TAFT REACHES

YOKOHAMA

Secretary of War Gets Cordial Greeting

HAD ROUGH VOYAGE

He Will Be Received in Audience By Japanese Emperor on Monday.

Yokohama, Sept. 28.—Secretary of War Taft arrived here early this morning on board the steamer Minnesota, from Seattle, Washington, passing all the signal stations without being sighted. Various reception committees and members of the American embassy, who had come here from Tokyo to welcome Taft, were aroused by runners. The city was soon enlivened and the bay was crowded with launches displaying American flags and other colors.

Reception in Salon of Minnesota.
Secretary and Mrs. Taft and Thomas J. O'Brien, the new American ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. O'Brien, met the visitors from the shore in the main salon on the Minnesota, while the United States cruiser Chattanooga, anchored in the bay, saluted Secretary Taft's flag as Secretary of War, which was hoisted at the fore of the Minnesota. Secretary Taft accepted the entire programme for his entertainment, but declined to participate in any function today or Sunday. Monday the secretary will be received in audience by the Japanese emperor, which will be followed by a luncheon at the royal palace.

Ocean Voyage Was Rough.
The Minnesota had a rough, but not unpleasant voyage. Taft is expected to make a short trip to Tokyo this afternoon. The secretary on landing was greeted on every side by Japanese, with whom he is exceedingly popular.

ARREST ALLEGED REVOLUTIONIST

This Time Well Known Mexican Author Is the Victim—In Jail in Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 28.—L. Gutierrez de Lara, member of an alleged junta of Mexican revolutionists, now said to be operating in Los Angeles and a compatriot of Magon and Villareal, who are under arrest on a charge made by the Mexican government, was arrested here last night and held for examination without bail. The complaint against him is robbery, committed in Mexico, but the offense is not given nor the amount stated.
De Lara is a novelist of some note, having written a number of books. He was a practicing lawyer in Mexico before he left there, by compulsion, so his friends say. They also say the charge against him, like that against Magon and Villareal, cannot be proven, his real offense being criticism through the press of the Mexican administration.

RONQUILLO AND CHAVES ACQUITTED

After Being Out All Night Preparing Verdict Jury Exonerates Them of Murder Charge.

Territorial district court for Santa Fe county reconvened this morning at 9 o'clock, Judge John R. McFie presiding and Clerk Francis C. Wilson at his desk. The territory was represented by Assistant District Attorney Charles C. Catron.

As soon as court was called to order this morning a verdict of not guilty was returned by the jury in the murder case of the territory versus Benito Chaves and Ramundo Ronquillo, after having been out all night. After receiving its instructions from the court the jury retired at 6 o'clock last evening to prepare its verdict. It is understood that a decision to return a verdict of not guilty which would exonerate the defendants of the charge of murder was reached this morning about 3 o'clock after which the jurors snatched what sleep they could until dawn.

The verdict of acquittal created little, if any, surprise among those who have been following the trial and those acquainted with the details of the tragedy.

Another murder trial will be begun Monday, that against Juan Garcia who is under indictment charged with having killed his brother, Florencio Garcia. Insanity will be the plea of the defense.

In a civil case of Hughes and Delgado versus Mrs. Virginia White, which was appealed from the justice of peace court, judgment was rendered this afternoon in favor of the defendant. The suit involved a small sum of money alleged to be due the plaintiffs.

A motion was argued this morning in terposed by counsel for the plaintiff in the suit for damages of Harry S. Friday, versus the Santa Fe Central Railway company to strike out certain alleged redundant matter in portions of the answer filed by the defendant corporation. The motion was taken under advisement by the court.

WHITE RIBBONERS DEFEAT FAIRBANKS

Refuse to Elect Him Delegate to M. E. Conference

RESULT A SURPRISE

Temperance Element Resents Serving of Liquors at Dinner He Gave.

Columbus, O., Sept. 28.—Vice-President Fairbanks was defeated yesterday for election as a lay delegate from Indiana to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, to be held at Baltimore, Maryland next May. The vice-president was not himself a candidate, but his name was urged by his friends, who assumed he would be elected by acclamation.

Instead, he was bitterly opposed by the radical temperance element who took the ground that his election would be condoning the serving of cocktails and wines at a dinner to President Roosevelt in the Fairbank's home on last Memorial day.

INDIAN DANCE AT TAOS.
In Celebration of Annual Feast of San Geronimo.

The most important and characteristic of all the Indian celebrations is the Feast of San Geronimo, celebrated at Taos, New Mexico, September 30th every year.

This year the festival falls upon Monday, and already the Utes, Navajos, Apaches and Mexicans from hundreds of miles about are preparing to make their annual pilgrimage to Taos for this great Indian event. At this period of the year the customary quiet of the beautiful Taos Valley is broken by the incoming bands of Indians from all over the Southwest assembling for their patron saint's festival day. Of last year's celebration a well known writer gave the following description:

"In the early morning of this St. Jerome's day a black-robed Indian makes a recitation from the top of one of the pueblo buildings to the assembled multitude below.

"In the plaza a pine tree pole, fifty feet in height, and from a crosspiece near the top dangles a live sheep. Beside the sheep, a garland of such fruit and vegetables as the valley produces, together with a basket of bread and grain, hangs from the pole.

"The bell in the little adobe chapel sounds and a few of the Indians go in to mass. After the devotional exercises are concluded a procession is formed and marches to the race track, which is a quarter of a mile in length. The runners, of whom there are fifty, are naked except for a breech cloth and are painted no two alike.

"Fifty other runners to contest with these arrive from the pueblo across the dividing stream. Two runners from each side dart down the track. No sooner do they reach the goal than two others start off, and thus for two hours the races continue in relays of twos. The victorious side is given the privilege of electing the governors for both pueblos for the ensuing year.

"In the afternoon dances by hideously painted clowns and mirthmakers are followed by attempts to climb the pole, which is at last accomplished, and amid the yells of the onlookers the sheep, fruit and grain are thrown to the ground and carried off, and St. Jerome is supposed to rejoice in the happy conclusion of the festival in his honor."

DEATH ATTENDS BIG AUTO RACE

Car Crashes Through Fence in 24 Hours Endurance Race, Killing Driver.

New York, Sept. 28.—A forty horse power Lozier car driven by Barry Smelzer, crashed through the fence at a turn of the track in the twenty-four hour endurance race at Morris Park today. Smelzer's skull was fractured and he died at a hospital. John Clarke and Fred Tape, boy spectators, were also perhaps fatally injured. The accident was caused by the bursting of a tire.

Enthusiasm in the twenty-four hour automobile race now in progress at Morris Park race track continued all night, ten thousand men and women watching the swift cars race around the track. Cheers met every spurt.

There was not a minute during the night when the men who were defying danger to make speed that a tragedy was not imminent. INVESTIGATING THE ALLEGED COAL TRUST

Bernalillo County Grand Jury Gets Busy—Coal Dealers Claim Law Is Defective.

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 28.—As a result of the recent advance in the price of coal the territorial grand jury of Bernalillo county has begun an investigation into what is alleged to be an unlawful combination of coal interests to control and increase the prices of this commodity in restraint of trade and in violation of the anti-trust law.

Subpoenas were issued for officers of the American Fuel Company, several mine managers and two local coal dealers to appear before the jury and answer a series of questions relating to the management of the mines, cost of production of coal, the price at the mine, to the dealer and the consumer. The witnesses refused to testify on advice of their counsel who claim that the New Mexico statute is in conflict with the Sherman act.

Following the refusal on the part of the coal men to testify the grand jury presented a report to Judge Abbott asking that the defendants be compelled to testify. As a result of this presentation the court issued an order upon the witnesses, the mine superintendent for the American Fuel company at Gallup, W. H. Hahn of Hahn and company, and John S. Beaven, retail coal dealers of this city, to appear and show cause why they should not be required to answer the questions.

Judge Caldwell Yeamans of Denver, general counsel for the American Fuel company, and H. M. Dougherty of Socorro, local attorney for that company appeared in behalf of the Gallup mine superintendents; Neil B. Field appeared for W. H. Hahn and O. N. Marron for John S. Beaven. District Attorney Clancy and Julius Staab appeared for the territory, Mr. Staab making the argument.

The fact that the freight train crashed between the coaches of the passenger probably prevented great loss of life.

CHARRED BONES SOLVE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

New York, Sept. 28.—The disappearance of Abraham Gill of Brooklyn a year ago, which was followed by exhaustive search, has been partly explained in dispatches to his relatives here from Landusky, Montana. The truth seems to be that Gill was murdered, for charred bones supposed to be his, have been found in a cave near the ranch he owned in Montana. After graduating from the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Gill bought a ranch in Montana. As a deputy U. S. marshal he broke up a gang of bad characters. It is supposed he was murdered by one of these men.

U. S. TO PROBE LUMBER TRUST

Evidence To Be Taken Next Week in St. Paul

BEFORE FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Using Mails For Unlawful Purposes One of Many Charges.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—The federal grand jury will begin next week an investigation of the so-called lumber trust which is understood to have its headquarters in Minneapolis. Fifty witnesses, it is reported, have been summoned. It is understood the government has been collecting testimony to show the lumber trust has been using the mails for unlawful purposes in its crusade to squeeze independent companies to exhaustion. The report of the grand jury on this particular line of law infraction may be of a sensational nature.

EDITOR OF FRISCO

PAPER KIDNAPPED

Taken Into Custody on Warrant Charging Criminal Libel

QUICKLY SPIRITED AWAY

Plan to Take Him to Los Angeles Frustrated By Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

San Francisco, Calif., Sept. 28.—Fremont Older, managing editor of the San Francisco Bulletin and prominently connected with the graft prosecution, was arrested in this city yesterday evening on a warrant issued in Los Angeles, and sworn to by Luther Brown, who charges Older with criminal libel. Older was arrested on the street and taken by automobile to Redwood City, 25 miles south, where connection was made with a south-bound train for Los Angeles on which he was placed in charge of officers from that city.

Santa Barbara, Calif., Sept. 28.—Fremont Older arrived here early this morning on a Southern Pacific train. At the session of the Superior Court held at 2 o'clock this morning, papers were prepared in habeas-corpus proceedings on the advice of District Attorney Langdon of San Francisco. Older was taken from the train by the sheriff and at once conducted to court, where the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus is now in progress.

Older Decoyed From Home.

The warrants for Older's arrest were signed by Judge Carroll Cook, who says they had been issued by Justice of the Peace Chamberlain of Los Angeles. Older was decoyed from home by a telephone message and on reaching the street was seized by Luther Brown, a detective from Los Angeles and two deputies.

The charges against Older are said to be based on an article which appeared in the Bulletin in connection with the trial of Tiley L. Ford, now in progress in regard to the part Luther Brown took in the alleged efforts a few nights ago to kidnap former Supervisor Lonergran, a prominent witness in the graft prosecutions.

Luther Brown is a Los Angeles lawyer and detective and has been engaged in the defense of Ford, general counsel for the United Railroads, who is now on trial on a charge of bribery.

THE DONIPHAN EXPEDITION.

What Xenophon's Anabasis is to the Greek that Connelley's account of the Expedition of Colonel Alexander W. Doniphan and of the Conquest of New Mexico and California should be to every citizen of this Nation. Beautifully printed, superbly illustrated, this volume of almost 700 pages is just from the press and although in part a reprint and compilation, is one of the most valuable contributions to American history made in recent years. The author says in his preface: "This book is an account of the most remarkable military campaign in American history. In many respects, Doniphan's Expedition was the most wonderful of which history tells. And it was not only marvelous—it accomplished much, few campaigns having ever accomplished more. For one thing, it saved Buena Vista and averted disaster to American arms on that bloody field. The battle of Sacramento was the most wonderful ever fought by American arms. Dewey's battle in Manila Bay may be set down as its only rival. The only land battle at all approaching it was that of New Orleans; but in that battle the Americans fought at home, on their own soil, behind fortifications. The battle of Sacramento far outranks it. Colonel Doniphan's men attacked a fortified position held by troops outnumbering them nearly five to one. They were in a strange land, thousands of miles from home. They were in rags, suffering from starvation. They were seemingly abandoned by their government and left to their fate. In case of defeat there was no hope of succor, no help—nothing but inevitable destruction. That charge was as gallant and heroic as any ever made in the world. It was as resistless as the avalanche, grim as death, inexorable as fate. It has never been equalled in all the annals of the world's warfare."

From these words it may be surmised that the narrative is a thrilling one, such as will make the school boy shout with patriotism and will hold the school girl breathless with attention. For the mature student of history it throws light upon a strangely unknown phase of National history, one much neglected by text books and larger histories. But to the citizens of this Territory it has more than a general interest. It was through New Mexico that General Kearny and his Missourians made their march and fought the preliminary skirmishes; it was from Santa Fe that Colonel Doniphan started on the expedition to Chihuahua which found its climax in the battle of Sacramento so graphically described by the author and which he classes as unequalled in the annals of the world's warfare.

The reprint of the story by Colonel John T. Hughes, who was a member of the expedition is prefaced by a brief diary of the latter which begins with Monday, August 17, 1846, upon the arrival of the expedition at Pecos, twenty-five miles from Santa Fe. It tells of the massacre by General Salazar, the capture of his son, the flight of Governor Armijo and the many other events that crowded that summer and winter and transformed New Mexico from a Mexican province into Territory of the United States. General Kearny's entry into Santa Fe, his address and proclamation, his subsequent actions are minutely described and at the same time a picture is given of local customs and minor events that is of intense interest to every Santa Fe resident. The diary concludes on March 13, 1847, a few days after the battle of Sacramento, and from it is constructed the Hughes narrative. The story of the march over the Santa Fe Trail and then from Santa Fe down the Rio Grande Valley, across the Jornada del Muerto to El Paso, as well as minor expeditions to Abiquiu and Cebolleta, against the Navajos, together with incidental mention of the Taos Rebellion and other events which should be more generally known than is the case, form a narrative that is intensely interesting on every page. Some of the pictures drawn of social and other conditions in Santa Fe in those days, it is true, are not very flattering but making allowance for the times, the circumstances and some natural bias, they are no doubt quite accurate. The massacre of Governor Bent, the battles of Embudo, and Taos, the massacre at Mora, the skirmishes on the Red River and at Las Vegas, the attack on Cienega, the execution of six prisoners and the narrative of Indian outrages are described in the last chapters of the Hughes reprint which is illustrated with a map of the Southwest, dated 1848 that in itself is a valuable historical document. The last 100 pages are given to an invaluable roster of the regiments forming the Army of the West and the First Regiment of Missouri Mounted Volunteers. Here is also given a map showing in detail the route taken from Independence, Missouri, over the Santa Fe Trail to Santa Fe and from there to El Paso and Chihuahua, Monterey and Matamoros. When it is remembered that some of those who participated in the expedition are still living, and that among New Mexico's present prominent present day citizens, there are a number of direct descendants of the veterans of the remarkable campaign described in the volume, then it will be seen that the narrative has even more than a historical and local interest, and why it should be on every book shelf in the Southwest.

The illustrations and maps number about seventy and some of them were furnished by the Daily New Mexican, the author making acknowledgment of aid given him in his work, to Colonel Max Frost, editor of the New Mexican who is proud of the personal friendship of the author, William E. Connelley. The volume was printed by Crane and Company at Topeka, Kansas, and as has been said in previous editorial mention, is a superb, almost sumptuous, specimen of the printer's art. With the author's permission, the New Mexican expects to print from time to time extracts from the history which relate especially to the events which transpired at or near Santa Fe during the first years of the American occupation.

A HALT TO SYCOPHANCY AND PHARISAIISM.

During recent years there has appeared in this country a spirit of sycophancy and Pharisaism which, if not allayed and put aside is bound to become detrimental and injurious. Of late whenever a public official has been found to do his simple sworn duty he has been lauded to the skies and set up high and aloft for public worship, for promotion and for political or official ascendancy. Of course, among eighty millions of people there are bound to be many doctrinaires, many cranks, and many people of a very sanguine and optimistic temperament, with whom everything is for the moment and who are dazzled and greatly impressed by acts of judges and officials, even if there is very little to them and when they are in the simple line of proper performance of duty. When they are spectacular then the matter grows worse.

The Kansas City Journal puts this silly phase of hero worship now apparent throughout this country in the right light in a well thought out editorial in which it asserts that one of the inexplicable phases of the new school of politics is the fact that no public official or judge upon the bench is permitted to do what he considers his simple duty without the cry arising from the groundlings that he must be rewarded immediately by political promotion. It seems to be taken for granted that the honest judge or official is the rare and radiant exception and that when such a one is discovered he should be taken on the shoulders of the populace and carried in triumph to another post. Conversely, any judge who fails to hammer the life out of every corporation having business in his court is an enemy to his country.

One of the conspicuous beneficiaries of this hysterical system of hero worship is Joseph W. Folk. For doing his plain duty, under the urging of the newspapers, Mr. Folk was taken from the office of circuit attorney in St. Louis and put into the governor's chair at Jefferson City. His case illustrates perfectly the folly of this sort of politics. As circuit attorney, Mr. Folk was a fairly capable officer. He did prosecute the St. Louis bootleggers, and a few of them successfully, although he owed his own position to corruption, the ticket on which he was a candidate having been fraudulently elected. He talked a great deal about "civic righteousness" and created the impression that honest prosecuting attorneys are rarer than the snows of summer. As a result, he was chosen as governor—and Missouri is now suffering the consequences.

When Judge Landis, of the United States court, ruled against the oil trust and imposed upon it a colossal fine, he did what possibly he considered to be his plain duty. Yet the fact that it was a trust he fined and not a wife beater, made him a hero in the eyes of the political dervishes who hoped to profit from exploiting him. Judge Landis' course in the oil case, whether right or wrong, was in the line of his duty, and the fine he assessed against the Standard Oil Company was presumably based upon his best judgment of the case. There are differences of opinion regarding the reasonableness of the fine, but the fact remains that because it was the Standard Oil Company, Judge Landis was immediately placed in nomination by a lot of hair-brained enthusiasts for the presidency. What Landis himself thinks of this sort of tommyrot is given in a recent interview: "Don't say anything more about that. It is almost an impeachment of my judicial honor. To assume that I would accept political preferment as a reward for anything I might do on the bench is to impeach my integrity as a man and my honor as a judge." Judge Landis is an officer of a court of justice. So was Circuit Attorney Folk.

NO "GIGANTIC" LAND FRAUDS IN NEW MEXICO.

In the sovereign state of Texas there is no land owned by the United States except such as has been purchased by the federal government from the state for military reservations and the like. The land all belonged to the state, that is the public lands and the acreage was enormous. This, of course, has dwindled a great deal and now the charge is made that many, many frauds have been committed, that those who committed them might obtain title to public lands in the Lone Star state at a low cost in money but at a high cost to their consciences and morality.

It seems that when men can get titles to public lands, be they federal, state or territorial, by small payment of money and a few false affidavits, they will indulge in the practice, and the only comfort is that it seems to be the same old thing all over and that what little in that line has been going on in New Mexico is very small indeed when compared with what is alleged to have occurred in many other sections of the United States despite the lies, the slanders and the libels of the New Mexico false affidavit men, of the slanders and back-biters and of a few officials.

Considering all the circumstances, New Mexico can show a pretty clean balance sheet in this alleged land fraud business when compared with what has been going on in some of the great states in the Union, in Oregon, Washington, California, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and even in Texas. Concerning the alleged fraudulent transactions in territorial public lands the allegations are dwindling right along and while there may have been technical violations of the letter and spirit of the statute under which donations of the public domain were made to the territory of New Mexico for the benefit of its territorial institutions, yet so far no charge of corruption or conspiracy to defraud the territory has been proven. That some of the lands of the territory have been sold on too easy terms may have been the case, that the devil has been whipped around the stump by some of the purchasers in filing applications to purchase may be a fact, that one territorial ex-official has been engaged in illegal or improper acts in connection with the disposition of some of the 72,000 acres of territorial public lands disposed of is acknowledged, but as to absolute gigantic land frauds involving for instance "500,000" acres, as charged by some federal officials, the charge is absolutely unfounded and thoroughly malicious, as but about 72,000 acres of territorial public lands have been disposed of, it is a mathematical impossibility to make 500,000 acres out of them even had every acre of the 72,000 acres parted with by the territory been fraudulently and dishonestly obtained. Give the people of New Mexico a fair chance and stop slandering and libeling them. They do not deserve it, although to the shame of some of the citizens and newspapers of the territory be it said that they themselves engaged in this wicked and detrimental business and are partly to blame.

One by one are the newspapers of New Mexico coming to the support of speedy and energetic action on the part of the people to secure the passage of an enabling act for the Sunshine Territory at the coming session of Congress. Says the Prospector, published at the Red River mining camp in Taos county: "Single statehood is now being discussed by the press and the leading citizens of the territory. A concerted action in that direction is now being made by members of both parties. It is a pleasure to the loyal people of New Mexico that joint statehood is no longer a 'nightmare' to her citizens. On account of political reasons and the great improvement going on within its boundaries one can not help from believing that statehood for our territory in the near future, is almost an assured fact."

President Roosevelt approved the Oklahoma constitution because its provisions complied with the proviso of the enabling act in the case. This, despite the many nonsensical detrimental and untenable provisions it contains. Mr. Roosevelt approved the document because, under the law this was the proper thing to do. He voices but the sentiment of millions of people of this great country when he remarks as a citizen and not as a president that in some respects its provisions are very bad, very unwholesome and prejudicial to good government.

GOOD NEWS.

Many Santa Fe Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby.

"Good news travels fast," and the thousands of bad back sufferers in Santa Fe are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Hilario Baca, living on Delgado Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "I feel so greatly pleased with the results obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Ireland's Pharmacy, that I am glad to recommend them. Off and on for three or four months I had been subject to pain in my back and felt it severely at times, especially when I stooped or lifted or brought any strain on the muscles of my loins. Owing to the persistence of the annoyance I was led to believe that the cause was due to some derangement of the kidneys and after using Doan's Kidney Pills a short time I noticed an improvement, and before I had finished one box I was cured. I have not had an indication of a pain since using Doan's Kidney Pills, and will recommend them to others as the opportunity presents itself."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

UNITED STATES INDIAN TRAINING SCHOOL, SANTA FE, N. M.
(New Buildings Under Construction Not Shown Here.)

HOW UNCLE SAM IS TEACHING POOR LO'S CHILDREN WAYS OF CIVILIZATION

One of Largest Indian Industrial Schools in United States Located Near This City--

Clinton J. Crandall, Superintendent in Charge.

When the four new buildings now in course of construction are completed there will be seventeen brick structures forming a part of the United States Indian Industrial School located a short distance south of Santa Fe. The contracts for these new buildings were let some time ago. It is estimated that these improvements will represent an expenditure of about $46,000.

Superintendent Clinton J. Crandall is having the work done as rapidly as possible, commensurate with good results, as the facilities of the institution are inadequate at the present time to meet the demands, and he is desirous of relieving the overcrowded condition of the school with as little delay as is necessary.

All four of the new buildings being erected on the school grounds this year are of brick and two of them are two stories in height. The largest will be a dormitory exclusively for the female pupils. The girls at present are housed in the same quarters as the boys, although the sexes are segregated as completely as if they occupied separate buildings. The girls' home will be a two story structure and will also contain a full-length basement. The main part of the building will be 109 feet long by 32 1-2 feet wide, and it will have a wing adjoining in the rear 33 feet long and 32 feet wide. It is figured that this building will cost about $25,000.

The largest of these new buildings is the mess hall which will be one story high with basement. The dimensions of it are 105 feet by 37 feet. A kitchen will be built in the rear 37 feet long by 33 1-2 feet wide. The dining room will be large enough to accommodate all of the pupils at one time so that none of them will be obliged to wait for meals until after others have eaten. This structure will cost approximately $16,000.

The other two buildings consist of a lavatory and bath house and an additional ware house. The lavatory and bath house is 61 feet in length and 26 1-2 feet in width. It will contain toilet rooms for both the boys and girls as well as a number of single bath apartments. This building will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000. The ware house will be practically two stories in height as it will contain a basement running the full length of the building. The dimensions will be 28 by 31 feet, and the cost will be close to $2,000.

Of the present buildings the administration edifice is the largest. This contains the boys and girls' quarters, dining room, kitchen and bakery in addition to the offices of the superintendent and other officials. It is a two story affair and like most of the other buildings is of brick. The school house proper is also two stories high and is located to the north of the main building. It has nine large class rooms and an assembly hall.

Having so many children to take care of there is naturally more or less sickness among them, and when the pupils are ill enough to require medical attention they are taken to the private hospital, which is a two story brick structure completely isolated from the others. It contains separate wards for the boys and girls and the little patients are looked after regularly by the institution physicians and nurse. The hospital is fitted out with nearly all of the modern appliances and there is also a large contagious ward. A private laundry plant is another feature of the school and it occupies a building by itself. From 3,000 to 4,000 pieces are washed in it every week, and a complete record of the amount of work done is kept day by day. The laundry building also contains the sewing rooms for the girls where the little Indian maidens are taught plain and fancy needle work.

Boys Taught Useful Trades.
The manual training department occupies another building two stories in height. The Indian boys are taught such useful trades as those of carpenter, blacksmith, shoemaker and tailor, and not only assist in making their own wearing apparel but they perform what carpentering and blacksmithing work is required about the place. The superintendent has a two story residence for himself and family, and five cottages are at the disposal of other married members of the faculty. A two story brick building is also used as a sleeping apartment for teachers and other employees.

The remainder of the buildings consist of engine and boiler house, warehouses and stables. The superintendent's home and the hospital have private heating plants, but the other buildings are heated from the boiler house, the pipes being run underground from one building to another.

The school grounds are laid out as far as practicable on the order of a large park. Small plazas face the roadway in front of the boys' and girls' quarters. In the center of one is a neat little band stand in which concerts are held at intervals when the weather permits by the school band, and in the middle of the other is a lagoon where a fountain plays in the summer and water lilies grow in season. Shade trees that were planted when the institution was founded are now almost full grown and they add greatly to the natural beauty of the surroundings. While the school grounds are attractive at all seasons of the year they are especially so in the summer months when the grass in the little parks is bright and green, the trees in full foliage and flowers abound.

Amid such environments Uncle Sam is teaching Poor Lo's sons and daughters the ways of civilization. Their education is along practical lines and enables them to become self-supporting as well as patriotic, law-abiding citizens. The government bears all the expense entailed in civilizing the Indians. They are not only fed and clothed gratuitously while attending school but their railroad fare is paid by generous Uncle Sam. When it is known that there are many other similar institutions scattered throughout the country and several of which are larger than the one here, it will readily be seen that this item of expense together with the cost of maintaining the schools is enormous.

Under Superintendent Crandall's regime the local institution has steadily grown and the present improvements are absolutely needed to keep pace with the constantly increasing attendance. In addition to his duties as superintendent of the school Mr. Crandall also exercises supervision over the agency embracing eleven pueblos in northern New Mexico. The pueblos he has charge of are: Cochiti, Nambe, Jemez, Picuris, Zia, San Juan, Santa Clara, Santo Domingo, San Ildefonso, Taos and Tesuque.

"The Santa Fe school while primarily for the education of the Pueblo Indians draws at least half of its pupils from the Pimas, Papagoes and Moquis or Hopis in Arizona, and the Navajos and Apaches in New Mexico," Mr. Crandall stated when quizzed about the various tribes represented, by a reporter of the New Mexican.

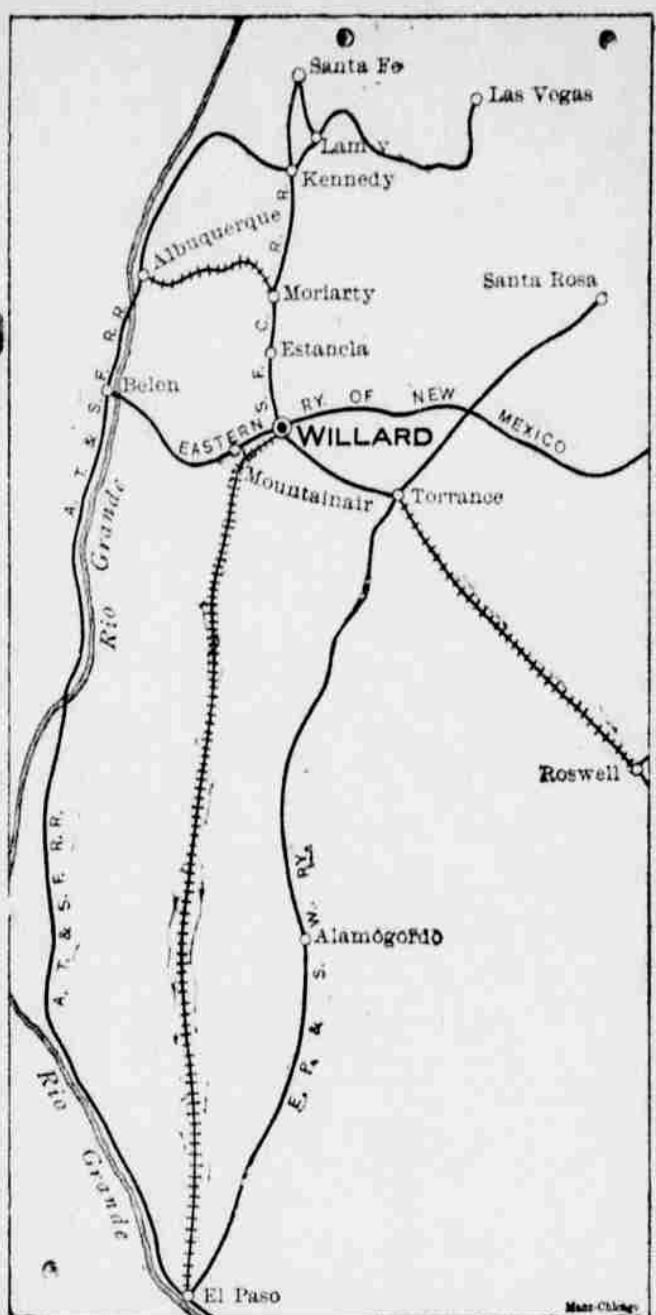

"When our school had a normal course it had the entire country for a field for a time, as it was the first in which this branch of study was established. Pupils came from as far east as Wisconsin, as far north as Montana and as far west as California. In 1894 the first normal school for the education of Indian teachers was started here and later similar courses were added to Carlisle and Haskell Institutes. Under Commissioner Jones the normal feature in the different Indian schools was abolished however. He contended that the government should not attempt to educate the Indian for professions but that his education should be along more practical industrial lines and that his schooling should not go beyond what is commonly known as the eighth grade. That is practically the policy the government is pursuing at the present day although business courses have recently been added to their curriculum by the Haskell and Chilocco schools.

Special Attention is Given to Farming.

"At this school special stress is laid on teaching agricultural pursuits and expert gardening. This of course, includes selection of seeds, proper time for planting and transplanting, the handling of irrigation and livestock. The Indian is taught the improved system of irrigation by rills instead of flooding as by the old Mexican and Chinese methods. The school farm contains five acres that we cultivate in garden truck, and it furnishes nearly all the vegetables we require. Our stock of vegetables is stored in cellars and pits for the winter and the supply generally lasts until about April 1st. We raise off of

They think a great deal of Santa Fe's many attractions, climatologically, scenically, historically and socially. They expect to spend the heated months of the coming year in New Mexico's Capital. During their stay here they had rooms at the Wilson residence and boarded with Mrs. McQuarrie on Palace Avenue.

Colonel Lewis, a prominent mining operator and business man at El Paso, Texas, spent the day in this city to meet friends and on Masonic business. Mr. Lewis has visited several sections of the territory for the purpose of arousing interest among the Masonic fraternity so that as many New Mexico Masons as can make it convenient, may visit the Pass City on November 18 next, when a consistory of the 32nd degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Free Masonry will be instituted in the Pass City and when and where the degrees of the Rite will be conferred upon a large number of candidates. The occasion will be made a memorable one by the El Paso Scottish Rite Masons. WHY DID YOU COME WEST?

To rest, recuperate, hunt, fish, breathe fresh, pure air, see mountain scenery, get a change, live a new and fascinating life under new conditions, and get food that needs no pure food law.

That's why you came west! There is a beautiful little valley that nestles between the highest mountains of the Rockies on the upper Pecos river; ideal altitude, 7,000 feet, and temperature identical with Santa Fe. Its streams swarm with trout and the woods and ranges are filled with game large and small. The ranchers live the life of the west. There are mountain lion, bears, deer and wolves for the hunter. There are saddle ponies to be had for the asking, rooms in a big, rambling ranch house with wide verandas, tent rooms or a cabin if you want it. The days are never dull. You see a great ranch and the genuine western life. Fresh milk, butter and eggs—all you can drink and eat. Sleep in blankets at night—fish in your shirt sleeves during the day. You couldn't spend more than $9 a week if you tried. Its the place you are looking for. Accommodations for both men and women.

that five acres annually garden truck worth approximately $3,000. Practically the only vegetable that we cannot grow here is potatoes. We have some ten acres of alfalfa land which is irrigated mostly from the sewer. This alfalfa field is laid off into small enclosures for pasture purposes and hog lots. All of the slops from the kitchen are fed to the hogs and we slaughter annually seven thousand pounds at comparatively little expense to the government. By looking after these little odds and ends we save enough to pay the salary of one of the employees. We also have a young orchard which has not yet come into full bearing which will in time give us considerable fruit such as apples, pears, peaches and apricots.

"A dairy herd of twenty cows is required to furnish milk and butter enough for the school. A ledger account is kept of each cow, of the amount of food consumed and the quantity of milk produced. If her credit does not exceed her debit she finds her way to the stock yards or the cannery. Each cow is named and her name is posted in the stanchion where she is fed and milked. The milk from each cow is weighed twice a month and an average made to ascertain how much she gives at the end of every three months. If she consumes more than she produces she is sold to make room for another. A Babcock milk tester will be installed later on to determine the quality of the milk. Some cows give a richer milk than others while the quantity may not be as large. We keep about sixteen head of horses and mules on hand all the time which are used in freighting and work about the grounds as well as for driving purposes.

"The Indians attend school on an average of from three to five years. Consequently only a small percentage of them reach the eighth grade. What is true here is also true of all Indian schools. There is nothing compulsory to make them attend excepting the school law which requires that parents shall send their children to school when living within two miles of a school house. I never have found it necessary to resort to any such means. In fact I have had to refuse the admission of a number of children on account of the already crowded condition of the school. Instead of filling up with mixed bloods as many other schools do we have about ninety per cent full-blood Indians.

"In a school like this we have to plan amusements for them because all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy and this is especially true of the Indian children whose ancestors knew nothing about schools. We have a brass band composed of pupils which furnishes music for concerts and other entertainments. Every Saturday night we have a party of some kind. The different legal holidays are celebrated and occasionally we have a picnic when the weather is favorable. Our boys play all of the national games including baseball and football—although we do not always win."

Land Commissioner Robert P. Ervlen has been on a visit to eastern Mora and southern Union counties during the past week on official business examining land owned by the territory in the sections named.

E. L. Wheeler returned last night after a month's visit to his old home at Louisville, Kentucky, the first after an absence of three years. His home going was a sad one, however, as he accompanied the remains of his brother, A. R. Wheeler, who died in this city in August last.

Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa will leave tonight for Trinidad, Colorado, where he will attend the funeral services tomorrow over the remains of the late Philip S. Strauss, his wife's father who died at Roswell. He will be joined at Lamy by D. S. Rosenwald and Bernard Hild, of Albuquerque, nephews of the deceased who will also attend the funeral.

On Tuesday afternoon last Mrs. Robert P. Ervlen entertained a small party of lady friends at her apartments at the Palace Hotel at cards. Bridge whist was the game. Most dainty refreshments were served. There were two tables and in addition to the hostess there were present Mrs. Frost, Mrs. Bridgeman, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Fiske, Mrs. Cartwright, Mrs. Llewellyn, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Tonge and Miss May Spitz.

The first meeting of the new club year of the Fifteen Club will be held on October 12. This will be the beginning of the sixteenth year of this excellent club which is given to the study of literature. It was organized and held its meetings during the entire first year at the home of Mrs. Harroun and it is therefore probable out of compliment to Mrs. Harroun that the first meeting of each recurring year will be held hereafter at her residence.

General Manager S. B. Grimshaw of the Santa Fe Central Railway returned last night from a trip to Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, whither he went on railroad business. He was absent about two weeks. Mr. Grimshaw attended a meeting of general freight agents at Chicago. He says that the railroad traffic at present is something enormous and in the transportation of freight every available car is being kept moving all the time.

Professor W. H. Campbell, of Lincoln, Nebraska, originator and promoter of what is known as the "Campbell system of dry farming," was in Las Vegas the latter part of the week and inspected some of the lands on the mesa in the vicinity of the Meadow City. He will be again in Las Vegas on the 17th and 18th of October at the Farmer's convention to be held there and will deliver an address on "Dry Culture by the Campbell System," on that occasion.

Judge A. L. Morrison and daughter Miss Mary, will return to this city tomorrow evening from Prescott, Arizona, where Miss Morrison has been for some weeks for the benefit of her health, a guest at the residence of her brother, Hon. Robert E. Morrison, to which city Judge Morrison went the forepart of this week to bring his daughter home. It is expected that Miss Morrison, who is seriously ill, will do better in Santa Fe than she has done in Prescott, and on the Pacific coast, where she has been for some time.

Mrs. Matilda Cox Stevenson, of Washington, D. C., left for her home this morning after a week spent in Santa Fe, and during her sojourn here she was a guest at the Palace Hotel. Mrs. Stevenson is engaged in ethnological work and has been a frequent visitor to New Mexico. She expects to return to the Territory next March to remain for some time. Mrs. Masterson, widow of an English army officer, who has been sojourning at the Manby ranch near Watrous, will spend a few days with Mrs. Stevenson at the latter's home in Washington before sailing for England.

Surveyor General M. O. Llewellyn has returned from a week's trip into southern New Mexico on official business. During his absence he examined several tracts of public land on behalf of the U. S. Land Commission for selection and appropriation by the territory on behalf of its public institutions and under the act of Congress making such donations. Surveyor General Llewellyn inspected lands in Dona Ana, Sierra and Otero counties to the extent of several thousand acres. These lands do not contain timber but are susceptible to irrigation and can be developed for agricultural purposes.

Mrs. L. Bradford Prince has been seriously ill during the past week and is still confined to her bed, suffering from a severe cold contracted on her recent trip to the crater of the extinct volcano near Santa Fe. On account of her illness she was forced to abandon a trip for which all preparations had been made to San Antonio, Jemez and Sulphur Springs, in company with Mr. and Mrs. William B. Prince and W. R. Griffiths, of Flushing, Long Island. Returning from the spring resorts it had been planned to secure fresh horses at the Prince Sunshine ranch and thence to drive to Taos to attend the feast of San Geronimo Monday.

The marriage of John Majors to Miss Elizabeth Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Blackwell, of Raion, was celebrated Wednesday last at the residence of the bride's parents in that city. The groom is a young business man of Raion of fine reputation and excellent prospects.

Celebrate Their Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Bishop celebrated their twenty-fifth or silver wedding anniversary on Thursday last at their home on the north side. The observance took the form of a brilliant reception in the evening at which a large number of personal friends were in attendance. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were the recipients of hearty congratulations at having passed the twenty-fifth milestone on life's highway in the love and companionship of each other, and sincere well wishes for their future health, happiness and prosperity. Notwithstanding that it was requested on the invitations issued that no presents be sent many of their most intimate friends ignored this request and remembered host and hostess with some handsome and costly articles in silverware which were most appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were assisted in receiving by their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Allen Bishop, and their daughter, Miss Marian Bishop. The Bishop residence was decorated with an abundance of sweet peas, cosmos and dahlias, which were disposed about the rooms in riotous profusion, and made a very pretty floral setting for the function. Following the reception proper a musicale was held at which some of Santa Fe's best musical talent was represented. There were a variety of musical numbers and the program was a most delightful one from beginning to end. Miss Hildred Hansen played several exquisite violin selections, accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary McFie, and she also rendered a beautiful vocal solo. Other equally charming numbers included vocal solos by Mr. and Mrs. Alan R. McCord, and Miss Evelyn Dougherty, and piano solos by Miss Leonore Purcell.

A dainty collation and refreshments were served during the evening. Mrs. R. J. Crichton had charge of the dining room and escorted the guests to their places. Mrs. J. H. Walker served the salad, assisted by Misses Mary McFie and Leonore Purcell, and Mrs. Moore presided at the coffee urn, being assisted in pouring the coffee by Misses Etta Moore and Dorothy Griffin. Mrs. A. J. Fischer served the punch, assisted by Misses Claribel Fischer and Isabel Walker.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop were united in marriage on August 26, 1882, at Griswold, Connecticut, the latter's maiden name being Miss Mary A. Campbell. Two children have blessed their union, Carl Allen Bishop, and Miss Marian Bishop. The son was married about a year ago and the daughter is still at the parental home. Of the twenty-five years of their wedded life, a good share of the time has been spent in Santa Fe. They are among the foremost residents of this city, in which they expect to spend the remainder of their lives, and they are held in highest esteem by all who know them. Among those invited were:

CREAM BAKING POWDER

A PURE, healthful, grape cream of tartar powder, the only kind that can be used without impairing the healthfulness of the food. Makes the biscuit, cake and pastry more digestible and wholesome. Absolutely free from alum and phosphate of lime.

Chemical analyses show the low priced powders made of alum to contain large quantities of sulphuric acid, and that a portion of the alum from alum baking powders remains unchanged in the food! You cannot afford to take alum and sulphuric acids into your stomach.

All trains reported on time this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Winkel, who live on a homestead near Estancia, were visitors yesterday and today in this city.

Mrs. L. Bradford Prince who is undertaking to raise the money necessary to defray the expenses in erecting a stone vestibule in front of the Church of the Holy Faith has deposited in the bank about $90, two-thirds of which amount was cleared from the chicken supper given recently at Elks' Hall. The other one-third was contributed in cash by outside friends. Probably the largest audience of any during the four nights' engagement in this city was at the theater last evening when the Boston Ideal Opera Company gave as its closing performance here the tuneful opera "The Bohemian Girl." It was given with the same fidelity that marked the three other performances. Manager A. M. Dettelbach has booked the troupe for another and longer engagement next season, which will be pleasing news to local theater goers. The company left this morning for Dawson, where it will open the handsome new theater there tonight.
