On July 19, government sources reported that an Argentine delegation headed by transportation deputy secretary Edmundo Soria is planning visits to several cities in the US and Canada aimed at persuading private businesspersons to invest in railway and subway systems earmarked for privatization. The delegation's trip is scheduled for July 29-Aug. 6. Two weeks ago, Soria returned from Spain and Italy, where his team met with businesspersons to discuss privatization deals. The government will open the bid process on Buenos Aires-based railway and subway companies in late August or early September. (Basic data from AFP, 07/19/91)
