CRUISER YANKEE SINKS AGAIN

U. S. Warship Goes Down in 42 Feet of Water

ITS SECOND MISFORTUNE

Vessel Suffered Like Accident Recently and Had Just Been Raised.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 5.—The United States cruiser Yankee, which was floated after having been aground on a reef at the western entrance to Buzzard's Bay for several weeks, sank early today off Penikese Island. The members of the crew landed safely.

The sinking of the Yankee was the culmination of an unfortunate cruise from Newport to the neighborhood of Martha's Vineyard to attend the submarine flotilla in their fall maneuvers. While on the way from Cuttyhunk to Newport for coal, the Yankee struck on Spindle Rock, at the western entrance to Buzzard's Bay, during a thick fog on September 23. Despite many efforts to float her the government failed.

John Arbuckle, of New York, the sugar refiner, believing he could float the craft with compressed air, offered his services and after long and difficult efforts the Yankee was floated yesterday.

Cause of Accident.
Washington, Dec. 5.—Official advice from Commander Marsha, in of the Yankee, advises the Navy Department of the sinking of the vessel, after it had been raised.

"After floating," he said, "the ship had listed to starboard which increased until the broken berth deck air port was flooded together with the compressor room and fire room. The ship listed steadily and sank deeper. I was on the open deck and all hands were sent away on tugs and we had no casualties. The ship settled in forty-two feet of water. The wrecking company will renew operations at once."

DEGREES CONFERRED ON SIXTEEN MASONS.

Roswell, N. M., Dec. 5.—Under authority of Colonel Max Frost, 33, who is Inspector General for New Mexico, of Scottish Rite Masons, Captain John W. Poe of this city, last Tuesday night conferred degrees from the Fourth to the Thirty-second on the following class: J. K. P. Stone, of Portales; J. B. Enfield and E. B. Kempt, of Artesia; C. H. McLenathan and A. N. Pratt, of Carlsbad; Edgar Shalfee, J. H. Jenkins, J. W. Kinsinger, J. W. Willson, B. H. Totzek, E. A. Lohman, R. P. Bean, Charles de Bremond, W. M. Atkinson and J. J. Jaffa, of Roswell. The first fourteen degrees of Masonry, up to and including the Lodge of Perfection were conferred upon E. R. Grosh of this city. Captain Poe was assisted in the work by C. T. Brown, of Socorro, and W. C. Glenn, of Webb City, Missouri. Captain Poe, Mr. Brown and Colonel Frost are the only 33rd degree Masons in the territory.

GOVERNMENT FISH CAR VISITS PECOS VALLEY.

Roswell, N. M., Dec. 5.—Fisheries car No. 3, of the United States government, passed through Roswell this week on its way to Carlsbad, and later returned on its way north, distributing fish to those who had applied in the proper manner to the industries department of the government. Thirty cans of fish were delivered here to John Towler and E. Coats, of the Country Club, who secured them for several different applicants. The fish received were black and rock bass and crappie, there being 25 cans of the bass and 5 crappie. All the fish received will be placed in the lake at the Country Club.

MURDEROUS FIEND SLAYS WHOLE FAMILY NEAR TRINIDAD

Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 5.—Cosme Garcia, his wife and son, Torrvia, aged 25 years, and Miss Luz Gurule, an aged lady making her home with the Garcia family, were murdered in the Garcia cabin 85 miles northeast of here a few days ago, in an isolated part of the country. Their heads were split open with an ax, which was later found covered with blood.

Maggie Garcia, the 17-year-old daughter, is missing. Francisco Martinez, suspected of the murder, can-

ANDREWS FIGHTING FOR PROTECTION

For New Mexico Wool, Hides, Cattle, Sheep, Horses, Timber and Coal.

Special to the New Mexican.
Washington, Dec. 5.—Delegate W. H. Andrews since his arrival in the national capital has been making a strong fight before the house committee on ways and means of the house of representatives which was in session during the entire week hearing evidence on tariff matters against New England's congressmen and manufacturers who are endeavoring to secure a report from the committee placing wool, hides, cattle, sheep, horses and goats, timber and coal on the free list. This he is doing in connection with many western senators and representatives. The battle is a hot one and there is no telling now what the result will be.

INTERESTS KANSAS IN NEW MEXICO PROPERTY.

T. P. Gable returned yesterday from a two weeks' sojourn at his former home in Leavenworth, Kansas. During his trip east he also visited Topeka, Lawrence and other important Kansas towns.

He went on business connected with the proposed townsite at Frost and Hagan stations on the Albuquerque Eastern Railway. He will have charge of these townsites and the disposal of lots in them and did considerable work in connection with these projects while in Kansas.

He also appointed agents for the Capital Land and Investment company of this city, of which he is general manager. He has strong hopes that he will secure purchasers for lots owned by this company south of the city.

While in Leavenworth he interviewed Congressman D. H. Anthony, owner of the Leavenworth Times and who represents the Leavenworth district in the House of Representatives of the present Congress and who was re-elected to the 61st Congress. Representative Anthony stated to Mr. Gable that he strongly favored the admission of New Mexico as a state and would vote and work for the project.

DEPUTY GAME WARDEN VIOLATES LAW; LOSES JOB

It is not often that one game warden is called upon to arrest a fellow official, but such was the case recently in Colfax county. Deputy Warden A. P. Nail arrested Deputy Warden Jesse Underdown for killing a doe November 29. Underdown was brought before a justice of the peace near Raton and was fined $50 and costs. The killing of the animal took place in Sugarite canon. Underdown's commission has been revoked by Warden W. E. Griffin. Underdown had been a deputy for two years.

ANOTHER INTERNATIONAL MARRIAGE PROVES FAILURE.

Cleveland, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson Mariani, daughter of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, has been granted a divorce from Frederico Mariano of New York. She testified that her husband had never supported her. Miss Johnson and Mariani were married in March, 1907. Shortly afterward, the couple went to New York to live. In a few months they separated. Mariani is an Italian playwright.

ONCE FAMOUS JOCKEY DIES OF APPENDICITIS

San Francisco, Dec. 5.—"Clem" Jenkins, who several seasons ago was recognized as one of the leading jockeys of the world, is dead at a local hospital from an attack of appendicitis. He was 34 years old. He had ridden for several crowned heads, including King Edward and Emperor William, and had no peer as a rider in Europe.

WESTINGHOUSE COMPANY OUT OF RECEIVERSHIP

Pittsburg, Dec. 5.—Receivers for the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and the Securities Investment company were discharged in the U. S. court here this morning by Judge James S. Young.

DUTCH DENY MAKING A BLUFF

Naval Maneuvers Off Venezuela Mean Nothing

NOT A DEMONSTRATION

Holland Believes U. S. Navy Lend More Than Just Moral Support.

The Hague, Dec. 5.—The government declines to signify the procession of three Dutch warships along the coast of Venezuela as a naval demonstration. It asserts this maneuver was only an ordinary exercise. Officials today pointed out that anything in the nature of a blockade must be duly submitted to the Powers before undertaken. They say no such notification had been sent nor that any necessary notice had been given to parliament of any proposed warlike action. The government has received no official advice concerning the statement that four American warships are expected at Curacao about January 1, but it is thought here now that as the presidential election is over in the United States, it possibly may lend Holland a more effective assistance than the moral support already promised.

SANTA FE NIMRODS BREAK QUAIL RECORD

A. L. Morrison, Jr., chief clerk in the office of Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford, and William Farah, of the N. Salmon store, have broken the local quail record thus far this season.

Last Wednesday they left Santa Fe, expecting to go to Pena Blanca and vicinity, but found the snow too deep and were forced to seek other hunting grounds. They then started for Cieneguilla and Cienega, where they spent part of Wednesday, all day Thursday and part of yesterday hunting the festive quail, returning home late last evening.

They bagged a total of ninety-one birds, according to Mr. Morrison, and he says that it is no fable, either, but on the contrary, he is willing to produce witnesses to prove that they killed that many quail and to make affidavit as to the number.

Today Messrs. Morrison and Farah were busy remembering their friends, and it is safe to say that quail will furnish the piece de resistance at more than one family dinner in Santa Fe tomorrow.

While at Cienega the local nimrods were entertained at the home of Apolino Rael, whose hospitality they cannot say enough about.

ANNUAL SALE OF GUILD MOST SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The annual sale and bazaar of the Guild of the Church of the Holy Faith was held Friday afternoon in the Woman's Board of Trade Library hall and was a complete success in every respect. The ladies had been hard at work for a long time preparing for the biggest and best sale of any ever held, and they succeeded. Over $200 were cleared by the ladies.

Mrs. R. J. Palen, president of the Guild, was chairman of the committee on general arrangements. The other chairmen were: Mrs. N. B. Laughlin, goose booth; Mrs. Kate Hall, embroideries; Mrs. R. L. Baca, fancy work; Mrs. C. J. Crandall, lace; Miss Simmons, dolls; Mrs. Gerdes and Mrs. Randall, plain sewing; Mrs. Harry Dorman, candy; Mrs. Jacob Weltmer, food table; Mrs. Lord, comforts and handkerchiefs. The Altar Guild served very appetizing refreshments throughout the afternoon.

The booth of the goose that swallowed nickels was a special feature and entertainment for the children. The different departments were well supplied with very pretty Christmas gifts, which were liberally patronized by those present.

The various chairmen of the departments were assisted by a corps of ladies and in all, it was a most successful bazaar.

NAVAL CAPTAIN EXPIRES IN PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE.

New York, Dec. 5.—Captain Robert Hanna, United States army, retired, died suddenly in the office of Dr. J. E. Brewer here, when just about to submit to an examination by the doctor. Graduating from West Point in 1872, nineteen years of his army life were spent on the frontier in Indian campaigns and in command of Apache scouts and on retirement he was made superintendent of the Whitehead torpedo adjusting station in Sag harbor, where he remained ten years. He was a member of the Loyal Legion.

REAL ADMIRAL COUGHLAN DEAD

Prominent Naval Officer Expires Suddenly

HAD ENVIABLE CAREER

Comanded New York May Yard From 1904 to 1907.

New York, Dec. 5.—Rear Admiral Joseph B. Coughlan, U. S. navy, is dead at his home in New Rochelle, New York. He was in command of the New York navy yard from 1904 to 1907. Death occurred at 7:30 this morning.

The death of Admiral Coughlan was entirely unexpected. He, with his wife, was living at the home of Charles Chamberlain, a former New York newspaper man, in the Sutton manor residence section of New Rochelle, while waiting for his new home in that city to be made ready for his occupancy. The admiral was seen about the streets of New Rochelle yesterday and appeared as well as usual.

Death Shocks Friends.

Washington, Dec. 5.—Sincere regret is expressed on all sides at the sudden death of Admiral Coughlan. Fearless, kindly and a good story teller, he had a host of warm friends, both among the officers and those outside of the service. Admiral Dewey expressed himself as shocked at the news. Coughlan was with Dewey at the battle of Manila Bay and in command of the Cruiser Raleigh. He was promoted later for bravery in that battle. It was afterwards he was called upon for an explanation for his recital of a poem entitled "Hoch der Kaiser," which ruffled the German authorities. The admiral explained he meant no disrespect to the German Emperor and the matter was dropped. Admiral Coughlan was a native of Kentucky, where he was born in 1844.

BIG MINING DEAL AT OROGRANDE

Alaska Mine Owners Purchase Property and Will Put in Power Plant.

Orogrande, New Mexico, Dec. 5.—An important mining deal has just been consummated in this district wherein Judge Frank P. Blair, of Chicago, and A. S. Nelson, recently of Alaska, have purchased the Excelsior group of mining properties. This group is located in the central portion of the district in the main mineralized belt and is considered one of the prominent properties of the district. The group includes the Nashville Nos. 1 and 2, the Three Friends and Blackhawk, all lying together, and the local which joins the Cuprite at the north end of Lucky Flat. There are several well defined veins and ore bodies opened up at various points on the Excelsior group. The property has been tied up in litigation the past year, but this matter has been settled by the courts and the property sold to the parties mentioned.

Judge Blair and Mr. Nelson announce that they will install a good power plant and begin active development work the first of the year. They are already doing some preliminary work and getting their affairs in shape to give their entire time and attention to this property.

Judge Blair and Mr. Nelson are heavily interested in a big placer mining proposition in Alaska. F. C. Gay and other prominent Kansas City capitalists are also interested in the Alaska proposition, which Judge Blair reports to be of unusual richness, running from $1 to several hundred per yard.

MANY ARE INJURED IN TROLLEY WRECK.

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 5.—Gus Olsen, motorman, was fatally and about thirty others more or less injured in a head-on collision between two heavily loaded trolley cars in a dense fog on the University Hill line today. The fronts of both cars were smashed to splinters and the crews and passengers piled up in the debris.

REPORT OF CLEARING HOUSE BANKS FOR WEEK.

New York, Dec. 5.—The statement of the clearing house banks for the week ended today shows that the banks held $20,171,775 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent reserve rule. This is a decrease of $7,958,878 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

CURRY WORKING FOR STATEHOOD

Has a Favorable Interview With President-Elect Taft at Hot Springs—Outlook Good.

Special to The New Mexican.
Washington, Dec. 5.—President Theodore Roosevelt has informed Governor George Curry that he approves the Andrews' bill for an enabling act for the territory of New Mexico pending in the 60th congress which meets here next Monday. President Roosevelt favors a statehood bill with the most beneficial provisions possible for the new commonwealth.

President-elect William H. Taft has informed Governor Curry that if the Andrews bill to make New Mexico a state should not pass during the short session, he would send a special message to the 61st Congress, strongly favoring and recommending a statehood bill for single statehood for New Mexico and for single statehood for Arizona during the special session of the 61st Congress which is to be called immediately after adjournment of the regular session of the 60th Congress and after the inauguration on March 4.

MORIARTY MAY GET NEW RAILWAY SHOPS.

Special to the New Mexican.
Moriarty, N. M., Dec. 5.—A rumor from reliable sources is current here that brick and other building material for a round house, car and repair shops to be built in Moriarty have been contracted for to be delivered within sixty days. This would indicate that Moriarty is to be the home of a large number of railroad men from now on.

This week A. Sweeney, a well known railroad contractor of Strout, Oklahoma, arrived here, accompanying eight cars of construction material and ninety mules. Mr. Sweeney has the contract for ten miles of grading on the Hagan line and at the coal mines, for sidings at Frost and other points and also for ten miles of grade for yard tracks in Moriarty.

LEE ENGLISH BADLY HURT IN A RUNAWAY.

Lee English, custodian of the Ortiz mine grant and a well known cattle man, is confined to St. Vincent's hospital in this city, suffering from serious injuries received in a runaway accident on Thursday evening. Mr. English was driving a team of bronchos which became unmanageable and ran off, throwing out Mr. English and breaking the bones of one thigh and dislocating one arm, together with bruises about the body.

Doctors Palmer and Yokum of Cerillos were called and attended the injured man who is in a serious condition, as he is quite advanced in years. He was brought to Santa Fe today by Dr. Palmer.

NEW UNITED STATES COLLIER IS LAUNCHED.

Mare Island Navy Yard, Cal., Dec. 5.—The United States collier, Prometheus, was successfully launched here today.

LAST DAY OF MINING CONGRESS

President-Elect Taft Sends a Telegram

GREATNESS OF INDUSTRY

Shows He is in Hearty Accord With Many Re- forms Advocated.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 5.—When the fourth and last day's session of the eleventh annual convention of the American Mining Congress opened here today, it was apparent that all the unfinished business would be cleared up by this afternoon. An interesting telegram from President-elect Taft was read before the convention this morning as follows:

"I am glad of this opportunity to express my interest in the important work which the American Mining Congress is doing in behalf of the mining industry and I desire to encourage and to co-operate in this work in every way. The mining industry in this country, which is second only to that of agriculture in contributions to the national wealth, which furnishes more than 66 per cent. of the total freight of the country, and which employs more than a million men in its difficult and dangerous tasks, deserves all the assistance which this government can render it. No country is so rich in those resources which make for great and permanent wealth as is the United States. But this condition of affairs has helped to develop the national habit of waste in the use of forests, soils, minerals and other resources. Fortunately, however, the public conscience is awakening to both loss of life and waste of materials in all of our industries and we must see to it that the government is guided wisely and its plans carried forward to success."

SUPPOSED BRITISH LORD DISAPPEARS IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The disappearance of a man whose name has been given to the police as Lord Herbert Russell of Bridgeport, England, was made public today when detectives admitted a private search of two weeks had been unsuccessful. Russell was reported missing a fortnight ago by "Lady Russell," when her husband failed to return to his hotel in this city and at her request the matter was kept a secret. Russell is said to have been in the United States for a year inspecting his timber interests. At the British consulate it was said the records show no Lord Russell of Bridgeport.

NO TREATY BETWEEN GERMANY AND JAPAN

Berlin, Dec. 5.—The report that Germany and Japan propose to conclude an agreement concerning China similar to the terms of the American-Japanese understanding, is without foundation. It was said at the Foreign Office today that neither country had taken steps looking to such negotiations and it was improbable anything of the kind would occur, at least in the near future, as Germany had no intention of submitting such a proposal.

OIL BARGE FOUNDERS; SEVEN OF CREW PERISH.

Shelburne, N. S., Dec. 5.—The loss of oil barge No. 101 and seven members of its crew was reported here today by the tug Hughes. The Hughes reported that while proceeding in tow from Boston to Halifax the barge foundered off Seal Islands on Thursday.

CARLOS GONZALES' BAIL FIXED AT $10,000

Judge John R. McFie has admitted to bail Carlos Gonzales, charged with the murder of Evaristo Rivera at Taos. The amount of the bond is $10,000, but as yet it has not been furnished.

RECKLESS COLORADO BANKER MUST GO TO PENITENTIARY

Denver, Dec. 5.—John E. Godding, legal method is now open by which he may avoid his sentence. A pardon by the governor is his only hope. Godding's banking methods were reckless and a large number of people suffered by the failure of the institution of which he was the head.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

MAKE THE MAP ALL WHITE.
(Tune, "The Wearing of the Green.")
Oh, comrades, have you heard the glorious word that's going round There'll very soon be no saloon on all Columbia's ground. There's a wave of Prohibition rolling up from every strand, And all the states it inundates straightway become "dry" land. By city, state or county, or by town ship or by town, Just let the people have a chance—they'll vote the dramshops down they'll vote the dramshops down.

Till we make the map all white, Till we make the map all white, We'll work for Prohibition Till we make the map all white, Maine is at the head, for she has led for half a hundred years, And Kansas great and North Dakota stand among their peers; Georgia next and Oklahoma—oh, the wave is rolling high— Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina—all "gone dry." And Texas, too, and Arkansas have voted for the right, And all the rest will follow till we make the map all white.

The distillery and the brewery and the winery all must go; The saloons can stay no longer, when the people have said "No." So we'll sing them out, and pray them out, and educate them out, We'll talk them out and vote them out, and legislate them out; We'll agitate and organize and surely win the fight, For we'll work for Prohibition till we make the map all white.

We would like to print in our column this week a tribute from the pen of Mrs. Silena M. Holman, President of the Tennessee W. C. T. U., to Edward Carmack, who was shot down on the streets of Nashville by a political enemy:

"I need not go into the particulars of the death, for the papers have been full of the details, but I want to say a good word for the man who stood like the Rock of Gibraltar against the assaults of the liquor traffic, and fought for State Prohibition through good and evil report.

"When he took up his fight for the gubernatorial nomination, he announced himself as in favor of state-wide prohibition. And, though they reviled him and impugned his motives, and called him names, he kept on, nothing daunted, growing stronger from day to day in his advocacy of the cause so dear to our hearts. When he was defeated, some of us felt that all was lost and our cause gone down in defeat, until his strong pen took editorial charge of the "Tennessean" and he began his fight for the Legislature.

"He knew just where to strike, as we who are not politicians could not know. His trenchant editorials in favor of state prohibition turned the tide again in that direction, and helped in the election of a Senate and a House of Representatives in favor of that measure.

"When coming home from the Denver national convention I called on Mr. Carmack at his editorial rooms to get the latest news of the election. We went over the names, one by one, of the new members, marking those pledged or instructed to vote for state-wide prohibition. And when the result showed a good majority for the measure, in both House and Senate, I said: "Mr. Carmack, if we do get state-wide prohibition, when the Legislature meets next spring, it will be more your work than that of any other one influence."

"He looked at me, his face radiant with that genial smile his friends knew and loved so well, and replied: "If we do get state-wide prohibition, it will be a recompense to me for all I have lost; for all that I've been through."

"I thought if all those who had said he was insincere in his advocacy of state prohibition could have seen and heard him that morning, they would never doubt him again.

"Four days later he lay dead on the streets of Nashville, his good, strong face upturned to the stars, shot through the heart by a political enemy, a martyr to the cause to which he and we are devoting our lives.

"The blood of the martyrs is the seed of the church." The blood of Edward Carmack will cry out against the men who murdered him—the men who are doing all that money and editorial influence and political power can do to fasten the liquor traffic on Tennessee for years to come. "Today Tennessee mourns the loss of her strongest son. The Tennessee W. C. T. U. grieves over the death of a brave and true friend. A sad and lonely woman and a bright boy sit in a darkened room weeping for the husband and father whose untimely death leaves them alone.

"Edward Carmack is dead. But the cause to which he gave the best and brightest and strongest and last days of his life lives and will triumph though all the powers of darkness are leagued against it."

The Union met in regular session in Mrs. Harvey's office on last Tuesday. The meeting was an interesting one. Rev. Rendon was present and gave us an encouraging talk, making us feel that though we might be few in number we had an ally that was most powerful, one who was living today and just as powerful as when in days of old Gideon, by His might, with his little handful of 300 won such a victory.

The W. C. T. U. has secured a room for a local headquarters and now the need is furniture for the room. We want every member to help as much as they can in this. We will also be glad of the help of any friends who would like to help us have a cheerful room. A chair, a rug, a book, a vase, anything you feel like giving, will be appreciated. It might be a good idea for each member to provide her own chair, and then if not comfortable no one would be to blame. Anyway, let us try to make our room bright and comfortable, and a good place from which we can dispense literature and hospitality.

Our next meeting, Tuesday, the 15th, will be held in our new quarters.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Holl's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MINES AND MINING.

For many years Santa Fe county produced the bulk of the turquoise sold in the United States. But since the closing down of the mines of the American Turquoise company, fifteen miles south of Santa Fe, several years ago, on account of litigation, the principal supply has come from the Burro mountains in Grant county. The mining of turquoise differs from that of other mining in many respects and is an interesting process. It is fully described by Edward R. Zalinski, a mining engineer of Salt Lake City, in the latest number of the Mining and Engineering Journal, under the title: "Turquoise Mining, Burro Mountains, New Mexico," the article being accompanied by a map and half tone illustrations. Mr. Zalinski says among other things:

"Turquoise occurs in various parts of the United States, but most of the material produced on a commercial scale comes from New Mexico. The Cerrillos district southwest of Santa Fe has furnished valuable gems. These deposits have long been known and were worked by the early Spaniards and Indians. In recent years the mines of the Burro mountains, Grant county, New Mexico, have been the most active producers. The turquoise from here is of good color and quality and is highly esteemed as a gem. It has largely replaced the Persian and foreign turquoise used by the leading jewelers, and has established a reputation for holding its color.

"Other localities in the United States where turquoise has been found are Turquoise mountain, Cochise county, Arizona; in southern Nevada, near Columbus; in Fresno county, California, and in Saguache county, Colorado. In New Mexico, besides Cerrillos and the Burro mountains, turquoise is found at Hachita, Grant county, and in the Jarilla mountain, Otero county. As at Cerrillos, the Burro mountain turquoise was known and worked by the Indians; turquoise beads and ornaments are frequently found in their graves throughout this section. At Fort Bayard, near Silver City and on Bear creek, some interesting pendant-shaped turquoise ornaments were obtained.

Discovery of the Deposit.
"The modern discovery of turquoise in the Burro mountains is generally accredited to John E. Coleman and dates around 1875. While on a hunting trip he came across some old excavations which were partly filled and grown over with vegetation. Coleman made his locations and did his first assessment work in 1880. The first claim located was the Callate and covered the largest prehistoric workings. Nicholas C. Rascome also located a number of claims in the neighborhood. It proved later the most productive ground; the Santa Fe and Gem claims were not marked by prehistoric dumps. M. W. Porterfield bought Coleman's property and became interested with Rascome. They sold to C. Armenty, of New York, who, with others, organized the Azure Mining company in 1891.

"A large number of rude stone hammers, four to eight inches in diameter, were found in the old excavations. The hammers are of rounded form and were evidently used without a handle. Traces of fire are still to be seen, and it appears probable that heating and rapid cooling were used in the primitive mining.

Geology.
In 1893 Felix Vogel, then superintendent opened the famous Elizabeth pocket, which produced a large amount of high-class turquoise. As much as 10 kg. of the finest material was mined in one month. The Elizabeth pocket extended from the second level to the surface, 40 to 60 feet, and the same quality of turquoise was obtained for about 150 feet along the vein, the distance between the walls at this point being 40 feet. This pocket was found at the southwest end of the open cut, shown in Fig. 1.

"The character of the turquoise varies along the vein. Nearly all shades of blue and green are found, and these are the most common colors. The green is not used in jewelry. The best quality of nuggets are covered with a white skin or coating. The average vein turquoise is from 1-8 to 3-8 inch thick, and the nuggets 1-4 to 2-4 inch in diameter. An irregular-shaped piece of greenish turquoise measured approximately 14x9x6 in. This was not of gem quality.

"Chemically, turquoise is a complex hydrous phosphate of aluminum and copper.

Mining.

"At first all the turquoise was obtained from underground workings, but it was so thoroughly distributed at the Elizabeth pocket that an open cut was driven from the first level across the entire width of the vein. Connections were made with the second level 40 feet below and much of the rock was handled by chutes and afterward passed through a sorting house on the second level dump. The coarse material and fines were separated by grizzlies and screens, and the turquoise picked out by hand. The open cut was afterward extended to the second level, and at the present time has been driven on the vein for a distance of over 600 feet. Some good turquoise was developed on the third level and sparingly on the fourth. On the latter level, however, the turquoise is associated with copper minerals, malachite, chrysola and black oxide, and the best quality is scarce. So far all the finer grades of turquoise have been found practically 100 feet or less beneath the surface.

"The first work was done through four adits driven from the Azure canon northeast on the vein. The canon furnished good dumping ground and made hoisting equipment unnecessary. Later it was determined by the fourth level adit that the valuable turquoise did not extend to this depth. The levels are approximately 40 feet apart. Most of the turquoise was obtained from the first and second levels, and as before mentioned, an open cut was driven on the vein from the second level.

"Underground development is constantly kept in advance of the open cut work and the character and quality of the turquoise determined, some lean portions of the vein being left standing, where possible. The development work also is of use in removing the drift and weathered rock in the upper part of the vein. Chutes to the second-level tunnel provide for the removal of the dead rock at a minimum of time and cost. The chutes are connected with the first level, and the surface, and the dirt and rock are worked in through a large funnel-shaped opening of gradually increasing size, until good turquoise rock is encountered in the bottom part of the funnel, and everything has been removed from this point to the surface. An effort is made to keep the good turquoise-bearing rock separate from the dead rock, and the rock which carries green turquoise, though the latter is always sorted for possible blue.

"After the surface rock has been removed the open cut is worked by benches. These vary from 8 to 12 feet, according to the character of the rock. In general a series of 10-foot holes are drilled. These are sprung by 1-2 to 1-2 sticks of powder, sometimes twice or three times, and 40 to 80 sticks of powder used in each hole; 35 and 40 per cent dynamite is used. The charges are fired simultaneously by electricity, and are figured to barely remove and not throw the rock; little or no turquoise is destroyed. The benches are worked successively from the top of the cut to the second level. From the necessity of sorting over the rock as loaded on the cars, the progress is slow. The open cut at the top measures approximately 143 feet across. The vein dips 45 degrees south and it is necessary to remove a portion of the hanging wall. This ground is often dangerous. In past years a number of Mexicans have been killed by falling rock from this side.

"The face of the cut is advanced along the vein from 50 to 80 feet in a year. Four tracks are used. Before blasting these are covered with logs near the face. After a bench shot has been fired the tracks are cleared and the turquoise-bearing rock shoveled into cars. It is carefully looked over and the turquoise picked out, and thrown into buckets.

"As a rule but two tracks are worked at once. These are graded enough to allow the run from the face of the cut to the dumps to be made by gravity. The cars used are of 16 to 17 cubic feet capacity. Coarse rock is broken by sledges or adobe shots. The latter consist of one-half to two sticks of powder laid on top of the rock and covered with 3 to 4 inches of mud. On the altered vein rock this gives satisfactory results. Turquoise seldom occurs in these large blocks, and when it does the rock contains fissures and can usually be broken with a hammer. In loading the finer rock, care is taken to avoid loss of turquoise, and if this is plentiful the shoveling is slowly done and two men frequently watch each car, rake over the dirt and pick out the turquoise. In exceptionally good ground two or three buckets of rough turquoise have been obtained in one day. The daily output varies, but the average is considerably less than this.

Sorting.
"The sorting house on the second-level dump was abandoned as it was

OJO CALIENTE HOT SPRINGS.

These celebrated Hot Springs are located in the midst of the Ancient Cliff Dwellings, twenty-five miles west of Taos, and fifty miles north of Santa Fe, and about twelve miles from Baranco Station, on the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, from which point a daily line of stage runs to the springs. The temperature of these waters, is from 90 to 122 degrees. The gases are carbonic. Altitude 6,000 feet. Climate very dry and delightful the entire year around. There is now a commodious hotel for the convenience of invalids and tourists. People suffering from Consumption, cancer, and other contagious diseases, are not accepted. These waters contain 1,266.24 grains of alkaline salts to the gallon, being the richest alkaline Hot Springs in the world. The efficiency of these waters has been thoroughly tested by the miraculous cures attested to in the following diseases: Paralysis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Malaria, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Syphilitic and Mercurial Affections, Scrofula, Catarrh, La Grippe, all Female Complaints, etc. Board, lodging and bathing $2.50 per day; $15 per week; $50 per month. Stage meets Denver trains and waits for Santa Fe train upon request. This resort is attractive at all seasons and is open all winter. Passengers for Ojo Caliente can leave Santa Fe at 9 a. m. and reach Ojo Caliente at 4 p. m., the same day. For further particulars address:

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and as a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE CAREY ACT APPLIED TO NEW MEXICO.

At the rate of settlement during the past two years, all the public lands in New Mexico will have been filed upon, in less than twenty years, even not considering the ten million or more acres that the Territory will receive with statehood and the lands which under the best circumstances can not be cultivated to advantage. It will be nearer the truth, in fact, to say that if those who are taking up homesteads at present and will take up homesteads during the next five years, stick to their land and prove up on it, there will be no public lands worth while filing upon in New Mexico five years hence. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, there were 2,215 original entries on public lands in New Mexico, covering 329,180 acres; the year following there were 1,909 entries covering 294,402 acres. With the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, came the first great increase in entries, for they amounted to 6,678, covering 1,041,552 acres. With the year ending June 30, 1907, high water mark was reached, for there were 16,254 entries, covering 2,540,650 acres. There was a slight decline during the half year that followed, during which the entries numbered 6,400, covering 997,591 acres, but during the first half year of 1908, all former records were eclipsed, although the exact official figures are not yet at hand.

However, Congressman Mondell is authority for the statement that only one out of six or seven entriesmen on non-irrigable public lands stick it out the five years to make final entry. The lands taken up in New Mexico during the past few years have been of non-irrigable character and it remains to be seen what proportion of the settlers make a success of dry farming under New Mexico conditions.

In the meanwhile, every effort should be made to increase the land under irrigation. If the extension of the provisions of the Carey Act to New Mexico will help in this direction, no time should be lost in securing the proper legislation upon the subject, for it seems that Congress is favorably disposed towards yielding the public lands to the states and territories. The Carey Act was passed to induce states to encourage the construction of irrigation works upon the public lands, to bring lands now arid under cultivation. It is true that only a small proportion of New Mexico's entire area consists of irrigable land, while the great proportion is non-irrigable.

What is non-irrigable land? Congressman Ellis of Oregon answers the question as follows: "It is land upon which water can not be placed. Ten acres of irrigable land is worth more for a home than any 320 acres which it is possible to take under the Desert Land Act. Any sensible man would rather have five acres of good land which he can irrigate, with a right to permanently use a reasonable quantity of water, than a hundred acres of the most fertile arid non-irrigable lands."

However, non-irrigable lands may in time become irrigable lands. As Congressman Hackney of Missouri said during a debate in Congress, early this year: "What is non-irrigable land? Several years ago I went down into the Pecos Valley in New Mexico, and every man would say that the land was not irrigable, but today it is the very garden spot of that country. Several years ago I visited west of Eaton, Colorado, and they said that you could not irrigate that land at all. Two years ago I went out there again and found that same land is irrigated and in the great sugar beet belt."

Under the present laws there are two great systems of reclamation applicable to arid lands of the western part of the United States. One of these is known as the "reclamation law," that was passed in 1902. Under the provisions of that law the Federal government bears the expense of building reclamation works, and the settlers later on, acquiring the lands under the homestead law, pay back to the Federal Government the money that the Federal Government has expended in the construction of those irrigation works. The other act by which lands are reclaimed in large areas is under what is known as the "Carey Act," an act that was passed by Congress in 1894. Under the provisions of that law not to exceed one million of acres was granted to each of the several arid States. Only eight states of the arid belt availed themselves of the privileges of that law. It is necessary under the provisions of the act for the States that seek to enact such legislation looking to the reclamation of the lands as will meet with the approval of the Interior Department. Among the states that have enacted such legislation are the states of Idaho and Wyoming. Those two states have almost exhausted the entire grant that was made under the provisions of the Carey Act. Under that act it is provided that the states shall be responsible for the reclamation of the land, or rather that some means be provided by the states for the reclamation of the land. The settlers pay for the reclamation of these lands and ultimately acquire the ownership of the irrigation project, the same as they ultimately will acquire it under the provisions of the Federal law providing for the reclamation of arid land. The Secretary of the Interior has control over the lands in the projects that may be applied for, and unless the secretary is satisfied of the feasibility of the project and the ability of the states to reclaim it, the Secretary may withhold the approving of land to the state for reclamation. The state itself can make no profit out of reclaiming the lands. It may charge 50 cents per acre, which pays the machinery for carrying on the work, as the state must carry it on, and if there should be a residue left after the state has borne the expense of reclaiming the projects, that residue, by operation of the original act as passed in 1894, reverts to a fund which shall be used for the reclamation of arid lands. Under both laws the settler may pay out during a period of ten years in ten annual payments. Under the reclamation act the national homestead law applies, but it does not apply under the Carey Act.

The benefit of extending the Carey Act to the territories would, therefore, be mostly to secure the construction of irrigation works sooner than they would be built in the regular course of the Federal Reclamation Service. In New Mexico it is only in the San Juan Valley and to a very limited extent in the Mimbres and a few smaller valleys, that the act could be made to apply at all, but as long as it would eventually add to the "irrigable" lands of the Territory, the benefit of its provisions should be extended to this commonwealth.

It is understood that Delegate Andrews has prepared a bill to that effect and will push it to passage during the coming session of Congress, the Republican party of the territory having pledged itself in its last platform to advocate the passage of the measure, against which there ought to be no serious opposition from any source, in or out of Congress.

NEW MEXICO'S GOOD FORTUNE.

The Archaeological Society of New Mexico this summer raised $500 toward paying for the expenditure of making archaeological excavations in the Canon of the Rito de los Frijoles, west of Santa Fe. Eastern universities and friends of the work, gave $1,000 additional. The total sum of $1,500 was expended in this immediate vicinity, $1,000 being spent with Santa Fe merchants for supplies. In other words, for every dollar raised, three dollars were returned immediately and directly to the channels of trade of this part of New Mexico. Even, if the benefit had stopped there and sordid considerations alone, ruled, this investment of $500 might be called a good investment, but the returns it brought immediately, are only a fractional part of the whole gain. Professor Edgar L. Hewett, director of the American Work of the American Institute of Archaeology, who superintended the work of excavation, had with him for six weeks a class of postgraduate students from the leading universities of the country, who, under other circumstances, would probably never have seen Santa Fe. Now, they have become Santa Fe boosters, carrying the fame of New Mexico's attractions to distant parts of the world, directly and indirectly urging others to come. Their work uncovered less than thirty miles west of Santa Fe ruins of such interest that they alone will bring to Santa Fe an ever growing stream of tourists, who, naturally, will leave in this city, their tribute of gold, and will visit other parts of the Territory. Still, further, the excavations yielded a collection of priceless archaeological specimens that will be the nucleus of a permanent museum in this city, the fame of which will gradually spread to all centers of learning and bring additional people to this wonderland. All this, an original investment of $500 has brought to New Mexico, returns that eventually cannot be measured by dollars and cents alone.

Realizing the value of such an investment, even from the material standpoint alone, the Territorial Legislature has invited the American Institute of Archaeology, to establish here its long-planned School of American Archaeology. There is no other school of that kind in the world. Until recently, it was tacitly assumed that America has no archaeology that the scientific world need to consider. But during the past quarter of a century, this idea, or prejudice, has been dispelled by the archaeological discoveries, just such as those in the Frijoles Canon this summer, and the scientific world now acknowledges that in Peru, in Mexico, in the Southwest, and even in Alaska, there is a great and fertile field for scientific investigation by the trained archaeologist. This field is practically fallow, despite the epoch-making discoveries already made. Its cultivation will be directed from the School of American Archaeology to be established by the American Institute which has been incorporated by Act of Congress and which represents in America, in Rome in Athens, in the Orient, all of American scholarship and wealth interested in archaeological research. No wonder, therefore, that the government of Mexico offered every concession and promised every financial assistance, if the school is located in the city of Mexico, which is the center of the greatest archaeological marvels of the New World; no wonder Denver is willing to raise an endowment of a million dollars for this school; no wonder General Palmer and the rich men of Colorado Springs offer land and money, if the school is made part of Colorado College at Colorado Springs; no wonder Los Angeles has raised $100,000 for a Southwest Museum of Archaeology and promises everything that might be asked in order to secure the school; no wonder that even the National Capital wants the school as part of the great national university that is being planned by educators. Santa Fe and New Mexico are fortunate indeed to be given the first opportunity to secure the school. Two years ago the people of the Territory, through their legislature, invited the Institute to locate the school in Santa Fe, to house it in the historic Old Palace in Santa Fe, which was to be given for the purpose in perpetuity as a National Monument, and granted $1,000 a year to start the preliminary work, with the idea that later, the endowment would become larger as the school was established and its work expanded. It is this kindly invitation of the people of New Mexico and the fact that all around Santa Fe lies a country of unsolved archaeological wonders, that induced the acceptance of the offer and the securing for the Territory of an institution which will be the envy of the scientific world.

NEW MEXICO'S TURQUOISE.

Those who have had the good fortune to visit Tiffany's in New York city, have no doubt marveled at the wealth of beautiful turquoise displayed by that famous firm, which, however, is only a very small fraction of the turquoise kept in the firm's vaults or in storage. Few of those who have admired these beautiful pale blue gems were aware that the raw material for them came from within sight of Santa Fe, or, to be more exact, from the mines of the American Turquoise Company at Turquesa, fifteen miles south of Santa Fe. It is but another instance of the unsuspected wealth of this territory, to which the outsider is a complete stranger. The process of turquoise mining is very interesting and does not differ much from that of the Pueblo Indians, or perhaps, even that of the Cliff Dwellers, before them, who were fond, too, of turquoise. It is described on another page of the New Mexican, from the standpoint of the mining engineer, but is interesting also to the layman, and gives some idea of one of the manifold activities and resources of this great commonwealth.

New York Society opened a wonderful exposition this week in the great city to illustrate the best methods of fighting tuberculosis, but among the exhibits the most important has been forgotten, that is a topographic map of New Mexico with a graphic illustration of its climatic features and advantages. New Mexico climate cures where other means fail and all the preventive and curative methods shown can not and will not save as many lives as will outdoor living in the Southwest. Why deceive the people of the East on this point any longer and why seek to keep the consumptives in an unsuitable climate when there is plenty of room for them in New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado? The practice of keeping well-to-do sufferers from the disease in the humid East and Middle West until there is no longer hope for them anywhere, even in the Rocky mountains, is nothing short of murder on the part of those physicians who are responsible.

The principal streets of Santa Fe are made unsightly by the large number and irregular lines of telegraph, telephone and electric light poles. When present franchises and contracts of public utility corporations expire, the renewed franchises should contain provisions doing away with the poles altogether or confining them to side streets and alleys and prohibiting their multiplicity so that all corporations using wires will fasten them to the same poles, instead of each having a line of its own.

The New Mexican can do printing equal to that done in any of the large cities. Our solicitor, every piece of work we turn out. Try our stock once and you will certainly come again. We have all the facilities for turning out every class of work, including one of the best binderies in the West.

The Saving Habit

If you are thrifty, you have some of your money left over. The extra money is the foundation for future riches, if you will only persistently save it. What if it does only amount to a few dimes or nickels a day—there are going to be a great many days in your life; and these dimes and nickels will grow into a good large sum. The opportunity may come, when a few hundred dollars might change your whole financial condition; Might mean buying an interest in some growing business; Might give you a chance to grasp your next opportunity.

AND WHAT IS THE USE OF ALL THIS?

Why it just means making a man of you.
Making you free to do as you wish.
Making you and your family happy and contented.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The Saturday afternoon Bridge club met today with Mrs. Arthur Seligman at her home on Palace avenue. Its members spent an enjoyable afternoon.

Miss Lucy Grygla entertained this afternoon at her home on the South Side, in honor of Miss Sarah Parker, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Francis C. Wilson.

Miss Verona L. Mack, a tourist from Rockford, Illinois, came to the city yesterday and registered at the Palace. She will remain in the city long enough to enjoy its historic features.

Mrs. Charles A. Spiess, wife of Hon. Charles A. Spiess, a leading lawyer in northern New Mexico, with office at Las Vegas, is in Chicago on a visit to friends. She may extend her eastern trip to Boston.

Mrs. J. W. Reynolds and children spent the past week with Mr. Reynolds' parents in East Las Vegas and will shortly take a trip to Omaha, Nebraska, to remain in that city at the house of Mrs. Reynolds' father for the holidays.

Mrs. Robert P. Ervien, wife of the territorial land commissioner, who has been on an extended eastern visit, during which she visited Philadelphia and other cities, is en route home and will arrive either tonight or tomorrow morning.

Colonel and Mrs. Frost returned last evening from a visit to New York City, where Colonel Frost consulted a physician. Although the trip was arduous, they had a very nice time of it and met many friends in Gotham and in Chicago.

Max Nordhaus, vice-president and general manager of the extensive Illinois Mercantile company, having commercial establishments in Las Vegas, Albuquerque and Willard, spent several days of last week in the Duke City on business. While there he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hild.

The Enxant club will meet next Monday afternoon at 2:45, with Mesdames Byrd and Patterson. Mrs. Patterson will have charge of a parliamentary drill, Mrs. E. E. Friday will read an original story, and Mrs. Dixon will give a map exercise with "The Location and Description of the Tribes of the Southwest."

Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan has gone to Washington for the purpose of giving testimony before the committees on territories of the Senate and House of Representatives concerning New Mexico, which testimony will be considered when the pending bill for an enabling act for the territory comes before these committees.

George P. Williamson and wife returned to their home at Glorieta this morning after spending several days in the city. Mr. Williamson and Alexander B. Querns of Philadelphia have been here on matters connected with the sheep business of the Glorieta Mercantile and Livestock company in which they are interested.

Hon. and Mrs. Solomon Luna of Los Lunas will go to New York city, where they will remain a week or two. They will thereafter proceed to Washington, where Mr. Luna will interview Senators and Representatives on behalf of the pending statehood measure for New Mexico in the session of Congress which meets next Monday. They will return home after the holidays.

Hon. and Mrs. Nathan Jaffa attended the turning over of the national guard armory in Albuquerque yesterday to the territorial authorities. The ceremony was short but interesting. The attendance was small, scarcely any public notice of the affair being given. Tomorrow morning Secretary and Mrs. Jaffa will leave for a short visit to relatives in the Meadow city and will return tomorrow evening.

Hon. and Mrs. L. Bradford Prince have gone to New York City, where ex-Governor Prince will attend to important legal business, while Mrs. Prince will visit relatives and friends. Ex-Governor Prince will go to Washington before returning to Santa Fe and work for the passage of the bill for an enabling act for New Mexico now pending in Congress. They will be absent several weeks.

Mrs. Johanna Kahn, formerly a resident of Santa Fe, and who still owns considerable property here, is cozily domiciled in a pretty home on Riverside Drive in the city of New York. Her pretty young daughter, Miss Alice, will be married shortly to J. Bettmann, a manufacturer of ladies' dresses, in Philadelphia. The engagement of the young people was announced last Sunday at Mrs. Kahn's home and about 100 guests and relatives were present.

John L. Cowan, wife and child of Cowanville, Pennsylvania, who have been spending the past three years in New Mexico and Arizona, are now domiciled in Denver, where Mr. Cowan is writing stories and articles on Indian conditions in New Mexico and Arizona. They will remain in the queen City of the Plains for some time. Mr. Cowan is well known to the people of New Mexico in this regard and his stories are very popular and are published in many of the newspapers of the country.

C. T. Brown, of Socorro, one of the leading mining engineers and a successful mine superintendent in the southwest, who has been in Roswell on Masonic business, returned to his home last night in the Gem City. In connection with Captain John W. Poe, president of the Citizens' National bank of that thriving town, he communicated the greetings of the Ancient and Accepted

MISS A. MUGLER

Scottish Rite of Free Masonry to sixteen candidates, all residents of southeastern New Mexico and standing high as citizens. He found conditions in Roswell very prosperous and noticed that southeastern New Mexico was steadily increasing in population and wealth.

Judge J. C. Northeutt of Trinidad, Colorado, a prominent attorney of the highest standing, in southern Colorado, and who is attorney for the Yankee Coal Mining company and for the railroad connected with this big property, has been in New York and Chicago on business for the corporation which he represents and returned to Trinidad yesterday. While east he spent one day in Washington and did good work for statehood for the territory, as he is convinced New Mexico is entitled to statehood in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Coffin of Chicago, former residents of this city, where they are well and favorably known and have many good friends, are now domiciled in the Windy City, where Mr. Coffin is doing a successful business as a bond and investment broker. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Coffin, are living with them. They are both very old, but mighty well preserved for their ages. Charles Coffin being 86 years old and hale and hearty, and Mrs. Coffin 83 years old and in very good health. Mr. Coffin, who is in the office with his son, goes daily to attend to business there, remaining six hours.

Beware of Frequent Colds.

A succession of colds or a protracted cold is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh, from which few persons ever wholly recover. Give every cold the attention it deserves and you may avoid this disagreeable disease. How can you cure a cold? Why not try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended. Mrs. M. White, of Butler, Tenn., says: "Several years ago I was bothered with my throat and lungs. Someone told me of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I began using it and it relieved me at once. Now my throat and lungs are sound and well." For sale by all druggists.

The New Mexican Printing company has on hand a large supply of pads and tablets suitable for school work, the desk, and also for lawyers and merchants; good everywhere. We will sell them at 5 cents in book form.

More people are taking Foley's Kidney Remedy every year. It is considered to be the most effective remedy for kidney and bladder troubles that medical science can devise. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities, builds up worn-out tissues and restores lost vitality. It will make you feel well and look well. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

Engraved cards of vint and wedding invitations a specialty at the New Mexican Printing office. An one standing in need of such will do well to call at this office and examine samples, style of work and prices.

A Personal Appeal.

MINES AND MINING.

found more satisfactory to sort out the turquoise as the material was being loaded onto the cars. At the present time the sorting house is situated near the superintendent's house north of the open cut. On account of the many shades of turquoise and fine gradations in color, a uniform untinted light is desirable in sorting. The ceiling is covered with white cheese-cloth. Four windows with white shades throw a good light on the sorting tables, which are covered with white oilcloth. The white reflected light enables the distinction of some of the shades of blue and green which under less favorable conditions would be hard to determine. Without practice it is difficult to distinguish between some of these shades.

"The turquoise buckets are brought from the mine and their contents emptied into boxes, each of which has its date and number. Sorting is done on the oilcloth-covered tables, generally under the superintendent's direction. It is customary, in case of fine turquoise, for him to go over it roughly first, picking out the best material, before giving it to the Mexicans for further sorting. It might be mentioned here that Mexican human nature is the same as any other kind, and some turquoise finds its way to the Silver City market which does not pass through the company's hands. However, most of this is taken from the mine and is unavoidable, though this practice is kept down to a minimum. No change rooms are required. It is but fair to say in referring to the sorting house, that Mexicans put on this work seem to feel on their honor, and no trouble has been experienced. I have left Mexicans alone, sorting turquoise of good quality, for an hour at a time, and had no cause to regret my action.

"The first-class turquoise is kept separate, and comprises nuggets and vein turquoise free from flaws and of good color and quality. Second-class material is blue turquoise of any quality which will pay to ship, also mottled or spotted turquoise and turquoise matrix, i.e., turquoise intimately mixed with silicious portions of the enclosing vein rock. All the green shades, and the soft, earthy classes or irregularly colored varieties are not shipped. The adhering vein rock, when not suitable for matrix, is removed on a small iron plate with a sorting hammer, or with special cutting pliers. Some turquoise is shipped without sorting, as it comes from the mine. In any case the final gradations as to quality and color are made in New York after the gem is cut and polished, and the sorting at the mine is done to take out undesirable material and facilitate handling. The percentage of the best turquoise to the amount mined is relatively small.

Equipment, Labor, Supplies, Etc.
"The nature of the work makes hand labor the best practice. A compressor and steam shovel would undoubtedly facilitate the amount of ground handled, but the greater part of the rock has to be thoroughly looked over, and loading into cars by hand, while slow, secures a satisfactory recovery of turquoise. Moreover, the mines are 15 miles from the nearest railroad, with some steep grades between, and neither fuel nor water is plentiful. Mexican labor is employed. From seven to twelve men are worked in the mine under a white foreman.

"Good accommodations are made for the Mexicans, and they live with their families at the Azure camp. No water is to be obtained at the mine, and the company owns a well property below the camp in the Mangus valley. Water is pumped by a windmill and hauled to the mine in barrels; it contains no alkali. Mine supplies, also grain, groceries, etc., are brought by the company's team twice a month from Silver City. Frame and adobe houses are provided for the miners, and a nominal charge for water rent and team is made. Wages are $2 per day, which is higher than paid by other mines of the neighborhood. Blacksmiths get $2.50 per day and upward, and teamsters who live at the well $65 per month.

"The mine equipment is simple. Besides the sorting house, water house, office, miners' houses, etc., are a carpenter, machine and blacksmith shop on the second-level dump near the mouth of the cut.

"Prospecting work with a diamond drill has been attempted at various times, and on one occasion turquoise was located. In general, however, it has been unsuccessful on account of the irregular distribution of turquoise even in the vein.

"First-class turquoise is shipped in sealed cans; second-class in 150-lb. cases. Turquoise is commonly cut en cabochon, or elliptical with a convex surface. It is also cut marquis, or pointed at both ends. The price ranges from $6 to $25 per carat and higher, $15 per carat being an average price for turquoise of good quality and color. The standard shape is oval and of medium height. The most popular size is from 5 to 10 mm. longest diameter, and gems of these dimensions weigh from 7-8 to 2 1-2 carats. Turquoise brooches, etc., are often cut larger.

The Azure mine has probably produced more turquoise than any other single property. Stones to the value of several million dollars have been obtained. The demand for the turquoise of the best quality is constantly in excess of the supply.

Good Cough Medicine for Children.
The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. F. F. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction." This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by all druggists.

The Bon Ton restaurant is now under the management of Hugh F. DuVal, who has bought out the interest of John V. Conway. It will be known hereafter as the Capital Cafe and a specialty will be made of both short orders and regular meals. It is Mr. DuVal's intention to give Santa Fe a strictly first-class restaurant.

It isn't so difficult to strengthen a weak stomach if one goes at it correctly. And this is true of the Heart and Kidneys. The old fashioned way of dosing the Stomach or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is surely wrong! Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. Go to the weak or ailing nerves of these organs," said he. Each inside organ has its controlling or "inside nerve." When these nerves fall those organs then must surely falter. The vital truth is leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. A few days' test will surely tell! Sold by Stripling, Burrows & Co.

Surveyor General John W. March has returned from an eastern trip during which he visited relatives and friends at his old home in Ohio.

The musicale given last night in Loretto Auditorium by the students of the Academy, was a decided success. Although the program was long, yet the interest was sustained during every number. Each one acquitted herself well. The audience was large and appreciative. The music, vocal and instrumental, called forth repeated applause. The music rendered by the orchestra was particularly fine. Misses Gormley, Rudolph and McGinness seemed to be masters of their violins, while Misses Yanni, Sparks, Rudolph, McGinnis, Hempel and Gorman deserve special mention for the ease and expression with which they rendered many selections on the piano. "The Angels of Buena Vista" was well presented by the seniors. The poem brought to mind the terrible days of war. Well has Whittier told of the heroic charity of the Mexican women, God's ministering angels, during that battle. Little Miss Vita Mosher had the sympathy of the audience in the recital of her sorrows entailed by her death; the little ones charmed all by their rendition of "Angel Land." The students gave the entertainment in order to raise funds for linoleum for the chapel. They are pleased with their success and thank all who so kindly co-operated.

Those who have not seen this play in years gone by should make it a point to attend. The performances will begin at 8:30 o'clock each evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Goebel of Monte Vista, Colorado, arrived in the city yesterday. They came to the San Luis valley some time ago from the east but finding the winter so cold they disposed of their property and will go to Willard with a view to locating there. Mr. and Mrs. Goebel stopped at the Normandie while here.

Cards have been received in this city by relatives and friends announcing the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Walker, of Rosewood, Independence, Missouri, on November the fourth, last. The mother is a daughter of Mrs. Griffin-Shafer who was for many years a resident of this city and is a sister of William E. Griffin and Arthur Griffin of this city. Mother and child are doing well.

Much complaint is heard by visitors as to the negligence of citizens in failing to clean their sidewalks of snow and ice. The crossings, too, are in bad shape and the traveling public comments very vigorously as to the snow and slush on the sidewalks and crossings on the way from the city to the depots. It isn't often that snow is on the ground as long in this city as it has been since last Saturday, but when it does come it should not find the city authorities paralyzed and unable to remedy the unusual conditions.

Last night's dance at the Palace hotel proved one of the most delightful events of its kind held in the capital in many a month. The dance was given by a coterie of young men who choose to make the present winter in Santa Fe a lively one from a social standpoint. Although informal, the affair was none the less enjoyable. During the evening Professor Rinardy rendered several difficult violin solos, thus adding to the evening's pleasures. Refreshments were served during the intermission. Music was furnished by Morrison's four-piece orchestra.

Professor Rinardy, the well-known violinist, entertained the following Tuesday evening in the large parlor at the Nussbaum residence: Miss Johnson of Racine, Wisconsin, and the following young ladies from Santa Fe: Misses Ogle, Weltmer, Moore, Bishop, Jacobs, Bean, Woodson and the following young men: Messrs. Curruthers, Pierce, Sweet, Smith, Burrows, Corbett, McFie, Rushing, Compton and Robinson. Prof. Rinardy entertained the guests with several pleasing violin selections. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Purcell. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Ortiz celebrated the first anniversary of their marriage Wednesday evening. The evening was pleasantly passed with vocal and instrumental music and the Spanish game, Estrado. At 10 o'clock Spanish chocolate and other refreshments were served. The table was prettily decorated in red, white and blue. Among the invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Closson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugenio Baca, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Schultz, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Apodaca, Mr. and Mrs. James Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Roybal, Mesdames Torres, Sanchez, Hernandez and Martinez, Misses Helen, Alire and Jennie Garcia, Zula Larragoite and Ruby Roybal.

VICTORIOUS REBEL LEADER REACHES PORT AU PRINCE.

Port Au Prince, Dec. 5.—The revolutionary army of 8,000 men marched into this city at eight o'clock this morning. General Simon was at the head and was given an ovation by the people. The entrance of the soldiers was orderly, discipline being maintained.

CREAM

Baking Powder

Fifty Years the Standard. A Pure Cream of Tartar Powder. Makes finest cake and pastry, light, flaky biscuit, delicious griddle cakes—palatable and wholesome.

No alum, no lime phosphates

NOTE.—Avoid baking powders made from alum. They look like pure powders, and may raise the cake, but alum is a poison and no one can eat food mixed with it without injury to health.
