COMMITTEE TO VISIT TERRITORY

Congress to Investigate Claims for Statehood

ACTION NEXT DECEMBER

New Mexico Delegation in National Capital Believes This Best Course.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 28.—Governor Curry, Delegate Andrews and National Committeeman Luna had several important consultations yesterday with the president, the vice president, Speaker Cannon, Chairman Albert J. Beveridge and Chairman Edward L. Hamilton of the House committee on territories. These were quite lengthy and lasted until well into the evening. It was decided as best under the circumstances that the consideration of the bills containing an enabling act for New Mexico now pending, introduced in the House by Delegate Andrews and in the Senate by Senator Penrose be put off until the December session of the present Congress.

By this course the delegation has secured many friends from New Mexico who have heretofore been strong opponents or lukewarm in support of the measure.

Governor Curry, National Committeeman Luna and Harry W. Kelly of Las Vegas will remain here for another week and will work with Delegate Andrews to secure favorable consideration and action on bills for the benefit of New Mexico now pending in the House and Senate. An attempt will be made to secure an appropriation of 500,000 acres of public land for the benefit of the public schools of the territory and to aid in their support and maintenance. The delegation will also work in connection with the delegation of citizens from El Paso, Texas, and senators and representatives from that state to secure an increased appropriation to become available to enable the U. S. reclamation service to begin work on the Elephant Butte reservoir and ditch system without delay.

Should the public building bill be passed at the present session of Congress Delegate Andrews and the other members of the delegation are working hard to secure appropriations for such buildings to be located at Las Vegas and at Roswell.

All the members of the delegation now here are of the opinion that under the circumstances the arrangement made in the statehood matter will prove of benefit in the long run and that it was good diplomacy and policy to have made it.

Governor Curry and National Committeeman Luna feel that the result of their trip and visit to the national capital will prove satisfactory and will meet with the approval of the people of New Mexico. In this opinion Delegate Andrews joins heartily.

Congressional Committee to Visit Territory.

Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa who is presiding over the gubernatorial office during the absence of the executive received a long telegram last night from Governor Curry in which the latter stated that a Congressional committee would be appointed to visit New Mexico, prior to the next session of the present Congress. The object of this junket will be to investigate conditions in the territory relative to its admission as a state. The personnel of this committee has not yet been announced.

A Congressional committee headed by Senator Albert J. Beveridge, chairman of the Senate committee on territories, visited the territory four years ago on a similar mission. Since then the population of the territory has almost doubled and great strides have been made in its material development. It is confidently expected that the report of the next Congressional committee will be more favorable and that it will recommend the admission of New Mexico.

Governor Curry's telegram practically confirms the special dispatch from Washington relative to the statehood situation, which was published in yesterday's New Mexican. He stated that he was posting a letter which would explain the latest phase of the statehood question more fully and the epistle if mailed yesterday will probably arrive here some time Thursday. It is needless to say that the news it contains will be anxiously awaited by the people throughout New Mexico. Concerning statehood, the governor said:

"Congressional committee will be

U. S. RECLAMATION SERVICE TO ASSIST

Director F. H. Newell Promises to Lend Active Support Towards Success of Irrigation Congress.

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 28.—The United States Reclamation Service has always taken a pronounced interest in the sessions of the National Irrigation Congress and from a letter from the director of the service, Hon. F. H. Newell, it is apparent that everything that can be done to make the forthcoming congress to be held here next fall a great success, is under consideration by the director. Secretary R. E. Twitchell of the board of control has received the following letter from Mr. Newell, which is self-explanatory:

"United States Reclamation Service, Washington, D. C., Jan. 24, 1908. "Office of the Director.

"Mr. R. E. Twitchell, Secretary, etc. Albuquerque, N. M.

"Dear Sir: "Your letter of January 20th has been received with clippings. As a matter of fact I have done everything in my power to make these irrigation congresses a success and at the same time have endeavored to put as little personality into the matter as possible and keep in the background, as these meetings should be strictly popular meetings. At the same time, it is, as you appreciate, absolutely impossible not to have the reclamation work take a prominent part. If we did any less we would incur criticism for being lukewarm and unappreciative of the subject.

"In the same way, for the 16th irrigation Congress, I trust that it will be possible for us to help you in many details. In so doing, however, we do not wish the Reclamation Service to be unduly prominent, or our men to be at all conspicuous. In other words, we desire to help you make this not only a thoroughly enjoyable but a beneficial meeting of practical men from all parts of the country.

"You can command us within our ability to second your efforts along this line.

"Very Truly Yours, "F. H. NEWELL, "Director."

Provisions are also made under the treaty for the appointment of a commission of three members each to consider and report upon possible amendments to existing trade regulations in both France and America to facilitate the exchange of products.

COAST TOWN IS DOOMED BY FIRE

Lightning Sets Huge Oil Tanks Ablaze

PEOPLE FLEE TO HILLS

Port Hartford, California, Scene of Great Conflagration.

San Luis Obispo, Calif., Jan. 28.—Two huge tanks of the Standard Oil Company at Port Hartford, caught fire today from burning oil in a tank belonging to the Union Oil Company, which was struck by lightning yesterday. One of the Standard's tanks was filled with oil. The other, which was nearly empty, exploded, the oil flowing into the water and the whole town of Port Hartford is threatened. The Port Hartford wharf is afire according to one report and the Hotel Marie at the wharf will probably be destroyed. Several schooners are lying in wait to take all the people aboard in case the port is doomed.

Flames Spread to Nearby Tanks.

Four of the nine oil tanks here are afire at this hour, (2 o'clock.) and it is apparent that the others are doomed. The oil has spread over the waters and for more than half a mile square, is burning fiercely. Twenty men on a burning tank barely escaped death when it exploded.

The families of the employees of the oil companies houses, close to the tanks were forced to abandon their homes scantily clothed and rush to the adjoining hills, when the other tanks of the Standard caught fire this afternoon. No injuries are reported so far.

PRISONER ESCAPES BUT IS SOON RECAPTURED

Genario Hovey, who has been confined in the county jail for several months past awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of horse stealing, took French leave last evening while employed in cleaning up the kitchen in the sheriff's residence adjoining the jail.

His absence was noticed almost immediately and Deputy Sheriff Alberto Garcia started in search of the escaped prisoner. The officer believed Hovey would attempt to leave the city on one of the outgoing trains so he carefully watched last night's train to Lamy.

Deputy Garcia remained up all night looking for Hovey and early this morning his vigilance was rewarded by the capture of his man whom he found stowed away in a Santa Fe box car in the local yards.

UNCLE SAM CLOSES TWO INDIAN SCHOOLS

Abandoned Institutions Located in Nevada and Colorado—Appropriation Bill Before House.

Washington, Jan. 28.—The Indian appropriation bill has been reported to the House of Representatives by Representative Sherman, of New York, chairman of the House committee on Indian affairs. The bill carries a total appropriation of $8,215,697, made up as follows:

Current and contingent expenses, $898,000; for fulfillment of treaties, $1,472,162; miscellaneous, $600,500; incidental expenses in the service, $74,000; miscellaneous expenditures, $1,227,510; maintenance of Indian schools $3,681,420.

Appropriations were disallowed and the Indian schools to which they applied were discontinued as follows:

Point Lewis school, Colorado, $13,800; Carson school, Nevada, $58,400.

A reduction of $150,000 was made in the appropriation for schools for the five civilized tribes, for which the sum of $200,000 was asked.

These eliminations and reductions mark the inauguration of a policy decided upon by the committee and the commissioner of Indian affairs to do away with all non-reservation schools in the United States. The committee so amended the law that restrictions upon individual Indians of the five civilized tribes may be removed by the secretary of the interior upon a showing of competency.

A clause was inserted in the bill providing for irrigation on several reservations.

Meredith, a cattleman of Union county, who was recently convicted in the district court at Clayton on the charge of cattle stealing, and sentenced to a term of three and a half years in the territorial penitentiary, but who has been out on bond pending an appeal to the supreme court, arrived in the city last night and voluntarily delivered himself over to Captain John W. Green, superintendent of the penitentiary.

This action on the part of Meredith followed the notification of his bondsmen that the supreme court had affirmed the sentence of the lower court and that he would have to go to the penitentiary.

The convicted man stopped off at Las Vegas en route to get an order of commitment from Judge William J. Mills, presiding judge of the district in which he was convicted.

Meredith told the prison officials that he was anxious to begin serving his term so as to have it over with as soon as possible.

STATE'S CASE VERY BRIEF

Jerome Confident Thaw Will be Convicted

COMPROMISE WAS AFFECTED

Certain Evidence Admitted --End of Trial is Near at Hand.

New York, Jan. 28.—Before the opening of the case in rebuttal in the Thaw trial today there was a conference of counsel having for its object the arrangement of a compromise as to the admitting of certain evidence, principal of which was a copy of Evelyn Nesbit's affidavit supposed to have been made in Abe Hummel's office.

District Attorney Jerome offered to let in Thaw's will by consent if Littleton would admit this affidavit and save the necessity of taking Hummel's testimony on Blackwell's Island where he is now serving a prison sentence.

Eye-Witnesses Testify.

The state began its case by calling several eye witnesses to the tragedy who declared that in their opinions the conduct of Thaw at the time of the killing of Stanford White was perfectly rational. Two clerks of Hummel were then called and told of Evelyn signing the affidavit in Madison Square tower when she was in company with White. One of them declared that before she signed the document she glanced through it and declared it to be true.

"With the exception of the testimony of Hummel, this is all the evidence the state will have to offer," said Jerome. It had been rumored for some time that Jerome would not call any insanity experts on rebuttal and this statement con-

Claims Defer

It is reported Jerome will call up to the jury the mental irresponsibility of Thaw has been made known.

Another comment followed Jerome's announcement and it was finally agreed to admit Hummel's testimony given at the last trial to be read to the jury and that the Thaw will also be read. This was done.

The reading of Hummel's testimony was still in progress when the luncheon recess was ordered. The defense has only a few witnesses in rebuttal and the summing up of the case by the attorneys is expected to begin tomorrow.

Both Sides Rest.

Both the prosecution and defense finally rested at 3:16 o'clock this afternoon. The arguments will begin tomorrow.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

GETTING READY FOR STATEHOOD

"They also serve who stand and wait," wrote the blind poet Milton and to New Mexico it seems that to stand and wait for statehood is harder than to work or fight for it. It has been a sixty year's weary wait, hoping against hope, and even the prophet of old had already experienced that "hope deferred maketh the heart sick." But New Mexico in its waiting, working and fighting for statehood has at last gained a point of distinct vantage. The clamor of the people of this commonwealth for their rights has become so annoying to the Republican and Democratic political powers and leaders of the East that they have at last made up their minds to admit the Territory within another year. In return for the promise that the statehood agitation ceases until after the Presidential election, the leaders will redeem their pledge to admit New Mexico to statehood. True, it is only a promise, and perhaps, an indefinite promise at that, not near as solemn and binding as the promise embodied in the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo over half a century ago, but the New Mexican is certain that the promise will be kept this time if present conditions do not change and that if it is within the power of the leaders to grant it, New Mexico will bazon forth as a star upon the American banner by July 4th, next year. These leaders are at present all powerful and it would be useless to fight their fiat. Nothing could be gained by such hopeless aggression. They will be in power during the short session of the Sixtieth Congress and no matter how the November election may result in the nation, they will be in position to redeem their pledge to this commonwealth. However, New Mexico must also do its share politically. It is safe to say that the Congressional leaders were promised that New Mexico will come in as a Republican state, for no matter how righteous the cause of statehood, it would be expecting unusual political idealism from purely political leaders to admit to statehood a commonwealth that has just gone for the opposition party. It is true that Oklahoma was admitted in spite of its Democratic leanings but there were other urgent reasons like the expiration of the treaties with certain tribes in Indian Territory that forced Oklahoma's admission, and then it did not come in singly, but jointly with Indian Territory. New Mexico must therefore give a Republican majority in November, the greater the better, and all the energy that would have gone into the statehood fight this spring must now be diverted to assuring Republican success in the fall.

STATEHOOD A TERRITORIAL ISSUE.

The Belen Tribune believes that despite the report from Washington that the chances for the passage of an enabling act for New Mexico at the present session have gone glimmering yet it would be good policy to keep up the agitation in anticipation of the coming of the short session of the Sixtieth Congress. This idea if properly carried out will work out for the best. The New Mexican believes that with judicious and careful handling of the matter in the newspapers of the territory and by public speakers the issue can be made of importance in this year's territorial campaign. The Republican party is absolutely compromised for and in favor of statehood; there are Democratic leaders who are lukewarm and others who are opposed. A clean cut issue can therefore be made. Says the Tribune:

"Statehood for New Mexico means more immigration, more capital, more energy for the development of the vast hidden wealth, which lies within the recesses of the mountains in our domain in gold, silver, iron, coal and other minerals yet undiscovered, and waiting to be brought forth by the united and determined action of corporate bodies, who will surely flock to the new sunshine state when we attain freedom through statehood. It behooves every man therefore, to put not only shoulder to the wheel, but hands, heart and everything needful which he has (even to a sacrifice) to aid the effort now being made by our governor and the Statehood League to impress upon the attention of Congress our petition for statehood."

The chances are bright for the construction of the Albuquerque Eastern railway from Moriarty to Albuquerque this year. Here is hoping that they will materialize into an accomplished fact.

JUDICIAL PROCEDURE A MATTER FOR THE COURTS.

Much discussion is going on in the press and in meetings of bar associations regarding the time honored practice in the United States of leaving to lawyers a great bulk of the law making and especially so in regulating and fixing the most minute details of court practice by direction of law.

The opinion is gaining ground and that steadily and strongly that it were best were rules and regulations and matters of practice left to committees of lawyers to be appointed by the supreme court judges of each state and the results of their labors approved by the courts, declaring such to be the court practice of each particular commonwealth.

Referring to this suggestion the Kansas City Star pertinently and timely remarks that in all the illuminating counsel of Ambassador Bryce concerning the legislation of America the most immediately stimulating was this: "The more detailed rules of legal procedure ought to be left to the judicial department or somebody commissioned by it, instead of being regulated by statute."

This would place responsibility for justice upon the courts where it belongs, and would relieve judges from the regulation of lawyers who force themselves into the legislature. Our courts now must give heed to technicalities over merits because they are bound by statutory rules. They are fettered by "conventional affidavits" and all the kindred devices by which lawyers have contrived to make suits at law chiefly encounters of wit and ingenuity between themselves for their own advantages.

Under the wise plan suggested by Mr. Bryce lawyers would become in fact what they are in theory, subordinate officers of the court, sworn to aid the court in attaining justice. And judges would be reinstated to the dignity of arbiters of justice, not, as now, of contentious forms. Lawyers would be controlled by the judiciary instead of, as now, controlling the judges from the alien vantage ground of legislation.

The field covered by this farseeing English statesman invites the thought of all patriotic Americans. Impulsive law making, special privilege law making, lawyers' law making—all have contributed a vast weltering sea of laws where so much that is bad has overflowed what is good and made selection difficult. It is time to make the flood recede, and for a nation of popular sovereignty to rehabilitate the primal dignity of its legislation and its justice.

RECOGNIZING THE GOOD WORK OF DELEGATE ANDREWS.

Delegate Andrews has introduced a bill in Congress to validate certain acts of the Thirty-seventh Legislative Assembly of New Mexico, one of which is the act appropriating liberal sums of money to several of the educational institutions of the territory for permanent improvements. This is but another evidence that Delegate Andrews is fully alive to the interests of New Mexico and is constantly bestirring himself in the promotion of those interests.—Socorro Chieftain.

The opinion expressed above by the Chieftain is correct and borne out by the facts. It is being universally conceded that Delegate Andrews is the best and most successful worker for New Mexico's interests and the best delegate this territory has ever had in the national Congress.

The unanimity with which the press of New Mexico has taken up the booming of the Sixteenth National Irrigation Congress meeting in Albuquerque and its attending features is remarkable and shows very creditably the loyalty to New Mexico's interests felt by nearly every newspaper in the territory. The action of the territorial press in the constant and intelligent support given the project will be found of the utmost value and conducive almost beyond computation for its ultimate success.

Former Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw has resigned the bank presidency in New York City which he accented shortly after leaving the position of head of the U. S. treasury department. The position paid him a salary of $36,000 per year. It is therefore not too much to assume that Mr. Shaw is very well off in this world's goods generally speaking, men do not resign such lucrative places unless they must or can well afford it.

REPUBLICAN HOPES IN SOUTH-EASTERN NEW MEXICO.

The Democrats in the counties of Chaves and Eddy, although they are believed to be in overwhelming majority in those sections, will not have as easy a time in carrying this year's election as they had in 1906. In the first place the Republicans expect to organize, to put straight party tickets into the field, and to make a vigorous and well conducted campaign. There will be a fight and a bitter one at that in the matter of the creation of one or two counties and that may have some effect in splitting the Democratic vote. There are also quite a number of new "outs" who desire to get the old time "ins" out of office and will make desperate efforts to do so. The question of the reduction of the fees of some of the most important offices will also cut considerable of a figure, especially with candidates for the offices of treasurer and assessor. The fight promises to be a lively and interesting one and has already commenced. In Chaves county a dozen or more candidates for county nominations have already announced themselves.

In Roosevelt county the Republicans will also make a strong effort and regarding this the Portales Times, staunchly Republican in politics, has this to say:

"It is time for the Republicans of Roosevelt county to commence to make preparations and organize for the county campaign. The Times wants to see a good ticket put in the field for county officers composed of capable and efficient men and the Times and all Republicans will rally to their support. We may surprise the Democrats at the vote we can poll this year."

The Roswell Register-Tribune, the paper of the widest circulation in the Pecos Valley and Republican in politics, has this to say of the situation in Chaves county:

"The Republicans of Chaves county will have a full ticket in the field this year, and the prospects were never brighter to elect it. There has been a great increase in population the past two years, most all of it Republican, and it only remains to put up a good Republican ticket, on the right kind of a platform to draw a good proportion of the independent vote, which has been waiting for years for a break in the endless chain."

THE PEOPLE ARE FOR TAFT.

An interesting political incident occurred a few days ago in the fourth congressional district of the state of Oklahoma. Those opposed to instructions for Secretary Taft in the Republican district convention held there recently to select delegates to the Republican national convention did their level best to prevent instructions for Secretary Taft, but they failed.

The attempt and failure are well and neatly described by the Kansas City Times in the following editorial:

"In the convention at Coalgate, Oklahoma, this week to elect delegates from the Fourth Congressional district of that state to the Chicago convention, the politicians resorted to 'gun shoe' methods to defeat an expression for Secretary Taft. They organized the convention for the purpose of preventing the adoption of Taft resolutions, notwithstanding the overwhelming sentiment among Oklahoma Republicans for him. The committee on resolutions voted down a motion to endorse the Taft candidacy, the vote on that proposition in the committee being four to one. But the single Taft man on the committee presented a minority report to the convention and a rousing Taft resolution was adopted by a very large majority. If the reactionaries in Oklahoma had their instructions to prevent a Taft endorsement, it is fair to presume that they have the same orders in every other congressional district. The politicians will argue that it is not wise to instruct the delegates and make the plea that the matter should be left to the 'judgment of the delegates,' or that it should be decided by state convention resolutions or some other excuse will be urged. The real object will be to defeat any expression of the people and thus afford an opportunity for the delegates to be 'handled' by the politicians when they reach Chicago."

"There is a lesson in this Oklahoma incident for the voters of the entire Southwest."

Several Democratic newspapers are giving the perennial candidate for the nomination for the presidency on the Democratic ticket a great deal of advice. This, however, is as far as it goes. Colonel Bryan thinks all this is ill-advised, ill-timed and unnecessary and does not propose to heed it. But the Democratic newspapers in question will keep on just the same; it fills space, they like it and finally Colonel Bryan thinks it does no harm.

The Topeka State Journal evidently does not think much of the Sunflower state legislative assembly now in session at Topeka as is indicated by the following editorial remarks:

"If the state senators and members of the house needed as little coaxing to pass legislation as they do to get their pictures taken en masse, as well as individually, a special session would ordinarily last but eleven minutes and twenty-three seconds."

It is a remarkable fact and especially in New Mexico communities and even in Santa Fe that the greatest tax dodgers and back biters pose as the most blatant and loud mouthed reformers.

SHOW DEVOTION TO DUTY

But for Them "Blind Joe"
Would Have Escaped—
Details of Tragedy.

Superintendent James A. Carroll, of the Mescalero-Apache Indian reservation in southern New Mexico, in the appended report to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs at Washington, gives the details of the recent double tragedy which occurred near the reservation when John A. McLane, a cowboy in the employ of the Felix Cattle company, was brutally murdered by Daga-in-ka, alias "Blind Joe," a member of the Apache tribe occupying the reservation, who in turn was shot to death while resisting arrest. The report shows that the Indian police, who keep order on the reservation and prevent trespassing, are a credit to their race and that had it not been for them the murderer of McLane would in all probability have made good his escape. The official report of the deplorable affair follows:

Details of Deplorable Tragedy.

"The Honorable, The Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington, D. C.
"Sir.—I have the honor to report that, on the 12th instant, at a point about four miles west and two miles north of the agency, J. A. McLane, a young white man in the employ of the Felix Cattle company, was shot and killed by an Indian—Daga-in-ka, numbered 153 on the census of June 30, last; that the Indian fled the reservation; that he was pursued by a posse of Indians; that he was overtaken on the afternoon of the 20th instant, at a point about twenty-five miles south of the reservation, in the high bluffs of the Sacramento mountains; and that, when discovered, he opened fire on his pursuers, who returned the fire, completely riddling him with bullets.

"On the 12th instant young McLane passed through the agency to recover a small bunch of steers that had strayed from the pasture occupied by the Felix Cattle company and were then reported to be in the Tularosa valley about three miles west of Mes-calero. He was last seen alive about 12:30 p. m. of that day by four Indians, who informed him that the stray cattle had left the valley on the afternoon before and had taken a trail leading to the north; and these Indians say that he immediately took up the trail and soon disappeared from view in the foothills. On the 14th instant the foreman for the cattle company reported that McLane had not returned, that he could hear nothing of his movements later than the information furnished by the Indians who had seen him on the 12th, and he expressed his apprehension that the young man had either been thrown from his horse and killed or seriously injured, or else that he had been murdered. The police were at once dispatched for three of the best trailers in the tribe, who were directed to take up McLane's trail where he was last seen and follow it, if possible, until he was found. On the afternoon of the 15th McLane's horse, bridled and saddled, was found, and a few minutes later, the body of the young man was found. A gaping bullet wound immediately under the left eye and between the eye and nose explained the cause of death.
Within ten feet of the body lay the carcass of a beef, recently killed, skinned and quartered, but no part of which had been removed. It then being dusk, no effort was made to investigate the surroundings. The body, however, was brought to the agency in order that it might be prepared for burial. County Sheriff Den-ney and Mounted Policeman Dudley, both of Alamogordo, were at once summoned. The latter reported at midnight of the 15th, the former about daylight of the 16th. Early on the morning of the 16th these officers and Superintendent of Livestock Wingfield, accompanied by several Indians proceeded to the spot where the tragedy had been enacted. They found the tracks of but two horses in the vicinity. One of these was easily recognized as having been made by McLane's horse, and these were not traceable beyond the point where the body was found. The other track led off in a northwest direction. The trailers had no difficulty in following it, although the route was circuitous, through dense thickets of underbrush and over rough and precipitous mountains. Eventually the course veered easterly and, later, southerly and, finally, returned to the Tularosa valley and led to the tepee of the Indian, Daga-in-ka. The horse was found and the track identified. The tepee, however, was empty. Inquiry among the Indians camped in that vicinity disclosed the fact that Daga-in-ka left his tepee on the night of the 14th instant, forcibly compelling his squaw to accompany him, but that he gave no reason why he was going away, and did not state where he was bound.

Indians Believed Daga-in-ka Was the Murderer.

"The Indians were the first to advance the opinion that Daga-in-ka had done the killing. They were convinced that he drove the stray cattle out of the foothills of the Tu-larosa and over the high ridge to the north and thence into a dense thicket of underbrush where he shot one of the bunch; that McLane was on the trail of the cattle and came onto the Indian while he was butchering the beef; that the Indian, being almost totally deaf, did not hear McLane approaching; that he was not aware of McLane's presence until the latter had ridden immediately upon him; that, when he discovered McLane's presence, and knew that he could not escape conviction for killing the beef, he instantly shot and killed the young man; and, fearing that the crime would be traced to him, that the white mind would be intensely excited, and that his own people would not shield him, he had determined to make his way to Mexico. It may be added here that McLane was not armed, a fact which precluded the possibility of his having suicided, as well as of the theory of accidental death; also that the close proximity of his body to the beef carcass, the angle of the shot that killed him—entering the eye and passing through the left parietal bone near its posterior extremity, as well as the powder burns over the face—these considerations indicated that he was shot from his horse, the shot being delivered from the ground and at very close range.

"On the morning of the 17th a council of the Indians was called. They were told they would be expected to arrest Daga-in-ka; that the whites of the surrounding country were very much wrought up and were preparing to organize a posse to scour the reservation; but that, if they would pledge their word to apprehend the Indian, this office would guarantee to deliver him to the authorities within a reasonable time and thus forestall this movement on the part of the whites. This promise was solemnly given and an Indian posse of twenty men immediately left in pursuit.
They requested, however, that no white man accompany them—that they be permitted to conduct their operations without any outside assistance whatever. This request was granted. No questions were asked.
The trail was picked up at the abandoned tepee and followed without difficulty. Only one horse was used and this the Indian and his squaw rode alternately. On the afternoon of the 18th the posse passed the south boundary of the reservation. On the 19th, and about ten miles south of the reservation line, the carcass of the horse was found. 'Twas evident that a part of the meat had been taken; also that a considerable piece of the hide had been removed. The Indian trailers advanced the opinion that the fugitive and his squaw had wrapped their feet in the horse hide and were picking their way over the bar-ren rocks in order to leave no trail.
This proved to be the case, it being exceedingly difficult for the trailers to make any progress. It was also evident, from the caution which characterized the trailers' movements, that they were momentarily expecting to discover the fugitive. This slowness and caution on the part of the trailers was mistaken by certain whites for lack of interest. The sincerity of the Indians was questioned. There were too many of them in the posse.
While a few seemed really in earnest, several appeared indifferent. They held too many consultations and they thereby lost too much time. Unless blood hounds were brought to the trail at once the fugitive would never be overtaken. Hounds should be secured at once and all the Indians, save four or five, should be ordered back to the reservation. This office had not the shadow of a doubt as to the good faith of the trailers. On the contrary it had an abiding conviction that the fugitive would be returned.
To appease public sentiment, however, the governor of New Mexico was requested, by wire, to direct the warden of the penitentiary to send blood hounds to Alamogordo by first train. The governor immediately complied with this request, and the dogs arrived at Alamogordo on the morning of the 21st. As to ordering back to the reservation a large number of the posse, this office refused to take any such action. Those who advocated the idea were informed that, whenever the territorial authorities lost faith in the Indian posse, they might direct all of them to return. Subsequent events have removed every doubt of the Indians' sincerity. Twelve hours before the blood hounds arrived the fugitive was a corpse—slain by his own people. On the afternoon of the 20th he was overtaken in the roughs of the Sacramento mountains, about twenty-five miles south of the reservation. When discovered he turned on his pursuers and opened fire. A regular fusillade followed in which his body was completely riddled. None of the posse were hit, and the squaw also escaped injury.
The body was brought to Alamogordo on the 21st and on the 22nd an inquest was held. The verdict of the coroner's jury was, in substance, that the deceased was slain by the Indian police who were acting under warrant of law and who were compelled to this course in defense of their own lives.

"This office hereby makes public acknowledgment of the prompt and hearty co-operation of Governor George Curry in tendering the service of his mounted police and in directing the dispatch of blood good judgment of Mounted Police-

M. Denney. And to those citizens who assisted the Indian trailers with subsistence for themselves and their thanks.

"The foregoing is a brief account of the first killing of a white man by an Indian of this tribe for almost thirty years; and, while this office sorely deplores the necessity for recording such a tragedy, it is nevertheless glad to bear witness to the loyalty of the Mescalero Apache to constituted authority, his sense of justice to his fellow man, and his faithfulness to the compacts made with the government when he left the war path of the nomad for the peaceful arts of the citizen. It is thought appropriate to request the commissioner to express his appreciation of the spirit of the tribe as manifested in this case, and more especially his commendation of those Indians, who, taking their lives in their hands, volunteered to deliver to justice a brother who had so grievously sinned against the laws of God and his country.

SCHOOLS AT TAOS AND SAN JUAN

Government Orders Land Condemned In These Two Pueblos as Sites and Commissioners Are Appointed.

Judge John R. McFie yesterday appointed commissioners in the condemnation proceedings brought by the federal government against the pueblos of Taos and San Juan for the purpose of acquiring sites in both places for U. S. Indian day schools. The Indians are not opposed to transfer of the land but this action is to settle any dispute as to the title of the land and that it may, through a legal process, pass into the possession of the federal government.

Alex. Gusdorf, Alois Schuerich and James Dubar were appointed as the commissioners to appraise the value of the proposed site in Taos, and Frank Bond, H. R. Meyers and Frank Frankfurter were named as the commissioners for a similar task, at San Juan.

A slight wreck occurred last week at Otto, a siding on the Santa Fe Central railway, south of Stanley, which resulted in considerable damage to an engine and two box cars.
Two cars which had been set out at Stanley started down the grade towards Otto a short distance south and their wild career was ended there when they collided with a special engine bound for Santa Fe. Fortunately no one was injured.

News has been received in this city of the death last week at Ocean Park, California, of John B. Rouse, a former resident of Santa Fe. His demise was due to tuberculosis from which he had been a long and patient sufferer and the end came at the home of his mother, Mrs. M. F. Fewell. The deceased was 37 years old. His sister, Mrs. B. Roper, who had been his constant companion for several years past, was at her brother's bedside when he died.

Women were never intended to be cooks and dishwashers and have been usurpers of men's duties for lo these many years, and the people have been entirely too slow in realizing the fact.
If you doubt the statement and are not willing to concede that men are natural born cooks and dishwashers, you will have an opportunity to have it demonstrated to your entire satisfaction at the men's turkey supper and social next Thursday evening at the St. John's M. E. church. Read the bill of fare in tomorrow's New Mexican.

More snow is predicted tonight but the prognostications of the feathery substance during the past week have materialized only in the shape of light flurries. In Santa Fe the temperature at 6 o'clock this morning was 18 degrees and the lowest during last night 16 degrees. The maximum temperature yesterday was 41 degrees at 2:05
p. m., and the minimum temperature 26 degrees at 7:20 a. m. the mean temperature being 33 degrees and the average relative humidity 61 per cent.

VALUE OF RIGHT BREATHING.

Health Comes From Knowing How and What to Breathe.

Dust laden with the germs of consumption or other disease is inhaled by all who use the streets, but disease is not developed unless the germs find conditions suitable for their lodgment and growth.

With people having catarrh there is an ideal culture medium for these germs, as the irritated membrane and weakened tissues is a hot-bed where germs must thrive and multiply until they are numerous and active.

If you have catarrh, you should use the easiest, simplest and quickest cure, the direct method of Hyomel, whose wonderful medicated air is taken in with the air you breathe, directly following and destroying all germs that have been inhaled, repairing any damage they may have worked and so healing and vitalizing the tissues as to render catarrh and germ infection no longer possible.

The unusual way in which Hyomel is sold should dispel all doubt as to its curative properties, for The Ireland Pharmacy offer to refund the price to anyone whom it fails to benefit. You do not risk a cent in testing the healing virtues of this breathing life, for with every $1 outfit The Ireland Pharmacy gives a guarantee to relieve catarrh or money refunded.

To him and to all who believe that quality is better investment than its counterfeit in buying a wagon, we will show beyond good as right materials, modern appliances in construction, and skilled workmen, who

The Great

Indeed the Studebaker wagon helped to make the West. It has been one of the most efficient aids to the advancement of civilization by making transportation easy for the pioneer. Many of the first men in the West took the Studebaker with them. They are still buying Studebakers, having learned their value by experience. The Stude-before.

Studebakers also make a full line of all

DENVER PAPERS BOOST CONGRESS

Extensive Articles Concerning Forthcoming Meeting at Albuquerque, Appearing Frequently.

W. S. Hopewell of Albuquerque and R. E. Twitchell of Las Vegas, chairman and secretary respectively of the board of control of the forthcoming meeting of the National Irrigation congress, were visitors last week in Denver. They went there for the purpose of attending the cattlemen's convention, and enlisting the support of the delegates in the coming sessions of the irrigation congress.

Messrs. Hopewell and Twitchell received assurances that Colorado will not only send a large number of delegates to the convention but will also be represented with exhibits in the interstate industrial exposition which will be held in connection with the irrigation congress. Denver newspapers have devoted considerable space during the past few days to the irrigation congress. The following relating to the visit of the officers of the board of control to the Queen City of the Plains is clipped from the Denver Post:

"The sixteenth annual session of the National Irrigation Congress and Interstate Industrial exposition to be held at Albuquerque, New Mexico, September 29th to October 10 inclusive will be the greatest of its kind ever held in the west. The leading spirits in the big exposition have been in Denver the last few days, interesting the throngs who have been in attendance at the stock and other conventions and have assurances from all sides that thousands will go from Colorado. They were also assured that this city and state would be extensively represented in the displays.

"Seventeen states and three nations will participate. All of the region under the national reclamation act, which includes the states and territories west of the Missouri river, take part each year. In addition Great Britain will send a representative and exhibit and Mexico will do the same.

"There will be seating capacity for 4,500 delegates in the magnificent new concrete auditorium that is being built by the city of Albuquerque. Each year the average attendance is 2,500 delegates, and on account of the effort put forth this year it will be greatly increased. The territory of New Mexico will spend $100,000 alone for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors to the exposition. It wants the whole nation to see why it is worthy of being admitted to the union. Over 50,000 square feet will be reserved for the industrial exhibit alone.

"The forestry exhibit will cover all of the states represented in the congress and will be in charge of Clifford Pinchot. The northern section of the republic of Mexico will send a large delegation with exhibits.

"Colonel W. S. Hopewell of Albuquerque is chairman of the board of control and R. E. Twitchell is secretary of the congress and industrial exposition. Colonel Hopewell is also president of the statehood league of New Mexico, and is in charge of the movement to have New Mexico admitted to statehood.

"Last year the annual session was held at Sacramento. It has been five years since it was held in Denver.

"Irrigation farm products from every state and territory west of the Missouri river will be exhibited. The Colorado Fuel and Iron company, Victor Fuel company and the American Fuel company will have large exhibits. They are interested because each company has large coal fields in New Mexico. Many bureaus of the department of agriculture will have exhibits, and reports on the reclamation work will be made by engineers who have had charge of the work for years.

"New Mexico now has a population of 400,000, a gain of 100,000 people in three years.

"Frank C. Goudy of Denver is president of the irrigation congress."

The Pure Food Law.

Secretary Wilson says, "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines." The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine, and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. For sale by all druggists.

MINES AND MINING

A clearer view of the mining industry in New Mexico is gained from the two annual reviews published by the Daily New Mexican from the pens of Professor C. R. Keyes and Professor F. A. Jones, than could be had by any other method. The New Mexican herewith presents another mining review for 1907, concise and accurate and written by Professor Reginald V. Smith, of the faculty of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro, written for the Mining and Engineering Journal. He says:

Mining in New Mexico during 1907 included the production of coal, iron, copper, lead, gold, silver, zinc, vanadium, uranium and turquoise. Silica, clay, lime, natural cement and building stone added to the monetary value of the mineral industry. Aluminum, meerschaut and soda are under serious investigation, and will, beyond doubt, soon be added to the list of products of the state. Silica was made into refractory materials for smelting purposes in the territory, and was shipped in manufactured forms; other silica, such as gangue material, went regularly to the Arizona smelters as gangster and flux.

The financial depression affected the territory to some extent but not to so great a degree as some of the other mining sections. This was due largely to the nature of the mineral products, of which coal, iron and gold are most important. There were not seriously affected until the close of the year, so that the partial suspension of copper smelting did not result in much contraction in the value of the year's production. The coal production remained normal, but the demand is expected to fall off at the beginning of 1908. The mines are not laying off men, and many of the coal companies are enlarging their plants and preparing to increase production; during the year the value of coal and coke both materially increased. Iron ore did not decrease in production, and several new fields are being developed and fled upon by local capitalists.

Gold and Copper.
Cyanide treatment for gold was the metallurgical feature of the year in the territory, and promises the greatest returns in the immediate future. Several of the copper smelters were enlarged and new ones built. The growth in copper smelting was to an extent induced by the past high price of the metal, but it was aided by the proof of the existence of many valuable deposits of copper in the central and southern camps.

The drop in the price and the consequent curtailment in production has injured copper mining more than any other branch of the mining industry. Development is being limited to those properties which are fortunate enough to have ores which can be profitably treated at the present prices. There is a general belief among mining men that the spring will see a surprising activity in copper, and holders of property are not allowing assessment work to remain unperformed.

Zinc.
The production of zinc was curtailed materially, owing to the action of the larger mines at Magdalena. The shipments from one of the largest producers was continued until within the last few weeks of the year, but the marketing of zinc from the property of the Tribulation company was stopped as soon as the lease expired and the property came back into the hands of the owners. This was on January first, 1907, and the year was spent in installing machinery and erecting a mill in order to extract more cheaply and prepare the ores for shipment to the new smelter of the company at Canon City, Colorado. Several companies within the territory, however, are shipping zinc to eastern points for treatment, and the character and grade of the ore is such that it is not at all likely that the shipments from Cook's Peak, and from Hanover, as well as from Magdalena, will be interfered with. The mines show reserve ore bodies larger than in 1906 and development work is being systematically carried on.

Metallurgical Improvements.

A number of concentrating mills were installed and orders for machinery for many others were placed. About 20 mills have undergone renovation or enlargement. Electric separation of copper from iron was undertaken on a large scale in one mill. Copper-leaching mills were, in three cases, run experimentally on oxidized ores. Placer mining and dredging on a small scale were practiced and produced about ten per cent of the total gold output. Copper was smelted in several localities and lead smelting in one. About 550 new coke ovens were built and several new coal mines were opened. The new coking-coal mines were, in three cases, opened by the metal mining company owning the coal, so as to secure fuel for its own use.

Railroad construction did not meet the expectations of the beginning of the year, but definite plans for extensions, especially for the transportation of fuel, appear to have been arranged.

The quality and value of the mineral products, so far as figures are at present obtainable, are given in the accompanying table:

Mineral and Metal Production in 1907.

Coal, tons, 2,300,000, $3,225,000; copper, pounds, 7,250,000, $1,655,000; silver, ounces, 450,000, $224,000; iron, tons, 182,000, $600,000; gold, ounces, 14,850, 307,150; lead, pounds, 6,650,000, $304,000; zinc, pounds, 3,260,000, $163,000.

The total mineral production including non-metals, was about $6,850,000.

The major portion of the coal came from Colfax county, which furnished about 35 per cent of the total; San Juan and McKinley counties produced about 50 per cent and Rio Arriba, Santa Fe, Sandoval, Socorro and Lincoln counties 15 per cent. Iron ore was mined at Plerro, in Grant county, and was smelted at Pueblo, Colorado. Zinc was produced in Socorro and Grant counties principally, although three other counties made shipments during the year. Grant county, in the southwestern part of the Territory, led in the production of copper, although this metal was mined in all of the counties in the central and western part of New Mexico. Lead came mostly from the camps of Grant, Socorro, Sierra and Dona Anna counties. Silver is found associated with lead, gold, copper and zinc, but the greater part comes from the mixed ores of Socorro and Grant counties. Gold to the total amount of $307,000, a gain over 1906, came from siliceous ores and also from the mixed ores of the Grant county camps, from the Mogollon, Burro mountains, and from the Hillsboro district in Sierra county. The production of placers was mostly from the counties in the northern part of the territory. Investigations of placers were under way in the southern districts, and in some of these, where conditions are most favorable, active mining is soon to commence. Milling operations for the extraction of gold were mostly cyaniding or aqueous concentration. Pneumatic concentration did not increase, although the mills now operating along this line have been entirely successful.

Turquoise was mined in several localities near the central part of the territory, the production being a little in excess of last year. The Azure company's mines, in the Burro mountains, were re-opened and machinery was being installed at the close of the year preparatory to an active campaign in 1908. This section has been idle for a number of years.

Conditions in New Mexico are rapidly improving, and many strong companies are engaging in iron, coal, copper and gold mining. Irrigation projects are attracting much attention and the growth in this line cannot fail to react on the mining industry.

TEST OIL WELL NEAR ARTESIA SHOT

Forty Quarts of Nitro-Glycerine Blew Stream of Petroleum and Oil 75 Feet into Air.

Artesia, N. M., Jan. 23.—The test oil well southwest of here was shot on Saturday last and the explosion threw oil and water over the derrick, or a little over seventy-five feet high. Forty quarts of nitro-glycerine were used to shoot the oiler. The well has not yet been cased but oil and gas bubbles are coming to the top of the water all the time and there is every indication that the well will yield a good flow of oil. Experienced oil men who are watching operations in this section say that they never saw as good indications of oil and gas before the water was cased out.

ALLEGED SHEEP RUSTLER IN TOILS

Tells Officers Accomplish Threatened to Murder Him if He Did Not Leave the Country.

Roswell, N. M., Jan. 23.—Antonio Terran, a Mexican, who is charged with assisting B. M. Mitchell, a white man, in an alleged theft of four hundred sheep from S. Swargart in Eddy county, was captured yesterday by Deputy Sheriff W. M. Lucas, of Eddy county and Deputy Sheriff O. Z. Finley, of Chaves county, in the hills of Lincoln county near Picacho and was placed in jail here last night. Mitchell was arrested several days ago at Monument and is in jail at Carlsbad. The Mexican alleges that Mitchell wrote him a letter saying he would kill him if he did not leave the country and if he ever testified against him. Mitchell was formerly a prominent sheepman of Eddy county.

The finest coffee substitute ever made, has recently been produced by Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wisconsin. You don't have to boil it twenty or thirty minutes. "Made in a minute," says the doctor. Health Coffee imitation is made from pure toasted cereals or grains, with malt, nuts, etc. Really it would fool an expert—were he to unknowingly drink it for coffee. For sale by Cartwright Davis Co.

Sister Mary Euphrosyn, superior of Loretto Academy at Las Vegas, died in that city on Sunday last. The funeral was held this morning from Loretto chapel in the Meadow City and interment was in the cemetery at Loretto Academy. The deceased stood high in the councils of the Sisters of Loretto and was one of the pioneers in education and the spreading of the Catholic religion in New Mexico. Her first work was at Santa Fe. Later she established the Loretto Academy at Socorro and was the mother superior for twenty-five years. She took charge of the work at Las Vegas in 1904. Probably no woman in New Mexico was better known or more universally beloved than Sister Euphrosyn.

Antonio Gallegos of the town of Las Vegas, was probably fatally stabbed a few nights ago while on his way home. His throat was cut from ear to ear and he also received a deep wound in his left side just below the heart. There is no clue to his assailant.

William M. Berger, of Belen, Valencia county, has been appointed assistant district attorney of the Second judicial district by District Attorney Frank W. Clancy, of Albuquerque. Mr. Berger has filed his appointment, taken the oath of office and entered upon his new duties.

Personal Mention.

A telegram received late this afternoon by General Manager S. B. Grimshaw of the Santa Fe Central railway, stated that Senator Arthur Kennedy, chairman of the board of directors of this road, who is in Albuquerque, had received an urgent message calling him east and that therefore he would not visit Santa Fe tomorrow as he had intended but would return to Pittsburg immediately.

All trains are reported on time this evening.

Mrs. Nora Brumback of 115 Cerrillos street, received a telegram today notifying her of the death of her father at El Dorado, Kansas. The sad intelligence came as a great shock to her as his demise was sudden and unexpected.

The New Mexican is in receipt of a communication from Charles A. Stringo, of the Sunnyslope Ranch, in which the writer states that he has read of alleged objections Congress is said to have to the name New Mexico and he therefore suggests that the new state be called "Montezuma" or "Sunland."

Sesario Salazar, a young and well to do farmer living near Chamita, Rio Arriba county, died Wednesday, January 22nd, at the age of twenty-five years. He leaves a widow and one child. The remains were interred in the Catholic parish cemetery at San Pedro, near Chamita on Thursday January 23rd. The funeral was largely attended as the deceased had many relatives and friends in that section.

Sunday's Denver Rocky Mountain News devotes a page to a history of the expedition of Zebulon Pike to Santa Fe, the article being written by Jerome C. Smiley and illustrated with pictures of Zebulon Pike and John C. Fremont. A very interesting map, showing an overland route into New Mexico via Taos, the Black Mesa and Embudo, accompanies the article. The map illustrates the wanderings of Pike in the Rocky mountains and is labeled: "A chart of the internal part of Louisiana."

A $25 fine was assessed against Agapito Herrera who was found guilty of contempt of court for violating the provisions of a writ of injunction restraining him from trespassing on the Nambe Indian reservation and which case came up for hearing before Judge John R. McFie Saturday. According to the evidence adduced from the testimony of several witnesses Herrera drove on the land on which he was forbidden to trespass and hauled off some poles. The Indians lodged complaint with Judge A. J. Abbott, special attorney for the Pueblo Indians with the result that the contempt proceedings were brought against Herrera. Herrera was given thirty days in which to pay his fine.

Young Men's Chances In the Navy

The U. S. Navy offers young men many advantages seldom found in any calling of civil life. If you enlist as an apprentice seaman you are given a $60 outfit of clothes free, and placed on the pay-roll at $16 per month. After about four months at the training station your pay is raised to $19, and in one year you may receive $24, together with free board, lodging and medical attendance. After that your promotion depends upon your own efforts. In the Navy you can be absolutely certain that good, hard work will bring promotion and increased pay. A capable young man can, within the term of one or two enlistments, rise to the position of Chief Petty Officer with pay of $70 to $80 per month, free of living expenses; and later may try for that of Warrant Officer, with pay of $1200 to $2100 per year. There are, besides, many opportunities to earn extra pay. After thirty years' service he can retire on three-fourths pay and allowances for rations, clothing, quarters, fuel and light. The Navy gives you a free training, pays you while you are learning, and then offers you permanent employment, unaffected by hard times, and with pay comparing favorably with that earned by the average man in civil life.

There are special opportunities and higher pay to start, for those who have a special training, such as machinists, carpenters, electricians, coppersmiths, and stenographers, bookkeepers, stewards, cooks, bakers, etc.

The term of enlistment is four years and the pay is increased on re-enlistment. If interested, apply in person for further information to the appointed to visit territory prior to next meeting of Congress.

"Prospects for admission at next session very favorable. We feel we have made friends for cause of statehood by this action."

While the governor does not state that he has received assurances that an enabling act providing for the admission of New Mexico as a state will be passed at the next session of Congress as was reported in newspaper dispatches from Washington, it is believed he has good grounds on which to base his optimistic views on the subject.

Bond Issue Will Be Approved.
Governor Curry in his message last night to Mr. Jaffa also stated that the acts of the territorial legislature providing for bond issues with which to erect an addition to the capitol building and providing funds for improvements at several of the territorial institutions will be approved, before his departure from Washington.

He said the bill now pending providing for the payment and funding of the bonded indebtedness of Grant and Santa Fe counties would not be taken up until the next session of Congress.
