CANNOT DIVERT SPECIAL LEVIES

Attorney General Renders Such Opinion

ANENT DELINQUENT TAX LAW

Notorious Council Bill 111 Placing Premium on Tax Dodging Picked to Pieces

Is Council Bill 111 unconstitutional? That is a question which has been raised since its enactment into law by the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly.

Attorney General W. C. Reid has rendered an opinion on the subject at the instance of Travelling Auditor Charles V. Safford and the latter is having copies of it distributed among the various county treasurers of New Mexico.

The attorney general is of the belief that taxes delinquent from special levies cannot legally be diverted into the general county funds as some people have been led to believe by an interpretation of the measure. He does not believe that after property has been sold for delinquent taxes and a certificate issued or judgment rendered these taxes can then be said to be delinquent, and he thinks that no remittance should be made of the accrued penalty and interest.

Several other pertinent questions are answered in the opinion which is an exhaustive one and in which cases in point are cited. It is naturally of interest to all tax payers in the Territory and is therefore published in full as follows:

The Points at Issue.

Hon. Charles V. Safford, Travelling Auditor of the Territory of New Mexico.

Dear Sir—I have your favor of the 2d instant, in which you ask for a construction of Council Bill No. 111, "An Act for remitting the penalties and costs on delinquent taxes," which will be Chapter 65 of the Session Laws of 1907. In the letter which you mailed me, and those also which you submit from Jackson Agee, Treasurer and Collector of Grant County, are the following questions:

First. Would the taking up of a tax certificate issued by the county for the payment of a judgment for taxes, be considered a payment of delinquent taxes under said act?

Second. Does Section 2, of said Act which provides that all delinquent taxes for 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904, and 1905, be distributed, two-thirds thereof to the general county fund, and one-third to the general school fund, include the taxes raised by special levies of school districts, boards of education, cities and towns, and what are known as "Specials," being levies made for cattle and sheep protection?

Third. Can any person other than the owner of the property, offer the amount of taxes less the penalty and interest, and have the certificate assigned to him?

Fourth. What would be the rights of a person other than the owner who pays said taxes without the penalties and interest, if the owner of the property should redeem after July 1, 1907?

Fifth. Does the term "pro rata" as used in Section 2, of said Act, mean that two-thirds of all the taxes that are collected from the years 1901, 1902, 1903, 1904 and 1905, be placed in a special fund and a dividend declared upon the entire indebtedness of those years from time to time as the taxes are collected, or should the collections be credited to the general fund of these several years, and the accounts paid as heretofore, under the Bateman Act?

Sixth. In case there should be a surplus in any year's fund, shall this surplus be transferred to the next succeeding year, or will it go to the current expense of the present year?

Opinion of Attorney General.

Answering the first of the above questions, I am of the opinion that after property has been sold for delinquent taxes, and a certificate has been issued, either to the county or a private individual, or a judgment has been rendered against the owner of the property thereof, that the taxes cannot then be said to be delinquent, but is merged into a debt of another sort, and that no remittance should be made of the accrued penalty and interest upon taxes that have passed the stage of delinquent taxes, and taken the status of a tax certificate, tax deed, or judgment.

As to the second question, as to whether taxes delinquent from assessments and levies made for special pur-

IS HAGERMAN TO BE REMOVED?

New Mexico Executive Arrives in Washington to Answer Serious Charges Filed Against Him.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, April 13.—Governor Hagerman and Territorial Treasurer Levi A. Hughes arrived in this city last night. Governor Hagerman called this forenoon at the White House, but failed to see the President. There may be some important news for the people of New Mexico Monday or Tuesday next. From reliable sources it is learned that the charges filed against Governor Hagerman are many and of serious import. They contain affidavits of leading citizens and ex-members of the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly. These papers have arrived in Washington within the last six weeks and have received already considerable attention in the Interior Department.

MOUNTED POLICE TO TUCUMCARI

Three Rangers Summoned There to Quell Disturbance of Some Kind—Particulars Unobtainable.

Presumably to quell a disturbance of some kind three Territorial rangers were dispatched this morning to Tucumcari. An effort was made to learn the nature of the trouble but particulars were unobtainable up to a late hour this afternoon.

Captain Fred Fornoff of the Territorial Mounted Police was asked what was the matter but he said that he did not know. He admitted having sent three members of the Mounted Police force to Tucumcari in response to a telegram which he received at Las Vegas last night while on the train bound for this city from Raton.

"The message did not give any details or even state the nature of the trouble," he said. "It simply requested me to send three of my men there at once and I followed instructions. I am expecting advices any minute but have not received any further word as yet."

Lieutenant John W. Collier, of the Territorial Mounted Police left Santa Fe this afternoon for Tucumcari to join the other members of the force ordered there.

When in need of anything on earth, try a New Mexican want ad. It will positively bring results.

THAW HOPES TO GET BAIL

And Thus Secure Freedom Pending New Trial

QUARREL CAUSED HUNG JURY

Two Jurors Almost Came to Blows During Deliberations ---Trial Cost $300,000.

New York, April 13.—Absolute inaction was shown in the Thaw case today following the intense strain and feverish interest of the many weeks that the trial was under way. Not one of the lawyers in the proceedings was at his office during the early morning hours.

Prisoner Spent Sleepless Night.

Thaw spent a restless night in his cell in the Tombs but according to his attendants slept three or four hours. He was up early and spent considerable time looking through the newspapers. To the reporters who sent up notes he replied that he had "nothing to say just at this time."

Will Apply for Bail.

The first question to be decided by the Thaw counsel is that of applying for bail. It is known that District Attorney Jerome will strongly oppose admitting Thaw to bail, holding that he should be treated like any other person in similar circumstances.

No Change in Counsel Yet.

To various rumors that there will be a new alignment of counsel for Thaw, Attorney Delmas said that he had not withdrawn from the case or been superseded. He was the first caller that Thaw had today. He refused to say whether Thaw summoned him or if he had called at the request of Mrs. William Thaw.

Thaw Bitterly Disappointed.

Although bitterly disappointed over the mistrial in his case, and especially since he believed up to the last minute that he would be acquitted Thaw is bearing up bravely.

How He Received Verdict.

So certain was he of his freedom that shortly before the jury came in for the last time, he wrapped up a number of letters and papers which he meant to take with him and when he was told by Messrs. Peabody and O'Reilly, of his counsel, that the jury could not agree, he dropped the papers to the floor speechless and disheartened, but presently he recovered his courage.

Change in Counsel Likely.

It is persistently rumored that owing to various disagreements that all of Thaw's present counsel, except possibly Daniel O'Reilly, will be dismissed. It is also reported that the Thaw family may go back to their original counsel, the firm of Black, Olcott, Gruber and Bonyage.

Total Cost of Trial.

Estimates made of the total cost of the trial place it at about $300,000, of which $200,000 falls on the Thaws.

Unnatural Brother's Letter.

The letter written by Howard Nesbit, brother of Evelyn, to Harry Thaw, was made public today by some of Thaw's counsel, it is said. In it the young man wrote that when White was shot he thought it would be heroic to stand by a man whose memory was so precious to him.

Sought to Protect White.

When District Attorney Jerome took his statement, Howard Nesbit wrote: "I told him what Florence told me, or at least what she was supposed to have told me. I will put it more strongly and will say that she never told me anything against you that would tend to hurt you in any way. I lied, thinking it would help the man I thought was so good."

Influenced by Designing Persons.

As to his subsequent attitude towards his sister and Thaw, Nesbit wrote that after Evelyn told her story on the witness stand that he was with her from that time forward and he adds that he had been influenced by designing persons and says: "I believe you were right and justified in doing what you did and you are now my friend more than her."

Asked Evelyn for Money.

He declares that he wrote Evelyn he was sorry and asked her for $100 to pay some debts which he had contracted in New York, but he added: "She seems to be somewhat bitter at me and will not see me. She answered that she did not have any money."

Threatened to Kill Himself.

He then appeals to Thaw for the money which Evelyn did not send him, and declares that he would rather kill himself than go to "certain" persons in the city for help, that he will not write home for money and says he has felt like "ending it all."

Jurors Quarreled.

It has leaked out that early Thursday morning Juror Pfaff, who stood

Special to the New Mexican.

Portales, N. M., April 13.—The regular April session of the district court for Roosevelt County adjourned here Thursday after having been in session ten days. It was very ably conducted by Judge William H. Pope and a large volume of business was transacted.

The grand jury empanelled did excellent service, thoroughly considering all matters pertaining to the violation of law. They returned twenty-nine true bills and ten no true bills. Of the indictments returned twelve of the defendants pleaded guilty and but one demanded a jury trial and he was convicted. The balance of the cases were continued or dismissed.

There were several sentences of fines ranging from $50 to $200 for violations of the gambling law and allowing minors to loiter in saloons.

THE ISLE OF PINES.

The Isle of Pines is not United States territory and the American citizens who are land owners and residents there will have to worry along under the Cuban flag for a while any way. This may be rather hard on them but under the circumstances that exist it cannot be helped. Referring to the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States holding that the island is Cuban territory, the Washington Post says:

"The Supreme Court of the United States disposes of the dispute over the title to the Isle of Pines by deciding that the United States never attempted to exercise control over the island, and that, being regarded as a part of Cuba, it was transferred to the Cuban republic when the United States withdrew from the island in 1902. This decision is contrary to the view held by some of the best lawyers of the Senate, who quoted the instructions of Secretary of War Root and other papers to show that the United States did assume possession of the Isle of Pines and regarded it as one of the islands ceded to it by Spain.

"The Senate has not ratified the treaty with Cuba determining the title of the Isle of Pines, but it will probably ratify the treaty now without hesitation, since the Supreme Court sustains Secretary Root in the view that the Isle of Pines is not and never was American territory. The treaty provides that the United States shall relinquish all claim to the Isle of Pines in exchange for coaling stations in Cuba. As these stations were long ago turned over and are now occupied by the United States there is no particular reason why the treaty should not be ratified.

"The Americans residing in the Isle of Pines must now face the prospect of living under a foreign flag. They made a gallant fight to be retained under the Stars and Stripes, and without question they honestly believed, when they went to the island, that it was American territory. In spite of the somewhat harrowing stories told of Cuban incoherence and malice in administration, the lot of the Americans in the Isle of Pines need not be unhappy. They are in a delightful climate, with a fruitful soil and adjacent to good markets. No serious and if there should be, they have the infringement of their rights is likely same assurance of protection as is given to every other American in a foreign land, and this is more than it used to be."

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

The Cuban question is proving much more troublesome to this country than was first anticipated, although it was well understood that there would be more or less difficulty and considerable expense in money to keep the volatile inhabitants of the Pearl of the Antilles in good form and decent behavior. Unfortunately for all concerned, the United States and the Cubans, the difficulty is becoming greater and the solution of the problem harder as time advances. Commenting upon the situation, the Denver Republican pertinently remarks that Secretary Taft will study the situation while in Cuba and recommend a line of action for our government to pursue respecting further occupation of the island by American troops. It is probable, however, that the local administration will not be entirely surrendered to the Cuban politicians in the near future.

The common people of Cuba have made little progress in the art of self-control. They are anxious to take charge of affairs, but they lack the restraint essential to successful government in a republic. Business men and other property owners recognize the risk which would be incurred if the island should be turned over to the Cuban leaders and the American troops be withdrawn. They fear that in the intense rivalry of leadership the factions would clash, and therefore they insist that the troops be kept in the island. Order and enforcement of law are to them far more important than the claims of rival political or factional leaders.

On the other hand the prolonged occupation may cause irritation, and certain over-bold politicians may venture to oppose the Americans by force, thus leading to civil war. While the United States could in a little while throw enough troops into Cuba to overrun the country and reduce it to subjection, that course will, if possible, be avoided. It would be with deep regret that the people of this country would witness a clash of authority between the American representatives and the followers of any Cuban leader.

Government in a Latin-American country is always a problem, and it seems almost impossible for a republic of that kind to rise to prosperity and permanent peace without passing through a prolonged period of civil strife. It was so in Mexico and it was so in nearly every South American country which has escaped the dangers of revolution. Force is at times essential to the preservation of order, but under a rule of force there is little progress in civil liberty and self-government.

A RAILROAD ATTORNEY SHOULD NOT BE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

It is believed that the resignation of Attorney General W. C. Reid was brought about partly by a recent editorial in this paper showing that the Attorney General of this Territory was the regular retained and paid attorney of the Pecos Valley and Northeastern Railway system. It is also said that this fact has been presented to the Attorney General in Washington and that probably a hint and not a very gentle one had come from the National Capital to the effect that it was not exactly in good form that an official holding a high legal position under the Territorial government should at the same time be the paid and retained attorney of a great railroad corporation whose interests at times are at variance with those of the commonwealth. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Reid should have not been appointed to the position as Governor Hagerman fully and well knew that at the time of his appointment he was such an attorney and also the attorney of other public service corporations and that the Governor should have known very well that "a man cannot serve two masters at the same time." If the New Mexican's editorial was part of the cause of Mr. Reid's resignation it has certainly done the people great good. This fake reform business must come to an end and that as soon as possible as the commonwealth has already suffered considerably and will be more injured if it continues. The New Mexican is not a corporation brawler nor does it believe in attacking the railway and other public service corporations in a brain storm manner. Indeed the record of this paper shows strongly that it believes in fair and indeed liberal treatment of public service corporations and has always counseled the utmost moderation consistent with justice and fair dealing in the provisions of the laws for the regulation of such corporations in the Sunshine Territory. Hence when this paper makes any strictures and publishes just criticisms its position is all the stronger and all the more readily accepted by decent and patriotic citizens.

THE MOST FAITHFUL OF SECRETARIES.

Under the above caption the New York Evening Sun pays a very well deserved and neat compliment to William Loeb, secretary to the President and an official and man who has very rapidly come to the front and who has lately risen very high in public favor and esteem. The remarks in the editorial will be acknowledged by all those who have had official or personal relations with Mr. Loeb to be to the point and fully verified by facts. Says the Evening Sun:

"When the history of the most spectacular of administrations comes to be written the country will realize the simple justice of the step taken some time ago when the rank, dignity and emoluments of the President's right-hand man were changed for the better, and the title was altered from 'Private Secretary' to full 'Secretary.' "With the rapid growth of the greater office that of the less important has also increased vastly. The responsibilities of the latter are now so manifold, so variegated—its occupant must have eyes to see and ears to hear for his chief—as to make the Secretary almost as prominent a figure in public life as a Cabinet officer.

"Secretaries may come and secretaries may go; but it is doubtful if any successor of the man who now opens the White House mail bags will ever overshadow him when the inside history of these stirring years has been written. Indeed, it is possible that Mr. Loeb's name may give a new word to the language by which will be indicated tersely and vigorously everything that is faithful, everything that is useful and everything that is of good report."

"ALLE SAME" IN SANTA FE.

An observing visitor to Tucson, according to the Daily Star of that city, stated that he had been looking around for ten days for a good source of investment, and he discovered that Tucson was sadly in need of several more poultry farms, about fifty more gardens and several truck farms. He said he could see a larger profit in any of these industries than in any other investment, because more than two-thirds of the poultry and garden truck consumed in Tucson was bought in foreign markets, and that the price of all these products was extremely high. It would not require an observing visitor so much as the half of ten days, to come to the same conclusion concerning Albuquerque."—Albuquerque Citizen.

"Alle Same" in Santa Fe. Comment is unnecessary. The situation is too plain.

Again the New Mexican takes occasion to refer to the heading of a recent editorial in its Albuquerque evening contemporary, the Citizen which reads: "Improvements in water works;" yes, the improvement of the works of the Albuquerque Water Supply Company and of the Santa Fe Water and Light Company are greatly needed and the City Councils of Albuquerque and Santa Fe should take proper and speedy steps to bring this about.

The jury in the Thaw case has disagreed. This was expected. Twelve men could not be of one mind after having been pestered with the evidence and the legal arguments in the case for over two months. Impossibilities cannot be expected even from a New York jury. The worse of the matter is that there will be another trial and that the country may again be treated to columns and columns of nasty stuff.

The wife of a New Hampshire millionaire is her own housekeeper and does the cooking for the family and they make a great deal of this occurrence in the New England newspapers. Let them come to Santa Fe and the New Mexican will show them many wives of men who are not millionaires who do their own house-keeping and cooking and that successfully and satisfactorily.

Democratic clubs in the Pecos valley are passing resolutions strongly endorsing the administration of Governor Hagerman. Copies of several of these have been received by the New Mexican. They were nicely and well put together. As long as there are stenographers and plenty of paper, it is an easy thing to get up resolutions and write letters.

Pennsylvania is a great, big, powerful state, but nevertheless, armed guards are necessary to patrol Pennsylvania railroad tracks as a protection against train wreckers. There is nothing of the kind in New Mexico, but then this is only a Territory and not fit for self-government, according to the Territorial administration and the tax-dodgers.

A corporation to work and develop claims that contain large quantities of merchantable meerschaum in the Mogollon district in Socorro County has been formed and will start active work shortly. The New Mexican hopes that these meerschaum claims will turn out profitably and successfully and will not be found a "mere sham."

It seems that the Hon. Pitchfork Tillman, of the sovereign state of South Carolina, does not believe in consistency any more than do some of the fake reformers in the Sunshine Territory. The honorable Senator is strongly criticizing President Roosevelt for using "violent language."

They have an extra session of their legislature on "in poor old Missouri." It seems that they enacted a strong anti-gambling law which they cannot enforce and they are now trying to find ways and means to enact provisions that will make the law of some account.

If U. S. Senator Boise Penrose, of Pennsylvania, is as handsome as he looks in the newspaper cuts which are now running in many of the large papers of the country, he is all right, whether the five million dollar story be true or untrue. It has served an other purpose; it has certainly given the handsome senator considerable advertising.

Some men take things very hard. Judge Alton B. Parker who will be remembered as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency in 1904, yet believes that he was unfairly defeated. He may be right, but the many millions of voters who contributed to his defeat will not agree with him.

It is no longer vox populi in Kansas, it is now the voice of the women. In last week's municipal elections in the Sunflower State the women voters decided the elections. The man who does not keep on the right side of the Kansas women in Kansas politics, will do well to give the state a wide berth.

Senator Foraker's campaign against Secretary Taft in the Buckeye State has commenced and while it bids fair to be interesting, the commencement was not a very auspicious one. The Senator's recent speech at Canton fell rather flat.

Colonel Bryan has made himself solid with the Sunday school vote throughout the country. He refuses to discuss politics on Sunday.

For months Santa Fe readers have seen the constant expression of praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, and read about the good work they have done in this locality. Not another remedy ever produced such convincing proof of merit.

Benito Romero, living on San Francisco Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I made a statement for publication some five years ago in which I gave an account of my suffering from backache, due to kidney trouble and told how Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at the Ireland Pharmacy, brought me the first relief. As I then stated, I had been suffering from pain across my loins and kidneys and had been subject to the attacks for over a year. Some times I would work until noon and then on account of my kidneys and back would have to stop for the balance of the day. I tried plasters, but they afforded me no relief whatever. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I have on a few occasions noticed a slight return of the old trouble, but at once appealed to Doan's Kidney Pills and the results have always been prompt and satisfactory. I can call to mind a number of my friends who have, on my advice used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney complaint and have been made well by them."

RAGING RIVER CLAIMS NINE Memorable Incident During Civil War

NEAR PARAJE IN 1865

Ferryboat Capsized in Rio Grande While Carrying Company Infantry.

(Written especially for the New Mexican by George H. Pettis of the First New Mexico Volunteer Infantry.)

In the article which follows is a graphic description of the crossing of the swollen Rio Grande near Paraje in this Territory during the Civil War. The article is from the pen of Captain George H. Pettis who served in New Mexico in the California column and as an officer of the First New Mexico Volunteers. Captain Pettis returned to his home in Providence, Rhode Island in 1868, and is now state sealer of measures and weights for Rhode Island. The article reads:

The "California Column" (which came across the "Colorado" and "Maricopa" deserts, and marched the entire length of the Territory of Arizona, to intercept the "Tejanos" under General H. H. Sibley, who had been so successful against the forces of General E. R. S. Canby, who commanded the Union troops in New Mexico, and whose career was finally stopped by Colonel John P. Slough and his regiment of the Second Colorado Volunteer Infantry, assisted by a few regular troops, and New Mexico militia), consisted of the First and Fifth regiments of California Infantry, five companies of the First California Cavalry, and Captain John B. Shinn's Battery A, Third United States Artillery. The "Column" had been enlisted in California in 1861, and the terms of enlistment of the men expired in September and October, 1864. The last man of the "Column" to be mustered out was myself, which event took place on February 15, 1865, at Santa Fe, under the direction of Major W. H. Lewis, Fifth Infantry A. C. M. On the same day, and at the same hour, Major Lewis mustered me into the service again, as First Lieutenant of Company F, First New Mexico Infantry, which was in command of that splendid gentleman and excellent soldier, Colonel Francisco Paula Abreau. After the ceremony of the muster-in, I immediately reported to the department headquarters, where I received my instructions to proceed to Albuquerque, where I could find my company, without officers, the captain—George W. Cook—being absent, sick, and then to proceed to Fort Union, a distance of over two hundred miles, where I was to report to the commanding officer for duty, with the company. The following Monday I was a passenger on the stage coach going south from Santa Fe, and in due time arrived at Albuquerque, where I found my company, and immediately took command. The next day we started for Fort Union, and that day we camped at the Alameda; and the second day, when we were near our camping grounds at Los Algodones, an express messenger from General James H. Carleton, the department commander, at Santa Fe, arrived and presented me a document, which, upon perusal, ordered that I should turn about, with my command, and proceed with proper haste to the south end of the "Jornada del Muerto," a distance of over three hundred miles, and there, with two other companies, proceed to establish and erect a fortification, to be known as Fort Selden, being named after that gallant old soldier, Captain Dick Selden, Fifth United States Infantry.

Crossing the Swollen Rio Grande.

After a march of some ten days down the banks of the Rio Grande, crossing to the west bank at Peralta, some eighteen miles south of Albuquerque, we arrived at Fort Craig. Owing to the melting of the snow in the mountains, we found the river was at its highest stage of the year, and, upon reporting to Colonel Edwin A. Rigg, then commanding at Fort Craig, we were informed that the ferry boat, which always had been located some three miles south of the fort, had been moved up the river directly under the fort, and in preparing the boat for use, a day or two before, the flood had placed the whole business out of use, and that we would have to wait several days before we could cross to the east bank. We accordingly moved up the river, about a mile, and established a camp in a grove of cottonwoods. The time passed pleasantly that week, making daily visits to the fort, and in return would have a visit from a party of officers, from the fort, nearly every day.

At the end of the week I received notice from Colonel Rigg, that the boat would be ready for me the next day, at noon, May 8th. Accordingly we broke camp, loaded our wagons on the day mentioned, and promptly, at noon, we were on the west bank of the river, ready for the first passage of the boat. I had with me at this time, my wife and two children, who had come from California, via Salt Lake, and had joined me at Fort Union in the preceding January. Captain

Daniel B. Haskell, commanding Company B, First Battalion of California Veterans Infantry, who was an old sailor, and a native of Marblehead, Massachusetts, was put in command of the ferry boat.

Men and Mules Swept Overboard.

Upon arrival at the boat, I had nearly all the men of my company, some sixty men, with my ambulance containing my family and servant go aboard, and upon my announcing to Captain Haskell, that we were all ready he had the shore lines cast off, and he himself held the long line or rope, at the stern, the bow of the boat being made fast to the block on the cable across the river. As the stern dropped down stream, so that the boat was at an angle of 45 degrees to the cable, the swift current struck the sideboard of the boat, and we made the 200 feet river in less than five minutes, and arrived at the east bank "sin novedad." In a few minutes we had the ambulance and the two mules safe on shore with the members of the company. As it was my business to supervise the crossing of my entire command including the wagon train, I returned to the west bank with the boat, and soon had one of the wagons, with its six mules, and some twenty-five members of my company on board, ready for the second trip across. Some two years before the matters occurred which are now related here, I had been stationed at this fort, in command of Company K, First California Infantry and was a frequent visitor to the village of "El Paraje de Fra Cristobal," or as it was better known as "Paraje." At that time I had been a considerable of a favorite with the citizens of the village, who, having heard that I was to camp near them on this night, sent me word that morning that they proposed to entertain me with a "balle" on the occasion. Accordingly, several officers of the fort who had obtained permissions to be guests at the function were also on the boat ready to proceed to Paraje. I thereupon notified Captain Haskell that we were ready, when he again had the shore lines cast off, the current struck the side-board, and we were again bounding across. I, myself, was at the bow of the boat, and when within forty feet of the east bank, the Captain gave a shout of warning (and, as I always believed, lost his head for a moment), let go the stern line, when the boat swung around, standing for a moment directly up and down stream, and then the bow took a dive like a duck and went down under water as far as the slack of the cable would allow and, within a minute, came up again. The force of the water moved the wagon towards the stern so far that the four leading mules were thrown off the boat into the muddy water, the wheel mules were not forced off the boat but were held on the apron of the boat. All the men on the boat, with the exception of myself and five others, who seized hold of the side chains of the boat, and held on when the boat was under water, were swept overboard, and started down the river on their own hook.

Boat Finally Pulled to Shore.

It was a sight never to be forgotten, those seventy-five officers and men being carried down the swiftly flowing river, with nothing to be seen but their heads above the water; the four mules thrashing in their harness, while being drowned; my wife and children, and the men of my company running up and down the east bank, wringing their hands, and helpless to lend a hand. I now sent a man around to the high mule that was standing on the apron of the boat, whilst I approached the off mule, when we soon had them freed from their harness, and then pushed them overboard, knowing that when freed from their harness, they would make the shore within a mile or two down stream. I now had all hands on the boat, in including myself, stripped to our underclothes, and the clothing was made fast to the side chains, as I thought that in the swift current, the boat might take a notion to dive again, which she did as soon as we had made fast our clothing. She came up again as before, with nobody missing. Immediately, when the accident occurred, word was sent to Colonel Rigg, in the fort, who had the "long roll" beat, and in a few minutes we had the entire garrison of some three hundred men down on the west bank. But they could do nothing to assist us. On the east bank some of my men had found an old board skiff, and I directed that three good swimmers should be selected, and then haul the skiff some two or three hundred yards up the river, and then drop down upon us, but to be careful and not come head-on, but to drop alongside, when we could catch and hold the boat. They accordingly took the skiff up the river, the three men got aboard and started down towards us; and when they approached the ferry boat, notwithstanding my charge to them before they started, they came down and struck us head on, and over went the skiff like a top, bottom up, and away went the three men and the skiff went down the river. I now went to work, bringing my Rhode Island experience into use, and rigged up a "Bosun's chair," and placing one of the men in it, with the end of a long line made fast to his waist, and after a long and serious time, he reached the eastern shore, when the seventy or eighty men bent onto it, and within a few minutes they had hauled the ferry boat along side the eastern bank. The four mules that had drowned in their harness, were cast off, and preparations were made to go into camp, and there was no balle in Peralta that night.

Nine Were Drowned.

The casualties of the affair were the drowning of Captain Haskell, whose body was found several days after, some seven miles down the river; also the drowning of John Hubbell, a brother of Santiago Hubbell, who lived on the opposite shore from Albuquerque, (I believe his body was never found); and a German boy by the name of Moller, who was the wagon-master, and some six soldiers of my company. It required several days to get across my remaining wagons and stores, and after a tedious march across the ninety miles of the "Jornada del Muerto," without water, we arrived at our destination.

Several weeks after the above happenings, General Carleton, the Department Commander, made a visit to this new post—Fort Selden—and in the evening, after having all the officers of the post gather in the headquarters' tent, he took occasion to compliment very highly the writer of this article, for his actions, during the trying period above related.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden were host and hostess at a very pleasant gathering on Monday evening at their home, No. 2, Lincoln Avenue, complimentary to C. F. Ringer, of Newport, Rhode Island, who is their guest. Five Hundred was the entertainment of the evening, the game being played at three tables. Original pen and ink sketched score cards, containing verses appropriate to each guest, furnished much amusement. The prize, a miniature automobile filled with dainties, was carried off by Dr. Wheelon, who made the highest score. Besides the host and hostess and guest of honor the guests included the Misses Naylor, of Holton, Kansas; Luckenbach, Duval, McKenzie, Lamy and Morrison; Messrs. Patterson, Harvey DuVal, Hugh DuVal, A. H. Brodhead, H. H. Dorman, and Dr. Wheelon.

Mrs. S. G. Cartwright was the guest of honor at a party given Tuesday evening by Captain and Mrs. E. C. Abbott at their home on Cerrillos Street. It was planned in observance of Mrs. Cartwright's birthday and those present composed the members of what is known as the Birthday Club, which confines its meetings to natal anniversaries. The Abbott home was a scene of merriment from early evening until late at night, the time being very pleasantly spent with cards and music, after which suitable refreshments were served. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Shearon, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morrison, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Fiske, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehle, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Garrett, and Dr. and Mrs. David Knapp.

Postmaster Paul A. F. Walter, A. H. Brodhead, H. F. Stephens, C. H. Lauchnor and Dr. Charles A. Wheelon left this evening on a trip to the cliff dwellings at Pajarito Park. They went from here by wagon intending to drive to Buckman and thence to their destination. They will return home tomorrow evening over the same route. One of the objects of the trip is to demonstrate the fact that it is possible to go overland to the cliff dwellings from here and return in twenty-four hours and at the same time have from twelve to fifteen hours in which to inspect the pre-historic ruins. Pajarito Park is now easily accessible to Santa Fe on account of the erection of the wagon bridge at Buckman which spans the Rio Grande.

Little Josephine Rosie Hersch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hersch, was eight years of age Wednesday, and celebrated the natal anniversary by entertaining a dozen playmates at the family home on Washington Avenue. It was an afternoon party and the youthful hostess and her guests amused themselves with various pastimes dear to the juvenile heart. After they had tired of playing games a dainty birthday luncheon was served. Little Miss Hersch received quite a number of mementoes of the occasion in the shape of gifts.

Mrs. C. R. Cline, of Jennings, La., has rooms at St. Vincent's Sanitarium. Mrs. Cline came to this city for rest and recreation and to become acquainted with the scenery and attractions of the Sunshine Territory and especially at Santa Fe. She will make this her headquarters for the summer and from here will visit interesting points in the Territory and in Colorado. She may also take a trip to California before returning to her southern Louisiana home. A visit to relatives in Minnesota is also contemplated by Mrs. Cline.

Miss Katharine Floyd, of New Haven, Conn., has been a guest at St. Vincent's Sanitarium for some weeks. She came to Santa Fe for the benefit of her health and is greatly improved; so much so that she now thinks this is one of the finest and most beautiful spots on God's green earth. She has written relatives and friends to visit with her this summer and enjoy the climate and attractive surroundings of the town as well as the comforts and conveniences at the Sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allen Bishop entertained at an informal dinner party Wednesday evening at their home on upper Palace Avenue for Frank C. Crandall, deputy internal revenue collector for Arizona, who spent the past week in the city. There were also present C. W. Fairfield and Jerry Faris.

Hon. L. Bradford Prince, who is in the East, was in New Haven, Connecticut, yesterday in consultation with Professor Seymour, president of the Archaeological Society of the United States on matters connected with the establishment of a school of archaeology in this city.

Los Bailadores Club gave a dancing party at Elks' Hall on Tuesday evening at which Frank C. Crandall was the guest. The evening was passed tripping the light fantastic until the wee sma' hours of the morning. About fifteen couples attended.

Mrs. Watson Cornell and son, Herbert J. Cornell of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, are expected to arrive in the city within a few days, and they will

They were accompanied by Miss Ortiz and Miss Laura Ortiz, both of Mexico City, who will be guests at the hospitable Burns' home at Tierra Amarilla during the summer.

If you have any spare cash lying around, make haste to place it in the bank where it is not only safe from burglars and fire, but where it also draws interest.

Bury seeds in the grounds and they grow and increase but cash is apt to decrease very quickly if treated in the same manner. Plant your money in a safe bank and watch it grow.

It gives a comfortable feeling to know that you have a crop of money coming on. Start a savings account and feel that way.

BOX CAR SERVES AS BASTILE AT MORIARTY.

Although it would be presumed that a box car, securely sealed, would make a pretty good improvised jail, it did not serve to hold a young man named Eugene Dobson, who was taken into custody recently at Moriarty on the charge of stealing several blankets. The deputy sheriff making the arrest having no place to put his prisoner placed him in a Santa Fe Central Railway box car for safekeeping. However, Dobson succeeded in cutting his way out of the car sometime during the night and made good his escape. He had been employed as a helper in Sheldon's blacksmith shop in the Valley town.

FAST TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY WITH INSANE MAN.

One day this week, Sheriff Serrano of Guadalupe County, made a trip across country from Santa Rosa to Las Vegas having in charge a demented man whom he was taking to the Territorial Insane Asylum. The sheriff made the trip from Santa Rosa to the Meadow City in the remarkable time of eight hours.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all Cough Cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poison enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or packages. For this reason mothers and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison-marks on Dr. Shoop's labels and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison mark there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by Fischer Drug Company.

A CARD.

How to Avoid Appendicitis.
Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. For sale by the Ireland Pharmacy.

Mr. S. L. Bowen, of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease, so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. I took Foley's Kidney Cure. One dollar bottle and part of the second cured me entirely." Foley's Kidney Cure works wonders where others are total failures. For sale by the Ireland Pharmacy.

WAGON CATCHES FIRE FROM CAMP STOVE.

Two Estancia Valley homeseekers named Evans and Van Camp had an exciting experience a few days ago and as a result are minus a good camping outfit and a wagon. The two men loaded their wagon one morning, after having camped all night in the town of Moriarty and started for their claims a few miles from the town. They had not driven far when Evans perceived a large volume of smoke arising among the effects in the wagon. Stopping the horses the men began to investigate and after having thrown off the canvas covering on the wagon the entire outfit became enveloped in flames. The fire was fanned by a strong wind and it was with difficulty that they saved their team. As it was the wagon and most of their belongings were consumed. The fire was started by some hot coals which had been overlooked and left in the camp stove when it was loaded in the wagon.

MALT NUTRINE.

For that tired feeling, for lack of appetite, during convalescence and as a general tonic you can do no better than to take Malt Nutrine. It is prepared by the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association after the most improved methods. It contains less alcohol, (less than 2 per cent), than any malt tonic on the market. In addition it contains more solids than any other extract. It is thus a food and not a stimulant.

Per bottle, 25c; per dozen, $2.50.

HONEY.

We have a supply of Honey in glass which we wish to dispose of quickly. Each jar contains a piece of comb and a quantity of extracted honey.

Per jar, 15c and 20c. Old price, 20c and 25c.

Native Comb Honey, very fine, two for 35c.

SEAL BRAND COFFEE.

The finest Coffee grown is put into one-pound and two-pound tins by Chase & Sanborn of Boston and Chicago, and sold by us at 40c per pound. It has a richness and piquancy of flavor and aroma that no other coffee even approximates. Its blending is a fine art, known only to members of the firm. It is freshly roasted, as we buy in small quantities and it is roasted in Chicago the day of shipment.

FRESH VEGETABLES.

Our Vegetable Fountain is a source of much pleasure to our customers. Vegetables are always crisp and cold when coming from our fountain.

MEXICAN CHOCOLATE.

We now have in stock Mexican Chocolate imported directly from Old Mexico, and prepared according to the Old Mexican processes and formulas which are somewhat different from those of American manufacturers. Cocoa and Chocolate have been the national beverages of the Mexican people since long before the conquest by Cortez, so they may be presumed to know more about their preparation than others.

Two qualities at 20c and 35c per cake, weighing about one-half pound.

SEEDS.

About time to plant that garden and those flower seeds. We have the seeds, you must do the rest. All the varieties in packages and the more common sorts in bulk. Our assortment of Sweet Pea Seeds is very good, there being seven distinct separate colors as well as Eckford's mixture. This mixture is made by blending separate varieties together in proper proportions and is very satisfactory. We will order for you any thing not in stock at catalogue prices. We can also get plants and bulbs for any desiring them.

Charles E. Linney is expected to reach the city either tonight or tomorrow from Cairo, Illinois, where he has been the past two months as observer in charge of the U. S. Weather Bureau. Mr. Linney has resigned from the government service to engage in the hardware business in Santa Fe, having associated himself with the Santa Fe Hardware and Supply Company.

Reverend J. W. Purcell, of Keyser, West Virginia, arrived in Santa Fe last evening, and for the next month will be temporary pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. He will occupy the pulpit at both morning and evening services tomorrow. Reverend Purcell is a candidate for the local pastorate and may be selected for the place by the Presbytery.

Professor J. E. Clark, superintendent of public instruction, will leave tonight for Albuquerque, and from there will go to Las Vegas. He will interview the school superintendents at the cities visited relative to the text books to be adopted and to talk over plans concerning their distribution.

S. F. Potter and family of Greensburg, Pennsylvania, are sojourners in Santa Fe and have apartments at the Palace Hotel. There are five in the party including a niece of Mr. Potter. Mr. Potter is a coal operator in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania and came here to enjoy a vacation.

Attorney General W. C. Reid and Mrs. Reid have taken apartments at the Claire Hotel temporarily and will make their home there until their removal to Roswell where Mr. Reid will resume the practice of law.

Miss Maude Hardinge, of Washington, D. C., arrived in the city today and will spend the summer here. She is a niece of Mrs. R. L. Baca, and during her sojourn will be a guest at the Baca residence.

Dr. H. F. Mera and a party from Summit started bright and early this morning over the trail that leads to the cliff dwellings near Buckman.

A baseball game was played this afternoon at the U. S. Indian Training School between the first team of that institution and the High School Club.

MADE SECRETARY OF APOSTOLIC BRIEFS.

Rome, April 13.—It is declared that the Pope has appointed Cardinal Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, to fill the position temporarily of secretary of Apostolic Briefs made vacant by the recent death of Cardinal Luigi Machi. It is hinted that this is a way to relieve Cardinal Merry del Val of the secretaryship.

The Vatican sets forth officially that when the position of secretary of apostolic briefs is vacant it is always assumed temporarily by the papal secretary of state. A permanent appointment to the position of secretary of apostolic briefs will not be made for some time.

It is reported in Vatican circles that the position of Cardinal Merry del Val is stronger than ever.

SPECIAL SESSION OF TEXAS ASSEMBLY

Austin, Texas, April 13.—The Texas Legislature adjourned at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a four months' session and was re-convened in extra session within ten minutes by Governor Campbell.

In his proclamation re-convening the legislature Governor Campbell demands legislation on the taxation of corporate interests along lines that he will suggest in a message Monday and the enactment of a law compelling telephone companies to transmit each others' messages and to make necessary connections for that purpose at common points.

FATAL COAL MINE ACCIDENT IN MEXICO

Mexico City, April 13.—News has just reached here that fourteen miners were smothered to death in a fire which broke out yesterday in the mine of Dos Estrellas Mining camp of El Oro, about 175 miles southwest of this city. It is thought the number of casualties may be increased. The mine is still burning and rescue work is being carried on with difficulty.

COLLEGE BOYS PLAY SANTA FE CENTRALS

Baseball Game Scheduled for Tomorrow Between Two Strong Local Teams on College Campus.

Santa Fe baseball fans who have no competitions about attending Sunday games will doubtless be out in force tomorrow afternoon to witness the contest between the St. Michael's College team and the Santa Fe Centrals. It promises to be one of the best exhibitions of the season on the local diamond.

The college boys have a strong club this year and already have a long string of victories to their credit. The Santa Fe Centrals have not played any regular games so far this season, although the players have been practicing ever since the season opened. The personnel of the team will be practically the same as last year.

Tomorrow's game will be played on the campus of St. Michael's College and is scheduled to begin promptly at 2:30 o'clock. A small admission will be charged to cover expenses of purchasing balls and bats.

NO SYMPATHETIC STRIKE AT BISBEE

Engineers, Firemen and Pumpmen at Mass Meeting Decide Not to Walk Out With Miners.

Bisbee, Ariz., April 13.—Indications are that the strike of the miners of this district will be short lived because of the action taken by the other mine workers in refusing to declare a sympathetic strike as ordered by the Western Federation of Miners. The mines in this vicinity were in operation again today with practically twenty per cent of the miners usually employed at work.

The engineers, firemen and pumpmen held a mass meeting in this city at which they decided not to walk out. Resolutions to this effect were unanimously adopted. Union sympathizers were barred from the hall in which the gathering was held, and the mechanics discussed the points at issue among themselves without interference.

poses by cities, towns, school districts, cattle sanitary and sheep sanitary boards, etc., are to be diverted to the general school fund as provided for in Section 2, of said Act. It is my opinion that they are not to be so diverted.

The legislature does not expressly state that the taxes delinquent from special levies are to be so diverted, and in addition to having failed expressly to provide for the same, I doubt very much if the legislature has the power to make such a diversion.

While the legislature has very extensive powers over municipalities and political divisions of the Territory, yet the legislature having granted the powers to such political divisions, and property having been acquired by such divisions, I do not believe that the legislature can step in and practically confiscate such property. This would be done, if the legislature could now divert revenues raised by cities, towns, school districts, etc., to other purposes, thereby increasing the burdens of such municipalities beyond that of other portions of the Territory.

"If the legislature of the state may vote the local taxes, or take the moneys which have been raised by taxation for local purposes, and appropriate them to other purposes in their discretion, on any assumption that, as they have now become public funds, they must be at the state's disposal, then the maxim that taxation and representation go together would seem to be merely a glittering generality, presuming much, but assuring nothing." Cooley on Taxation, Vol. 2, page 1320.

In the case of Dartmouth College versus Woodward, 4 Wheat, 518, it is said:

"It may also be admitted that corporations of mere public government, such as cities, towns and counties, may, in many respects be subject to legislative control; but it will hardly be contended that, even in respect to such corporations the legislative power is so transcendent that it may, at its will, take away the private property of the corporation, or change the uses of its private funds acquired under the public faith. Can the legislature confiscate to its own use the private funds which a municipal corporation holds under its charter without any default of the corporators?" See also the case of Slight versus People, 74 Ill., 47.

If in the case in question, the legislature could take the tax levied by a Board of Education for the support of schools of a city, and give it to the general county fund, it is clear that the taxpayers of such city would be paying more than their just proportion of the general expenses of the county, which would be a direct violation of the principle of equality in taxation.

You are therefore instructed that all the taxes raised by special levies collected for delinquents for past years, are not affected by Section 2, of said act.

Answering the third question, I am of the opinion that such delinquent taxes can be paid by any person, but no one would be entitled to a tax certificate therefor, but to a tax receipt only. The penalties which have been remitted, in my judgment, not only refer to a monetary penalty, but to the further penalty of having the property sold for such taxes, providing such delinquent taxes are paid before July 1, 1907.

The fourth question is practically answered by the answer to the third, as the person who pays the taxes would have no right against the property, or the delinquent owner, but would simply hold a tax receipt for taxes paid on another's property.

Replying to the fifth question, I am of the opinion that delinquent taxes collected for the several years mentioned in Section 2, are not to be placed in a pool, but are to be credited to each of the several years as provided in said Section 2, and the accounts should be paid as heretofore, under the Bateman act.

Answering the sixth question, I am of the opinion that the surplus fund of each year shall not be transferred to the next succeeding year, but should go to the current expense fund of the present year.

Respectfully submitted,
W. C. REID,
Attorney General.
