt, the report was adopted. Mr. Holt said the bill was one of the most important in its effect on the people of New Mexico, yet considered by the House. He said it had been drawn at the instigation of the attorneys of the Reclamation Service prior to the expenditure of about seven million dollars by that department in this Territory. He said the bill should pass without discussion as it was a measure for the general good. The bill was then read the third time in full and upon motion of Mr. Holt passed the House by a viva voce vote.

The House then adjourned until 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Prices Fell Away
in Demoralized
Fashion

HEAVY DECLINES GENERAL

Western Railroad Shares
Bore Brunt of Panic--Hill
Group Fell 10 Points.

New York, March 13.--Another break occurred in the stock market today. There was no new development to account for the heavy selling but it was generally attributed to the immediate needs of the money market.

Union Pacific stock fell five points, Amalgamated Copper 3 1/8 and U. S. Steel 2 5/8. In addition, other stocks showed heavy declines. About 450,000 shares changed hands the first hour.

Break Ended in Panic.
The conditions became panicky by noon and prices fell away in a demoralized fashion under the forced liquidation by the calling of loans, wiping out of margins and the throwing upon the market of collateral in the form of loans.

The severest losses were in high grade western railroad stocks. The Hill group of stocks dropped about ten points each.

Sales of Shares Enormous.
The fluctuations became very wild this afternoon. Heavy blocks of railroad stocks were thrown upon the market indiscriminately for what they would bring. Union Pacific fell away nine points. One million eight hundred and twenty thousand shares were sold up to 2 o'clock.

JEROME SEEKS TO DISCREDIT STORY

Told By Mrs. Evelyn Thaw---Has Defense Guessing

SPRINGS HUMMELL VISIT

Attempts to Prove She Said Defendant Beat Her
While in Paris.

New York, March 13.--James Clinch Smith, Stanford White's brother-in-law, was called again as a witness in the Thaw trial this morning. He was briefly cross-examined by Counsel Delmas.

Abraham Hummel was the next witness called by District Attorney Jerome. Jerome asked: "Did Mrs. Thaw tell you that Thaw wanted to injure White and place him in the penitentiary and that Thaw had begged her time and time again to swear to certain documents he had prepared involving White and charging that he had drugged and ruined her, and that Thaw had beaten her because she would not sign these papers?"

Counsel Delmas immediately objected and a long argument then ensued between him and Jerome.

Thaw Beat Her in Paris.
"If her story is true," continued Jerome, "I know of nothing in the history of literature more sublime than Evelyn Nesbit's self-sacrifice in her renunciation of her love of a man who we are told was paying honorable court to her. But she returned to America on October 24 and on October 27 she was in Hummel's office with the man who she now says ruined her and there she said that in Europe Thaw had stripped her and had beaten her with a whip because she refused to sign a paper accusing White of drugging and ravishing her. White, she said, never harmed her."

Jerome then read a large number of decisions bearing upon the subject of introducing evidence to show that the witness had made statements out of court which did not agree with the statements made in court.

Would Settle Insanity Plea.
"The proposition I made to the court is very simple," continued Jerome. "If Evelyn Nesbit did not tell Thaw this story in Paris the reason for his insanity disappears. If she did not tell him this story the hypothetical question on which the experts have based their opinion disappears. I contend under the law and under the authorities I have quoted that I have a right to show this woman made such a statement outside of court but under oath before the jury."

Recess Taken.
Counsel Delmas asked that a recess be taken until this afternoon as he did not want his argument interrupted by the luncheon recess. Jerome amended the request by suggesting that a recess be taken until tomorrow in order to give him time to formulate his hypothetical question.

Justice Fitzgerald ordered an adjournment until tomorrow morning.

APPROPRIATION BILL PROVISIONS

Passed House By Large Majority
Last Night

IS GENERALLY APPROVED

By People all Over Territory
For Its Liberal Yet Conservative Terms.

Despite the statements of the Albuquerque Journal and other anti-publican papers to the contrary, the general appropriation bill which was reported by the Finance Committee to the House yesterday afternoon and which passed that body with only five dissenting votes, is liberal in its provisions and makes no discriminations, political or otherwise.

It embodies in addition, a number of matters of vital interest to the Territory, and is a work of art as a matter of legislation. The Committee on Finance, Mr. Holt, chairman, which has been working for over a week almost constantly on this bill, deserves the greatest commendation.

The bill is known officially as House Substitute for House Bill Number 142. In addition to providing for the usual current expenses and other appropriations, it provides for a more rigid inspection of coal oil, naming Clarence T. Stockton of Colfax County, Eugene Romero of Las Vegas, and Roman L. Baca of Santa Fe, as coal oil inspectors, thus dividing the territory into three districts and giving each inspector full jurisdiction in his respective counties.

This section is lengthy since it defines minutely the duties of these inspectors, the duties of those selling coal oil, how the oil is to be inspected, sold and handled, etc.

A feature of the bill which should meet with the most general approval of all persons interested in educational matters in a section which provides for a Territorial Institutions Bond issue of $125,000, said bonds to be dated July 1, 1907. The funds from the sale of these Territorial bonds are to be used for permanent improvements of Territorial educational institutions as follows:

University of New Mexico $35,000; New Mexico Military Institute, $20,000; Normal University at Las Vegas, $10,000; Normal School at Silver City, $10,000; College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Mesilla Park, $25,000; School of Mines at Socorro, $15,000.

These funds will be used for improving the present facilities of these schools, for additional buildings, grounds, etc.

It is a section which gives to every member of the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly the right to select by competitive examination or otherwise, also the boards of county commissioners, students under certain restrictions, who shall receive scholarships free in any of the above mentioned institutions and an additional appropriation of $12,500 is made to pay the expenses of these students for a term of four years each.

One section of this bill which will meet with most generous endorsement from the voters of New Mexico, is the provision for the election of the district attorney of New Mexico by the people at the next general election and their selection by the Council until such a time as they may be elected. This is similar to the measure now pending in the Judiciary Committee of the Legislative Council which is known as the district attorney bill or House Bill Number One.

The bill abolishes the Bureau of Immigration providing instead for an immigration agent and designating Max Frost as such for a term of two years. He is to receive a salary of $1,600 a year which includes clerk and stenographer hire and an additional appropriation of $2,000 for expenses of the office. The need of such an official is too well known to need recommendation as the work done by the bureau during the past two years in inducing immigration to this Territory has been of incalculable benefit and has resulted in the reclaiming by cultivation of thousands of acres of formerly desert land.

The measure abolishes the office of public printer, providing in lieu thereof that the Territorial secretary shall contract for all printing with the publisher or publishers of daily papers in this Territory at rates specified in the bill which are more than reasonable and which will eliminate all the expenses of a public printer.

Convict labor for the betterment and general improvement of public roads and highways, is a matter of common interest since it is one of the most useful ways in which convicts can be employed during their terms of imprisonment. The bill contains several provisions therefor. It specifies that convict labor shall be used in completing unfinished portions of the Camino Real in Dona Ana County and appropriates $5,000 to aid in paying the expense of this work. It also provides for a scenic highway from Alamogordo to the Sacramento mountains in Otero County to be constructed by convict labor and appropriates $10,000 therefor.

Of general interest to the counties all over the Territory is the provision that a petition signed by 100 taxpayers in any county and the members of the Board of County Commissioners, convicts not to exceed twenty-five may be employed in improving and building roads in any county within a radius of five miles from the court house of any county seat. The expense of guarding the prisoners shall be borne by the counties.

The long-felt want in New Mexico of a thorough revision of the Territorial laws, is met by the appropriation bill which provides that the following shall be authorized to revise the laws: R. E. Twitchell, of Las Vegas; Elmer E. Studley, of Raton; Benjamin Read, of Santa Fe; E. W. Dobson, of Albuquerque; E. C. Abbott, of Santa Fe, and Colonel George W. Prichard, of Lincoln. All are practicing attorneys of high standing at the bar of this Territory and are competent in every way for the task thus imposed. An appropriation of $14,000 to pay them for the work and of $11,000 for expenses is made. Malaquias Martinez, of Taos, is designated as interpreter and translator at a salary of $2,000.

Equally liberal yet necessary are the following appropriations for the support and maintenance of public institutions:

New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts $15,000; New Mexico School of Mines $15,000; with an additional $2,500 for the publication of a geological survey report transferred to the current expense fund; University of New Mexico $20,000, an increase of $2,000 over the preceding two fiscal years; New Mexico Normal School at Silver City $15,000; New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas $15,000; New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell $16,000; New Mexico Insane Asylum at Las Vegas, so much as may be needed there, $60,000; Miner's Hospital at Raton $5,000; Institute for the Blind at Alamogordo $12,500; Reform School in Rio Arriba County $5,000; Deaf and Dumb Asylum at Santa Fe $7,500; Children's Home at Belen $4,500.

The following appropriations for charitable institutions and hospitals are included in the bill:

St. Vincent's Hospital at Santa Fe $6,000, with an additional appropriation of $5,000 for a new building; Grant County Hospital at Silver City $1,800; Sisters of Mercy Hospital at Silver City $1,800; Ladies' Hospital at Deming $2,000; Eddy County Hospital at Carlsbad $1,500; Orphan's School at Santa Fe $5,500; Woman's Board of Trade in Santa Fe for aid in building a public library $1,000; Relief Society at Las Vegas $3,000; Sisters' Hospital at Albuquerque $2,400; Gallup Hospital at Gallup $2,000; Sisters of Loretto at Taos $2,000; Sisters of Loretto at Las Cruces $1,000; Sisters of Loretto at Mora $1,000.

TERRIBLE FLOODS THROUGHOUT EAST

Entailing Loss of Life and Much Damage

MANY TOWNS INUNDED

Bridge Washed Out and Train Plunged Into River
--All Streams Raging.

Lancaster, Pa., March 13.--The worst flood since 1875 swept over Lancaster early today. The water is over the pike and the south and west ends of the city are inundated. The police and fire departments are rescuing the people from the second story windows of their houses.

Heavy Rains in Pennsylvania.
Pittsburg, March 31.--Dispatches from all sections of western Pennsylvania report heavy rains and rapidly rising streams. Much Territory is already submerged.

State of Ohio Flooded.
Columbus, Ohio, March 13.--Flood conditions prevail nearly all over the state of Ohio. The worst storm in years visited Bridgeport last night and at Barton houses and stores are flooded. Zaneville, Springfield and Logan are partly flooded.

Train Into Washout.
Three men were drowned and part of a freight train, including the engine and five cars, were submerged near Harborsville, on the West Pennsylvania Railroad today, as the result of a bridge being washed away due to a rapid rise in Deer River.

The freight which entered the bridge got no further than the second span when it gave away. Before the engineer, fireman and brakeman upon the forward part of the train realized what had happened the bridge went down, carrying the engine and cars and the three trainmen who were drowned.

Ohio River on a Tear.
Cincinnati, Ohio, March 13.--Heavy electrical and rainstorms throughout the Ohio Valley did much damage last night. The Ohio River and its tributaries are rising steadily and the lowlands are already covered. In this city before midnight an unprecedented rain-storm burst upon the city, flooding the streets and for a time the storm checked all car traffic. Much scattered damage is reported.

NO MORE RECORD
BREAKING RUNS

Railroads to Lengthen Passenger
Schedules With View to Economy
--Adverse Legislation Cause.

Western railroad officials are discussing the running time of fast trains with a view to greater economy in their operation. A meeting to discuss new passenger schedules has been called for today.

Adverse Legislation Responsible.
It is stated that the two-cent passenger legislation in the different states has brought about the necessity of conserving revenue everywhere and that western railroad officials believe a general lengthening in train schedules is advisable.

No More Record Breaking Runs.
It is reported that schedules are now being prepared in which the time of all fast trains between Chicago and Omaha and Kansas City is increased about two hours and the time between Chicago and Denver six or six hours.

The time from Chicago to the Pacific Coast is increased nearly half a day under the new schedule. A number of the local trains are to be discontinued and this local work is to be done by the fast trains.

CONDITIONS IN THE PRESENT ASSEMBLY.

It is a condition and not a theory, thinks the Albuquerque Citizen that is the situation in the present Legislative Assembly. The New Mexican's Albuquerque contemporary is right. Conditions must be dealt with as they are. Romancers and theorists may think otherwise, but practical and thinking men know the above to be the universal rule. The Citizen is quite correct in its discussion of the situation, and the editorial in its last Monday's issue presents this so plainly and sensibly that the New Mexican very cheerfully reproduces it for greater dissemination and that the people might know. Says the Citizen: "The Citizen is of the opinion that the people of New Mexico, as a general thing, fully understand the condition of matters and parties in the Territorial Legislature. The majority of the members are straight Republicans. They were elected as Republicans and by Republicans, and they are and have been true to their party, its principles and its organization. That they will remain to the end of the session, true to the party, its principles and its organization, goes without saying.

"The minority in the Legislature consists of three incongruous elements. Democrats, elected as such and fully expected to oppose everything Republican; three Republicans, elected as such but who were expected to act with the minority; and a few members elected as Republicans and of whose fidelity no doubts were entertained, but whom the minority are hoping to influence.

"Even with the last element, the control of which by the minority the Citizen will not yet believe to have been secured, the heterogeneous and incongruous mixture known as the minority has not been, cannot be and will not be, able to secure any legislation. The utmost they can do is to block legislation which the people desire and which the majority, representing the majority of the people, are endeavoring to secure.

"Take for instance, among many others, these three important measures—the anti-gambling bill, the railroad rate bill and the appropriation bill. The first two the majority in the House have passed. Will the majority be able to pass them through the Council? If so, they become laws, and the majority will deserve the entire credit. If they fail, the minority will be responsible for the failure, because they are majority measures, and the minority must bear the blame of an indictment prepared. It is liberal to all the institutions of the Territory. This, too, is a Republican majority measure and the House will pass it overwhelmingly. Will it become a law? Again, as before, every one knows that failure can be brought about only through the minority. The passage of this bill will redound to the credit of the majority. Its defeat will bring down upon the minority the just indignation of an outraged people. We will see what we shall see.

"In this bill, there is an annual appropriation of $20,000 for the New Mexico University; a special appropriation of $25,000 for improvement of university plant; and $1,000 for dyke protection. This is certainly dealing generously with Bernalillo, because from this county men sent to the Legislature have been working against the Republican majority all the way through. Is it not time that they should stop and ask themselves what they have secured by this course? Every man who goes to the legislature goes as the representative of the district which elects him, and he is expected, as well as in duty bound, to secure such legislation as will be for the largest benefit of his district. But a few more days of legislative life remain, and the three men from Bernalillo County are asked what have they secured for the people they are supposed to represent? Absolutely nothing, and they should know that the minority can give them nothing. What should be their course on the appropriation measure, which contains so much for Albuquerque? Will they continue their fight on political matters, in which this county has absolutely no concern, and thus bring about the defeat of the very measure which concerns us so much? "There will undoubtedly be a veiled attempt by the anti-Republican forces to persuade the representatives from this county to do that very thing, and it behooves us all, who have the welfare of our city at heart, to insist upon our representatives lining up in the interest of Albuquerque. Should they not do this, it will certainly be very difficult for them to explain the reasons for their not securing for Albuquerque that to which she is justly entitled, and which it is possible for our representatives to secure by the exercise of good judgment in casting political prejudices to the winds.

"The matter of securing appropriations for Albuquerque is now up to the delegation from this county, and they will be responsible for any failure, as the Republican organization is with us."

LIBERAL SUPPORT OF TERRITORIAL INSTITUTIONS.

The New Mexican takes no stock in the howls and yelps of the tax-dodgers and the knackers. Whenever you find one of these opposed to fair and liberal appropriations to Territorial institutions, educational and charitable and scratch him, you will find that he is a tax dodger of the first water and of the most pronounced type, and does not pay on one-sixth or one-tenth of the taxable property he owns and for the protection which the laws of this commonwealth give him. The Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly should not take the noise and shouts of these tax dodgers and knackers, for the will of the people or the expressions of the majority of the decent and respectable citizenship of New Mexico. Well meaning and public spirited citizens will be found ready and willing to pay taxes for the support of these institutions, provided these taxes are properly and beneficially expended. There is no city or town in this Territory where a Territorial institution is located, whose citizens would not rather increase their taxation a little in order to keep them, than reduce it and to lose them. Of course, there are many people who live in the country and who claim to get but little from these institutions, who from wrong motives are honestly opposed to liberal donations for these institutions. That is human nature. The greatest good to the greatest number, however, should be the principle to govern and the New Mexican hopes that it will govern and prevail in these matters. There are no surplus Territorial institutions, although one or two of these are a little too top heavy. That is a fault that can be easily remedied and in the main does not do much harm. For instance, the people at Lordsburg in southern Grant County kick because they have no county seat and because they will get in due course of time and they may have a Territorial institution at some time or other. This commonwealth is growing, and while every hamlet cannot be supplied, several more localities will come in due course of time for these benefits, for benefits they are and benefits the people want. That there will be some criticism by yellow sheets that have nothing to lose and everything to gain by strife and turmoil, by opposition to advancement and progress, by unjustly and unfairly attacking men and measures, by libeling and slandering party leaders and members of the Legislative Assembly who will not do their bidding, may be considered as sure, but that will approve the action of the Assembly in being liberal and fair—not extravagant—in providing for the liberal support and maintenance of these institutions, is not and cannot be doubted by fair minded men who are at all acquainted with the situation as it exists.

MORE APPRECIATION OF THE WORK OF THE BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION.

The mail received by the Bureau of Immigration in this city is constantly on the increase. It comes from all sections of the United States but the bulk is from people living in Texas, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma. Evidently the eyes of many people east of here are turned New Mexico-ward.

All kinds of questions are asked by all kinds of people and all kinds of answers have to be made. Each applicant receives a copy of the bulletin entitled "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine," and bulletins concerning the particular counties which he may ask for unless the editions are exhausted. To people who ask concerning the climate, especially, the bulletin "How I Cured Myself of Consumption in New Mexico" is sent and to those who desire information concerning mining, a bulletin entitled "New Mexico Mines," 1905, is mailed. The revised edition of the book "To the Land of Sunshine"—446 pages, 200 illustrations, is nearly exhausted and this book is no longer sent upon application, unless the postage is paid. The supply of maps of the Territory which the Bureau procured in 1904 is also exhausted and no more of that issue of maps published by the general land office can be furnished.

Five editions of the booklet "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine" containing information for the homeseeker and settler in New Mexico, and a synopsis of the United States land laws, have been issued, each revised and enlarged, and 13,000 copies have so far been distributed. The sixth edition is now in process of preparation and will be issued shortly. This will also contain a map showing the average rainfall in New Mexico and the average temperature in isothermal lines. The value of this booklet may be easily gauged by the contents of a letter just received by the Bureau from C. L. Seagraves, colonization agent of the great Santa Fe Railway system, and one of the most successful, energetic and skillful railroad officials in his line. The letter reads: "Dear Sir—We receive a number of calls through the mails for literature on New Mexico and in addition to such literature as we have in stock will be glad to send out copies of "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine," if you can furnish this office with 500 or 1,000 copies.

"We are glad to do anything we can for New Mexico and are perfectly willing to send out everything that we may be able to obtain that will enlighten the people on your glorious country. If our co-operation will help the general cause and you will furnish us with such literature as you have we shall take pleasure in sending it out to all inquiries we may receive about your country. If you care to furnish us with these books you can have them delivered to our agent at Santa Fe for shipment to this office.

"Yours truly,
"C. L. SEAGRAVES,
"General Colonization Agent."

"THAT FOOL OKLAHOMA CONVENTION."

The Oklahoma Democrats were given rope enough and did the thing that was expected. The 60 days of their constitutional convention have been fooled away by the hundred Democrats that composed it. It is still in session, although the federal appropriation for its support has been exhausted. The Democratic delegates expect to be paid by the Oklahoma treasury while the twelve Republicans in the body have gone home. These latter have prepared a very excellent constitution which they have forwarded to the President at Washington. The hundred Democratic members of the body are still wrangling, quarrelling and disputing over Jim Crow questions and other silly notions. The Oklahoma condition should prove a good lesson to New Mexico, although there never was any danger that anything of the kind could happen in a constitutional convention of this territory, as the Republicans are sure to have a majority in such a body for years to come.

The appropriation bill as finally passed by the Legislative House last night is liberal to the Territorial institutions of all kinds. Indeed it provides for extension of buildings and betterment of nearly every institution and gives them about what their boards of regents and the presidents of their faculties have requested as necessary and proper for maintenance and buildings for the coming two years. This will be bad news to the tax dodgers and knackers, but the good people, those who have the best interests of the Territory at heart and who desire New Mexico to be in the van of progress and advancement will approve. It looks as if the bill will become law and as if there would be more than a two-thirds majority for it.

"Give the public printing to the lowest bidder," screams the Morning Journal. Really, Danny, you should take this matter up immediately with the Bernalillo Board of County Commissioners and have them remedy matters. They forgot to ask for bids, you know, when you were awarded your present contract for county printing."—Albuquerque Citizen.

Danny Macpherson and the gang that controls the Albuquerque Morning Journal always see splinters in other's eyes, but pay not the least heed to beams in their own eyes. From the very establishment of the Albuquerque Morning Journal it has been known as a yellow sheet of "greed, graft and venom," for sale to the highest bidder, no matter how low or base.

Legislature to pass a law placing a large amount of patronage in the hands of the Territorial Board of Education, including the appointment of twenty-five school superintendents, the Roswell Register-Tribune says very forcefully and convincingly: "All of the people except some teachers and others not familiar in New Mexico and with the office of county superintendent are against changing the office to the appointive list. An appointed governor appointing a board to appoint other men to make other appointments is getting too far from the people who pay the freight."

During the month of January, 1907, despite the decrease of passenger travel on account of the taking up of railroad passes, there were killed on the railroads of the United States 128 persons and 240 persons injured. The wrecks included 23 collisions, 18 derailments and 3 fires and explosions. Four trains were either wholly or partially demolished by fire. The railroads blame most of these disasters on the inferiority of modern union labor, while the public is disposed to blame bad management. The truth probably lies midway between these two explanations.

"The Bureau of Immigration will not be abolished and neither will the mounted police, as public sentiment has come overwhelmingly to the front in favor of both, and the sentiment in the Legislature is rather to help both institutions than to do away with either."—Roswell Register-Tribune.

The Territorial Bureau of Immigration is certainly wanted by the people, its usefulness and value being universally recognized. The mounted police has done some good work heretofore and under certain restrictions and good command will do valuable work.

The House of Representatives is working overtime and the Council must begin to do likewise. Delay these days is dangerous to the best interests of the people.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

The following are the full proceedings of yesterday afternoon's session of the House:

THE HOUSE.

35th Day—Afternoon Session.

Pursuant to adjournment, the House met at 3:45 p. m. Speaker Baca in the chair. A delay in convening had been caused by a caucus of the Republican members. The chaplain offered the invocation and the chief clerk read the roll answering present. Upon motion seconded and carried, the journal of the previous day was ordered approved without reading.

A message from the Council was received.

Assistant Chief Clerk Kelly of the Council informed the House that the Council had duly passed:

House Bill Number 54, an act relative to mal-practice of law; House Bill Number 85, relative to blackmail; House Bill Number 104, an act relative to estates of deceased persons; House Bill Number 113, relative to street sprinkling; House Bill Number 124, an act relative to payment of employees with script by corporations; House Bill Number 162, relative to sale of lands in certain cases; House Bill Number 167, relative to sale of liquors on trains; Council Substitute for Council Bill Number 17, relative to bonds by public officials; Council Bill Number 67, relative to special levies for court house and jail; Council Bill Number 90, exempting gasoline, naphtha, etc., from provisions of present coal oil law; Council Bill Number 98, an act to repeal Section 8, Chapter 48, laws of 1905, relative to office of game warden; House Joint Memorial Number 9, was read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary. It provides that the President of the United States shall request the Department of Agriculture to investigate the Salton Sea and if it is found that the sea produces additional rainfall and moisture in New Mexico, the sea shall be taken in charge by the government and maintained and enlarged as a public benefit. The Secretary of the Territory is instructed to forward to the President at Washington, a copy of the memorial.

By unanimous consent the Committee on Finance, Mr. Holt, chairman, reported House Bill Number 142, the general appropriation bill. The report of the committee recommended that the original bill be not passed but that a substitute bill be passed by the House, and that it be at once made the special order of business. On motion of Mr. Holt seconded and carried, the report was adopted. Mr. Holt then moved that the bill be read the first and second time by title and in full the third time under suspension of the rules and at the same time called for the "previous question" which prevailed. The bill was read.

Mr. Sanchez of Taos, moved that the reading of the bill in Spanish be dispensed with. This motion prevailed. Mr. Holt then moved the passage of the bill, calling for the "previous question." Mr. Hudspeth wanted the bill tabled indefinitely. Mr. Holt's motion was placed before the House and Mr. Hudspeth called for the roll. The bill passed the House by a vote of 18 yeas, 5 nays. Those who opposed the bill were Mr. Hudspeth, Mr. Morgan, Mr. Mullens, Mr. Ruppe, and Mr. Walter.

The House then took a recess until 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Mix two tablespoonsful of butter, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a little cayenne in one-half pint of milk. At the boiling point add one pound of grated cheese. When a smooth paste is formed, cover toasted bread with the cheese and serve hot.

A Lac of Rupees.
A lac of rupees means 100,000 rupees. As the rupee varies in value, there is no fixed sum equivalent to a lac. At the nominal value of a rupee, 50 cents, a lac would mean $50,000.

Women Warriors.
Women in China have the privilege of fighting in the wars. In the rebellion of 1850 women did as much fighting as men. At Nankin in 1853 about 500,000 women from various parts of the country were formed into brigades of 13,000 each under female officers. Of these soldiers 10,000 were picked women, drilled and garrisoned in the city.

Plaster of Paris.
When plaster of paris is used for mending cracks in plastering, mix it with vinegar instead of water. It will be more easily worked with.

Human Faced Clock.
A clock with a human face is the work of a clockmaker in St. Petersburg. The hands are pivoted on the nose. At midnight the eyes close and the mouth yawns. About 2 in the morning the mouth emits a gentle snore. This is done by means of a phonograph in the interior.

Where Titles Are Secure.
There are no known pretenders to Asiatic or African thrones, titles or authority for the very simple reason that in those continents it has been for long years customary to decapitate a pretender in testimony of the better title of his successful rival.

Ancient Rome's Wall.
In the time of Augustus Rome was entirely surrounded by a high wall which was twenty miles in circumference.

The New Mexican Printing Company is prepared to do the best of brief work in short order and at very reasonable rates. Lawyers, who desire to have their briefs printed rapidly and correctly and to present them to the Supreme Court now in session here on time, should call on the New Mexican Printing Company and leave their orders.

SIREN AND SONS.

Joseph Chamberlain's health is now fairly good, but it is said that his loss of memory will prevent him from ever returning to public life.

Mayor Frank Mott of Oakland, Cal., refused a position with a big corporation at $15,000 a year that he might remain mayor of Oakland at $3,500.

Though Spooner, Foraker and Tillman throw javelins at one another in the senate chamber, they are chummy on the outside and fond of exchanging stories.

The tallest man and the two smallest men in Vermont are George Brooks, six feet four inches; Walter Freeman, forty-three inches, and Louis Viena, forty-seven inches.

Norris Brown, the new United States senator from Nebraska, is both a young man and a poor man. He succeeds Joseph H. Millard, who was the opposite, both elderly and rich.

Nelson B. Mapes, station agent at Howells, N. Y., is a native of Howells and began his railroad life as station agent Aug. 1, 1858, and has been there ever since, having more than forty-eight years of service to his credit.

Henry W. Blair, formerly United States senator from New Hampshire, to whom a pension of $72 a month was recently voted, is seventy-three years of age and quite feeble. He served for over twenty-five years in the senate and house and is a most lovable man.

Dr. Ettore Marchiafava, who succeeded the late Dr. Lapponi as private physician to the pope, was born fifty-two years ago at Civita Vecchia and was principally educated in Rome, where he is now professor of pathological anatomy at the university. He is the discoverer of the malarial parasite.

All the justices of the United States supreme court except William H. Moody, the youngest member, are gray haired. Mr. Moody is a blond, and his hair is of that pale straw color which turns gray only very late in life. His ruddy complexion gives an additional touch of youthfulness, so that the contrast between Mr. Moody and other members of the court is striking.

THE ROYAL BOX.

King Oscar of Sweden, in his seventy-eighth year, discusses problems in mathematics and literature and indulges in the gentle art of writing sonnets with much of the ardency of his earlier years.

The empress of Russia and Queen Maud of Norway wear the two most expensive sable coats in the world. That worn by the empress is worth anywhere from $250,000 to $400,000, and that of Queen Maud is worth half as much.

King Edward draws more revenue in interest on American securities than George III. ever extracted from the American colonies. King Edward's holdings in the United States are typical investments here of thousands of British capitalists.

No royal lady is fonder of outdoor recreations than the queen of the Netherlands. When a young girl her majesty derived immense enjoyment from driving a team consisting of six ponies, and driving is still the recreation that pleases her most.

THE WRITERS.

Marie Corelli, the versatile, has turned her genius into a new channel, that of hymn writing. She was poet before she became a novelist.

Stewart Edward White, the author, has left his bungalow in California, where he has lived for the last two years, and is now in New York.

The Concord prize for the best work of fiction produced in the year 1906 by young French authors was awarded to Jean and Gerome Tharaud, the authors of "Dingy, l'illustre cervain." In the hero of the book many persons recognize Rudyard Kipling.

It is proposed to purchase the cottage at Netter Stowey, England, in which Coleridge wrote "The Ancient Mariner," "Christabel" and others of his finest poems and to keep it as far as possible in the state in which it was during the poet's residence.

CAT TALES.

The domestic cat of civilization is not in any way related to the wild cat, but another species entirely.

A lady resident at one of the palatial hotels at Los Angeles keeps a maid entirely for the purpose of attending to the comfort of her three expensive Persian cats.

One of the Los Angeles caterers profits over $3,000 a year by the sale of aristocratic kittens and cats to women of culture, of wealth and of affection for this class of dumb animals.

Mohammed, waked from sleep by the crying of the muezzin at the adjacent tower, found a cat asleep within his long sleeve. To avoid waking the cat he cut the part upon which it lay out of his sleeve and went to prayer.—Los Angeles Times.

STATE LINES.

Louisiana and South Carolina are the only states in which the negroes are more numerous than the whites.

There were only two murders in Maine last year, though Maine has neither a gallows nor an electrical chair.

The state of California, which has within its borders over 28,000,000 acres of forest, is taking steps permanently to preserve practically the whole amount. California's forests are looked upon not only as a great wood supply. They are far more valuable as a medium of water conservation.

When in need of anything on earth, try a New Mexican want ad. It will positively bring results.

NEAT LUNCH COUNTER.
The Bon Ton Lunch Counter has been repainted, and returned, and is now one of the best in the Territory. They handle everything in the eating line from both eastern and western markets. A call will convince you that they know the business.

If you want anything on earth—try New Mexico "ad."

FEBRUARY UNUSUALLY MILD

Abundant Supply of Water for Coming Season Is Assured, Says Weather Bulletin.

Santa Fe, N. M., March 11, 1907.
 February was an unusually mild month. Very little or no precipitation occurred until toward the close of the month, when showers fell in the valleys of the north portion and snow in the mountain districts of the northern counties.

The reports indicate that the snow is quite well drifted into the numerous canyons and that it is frozen and compact. In several instances the snowfall reports state that crusts of ice have formed which will retard the melting of the snow. An abundant supply of water for the coming season seems assured, the conditions being more favorable in the counties of the north central section. The reports from the southern watersheds do not indicate a very great depth to the remaining snow, the warm weather having caused rapid melting, but still the prospects are not unfavorable. Nearly all sections report that the ground is thoroughly saturated with moisture and that the prospective water supply is very good.

The average depth in the mountains of the San Juan watershed is 15 inches; in the Rio Grande, 21 inches; in the Canadian and Northeast, 20 inches; and in the Upper Pecos, or over the Pecos Forest Reserve, about 30 inches.

The following extracts show the prevailing conditions in detail throughout the Territory at the close of February:

San Juan Watershed and Northwest.
 Pagosa Junction, Colo.—Walter Zabriskie—It is believed the water supply will be sufficient for the season. Pagosa Springs, Colo.—S. H. Smith—There are about 30 inches less snow than at same date last year. Arboles, Colo.—B. A. Rodriguez—The ground is well soaked; the snow is drifted; the outlook for water is fair. Rosa, B. A. Candelaria—The snow on nearby mountains is well packed. Aztec, T. P. Waring—There is less snow than usual. Blanco—W. A. Creager—The mountains are covered with snow. Gallup—E. O. Quinn—The snow is evenly distributed. Ramah—Giles Master—Snow has drifted into canyons. Tohatchi—L. P. Brook—Snow remains only on top of the mountains, compact and evenly distributed, but much less than last year.

Rio Grande Watershed.
 Conejos, Colo.—W. B. McClure—Snow is drifted and compact; good outlook for water supply. El Rito, P. Lopez—Very little snow fell, the month having been rather dry. El Vado—Burns-Biggs Lumber Co.—The snow in the valley is all melted, but in the nearby mountains there yet remains about 2 feet of compact snow. Vallecitos—A. C. Girón—The snow is drifted into the canyons, assuring a good water supply. Questa—A. J. Gomez—The outlook for water supply is good. Red River—R. W. Penn—The snow is covered with ice, drifted and compact, assuring a plentiful water supply. Ojo Caliente—A. Joseph—The snow on the higher ranges is drifted and compact, especially on the shady side of the mountains, insuring a good supply of water for irrigation during the coming season. Hobart—W. H. Hough—A large amount of snow in the higher mountains and still accumulating; none in valley. Santa Fe—Frank Owen—Snow is compact, evenly distributed in higher levels; crust frozen over top and will hold a person up; in narrow canyons it is very deep; an abundant supply of water assured. Thorax—J. G. McCorden—Snow rather evenly distributed, but melting quite rapidly, which is about one month earlier than usual. Copperton—Jose Aragon—Snow in canyons is compact and water will be plentiful. San Rafael—Chas. M. Grover—Nearly a foot of snow fell over mountains at close of month; between 2 and 3 feet of snow reported from Mount Taylor. Estancia—J. L. Rawson—There is no snow in the valley; about a year ago there were 8 inches on ground. Datil—Fred Baldwin—No snow in valley but ground is well soaked. Magdalena—Wm. Pender—Heavy wet snow fell in the mountains during the last four days of February. Cuchillo—Frank Post—There was no snow in this vicinity during the month. Hermosa—Philip Zoeller—Snow drifted and swept compactly into canyons; excellent outlook for abundant water supply.

San Francisco, Gila and Mimbres.
 Mogollon—W. I. Moore—The month of February was clear until toward the close, when 3 inches of snow fell in valley; considerable snow in mountains. Mimbres—Charles Dennis—No snow here, but plenty on the Black range. Cooke—Charles Poe—There is no snow in the valley but there are about three inches on the north side of the higher mountains; the outlook for water is good; the soil is thoroughly soaked.

Canadian and Northwest.
 Black Lake—G. Martinez—The snow has melted in the valleys, and in the canyons it is mostly in drift; water prospects for coming season are good. Elizabethtown—J. F. Carrington—The snow is drifted into canyons and is compact; much less than last year. Lynn—P. L. Harrington—Four inches of snow fell in the valley during last few days of the month, but it had all melted by close of month. Hall's Peak—F. E. Franklin—We had about 5 inches of snow during last few days of the month. Rociada—John A. Rudolph—Snow has drifted into canyons and is compact; very good prospects of sufficient water during the summer.

Pecos and Southwest.
 Mineral Hill—A. J. Adams—Snow remains on mountains only in shaded places and in drifts. Las Vegas—R. B. Schoonmaker—Snow has been melting steadily in the higher mountains, but considerable remains in the heavily timbered portions. Canyons are thoroughly soaked and the outlook for water supply is good. Richardson—H. A. Scott—The snow on mountains is mostly drifted into the canyons; it is melting very fast. The plains are very dry. Clondoroff—J. Q.

Barley—The greater portion of the snow had melted by the close of month.

A Type.
 He strives to regulate the land, With constant brawl and bicker, Some say he's a reformer, and Some say he's just a kicker.
 —Washington Star.

The Literal Victim.
 They stood pensively on the platform Of the toy railroad station at the beautiful suburb Bensenville.
 "I understand you clearly," said the victim. "You told me that the property was but a stone's throw from the station. Where is it?"
 "It's just up the road a bit," replied the real estate man.
 "But it should be right here. You said a stone's throw."
 "Yes."
 "Now, see here, sir," cried the victim testily, "you know damned well that a stone can't throw."—Harper's Weekly.

How Long Will It Stay There?
 There are times when I am blue, And you know when I am too. There are times when there's no joy in anything. When dark clouds come 'cross my sky, When I almost want to cry, When I muse, instead of praise, the birds that sing.
 But that's when I'm busted flat, When I'm realizing that I'm right up against the commonest of woes.
 But it's just the other way: There's no night—it's all bright day—If I only have a dollar in my clothes.
 There is nothing quite so sad To one almost always glad Than to know his pockets don't contain a cent.
 All his cheerfulness will fade, Into deep despair he'll wade, And he'll wonder where on earth his money went.
 But the sun will shine once more, Shine as brightly as before, And he'll feel a tinge of joy clear to his core.
 When the time arrives that he Can dig where his coin should be, And discover he's a dollar in his clothes.
 —Denver Post.

LAME EVERY MORNING.

A Bad Back Is Always Worse in the Morning—Santa Fe People Are Finding Relief.

A back that aches all day and causes discomfort at night is usually worse in the morning. Makes you feel as if you hadn't slept at all. Can't cure a bad back until you cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys—make you feel better, work better, rest better and sleep better.

Permanent cures in Santa Fe prove the merit of Doan's. Toribio Rodriguez, living at 119 Johnson Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "Prior to taking Doan's Kidney Pills which I procured at Ireland's Pharmacy I suffered off and on for several months with backache and pains across my loins. Mornings when I would attempt to work my back so distressed me that often I would have to sit down to obtain relief. Finally the pain became so constant that I was not a moment without it. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a short time was entirely cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PERSONAL MENTION

E. H. Sweet, probate clerk of the county of Socorro, spent today in the city on official business.

A. Menzies, traveling man with headquarters in Las Vegas, today interviewed Santa Fe merchants.

M. M. Padgett, manager of the Las Vegas Optic, in the Meadow City, was an interested spectator in Legislative halls today.

Harry W. Kelly, Las Vegas wholesale merchant, was among yesterday's arrivals here. He is interested in matters before the Assembly.

Harry F. Lee, of Albuquerque, secretary of the Sheep Sanitary Board, was registered at the Palace Hotel today. He is here on business.

Rev. E. McQueen Gray, Episcopal missionary for the Pecos Valley, is among the visitors in the Capital City. He is a guest at the executive residence.

Ph. E. Giraldi and M. S. Summers, Albuquerque business men were here today in consultation with representatives from Bernalillo County in the Assembly.

Hon. Solomon Luna, president of the Bank of Commerce at Albuquerque, and niece Miss Otero, left last evening for the Duke City. They expect to return Saturday.

W. H. Gillenwater, manager of the Montezuma Trust Company, of Albuquerque, was among yesterday's arrivals in town. He came to watch legislative proceedings.

B. G. Wilson, of Las Vegas, representative of the Continental Oil Company in New Mexico, arrived in the city yesterday. Mr. Wilson is interested in Legislative matters.

Judge W. H. Newcomb, a leading citizen of Grant County and a member of the penitentiary commission, reached the city yesterday from Silver City to attend a meeting of the commission.

Colonel H. H. Betts, of Silver City, who has held the position of clerk of that city for many years and who is very popular at his home, arrived here yesterday from the south. He came on business and left tonight for his home.

Professor J. D. Tinsley, member of the faculty of the College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Mesilla Park was a guest at the Palace Hotel today. Professor Tinsley is covering the Territory, holding farmers institutes and lecturing on the cultivation of the soil.

Robert P. Irvin, manager of the Water and Light Company at Clayton, and Howell Earnest, real estate man at the same place, placed their names on the Palace Hotel register last evening. They are here on legislative business and to watch against the creation of Foraker County.

Walter M. Taber, manager of the Glorieta Mercantile and Livestock Company, and Steward Van Vleet reached town yesterday from Glorieta. They came overland. They left this forenoon for southeastern Santa Fe County where Mr. Taber will receive a herd of sheep purchased by him for his company. These will be driven to range in western Torrance County. Mr. Taber says sheep in southern Santa Fe County have stood the winter well and are now in fine condition. The losses during the winter have been insignificant, comparatively speaking. The grass on the range is plentiful, but surface water is getting rather scarce. The ground is wet, however, and spring grass is already showing in many places. He believes that the coming shearing and lambing season will be a prosperous one for the sheep raisers.

Charles F. Osborn, of Denver, Colorado, traveling passenger agent of the Erie Railway system, spent yesterday in the city on business and in consultation with General Manager S. B. Grimshaw of the Santa Fe Central Railway. Mr. Osborn's territory embraces Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, western Kansas and western Texas and he is quite a busy man. He visits Santa Fe once or twice a year on railroad business.

Manuel Sanchez, of Trampas, Rio Arriba County, an ex-member of the Territorial Legislative Assembly, spent today in the city on personal business. Antonio C. Pacheco, merchant and sheep raiser at Arroyo Seco, and Antonio Trujillo, of the same place, member of board of county commissioners of Taos County, were arrivals in the city last night via the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad. They came on legal business with Attorney Charles A. Spies.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain in congestion, pain in blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pill called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—so-called blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effects are charming, pleasant, delightful. Gentle, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 30 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brush your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

A good deal quicker and much more satisfactory to use the telephone instead of the telegraph. Use the long distance telephone when you have business with people in Denver, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Trinidad, Haton, Las Vegas, Thornton Bernalillo, Albuquerque, Los Lunas, Belen and Socorro. Show tonight

Don't miss that clever comedy "A Race for a Widow" at the opera house tonight.

"A Race for a Widow," which comes to the opera house tonight is said to contain all the elements for popular success. It is a comedy abounding in ludicrous situations with an introduction of bright specialties. There is also a heart story running through the comedy with some telling situations.

E. McNulty, practical plumber, All jobs promptly attended to. Leave orders at Goebel's store.

Percy F. Knight, teller of the U. S. Bank and Trust Company, today bought from Miss Annie Graham McKenzie, the lot No. 235, East Palace Avenue, located between the residence property of Major R. J. Palen and a lot of Mrs. Frankie E. Seligman. Consideration private. He will erect thereon a 2-story brick residence during the next few months. Territorial Auditor W. G. Sargent has completed his plans for a fine residence on East Palace Avenue adjoining the Staab residence property on the west. Ground for the house will be broken next month. James C. McConvery, who purchased the residence property at 425 East Palace Avenue a few days ago is making arrangements for extensive improvements both to house and orchard preparatory to taking possession on April 1.

The Denver & Rio Grande train was almost five hours late last evening. It waited at Antonito, Colorado, on the main line train which was delayed by a landslide in La Veta pass. West of Antonito it has been snowing since Saturday night, and the Denver & Rio Grande is completely snowbound. That indicates high water in the Rio Grande River in a month or so as the snow on the Rio Grande watershed was deep already before this last storm.

During the past week the local post-office issued 162 money orders amounting to $1,248.60, the highest amount for any week thus far this year. It paid 149 orders amounting to $2,116.19, also the largest weekly number and amount for this year. There were received $2,116.19 money order surplus remittances also a weekly record breaker for 1907. From money order drafts $200 was received making a total of $6,793.69, exceeding any previous week's business by 20 per cent.

The following letters and postal cards are held at the Santa Fe post-office for better address or postage: Bob King, Big Springs, New Mexico; Jesus Tarazon, Pinos Altos, N. M.; W. E. Robbins, Agt., El Dorado, Kansas; Mrs. Hutberg, 1213 Seventh Timely Suggestions.

There is no part of the home, that should receive more attention, in equipping the same, than the kitchen.

This is true, whether we employ a chef or attend to the culinary duties personally, and much of the happiness of the home depends on the ability of the cook, for whether we are epicures or not, good cooking is indispensable.

An up-to-date household, uses up-to-date appliances, for, "That which to-day is a luxury, tomorrow becomes a necessity." In this progressive world, and this applies to the kitchen.

If you will allow us to show you some of these articles, we feel sure their utility and merits will be obvious.

HIS ABLE DECISION.

Justice as it was dealt out in a certain village.

The mayor of a village in a western state, under a law by which the mayor is also police judge, had before him a cattle stealing case.

Two men had stolen two steers and sold them to a butcher in the town for the extremely low price of $37.

Now, the jurisdiction of this mayor-police judge extended in such cases only to the limits of petty larceny, which required that the stolen articles be not of a value of more than $35.

Beyond this amount the magistrate had to bind the prisoner or prisoners over to the circuit court, subject to the action of the next session of the grand jury. Likewise, in cases thus beyond his jurisdiction, the judge got no fee, and at this particular time, as at many others, he needed the money.

When the evidence had all been adduced the case was as plain as the proboscis on an elephant seen in profile. The men had stolen the cattle, had sold them for $37. No amount of questioning could make the butcher who had bought them say that it was $34.50 or any other amount short of the originally mentioned sum. Apparently no mayor's fee was in sight.

Then the mayor thus summed up the case: "We have heard the evidence in this case, and the duty of the court is clear. These men stole the cattle. They sold them for $37. Taking the mere prima facie evidence and the bare letter of the law, it would seem that it was a clear and unmistakable case of grand larceny. But I have decided to allow the two prisoners $4 for driving the cattle in to the market. This reduces the selling price to $33, and I fine the two prisoners each $20 and costs. The court is adjourned."—Chicago News.

His Trouble.

In a small Georgia town live an old negro couple, the support for both being the wife. Uncle Zeke spends most of his time fishing in the brickyard pond, not that he expects to catch any fish, but "des ter hab some harmless 'musement, ehlie." Aunt Mary takes in washing.

One day one of Aunt Mary's patrons broached the subject to her and suggested that she should not encourage her husband's laziness by supporting him in idleness, but Aunt Mary protested.

"Deed, honey, mah ole man ain't lazy," she declared; "it's des dem self-evident notions he dun got when he was a wuckin' at de college."

"But what have scientific theories got to do with his not working?" the lady demanded.

"Got er whole lot ter do, honey," Aunt Mary said, gathering up her basket. "Yo' see, dem ideas what he got was dat hit wasn't healthy ter wuck after meals, an' he ain't been able ter figger out no way ter 'compish dat, not yet—less he gib us eat in, an' course he can't do dat."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Distressing Mistake!

Customer—Look here! I bought a bottle of your hair restorer last week, and all I've got for using it is a couple of large bumps on my head.

Hairdresser—Good gracious! I must have given you a bottle of our bust developer in mistake!—London Opinion.

Polar Seas.

Polar seas are in every case shallower than tropical.

Teeth.

Short teeth denote a short life and long teeth the reverse. Projecting teeth mean a greedy disposition, but white, even teeth indicate an upright character.

Brignoli's Weak Point.

Brignoli, the tenor, was sensitive about his age. A young lady once said to him in admiration, "Signor Brignoli, I have known you ever since I was a little girl." He turned around in a fury and shouted, "Yes, and I have known you ever since I was a little boy!"

Men With Tails.

An old Dutch legend says that Thomas a Becket cursed the Kentishmen of England, who spitefully cut off his horse's tail, and that the entire generation of Kent which followed wore tails like horses.

Shell Sounds.

The peculiar murmuring sound, not unlike the ripple of the waves on a still evening, which we hear on placing a shell or other hollow object to the ear is due to the fact that the concave surface concentrates and multiplies all different sounds around us, so as to render them audible. The many sounds always present in the air are augmented by the resonant cavity of the shell.

Apples.

The best apples are the heaviest ones and if good will yield to the pressure of the thumb with a faint cracking noise.

Cause of Stomach Troubles.

When a man has trouble with his stomach you may know that he is eating more than he should or of some article of food or drink not suited to his age or occupation, or that his bowels are habitually constipated. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to regulate the bowels and improve the digestion and see if the trouble does not disappear. Ask for a free sample. Sold by all druggists.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This remedy has been in use for over thirty years and has proved itself to be the most successful remedy yet discovered for bowel complaints. Sold by all druggists.

Rheumatic Pains Believed.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieves rheumatic pains and makes sleep and rest possible, which is alone worth many times its cost. B. F. Crocker, Esq., now 84 years of age, and for twenty years justice of the peace at Martinsburg, Iowa, says: "I am terribly afflicted with sciatic rheumatism in my left arm and right hip. I have used three bottles of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and it did me lots of good." For sale by all druggists.

When in need of anything in the printing line, such as wedding cards, invitations, briefs, call on the New Mexican Printing Company, where all work is guaranteed.

Olive Oil.
The simplest way to ascertain the purity of olive oil is to freeze it. Pure olive oil has the exclusive property of freezing at 3 or 4 degrees above zero, whereas other oils need a temperature of 10 degrees below zero.

Central Asia Tales.
The English tale of "Clarelle" is found in the Siberian tale of "Papaluga," in the German tale of "Aschenputtel" and in the fable of La Fontaine about the milkmaid and her pail. The legend of "Beauty and the Beast" is also found in the myths of the Hindoo, Greek and Norseman. All of these tales had a common origin in central Asia.

The Trojan War.
The Trojan war was a conflict between the mother country and some of the strongest colonies and would have been fought if Helen and Achilles and Agamemnon and the rest had never been born.

Japan's Cave Dwellings.
Cave dwellings of elaborate construction have been familiarly known and used in Japan from time immemorial.

Lumber Laden Derelicts.
Lumber laden derelicts are the most troublesome to navigators. It takes them a long time to sink. One such reported in the early nineties drifted over 7,000 miles in 550 days. She was sighted thirty-eight times during that period, showing that she was frequently putting herself in the way of certain ocean travel.

A Welsh Function.
The Anglesey hunt week is now the most fashionable social event in Wales. The records of the hunt show that at the first banquet, 150 years ago, the "only dish consisted of 200 'sheep trotters'."

Metals and Sea Water.
The only metals that withstand the chemical action of the waves are gold and platinum, and glass also seems unaffected. No matter how long gold may be hidden in the ocean it will always be gold when recovered, and this fact explains the many romantic and adventurous searches after hidden submarine treasures lost in shipwrecks.

Lamp of Epictetus.
The lamp used by Epictetus, the philosopher, sold for 3,000 drachmas soon after his death in the year 161 A. D.

Gold Lace.
To clean gold lace buy some rock ammonia from a chemist, pound it finely and apply it with a piece of clean flannel to the lace, rubbing briskly. After a thorough brushing the lace will look as good as new.

North Carolina Mica.
There is plenty of evidence to show that the Indians dug for mica in North Carolina long before Columbus landed, though what they used the stuff for is not obvious. The deposits in the mountains of the western part of that state are today by far the most valuable in this country, yielding something like 100,000 pounds per annum of a product superior in quality.

Chatterton.
A fragment of the handwriting of Chatterton, the English poet, sold for $155 in his native town of Bristol, where he had died of starvation in his seventeenth year.

Foiled the Firemen.
Half a dozen firemen rushed into a burning warehouse in New York and stumbled over three women, expensively dressed, lying on the floor. When they were rescued they turned out to be lay figures.

THE pen and ink class were working with their eyes on their model and their ears strained to catch the sound of footsteps in the hall. It was criticism day, and no one knew at what hour the "master" would appear: hence the unusual silence and application.

The sudden opening of the door created a stir which amused the newcomers—a tall young woman with a swinging, independent gait. "No, I'm not the master," she announced with a laugh, "but he's just around the corner, and Alden is with him."

The model gave a slight start, and her left hand moved involuntarily, while murmurs of "Oh, Ze!" "Good!" and "What he'd come every day!" arose, followed by a "Sh!"

A watchful silence ensued, broken by a grumble from the far corner. "Amy, your expression is wretched today."

"And there goes the curve of your left arm," exclaimed another. Then, testily, "Amy, do sit still!"

The model, Amy Low, from the antique class, flushed faintly and resumed her first position. She sat side-wise, her right arm supported by the carved chair back, her head resting on her hand, bringing a delicate profile into view.

"Girls, prepare to meet your doom. He cometh!" rumbled Zetella Brown in a sepulchral voice.

There were footsteps in the hall and the sound of voices, one high and querulous, the other low and distinct. The door opened, and the master entered, a short man with a Vandylke beard, which he incessantly worried as he tossed his merciless criticisms right and left.

"If ever I saw a face of wood," he began at the first easel, "it's right here. How can you look at a face like that," pointing at Amy, "full of delicate curves and sensitive lines, and then produce such a thing as this—a face as set as that of an Egyptian mummy? Bah! Look at it, Alden."

After the master had taken himself and his querulous voice out of the room Mr. Alden lingered. His presence—quiet, grave and reassuring—was an inspiration to the class.

"I just wish he were our critic!" exclaimed a fearful girl near Amy.

"Huh!" muttered Ze, whose easel stood next. "Catch John Alden as he comes in here! Ever been in his studio? They're great!"

The fearful girl had never visited them, but Amy had. It was months ago, when she first came to the city, an ambitious, shy, palstalking worker in the antique class, where Alden had discovered her one day when he was making the rounds of the room with Van Horn.

She retained a vivid recollection of that day. The two men had stopped behind her as she sat absorbed in a drawing of Caesar's bust.

"Great Caesar!" Van Horn had stormed. "He would never recognize himself if he should see his head on your paper."

She dropped her pencil with a start and turned to encounter not Van Horn's fretful gaze, but the kind, steady eyes of the greater artist. And, when the master had mutilated her sketch and passed on, John Alden, the descendant of that other Alden of sterling character, remained and saved her from utter discouragement concerning her work.

"IF EVER I SAW A FACE OF WOOD"—HE BEGAN.

Alden had followed this with other visits to the antique class, and then she had sat for him, a demure Martha Washington at her spindle in cap and kerchief. Amy caught her breath as she thought of those sittings, and now—

Her time was up, and she arose possessed of one idea—to escape from the room without encountering Alden, who persistently lingered near the entrance. With a feeling of thankfulness she saw Ze gathering up her work preparatory to leaving. Slipping over to her, she whispered, "Ze, come down the corridor with me, won't you?"

"Important!" returned Ze, with good natured carelessness, squinting at her work.

"Very!" returned Amy in a panic as she saw Alden drawing near.

She ran her hand lightly under the arm of the taller girl, using her as a screen until they were safely past the artist, whose eyes followed the Martha of his favorite painting.

"Alden doesn't favor our room as often as he does the antique," began Ze, with affected nonchalance. "I wonder why." She gave Amy's hand a little squeeze. "I also wonder why he came today. Alden?"

"Ze, please don't tease; my head aches so," Amy's voice ended in a choke.

Ze opened her eyes widely at the note of pain in the other's tone. She pursed her lips to whistle and then thought better of it as a girl emerged from the door of the life class and swooped down on Amy, exclaiming:

"Oh, such hair! What a shame to keep it done up properly. You ought to leave it out like this all the time."

She turned Amy's face up and kissed it impulsively. "You're a dear, anyway." The little country girl had won a warm place in the hearts of the art students. "By the way, that invitation has arrived by this time, of course?"

"Oh, no!" Amy tried to speak naturally. "I am not invited. Miss Hall, just because I'm a Daughter of the Revolution doesn't make it necessary for Mr. Alden to include me."

"But I supposed that you"—Miss Hall stopped abruptly, but her expression said more. She gave Amy a curious backward glance as she passed on. "Ze, I'm going home and sleep on my headache," exclaimed Amy hurriedly, dropping Ze's arm. She spoke cheerfully, but with averted gaze. "Good by."

"Goodby," responded Ze, looking after her. To herself she said energetically, "If John Alden has been flirting with that child, I shall—She stopped, not being able to resist the spur of the moment to think of a punishment severe enough. "But if eyes tell true tales his do whenever he looks at her. Still that matter is queer."

She referred to the informal dinner which Alden was giving to a few Daughters and Sons of the Revolution on the evening of Feb. 22 and to which Amy had received no invitation. "It has certainly been delayed. She will receive it tonight," thought Ze.

But the evening's mail brought no invitation, and the unconsciously pathetic look in Amy's eyes went straight to Ze's heart. After dinner she repaired to Amy's room and settled herself comfortably on the bed.

"Now, my dear," she began, "being three inches taller, twenty-five pounds heavier and four years older than you, I intend to talk this matter over with you whether you want me to or not. I cannot believe that John Alden has slighted you."

Amy smiled faintly and laid Ruskin aside. "But, Ze, the fact remains that I am not invited."

"I tell you," obstinately, "that I believe you are. You are not only a Daughter of the Revolution, but you are the dearest girl I know, and John Alden—no, I won't be shut off—Alden thinks so, too, if I'm big enough and old enough and know enough to judge thoughts, and I surely can judge a few of his." Ze spoke with vigor and conviction.

Later, after she had tucked Amy into bed as tenderly as she would a child, she brushed her hair rapidly to an accompaniment of half indignant, half amused thoughts: "Believes she has been unwomanly and forward with him! The shy little thing! She couldn't do a forward thing if she tried. No, I believe the invitation has gone astray, and I do hope she gives him a chance to see her around the institute."

This hope was destroyed the very next day at the door of the antique room, where Ze and Amy encountered Alden. He removed his hat, with a bow in Ze's direction, but with his eyes on Amy's face, from which all warmth had fled.

"I have been looking at your work on Cicero's head, Miss Low," he began. "Will you allow me to add a few lines?"

Ze had not believed Amy's manner could be so formal and cold. "Thank you, but I have just thrown that sketch aside. I am beginning another."

The muscles about Alden's mouth tightened. With a quick movement he swung on his heel, bowed and walked away.

away without a word. "Oh, you little wretch!" breathed Ze, seizing Amy's shoulders in an impatient shake, but a glance at the girl's face caused her hands to drop. "If ever I'm in love," she confided to her easel a moment later, "may the saints preserve me from folly. Here Alden has left in a white heat, and I wonder we don't see him again in a good while!"

She was right. The days passed, and the mail brought no invitation or explanation, but still Ze steadily proclaimed, "I believe it's sent and has been lost."

"You know Mr. Alden will receive as George Washington at the dinner, and in his invitations he has assigned to each of us the character he wishes us to represent," volunteered Miss Hall the 21st of February as she showed Amy a photograph of Alden's Martha Washington picture which she had just secured. "You ought to have been invited, dear, as Martha."

Amy worked on steadily. "Some one else will make a better Lady Washington, no doubt," she replied quietly, but she told herself passionately that no one else had a right to be Martha Washington. If certain involuntary words and actions on Alden's part meant anything, then her head dropped in sudden shame that she had been so unwisely wise as to misunderstand him.

Washington's Birthday found the boarding house on Fifty-second street still later than usual. Ze did not open her eyes until 10 o'clock, and then she opened them on Amy with an offering of bread and jam.

"You dear smuggler!" she exclaimed, chewing valiantly at the dry bread. "This is the nectar of the gods. Long live boarding houses! May they survive their brief career! Amy, I had an idea in the small hours of the night, and I thought to treasure it as such ideas are few, but—Oh, yes! Go and bring your wastebasket to me."

Amy stared. "Ze, you are not yet awake, are you?"

"Very much awake and wanting to be obeyed. Go hence!" tragically.

Amy obeyed with a laugh which did not conceal the hollows under her eyes. The basket proved to be full, containing a large number of unopened art circulars. Ze, plunging among these with awakened interest, suddenly uttered an exclamation.

"Eureka! I've found it! I've found it! I was right after all. Hurrah!" Slipped among the leaves of a circular was a square envelope addressed to Miss Amy Low in a big dowing hand. With fingers which shook, Amy opened the missive. It contained a note besides the formal invitation, a note which brought the blood surging up on her temples and a tremulous smile to her lips. "Ze, he asks me to be Martha," she almost whispered without looking up, "and wishes me to wear the costume I wore when I sat for the picture." There was something else in the note which Amy did not mention.

"And so you shall!" cried Ze. "It's not too late."

Amy shook her head. "You forget, Ze, that it is noon now."

"That makes no difference!" cried the other, planning energetically. "You have made the mistake, and it is your duty to fix things up the best way you can. You owe it to John Alden."

Amy glanced again at the last few lines of the note and faltered. "If he should have selected another Martha by this time?"

"Huh!" exclaimed Ze unbelieringly.

"We'll leave that for him to settle. All I want of you is to do the decent thing, and that is, chaperoned by me—me," with laughing emphasis, "you are going instantly to his studio, explain the mistake and ask for the toga which make a Martha."

"Oh, Ze, I couldn't!" cried Amy, turning her burning face away.

Half an hour later Ze, the energetic, disappeared. When she came back it was to Amy's room, where she busied herself in the clothespress. "Here are your wraps," came her muffled voice, "and I've ordered a cab. It will be here in five minutes, so you better hustle!"

"Oh, Ze, how un-womanly!" Amy whispered at the entrance to the Arlington, on the top floor of which were the studios.

Ze pressed her lips together and rang for the elevator. She was determined not to give Amy an opportunity to think. "Up they flew to the top floor, where Amy paused in a sudden realization of what she was doing, but Ze hurried along to a certain door and gave it a lusty rap, her eyes turned back to where Amy stood like a startled wren ready for flight."

"Come in!" shouted a familiar voice. "You came out," muttered Ze indignantly, giving a louder rap.

The door opened hastily and Alden appeared. "Why?" he began, and then with a change of voice continued: "Pardon me, Miss Brown. I thought it was Van Horn. Won't you?"

Ze intercepted him briskly, casting an apprehensive glance over her shoulder. "No, I think you've brought Miss Low along, and I think if you will interview her you'll find there has been a mistake made that no one is to blame for." With this bold and direct statement she discreetly withdrew around a corner, having had the satisfaction of seeing the artist turn down the hall with a face as pale as Amy's own.

"What mistake, Miss Low?" he asked, stopping a little distance from her. Amy followed Ze's availing figure with startled eyes. "Why?" she found the invitation only this morning in a wastebasket—she did not push herself back against the wall, looking up, timidly—"She made me come to explain and—"

"Blamed by Miss Brown," said Alden, with a ring in his voice which carried the words to Ze.

"But if you have invited another Lady Washington?"

"I haven't," interrupted Alden. "There's just one Lady Washington for me—you have read my note—Amy—not only for the dinner tonight, but for all time. Will you come?"

"Yes!" whispered Amy, but she escaped Alden's outstretched hands, blushing. "I must go find Ze," she said naively, hurrying down the hall.

Alden laughed happily and followed. "All right. I want to find Miss Brown myself and ask for the honor of shaking hands with her."

GLEANINGS.

In Norway all titles of nobility were abolished in 1821.

In Russia, Austria and Greece ladies never sit in the pit of a theater.

A little old lady, clean, neat and refined, wearing the regulation white linen bonnet and pink shawl of the workhouse, is now an inmate of Strand Union, Edmonton, England. She was formerly Miss Lennox Gray, the beautiful and talented woman who played the part of Genevieve de Brabant in the opera of that name. She can still sing and play, but is much broken with age and misfortune.

RECENT INVENTIONS.

Hudson Maxim, the inventor, has conducted experiments from which he asserts that the range of naval torpedoes will be doubled and naval warfare revolutionized. The invention is a self-propelled torpedo, which is driven by steam generated in the burning by explosives carried within the torpedo in concentrated form.

TERRITORIAL GRAND JURY REPORTS

So Far It Has Returned Eleven Indictments and Four No True Bills—Petit Jury Called for Monday.

District Court for the First Judicial District continued in session at the court house this morning, Judge John R. McFie presiding and Clerk A. M. Bergere at his post.

This morning the Territorial grand jury reported seven indictments and four no true bills. The jury is still in session.

The United States grand jury is expected to submit its final report tomorrow morning.

Francisco Romero, who was indicted for horse stealing appeared before Judge McFie and pleaded guilty to the charge, the court sentencing him to a term of one year in the penitentiary. Romero's case is a peculiar one and the facts were unknown to the court until after sentence had been passed when the prisoner made a statement. He said that he had sold a horse to one Barros for the sum of $25, giving Barros a bill of sale. Barros promised to pay him for the animal, but never did and, after making repeated demands on Barros for the purchase price of the horse, Romero finally went and took the animal back. Up to the present time he has never received a cent for the horse. It is very likely that the prisoner will be pardoned at once, as it is said that the jury, together with the trial judge and district attorney will sanction a petition to the Governor, recommending executive clemency in the case.

The petit jury of the Territorial District Court has been called for Monday, when the trial of cases will be commenced.

WATER STRUCK ON ARMENDARIS GRANT

Several Good Wells Have Been Drilled on Jornada del Muerto By Big Cattle Company.

Numa Raymond, of Las Cruces, who spent the past few days in this city on legal business states that water has been struck in wells that are now being dug for the Victoria Land and Cattle Company, the owners of the Armendaris Land Grant in which a great part of the Jornada del Muerto is included.

For many years it was thought that the stretch of mesa land on the east side of the Rio Grande between San Marcel and Rincon and bounded on the west by the San Cristobal and Caballo Mountains and on the east by the San Andres Range was absolutely waterless. The mesa is about sixty miles from north to south and from twenty to thirty miles from east to west and on account of the scarcity of water thereon was called by the Mexicans "Jornada del Muerto," "Journey of Death."

Mr. Raymond states that a great supply of very fine water was struck in a well at what is called Watts Bend, on the old overland stage road, six miles southeast of the old Mexican town of Paraje, at one time quite an important trading and stage point, but today nearly deserted. The point is called Watts Bend from an episode that occurred there in 1864 when a stage coach was attacked at that point by hostile Apaches and Dr. John Watts one of the passengers and then a well known citizen of the Territory was killed by them.

Indications that water will be struck in another well that is now being dug about twelve miles southeast of Watts point on the Jornada are very good and this is also the case at several other points.

The Armendaris land grant has been fenced and is being used by the Victoria Land and Cattle Company as a cattle ranch. Should water be struck in other places on the grant it will become one of the most valuable ranges in the Territory as grass is in abundance and very fine all over the mesa.

ELKS DANCE SOCIAL SUCCESS

Two Hundred Were Present—Excellent Music One of Features of Evening.

The dance given last night at the Palace Hotel by Santa Fe Lodge No. 460, B. P. O. Elks, was a social success. It is estimated that two hundred people attended. The large dining room of the hotel was transformed into a very attractive ball room, being decorated in red, white and blue. The program consisted of twenty numbers and it was after 2 o'clock when the dancers departed for their homes. During the intermission refreshments were served. One of the features of the affair was the excellent music furnished by Morrison's orchestra, and which was composed of nine pieces. The committees in charge of the dance were as follows:

Entertainment Committee—A. L. Morrison, Jr., chairman; Frank Owen, Edward Ehle.

Reception Committee—N. L. King, chairman; Dr. J. A. Massie, A. B. Renahan, O. C. Watson, C. V. Safford, William Sargent, C. W. Fairfield, Frank E. Nuding, Charles Haspelmath. LEGISLATIVE POINTERS.

It is reported in Legislative circles that Colonel H. H. Betts of Silver City, may be appointed treasurer of the Territory in place of J. H. Vaughn, the present incumbent who has very successfully and ably filled this office for eight years. It is not known that Colonel Betts would accept if the office is tendered him as this would necessitate his moving to Santa Fe which he does not care to do.

There is considerable gossip concerning Territorial appointments which are to be sent to the Legislative Council at an early date by the Governor. It is said that E. C. Newcomer, of Albuquerque, present clerk of the Territorial penitentiary, has filed an application for appointment as traveling auditor.

COLORADO VISITED BY FIERCE GALE

Trains Were Delayed and Roofs Blown Off Freight Cars—Strange Phenomena Near Pueblo.

Trinidad, Colo., March 13.—Incoming passengers on the Rio Grande from Pueblo and Denver today report that the trains shook as though in an earthquake while rounding the rocky point near Cucharas, 15 miles south of Pueblo, as the result of high winds yesterday. The trains were obliged to proceed at a snail's pace through fear of being blown from the track. One passenger said many box cars lost their roofs and that several had been derailed.

The train over the Rio Grande, due in this city at 11:10 a. m., was on time at Cucharas, but owing to the delay at that point was several hours late in reaching this city. Colorado Southern train No. 8, south-bound, due here at 8 a. m., was over an hour late owing to the force of the wind.

The gale in Colorado was as bad as at any time during the winter, and the air has been filled with dust since midnight. No damage was done here. Only Unpleasant Here. The only effect of the gale in Santa Fe yesterday afternoon was that it was unpleasant owing to a fine dust which filled the air. The maximum velocity of the wind, according to the local weather bureau was 38 miles per hour at this point.

DEFECTIVE FLUE CAUSED SMALL BLAZE.

Last evening about 5:30 o'clock the fire department was called to the home of Mrs. Schneppe on Guadalupe Street to extinguish a small blaze in the roof of the dwelling, which had ignited from a defective flue. The fire was put out before it had done any perceptible damage. The loss was nominal and is covered by insurance.
