On Jan. 12 in San Salvador, Justo Sierra, spokesperson for the Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front (FMLN), told reporters that rebel stations Radio Farabundo Marti and Radio Venceremos would be legalized as part of the peace accords, and are to continue operating freely and openly. Venceremos, established in January 1981 during the first major FMLN offensive, broadcasts from Morazan department. Radio Farabundo Marti, which commenced operations in 1982, is based in Chalatenango department. Sierra said Radio Venceremos plans to install two transmitters in the capital and will broadcast 24 hours a day. (Basic data from ACAN-EFE, 01/12/92; Agence France-Presse, 01/13/92)
