WILL WORK FOR THE SCHOOL

Archaeological Society Appoints Committees

NEW MEMBERS ADMITTED

Opportunity That New Mexico and Santa Fe Particularly Should Grasp.

An interesting meeting of the Archaeological Society was held last evening in the office of Judge N. B. Laughlin in the Laughlin Block. There was a good attendance. Judge John R. McFie presided, Secretary Paul A. F. Walter and Treasurer A. H. Broadhead being also present. Judge McFie explained in detail the proposition of the American Institute of Archaeology to establish at Santa Fe a school of American Archaeology similar to its schools of Classic and Oriental Archaeology at Rome, Athens and Jerusalem, but greater in its scope. Judge McFie during his recent trip to Washington, examined thoroughly into the proposition and met clearly all objections thus far urged against the establishment of the school in New Mexico and the proposition of the American Institute, which asks no financial support from the territory for itself, but asks that the territory establish and maintain in the Old Palace a state museum of archaeology which would become world famous for being absolute unique and possessing priceless antiquities that would attract scholars from all parts of the world, not to speak of tourists.

The proposition was discussed at length and every point elucidated, the society coming to the conclusion that New Mexico is offered an advantage that it would be next to criminal to refuse.

The following legislative committee was appointed: John R. McFie, Paul A. F. Walter, A. J. Abbott, Nathan Jaffa and Samuel G. Cartwright.

The following ladies' legislative auxiliary committee was appointed by the president: Mrs. N. B. Laughlin, Mrs. Jacob Weltmer, Mrs. J. E. Wood, Mrs. B. M. Thomas and Miss Jessie Massie.

Judge N. B. Laughlin, Judge A. J. Abbott and A. H. Broadhead were appointed a committee to draft a bill or resolution for introduction in the legislature to embody the proposition of the Institute of Archaeology.

It was announced that Professor Edgar L. Hewett, director of American work of the institute will be in Santa Fe during the legislative session and will deliver a public illustrated lecture on archaeological subjects.

Among the new members admitted last evening are: Hon. Governor George Curry, Hon. Charles A. Spiess, ex-Governor and Mrs. M. A. Otero, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, Miss C. H. Oleson, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Rapp, Dr. J. A. Rolis, Miss Anna Chavannes, J. E. Clark, W. A. Hawkins, of Alamogordo; Jan Van Houten, Raton; Frank Staplin, Farmington; Mrs. M. H. Byrd, Mrs. M. H. Paterson, A. E. P. Robinson, F. C. Larrabee, Brother Hermes, Miss Anna Miugler, Mrs. Dr. F. Wientje, J. B. Wood, J. A. Davis, A. J. Casner, M. L. Burrows, David Martinez, Jr., of Velarde; Dr. Thomas A. McCarty and others. The society has now on its membership roll almost 200 of the leading residents of the territory and is in a prosperous condition financially.

PEACE COMPACT BY CHINESE FACTIONS

An Agreement Has Been Signed That Ends the Trouble in Frisco.

San Francisco, Jan. 8.—War among Chinese Tongs of San Francisco is a thing of the past. Twelve Tongs including the On Yicks and the Suey bitter warfare for some weeks, have affixed seals and signature to a peace compact which binds them to keep the peace in the Chinese quarters or suffer dire consequences. A recent pronouncement of the Chinese government through the consul general here, that relatives of those in China would be made to suffer for the misdeeds of the local Tong men, undoubtedly had much to do with the sudden cessation of hostilities.

FROST IN THE SOUTH.

Washington, Jan. 8.—A frost is due tonight as far south as northern Florida. A slowly climbing mercury is indicated in the Atlantic states on Saturday, and a rising temperature in the interior states, except for severe cold in the northwest. The passing of the eastern snow storm to the Atlantic ocean and the storm signals flying on the California coast, are the features of today's weather bureau report.

STATEHOOD LEGISLATION

To be Delayed Until Sixty-First Congress

SENATOR WATSON OPPOSED

He Desires More Time to Consider Proposed Enabling Act.

Washington, Jan. 8.—It is being hinted that separate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico must go over until the Sixty-first Congress, as consideration of the general appropriation bills and other absolutely necessary legislation requires all the time between now and March 4th. Representative Watson of Indiana, who was appointed on the committee on territories, is reported as being opposed to action on statehood at this session, on the ground that there is not sufficient time to consider the subject.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY NOT CELEBRATED

She and Her Children Show Remarkable Concern for the Earthquake Sufferers.

Rome, Jan. 8.—Following the desires expressed by Queen Helena on the anniversary of her birth, which was observed here today, it was not attended by any festivities. The queen is reported to have said that this year she wished to celebrate the day by working doubly hard for the earthquake sufferers. Her two daughters, aged 7 and 6, instead of buying presents for their mother, turned over the contents of their money boxes to the relief fund. The little crown prince, aged 4, parted with his greatest delight, a complete company of tin soldiers of which he is commander. He took the toys to his mother saying: "This is all I have. Please send them to the poor children."

FIRE WIPES OUT COPPER CO.

El Paso, Texas, Jan. 8.—The concentrator and ore bins of the Calumet and Arizona Copper company at Clifton, Ariz., burned down last night, causing a complete shut-down of the mines and smelter until rebuilt. Loss about $100,000. The fire was caused by the overturning of three carloads of red-hot slag, molten metal pouring against the building and setting it on fire.

CHINESE ENVOY IS RECALLED

Departure Connected With Yuan Shai Kai Matter

IN SEARCH OF CAPITAL

Tang Shao Yi Seeks To Interest American Moneyed Men.

Pekin, Jan. 8.—Tang Shao Yi, who is at present at Washington on a special diplomatic mission from the Chinese government, has been recalled. He will come back via Europe, leaving Washington immediately.

The American and British ministers here have abandoned the project to unite the various powers in protest against disturbing the present policy of the Chinese government which is thought to have been initiated in the dismissal from office of Yuan Shai Kai, member of the grand council and this phase of the question is now regarded as at an end.

The mission of Tang Shao Yi has been enormously expensive and in some quarters here his summary recall is regarded as giving color to the reports of extravagance lodged against Yuan Shai Kai.

The ostensible reason of Tang Shao Yi coming to the United States was to convey thanks from the Chinese government for remission by the American government of a very considerable portion of the "Boxer" indemnity. But it is declared he purported also to further certain plans for the enlistment of American capital in Manchuria.

WITH OVER ONE BILLION DOLLARS THE UNITED STATES START NEW YEAR

Gratifying Signs of Prosperity Are Everywhere Manifest Extremely Encouraging

CONFIDENCE IS BEING RESTORED EVERYWHERE

Department of Justice will Investigate Report of Violation of Law--Federal Court Decision

Washington, Jan. 8.—The United States begins the year of 1909 with one billion, three hundred and fifty-two million, six hundred and twenty-seven thousand ($1,352,627,000) dollars in gold and silver in the treasury. Of this amount nearly $860,000,000 is in gold and over $494,000,000 is in silver.

There are in national bank deposits nearly $121,000,000 of Uncle Sam's money. The available cash balance is $158,000,000.

So, notwithstanding the extraordinary expenses in the United States proper; in the construction of the Panama Canal; in the Philippines; in Porto Rico; in sending the greatest fleet of war vessels ever assembled together, around the world; the United States starts the year 1909 in a very strong financial condition. And far ahead of any nation in the whole world. And now the greatest and strongest war fleet is in position to perform an act of mercy to a friendly nation, in its great calamity, that shall demonstrate the brotherhood of nations as well as the brotherhood of man. Many millions have been called from the treasury in 1908 which will not be called to meet similar expenses in the year of 1909.

The receipts for the first half of the year 1909 are about $30,000,000 less than in the fiscal year of 1908, and the expenses for the fiscal year of 1909 for the first half has been nearly $20,000,000 more than 1908. This shows an apparent deficit for 1909 of about $60,000,000 over 1908. For the month of December, 1908, the receipts are about what they were in 1907, and the expenses are but a small amount more than in 1907. Thus the receipts getting close to the expenses; and with an available cash balance of $158,000,000 to draw from, it would cause no serious disturbance of the country's finances if a few millions of the $121,000,000 now in the national bank depositories should be distributed among the people. Confidence is being restored and the country assuming normal conditions. Government officials are authority for the statement that by four agencies the packers have the meat produce of the country within their control, and they are having almost as great control over perishable fruits.

By a "clearing house" all prices are said to be regulated. The department of justice is investigating the report, that every day, in violation of the decisions of the federal courts and the anti-trust and interstate commerce laws, agents of the packers get together in a saloon adjoining the stockyards, in Chicago, and there discuss prices until the consensus of opinion is learned.

One man is the judge. When he is satisfied he proceeds directly to the offices of a brokerage firm, where he makes bids. An understanding as to how these bids shall alter quotations makes it easy to make prices. This plan is said to have worked perfectly since 1906. Rebating is believed to have existed in new and elusive forms. Great sums allowed packers annually for "losses" through "wrecks, delayed transmissions, track demurrage, overcharges, and car rentals," are thought to be disguised rebates.

Weapons against competitors are said to be refusals to supply cars on

A GOOD MAN JOINS SILENT MAJORITY

Herman Lindheim Died in New York On First Instant.

Information was received here yesterday by friends of the deceased that Herman Lindheim, who was a prosperous dry goods merchant in this city for a number of years, but who ten years ago went to New York to reside, died in that city on the first instant from the effect of an operation. He was in many respects hale and hearty, but had an abscess in his right ear. This was operated upon by his physicians and the effects of the operation were the cause of his death. He was a Hebrew and a very successful business man being engaged in the wholesale dry goods business. He leaves a widow and a three-year-old son who are well provided for. His remains were interred in one of the large Hebrew cemeteries near New York City.

SUPREME COURT CONTINUES SESSION

A Number of Interesting Cases Being Heard

EXAMINATIONS OVER

Many Promising Young Men Have Been Admitted to the Bar.

The supreme court continued its session in the chambers at the capitol this morning with Hon. William J. Mills, chief justice, John R. McFie, Frank W. Parker, William H. Pope and Edward A. Mann, associate justices present on the bench. Case No. 1217, The Gallup Electric Light company, appellee, versus the Pacific Improvement company, appellants, was opened and arguments submitted.

The following were admitted to the bar of the territory on examination: Robert L. Graves, Roswell; Samuel Bushman, Albuquerque; Ira L. Grimshaw, Santa Fe; J. Raynor Espy, Clayton; W. W. Hartman, Sylvanite; Charles F. Easley, Estancia; H. C. Hittson, Tucumcari; Myron B. Kestor, Tucumcari; William Alexander Sutherland, Las Cruces; Matt Fowler, Deming; C. M. Compton, Jr., Portales; J. C. Compton, Portales; J. M. O'Brien, Roswell; Quintus A. Kaune, Portales; Edward C. Wade, Jr., Alamogordo.

Yesterday afternoon the case No. 1216, United States of America, appellee versus Santa Rita Mining company and Santa Rita Store company, appellants, was opened and arguments submitted. Major W. H. H. Llewellyn of Las Cruces acted for the prosecution and the Hon. Harlee for the defense. The company is charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust law.

LARGE NUMBER "FREE USE" PERMITS

Were Issued By the National Forest Service During the Year.

Washington, Jan. 8.—During the last fiscal year ending June 30, the United States Forest Service issued to settlers in the neighborhood of National Forests in western states over 30,000 "free use" permits, under which the settlers received free about 264,000 cords of firewood, posts, poles and sawlogs, worth $169,320, or about 64 cents per cord in the forest—a low valuation.

Besides this, the different states received for school and road purposes 25 per cent of the income from the National Forests amounting last year to $447,064. The direct return to the states in lieu of taxes on the 147 million acres, the estimated area of unpatented land in the National Forests, amounted then in the last year to $616,348 in cash and "free use" timber.

In 1907, the total of "free use" material and money paid over amounted to about $253,400. The increase of the amount given to the states from 10 per cent to 25 per cent of course is largely responsible for the large return in 1908, but even had this percentage not been changed a good increase would have been shown, despite the demoralization of the timber business caused by the financial flurry. In fact, this increase may be looked for up to many times the present amount as the demand for timber increases and the forests are developed more and more.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IN LIBEL SUIT

A Charge of Criminal Libel Filed Against One of Hearst's Papers.

New York, Jan. 8.—A grand jury indictment charging criminal libel was filed here against the Star Publishing company, which prints the New York American. The complaining witness was John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The complaint is based on a newspaper article connecting Mr. Rockefeller's name with the alleged practice of peonage in a stockade near Chicago. Mr. Rockefeller's individual complaints against Messrs. Carvelho, Merrill and Clark, of the Star company are now pending.

NIGHT RIDERS ARE CONVICTED

Union City, Tenn., Jan. 8.—For the first time in six months Union City and Odion county breathes freely. The eight men on trial for night riding and murder were convicted by the jury last night and this has had a reassuring effect upon the public. The trials of other indicted men will not take place until the May terms.

PRESIDENT SLAPPED BY THE HOUSE

Special Committee Resolve to Shelve His Message

MEMBERS GROW HOT

Wrothy at the Chief Executive's Insinuations.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Chairman Perkins of the special committee which has been considering that portion of the president's message regarding secret service, made his final report to the house today. The galleries were packed with interested spectators and almost a full membership of the house were in their seats. Perkins made an extended address to the house in which he condemned the president's references in the message and presented the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the house in the exercise of its constitutional prerogative, declines to consider any communication from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful, and further.

Resolved, That the special committee and the committee of the whole of the house, be discharged from any consideration of the president's annual message, insofar as it relates to the secret service, and that said portion of the message be laid on the table; and, be it further

Resolved, That the message of the president, sent to the house on January 4, 1909, being unresponsive to the inquiry of the house and constituting an invasion of the privileges of the members of the house by questioning the motives and intelligence of the members in the exercise of their constitutional rights and functions, be laid on the table.

Messrs. Tawney, Smith, Cowe, Sherry and Fitzgerald spoke on the report, resenting what they deemed to be insinuations by the president upon members of the committee on appropriations.

THOUGHT TO BE SCOTT DEATH VALLEY MINER

Man is Found Badly Handled and in Delirious Condition.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—Strapped to a cot, raving in delirium and suffering from a double fracture of the skull and a hemorrhage of the brain, an unidentified man of apparent wealth and refinement, who was robbed, beaten and left unconscious in the zero cold of Wednesday night, was found lying in his room. It is believed that he might be Walter Scott, the Death Valley miner, who was a guest at the local hotel recently with a man named Campbell.

The man wore a collar marked with the name "Campbell," and once in a delirium he gave the name of "Scott." In build and general appearance however, it is said that Scott differs from the man in the hospital.

DIAMONDS VALUED AT $2,000

Found Concealed in Teddy Bear Carried By Woman Arrested.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Ada Lee, alias Stella Gilmore, twenty-two years old, and extremely pretty, is in the county jail, charged by William Wing, manager of the A. L. Richey Confectionary company in Durango, with the theft of diamonds valued at $2,000.

Mrs. Lee denied that she ever got more than $650 worth of diamonds from Wing. And those, she declares, he gave to her. These diamonds are now locked in the vault at the jail, to be identified by Wing.

Three deputy sheriffs, assisted by the matron of the jail, spent four hours in searching the woman and her baggage and trying to learn from her where the diamonds were concealed. They were about ready to give up the search, when she calmly handed them a Teddy bear which she had been carrying.

There was no evidence of any holes having been made in the bear's hide. One of the deputies gave the woman a knife and told her to find the stones. She soon produced a two-carat diamond from each of the bear's feet and a two-carat diamond ring from its chest.

PROHIBITION REIGN IN SMALL TOWNS

A Saloonkeeper Writes a Letter Setting Forth His Views on the Subject, and He Speaks From Experience.

The following interesting letter has been received by the editor of the New Mexican, Colonel Frost:

Abiquia, N. M., Dec. 30, Colonel Max. Frost.

Dear Sir:—I am compelled to express to you my sentiments on the prohibition question for New Mexico to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors in this territory and future state. I am a man that has dealt in the sale of liquors for thirty-two years and I am compelled to tell the truth that I am in favor of prohibition absolutely of the sale of intoxicating liquors where there are not 1,000 inhabitants, because in these villages where there is 200 or 400 or 500 inhabitants there is no restraint, no one who respects the authorities and no one to guard the public peace. Here in these villages are committed the most horrible and stupid crimes. In these villages that pay small licenses, saloons are always found. In this place where I have lived for more than thirty years there has always been one saloon if not two, but the greater part of the time only one, now there are three, and for this reason, seeing that in these places there is no respect in the community, nor respect for the public peace nor respect for the families and their homes, therefore I am in favor of said law. There is also another reason. I see that you have always defended the welfare of the public, of all our citizens and particularly our own families. Your splendid paper, El Nuevo Mexicano, has no parallel in this territory. It has been and is the defender of the welfare of the public and of our territory and you are a man most intrepid and honest and true to one and express the truth. I wish I had more and more words to express such a eulogy such as you deserve, because in the whole confines of our territory we have no other man to help the territory as you do.

NEW MEXICO CATTLE IN FINE CONDITION

O. B. McKissick, of Richardson, N. M., who operates a cattle ranch up in the Capitan mountains, reports in a recent interview that so far as feed is concerned, cattle and sheep will go through the winter there in fine shape. The ranch headquarters are located at an elevation of 6,000 feet, but most of the cattle range is several thousand feet higher than that. "Fewer cattle than last winter, and more feed, place us in fine shape," said Mr. McKissick. "We are especially short on aged steers. Up to date we have had no storms and cattle have been doing well. There are lots of them. That whole country is full of sheep. Last season was a rather peculiar one in that territory. In spots the feed was cut short by drought, while in other places, such as our part of the territory, there was an abundance of feed. We are short on cattle, which helps out, and then with all the range feed we need, we will go through in the very best of shape. Cattlemen generally are in fine spirits. We had a fairly successful year last season, and the new year seems to open up with a very bright promise. I think the whole range cattle district shows up more favorably than in former years, there being an improvement each year. We are giving the business more careful attention than formerly, and the results are much more satisfactory."

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

S.S.S. BEST TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

S. S. S. is the best treatment for Catarrh because it is a perfect blood purifier. It is the only medicine that is able to get down into the circulation and entirely remove the catarrhal matter and impurities which produce the trouble. As long as the mucous membranes and tissues are kept inflamed and irritated by this impure and infected condition of the blood Catarrh will remain. Its disagreeable and dangerous symptoms, of ringing noises in the ears, mucus dropping back into the throat, headaches, watery eyes, difficult breathing, and even stomach disorders and weakened health, cannot be permanently relieved until the blood is purified. Nothing equals S. S. S. for this purpose. It goes down to the very root of the trouble, and removes every particle of the catarrhal matter from the blood and enriches this vital fluid so that all the mucous surfaces are supplied with nutritive, healthful qualities, instead of being constantly irritated and inflamed by impurities in the circulation. Then the symptoms begin to pass away and when S. S. S. has entirely purified the blood, Catarrh is permanently cured and the general health greatly built up. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

NOW ALMOST FORGOTTEN IS FORMER HOLIDAY

NINETY-FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF NEW ORLEANS.

The anniversaries of national events in America are so numerous as to be almost beyond the ordinary memory of the people; but there are some that so rise in importance as to deserve continual remembrance, and among those is the mighty and victorious battle that took place ninety-four years ago today. According to General Jackson's official report he had in line on the 8th of January, to meet the onset of the British, 15,000 men; Pakenham's force was at least 10,000 men, with ample supplies on board the British fleet which lay just off shore. Of the above number, General Keane attacked the American breastworks with over 2,500 men. After describing the preliminary fighting previous to the main battle, Roosevelt says: "At last, the sun rose, and as its beams struggled through the morning mist they glistened on the bayonets of the English, where their scarlet ranks were drawn up in battle array, but 400 yards from the American breastworks. At once the American artillery leaped into furious life; and ready and quick the invaders responded. Three-fourths of that space was crossed by the British and then a fire of hell smote the invaders. As the British column, under the deadly fire, and aghast at the slaughter, the reeling files staggered and gave back, Pakenham rode to the front and, the troops rallying round him, sprang forward with ringing cheers. But once again the pealing rifle-blast beat in their faces; and the life of the dauntless leader went out before its scorching, fiery breath. With him fell the other general who was with the column, and all the men who were leading it on; and, as a last resource General Keane brought up his stalwart Highlanders; but in vain the stubborn mountaineers rushed on, only to die as their comrades had died before them. Keane was struck down; and the shattered wrecks of the British column, quailing before certain destruction, turned and sought refuge beyond the reach of the leaden death that had overwhelmed their comrades. The English had thrown for high stakes and had lost everything and they knew it. There was nothing left to hope for. Of their four generals, Pakenham was dead, Gibbs dying, Keane disabled, and only Lambert was left. It was useless to make another trial. They had learned to their bitter cost that no troops, however steady, could advance over open ground against such a fire as came from Jackson's lines. The British artillerymen had three times tried conclusions with the American gunners, and each time had been forced to acknowledge themselves worsted. They would never have another chance to repeat their flank attack, for Jackson had greatly strengthened and enlarged the works on the west bank, and had seen that they were fully manned. The British had found that they could not advance, and it was worse than useless for them to stay where they were, for though they, from time to time had been reinforced, yet Jackson's forces augmented faster than theirs; so there was but one thing left to do, and that was to retreat. In twenty-five minutes the battle was over, and in that short space of time the British had lost seven hundred killed, fourteen hundred wounded, and five hundred prisoners; while the American loss was but seventeen, all told. Remarkable as this wonderful victory was, it will be considered more remarkable when it is known that Jackson's troops were, mainly, unorganized, undisciplined, and very poorly equipped backwoods pioneers, who were hastily called upon to meet three times their number of the best troops England had at her disposal, troops who had been trained under the vigilant eye of the greatest British generals, the Duke of Wellington; and who frequently defeated the best soldiers of the great Napoleon. No wonder that the Iron Duke declared that the reports of the battle were—Yankee lies; but even he was finally compelled to acknowledge that they were plain although very bitter truths. And so ended the greatest victory in the history of America, and certainly the most humiliating defeat in all the annals of British warfare.

TERRITORIAL NEWS NOTES

AT LAS VEGAS.

An attempt to burglarize the residence of Emmanuel Rosenwald on the west side was frustrated, Saturday night, by Felipe Baca y Garcia, a night patrolman, who was passing by the Rosenwald premises at an unseasonably late hour.

The patrolman's approach was the occasion for firing two shots at him. He replied with one shot, all missing the mark. However, that mischief was intended by the marauders, was shown by the fact that a hat, a mask and a bunch of three keys, which had been accidentally dropped by the would-be robbers in their mad flight, were found scattered about on the pavement in front of the Rosenwald residence in the rear of E. Rosenwald & Son's store.

Mrs. Annie J. Naeglin, wife of William Naeglin, a well known ranchman, died at her home in Twelfth street, Saturday night shortly after 10 o'clock after an illness of several days.

Mrs. Naeglin was born in Mora county forty-one years ago, being a daughter of the late Henry Korte, in his time a financial power and leading citizen of the territory. Most of her younger days were spent on the plains.

AT CARLSBAD.

R. J. Biles of Colorado Springs, Colo., has sued for a receivership for the Pecos Irrigation company. He alleges that he is a stockholder in said corporation, and that the president of said corporation is prolonging the life of itself in order to receive the emoluments from the sales of land act. Mr. Biles is a millionaire from Colorado Springs and has made many investments in and around Carlsbad. The receivership will be fought desperately.

Some months ago Captain E. P. Bujae of this place lost nearly $5,000 worth of diamonds in a very mysterious way and has never had a clue to their whereabouts. A few nights ago Mrs. Koebler, a wealthy lady of this place, lost nearly $500 worth and no clue. Many theories have been advanced, but still this robbery is not solved.

CONGRESS HAS THE GROUCH.

There is really no exception that any congressman can justly take to the president's special message in which he pleads for the secret service of the federal government and points to the good it has accomplished, especially since the president acknowledges the possibility of abuse of this arm of the government. But congress has the grouch and proposes to sift the charges against the service without making much allowance for its necessity or for its value in hunting down real criminals. Says the Washington Post, for instance:

"Senator Hale, acting chairman of the committee on appropriations, has issued a statement outlining the scope of the investigation into the secret service soon to be undertaken by the committee, by direction of the senate. He takes occasion to remove erroneous impressions conveyed by an article in the Post, in which it was suggested that President Roosevelt might be called as a witness after March 4. Senator Hale expresses a doubt whether it has ever entered into the mind of the most imaginative of senators that it is the intention to prolong the investigation and to call upon President Roosevelt as a witness when he becomes a private citizen."

"Senator Hale points out that the task to be undertaken by the committee is not that of investigating the president, nor is it undertaken as the result of his message, nor will the committee's report be limited as an answer to the message. The secret service, as a whole, is to be investigated, and the reason for the investigation is not the president's reference to the service, but the belief that the original purpose and scope of the secret service have been departed from. The fact that such a belief is entertained by many senators and representatives is sufficient reason for a thorough investigation."

"It is hardly necessary to suggest that any investigation by a senate committee with Senator Hale at its head will be deliberate, thorough, and devoid of sensation. There will be no misuse of the committee's authority, nor will the inquiry be turned into a spectacle or a farce. Mr. Hale remarks that he has no reason to believe that the heads of departments will decline to furnish the facts that have been called for, but he adds, significantly, that if there should be any undue delay, the committee will see to it that a resolution be presented to the senate formally directing that the information be furnished."

"The ground to be covered by the committee will be quite extensive. It will not be an easy task to bring out the extent and ramifications of the secret service. But since the work has been undertaken, it is well that it should be in the hands of such men as Senator Hale, who will not fail to furnish to congress and to the public all the information available on the subject."

That this grouch against the secret service is also felt among the people of the Rocky Mountain States is apparent for there is no doubt that many respectable men have had suspicion cast upon them and have been even prosecuted for acts that were above board and committed with the tacit consent of the federal departments. But even for this, the secret service is not to blame, for it merely accomplished what it was sent to do. Nor is there reason to throw the blame on the president or on any particular official, for all this investigation business was due to popular clamor and an outbreak of "muck-raking" by scribblers who write sensational accusations against honest men and officials for so much a line. Says the Denver Republican, and the article must be read between the lines to gauge its full portent and to find its application to recent happenings in New Mexico:

"The decision of the supreme court of the United States sustaining the ruling of Judge Lewis in a number of cases wherein several prominent citizens of this state were unjustly charged with violating the land laws will be viewed with much satisfaction throughout Colorado."

"Attempts to obtain possession of any part of the public lands by illegal methods should be condemned by all good citizens; but over eagerness on the part of detectives and special attorneys to make records for themselves should not be permitted to involve reputable citizens in charges which cannot be sustained.

"The supreme court has so fully sustained the decision of Judge Lewis that no question can arise concerning the correctness of the position taken by him in these cases; and presumably a check will be placed upon the zeal without discretion of some of the agents of the federal government who have not displayed as much prudence as they should have exercised in their land investigations."

"The people of Colorado are not in sympathy with law breakers. They have no wish to shelter men who have swindled the government and obtained possession of public lands by methods which the law condemns. But at the same time they refuse to sustain all the acts of every petty agent of the federal government who is more anxious to make a record for himself than to secure the punishment of men who really have violated the law."

The New Mexican is confident that the courts will not be moved from the path of justice by any fulminations from whatever source they come and that as long as this is the case there need be no fear of tyranny by the secret service or any other government agency.

Judge Lewis, of the United States circuit court, handed down another decision of great interest to western people, when he ruled this week that the federal government does not have to regard the Colorado fencing law and that it is obligatory upon stockmen to see to it that their cattle do not stray on forest reserves. Stockmen dare not permit their stock to graze on forest reserves even without their knowledge until they pay the fee required by federal statute. In other words, the supremacy of the federal law over state and territorial laws is upheld once more, in a decision that has peculiar application to conditions existing also in this territory where the public domain is broken by seven million acres of forest reserves and where stock often strays across the forest reserve lines even without the knowledge of the owner.

The supreme court of the United States has decided that regulations heretofore made by the attorney general and the secretary of the interior in regard to the obtaining of public lands, coal and timber, by citizens of the United States making it hard for the citizens to obtain same, and prescribing very stringent regulations, are not in accordance with law and cannot be enforced, which means that the many special attorneys general and secret service agents of the departments will have to be dismissed from the service of the United States and will no longer draw fat salaries. This is a saving to the national treasury and a good thing for the people. It is high time that some of these men were kicked out of their positions which they use to oppress the people.

The greatest advancement in the history of New Mexico is now taking place and it will continue for the coming year and for many years thereafter. The price of wool is constantly increasing per pound, lambs are going up in value, cattle are soaring higher than for many years, and fruits and farm produce bring good prices. More coal than ever before is being mined and coal miners are making from three to four dollars a day or double what they get in the states. Lots of timber is being cut and much lumber is being manufactured. The outlook for the new state is splendid.

Today is the 100th anniversary of the battle of New Orleans fought between the American troops under General Jackson and the British troops under Packingham, in which the regular British army was badly whipped by the American volunteer riflemen.

A story in connection with this memorable fight has been prepared by Judge A. L. Morrison of this city and is published in another column of this paper, and will be found very interesting.

The war cloud that hovered over the Balkan Peninsula the past few weeks seems to have been dissipated. It is evident that the possibility or probability of war these modern days grows more remote each year and that universal peace will be an accepted fact without the signing of any special treaty or agreement. Public opinion is more potent anyway than any diplomatic arrangement.

The New Mexican is informed that a petition is being widely circulated and is receiving numerous signers in eastern New Mexico, asking the coming legislative assembly to abolish the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell and use the building for a normal school. It is understood that the socialists are behind this movement as they have a pet theory that the United States can get along without military and naval preparations and that states and territories ought to have no militia and should not train their youth in military tactics and discipline. When the great dividing up of wealth and looting of vested rights is to be undertaken by the socialistic organization, the military might make inconvenient protest. Of course, the legislature will not listen to any proposition of that kind. If eastern New Mexico is entitled to a normal school, ways and means will be found by the assembly to provide it without destroying New Mexico's finest school for boys or laying violent hands upon any institution so creditable to the territory and so much needed as the institute at Roswell.

A bill introduced in congress and certain of passage provides for the transfer of the Indian School and Military Reservation at Fort Lewis, near Durango, Colorado, to the state of Colorado, it being the policy of the federal government to abandon gradually all non-reservation schools and giving them to the states in which they are located. Sooner or later this will be the fate of the U. S. Indian School in this city, whether the people of Santa Fe like it or not. The buildings will make a fine home for a state industrial school and should be used for that purpose. The project of establishing a territorial manual training or industrial school by the coming legislative assembly, therefore, should be held in abeyance, at least as far as large expenditures for buildings are concerned, until the fate of the Indian School in this city is definitely decided.

One of the most important measures to come before the next session of the assembly will be the improvement of the school laws of the territory. Comprehensive and liberal laws must be enacted and every child from five years up until it is twelve years of age, boy or girl, should be compelled to attend. The English and Spanish languages, both, should be taught by the teachers. Reading, writing and arithmetic should also be among the studies in the public schools.

If the coming legislative assembly must consider one-half of the advice which is already being given it freely by newspapers and individuals, it will have to hold night sessions right from the start and will have no occasion to complain that it has nothing to do. The rapid growth and development of the territory the past two years has given rise to many new conditions that call for legislative action and it will take wise counsel and thorough discussion to prevent freak laws from going on the statute books.

The sentiment for prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors of all kinds in all towns of the territory having a smaller population than 1,000 is universal. The people also desire that the liquor licenses in all towns containing over 1,000 people shall be made $500 per annum and that a local option law be enacted. These measures if made into law would do the people a great deal of good and their enforcement would stop much crime, much lawlessness, much drunkenness, and much public disturbance.

That boundary dispute between Colorado and New Mexico, as well as the differences over the Texas-New Mexico boundary, are still in an unsettled state. Congress, the president, and Colorado and Texas should get together in these matters, for valuable property rights are involved and with the settling up of the public domain along the territorial boundaries, many complications will ensue unless the boundaries are definitely established for all time to come.

The United States supreme court is being called upon frequently of late years to pass upon decisions of lower courts in disputes between industry and organized labor. It is somewhat disquieting to contemplate what would happen to this nation if it were not for that bulwark of liberty, and the constitution the U. S. supreme court.

New Mexico escaped the cold wave and blizzard which extended this week over the country from Colorado eastward. Winter and summer, New Mexico's climate is more equable, more sunny, more healthful than that of Colorado or of any other half-wild in Uncle Sam's dominions.

The curtain has lifted on the democratic factional dog and cat fight in the Colorado legislature and the people of this territory who are reading the press reports are obtaining an idea of what they escaped by voting the right way on November 3, last.

The New Mexican Archaeological society is doing great and telling work for New Mexico and deserves the support of every good citizen.

FEEBLE OLD LADY

Has Strength Restored By Vinol

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewistown, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles
I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily.
Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled. If it fails to give satisfaction we will return your money.

is remarkably good for a young man only twenty-two years of age. He has studied law for the past three years in his father's office and also is a very competent stenographer and a rapid operator on the Remington machine.
With many other applicants he was sworn in the afternoon and received his diploma as an attorney and counselor-at-law of the supreme court of the territory. He will remain here until the session of the Thirty-eighth legislative assembly on the 18th inst.,
and will very likely receive a position as stenographer and clerk in the council. He is fully competent.

Charles R. Easley, son of C. P. Easley, a well known Santa Fe attorney, passed a creditable examination yesterday and was admitted to the bar of the territory. He has formed a partnership with his father for the practice of his profession, and will look after the interests of the firm at Estancia. He is a graduate of the Columbia law school, at Columbia, Mo., and will doubtless make a successful career in his chosen profession.

I. O. O. F. LODGE RECEIVES
GIFT FROM PHILIPPINES

Santa Fe Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., has received from a member, John George Miller, principal of an Industrial school at Vigan, Philippine Islands, a very beautiful gavel. Mr.
Miller is a son of David L. Miller, secretary of the lodge. The gavel is made from a black wood similar to ebony, called by the natives "Bolatnon" and by the Spaniards "Camagon." It takes a high polish by simply rubbing with a cloth and the heart of the tree alone is used. The gavel is beautifully carved having the three links upon it and a silver ball on one end, made from old Philippine coins melted and through the ball is the tusk of a wild boar. Upon the silver band is engraved: "Presented to Santa Fe Lodge, No. 2, I. O. O. F., by John George Miller, Manila, P. I., Dec. 25, 1908." Mr. Miller turned out the gavel himself, one of his students did the carving and another the engraving. The gift will be highly prized by the lodge. D. L. Miller received with the gavel presents for himself, a cane from the same rare
wood and a Philippine hat.

Stop and figure out how much money you would save if you cut your fuel bills right in two, and still doubled will be the strongest of all arguments why you

THE THIEVES OF JAPAN

Ingenious Rascals, Among the Cleverest in the World.

ONE OF THEIR FOXY TRICKS.

The Method by Which They Steal the Shoes Off the Women's Feet in the Public Streets—How a Miser's Money Chest Was Bared and Looted.

An Englishman entered a first class car of one of the railroad trains that run between Tokyo and Yokohama. He was a little red in the face and apparently ruffled in temper. He had just discovered that his pocket had been picked in the station, and he exclaimed bitterly against thieves in general and Japanese thieves in particular.

An American who had been engaged in Yokohama for a number of years noticed the Englishman's quandary. Turning round to me, he said: "Our English friend seems a bit excited. If he growls at having his pocket picked, what would he say if he had the shoes stolen off his feet?"

"That is clearly an impossibility," I laughed.

"I don't know about that," he returned. "It may not happen with our western style of shoes, button and lace; but, all the same, I have heard and I know it to be a fact that the sandals of Japanese have been stolen off their feet."

"Well, how is it done?" I asked. "Very simply," he answered. "Suppose a Japanese woman who has a particularly fine pair of lacquered clogs is one of a great crowd that is watching a passing procession or a religious celebration of priests in front of a temple. Along comes an expert pickpocket—or pickfoot, I don't know which you want to call him. His keen eyes, fastened on the ground, discover those desirable clogs. Thereupon he makes up his mind that he wants them.

"The first thing she knows the owner of the clogs feels an unpleasant sensation in her left foot. Naturally she wants to stop it, and quite mechanically and almost absently she slips her right foot out of its clog and begins to scratch that uncomfortable spot in her left foot with her toes. She feels relieved. Forgetting all about the incident, she becomes absorbed in the spectacle again. Soon the irritation crosses over to a similar spot in her right foot. Absently, once more, she slides her left foot out of its clog and begins to soothe the troublesome spot with her toes."

"The thief was responsible for the irritation and walked off with the clogs," I said.

"Certainly. The rascal caused the trouble with a bit of straw or wire," he returned.

"But one would think that the moment the foot of the victim touched the ground its clog would be missed and the thief would run the chance of being caught before the second clog could be stolen."

"Oh, that is one of the cleverest parts of the trick," explained my friend. "The thief comes supplied with a pair of cheap wooden clogs costing but a few sen, and the owner of the lacquered footgear goes away with them and never notices the difference, at least not until it is too late to profit from the knowledge."

"Are Japanese thieves so very clever, then?" I asked.

"Oh, very!" he returned. "Some time ago I heard of one of them who used to carry a handful of watch rings to fit into the stems of all sorts of watches that he might come by dishonestly. Once he lifted a watch in a train, and the owner, missing it, but not knowing who the thief was, set up a shout and had a policeman summoned. The police, to satisfy the victim, insisted that every one in the train show his watch. When the turn of the thief came he drew out of his pocket the stolen timepiece, and its original possessor, not recognizing it on account of the changed ring, missed an easy chance to regain his property."

"It was the same fellow, I believe," he continued, "who managed by the expenditure of a little money to have himself enrolled under different names in the various lists of different towns. When arrested he gave one of these various names to the authorities. The police, on looking up the record of the name given, were unable to find any black marks against it. Thus he always managed to escape with a light punishment for his first offense, committed I don't know how many times."

"But I don't know that any of these fellows were as clever as another thief I heard about. You know many of the Japanese sleep on a sort of bed made up on the floor, called a futon. Well, an old Japanese miser kept his money in the house, concealed in a small chest of drawers. In the daytime he never took his eyes off his treasure, and at night he had his futon pushed tightly against it, so no robber could get at his money without awakening him.

"For a long time a gang of thieves had been puzzling their brains to find a way of stealing the board without being detected. Well, on a certain night one of them entered the house and gently, little by little, pulled the bed on which the miser lay away from the chest of drawers. Then he quickly emptied the drawers of their currency, shoved the bed back to its original position and made his escape."

"Several days passed before the unfortunate miser detected his loss,"—Chicago News.

2. wise skepticism is the first attribute of a good critic.—Shakespeare.

Ancient Records. Many ancient records have been preserved on bricks, tiles, tablets of various substances and on oyster and other shells.

Pumping Hot Water. Water at high temperature cannot be raised any considerable distances by suction, as the vapor discharged from the water so heated follows the receding pistons of the pump and resists the entrance of the water. Consequently to pump hot water always place the supply above the pump so that it will be supplied from a head.

Vinegar Workers. Men who work for many years in vinegar factories experience dull pains in the joints, caused by the fumes of the acid softening the lime in the bones.

Climbing Plants. If a prop or support of any kind be placed within six inches of a climbing plant the tendrils of the plant will surely find it, even though its position be shifted every day.

To Make Camphorated Oil. Get the common cottonseed table oil, which is sold for sweet oil. Small bottles at retail stores usually cost 10 cents. Half fill a six ounce bottle with gum camphor, then fill with oil and let it stand in a very warm place over night. The oil will take up only just so much of camphor, and when it is used off with oil again, repeating the process until the camphor is dissolved. This is cheap and clean and will not soil clothing.

Dogs of Luxury. The appearance of little dogs as objects of luxury goes back to the most ancient times, says the London Globe. Documents are not wanting to show that Greek and Roman women had pet dogs which they idolized. Even men, particularly among foreigners, were not ashamed to walk the streets of Rome with pet dogs under their arms. Plutarch relates that Julius Caesar, seeing one day in Rome some strangers thus loaded with their dogs, asked them ironically whether the women of their country did not bear children. Tertius, the daughter of Lucius Aurelius Paulus, was so fond of her dog that in the moment of bidding farewell to her father, who was about to leave his country and his family to wage war against Perseus, king of Macedonia, she frankly admitted that the sadness imprinted on her face was due to the death of her pet dog Persa.

Daffodil Poisoning. A large number of plants which are usually looked upon as harmless possess poisonous properties, says the Dundee Advertiser. Those who are employed in picking daffodils and narcissus frequently suffer severely from a troublesome skin affection known as "daffodil poisoning." The most trying feature of this ailment is the small gatherings which form under the finger nails. It is said that minute crystals of lime exist in large numbers in the juice of the stems of the pretty blooms and that these are responsible for the poisoning. Regular daffodil pickers are accustomed to rub their hands with oil and work tallow in underneath their finger nails before beginning their work. The bulbs of the white Roman hyacinth have similar unpleasant properties.

With Thanks. John Budd was a most sedate, precise and altogether exemplary young man. When he wooed and won Susan Smiley, the belle of the village, everybody rejoiced at John's good fortune. However, he bore his triumph with modesty and decorum until the day of the wedding. Then for one awful moment his air of aplomb failed him. When the officiating clergyman asked, "Will you, John, take this woman to be thy wedded wife?" John responded blushing. "Yes, please,"—Harper's Weekly.

Something Good. Johnnie on his first visit to his grandparents, who live in the country, communicated with his anxious family as follows: Dear Ma—I am well and hope you are. Your loving son, JOHN. If you want something good, get a red cabbage and eat it raw.

The Rattles. Jimmy—I was walking in the woods when all at once I came on the biggest kind of a rattlesnake. Pa—How do you know it was a rattlesnake, Jimmy? Jimmy—By the way my teeth rattled as soon as I saw him.—Chicago News.

Willing to Help Him. He had gone to the dry goods store with a bit of dress material which his wife had bidden him to watch. "I am very sorry, sir," said the salesman, "but I have nothing exactly like this. The very last remnant was sold this morning."

"But I must have it!" exclaimed the husband. "Otherwise how can I face my wife?" "If you will permit me, sir," said the salesman, "I would venture to suggest that you invite a friend home to dinner with you."—Chicago Record-Herald.

NEW SMELTER SOON TO START

Socorro, N. M., Will Be Greatly Benefitted by Operation of a New Concern with a Payroll of $9,000.

Socorro, N. M., Jan. 8.—The new smelter at Socorro is expected to be blown within four months. The smelter will begin with two furnaces with a capacity of one hundred and fifty tons each and the payroll in Socorro will be in the neighborhood of $9,000 a month. Active construction will begin within fifteen days.

The Pan-American Smelting company was organized some months ago by El Paso men who formed the company with a capital of $5,000,000, divided into 500,000 shares of the par value of $10 each. The stock is selling at par. W. T. Stewart, of El Paso, is president; J. A. Lowe, general manager, and J. B. Cursan, of Pittsburg, Pa., secretary and treasurer. The company has purchased the old Billings smelter at Socorro familiar to all of the older mining men of New Mexico. This plant was closed down by the smelting combine some eighteen years ago. The buildings will be made over and new furnaces and thoroughly modern equipment installed. It is expected that the work will proceed rapidly and that the plant will blow in about the first of May. The payroll which Mr. Stewart says will be of $9,000 a month will be a large item in encouraging prosperity at Socorro.

The new smelter will draw its ores from the Kelly and Magdalena mining districts of Socorro county and it is expected that considerable ore will be sent for treatment from the lead district east of Albuquerque. The smelter will be devoted to the smelting of lead, silver and copper with special attention to the two former ores.

There is every reason to expect that this smelter will prove of value not only to the development of the mining districts centering around Kelly, but of the promising lead district in the mountains east of Albuquerque. Most favorable freight rates are assured and the smelter will afford means to the mine owners of satisfactory and very economical treatment of ores. Ores will be accepted upon terms favorable to the miner and it will be the fixed policy of the management to accord the fairest treatment to the producers.

Assistant Machinist Meets With Awful Death in Smelter Mill.

Ely, Nev., Jan. 8.—Edward Barrett, a machinist helper, was ground to fragments in the new Huntington mill of the Steptoe Valley smelter at McGill. E. P. Fitzgerald, foreman of the section escaped with severe cuts about the head and his body badly bruised. Barrett and Fitzgerald had thrown off the power from the mill and entered it to make repairs, when the power clutch slipped, and in a second the mill was in motion. Fitzgerald started to climb for the top, knowing that outside assistance was not to be had. He reached safety after being badly battered. Barrett had no chance whatever, the machinery catching him and dragging him to a terrible death.

HONORS TO A COWBOY LAWYER

Mr. Charles H. Hittson, who lead in the bar examination with an average of 98 per cent, is a native ranchman, having come to New Mexico when a small boy with a trial herd from Texas. The Hittson ranches were located near Magdalena, New Mexico, and it was on these ranches that the present "shark" developed his rugged manhood and capacity to comprehend Blackstone. Mr. Hittson never had the privilege of attending a public school, but after taking some preparatory work under private instruction, he entered the Salina Normal University of Kansas, where he took first a business course and then a teachers' course. In both departments he took first honors and brought home "pelts" not culled from New Mexico sheep camps.

Not being satisfied with "a little learning," Mr. Hittson went to the National Normal University of Lebanon, Ohio, where he took first a thorough scientific course and then a classical course, again winning first honors in both departments, and again he returned to New Mexico with a pair of "pelts," one of which was branded "B. S." and the other "A. B." It was Cowpuncher Hittson, B. S., A. B.

It was at this point that Mr. Hittson resolved to quit the white face calves to take up the chase of dirty-faced "kids." He first taught one term of school at Magdalena, then one at Elk, New Mexico, after which he returned to Texas and for two years served as the superintendent of city schools at Memphis, Texas. All of this was meant for a preparation for Blackstone.

In the year 1903, Mr. Hittson entered the law department of the State University of Illinois. Here he achieved his greatest educational triumph. He finished a three-years' course in two years, and yet won the gold key which that university offered to its high man.

Within the history of the University of Illinois Mr. Hittson is the only man who finished a three-year course in two years and with such a handicap landed the coveted gold key, which unlocks the door to that honorary Greek fraternity, Theta Kappa Nu. He has opened an office at Tucuman, N. M.
