REFEREE'S REPORT IN SARGENT CASE

Was Filed Today
by Charles L.
Bishop

MUCH TESTIMONY TAKEN

Interesting Suit Involving Contingent Expenses of Territorial Auditor.

Charles L. Bishop as referee in the case of Territorial Auditor William G. Sargent against the territory of New Mexico, filed his report today in the district court of Santa Fe county. Mr. Sargent, it will be remembered, instituted this suit some months ago for the purpose of securing a judicial decision relative to the disposition of contingent expenses of the auditor's office and also to have his account for contingent expenses as auditor of the territory adjudicated.

Attorney A. B. Renahan of this city was retained as counsel for Mr. Sargent while the several attorney generals during the interim have represented the territory. Considerable testimony was taken at various times before Referee Bishop and this evidence reduced to writing is incorporated as a part of the referee's report. The referee's findings are as follows:

The Referee's Report.

In the District Court, Santa Fe County.
William G. Sargent, Auditor, etc. vs.
The Territory of New Mexico.

To the Honorable John R. McFie, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Territory of New Mexico, and Judge of the First Judicial District Court, thereof:

I, the referee and accountant hereinbefore appointed beg to report as follows:

1. Within the provisions of law for the defrayal of the expenses of the auditor's office, for postage, express, printing, blanks and incidentals, the plaintiff, William G. Sargent, properly laid out for the 56th, 57th, and 58th fiscal years, covered by vouchers returned herewith the sum of $332.70.

2. He also properly laid out and expended for said years, but without taking or exhibiting vouchers therefor, sums of money for the purposes indicated, as follows, to-wit:

(a) For clerk hire to M. C. Miller, for three months and sixteen days, at $60.00 per month, in the 56th fiscal year, that is, for December, 1904, and January and February and up to March, 1905, $210.

(b) For stamped envelopes and stamps for the use of the auditor's office in the period of 27 1/2 months, that is to say, from December 1, 1904, to March 16, 1907, at $6 per month, $165.

(c) For ink for the period last mentioned, $6.

(d) For rubber bands for the period last mentioned, $3.

(e) For typewriter ribbons for the period last mentioned, $5.

(f) For muclage and paste for the period last mentioned, $5.

(g) For typewriter paper for the period last mentioned, $35.

(h) For pens, for the period last mentioned, $3.

(i) For pen holders for the period last mentioned, 75c.

(j) For lead pencils for period last mentioned, $1.

(k) For carbon paper for period last mentioned, $10.

(l) For express charges for period last mentioned, $25.

(m) For extra books, for period last mentioned, $5.

(n) For postoffice box rent for period last mentioned, $13.50.

(o) For cash to J. G. McNary, in said period, $7.50.

(p) For repairing typewriter twice in said period, $7.

(q) For two letter files in said period, $1.

(r) For rubber pads for copying books in said period, $6.

3. The total amount thus expended by the plaintiff, as territorial auditor, covered by voucher or testimony, and not involving in my opinion questions of law for determination, was $837.70, and this amount should be allowed to the plaintiff.

4. In the 56th fiscal year, according to the appropriation made by the 35th legislative assembly, the auditor had available a contingent fund of $700, but the 36th legislative assembly in making appropriations for the 57th and 58th fiscal years, ch. 112, p. 314, L. of 1905, enlarged the appropriation for the 56th fiscal year for the auditor's contingent fund to $1,200 and created a fund for the 57th and 58th fiscal years for the contingent expenses of the office under investigation of $1,200 for each of said years. The auditor construed the appropriation of $700 made for the 56th fiscal year by the 35th legislative assembly as being set aside by the said ch. 112 of the L. of 1905, and as substituting in lieu of the said sum of $700 theretofore available the sum of $1,200, which is apparently a proper interpretation.

5. Under the act of the legislative assembly, ch. 112, L. of 1905, the following amounts were got in to the fund; for the 56th fiscal year $1,148.07; for the 57th fiscal year $1,200; and for the 58th fiscal year $328, up to the time that the petition in this case was filed, for since that time no question has arisen upon the pleading or the testimony as to the disbursement of the balance of the fund for the 58th fiscal year, that balance being $872. The plaintiff consequently has to account for $2,676.07.

6. Take from the said sum of $2,676.07 the $837.70, which I find in his favor, and there remains as a charge against the plaintiff for the period of 27 1/2 months in controversy, subject to the determination of the other questions involved the sum of $1,838.37.

7. The plaintiff makes claim for typewriting done by him personally, for the period in question, at the rate of $50 per month, or $1,375.

The monthly charge according to the testimony is reasonable. It is probable that such amount for the services rendered could properly have been paid out of the appropriate contingent fund to a third person employed for the work, but whether it is a proper credit in favor of the plaintiff raises a legal question, which I do not understand to be within my province, and I therefore refer it to the court for decision.

The evidence shows that other officers of the Territory, having similar contingent funds at their disposal, employed stenographers and typewriters and others, on occasion, to render services similar to those which the plaintiff in this case did for himself, and paid the wages or compensation of the persons thus employed out of the contingent funds provided for their offices.

But whether the course of conduct of other territorial officers in like cases is a factor to be relied on by the plaintiff is a matter for judicial adjudication.

8. The plaintiff claims for compiling the auditor's report to the 36th legislative assembly for the years 1903 and 1904, the sum of $200.

Under Section 2591, C. L. 1897, it is the duty of the auditor of public accounts to "report to the legislative assembly at the commencement of each regular session a full and detailed statement of the revenues and expenditures for the preceding year," but the custom seems to have grown up for the auditor to cover in such report the two previous years, although the warrant of the statute does not go so far. Thus the work so done by the plaintiff was not strictly incumbent upon him, unless it may be said that by acquiescence the legislature authorized or permitted it. Hence another legal question arises for the court's consideration rather than for mine.

The same position obtains with reference to the compensation claimed for a like report to the 37th legislative assembly for the years 1905 and 1906, two separate items, at $80 each, in the sum total of $160. This is another matter of law for the court to resolve.

9. The plaintiff claims compensation for compiling the auditor's report to the governor for the years 1905 and 1906, two separate items, at $80 each, in the sum total of $160. This is another matter of law for the court to resolve.

10. In order to aid the court in reaching a conclusion, I desire to analyze the evidence briefly. It would seem from the evidence, as a general proposition, that other officers having contingent funds similar to that in question treated them, with some exceptions, as personal appropriations or donations, subject to the resting up on the officers of providing therefrom, for their respective offices, such supplies, making such outlays and meeting such contingencies as the law apparently contemplated, and holding the residue, if any, to the use of the officer. It is the theory of the plaintiff's case that the construction which departmental officers put upon the statute, with the interpretation of which they are charged, is effective in determining the meaning and purpose of the statute—a conclusion, however, with which I have nothing to do. The evidence shows that it was the plaintiff's understanding that, in this matter, his right to whatever remained after he met the necessary contingent expenses of his office was clearly disclosed, in the following manners: First, by the fact that for each the 56th and 58th fiscal years there was appropriated for the contingent expenses of the auditor's office only the sum of $700, out of which it was required that the officer should publish quarterly reports of the business and state of his office, yet, for each the 56th, 57th and 58th fiscal years, for the contingent expenses of said office $1,200 were appropriated by the 36th Legislative Assembly, and the requirement to publish quarterly reports is eliminated; second, by the testimony of members of the legislative council year by the 35th legislative assembly as being set aside by the said ch. 112 of the L. of 1905, and as substituting in lieu of the said sum of $700 theretofore available the sum of $1,200, which is apparently a proper interpretation.

INNOCENT MAN CONDEMNED TO DIE

Confession of Chief Witness May
Save Him

MADE TO SWEAR FALSELY

Chicago Stirred by Sensational Disclosures Implicating Police.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Jerry M. Vzral, an eighteen-year-old boy, whose testimony more than anything else served to convict a Bohemian fortune teller, Herman Billik, of the murder of six members of the Vzral family, has, it is announced today, recanted and in an affidavit declares his testimony was simply perjury. The boy declares that two of his relatives also lied. He further states that the vital part of his testimony against Billik was taught him by a high police official and an assistant state's attorney. He says the police threatened him with the charge of the murders unless he did as directed.

The confession was obtained through the efforts of Rev. P. J. O'Callaghan, head of the Paulist Fathers of this city, who had been interested in the case by Sister Rose of the Columbus hospital, who had become convinced of Billik's innocence.

Billik is now under sentence to be hanged on March 20th and his sentence has been confirmed by the supreme court.

CHEYENNE INTERESTED IN COMING CONGRESS

Secretary Twitchell Invited to Wyoming to Tell of Plans for Big Convention.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Feb. 22.—James T. Burns, secretary of the Cheyenne Industrial club, is in receipt of a letter from Colonel W. S. Hopewell, chairman of the board of control of the National Irrigation Congress, which states that R. E. Twitchell, secretary of the board, will soon visit Denver to consult with the officers of the congress and with the commercial bodies of Colorado regarding the meeting of the irrigators next September at Albuquerque, New Mexico.

The Cheyenne Industrial club has invited Secretary Twitchell to come to this city and tell the club of the plans for the congress. There is a particular interest at thus uniting the interests of Cheyenne and Albuquerque as the representatives of the two most powerful movements for western development will hold their next meetings in these cities. The National Irrigation Congress will meet in Albuquerque and the Trans-Missouri Dry Farming Congress will meet in Cheyenne. The two organizations are working for the same object—the occupation of every possible acre of farming land and the growth of every western state. Therefore the Cheyenne Industrial club desires to offer any possible assistance to Albuquerque at the time of the irrigation congress, and it is for this reason that Secretary Twitchell has been invited here.

DEATH CLAIMS PIONEER JURIST

First Judge of Territory of Montana, Appointed by President Lincoln, Dead.

Butte, Mont., Feb. 22.—Judge Lyman E. Munson, whose death at New Haven, Connecticut, is announced, presided at the first legal trial ever held in the territory of Montana and was one of the pioneers of the state. He was appointed United States associate justice of Montana by President Lincoln in 1865. The first sight that greeted his eyes upon his arrival at Helena was the body of a man dangling from a tree, the limbs of which had previously been utilized to lynch eight other men. The jurist announced henceforth that secret trials and hangings must cease. His decree aroused great prejudice.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED NATIONAL BOWLING CONTEST

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 22.—The prize list of the winners in the five-men teams that participated in the American Bowling Congress just closed here, was made up last night and checks were mailed to the successful teams today. The Bonds of Columbus, Ohio, won the first prize with a score of 2,927 and received $850. The Tossettis team, of Chicago, finished second with 2,886 and received $700. Blue ribbons were awarded Erie, Pennsylvania, which was third with a score of 2,851.

PROMINENT MEN WILL BE SPEAKERS

At Session of National Irrigation Congress

WILL BE NOTABLE GATHERING

Vice-President Fairbanks and Members of Cabinet
Will Attend.

Albuquerque will have many distinguished guests within its gates among the thousand and more delegates who will attend the sixteenth national irrigation congress which will be held there from September 29 to October 3. Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks has accepted an invitation to deliver an address at the gathering, as have also three members of the President's cabinet, together with a number of irrigation experts, Senators, Congressmen and officials of the U. S. Reclamation Service, U. S. Geological Survey, general land office and Bureau of Forestry.

The Duke City through the members of the board of control is making elaborate preparations for the convention which in all probability will be the largest of its kind yet held and doubtless the most important civic event in the history of New Mexico. New Mexico generally is coming to the assistance of Albuquerque realizing that it will prove a telling factor in the upbuilding of the territory. The Interstate Industrial Exposition which will be held in connection with the irrigation congress will give New Mexico a chance to show to the world its large variety of products. The exposition in reality will not be overshadowed in importance by the big convention. Exhibits will not be confined to products of irrigation but the displays will include a variety of different things and will be a veritable world's fair on a small scale.

Variety of Exhibits.

Officials of the federal government have taken a deep interest in these annual irrigation congresses since their inception fifteen years ago and it is more than likely that there will be exhibits from all of the departments of the government. The Department of the Interior and the Department of Agriculture will in particular have elaborate displays. It is stated that the exhibit of the forestry bureau will be something never seen outside of the world's fair at Chicago and in St. Louis.

New Mexico has much at stake in the coming irrigation congress and industrial exposition. In addition to the valuable advertising it will receive to attract immigrants and investors, it will convince the country at large that the territory is entitled to statehood. Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia will probably be one of the distinguished visitors to the Duke City during the convention and E. H. Harriman and J. J. Hill two of the most prominent railroad magnates of the country, may also be in attendance. Mr. Harriman was present at the session last year in Sacramento. E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, will also probably be present and if so will deliver an address.

The following is a list of the distinguished guests who have already accepted invitations to speak during the sessions of the coming irrigation congress:

Some Who Are Coming.

Charles Warren Fairbanks, vice-president of the United States.
James Wilson, secretary of agriculture.

James Rudolph Garfield, secretary of the Interior.

LIEU LANDS BILL PASSES THE HOUSE

Important Measure Now Goes to Senate—Bill to Create New Land District.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, Feb. 22.—The bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Delegate W. H. Andrews and which provides for the selection of lieu lands by the territory of New Mexico to replace lands heretofore donated to the territory for the maintenance and support of territorial educational and charitable institutions where such are covered by reserves or are already apportioned, passed the House this morning and will go to the Senate next week. There is no doubt of its adoption by that body and of its becoming law. Its provisions are very favorable and will prove of great benefit as the territorial land board will then have authority to select lieu lands from the public domain wherever available and wherever deemed best.

The bill introduced in the House by Delegate Andrews for the creation of a new land district with Tucumcari as the location of the land office, has been favorably reported by the committee on public lands of the House and will pass that body at an early date.

ROBBERS ATTEMPT TO WRECK TRAIN

Night Express on Missouri Pacific Carrying Large Sum of Money Saved By Extra Freight.

Sedalia, Mo., Feb. 22.—An attempt to derail an east bound fast passenger train on the Missouri Pacific railroad evidently for the purpose of robbery was made at Ottumville, twenty miles east of here at midnight, a rail having been removed. An extra freight from St. Louis was the first train to reach the place and was wrecked, three trainmen being seriously injured. The train which the wreckers apparently wished to stop left Kansas City for St. Louis at 9:10 o'clock last night. It was known to carry a considerable sum of money.

OKLAHOMA DEMOS SOLID FOR BRYAN

Endorse Nebraskan For Presidency and Instruct Delegates to Vote For Him.

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 22.—When the first state Democratic convention of Oklahoma to name delegates to the national convention met here this morning, it was a foregone conclusion that William Jennings Bryan would be endorsed for president and that the platform adopted would favor tariff reform, suppression of the trusts and government control of railroads. The congressional conventions to select delegates to the Denver convention were also held during the day.

FEARFUL DEED OF ENRAGED HUSBAND

Because His Wife Objected to His Scolding Children, Farmer Shoots
Her and Then Suicides.

Hotchkiss, Colo., Feb. 22.—Insane with rage because his wife objected to his scolding one of their children, M. U. Stoneburner, a farmer, aged 41 years, last night shot and perhaps fatally wounded his wife and then committed suicide in the presence of his six children who were seated at the supper table.

RECORD BREAKING DEPOSITS IN CHICAGO NATIONAL BANKS

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The deposits in the national banks of Chicago are now the largest in their history. At the beginning of business on February 15 they were $345,051,824. The last previous high mark was made May 20, 1907, when the total was $340,496,702.

CHICAGO HONORS WASHINGTON

Anniversary of His Birth Fittingly Observed

ADDRESS BY GOV. HUGHES

New York Executive Discourses on Live Topics of the Day

Chicago, Feb. 22.—The celebration of the one hundred and seventy-sixth anniversary of the birth of Geo. Washington in this city today was more elaborate than that of any previous celebration of his birthday. Governor Hughes of New York delivered a notable address at the Union League club this forenoon. He said in part:

Address By Governor Hughes.

"The country is morally sound. Its standards of business were never higher. The business men of the country are for the most part honest men representing fairly the moral standards of the people, and never more than today have they taken as a whole the earnestly desired stand that abuses shall be stopped, that an end shall be put to corrupt dealings and unfair practices; that gambling shall not parade in business livery and that American industry and trade shall have free scope for development and extension along lines of honorable rivalry and with justice to stockholders, to employees and to the people at large. The pessimists and cynics cannot develop a country. We must have confidence in the stability of our institutions in the sanity of the people and in the realization of what underlies our prosperity. We have only begun to develop the commerce of this country. This is no time for halting but for an appreciation of American opportunity."

Socialism is Not Desired.

Governor Hughes said the people of this country do not desire socialism even as an experiment, but that government policy should be consistent with constitutional limitations and the distribution of powers. The special interests must keep hands off the government in city, state and nation. Public rights in forests, lands, mines and water powers must be safeguarded and protected and there should be an effective supervision of the railroads.

Favors National University.

An address was also made by President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, of the University of California, who devoted his remarks to the desirability of establishing a national university at Washington, in accordance with the expressed wish of George Washington.

Choate Pays Washington High Tribute

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 22.—"Washington Abroad and at Home," was the subject of a brilliant oration by Joseph H. Choate today at the University of Pennsylvania exercises in celebration of Washington's birthday. He said if it had been put to a vote at the last Hague Conference to which he was a delegate, to say who was the noblest character in modern history, he was sure with one voice they would have selected George Washington. He said there was no cause for apprehension of trouble between the United States and Japan.

Senate Observes Holiday.

Washington, Feb. 22.—In the presence of many Senators and a large gathering in the galleries Senator Porter J. McCumber of North Dakota today read the farewell address of George Washington, receiving very close attention. The House took no formal notice of the day but it formed the subject of Chaplain Coudan's prayer.

MEXICO PLANS FINANCIAL REFORMS

Sister Republic Proposes to Profit From Recent Panic in United States.

Mexico City, Feb. 22.—Mexico is on the eve of a great financial reform. Jose Yves Limantour, minister of finance, after negotiating for weeks with leading men of the republic, has issued a call for a conference with the leading banking men to devise ways and means for a reform of the public credit system. The invitation refers to the difficulties resulting from the recent financial crisis in the United States, scores certain bank directors for their employment of the surplus funds in years of great prosperity and taking the initiative in certain lines of business which naturally does not belong to the sphere of banks, and declares that better regulations regarding assets and liabilities and long time loans are needed.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

"Where may the weary eye repose, When gazing on the Great;
Where neither guilty glory glows,
Nor despicable state?
Yes—one—the first—the last—the best
The Cincinnatus of the West, Whom envy dare not hate Bequeath the name of Washington,
To make man blush there was but one."
BYRON.

How true and beautiful those lines are. The world has produced many great conquerors, whose names are written in blood on the pages of history; men of mighty genius like Caesar, Alexander, Pompey and Napoleon, who combined in themselves the qualities of general and statesman, but while we concede all that is claimed for them, it must be admitted that for true grandeur of character, purity of life, single-minded disinterestedness and true abnegation of self, Washington stands head and shoulders above them all. The saying that "He who conquers himself is a greater man than he who conquers cities," was truly verified by Washington, when, after having established the republic by his glorious victories over Great Britain, he rose above all his ambitions and refused a crown that was tendered him by his admiring soldiers. The New Mexican takes great pleasure in presenting his reply to Colonel Nicola through whom the offer was made. Here it is:

"Sir: With a mixture of great surprise and astonishment I have read with attention the sentiments you have submitted to my perusal. Be assured, Sir, no occurrence in the course of this war has given me more painful sensations than your information of there being such ideas existing in the army as you have expressed and which I must view with abhorrence and reprehend with severity. For the present the communication of them will rest in my own bosom unless some further agitation of the matter shall make disclosure necessary. I am at a loss to conceive what part of my conduct could have given encouragement to an address which seems to me big with the greatest mischiefs that can befall my country. If I am not deceived in the knowledge of myself, you could not have found a person to whom your schemes are more disagreeable. * * * Let me conjure you, then, if you have any regard for your country, concern for yourself or posterity, or respect for me, to banish these thoughts from your mind, and never communicate, as from yourself or any one else, a sentiment of the like nature. I am etc., etc."

While celebrating the birthday of the Father of his Country, it may be well to correct a mistake that seems to prevail among the people and that is that the first Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by President Lincoln. The fact is that the first was issued by President Washington in January, 1795. The entire document is before the writer but it is too long to reproduce here, but perhaps on some future occasion the pleasure of reading it will be given to the readers of the New Mexican.

A WORD TO THE COLORED MEN.

It seems that there are politicians and newspapers who are attempting to make capital out of the Brownsville incident and who, building upon that are attempting to rally the colored voters of the United States not only against the support of the candidacy for the presidency of Secretary of War Taft but also to vote against him thereafter in the election should the secretary be nominated because he stands for Roosevelt ideas and administrative policies. Were the colored voters of the country to accept these views and listen to the siren song and newspaper folderol of the papers controlled by the opposition to Secretary of War Taft and were Democratic success in the next coming national election to come about the colored voters would find themselves in a very tough fix.

The Pittsburg Gazette-Times for instance editorially shows up the way in which the "colored man and brother" is being treated in the sovereign state of Maryland and Democratic success this fall would mean more treatment of the same kind in other states south of the Mason and Dixon line and where today the colored man enjoys a fair degree of liberty. Says the Gazette-Times:

"While the suffrage amendment to the Maryland constitution, which has been approved by a joint caucus of the Democrats of the legislature, is in form like that of similar provisions of states further south, an American imitation of the ancestor worship of China, it is admitted with refreshing frankness that in spirit it is nothing of the kind, but a device such as that employed in other southern states to keep negroes from voting—or, as Senator Gorman, the son of his late father puts it, to make conditions in Maryland harmonize with the principles of Democracy. 'The principle of Democracy,' he said, in addressing the Democratic joint legislative caucus, 'is that every white man should be entitled to vote and that the white men should rule the state.' Which, by the way, is what they are doing and have been doing right along, regardless of the legal right of a negro to vote.

"The action of the Maryland Democratic caucus virtually settles the matter, so far as the legislature is concerned. In the last state campaign a suffrage amendment was made an issue and the Democrats attribute their majority to advocacy of it. The leaders in the legislature assume that there is a mandate from the people and their view seems to be accepted by the rank and file. After the measure has passed the legislature it must be submitted to a vote of the people, and then it will appear whether there is a majority for it. It may pass, however, without having a clear majority of voters in its favor, as it is assured in advance that the pathway to all voting places under control of the Democrats will be a thorny or even dangerous one for the negro who attempts to travel it."

THE PRESERVATION OF THE FORESTS.

As time goes on and the news of fearful destruction of property of all kinds of large values is becoming more numerous daily, the question of the planting of new forests and the preservation of existing forests becomes of the greatest importance. Thousands of years' experience has proven conclusively that the only practical way in which to put a stop to and curb the great freshets and powerful overflows of streams that are so destructive to agriculture and to all kinds of real and personal property is the clothing of watersheds, especially in the mountainous regions where nineteen-twentieths of the streams have their origin, with forests and timber.

Recent news dispatches tell awful tales of destruction by floods in western New York, western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, southern Illinois, Missouri and the states along the lower Mississippi river. It is certainly becoming very apparent to the casual observer that the policy of forest preservation and the saving and extension of forests by the national government as it is practiced under the Roosevelt administration was commenced not a minute too soon and not too early for the good of the so-called arid states and territories where there are now many national forests for the preservation and growth of timber. The St. Louis Times discusses this momentous affair properly and at the right time when it says that the season of floods will bring fresh evidence that forest preservation and restoration on a large scale soon must be undertaken by the national government. The stripped Alleghenies are letting the late winter and spring rains into the Ohio and its tributaries in one mighty rush, with destruction to property that cannot well be estimated, for the least of it is visible. The great loss is that which follows the washing down to the sea of the top soil. The Mississippi and Missouri valleys have already suffered in the same way, and as the west is further denuded the disaster will grow. Forests retain the rainfall, preserve the soil and avert the shock that comes from floods. Supporting proof is found in any stripped hill country in any part of the world.

The Albuquerque morning yellow sheet is making a pretty good thing out of publishing not only the proceedings of the board of county commissioners and delinquent tax lists of Bernalillo county at its own figures, but also in receiving handsome sums from a few slanderers and backbiters in Santa Fe. It is therefore no wonder that the sheet ardently supports the tax dodging ring in its own city and county and the tax dodging ring in this city and county.

SOWING THE SEED AND THE HARVEST.

The New Mexican's editorial office is daily in receipt of letters requesting information concerning this city, county and territory. There is scarcely a day when these do not number half a dozen and on many days they figure up a dozen. These inquiries are carefully and promptly answered at the expense of the New Mexican. The results have been very beneficial and are still so. Many people have come to locate here or in the southern part of this county and in other sections of New Mexico because of the information given them and printed matter descriptive of the territory sent them from the editorial office of this paper. This entails a good deal of labor and a good deal of cost. But the New Mexican gladly assumes both because of the good it is doing.

A few days ago a letter was received from E. S. Garvin of Estancia, in which he requested some information concerning his landed interests in the Estancia valley and in which the following sentences appear:

"While secretary of the bureau of Immigration you were kind enough to send me some literature on New Mexico through which I was induced to locate here in search of health. I weighed 97 pounds then and now weigh 140 pounds. I came here from Kentucky. Since coming here I have with your assistance induced fifty-seven Kentucky families to do likewise and all are highly pleased with the Sunshine Territory."

This speaks for itself and can be easily verified as Mr. Garvin will doubtless answer any inquiries which may be made of him in a decent way. During the past ten months although the bureau of Immigration was moved from this city to Albuquerque for political purposes and to gratify personal animosity and envy, the editorial office of the New Mexican has continued this work in supplying written and printed information concerning the territory in general and this county in particular to hundreds of applicants.

There is not a day in the week that good, telling and substantial work in the above direction is not the order, excepting Sundays, and that day's mail is attended to the following Monday. In addition sample copies of the different publications of the New Mexican Printing company are mailed to inquirers especially when they contain special feature stories on historical, ethnological, climatological and archaeological subjects. The New Mexican gives these few points that the people might know and to call attention to the fact that the New Mexican is always up and doing for the benefit of the community and for the advancement of its every interest. It leaves the yellow journalism tricks to those of its contemporaries that like them and wallow in them, and is doing its level best to counteract and undo the mischief and harm which a few slysters, tax dodgers and corporations in this city are doing.

THE BURIAL OF JOSE LEON MADRIL.

The body of Jose Leon Madril, county commissioner of this county, who died here a few days ago of Bright's disease, was consigned to its last resting place today in Galisteo. It is believed by those who are acquainted with his case that his death was hastened by excitement and mental distress which he experienced when the suit to oust him from the office to which he had been honestly and fairly elected was filed against him in which suit the fact that as a boy he had committed larceny, had been found guilty and sentenced to ten months in the county jail but had never been regularly pardoned was brought out and set up as a cause of ineligibility to hold the office.

The case is a sad and deplorable one, as the deceased had for nearly three decades lived an upright and straightforward life as a good citizen, kind father and loving husband, and had acted for those many years becomingly and properly in every phase of his life. The case that was brought against him was not and could not have been brought for the public good. The people had long ago condoned the offense committed as an unthinking boy and this was fully demonstrated by his popularity, and the many friendships he enjoyed and by his election.

Had he lived and had the judgment of posterity against him been carried into effect as said above no one would have been benefited but personal malice and political hatred by his enemies would have been satisfied. His death is mourned by his family, by his many relatives and by a great number of friends throughout the county.

The tide is turning Tartarward right along. It now looks as if the portly and big brained secretary of war will have the strong support from the New England states in the coming national Republican convention to be held at Chicago. It would not be very well for the secretary were he to grow any bigger physically but he is certainly growing in securing delegates favorable to his nomination as the Republican candidate for the presidency.

The New Mexican Printing company is prepared to do the best of brief work in short order and at very reasonable rates. Lawyers who desire to have their briefs printed rapidly and correctly and to present them to the Supreme Court, should call on the New Mexican Printing company.

GRAND CANYON OF ARIZONA
WONDROUS REGION OF ENCHANTMENT

(By John L. Cowan.)

Some of the most brilliant and gifted writers of America have tried to describe the Grand Canyon of Arizona, and have been compelled to acknowledge their inability to find words at all adequate to their theme. It has been photographed from a thousand viewpoints and great artists have attempted to transfer its lights and shades and matchless coloring to their canvases; but photographers and painters are fain to own that the miscroscopic work of brush and camera bears a little resemblance to the mighty original as a bucket of salt water bears to the boundless ocean.
There is but one way of forming any conception of this wonderland in the southwestern desert. That is to visit and see it for yourself. Even then one can form but a poor and inadequate idea—for one might wander for a lifetime through labyrinthine gorges and toll over lowering peaks and still not behold the half of its wonders. Travelers who have girdled the world and traversed the length of the Andes and Himalayas agree in pronouncing this the most sublime and awe-inspiring spectacle that nature has to offer. Many have professed themselves disappointed with their first view of the Rockies, the Alps, Niagara, the Yellowstone, the Yosemite and almost every other famous scenic feature that lures the sightseer. No one has ever been heard to profess disappointment with the Grand Canyon. No one's expectations have ever been keyed so high that they were not far surpassed by the reality. Granting the impossibility of describing the Grand Canyon, it may yet be possible to give a few comparisons and figures that will convey a faint conception of its immensity. With its numerous laterals and side canyons, its length probably exceeds 1,000 miles. The segment commonly referred to when the words Grand Canyon are used, with a depth of more than a mile to the level of the river, is more than 200 miles long. The vertical distance from the rim to the river in many places exceeds 6,000 feet. It is estimated that if all the earth and rock that has been and will be excavated for the digging of the Panama canal, from the inception of that enterprise by the French company to its ultimate completion years hence to sea level by the American government, could be dumped into the great gorge in the Arizona plateau it would require more than 20,000 times as much more to fill it; and that the land reclaimed by the filling in process would have a surface area of more than 16,000 square miles—equal to the whole of Switzerland, or to the states of Massachusetts, Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island combined. If it were possible to take the whole range of the Allegheny mountains, turn them upside down, and dump them into the Grand Canon, there would still be a giant canyon left unaltered. If the tallest peak east of the Rockies could be planted on the level of the Colorado river, its summit would still be far below the feet of the observer standing on the rim. The hat of William Penn on the statue surmounting the city hall at Philadelphia is 517 feet above the curbstone and the dome of the Masonic Temple in Chicago is 354 feet higher than the level of State street; but if it were possible to take seven Philadelphia city halls and seven Chicago Masonic temples, pile them one on top of the other, and plant them in the Grand Canon, the structure would still fall to reach the rim. The tower of the new Singer building in New York is 594 feet high and the Washington monument is 555 feet high, but the Washington monument placed on top of the tower of the Singer building would reach less than one-fifth of the distance from the bottom to the top of the world's greatest canyon. The tower of Babel—the mightiest structure that human hands have ever reared—is said to have been 600 feet in height. Had it been built at the bottom of the Grand Canyon, it would have extended but a tenth of the distance to the top. In comparison with this, the Grand Canon of the Arkansas, the Grand Canon of the Grand, the Black Canon of the Gunnison, the canons of the Yellowstone and Yose-mita, and all other famous canons of both the Old World and the New,
are mere significant ditches.

Portrays the Might of Erosive Forces.

Ordinarily the idea of a canyon is associated with the mountains, but mountains have nothing to do with the formation of the Grand Canyon. It boasts of plenty of mountains—but they are contained within it, instead of it being bounded by them. It has been chiseled by the resistless waters of the Colorado river through the level plateau—the most instructive exemplification of the might of the erosive forces of nature known. Here the geologist may study successive rock strata like the leaves of an open book, and may see how the very foundations of the world were laid.

Most visitors now reach the Canyon by way of the Grand Canyon railroad, a spur of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, extending from Williams, Arizona, almost to its brink, 63 miles north. This little branch line lies a part of the way across a desert of "mal pais," or hard, black lava. The rest of the way it runs through a forest of pines and cedars—included in the great Grand Canyon national forest. The expectant eye scans the horizon in vain for any hint of the tremendous gorge that lies ahead until it suddenly breaks upon the astonished vision almost at one's feet. It is not a mere vacant cleft in the plateau, as preconceived ideas concerning canyons may lead one to expect. A whole underworld is suddenly unfolded, bounded by a sheer wall many miles away, and crowded with strange and fantastic mountains, some of which look like mere mounds, while others are almost or quite as high as the point upon which the spectator stands. Thin lines and patches of green mark shelves and ledges on the precipitous mountains that spring from the bottom of the gorge to a height of 5,000 or 6,000 feet.

Some mistake these for grass, and others for shrubbery, but few guess that they are composed of tall forest trees.

Nineteen Miles Across Chasm.

The distance from the south to the north wall of the canyon at the railroad terminus, is 13 miles in an air line. At other points it varies from ten to twenty miles. From the rim to the river (here not visible) the vertical drop is about 6,000 feet. If one jumped off the rim, his body would fall 2,000 feet before encountering any obstacle to its downward progress.
Then there is a wide, shelving plateau and then another steep drop almost to the river's level.

Up and down the great canyon are strange, castellated mountains, carved by the waters as the river ate its way through the rock to its present narrow bed. It requires no stretch of imagination to see in these the forms of giant battlements, towers, minarets, pagodas, temples and cathedrals. The illusion of the titanic architectural forms is heightened by the wondrous coloring. The canyon walls and the intramural mountains are banded with rose, red, orange, salmon, white and gray—all harmoniously blended by the all-pervasive, Indian-summer haze so familiar to all who have visited the arid Southwest. Every hour the scene changes with the shifting lights and shadows. Points that appeared dimly on the opposite wall suddenly loom out clear and distinct as isolated peaks and other peaks that had been viewed as fixed and unchanging landmarks fade imperceptibly from view, lose their individuality, and appear but an integral part of the distant wall. One need not move an inch to see a score of new canyons, for the shifting lights and shadows change the scene with the circling sun, with the passing of fleecy clouds.

The most unsatisfactory time of all to view the canyon is at noon, when the glaring, vertical rays of the sun blot out the mellow half-tones and dispel the shadows. The most inspiring time is from the first glimmer of dawn until sunrise, when the growing light first unfolds the misty panorama; followed by the golden rays that spring from peak to peak and from headland to headland, until one is almost cheated into the belief that he beholds a world in the making. Hardly less en-thrancing is the spectacle from sunset until darkness, when the yellow rays successively fade from each bold dome and turret, and darkness seems to rise visibly from the depths; then comes the mellow afterglow that gilds the giant chasm with ethereal glory; and then the final triumph of the shadows, when the ruddy towers and minarets turn gray and fade into nothingness, and a profound abyss of blackness yawns below. When the moon rises, the shadows are but half dispelled, the far off wall is hardly visible, and one seems to stand upon the edge of the world, with chaos below—a region of ghost-mountains, without bases, floating precariously among mists and vapors.

Several Trails Leading Down to River

There are several trails, many miles apart, leading down to the river. The one most commonly traveled—because it is close to the terminus of the railroad—is known as Bright Angel trail.
It is one of the monuments left by the indefatigable Bucky O'Neil, the first of the Rough Riders to fall in the war with Spain, who surveyed and built it.
From the top to the bottom and back again constitutes a hard day's journey, whether made afoot or on mule back, although the distance is only 14 miles. Nevertheless, no one who has ever made the trip would willingly surrender his recollection of the experience. As one descends from the plateau to the river, he passes from the cold temperate to the sub-tropical zone, experiencing a great climatic change as is involved in a trip from New York to Key West. If the view from the rim of the canyon is awe-inspiring, from the bottom of it is almost overpowering. The turgid steam that looks like a narrow ribbon form Rowe's Point is seen to be a mighty river, fretting and boiling at the bottom of a dark, granite gorge from which rise lofty, rose-tinted mountains, with the looming canyon wall on either side. There is a saying that whoever drinks of the waters of the Colorado, however far he may wander will return to drink again before he dies. Perhaps the proverb had its origin in the fact that few ever visit the Grand Canyon without experiencing a

These truly are not the waters of Letha, that bring forgetfulness, for those who drink here can never forget.

With one of the great rivers of America but little more than a mile away, it seems curious that the hotels on the rim of the Grand Canyon, at the head of Bright Angel Trail, are supplied with water hauled in great tank cars from Williams, 63 miles distant. It is a forcible illustration of the fact that in matters of transportation distance is sometimes of much less moment than direction. To pump the waters of the river a vertical distance of more than a mile is impractical; and to pack the great quantities needed up Bright Angel Trail, through its vertiginous seven miles of length on mule back, is even more so. Consequently a great reservoir has been

Many Sleepless Nights, Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayner, editor of the Burley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results.
In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was indeed marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Save Money by Buying Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

You will pay just as much for a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as for any of the other cough medicines, but you save money in buying it. The saving is in what you get, not what you pay. The sure-cure quality is in every bottle of this remedy, and you get good results when you take it. Neglected colds often develop serious conditions, and when you buy a cough medicine you want to be sure you are getting one that will cure your cold.
Chamberlain's Cough Remedy always cures. Price 25 and 50 cents. For sale by all druggists.

Some twenty-five couples tripped the light fantastic to the music of Dignee's orchestra at the informal dance given at the Woman's Board of Trade hall last night by members of the South Side Whist club. WHY DID YOU COME WEST?

To rest, recuperate, hunt, fish, breathe fresh, pure air, see mountain scenery, get a change, live a new and fascinating life under new conditions, and get food that needs no pure food law.

That's why you came west!

There is a beautiful little valley that nestles between the highest mountains of the Rockies on the upper Pecos river; ideal altitude, 7,000 feet, and temperature identical with Santa Fe. Its streams swarm with trout and the woods and ranges are filled with game large and small. The ranchers live the life of the west. There are mountain lion, bears, deer, and wolves for the hunter. There are saddle ponies to be had for the asking, rooms in a big rambling ranch house with wide verandas, tent rooms or a cabin if you want it. The days are never dull. You see a great ranch and the genuine western life. Fresh milk, butter and eggs—all you can drink and eat. Sleep in blankets at night—fish in your shirt sleeves during the day. You couldn't spend more than $9 a week if you tried. Its the place you are looking for. Accommodations for both men and women.

To him and to all who believe that quality a doubt that the STUDEBAKER is as good as right materials, modern appliances in construction, and skilled workmen, who "Know How", can make it.

has been made since the first Studebaker wagon was made.
Indeed the Studebaker wagon helped to make the West. It has been one of the most efficient aids to the advancement of civilization by making transportation easy for the pioneer. Many of the first men in the West took the Studebaker with them. They are still buying Studebakers, having learned their value by experience. The Stude-before.

Studebakers also make a full line of all

INDUSTRIAL CONVENTION

To Be Held By Colorado Real Estate Exchange Next Month—To Advise Resources of Southwest

An industrial convention for the purpose of thoroughly advertising the resources and advantages of the great Southwest has been called to meet in Colorado Springs, Colorado on March the 20th and 21st. The object is more particularly set forth in the appended invitation to the editor of the New Mexican to attend the meeting and deliver an address upon some industrial topic.

Similar invitations have been sent to other citizens and editors of newspapers in the Southwest and judging from the work that is now being done the convention will be well attended and its deliberations will prove of value especially to Colorado and New Mexico. The invitation reads:

"Colorado Springs, Col. Feb. 18, 1908
"Hon. Max Frost,

In order to bring out as much enlightenment as may be on the industrial advantages, conditions and climate of this section, you, among others, are respectfully requested to lend your presence upon that occasion and address the convention upon some industrial topic of your own selection.

MORIARTY ITEMS

(Special Correspondence of the New Mexican.)

Moriarty, N. M., Feb. 22.—J. C. Moore, of Durango, Colorado, en route to Phoenix, Arizona, and Fresno, California, stopped off at Moriarty to view the country. He is looking up a location for his four sons and was favorably impressed with the Estancia valley.

Joseph Stewart has started to burn lime on his property about four miles east of here. He operates two kilns and is making an excellent grade of white lime. Without doubt Moriarty is going to supply the Estancia valley with lime in the future.

W. E. Bagley of the New Oklahoma Bar, has been greatly delayed through the fact that his fixtures which had been shipped from Perry, Oklahoma, arrived badly damaged, with all the expensive glassware broken. He is now having his bar made locally and will be ready for business soon.

Mead and Seltz, owners of lumber yards at Moriarty, Stanley and McIntosh are stocking up in their local yard at the rate of four to six car loads of lumber daily. Lumber is moving to the country rapidly and a heavy spring trade is expected.

George Richardson of Pine Bluffs, Arkansas, a former operator for the Cotton Belt at that point, has arrived here with his wife. He is in search of health and expects to locate on a claim near Moriarty.

J. B. Hayward of the insurance and real estate firm of Hayward and Flemming went to Santa Fe the first of the week to meet his mother who arrived from Spirit Lake, Iowa, on Wednesday. She will spend the winter with her son.

A large number of Stanley people attended the grand masque ball held at the local school house Friday night. An enjoyable time was reported.

F. Irvin and family of Ponca City, Oklahoma, arrived here with a car of machinery and stock early in the week. Mr. Irvin shipped his goods to Portales but hearing of the superiorities of the Estancia valley, rebilled them to this point. He will reside on a claim in this vicinity.

DID NOT KNOW GUN WAS LOADED

Seventeen Year Old Boy Slays Sixteen Year Old Companion With Small Rifle.

Albuquerque, N. M., Feb. 22.—"I didn't know it was loaded; then the trigger slipped."

This is in substance what Patrick Kogloski, 17 years old, of Barelaz, told Thomas McMillin, chief of police, yesterday afternoon, when he was called upon to explain how he came to shoot and kill John Mari, Jr., aged 16 years, his companion, as they were playing with a small 22-calibre rifle on Barelaz road at noon yesterday.

Mari was shot in the chest and died within a few minutes afterwards. John Mari, Sr., the father, now charges that his son was murdered, although it appears quite plainly that the killing was purely accidental. Justice of the Peace George B. Craig, however, will hold an inquest if it is later thought necessary, in order to set at rest all doubts.

The boys were playing with the gun. John Mari, who was killed, was leaning idly against a wire fence, watching Kogloski, who had just handed him the gun. At least that is the way Kogloski and other witnesses said it happened.

The police did not arrest Kogloski. He talked freely and they believe he told the truth when he repeated that old story:

"I didn't know it was loaded."

Grippe is sweeping the country. Stop it with Preventics, before it gets deeply seated. To check early colds with these Little Candy Cure Tablets is surely sensible and safe. Preventics contain Quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh or sickening. Pneumonia would never appear if early colds were promptly broken. Also good for feverish children. Large box, 48 tablets, 25 cents. Vest pocket boxes 5 cents. Sold by all dealers.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY IS OBSERVED

All Federal and Most of Territorial Officials Have Holiday—Exercises in Public Schools.

Had George Washington lived until today he would have been 176 years old, having been born on February 22, 1732. Washington's birthday is observed as a legal holiday throughout the United States and it is fitting that such a recognition should be made by a grateful people of the "Father of His Country" and the first president of this glorious Union.

In Santa Fe the anniversary was observed by a partial suspension of business and a display of flags. The federal employees here were all given a full holiday with the exception of the postoffice force which observed the usual holiday hours with one delivery of mail, in the morning. The Capitol was practically deserted, especially during the afternoon. Both of the local banks were closed but the stores were all open.

Exercises were held yesterday afternoon in the local public schools. Every room had a separate program which consisted of songs, recitations, maxims and catechisms on the boyhood and life of Washington.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD

Inspect Heating Plant of Central School Building—Additional Radiators.

A special meeting of the city board of education was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the heating plant of the Central high school building and, if necessary, ordering additional radiators. There were present, President T. B. Catron, Vice-President N. B. Laughlin, Charles F. Easley, James L. Sellgman and Jose D. Sena and also City Superintendent J. A. Wood.

During cold days under the present indirect system of radiation it has been impossible to heat comfortably one of the basement rooms which is used for classes. After a consultation it was decided to have wall radiators installed in this room on a line with the boiler and operating by direct radiation.

The contract for installing the new radiators was awarded to the Wood-Davis Hardware company.

REFEREE'S REPORT IN SARGENT CASE.

particularly T. B. Catron, W. E. Martin and Malaquias Martinez, that the purpose of the increased appropriation for said contingent expenses of the auditor's office for the 56th, 57th and 58th fiscal years, in view of the elimination of the necessity for the publication of quarterly reports was to recoup the auditor for the loss of a large part of his income due to the severance of the offices of auditor and superintendent of insurance. Prior to February 9, 1905, the said offices were conjoint, and the latter provided for the auditor a considerable income by way of fees additional to his salary as auditor, but on the said date the office of superintendent was created and a salary of $2,400 per annum annexed thereto; third, by the fact that the governor, traveling auditor, etc., drew their contingent funds in bulk, in monthly installments, prior to expenditure in detail; and, fourth, by the fact that the language of the appropriation bill of 1905 pertinent to this inquiry is paraphrased that, "The auditor is hereby allowed for the auditor's office for the 57th and 58th fiscal years $1,200 each, with a like proportion for the 56th fiscal year, for postage, express, printing blanks and incidentals," from which the plaintiff argues a grant to the auditor personally of the entire appropriation with certain fiduciary obligations appended.

These conclusions and contentions on the part of the plaintiff have gained considerable support by subsequent events. The 37th legislative assembly, in the year 1907, passed "an act providing funds and making appropriations for the traveling expenses of the district judges and clerks of the district courts, etc." It is found as ch. 93, p. 218, L. of 1907 and its first section is: "That the sum of $500 per annum payable quarterly be and the same is hereby appropriated to pay the traveling expenses of each of the district judges * * which said amount for traveling expenses shall be in addition to the amount heretofore allowed by the territory for salary and expenses." Documentary evidence produced by the plaintiff shows that the law has been interpreted by at least three of the district judges, and by one if not two attorney generals as making an absolute grant of $500 annually to the judges, although limited for "traveling expenses." There is no practical difference between this statute and the statute upon which the plaintiff's claims in these particulars are based.

If it is within the scope of my authority, and I were authorized to look upon these documents as controlling, I will be inclined to allow the claims of the plaintiff to these funds in the manner in which he makes them, but inasmuch as they involve what, I am told, are serious legal problems or at least legal problems of importance, I deem it my duty to avoid a determination as to the right of the auditor to these particular moneys and to leave the solution of the problems involved to the court. If, however, it is deemed obligatory upon me to render some opinion or to find some fact or legal conclusions in these respects, upon a re-reference I will do so.

11. I beg herewith to transmit, as a part of this report, the evidence taken and the exhibits produced before me, accompanied by the bill of Mr. Frank Shearon for stenographic services and for transcript, and the bill of Miss Stella Canny of like nature, both of which I hereby approve.

I further submit that a proper allowance in my favor for my fees would be $50, and ask the court to enter an order for the approval of this charge as well as the charges of the stenographers who have been employed, or such other order on the subject as may be proper, and that unless a re-reference to me is made, I may be discharged.
