VOL. 45.

SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO, WEDNESDAY JULY 1, 1908.

NO. 119

JUDGE MANN RE- CEPTIVE CANDIDATE

For Republican Nomination as Delegate to Congress

WILL MAKE NO FIGHT

But Will Accept if Named by Convention and Resign Place on the Bench.

Associate Justice Edward A. Mann, of the territorial supreme court, presiding judge of the Sixth judicial district, was in the city today en route to several counties of his district on official business. On Saturday he will be in Estancia, where he has been invited to deliver the oration at the Fourth of July celebration, which will take place at the county seat of Torrance.

The judge was a caller at the editorial office of the New Mexican, where, as usual, he was very affable and courteous. Upon being asked by a representative of the paper if he had any objection to giving to the people his views on the congressional nomination this year he very frankly and opening said that he had nothing to conceal. He said:

"I am holding a very high office in this territory of which I am very proud and which I have endeavored during the past four years to fill in accordance with the law, to the satisfaction of the members of the bar and all litigants and to keep peace, law and order in my district. I have not during these four years engaged in politics except naturally to vote for the Republican tickets nominated and voted upon during that time.

Would Accept if Nominated.

"As to my reported candidacy for delegate to the Sixty-first Congress on the Republican ticket, I have to say that I am not an active candidate nor have I been. However, I have been urged by many friends, and some very influential ones, not only in my district, but throughout the territory, to allow my name to be mentioned in connection therewith. To this, as a citizen who takes a great interest in public affairs and who believes in the voice of the people I have not said no. I have informed my friends that in view of the important office which I hold, it would be improper for me to engage in an active campaign. If the Republican territorial convention deems it best and proper for the interest of the party and for the people to honor me with such selection, I would deem it my duty to accept, believing that this would be right and proper to all concerned, namely, those who are urging me to the nomination, to the party and to myself.

"I believe in doing justice all around and while it would be a serious matter for me to give up the important position of judge with which I have been honored by the administration and by the people, I would do so, even should I consider the change a sacrifice.

Not an Active Candidate.

"I am not an active candidate, but will say that I am a receptive one. If, however, my name should not be considered favorable, I will not feel the least bit amiss but will cheerfully and loyally support the nominee of the Republican party made by the convention, no matter what his name. I have been careful and particular to ask my friends as a personal favor and as political good policy not to lay a straw in the way of any other Republican who feels that he has a right to be a candidate. My course is simple and I hope it will be considered straightforward. In short, if without my active support the Republican convention nominates me, I shall deem it my duty to accept and shall do my level best for the success of the party and for myself. If, however, such course is not taken, I shall use the same efforts in every way for the success of the candidate who is chosen.

"Right here it is proper to say that should I receive the nomination I will immediately tender my resignation and will commence an active, energetic and thorough campaign, visiting every county in the territory and as many precincts as possible, addressing the people and otherwise working for Republican party success."

ALLEGED POSTAL THIEF ARRESTED IN MICHIGAN.

Washington, July 1.—F. E. McMillin, chief inspector for the postoffice department, today was notified of the capture and arrest at Monroe, Michigan, of Charles Stevens, alias Savage, the negro wanted in connection with the recent robbery at Kansas City of $50,000 in a through registered pouch of mail sent from Los Angeles to New York City.

RIO ARriba COUNTY FOR W. H. ANDREWS

Republican Voters There Appreciate Delegate's Good Work and Want Him Returned to Congress.

Manuel Sanchez, a well-to-do farmer and stock raiser at Las Trampas, Rio Arriba county, spent yesterday and today in the city on business. Mr. Sanchez says that the crops in his section are in good condition although it has been very dry. There is a plentiful water supply in the Trampas river and in the ditches for irrigation.

Most of the fruit crop in the Trampas valley has been injured by the late frosts but there will be a good crop of late apples.

"Our people," said Mr. Sanchez, "are very well satisfied with their county administration which is honest and fair. My very good friend, the Hon. T. D. Burns, who understands our conditions, looks carefully after all matters connected with our county and helps our officials by good advice and by setting a fine example as a taxpayer and as a citizen.

"We are also well pleased with the administration of Governor George Curry whom we have found to be an able, energetic and faithful executive.

"From conversation with the citizens in my section, I find that Delegate Andrews stands very high in their estimation and our voters, especially the Republicans, want him renominated and re-elected. They believe that he has done more for this territory during the three years he has been in Congress than all the other delegates put together and has secured more favors for our people. They are especially thankful to him for having succeeded in lightening and decreasing the fees for grazing sheep and goats on the national forests and for helping many of our people who have claims to agricultural lands in these forests to have their rights and privileges duly recognized. They also feel thankful because he has been instrumental in securing the privilege of grazing more sheep and livestock on the national forests.

"There are a number of veterans in our midst who served during the Civil war and whom he has helped materially in securing pensions and in having such increased; there are also many widows and orphans of veterans in our vicinity. These, too, very thankful and grateful to him for timely assistance.

"They have nothing against Mr. Larrazolo, the Democratic candidate for delegate, but they do not believe that his election at this time, would benefit our people. They have become convinced that Delegate Andrews is the right man in the right place to secure benefits for our territory and for themselves. They also want statehood and therefore wish Mr. Andrews re-elected because they know that Mr. Larrazolo would not be of any use to them in Washington. I think our county will give a very heavy Republican majority this fall from delegate down to county surveyor. I fully believe that it will be much larger than it was two years ago and that Delegate Andrews, if he is the candidate, will keep even with the county ticket."

Mr. Sanchez is well posted on conditions in his county, politically, agriculturally, live stock raising and every other way and has a thorough acquaintance with the people in his section. His family has lived there over two hundred years. While serving in the House of Representatives of the territorial legislative assembly, he made a very good record.

SALOON MEN FIGHTING BLUE LAW IN LAS VEGAS

Special to the New Mexican.
East Las Vegas, N. M., July 1.—A Sunday closing war is on here in earnest, the saloon men have taken up the gauntlet and declare that everything on the west side must shut up Sunday if they are not permitted to run wide open. The law is construed even to prevent Sunday evening band concerts and the supreme test will come up next Sunday.

MAE WOOD INDICTED FOR PERJURY AND FORGERY

New York, July 1.—Mae C. Wood, the Omaha woman who sued United States Senator Thomas C. Platt for a divorce, was today indicted by the grand jury in session here on the charge of perjury and forgery. Miss Wood is at present out on $5,000 bail. She will be arraigned in court Monday.

BISHOP POTTER CLINGS TO LIFE BY THREAD

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 1.—Bishop Potter passed a fairly comfortable night, after rallying last night. His condition this morning, however, was no more hopeful than it was yesterday.

EIGHTY REPORTED KILLED IN BATTLE IN PERSIA.

St. Petersburg, July 1.—In a battle yesterday at Labraz, Persia, it is reported eighty were killed and many more wounded.

TROOPS SENT TO HEAD-OFF BANDITS

Mexico Insurrectionists Cannot Enter Texas

UPRISING HAS SPENT FORCE

Government Believed to Have Revolution Well Under Control.

Washington, July 1.—General Myer, commanding the department of Texas, telegraphed the War Department today that he had sent four troops of cavalry to Del Rio, near the scene of operations of the insurrectionists in Mexico. American Consul Ellsworth at Mexico City, has informed the state department that he is going to make a trip to the Las Vacas country to investigate conditions there.

Several dispatches received through official resources and apparently corroborating press dispatches regarding the trouble at Las Vacas were made public today. They indicate that at Las Vacas in the fight of several days ago, nine Mexican soldiers and twelve bandits were killed. After the repulse the bandits took refuge in the mountains and predictions are made that they will be driven north into Texas.

The officials of the administration familiar with conditions in Mexico, and also members of the Mexican embassy predict an early subsidence of the present insurrectionary movement.

HUGE ASSORTMENT OF PYROTECHNICS

Display of Fireworks Secured for Fourth of July Celebration Finest Ever Brought to Territory.

Without doubt the finest assortment of fireworks ever shipped to the Sunshine Territory arrived in Santa Fe yesterday and today were stored in the warehouse of the Water and Light company where they are being closely guarded by Frank Owen. There are 474 aerial pieces in the consignment and many stationary exhibits.

It has been decided to set off the fireworks from the top of old Fort Marcy instead of in the street in front of the Federal building. This decision was necessary owing to the enormous number of pieces that are to be fired and the danger that might arise because of a jam too near the manipulators of the display.

The exhibition may be witnessed for many miles. It can be seen from the top of the ridge this side of Lamy from Espanola, Madrid, Cerrillos and in fact the glow in the sky may be detected fifty miles. This feature alone will be the grandest of its kind ever attempted in this territory.

Mr. Owen and S. B. Grimschaw this morning stated that if the fireworks were secured through Payne, who sends an expert with every exhibition, they would cost a thousand dollars. One of the features of the pyrotechnic display will be a piece five feet high and five feet long from which will shoot many rockets with streams of fire of many and varied colors and the whole will be illuminated with Greek fire. This piece will be set off last of all. Large letters will say: "Good Night." This display will last nearly five minutes during which time skyrockets will be sent out from it and the illumination will die out with a loud boom.

At the opening of the exhibition a salute to the President of the United States will be fired consisting of twenty-one distinct reports.

Special officers will be secured to guard the explosives during the exhibition. Care will be taken to fire all the aerial pieces towards the hills. No one will be allowed on the hill from the time the first piece is set off until all is over but those chosen by Mr. Owen, who has been given complete charge of this end of the grand celebration planned for the Fourth.

SANTA FE RESUMES WORK ON EXTENSIVE SCALE

Topeka, Kans., July 1.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company today let the contract for tremulous buildings at Canadian, Texas, to cost $150,000. At Topeka today 1,800 men resumed work in the railway shops. The officials say no more men will be laid off and that the work will be permanent.

SHERMAN LEAVES FOR HOME IN UTICA THURSDAY

Cleveland, O., July 1.—Congressman James S. Sherman after a good night's rest, spent this morning chatting with friends and making preparations for his departure tomorrow for his home in Utica, New York.

BRYAN TO NAME RUNNING MATE

Gray Most Acceptable Candidate so Far

JOHNSON BOOM NOT DEAD

Minnesota Governor Wants First Place or None on National Ticket.

Denver, July 1.—The principal event in connection with the forthcoming Democratic national convention today was the arrival of Frederick B. Lynch of Minnesota, the representative-in-chief of the presidential boom of Governor John A. Johnson. The announcement of Lynch's coming caused a renewal of the discussion of the possibility of the nomination of Governor Johnson for the vice-presidency, rather than the presidency. It is conceded on all hands, privately even by the Johnson supporters, that his nomination for the first position is only problematical, but his friends are determined to have his name presented to the convention for the presidency.

No Second Place for Johnson.

Most of them are quite positive that he would not accept second place on the ticket even if it were tendered him. The discussion of Governor Johnson's chances for the vice-presidency are not indulged in seriously by those in the inner Bryan circles. They do not accept his name with favor and then thus far in advance of the convention it may be announced he will not be Bryan's running mate in the event the Nebraskan is nominated. Bryan's friends are steadfast on this point and while they do not openly criticize Johnson's candidacy they are evidently displeased at his entering the race.

Gray Most Acceptable Candidate.

On the other hand Judge George Gray of Delaware would be very acceptable to Bryan and the position is generally conceded him if he will accept. His conservatism would rather help his candidacy and Bryan's close friends concede the wisdom of selecting a candidate who would be closer with the eastern voters than Bryan himself, and while in this point Gray meets the demand in many respects he would not be antagonistic to Bryan's especial supporters. It is believed his connection with the anthracite coal strike arbitration a few years ago would add immensely to the popularity of the ticket among the laboring classes and it is contended while on the federal bench he never antagonized the laboring interests.

Bryan to Dictate Nomination.

If the nomination does not go to Gray, New York will probably claim it and will probably get it if it can unite on some one candidate. In other words the situation with reference to the vice-presidency in Denver is now parallel to the vice presidency situation at Chicago previous to the nomination of Congressman James S. Sherman. Bryan's friends are not favorable to Lieutenant Governor Chandler and he practically is eliminated from the vice-presidential situation. There is renewed discussion of the name of Representative Francis Burton Harrison of New York, and John B. Stanchfield, of Elmira, New York. Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, is also mentioned but Mack, who is on the ground, ridicules the suggestion.

Among those of the South mentioned in connection with the vice-presidency is Governor Robert B. Glenn, of North Carolina, and his friends are already working among the delegates in his behalf as they arrive.

Gray May Be Drafted.

When shown a copy of Gray's telegram from Wilmington declaring he would not consent to his name being placed in nomination for the presidency, Mr. Marvel, Gray's campaign manager, said:

"There is nothing new in that telegram. It repeats exactly what Judge Gray said in his letter to the Delaware convention. He never has given his consent to being placed in nomination before the convention but his friends, who realize how well qualified he is to be president, have taken the matter into their own hands. It is our affair not his."

Injunction Plank Must Be Strong.

Frank S. Monette, formerly Republican attorney general of Ohio, arrived today direct from a conference with William Jennings Bryan at Lincoln, Nebraska and will make every arrangement for a strong injunction plank. Monette asserts that the slightest weakness on this question will cause Bryan to lose a quarter of a million votes in Ohio and the coal producing states.

Convention to Honor Dead ex-President.
After meeting and perfecting temporary organization next Tuesday, the Democratic national convention will then adjourn out of respect to the memory of the late ex-President Grover Cleveland, if the present plans of the committee on arrangements are carried out. This will not interfere with the progress of the convention for the committees will be appointed before adjournment and can proceed with their business. The program looks to the completion of the work of the convention within three days after being called to order.

GRAY DECLINES TO ACCEPT EITHER PLACE

Issues Statement Positively Declining Presidential or Vice Presidential Nomination.

Wilmington Del., July 1.—In reply to a question from a representative of the Associated Press, Judge Gray this morning stated that he had just sent a telegram to the New York Evening Journal as follows:

"I have your telegram saying it is stated positively that I will accept the vice presidency nomination and asking whether it is true. As I have repeatedly said I would not consent to being placed in nomination as a candidate for president, I now say with equal emphasis I will under no circumstances consent to my nomination for the vice-presidency.

(Signed) GEORGE GRAY."

TAFT SOON TO CHOOSE MANAGER

Leaves War Department Only to Enter Immediately Upon Work of Race For Presidency.

Washington, July 1.—William H. Taft retired from the war department today and once more begins life as a private citizen. His routine of campaign work began today. It consisted of signing several thousand letters which he had written in response to congratulatory messages received by mail and telegraph. Despite the rumors regarding the selection of a chairman of the Republican national committee, the assurance is given that no decision has yet been reached.

Mr. Taft expects to confer on this subject late this afternoon with Arthur I. Vorys, his Ohio manager in the preliminary campaign, and Frank H. Hitchcock. It is reasonably certain that Vorys will not be selected, although he is likely to be identified with the campaign in an important position.

DISHONEST BANKER SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Former Trusted Officer of San Francisco Institution Must Serve 10 Years in San Quentin.

San Francisco, July 1.—Walter J. Barnett, formerly vice-president and general counsel for the Western Pacific Railroad company and vice-president and general manager for the California Safe Deposit and Trust company, which failed in this city last November for about nine million dollars, was today sentenced to San Quentin penitentiary for ten years. Barnett was convicted of hypothecating bonds and securities to the total amount of $205,000 belonging to the estate of Ellen M. Colton of which he was special administrator.

TORRENTIAL RAINS IN SUNFLOWER STATE

Great Damage Done to Crops—Several Washouts on Railroads Reported—Hail in Some Sections.

Topeka, Kans., July 1.—Many portions of Kansas were flooded late yesterday afternoon and last night. St. Marys and Rossville report over four inches of rain last night, while Valley Falls had the heaviest downpour, accompanied by hail, it has had in years. Two washouts on the Santa Fe railway are reported. A terrific cloudburst of twelve inches is reported from Pawnee county and much wheat was destroyed, but there is no wire connection there and confirmation of this report cannot be secured.

IDLE RAILROADERS TO WORK IN HARVEST FIELDS

Las Vegas, N. M., July 1.—Armed with a sixty-day return pass, a dozen or more firemen on the New Mexico division of the Santa Fe have taken advantage of the dull period experienced by the railroad and have started for work in the Kansas wheat fields. They say there is good money for harvest hands at the present time, and after they have assisted in taking care of the wheat crop they will return to the road and resume shoveling coal.

MINNESOTA REPUBLICANS NAME GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE.

St. Paul, Minn., July 1.—The Republican state convention today nominated Jacob F. Jacobson for governor by acclamation.

CAN DIVERT FLOW OF FOREIGN RIVERS

Attorney General Renders Important Opinion

REVIEWS CASE AT LENGTH

Reservoirs May Be Built in Colorado for Irrigation of Land in New Mexico.

Individuals or corporations may build reservoirs in Colorado for the purpose of irrigating land in New Mexico where the river being used for water supply enters the territory from Colorado. Such is the salient feature in an opinion just handed down by Attorney General James M. Hervey to Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan in a contest case between proposed irrigation companies of San Juan county.

However the opinion of the attorney general does not settle the contests arising over the proposed reclamation of a vast area of rich agricultural land in the northwestern part of the territory. Over a million acres of rich land is involved in the controversy. Two promoters backed by unlimited capital are fighting for the right to reclaim this land and the contest has waxed warm.

On September 30, 1907, Jay Turley, who is backed by H. L. Hollister, a multi-millionaire, filed an application for water rights in San Juan county. With this application and others he proposes to irrigate about a million acres of land at a cost for dam, reservoir and ditches of $8,000,000. Two separate contests have been filed with the Territorial Engineer, one by L. B. Furman, of Farmington, and the other by a community concern now maintaining a ditch.

Later Mr. Furman filed an application for a water right. He proposes to irrigate 80,000 acres of land at a cost of over several million dollars. Denver capitalists are behind him.

Mr. Turley's proposition is to construct a dam and reservoir in Colorado and irrigate land in San Juan county, New Mexico. The other proposition is to construct the dam and reservoir in San Juan county and irrigate land in that county.

A hearing was held at Aztec, San Juan county, by Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan and attorneys for Mr. Furman raised the legal point of whether the territorial engineer could approve a proposition where part of the irrigation improvements would be located in a foreign community. On this legal question the territorial engineer asked for an opinion.

The community ditch is represented by G. N. Norton and the protest is for the reason that the ditch of Mr. Turley would pass directly through the reservoir this company owns.

Territorial Engineer Sullivan has not approved either of the applications and the ruling of the attorney general does not decide the case, merely offsetting the stand taken by Mr. Furman's attorneys that a company could not irrigate land in New Mexico by building a dam and reservoir in Colorado.

The opinion of Attorney General Hervey is a lengthy one and very important as it deals with a new question in reclaiming arid land in New Mexico. The opinion in full follows:

Opinion of Attorney General.
"Hon. Vernon L. Sullivan,
"Territorial Engineer,
"Santa Fe, New Mexico.

"Dear Sir:
"I am in receipt of your letter of June 19th, 1908, in which you state that Mr. Turley, and others, filed in your office, September 30, 1907, an application for a permit to appropriate public water; that some months thereafter Mr. Furman filed a protest against the allowance of a permit to Turley and asked a permit for himself. You have transmitted to me the papers in the case and asked for an opinion as to whether or not you are authorized, under the provisions of Chapter 49 of the Laws of 1907, to grant a permit to parties who intend to divert waters in the state of Colorado and apply them on lands in the territory of New Mexico, or upon lands in both Colorado and New Mexico.

"You state that Colorado could not use more than one-tenth of the water from the Animas river, owing to topographical conditions, and that there is more water available than there is land that can be irrigated therefrom by making the diversion in New Mexico.

"I take it from these observations that more lands can be irrigated by placing the diverting dam in Colorado

THE REPUBLICAN NATIONAL TICKET.

For President—William Howard Taft, of Ohio
For Vice-President—James Schoolcraft Sherman, of New York

FINE EXAMPLE SET BY ROOSEVELT COUNTY REPUBLICANS.

The Republicans of Roosevelt county have sounded the slogan and have formed themselves in battle array for the present campaign. On the 20th of June they held an enthusiastic and well attended convention at which leading Republicans from all over the county were present. They placed a full ticket in the field, organized a strong county committee and did good work. This is a very excellent example which could well and safely be followed by Republicans in every section of the territory. In Roosevelt county the Republican party has a very heavy Democratic vote to overcome, but the only way to overcome it is by hard work, by spreading the right kind of information and by informing the voters that if they want to live in the state of New Mexico, they should vote for the Republican candidate and for the man at the head of the ticket, who will likely be Delegate W. H. Andrews.

The Portales Times, a leading Republican paper published in Roosevelt county, discusses the situation fully in a very interesting and effective way.

The editorial ought to be carefully read, studied and the lessons that it contains heeded. Says the Times:

"The Republicans of Roosevelt county met in convention last Saturday and placed in nomination for county officers a set of clean, honest and capable men. Strong resolutions were adopted endorsing Delegate Andrews and the delegates elected to the territorial convention were instructed to vote for his re-nomination.

"There are many good reasons why the Republicans of Roosevelt county should make a better showing at the polls on November third than ever before in the history of the county.

"We have gained largely in population during the past eighteen months and we believe from our own observation and from information we have received from sections of the county that many of the new comers are Republicans and will vote for statehood and for the Republican ticket. We have also been informed that many citizens who are, in national politics Democratic, will support the Republican party this time because they believe statehood will come to our territory if the Republican candidate for delegate and a Republican legislature will be elected. They have always lived in states and they have been and have had the privileges and rights of American citizens in voting and they want self government. They do not understand territorial conditions and do not like them. They want to vote for their own state officers and want representation in the Senate and the House of Representatives who will have a vote and who will be on an equal with the senators and representatives of other states. In fact they want to run their own homes and now that Republican victory in our territory in November next will help them to gain self-government, they will throw party considerations to the wind and then vote to secure statehood. There are mighty few citizens in our county, Republicans or Democrats, who do not favor statehood and who do not want it as soon as it can be had. Many are new comers and come from northern and western states and were Republicans at home. They will stand by their party this time, especially because the reasons are so many and important. The Republican administration of New Mexico has a clean record and can call safely upon the people for support. A territorial administration that sells its bonds at four and five per cent above par and under a Republican administration during the past seven years, has reduced its indebtedness nearly $700,000, need not be afraid to go before the people for an endorsement. An administration that has given the territory so many splendid educational and charitable institutions for the benefit of our people can confidently come before the voters and call for support; an administration under which our laws in Congress have been clean, honest and efficient, is entitled to the support of the voters. There is no graft and boodlie in territorial affairs.

"The Democrats have nominated Octaviano A. Larrozo, a lawyer with small practice and with plenty of time on his hands for politics. He has never, since his time in New Mexico, to which he came ten or twelve years ago from Texas, done the least solitary thing for the advance, progress and prosperity in bringing immigration here or to induce capital to come. He has lived and that is all. He can talk good Spanish and good English and that is his only recommendation.

"In Washington he would be like a bump on a log and of no use except on pay day when he would draw his pay of seven or eight hundred dollars per month. A small part of this he would spend and the rest he would put in his breeches pockets. He could not do any good if he would and would not do any good if he could. He would have no influence with the President or with the departments in Congress.

"On the other hand, look at the record of Delegate W. H. Andrews during the past three years, who, as the Times hopes, will be re-nominated by the Republican convention. It is so plain and open to our people and he has been so effective, valuable and serviceable that no discussion is necessary, as every citizen of the territory who reads and understands conditions knows it, he be Republican or Democrat. Delegate Andrews, if continued in Congress, will secure the passage of the bill for an enabling act now pending, in the short session and next year we would therefore vote on statehood. The chances are that he will never take his seat as delegate, but the people owe him re-nomination and re-election as his conduct and services have been so eminent and so beneficial."

BRYAN'S CRITICISMS ARE HARMLESS.

As was to be expected the Democratic candidate for the presidency finds much to criticize in the Republican national platform adopted at Chicago. The platform does not suit him because among other things it was the product of a great convention and several leading statesmen helped to frame it. Mr. Bryan, himself, has already prepared the Democratic platform to be acquiesced in by the Democratic national convention and it is dollars to doughnuts that the Peer-Nebraskan will find nothing to disapprove in this document. Mr. Bryan never showed dissatisfaction with any policy or project that devolves from his brain and that pleases him. With the other side it is different. There he finds much to condemn and nothing to commend. Fortunately for the country the masses of the voters think for themselves and in 1896 and 1900 failed to coincide with the views and policies brought forth by the man of the "Crown of Thorns and the Cross of Gold." This in all human probability will happen again in November next.

Discussing Mr. Bryan's criticisms and objections to the Republican national platform the Washington Post believes that Mr. Bryan's comments on the Republican platform are frequent and copious and serve to vindicate those who have charged that he is a critic and not a builder. He complains of the Republicans because he thinks they have repudiated Rooseveltism, though Mr. Roosevelt, who ought to know something about it, says it is a very good platform, and he has stamped it with his approval. While it is perfectly proper for Mr. Bryan to do the thinking for the Democratic party, it is rather a big job for him to supply thoughts to the Republican party also.

The Democratic leader has much fault to find with the Republican plank as to trusts, and is disconsolate because no trust magnate is in the penitentiary. And yet a moderate-minded man ought to be satisfied with a fine of a single trust to the amount of $29,240,000. His criticism of the trust plank amounts to this, and only this: That the octopus chase is not over. There are a great number of sincere people, and patriotic, who think the country should have a rest, to the end that business may enjoy a period of tranquillity and recuperation.

Mr. Bryan talks tariff to the negro; but what our colored fellow-citizens are more deeply interested in is the suppression of the negro vote at the South, which Mr. Bryan has commended, with the assertion that the white man has given the negro a very good government at the South. Indeed, a Democrat is like Satan in a basin of holy water when he appeals to the negro for political support.

His criticism of the money plank of the Republican platform does not commend itself to any man who believes in sound money. He advocated debased currency in 1896, and the Fifty-fifth Congress. Republicans in both Houses, gave the country the gold standard. That is history that all the waters of ocean will not wash out. It is sometimes akin to the ridiculous to contend that the enhanced production of gold vindicates 16 to 1.

As for the failure of the Republicans to declare for the election of United States senators by popular vote, that will commend itself to every poor man ambitious to be senator. The expense of an active campaign before the people of a great state makes the United States Senate an unattainable goal for a poor man, and that proposition is already thoroughly discredited, and will be as dead as 16 to 1 sixteen years hence.

Mr. Bryan says it is false that the Democratic party believes in government ownership, yet the Republican party can quote him as authority for that statement. But for him it would never have been heard of. He brought it into politics on his own volition, but the Republicans do not intend that he shall take it out of politics till they get ready.

So much for Mr. Bryan as a critic. Let us glance at him as a builder. The Nebraska Democratic platform of 1906 was written by Mr. Bryan. The first plank forbids corporations to contribute to campaign funds and demands publicity of individual contributions, but it makes no mention of publication of what uses campaign contributions are put to, though the law of Nebraska requires such publicity, and people are yet curious to know what became of some $15,000 that was sent to Nebraska to elect Mr. Bryan Senator in Congress.

The second plank requires Federal and State license to control corporations—"no company to control 50 per cent of any product." That would empower Congress to nullify a charter granted by a State, and would work to abolish the patent office, for it would cancel every patent granted.

Another plank requires valuation of railroads—a practical impossibility—and control of capitalization. It also demands lower rates. Of course, low rates are desirable; but they would be a curse if they worked to bankrupt the railroad, a curse to the shipper as much as to the stockholder of the road.

Then there is guarantee of bank deposits that would inevitably work to drive every conservative bank into liquidation. Another plank is an assault on the judiciary, appealing the judgment of the court in contempt cases to a jury.

On May 3 of this year Mr. Bryan wrote this in the Commoner:

"In the meantime Democratic papers should treat Mr. Hearst and the new party as an ally rather than as an enemy. We are going in the same direction, even though we march under different banners, and there ought to be no quarrels so long as we are trying to cast out devils, although we invoke the name of Democracy while Mr. Hearst and his associates invoke the name of Independence League."

In 1896 Mr. Bryan demonstrated that there was no difference between a Democrat and a Populist, and in 1908 he sees no difference between the party of Tilden and the party of Hearst.

The verdict of the electorate will very likely be the same.

GOVERNOR CURRY WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE.

Governor George Curry has been urged by many leading Republicans to become a candidate for delegate to the Sixty-first Congress. After due consideration of the situation Governor Curry stated with firmness and decision that he could not be a candidate and would not be a candidate. He came to the territory at the special request of President Roosevelt to serve as its executive, not for the good of himself, but for the good of the people and of the administration.

The governorship is not a paying position for Governor Curry. He is very liberal and fully keeps up the prestige and reputation of the highest office in the territory.

He has no political ambition, but in this coming campaign the New Mexican believes that the governor will keep "hands off" as far as the claims and the ambitions of candidates for delegate to the Sixty-first Congress on the Republican side are concerned. This is a very sensible and timely conclusion and one which will meet with the approval of the people of the territory.

However, the New Mexican also thinks that after the nomination Governor Curry will do his level best in every legitimate and proper way to aid the Republican party in bringing about the election of Republican candidates for delegate and legislative positions and will act for the best interests of his party.

Governor Curry's reputation is so well established and so firmly planted as a straightforward, honorable and truthful man and as a high minded and conscientious official that it is sure he will not allow his duties to interfere with political opinions or vice versa. This needs no extended argument or lengthy discussion. The Republicans will settle their political affairs in their convention and will do it as it ought to be done, openly, straightforward and fairly.

At this writing it looks as if Delegate W. H. Andrews had the inside track and the indications certainly point that he will gain in strength as the campaign advances. He has announced his candidacy and is in the fight to stay. His record shows that he has great tenacity of purpose and political sagacity to make a strenuous political fight.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Santa Fe Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Santa Fe given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other States.

Mrs. Bernarda Rivera de Escudero, living at 106 Griffin street, says: "As a general tonic, and in all cases of trouble arising from the kidneys, I know no remedy more worthy of confidence than Doan's Kidney Pills. For about a year I was bothered by a weakness and a dull aching across my loins and kidneys. I also tired easily. After using the contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Ireland Pharmacy, the pains were relieved, my back was strengthened and my health better in every way. I am indeed, grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for the great benefit I received from them."

NEW MEXICO REPORTS
VOLUME NUMBER 13

Just issued From Press of New Mexican Printing Company—Essential to Every Attorney.

Volume 13, of the reports of cases argued and determined in the supreme court of New Mexico is now ready for distribution among the members of the bar. No law library in New Mexico is complete without it and to the practicing attorney it is absolutely necessary. Justices of the peace, U. S. commissioners, court officials and all others who are interested in the interpretation of the law, especially the New Mexico law, by the highest court of the territory, should have the volume at their elbow. It is compiled by Judge A. J. Abbott, the supreme court reporter, and federal attorney for the Pueblo Indians, and his experience on the bench, as practicing attorney and as the author of previous volumes of Reports, assures that volume 13 has been carefully edited and indexed. The typographical work and binding is by the New Mexican Printing company which is being complimented upon the fact that it is the best printed and best bound volume of New Mexico Reports thus far issued. The price per volume, $2.70, is lower than that of any previous volume. To this 30 cents should be added for postage, if volume is ordered by mail. The edition is limited and orders will be filled in the sequence of their receipt.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy Would Have Saved Him $100.00.

"In 1902 I had a very severe attack of diarrhoea," says R. N. Farrar, of Cat Island, La. "For several weeks I was unable to do anything. On March 18, 1907, I had a similar attack, and took Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which gave me prompt relief. I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill." Sold by all druggists.

OF FOREIGN RIVERS

than by placing it in New Mexico, as the Furman people propose to do.

"I have investigated this matter quite thoroughly; have carefully read all of the papers on file in your office that you have transmitted to me and have spent a couple of days in an independent investigation of the law. Both parties have been represented by counsel and the attorneys have filed briefs touching the proposition of law involved, which is as follows:

"Is the territorial engineer of New Mexico authorized to grant a permit to parties diverting the waters of the Animas river in Colorado, who intend to apply the waters for beneficial purposes, mostly in New Mexico, on lands some of which cannot be reached otherwise than by making the diversion in the state of Colorado?"

"In their brief the protestants claim that the engineer is without authority to grant such permit, and they have shown very good reasons in support of this contention. The principal case cited by attorneys for protestants is the case of Lampson, et al., v. Valles, 27 Colorado 201. Counsel for protestants states that the supreme court of Colorado, in that case, held that no water rights can be acquired through its courts for the irrigation of lands in New Mexico. He also cites a case by the United States supreme court, without giving the reference, decided by Mr. Justice Holmes, and states that the court held in a controversy between New Jersey and New York that each state had sole and entire jurisdiction within its boundaries.

"Counsel also states that Sections 46 to 50 of Chapter 49 are in the nature of police regulations, which could not be enforced if the point of diversion were out of the jurisdiction of the New Mexico courts.

"Counsel for the applicant contends that the territorial engineer, under chapter 49, does have the right to grant a permit for the appropriation of water under the circumstances here involved. He cites the case of Bean, et al., v. Morris, 159 Federal 651, and also other cases which he contends supports the foregoing case, and also cites Section 29 of Mills' Irrigation Manual, which holds that the courts have protected prior appropriations in interstate streams against diversions by subsequent appropriations in the adjoining state.

Question Raised a New One.

"This question is a new one, not only in this jurisdiction but everywhere else. After diligent search this office has been unable to find any case directly in point on this proposition. Cases cited by counsel are not in point and in fact do not touch the underlying principal involved herein.

"The case cited by the protestants, by the Colorado supreme court, does not decide the principal which counsel contends it does decide. The court there did not decide that no rights could be acquired in a stream by a party diverting waters in one state as applying them in another. The court, in fact, refused to decide this very question. It did decide, however, in a contest for priority between two litigants, one of whom diverted and applied the water within the state and the others diverted the waters within the state and applied them without the state, that it would adjudge the priority, or in other words the preference, in favor of the party who applied the waters within the state. This, in my judgment, a salutary principle and one looking to the development of the resources of the state and offering inducements to capital to invest within the limits of the state that it does not feel justified in offering to capital which is to be invested without the state. The advantages in irrigation projects to the state within which they are constructed is not in the diversion of the water, but in the application thereof to the lands of the state. The diverting of waters from one channel of the stream to another channel of the stream and allowing them to go on without being applied to beneficial use would be of no advantage to any state, and no state would allow it. The key note to ownership in water is the application for beneficial purposes. The diversion is nothing more than a prerequisite to obtain control of the water and conduct it to the place of use. Diversions may be made in any way that the manner and place of use admits. In other words, the diversion is absolutely subject to the control of the character of the use. The state is not interested in the manner of diversion of waters, but it is interested in the water itself and in the application thereof for beneficial purposes. It appears therefore that this case in the supreme court of Colorado is of no assistance in arriving at a conclusion of the questions involved, because the supreme court of Colorado may very strenuously object to taking the waters out of the state the same as it would to transport its logs out of the state to be manufactured in some other state, or to ship its minerals out of the state to be treated in some other state. But that is not the proposition here. The proposition here is the reverse, and the question is, would the state of Colorado object to parties conveying waters into the state and there applying them, or shipping logs into the state and there manufacturing them into lumber? That is, does New Mexico object to parties bringing property into the territory for the purpose of enhancing the value of the territory's property? This is more directly the question than the one that was before the supreme court of Colorado.

Water Can Be Diverted if Not Prohibited By Statute

"We find nothing, therefore, in the fundamental principle of the doctrine of prior appropriation that he who is first in time is first in right, nor in the reasons that led to the establishment of the doctrine, which is opposed to the acquirement of a water right for the irrigation of lands in one state by the diversion of the water at a point in another state from a stream flowing in both states. Upon the general principles governing such appropriation, we perceive no reason, if the same be not prohibited by statute, why the owner of lands in another state may not at a point in this state lawfully divert the water of a stream flowing in both states and conduct such water upon his lands for their irrigation, and thereby secure a valid water right. There is nothing in the essential character of the trust or use, for which the waters are held by the public that, in our judgment, prevents the acquirement of a water right on such a stream in that manner, provided the appropriator is able to comply with the statutory provisions regulating and controlling the appropriation and diversion of the public waters."

"In the foregoing case, the court considers at length the case of Perkins County v. Graff, reported in 114 Federal 441. That was a case in the U. S. circuit court of appeals for the 8th circuit, from the district of Nebraska. It involved the legality of the issuance of certain bonds for Perkins county, Nebraska, to aid in the construction of an irrigating canal. The irrigation company was to divert waters of the Platte river in Colorado and conduct them into the state of Nebraska to be applied to lands in that state. The county sought to avoid the payment of the bonds upon the ground that the corporation was engaged in an unlawful act contrary to the constitution of Colorado, which declares the water of every natural stream to be the property of the public. The court, however, decided against this contention and held that the company was engaged in a legitimate enterprise and that its actions were not contrary to the constitution of the state.

Conditions Exactly the Reverse in the West.

"We have had no reference to the case decided by the supreme court of the United States and we do not deem it of any importance. It cannot possibly shed light on this proposition, because the supreme court of the United States must necessarily have applied the doctrine of riparian rights in that controversy and there would be but one conclusion when that doctrine is applied, which would be that New Jersey is the riparian owner of the waters of its streams and it cannot be deprived of such ownership by the state of New York conveying the water to some other point. In this country the conditions are exactly the reverse. We apply the doctrine of prior appropriation and we not only allow but we encourage the transportation of water from the place where it is found to distant land for the purpose of agriculture, mining and other beneficial uses. It is the underlying principle in all the western states, or most all at least, to the acquirement of the use of water and waters which might forever remain useless on account of topographical conditions, if they were confined to lands upon the borders of the streams, become extremely useful and add great value to the material wealth and prosperity of the state when they are, by the expenditure of capital and labor, diverted from a useless channel into a useful one and carried and applied to other lands.

"The case of Morris v. Bean, cited by attorney for applicant, and other cases cited in support thereof, announce the doctrine that an appropriation may be made from an interstate stream and the right to the use of the waters thereof depends upon priority of appropriation, and the courts have protected the prior appropriations in one state against subsequent appropriations in another state. This doctrine is now well settled in irrigation law, and the courts in those cases say that the principle controlling the right to the use of water in the arid west is absolutely independent of political subdivisions. However, none of those cases prevent the questions here involved, but they do shed some light upon it. These cases are all cases in which the diversion and application are made within the same state. The question here is, where the diversion is made in one state and the application in another.

"There are a few decisions—very few—that shed some light upon this proposition, the principal one being the case of Wyley v. Decker, decided in 1903 by the supreme court of Wyoming. It will be well to notice here that Wyoming is the pioneer in legislation defining the right to the use of water in the arid west; that is, where the doctrine of prior appropriation is unqualifiedly established, and our own statute herein referred to, as well as the statutes of a great many other states, is based upon Wyoming legislation in this regard. The case is found in 100 American State Reports at page 939, and that part of the opinion touching directly upon the point here involved is found at pages 962 to 964. This is a case in which the applicants diverted in Wyoming the waters of a stream which extended through the states of Wyoming and Montana, and the water was applied in both states—which is exactly the condition here. They sought to restrain the defendants from interfering with the use of the waters of the stream. It appears that the defendants on the other hand, diverted their waters in Montana and applied them entirely within the state of Wyoming. The court, in a very able and exhaustive opinion, reviews the decisions on the doctrine of prior appropriation, but concludes as follows:

Water Can Be Diverted if Not Prohibited By Statute

"We find nothing, therefore, in the fundamental principle of the doctrine of prior appropriation that he who is first in time is first in right, nor in the reasons that led to the establishment of the doctrine, which is opposed to the acquirement of a water right for the irrigation of lands in one state by the diversion of the water at a point in another state from a stream flowing in both states. Upon the general principles governing such appropriation, we perceive no reason, if the same be not prohibited by statute, why the owner of lands in another state may not at a point in this state lawfully divert the water of a stream flowing in both states and conduct such water upon his lands for their irrigation, and thereby secure a valid water right. There is nothing in the essential character of the trust or use, for which the waters are held by the public that, in our judgment, prevents the acquirement of a water right on such a stream in that manner, provided the appropriator is able to comply with the statutory provisions regulating and controlling the appropriation and diversion of the public waters."

"In the foregoing case, the court considers at length the case of Perkins County v. Graff, reported in 114 Federal 441. That was a case in the U. S. circuit court of appeals for the 8th circuit, from the district of Nebraska. It involved the legality of the issuance of certain bonds for Perkins county, Nebraska, to aid in the construction of an irrigating canal. The irrigation company was to divert waters of the Platte river in Colorado and conduct them into the state of Nebraska to be applied to lands in that state. The county sought to avoid the payment of the bonds upon the ground that the corporation was engaged in an unlawful act contrary to the constitution of Colorado, which declares the water of every natural stream to be the property of the public. The court, however, decided against this contention and held that the company was engaged in a legitimate enterprise and that its actions were not contrary to the constitution of the state.

"We conclude, therefore upon the last two authorities mentioned that the rights to the use of water may be acquired and permanently established by diverting the waters in one state and applying them to lands in another, and most especially so could this be done under the present circumstances, in our judgment, where the only objection comes from parties in New Mexico wishing to divert waters within the territory for application here. There is no contention that the state of Colorado or any resident of Colorado is objecting to this diversion, and we understand from topographical conditions that it is not likely that there will be any objection. We further understand that the applicant Turley and his associates have complied with the laws of the state of Colorado constituting all of the preliminaries in regard to the diversion of waters within the state, and we conclude therefore, that if Turley and his associates should in good faith construct their works and divert these waters and apply them to beneficial uses, in New Mexico, the courts of New Mexico would recognize their prior right to the use of the waters of those streams as against all subsequent appropriations whether within or without the territory of New Mexico and the only way this question would come up in the state of Colorado would be for some one in Colorado to establish an interest in the stream sufficient to question the right of Turley and his associates. We think that the courts of Colorado would recognize the rights of Turley and others under these circumstances as against any one other than an appropriator in Colorado who had in good faith diverted the waters for the purpose of applying them to lands in the state of Colorado, and under the view we take of this matter it is not necessary for us to anticipate such a condition of affairs.

The Question of Granting a Permit.

"We conclude therefore that the principal proposition involved, and upon which we find no cases, is as to whether or not your office has jurisdiction sufficient to grant a permit to Turley and his associates for the purpose mentioned, Section 24, Chapter 49, Laws of 1907, is in part as follows:

"Any person, association or corporation, public or private, hereafter intending to acquire the right to the beneficial use of any waters, shall, before commencing any construction for such purposes, make an application to the territorial engineer for a permit to appropriate, etc."

"We take it that the word 'appropriate' is used advisedly in the foregoing section. It has a well recognized meaning in irrigation law. Two acts are necessary to constitute a complete and valid appropriation: First, the waters must be diverted—this is the first act of subjecting waters to the possession of the appropriator; and, second, after being diverted the waters must be applied to a beneficial use, and this is the final act to consummate the title or the absolute right of the appropriator to the use of the waters, and as heretofore stated it is the meat and bone of the entire transaction. It is, in fact, the appropriation. The diversion is only the mechanical work that must be done before the application can take place. It is not a requirement of law, but a requirement of nature; while the application is a requirement of law to establish the ownership. Therefore, under this statute one must procure a permit in order to appropriate water, and inasmuch as an appropriation is constituted of two things we take it that he must procure this permit before doing either one of these two things; that a permit must be procured to divert the waters and to apply them to beneficial uses. The performance of the conditions of these statutes is required as a matter of regulation, that the people may know the intended uses of the water, and the extent thereof, and may supervise the acts of parties who seek to apply to their own use a part of the public property of the commonwealth. I take it, therefore, that just as Turley and his associates must comply with the laws of Colorado to divert the waters there, he is not only entitled to but must comply with the laws of New Mexico in order to put a part of his construction works within the territory and apply the waters herein. We cannot see that the position of protestants is based upon sound reason. Certainly your office would have no jurisdiction over a dam and works in Colorado, but for that reason you could not refuse to take jurisdiction of irrigation works in New Mexico and it would be absurd to contend that the people of New Mexico would object to parties bringing waters from another state into the Territory and here add value to their lands by the application thereof for agricultural purposes. It would be like objecting to people coming into the territory with raw materials from other states and setting up factories here to manufacture them. It is in fact what most states are doing everything in their power to encourage.

Law Encourages Such Projects.

Having concluded, which we do beyond any reasonable doubt, that the courts have and in time to come will recognize the rights of parties who divert waters in one state for application to another and will protect their rights as against all subsequent appropriators and place them upon an equal footing with others under the laws of appropriation, it must in our judgment therefore, follow that a party will not be prevented from doing what the law not only allows but encourages him to do, on account of the political subdivisions of the country.

"The only other reason urged against the allowance of this permit is, that certain sections of our irrigation law are police regulations which could not be enforced under the circumstances. It is perhaps true that a party having his diversion works in one state and applying his waters in another is subject to some disadvantage, because the conflict in state laws will be constantly brought to his attention. But in a case of this kind, where nature has so ordained and where large tracts of land will be allowed to remain a desert if the party is not allowed to spread his works in two states, we do not deem the reasons sufficiently great to disallow the application. The sections referred to provide for the regulation and handling of dams, headgates and canals, and until the legislatures of the various states shall make provision for such as this, the people of the territory may depend upon: First, the laws of Colorado, whose interest in irrigation is as great as the interest of the Territory of New Mexico, and whose statutory enactments and judicial decisions are thoroughly abreast of the modern expressions of judicial opinion on irrigation law, and who will see to it that all such works within the bounds of the state comply with the laws of the state looking to economy of water and safety of human life; and second, the courts of New Mexico, by virtue of having jurisdiction of a large part of the proposed works and irrigation system of these parties, and by virtue of the lands to which the waters are applied lying within the territory, can by its decree prevent the use of such canals and the carrying of water there through and the application of water to lands within the territory until its laws relative to the safety of irrigation works and other statutory regulations are complied with.

First Come, First Served.

"The law provides that in the granting of permits, just as in the appropriation of water: 'First come first served,' and under most circumstances you must grant the permit to the prior applicant. It has become, not only a part of the legal code of the arid west, but a part of the moral code, that the pioneer must have the preference, and there must be very good reason before you would be authorized to reject a prior application and allow a subsequent one. Certainly you can do it when in your judgment the interests of the territory require it. But certainly the interests of the territory are not antagonistic to having enterprises and capital come in and divert the waters of a foreign state in order to enrich the lands of New Mexico and we therefore conclude that the protestants have not presented a sufficient reason to reject this prior application. We therefore advise that, if you are satisfied as to all other matters concerned, surrounding the application of Turley and others, you have a right to grant the permit, notwithstanding the fact that the waters are diverted in Colorado for application in New Mexico.

"There is a question of fact which will, in my judgment, more or less affect your decision in granting or refusing a permit to Turley and his associates, in view of the decision of the supreme court of Colorado, cited by protestants between Turley and subsequent appropriators desiring to apply the waters in Colorado, because in a case of this kind the court would probably decide for the people applying the water in Colorado, and New Mexico would thereby lose the waters entirely and it would be to the advantage of the people of the territory then to have the dam constructed in New Mexico to avoid any such question. The law provides that you may refuse a permit when it is to be the interest of the people to do so. Of course if there is no land in Colorado that can be watered from this stream, except what Turley and his associates propose to water themselves, then that question cannot arise.

Yours very truly,
"JAMES M. HERVEY,
"Attorney General."

PERSONAL MENTION

P. H. Culley registered at the Normandie today from Stanley. He came on personal business.

Mrs. H. E. Astler and little daughter will leave for Denver tomorrow, to join her husband, who is now located there.

H. Van Camp, a resident of Stanley, in south Santa Fe county, was engaged in looking after personal business in the capital today.

Frank D. Bell, who lives at Estancia, Torrance county, was a guest at the Normandie yesterday and today. Personal business brought him to the city.

Antonio Martinez, farmer and sheep raiser at Taos was among last night's arrivals and stopped at the Normandie. He came to the city to visit relatives and friends.

Juan Herrera, farmer of Santa Cruz, in the northern part of the county, visited the city today and purchased ranch supplies. He was located at the Normandie.

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector Frank R. Crandall, is in the city on official business at the local internal revenue office. Mr. Crandall's territory is Arizona but he works under the Santa Fe office.

J. S. Hamilton, of El Rito, member of the El Rito Mercantile company, and a brother-in-law of Colonel Veneslao Jaramillo, was a guest at the Claire hotel today. He came on mercantile business.

J. S. Duncan, territorial oil inspector with headquarters in East Las Vegas, was a guest at the Claire today. Mr. Duncan came to consult with Governor Curry and also to take a look at political fences.

Judge Edward A. Mann, of Alamogordo, presiding over the Sixth district court, reached the city last evening from his home and registered at the Claire. The judge is very popular and well known in this city.

Captain David J. Leahy, U. S. district attorney with headquarters at East Las Vegas, spent the day in the capital and had a room at the Claire hotel. He scanned the political horizon while here and also paid his respects to Governor Curry.

G. Hill Howard, Albuquerque attorney, one of the former owners of the Lobato Land Grant, the sale of which was made last week, is a guest at the Claire hotel today. He came on business with Attorney A. B. Renehan who is connected with the sale for the Earley estate.

Manuel Sanchez, farmer and stock-raiser at Trampas, who has been in the city on personal business, returned home this forenoon. Mr. Sanchez is influential in his section, is a strong Republican and favors the nomination of Delegate Andrews as the Republican candidate for delegate.

Hon. Charles A. Spiess, of Las Vegas, circulated among the politicians in the capital today. He had his name on the Claire hotel register. Political affairs brought him to the city and he hobnobbed with territorial officials and the politicians endeavoring to locate the political situation.

C. V. Safford, traveling auditor and territorial bank examiner, was a visitor at Las Vegas yesterday. Mr. Safford stated that the dry farmers near the Meadow City are in excellent spirits because of the recent rains. It rained all around Las Vegas yesterday but not in the city. The Gallinas river has plenty of water in it for all purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Gable, of the Claire hotel, returned last evening from the Valley ranch on the Upper Pecos, where they spent four days fishing and enjoying the scenery of

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential. Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local. Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional. The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well this famous summer resort. Mr. Gable returned with several fine specimens of trout showing his prowess with rod and reel. He reports fishing the best he ever experienced and that the trout are taking bait as well as the worst grouch could desire. Recent rains have made the waters of the river a little riley and best success is had by using oars instead of flies. About twenty-five persons are at the Valley ranch and all are having a fine time. Mr. Gable says that the service at the ranch is first class and much better than camping out.

Dr. Daniel W. White, of Carbonate, Pennsylvania, arrived in Santa Fe this week and has a room at the Normandie. The doctor has passed the examination for United States Indian school practice in the Southwest and will enter upon his duties sometime the first of the year, providing he is desirous of accepting such a position. In the meantime he may locate at Stanley, a prosperous town in south Santa Fe county. Dr. White is a graduate from the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia and has served as hospital surgeon at the Bellevue hospital in New York City for some time. The town of Stanley is in need of a good physician and if the doctor decides to locate there the people of that town will be fortunate in securing such good medical service. Dr. White to a New Mexican reporter said that a number of capitalists from Pennsylvania are planning to come to New Mexico and invest in real estate, mines, railroads and other enterprises.

FEDERAL INSPECTOR TO LOOK OVER FEDERAL GROUNDS

Collector of Internal Revenue Henry P. Bardshar, custodian of the Federal building in Santa Fe, has received information from Washington relative to the reclamation of the grounds about the federal building. The lowest bid for doing the work of fertilizing, ploughing and seeding the grounds was $938.75. The matter has been referred to the superintendent of the construction of the postoffice building at Albuquerque, who will visit Santa Fe during the next few weeks and report back to Washington with recommendations. Mr. Bardshar is hoping that this will end the red tape that has been attached to his years of work in trying to get the grounds beautified.

The maximum temperature yesterday was 81 degrees and the minimum 53 with a mean temperature of 67 degrees, which was two degrees below the normal. The humidity was high, at one time it being registered at 71 per cent. The average for the day was 42 per cent. The lowest temperature last night was 55 degrees. A trace of rain was registered. A thunderstorm passed over the vicinity of Santa Fe yesterday. Similar weather conditions prevail today.

Although unable to be in Santa Fe for the celebration July 4, Governor George Curry is giving all the assistance possible towards making the day a big success. He was asked to lend his assistance to the scheme of having the Capitol building lighted the evening of the Fourth in order to give visitors an opportunity to see the imposing structure at night fully illuminated. In a letter to S. B. Grimshaw chairman of the executive committee of the Fourth of July movement, Governor Curry promised all the assistance in his power.

CHARGED WITH VIOLATING SUNDAY LAW

Leo Hersch Arrested Upon Information Filed By Assistant District Attorney.

Information was filed in the district court yesterday by Assistant District Attorney Charles C. Catron, charging Leo Hersch with violating the Sunday law. A warrant was issued by Judge John R. McFie and was served on the accused by Sheriff Charles C. Closson yesterday evening. Bond was furnished by Mr. Hersch in the sum of $250.

Mr. Hersch demanded an immediate hearing and Judge McFie will hear the case preliminary to the trial tomorrow. The trial proper will come up, if at all, at the September term of court.

The information was sworn to by Assistant District Attorney Catron and approved by District Attorney R. C. Gortner. The witnesses mentioned on the back of the information are given as Carl Bishop, S. B. Grimshaw, W. H. Kerr, W. H. Kennedy and Hartley.

It is alleged that Mr. Hersch last Sunday was engaged in the labor of retailing drinks, soda water ice cream, goods, wares and merchandise and that the work was not necessarily an act of charity or mercy, hence was unlawful and contrary to the statutes of the territory of New Mexico pertaining to Sunday closing.

Attorneys will be employed by Mr. Hersch and a test case made of the feature of the "Blue Laws" which prohibit soda fountains from being operated on Sunday.

HOW IS YOUR STOMACH?

Easy Way to Strengthen it and Get Well.

A good digestive system, one that acts so that you do not know that you have a stomach, is God's birthright to every man—to every woman.

If digestion is weak, if food turns into gas, if you suffer after eating, if you are sleepless, nervous and out of sorts—then the stomach is diseased and prompt action should be taken.

W. A. Ennis, a well-known builder in Syracuse, tells an easy way to strengthen the stomach and get well when he writes: "Mi-o-na Stomach Tablets have done more for me in one week than all the doctors the two years I was under their care. Thanks to Mi-o-na, I can work once more, the first time in over a year."

It is an easy thing to strengthen the stomach and cure digestion by using Mi-o-na. Get a 50-cent box from The Ireland Pharmacy with their guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy does all that is claimed for it.

Rings Round Eyes

J-19

The ill peculiar to women, take different forms. Some ladies suffer, every month, from dark rings round their eyes, blotches on their skin and tired feeling. Others suffer agonies of pain, that words can hardly express. Whatever the symptoms, remember there is one medicine that will go beyond mere symptoms, and act on the cause of their troubles, the weakened womanly organs.

Wine of Cardui

Mrs. M. C. Austin, of Memphis, Tenn., writes: "For five (5) years I suffered with every symptom of female disease, but after using the well-known Cardui Home Treatment, I was entirely well."

WEEKLY WEATHER BULLETIN

For the Week Ending Monday, June 29, 1908.

Santa Fe, New Mexico, Tuesday, June 30, 1908.

The conditions were more favorable than for some time, as there was some rain, the wind was not especially strong, and the temperature, although somewhat below the normal, was high enough to enable vegetation to make favorable growth.

The weather was generally partly cloudy and during the latter half of the week showers occurred in all of the Territory except the southwestern counties. While these showers were not heavy they were very beneficial, as there had been no rain in excess of a trace since May 24th and 25th, and moisture was greatly needed. The greatest amount of precipitation occurred in the northeastern counties. In Eddy and Sierra counties there was some hail, but it caused no damage of any consequence. Water for irrigation appears to hold out well.

The temperature continued lower than the normal in almost all of the Territory; however, it was higher than during the previous week and the deficiency was not felt injuriously. The day temperatures averaged about 2 degrees lower than the normal, and the night temperatures about 3 degrees lower.

Remarks of Correspondents.

Bernalillo Co.—Albuquerque, T. R. Overton: Moderate and beneficial rains fell during the middle of the week.

Chaves Co.—Roswell, U. S. Weather Bureau: A much needed shower fell on the 22d.

Colfax Co.—Springer, The Stockman: A fairly heavy rain visited this entire county on the night of the 25th-26th.

Donna Ana Co.—Agricultural College, Prof. J. D. Tinsley: Hot and dry conditions still prevail; the afternoons have been cloudy, but without rain; there is plenty of water for irrigation; the range is very dry; the maximum temperature was 102 degrees on the 27th and the minimum was 49 on the 22d.—Rincon, C. H. Raitt: The maximum temperature was 100 degrees on the 27th; the minimum was 50 on the 22d and 23d; rains have fallen in this locality, but in Rincon there was only a trace.

Eddy Co.—Carlsbad, W. H. Frankland: The weather has been very warm; the period of dry weather has been broken by several showers; the rainfall was much greater six miles to the south of Carlsbad—Monument, J. M. Cook: The temperatures have been moderately high; there were several good showers.

Grant Co.—Lordsburg, J. H. McClure: The dry weather continues; the maximum temperature was 102 degrees on the 27th; the minimum was 50 on the 23d.

Guadalupe Co.—Santa Rosa, J. L. Chapman: The weather has been warm; light showers have fallen in this vicinity.

Lincoln Co.—Carrizozo, A. H. Harvey: A good rain fell over this section on the night of the 26th-27th, and for several days previous to the 26th local showers fell in the mountains.

Luna Co.—Cambray, F. S. Case: The weather has been warm and dry, with west winds.—Gage, E. J. Tilley: Hot, dry weather has prevailed; the wind has been moderately high.

McKinley Co.—Blackrock, Wm. J. Oliver: The weather has been warm and pleasant; during the first of the week there were occasional strong winds from the west, but the latter part was practically calm; the rain on the night of the 25th was very beneficial; the warm nights are causing vegetation to make rapid growth.

Manuelito, W. A. L. Tarr: A great part of the week was cloudy; 0.05 inch of rain fell on the 25th.

Otero Co.—Clouderoff, Wm. R. Clack: The weather has been warm and generally dry.

San Juan Co.—Turley, A. C. Jaquez: The weather has been partly cloudy; there was a shower on the 25th.

San Miguel Co.—Rociada, John A. Rudolph: A rain of 0.70 inch on the night of the 25th-26th broke the dry spell that had prevailed for a month; streams were almost dry and all vegetation was on the verge of drying up.

Santa Fe Co.—Santa Fe, U. S. Weather Bureau: The weather was partly cloudy and not quite so warm as is usual during the latter part of June; showers amounting to 0.60 inch occurred on the 25th and 26th; this was the first rain since May 24th.

Sierra Co.—Lake Valley, Wm. P. Keil: The week opened with hot, dry and windy weather; on the 24th 0.22 inch of rain fell, being accompanied by some hail; on the 26th 0.07 inch of rain fell and on the 27th there was a trace.

Socorro Co.—Socorro, J. J. Leeson: Moderate rains occurred in this part of the county during the latter part of the week.

Taos Co.—Taos, G. A. Dennis: Local showers occurred during the latter part of the week.

Torrance Co.—Estancia: The showers during the latter half of the week were of great benefit.

Union Co.—Folsom, Jackson Tabor: With the exception of a thunderstorm and 0.29 inch of rain on the night of the 25th-26th, the week was clear and dry; rain is greatly needed.

GAIN IN POSTAL RECEIPTS IN SANTA FE

All Departments Show Increase Which Is Steady and Natural—Falling Off in Box Rent.

During the fiscal year which ended yesterday, the local postoffice transacted money order business to the amount of $319,174.36. In that period it paid 8,436 domestic money orders, amounting to $135,579.71 and 46 international orders, amounting to $53.42; it issued 7,299 domestic orders amounting to $52,041.76, the fees to $417.18; and 165 international orders amounting to $2,838.77 the fees to $24.52. There were received from other offices $79,209.54 of money order surplus and from money order drafts $37,200. The gain in money orders issued over the preceding year is three per cent; in amount two and a half per cent; in money orders paid, nine per cent; and in amount paid, the gain over last year is twelve per cent.

The gain in postal receipts was a little less than one per cent, over the preceding fiscal year, but as the latter included the legislative period, even this gain, slight as it is, is gratifying. The postal receipts during the past fiscal year were $14,452.01. This would exceed $20,000, if credit were allowed for the large amount of franked matter handled. There were expended during the year $12,851.95 for salaries and $800 for rent. There were sold 713,624 stamps, postal cards, stamped envelopes and wrappers. Of these 149,279 were one cent stamps, 350,462 two cent stamps, 17,126 higher denomination stamps, 23,763 postal cards, 166,000 stamped envelopes and wrappers, and 700 special delivery stamps. The box rent receipts were $527.20 or eighty per cent less than the previous year, owing to a reduction of the rents. Almost ten per cent of the revenue of the local office were derived from postage paid by the New Mexican Printing company.

NEW FIELD DIVISION READY FOR WORK

Captain F. C. Dezendorf Head of Office at Phoenix—His Successor Assumes Charge Here.

The new Twelfth Field division of the United States land office came into existence today. The division consists of the territory of New Mexico, which with Arizona, constituted the old Sixth Field division under Captain F. C. Dezendorf, who will take charge of the new Sixth division with headquarters at Phoenix, Arizona. Leroy O. Moore became chief of special agents of the Twelfth division this morning.

Special Agents Frank Grygla, W. B. Johnson, and Vernon Gibson are assigned to duty under Chief Moore. Other agents will be assigned to this division as needed.

George H. Sweet, who recently was appointed a special agent for the Twelfth division, has resigned to accept a clerkship in the local U. S. land office under Register M. R. Otero. He took the position formerly held by Louis G. Reinburg, deceased.

AMADO ALARID HELD TO THE GRAND JURY

The trial of Amado Alarid, accused of firing two charges of shot into the home of Mrs. Francisca M. de Gonzales Sunday morning, came to an abrupt ending before Magistrate Henry Pacheco this morning when Alarid pleaded guilty and was held to the grand jury of the September term of the district court in one thousand dollar bond.

No evidence was introduced, although Mrs. Gonzales and her daughter, Francisca, were present to testify against the accused. Bineto Rodriguez also appeared as a witness against Alarid. Alarid was unable to furnish bond hence was remanded to the county jail.

It developed this morning that but two shots were fired. At first it was stated by the women that six shots were fired but only two charges took effect. Alarid stated that he had been out duck hunting Sunday morning. However, Judge Pacheco thought that it would be best to hold Alarid in jail or under bond as duck hunters who shoot at doors instead of ducks are dangerous to be at large.

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF ARRESTED FOR FIFTH TIME

For the fifth time within the past two and a half months James A. Johnson, of near Clayton, Union county, has been arrested by Mounted Police-man James A. Beal. It seems that Officer Beal is determined to convict Johnson of horse stealing as nearly all the charges against the prisoner have been the same. Johnson was arrested at Clayton last week and is now in jail awaiting trial. On the other charges he was released at the preliminary hearings.

PREDICTS REPUBLICAN VICTORY IN TORRANCE

J. S. Garcia, of Estancia, Says if Party Unites the Majority Will Be a Large One for This Ticket.

J. S. Garcia, of Estancia, deputy treasurer and collector of Torrance county, who has been in the city several days on official business, returned south this afternoon via the Santa Fe Central. Mr. Garcia said to a representative of the New Mexican that the rains in the Estancia valley last week will prove of great benefit although more rain is needed.

From a political standpoint Mr. Garcia holds that if there is union in the Republican party in Torrance county the Republicans will carry it by a handsome majority. The citizens of the county are naturally Republicans and if a good and fair ticket is agreed upon and placed in the field by the Republican party and to which ticket due consideration is given to the various sections of the county and the ticket is divided in a fair manner a large Republican majority will be the result.

The Republicans there by a large majority are friendly to the selection of Delegate W. H. Andrews for Congress. The county should be thoroughly canvassed by Republican candidates as there are many new voters who should be informed upon the political questions which will be the issue in this campaign.

Mr. Garcia is of the opinion that the contract which has been made with a Denver banking firm for the purchase by this firm of the issue of the court house bonds amounting to $10,000 for the construction of a court house at Estancia and of $5,000 current expense bonds to pay for the current expenses for the year 1905 for the county of Torrance organized in that year, will be duly carried out within a few days and that as soon as the funds are received by the county treasurer the construction of a court house at Estancia, the county seat will commence.

FUNERAL OF MRS. M'MILLAN TODAY

Brief Services at McFie Residence Before Shipment of Body to Buffalo For Burial.

Brief but impressive funeral services were held over the body of Mrs. Gracia B. McMillan this afternoon at the residence of Associate Justice John R. McFie on Manhattan avenue. Reverend W. R. Dye, rector of the Church of the Holy Faith, conducted the services.

The love and esteem in which the deceased was held was evidenced by the many friends who gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to one who had been near and dear to them in life and whose untimely death came as a sad shock. Beautiful floral offerings completely covered the bier.

This evening the bereaved husband, Ross McMillan, supervisor of the Pecos, Jemez and National Forests, will start for Buffalo, New York, Mrs. McMillan's girlhood home, where burial will take place.

APPROVES PLANS FOR PRIVATE IRRIGATION PROJECT

The application of John W. Glidden, who proposes to irrigate his farm located near Raton, Colfax county, with flood water from Copps creek, has been approved by Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan. The application of Mr. Glidden called for a reservoir with a capacity of 207 1/2 acre feet. This was cut down to ten second feet by the territorial engineer. The estimated cost of the improvements required to irrigate the land is $5,000. The dam across Copps creek will be short and low, requiring little labor as is generally the reverse of irrigation projects in a rough country.

CONDITION OF COTTON CROP UP TO AVERAGE.

Washington, July 1.—The condition of the cotton crop on June 25 was 81.2 or normal, as compared with 79.7 on May 25 last; 72 on June 25 of last year and 81.8, the average June condition for the past ten years. The announcement was made today by the Agricultural Department.

OLD SORES KEPT OPEN BY BAD BLOOD

Whenever a sore refuses to heal, it is because of bad blood. If the place existed simply because the flesh was diseased at that particular spot, it would be an easy matter to apply some remedy directly to the ulcer that would kill the germ; or the diseased flesh might be removed by a surgical operation and a cure effected. But the very fact that old sores resist every form of local or external treatment, and even return after being cut away, shows that back of them is a morbid cause which must be removed before a cure can result.

The impurities in the blood which keep old sores open, come from different causes. A long spell of debilitating sickness, which breeds disease germs in the system, is a common source. These morbid impurities get into the circulation, and the blood becomes a polluted, infectious fluid, which, instead of nourishing the fibres and tissues of the flesh, irritates and ulcerates them, and continually discharges its impurities into the open sore, and prevents the place from healing.

Another cause for bad blood is the retention in the system of the refuse and waste matters of the body. Those members whose duty it is to carry off the useless accumulations, become dull and sluggish in their action and leave their work imperfectly done, and this fermenting matter is absorbed into the circulation. The weakening or polluting of this vital fluid may also come from the results of some constitutional disease, while persons who are born with an hereditary blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers.

Local or external applications can not cure an old sore, because they do not reach the blood. Such treatment may reduce the inflammation, lessen the pain and discharge, and tend to keep the place clean, and for this reason should be used, but it can do no real good toward effecting a permanent cure.

S. S. S. cures sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every impurity and taint from the circulation, and completely does away with the cause. When S. S. S. has cleansed the blood, the sore

PURELY VEGETABLE

ENTIRE FOOT A SOLID SORE. Some time ago I had a sore to come on my foot, and nothing I used would do it any good. It continued to grow worse and eat deeper into the surrounding flesh, until the entire foot was a solid sore, and gave me a great deal of worry and trouble. I tried almost everything I heard of, but got no benefit until I commenced S. S. S. In a short time after commencing this remedy I began to improve, and I continued to use it until it drove the poison from my blood, and completely cured this obstinate sore. I recommend it most highly as a remedy for sores and ulcers.

begins to heal, and it is not a surface cure, but the healing process begins at the bottom; soon the pain and inflammation leave, the discharge ceases, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable, made only from roots and herbs, and is an absolutely safe medicine for persons of any age. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired because of the drain and worry of an old sore, will be doubly benefited by its use.
