HOT ON THE TRAIL

OF A NORMAL SCHOOL

The Citizens of Nara Visa Bent on Being Successful--Send Delegation of Real Live Boosters.

That the town of Nara Visa is wide-awake and doesn't intend to let anything slip by, that can possibly be of benefit to it, is strongly evidenced by the strenuous efforts being put forth by her representatives who are here demanding that the legislature yield to Nara Visa's desires for a Normal school. At the head of the insistent and tenacious bunch of boosters is Willard S. Belknap. As a leader he is there with the goods, backed with a spirit of determination that augurs well for his home town. Incomparably intrepid, he is going after the establishment of a Normal school "tooth and toe nail," and it certainly will not be any fault of his, if, upon his return, Nara Visa is not authorized to proceed with the construction of the much-desired institution. If untiring zeal and incessant labor count for aught, then the fight is already won. In response to a request of a representative of the New Mexican, Mr. Belknap supplied the following information:

We understand it is the sentiment of the members of the legislature that the institutions of learning of the territory should be grouped in a centrally located city. However true this may be as to institutions such as the University, School of Mines, Agricultural College, etc., the reverse should be true of the Normal schools. These schools should be located where they are easy of access to the people. The normal school is the college of the great middle class of people, where the great majority of our people prepare themselves for the every-day duties of life, and hundreds attend such a school where one takes up a University course.

At present the north part of the territory is well provided for by the school at Las Vegas, the southwestern part by the school at Silver City, while the southeastern part is provided for by the military school at Roswell.

Almost the whole dry farming section of the territory is situated along the Rock Island lines in the northeast part of the territory. This section is settled by industrious farmers from the north and east. There is no school that is at all accessible to this section. One can more easily and more quickly reach Kansas City from our section of the country than he can travel to Las Vegas or Silver City.

Nara Visa is the most favorable location for a normal school for the reason that it is on the main line of the Rock Island, and about midway north and south and could be more easily reached by more people in northeastern New Mexico than any other town.

Further than this, Nara Visa is an ideal normal school town; the interests of this section being farming. We lack that element of floating population so detrimental to a normal school. Nara Visa is a town of 800 population and is surrounded by many miles of well settled farming country. The following towns are in the country tributary to Nara Visa: Centerville, Emberson, Amistad, Heyden, Cone, Ione, Mineosa, Alemego and Obar.

DISTRICT COURT NEWS MATTERS

Judge John R. McFie Hears Several Cases in the First Judicial District.

George M. Kinsell, Republican, and Marcelino Garcia, Democrat, of Santa Fe, and Alphonse Dockwiler, Republican, of Tesuque, have been appointed jury commissioners for Santa Fe County and will meet Wednesday to select names for the Santa Fe county jury lists for the March term of the district court.

Divorces Are Granted.

Three divorce cases from San Juan county have been heard lately before Judge John R. McFie. In the matter of E. J. Walters versus Ethel O. Walters of San Juan county, a divorce was granted January 22 on the ground of desertion and abandonment. The court decided this upon the report of the examiner, W. M. Danberg, of Farmington. One child was awarded to the custody of the plaintiff.

In the matters of Laura O. Roberts versus William P. Roberts, of San Juan county, a decree was granted January 23, on the ground of abandonment and desertion. The custody of two minor children was awarded the plaintiff, who was also allowed $50 for attorney's fees.

In the case of Frances S. Conway versus Henry O. Conway, of San Juan county, a divorce decree was granted January 23, on the ground of abandonment. The decree was granted by the court upon the report of James T. Fay of Farmington, referee.

Taxes Ordered Reduced.

In the matter of taxes against William T. Thornton for the years 1892-8, inclusive, erroneously assessed in the name of the Cerrillos Mining company, the court ordered them reduced from $1,477 to $814. The taxes as originally levied were far in excess of those levied on like property in the same neighborhood. Attorney E. A. Fiske represented Mr. Thornton. The order was granted Saturday by Judge McFie.

Would Discharge Receiver.

A motion to quash and discharge the receiver in the case of Nagle versus Gilmour was argued in chambers this morning before Judge McFie by R. H. Hanna, attorney, on behalf of Gilmour, and time was given the plaintiffs until Wednesday afternoon to make reply.

Probate Clerk Compiles.

In the matter of the petition for writ of mandamus by R. H. Hanna versus George W. Armijo, probate clerk, refusal to allow the public records of his office to be examined upon request of complainant. The proof showed that a demand was made and the statement also showed that the use of the books was only required for a period of five minutes. The court held that the demand for the use of the books for five minutes was reasonable under the evidence, and that the refusal justified the petition for mandamus. But as the respondent complied with the temporary writ of mandamus after its service and produced the books, the peremptory writ of mandamus was denied and judgment was rendered against the respondent for the costs.

Action to Quiet Title.

The hearing of case No. 4123, Anice to Abeyta, et al., vs. Will Spiegelberg, et al., was completed before Judge McFie on Saturday. The action is brought to quiet the title to the Caja del Rio land grant comprising some 70,000 acres just west of Santa Fe. E. A. Fiske argued the case for the defendants who were represented by Mr. Fiske, A. B. Renahan and B. M. Read; A. J. Abbott appeared for the Rio Grande Railroad company, intervenors and N. B. Laughlin for the plaintiffs.

Right of Way Condemnation.

This morning an application for condemnation of a right-of-way over land belonging to Marcelino Ortiz was heard by Judge McFie in chambers. C. C. Catron, on behalf of the defendant, demurred to the petition and the demurrer was sustained as to two paragraphs of the petition and overruled as to the remaining three paragraphs. The case was set for a hearing upon its merits on Monday, February 1.

JAPANESE PEACE FULLY INCLINED

Government Officials Agree That Reduction in Armament is Warranted.

Tokio, Jan. 25.—Marquis Katsura, the premier, Count Jutaro Komura, minister of foreign affairs, and Viscount Trauchi, minister of war, made brief speeches today before the diet in answer to the matter of reduction in armaments and the foreign publicity question, that had been propounded to various members of the cabinet. All said in their speeches that Japan's relations with the powers of the world were so improved that the proposed reductions were fully warranted. The leading newspapers commenting on the California situation say that the Japanese people must not forget that the unfriendliness towards Japan in America exists only among a small clique in California.

CAN'T PLACE EARTHQUAKE.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—No definite news has yet been received here regarding the earthquake which was recorded so extensively throughout Europe Saturday. The indications are that it occurred in a remote and thinly populated region of Pamir, Russian Turkistan and the effect was only local.

ANOTHER BAD STORM IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—Another storm following closely that of last week prevails over the Pacific Coast states, causing high winds and heavy rains over most of California. Storm warnings have been displayed at all stations of the weather bureau.

BUSY DAY FOR LEGISLATURE

House in Throes of Debate—Council Passes Bill Making February 12 Legal Holiday.

COUNCIL.

Monday Afternoon. At 2:20 p. m., President Spiess called the Council to order. Every member was present except Catron. By a vote of 6 to 2, the reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

Council petition No. 2, against county division, from Quay county, was referred to the committee on counties and county lines.

Council petition No. 3, from Quay county, protesting against the herd law, was referred to the committee on agriculture. The following joint resolution was introduced by Prince:

Council Joint Resolution No. 8.

Whereas, The twelfth day of February, 1909, is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln; and

Whereas, It is eminently proper that the centennial of the birth of so great and good a man should be suitably observed; therefore

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the twelfth day of February, 1909, be, and it is hereby declared to be, a public and legal holiday in the territory of New Mexico; and further,

Resolved, That the people of New Mexico be requested to observe said day with such ceremonies and exercises as are appropriate on such an anniversary, and will increase the spirit of patriotism and love of our country and its institutions.

The resolution was in response to a communication from Governor Curry to President Spiess, urging legislation to declare February 12, 1909, the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lincoln, a legal holiday. The resolution passed unanimously.

Bills were introduced as follows:

Normal School.

Council bill No. 15, by Mechem, an act providing for the erection of a Normal school at Naravisa, Quay county. The bill provides that the citizens of Naravisa must donate the necessary ground and must erect a building to cost at least $10,000 before the territory will appropriate any money or authorize the issue of any bonds for the schools, which is to be located one-half mile northwest of Naravisa.

Council bill No. 19, by Prince, an act to amend Chapter 124, of the Session Laws of 1905, on public highways. The bill provides that in place of three road districts in each county, the board of county commissioners shall decide the number of road districts and shall also have the power to remove road overseers for cause.

Absence Cause for Vacancy.

Council bill No. 13, by Mechem, an act to amend Section 688, Compiled Laws of 1897, relative to vacancies that may occur in boards of county commissioners, making absence from the county for ninety consecutive days cause for declaring a vacancy.

Council bill No. 14, by Mechem, an act providing for proceedings supplementary to execution.

Council bill No. 16, by Mechem, an act for the protection of the several counties and regulating the business of abstracting.

Council bill No. 17, by Mechem, an act to regulate the sale by single transaction of mercantile stocks or establishments.

Council bill No. 18, by McBee, an act to fix additional grounds and causes for divorce and annulment of marriage.

A communication from Governor Curry announced that he had signed Council Joint Resolution No. 1 to Congress for statehood, and Council Joint Resolution No. 2, directing Territorial Secretary Jaffa to transmit the memorial to Congress by telegraph.

Territorial Secretary Nathan Jaffa informed the Council that he had complied with the above resolution.

Appropriation Needed.

A message, No. 3, from Governor Curry, conveyed a communication from the capital improvement board, asking that each House appoint a committee of three, to act jointly, to consider the need of additional appropriation for the completion of the executive mansion and addition to the capitol in accordance with the plans of the architect. Also a telegram from Arthur Seligman, recommending the expenditure of $30,000 for furnishings of the executive mansion. Governor Curry in his message considered this sum too large and suggested that the executive furnish the linen, china and silver. In conformance with the message, President Spiess appointed Prince, Navarro and McBee on the committee to confer with a similar committee from the House, appointed by Speaker Miera, viz.: Messrs. Baca, Roberts and Gallegos.

Fire Law.

A message was read from Governor Curry enclosing a communication from Chief Forester Pinchot, asking that the legislature pass a fire law. Governor Curry informed the Council that he would have recommended this in his message had he received Mr. Pinchot's letter in time. The message

INCORRIGIBLES ATTACK PRIEST

Set of Ruffians Throw Stones and Use Vile Language.

Albuquerque, Jan. 25.—On Saturday evening Father J. Tomassini, the aged pastor of the Sacred Heart church, was stoned and otherwise disrespectfully and outrageously treated by a band of good-for-nothing boys. The latter were engaged in bilious play in the immediate vicinity of the church and were disturbing the worshippers within the church by their shouts and utterly obscene language. Father Tomassini, who is 85 years old went outside to remonstrate and insist upon having quiet. The result was a tirade of abusive language, followed by the throwing of stones at the venerable prelate. The matter has aroused general indignation and the authorities will be called upon to punish the offenders, who have been guilty also of constant previous disturbances.

RODEY HALL IS DEDICATED

AMID MUCH ENTHUSIASM

University at Albuquerque Scene of Auspicious Occasion--Governor George Curry Speaks

Amidst a great gathering of prominent men from all parts of the territory, the dedication of Rodney hall at the University of New Mexico was completed. The affair was an important one in the history of the territory. Addresses were made by a number of able men including Governor George Curry.

When the governor rose to speak he was given a rousing ovation by the audience. He said that he felt highly honored to be a guest of the University on such an occasion; that he had dropped his work in the capital to attend the dedication, but that he was very glad he was able to be present and assist in the exercises. Governor Curry paid a high compliment to Judge Rodney for his untiring work on behalf of the territory of New Mexico and declared that it was due to Mr. Rodney's efforts, more than those of any other man that the plank favoring the admission of New Mexico as a state was inserted in the republican platform at the national convention held in Chicago last July. "It is a source of regret to me," said the governor, "that the territory is unable to assist the various institutions of New Mexico in a more substantial way financially, but the day is not far distant when all of them will be generously cared for." During the course of his speech, the governor referred to the admission of New Mexico to the Union, and his remarks on this subject were the signal for an outburst of enthusiastic applause. "The admission of the territory is now only a question of time," he said, "and if the bill does not pass at this session of Congress, it will pass without fail at the next session." He declared that with the admission of the territory to the Union, the financial stringency which some times inevitably affects the territorial institutions under the territorial form of government, would be a thing of the past. As the governor concluded his speech he was given another rousing volley of applause.

SIX DEAD AND TWO INJURED

As Result of Steamship Collision One Vessel Sinks.

New York, Jan. 25.—The White Star liner Baltic bearing 1,650 passengers from the stranded ship, the Republic, and from the Florida, which were in collision Saturday, reached the quarantine section at 1:29 a. m. today. The steamer Florida, in tow of a liner from New York, was sighted off Ambrose Island lightship at 11:47 a. m. Six dead and two injured is apparently the sum total of the casualties as a result of the collision. The Republic sunk and will either be a total loss or very heavily damaged.

Officers and Crew Transferred.

Menasa Bright, Island of Martha's Vineyard, Jan. 25.—Captain Sealby and fifty members of the crew of the Republic were transferred to the Seneca off Vineyard Haven lightship from the revenue cutter Gresham this morning, and an hour later the Seneca left for New York. Captain Gresham says that the Republic sank south by east of the Nantucket Lightship, in about forty fathoms of water. None of the officers or crew were injured. Gresham after transferring the Republic's crew, started for Wood Hole.

Hit With Iron Spike.

There was a development late this afternoon from the information of the collision between the Republic and Florida to the effect the quartermaster on the Florida was ordered by the commander, when the collision threatened is said to put the wheel to the starboard. Instead he put the wheel to port and the Florida rammed the Republic. According to the same account the captain of the Florida picked up an iron spike and dealt the quartermaster a blow over the head at the moment of the impact. The quartermaster was badly hurt.

CATCHES ANOTHER WITH HIS WIFE

Fight Follows and Suspender Saves Home Defender From Death By a Bullet.

Raton, New Mexico, January 25.—Entering his home and discovering another man in company with his wife, Tomas Codova of Chihuahua, the Mexican part of town, became furiously enraged and, drawing his gun, fired upon the invader. Charles Burch, the culprit, returned the fire at once, and had it not been for a suspender buckle one of his bullets would have ended Codova's life. Later Burch was found and arrested, but released on $1,000 bail.

PRISONERS ATTEMPT ESCAPE.

Prisoners in the county jail succeeded in cutting through the bars and were upon the point of making good their escape when discovered by the timely appearance of the sheriff. The men were immediately locked in other cells and the opening that was made was repaired.

SON OF ROYALTY UNDER ARREST

WALKING DELEGATE CAUSES SHUT-DOWN

Four Largest Copper Mines Tied Up as Result.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 25.—Taking umbrage at the objectionable actions of a walking delegate, the controlling interests of the four largest copper mines in Arizona closed down their properties yesterday, as did also several smaller mines. The tie-up now confined to Globe and Morenci may soon become general.

The properties so far affected are the Old Dominion and the Globe Consolidated Copper company's workings, the Miami and the Superior and Boston.

A watchman ejected Walking Delegate Albert Wills from the property of the first named company, the delegate not being provided with a pass. He returned and was again forced to leave the premises. While the cause of the closing has not yet been assigned, the notices were posted shortly after Wills was ejected and no other reason is known. Other mines followed the Old Dominion, and a general closing down is said to be imminent.

RIVER BANK AFFORDS MYSTERY

Presumed That Insane Person Committed Suicide.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—The finding of an overcoat, some currency, a silver watch, an incomplete telegram and a Sunday school leaflet on the bank of the Chicago river, furnished the police a tragic mystery to solve. The money was torn into small bits and scattered about. It is thought it will total $40. The telegram read as follows: "Leave today for Prescott. Understand everything. Wonderful revelations." The police theory is that the articles were the property of some insane person who committed suicide by jumping into the river.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

Washington, Jan. 25.—An agreement has been reached between Secretary Root and the British and Canadian and New Foundland governments through their representatives, on the New Foundland fisheries boundary question, to be submitted to The Hague court for arbitration.

The agreement reached early this morning followed a protracted conference Sunday night.

The fisheries dispute has been the subject of diplomatic negotiations and treaties for many years. In deciding the controversial points The Hague Tribunal will have to pass on important questions as to whether state or colonial laws or regulations may interfere with the terms of the treaty. The latter question has confronted the administration in a most perplexing way in the Japanese school question and threatens to become an important factor in case the bill now pending before the California legislature, affecting Japanese, become laws.

CAYENNE PEPPER USED BY THE POLICE

St. Louis, Jan. 25.—After an all night siege by the police, during which cayenne pepper was blown through the key holes and the chimneys stopped up in an effort to drive them out, thirteen members of the Belmont Pleasure club surrendered this morning. Their desire for breakfast, they explained, induced them to give up. They are charged with violating the Sunday laws.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and paings of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

New Postoffice Equipment—The growth of the local postoffice business which has increased fifty per cent in one year, is necessitating rearrangement of the fixtures and considerable additions. Postmaster Paul A. F. Walter has taken steps to have installed after July 1, two new nests of large keyless combination lock boxes and much additional new furniture to facilitate the work of the office. Steam heat is to be installed, the lobby repainted, the windows for the public rearranged and everything needed added to make the office modern in every respect. Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews has pledged himself, upon the solicitation of Postmaster Walter, to introduce a bill, appropriating $100,000 for a postoffice building at Santa Fe during the first regular session of the next Congress in December of this year and is confident of its speedy passage.

Where the Printing Press Hums—Quite an interesting bit of information was furnished by Mr. Truman Plantz, of Warsaw, Ill., attorney for the National Order of Modern Woodmen of America, who was in the city last week for a few days in the interest of that order. He states that the February issue of the monthly paper, furnished to all members of the organization was one of 1,082,464 copies, requiring four carloads of white paper weighing 93.12 tons. The publication is 22 inches wide, thus if the paper used for this enormous issue were to be placed on a 22-inch roll and be unwound, it would reach 1,389 miles. If stacked one upon the other, just as when folded for mailing, the number of papers would make a stack ten times as high as the Washington monument at Washington, D. C. (which is 555 ft. 5 1/2 inches in height) and still leave 80 feet for a flag pole. It required 2,400 mail sacks and 183 mail wagons to transport the issue to the postoffice for mailing; the postage amounting to $1,800. A Walter Scott printing press is used which prints 16,000 twenty-page papers an hour. The February issue kept this press going night and day for eight days. These interesting facts, according to Mr. Plantz are merely indicative of the marvelous growth of the order.

The Pure Food Law.

Secretary Wilson says, "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines." The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine, and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as no mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation—a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. Uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, gets into the circulation because of physical irregularities, and then instead of nourishing and invigorating the body, the blood irritates and inflames the different nerves, tissues, muscles and joints, because of its impure, acid condition. The pains and aches and other disagreeable and dangerous symptoms of Rheumatism can never be permanently cured until every particle of the cause is driven from the blood. S. S. S. does this because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, purifies and cleanses the circulation, invigorates the blood, and completely drives Rheumatism from the system. Plasters, liniments, soothing lotions, etc., may be used for the temporary relief and comfort they bring, but a cure cannot be effected until S. S. S. has removed the cause. It frees the blood of every impurity and makes it a rich, health sustaining fluid, to bring permanent relief and comfort to those who suffer with Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

Few realize that all that is ancient in the United States properly belongs to the West, and especially to New Mexico, which alone of all our states and territories was first settled by Europeans. Prior to European settlement of New Mexico, the highest civilization found within the boundaries of the United States was also found in this same territory, the cliff dwellings and communal house builders being those referred to, which were a class far superior in civilization to any other tribe of Indians. When the Puritans were organizing in England, and before they had migrated to Holland, the Conquistadores of Spain had trod the banks of the Rio Grande del Norte in this land of Sunshine. When the Mayflower cast her anchor at Plymouth in 1620 there were European mothers living in Santa Fe who had been born in this new Spain. When New York was first settled by the Dutch Vans, there were many settlements in the Rockies along the Rio Grande. When Charleston was settled this country had grown so rapidly that it was in the throes of a revolution.

Our nation boasts of a capital over a hundred years old which has sheltered some twenty odd presidents. The Old Palace at Santa Fe has been the official residence of over eighty governors, and is at least 300 years on the map of our ancient city. Santa Fe, quaint and ancient, is also modern, having been the capital since the American occupation as it was both under Spain and Mexico. Here in this sheltered spot where early Latins found a haven of rest, have gathered together some of the best citizens from every state in the Union, as well as from many European governments.

Many of the Americans of Santa Fe are superior in education, travel and culture, to the average resident of any other city of similar size and proportions in the entire east. Why this is, need not be told. The same may possibly be said of many other western cities. Santa Fe, the haven in olden times, has become the Mecca of many from the Atlantic shore; and why? First, there is no spot within the boundaries of the United States that possesses its peculiar and delightful climate, mild and sunny in winter, and cool and invigorating in summer. Surrounded by high mountains, in a beautiful valley 7,000 feet above ocean level, with its 360 days of sunshine, Santa Fe is necessarily in a class by itself.

The early missionaries ever ready to seize on natural advantages, were not slow in establishing headquarters in this beautiful and sheltered retreat. Old Santa Fe had been the home of the missionary for at least a generation before Roger Williams cut loose from the Pilgrims. The light, pure mountain air invigorates, the bright sunshine stimulates, and to those given good health a new world opens, while to those in ill health and run-down with cares, trouble and overwork, Santa Fe and its surroundings brings back to the cheek the blush of health, and the desire to live and enjoy nature.

While Santa Fe is a city with all modern advantages, one needs only to go into the nearby mountains to get the finest shooting: deer, bear, mountain lion, and if a gentler sport is desired, quail and grouse are ever to be found in their natural haunts.

A trip of ten miles and you are at a primitive Pueblo; four miles takes you to ruins of a pre-historic people who lived contemporaneous with the Pharaohs. A two-mile drive on a fine boulevard and you pass state and national institutions which have made records equaled by few. Sit in the plaza of the city, watch the native and Indian, and you can imagine you are in Jerusalem or Naples. Attend a dress ball at the Palace and you are in surroundings reminding you of New York or Washington.

Santa Fe, ancient and quaint, is as stated, fast becoming modern, but still is perhaps the most interesting city to tourists in the United States. The old tavern, "The Ponda," later called the Exchange, the end of the Santa Fe trail still stands, but is no longer the popular hostelry it was before the time of the railroads. The old church of San Miguel, the oldest house of worship in the United States, is still used. Many portals of projecting porches have been torn down, and the modern houses take the place of the old adobe with its placita in the rear. Still there is the mixture of the ancient and modern, and the archives in the Historical Society furnish information and history such as is duplicated on the Western Continent only in the City of Mexico.

SUNDAY IN THE CHURCHES

(The New Mexican will be pleased to publish any brief items of church news under this heading.)

The services at the Church of the Holy Faith, Protestant Episcopal, yesterday forenoon, were well attended. Rev. W. R. Dye preached a thoughtful sermon upon the text: "One Soweth and Another Reapeth," etc., reconciling the apparent conflict of this saying with that of other passages. He developed logically the thought of how the present has reaped the benefit of the toil, the travail, the suffering, the labor of those who have gone before and how therefore the present must contribute to the development of the future. He traced the progress of the evolution of great ideas, both in material and spiritual fields of endeavor, and pointed out that although others may reap what we sow, we also have our specific reward in eternity. The music by the choir and a vocal duet, were features of the service.

St. John's M. E.

The services were well attended yesterday. Rev. E. C. Anderson spoke in the morning upon the theme, "Serving Christ," the text being "For Ye Serve the Lord Christ." Col. iii. 24. A. J. Teare sang a pleasing offertory at the morning service. In the evening the pastor preached upon "Walking About Zion." Text, Psalm xlviii: 12, 13. The Epworth League was led by Miss Edna Lutz, the theme being, "The Light That Cannot Be Hidden or the Unavoidable Christ." The usual mid-week service will be held on Wednesday evening and choir practice on Friday evening.

Cathedral and Guadalupe.

At the Cathedral and Guadalupe Catholic churches the usual masses were said and the attendance was good. Nothing out of the ordinary order of services took place.

Don't Take the Risk.

When you have a bad cough or cold do not let it drag along until it becomes chronic bronchitis or develops into an attack of pneumonia, but give it the attention it deserves and get rid of it. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are sure of prompt relief. From a small beginning the sale and use of this preparation has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. Its many remarkable cures of coughs and colds have won for it this wide reputation and extensive use. Sold by all druggists.

Fever Sores.

Fever sores and old chronic sores should not be healed entirely, but should be taken in healthy condition. This can be done by applying Chamberlain's Salve. This salve has no superior for this purpose. It is also most excellent for chapped hands, sore nipples, burns and diseases of the skin. For sale by all druggists.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

MINERAL PRODUCTION OF NEW MEXICO.

It takes a year or more, to gather accurately the mineral statistics for any one year, although authoritative estimates are made at times even before a year has closed. However, the first exact statistics of the mineral production of the western United States for the year 1907, are to be found in the recent 350-page volume of the U. S. Geological Survey entitled: "The Production of Gold, Silver, Copper, Lead and Zinc in the Western States and Territories in 1907." The volume is accompanied by a large map of western mining districts. Fifteen pages are devoted to New Mexico, each metal and each county being reviewed separately, and the production of each district being given. Altogether, the territory in 1907 produced $3,239,823 worth of gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc, a gain of $26,081 over the year previous. The feature of these statistics, is the phenomenal increase in the production of copper which jumped from $1,356,533 in 1906, to $2,198,093 in 1907, and the surprising decline in the production of zinc which in 1906 was valued at $1,054,852, while in 1907 it was only $44,255.

Grant county lead in gold, lead and copper production in 1907, Socorro in silver and zinc production. In the production of gold, the counties ranked as follows: Grant, $113,042; Socorro, $105,426; Lincoln, $41,417; Santa Fe, $17,979; Otero, $14,811; Luna, $13,741; Colfax, $11,914; Sierra, $8,224; Dona Ana, $6; while Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos together produced $1,704, and $1,718 credited to the territory was not apportioned to any particular county.

The standing in the production of silver was as follows: Socorro, $279,011; Grant, $148,024; Dona Ana, $16,904; Santa Fe, $11,639; Luna, $5,698; Sierra, $1,485; Otero, $1,049; Lincoln, $476; Colfax, $55; Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos together, $927 and unapportioned, $31.

In copper, the rank of the counties was: Grant, $1,669,263; Santa Fe, $246,252; Dona Ana, $155,225; Otero, $135,896; Socorro, $37,729; Sierra, $1,085; Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos together, $12,533.

In lead, Grant county's production was $73,903; Luna produced $54,207; Socorro, $37,523; Dona Ana, $35,785; and Sierra, $506.

Zinc was produced only in Socorro county, $39,305, and in Grant, $4,350.

There were 104 deep mine and 23 placer producers in 1907, an increase of over fifty producing properties since 1906. Grant county lead with 50 producers, then came Socorro with 12, Sierra and Otero with 11 each, Luna and Colfax 9 each, Santa Fe 8, Lincoln 7, Dona Ana 5, Mora 2, and Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos with 1 each.

It is gratifying to Santa Fe county that it stood third among the counties as a producer of the five metals named. Grant's total product was $1,948,582; Socorro was second with $499,594; Santa Fe county third with $275,870; then Dona Ana, $207,920; Otero, $152,116; Luna, $73,646; Lincoln, $41,893; Colfax, $11,969; Sierra, $11,300; Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos together $15,184, and unapportioned $1,749.

Of course, these are the returns on only five metals. The coal production of the territory, alone, in 1907, almost approached that of the five metals, and to this must be added turquoise, mica, cement, building stone, lime, gypsum and other minerals, which ran up the total to between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000.

NOW ALTOGETHER FOR STATEHOOD.

The passage of the statehood bill admitting the two territories, will increase the membership of the United States senate by four and of the House by only three, as New Mexico is to have two representatives and Arizona one. It is an anomaly that the upper and less numerous house should receive the greater increase in the number of members through the admission to statehood of the two commonwealths, and if there were more territories, one could easily imagine a state of affairs when the Senate would have as many, if not more members than the House. That the passage of the statehood bill before March 4, is again being accepted as a certainty is manifest from the following editorial in Saturday's Denver Republican, which is generally well posted on the trend of affairs in the National Capital, and New Mexico politicians with ambition might as well begin fixing their fences for the election to one of the four Washington places and the many berths in the state government:

"There seems no doubt that a bill to admit New Mexico and Arizona as separate states will be passed at this session of Congress and that it will receive the approval of President Roosevelt.

"This is more than the people of Arizona expected, although the people of New Mexico have looked forward hopefully to the passage of a bill in their favor by the present Congress. Both territories are qualified to maintain state governments, and there is no question that their growth in population and the development of their material resources will be greatly stimulated. The attractions of a self-governing community are so much stronger than those of a territory, that men are drawn to a state who would refuse to make their homes elsewhere unless powerful business or professional inducements were held out.

"When New Mexico and Arizona are admitted the whole area of the United States between the Atlantic and the Pacific and Canada and Mexico will be occupied by states except the District of Columbia; and thus one of the great ends in view when the vast region lying west of the Alleghenies was added to the national domain will be accomplished. Alaska will remain for probably many years under control of the national government, and Porto Rico and Hawaii may see no change in their political relations in the near future; but the fact that all of the main part of our continental area except the District of Columbia will be occupied by states will make the admission of New Mexico and Arizona a highly interesting and significant part of our national history.

"The influence of the Far West in Congress and in the electoral college will be notably increased by the admission of the two new states; but their growth and prosperity will depend far more upon what their local governments do, than upon anything they may be able, in consequence of their representation in Congress, to secure from the government in Washington."

ARTESIAN WELL PROTECTION.

The Water Users' Protective Association of the lower Pecos Valley has drafted a bill for introduction in the legislative assembly, which is to replace the present statute for the protection of the artesian waters of New Mexico. Any owner of a well who does not case and cap it so that its flow may be arrested or who permits the water to be wasted shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor under the proposed measure. The act prohibits the water from a well-being conducted more than a mile and a half in an open ditch or two and a half miles in pipes, this section being aimed at a project to store and sell the waters from artesian wells on large tracts to consumers at a distance. The act directs the governor of the territory to appoint a well supervisor for each county in which artesian water is known to exist, whose remuneration and expenses shall be provided by taxing each artesian well $5 a year. The act provides for inspection, the keeping of records of inspections and for permits which must be obtained before work of drilling or repairing a well can be commenced. The penalty clause provides for a fine of from $25 to $100 for each separate offense against the act, each day in which any of the provisions of the act shall be violated, to be considered a separate offense. There are thirty sections in the act, making provision for minor regulations. The law is somewhat drastic, but the great increase in population and multiplying of wells in the lower Pecos Valley is making its effect felt upon the artesian wells, and the waste of water from such wells must be prevented. The prosperity of a large part of the valley is in great part dependent upon this artesian flow and whatever the people of that valley demand in the line of protective legislation should be granted them by the assembly.

SANTA FE SUNNIER THAN ROSWELL, EL PASO OR DURANGO.

The report for December of the U. S. Weather Bureau in this city, is just from the press, and covers the climatological data for that month for the entire territory as reported by upward of fifty stations. The month as a whole, was mild, with a high percentage of sunshine, remarkably pleasant and with a monthly mean temperature in excess of the normal. The highest temperature recorded during the month was 84 degrees at Carlsbad, and the lowest 12 degrees below, at Elizabethtown and Tres Piedras. The greatest monthly range in temperature was 74 degrees, at Springer, and the least 38 degrees at San Rafael. The greatest daily range was 59 degrees at Bluewater, not far from San Rafael and at Springer, and the least at Rosedale, 27 degrees. The average precipitation for the Territory was only .27 of an inch. The greatest was 2.62 inches at Frisco while at Luna, also on the Gila Forest Reserve, occurred the greatest precipitation for any 24 consecutive hours, 1.6 inches.

As usual, Santa Fe led in the number of hours of sunshine, it having had 230 hours of sunshine during the month, against 190 hours at Roswell, 173 at El Paso and 212 at Durango. Colo. In other words, Santa Fe had 76 per cent of the possible sunshine, Durango 71 per cent, Roswell 61 per cent, and El Paso 55 per cent. Santa Fe had 15 days with 90 per cent or more of sunshine, Roswell only 5, Durango 14, and El Paso 10. Santa Fe had a maximum wind velocity of 33 miles per hour, Roswell 34 miles per hour, El Paso and Las Cruces 40 miles per hour.

There was comparatively little snowfall, even in the mountains. The precipitation map, shows only one small spot, on the upper Frisco river on the Gila Forest Reserve in Socorro county, where the precipitation was between two and three inches in December. Only in northern San Juan and in western Grant and Socorro counties did it exceed one inch, while over the rest of the Territory it was less than an inch, nineteen stations reporting only a trace of precipitation.

NEW MEXICO FRIENDLY TO RAILROADS.

The Wyoming legislature is wrestling with a railroad commission bill, more drastic than, although modeled after the Colorado law. A bill to fix the minimum passenger rate at two cents a mile is to be introduced also and is very likely to pass. Wyoming being much more sparsely populated than New Mexico certainly is not in position to demand a two-cent a mile rate and its enforcement would probably be prevented by the courts as being confiscatory and therefore unconstitutional. The proposal of a three-cent a mile rate in New Mexico is much more reasonable. In fact, upon the greater part of the railroad mileage in New Mexico, that is all the charge made at present. Governor Curry's recommendation of a railroad commission will no doubt become law, but the act will be along liberal lines, more liberal even than the act introduced by Councilman Hewitt, although this may be taken as the basis for legislation. New Mexico has no grudge or fight against the railroads; it recognizes the great good they have done and are doing for the prosperity of the commonwealth and its growth, and any unfriendly attitude toward them will be resented by businessmen as well as the ordinary taxpayer.

SANTA FE'S BONDED DEBT.

A memorial was introduced in the Arizona legislature, asking Congress to provide in the statehood enabling act for the payment of the Pima county railroad bonded indebtedness, somewhat similar to the railroad bonded indebtedness of Santa Fe and Grant counties in this territory, in each case a bond issue being voted in aid of the construction of railroad lines and although illegally issued, afterwards validated by Congress. The New Mexico legislature might follow Arizona's example. While Santa Fe and Grant counties are each responsible for this indebtedness in the first place, yet, a burden upon any part of New Mexico, is a tax upon the prosperity of the entire commonwealth. Whatever benefits were sought to be obtained by these bond issues were for the entire territory as well as for the particular counties. The fact that Congress validated the indebtedness makes it no more than an act of equity for the federal government to provide for the payment of the debt. Santa Fe and Grant counties each should send three representatives or more to Washington next month to make every effort for adequate provision upon this matter in the enabling act as it will be presented to the Senate for passage.

The Arizona legislators did not appoint a commission to inspect the territorial institutions, but are this week taking a look at them themselves. Fortunately, for the public treasury of the neighboring commonwealth, Arizona hasn't as many institutions as has New Mexico, and the Arizona institutions are not situated so far apart. However, as only four days will be devoted to the visitation, the result can not be of much account. Governor Curry's recommendation in his message that a commission of citizens be appointed for the purpose of investigating the territorial institutions and report to the legislature would give much more time for thoroughness and would be much more satisfactory in its results.

The time is propitious for work for a greater and more beautiful Santa Fe. The business organizations and the people should get together and plan the most effective means for making Santa Fe a city of 10,000 people by the time the census taker comes next year, and also for giving Santa Fe clean, shady, wide, straight streets and advertising its manifold attractions. Every cent spent in efforts in that direction will be returned in dollars and that before very long.

A great victory for the Forest Reserve policy of the Federal Government was won last week in Denver, when the Colorado Cattle and Horse Growers' Association declared that the forestry policy was all right even if the methods of administering it were all wrong. This does not sound very complimentary to Chief Forester Pinchot, but as the association had been expected to condemn the forest reserves without reserve, mere criticism of administrative methods will not have much effect.

Luna county is bound to have wide and straight roads and therefore its board of county commissioners has adopted a resolution providing that a sixty-foot road should run along each section line. In the future, any land owner who fences, must set his fences thirty feet on the inside of the section line, wherever his boundaries correspond with that line. As two-thirds of New Mexico is still public land, the plan is not a bad one for counties to adopt, so that as rapidly as the public lands are taken up, straight and wide roadways would be provided.

TO HER LAST RESTING PLACE

Remains of Prominent Church Member Taken Home for Interment.

William Williams, father of Dr. James B. Williams, whose beloved wife, Bessie Clinton Williams departed this life Friday morning, arrived Saturday evening from Bridgeport, Conn.

The funeral of Mrs. Williams was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the home, 222 Garfield avenue, Rev. E. C. Anderson, pastor of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, speaking words of comfort. Mrs. Williams was a member of St. John's during her short residence in the city. The remains will be taken to Bridgeport by Dr. Williams' father, for interment.

Dr. Williams, who is a health-seeker and far from friends and relatives, has the sympathy of Santa Fe people in this, his great bereavement.

Prominent in Church Affairs.

Bessie A. Clinton, the deceased, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clinton. She was born at Ashley, a suburb of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., October 15, 1875. Here she grew to womanhood and was educated in the public schools. Later she moved with her parents to Bridgeport, Conn., where she was united in marriage to Dr. James B. Williams.

To this union one child was born, little Gilbert, now sixteen months old.

One year ago the 21st of this month, she came with her husband and child to Santa Fe, hoping that the wonderful climate of New Mexico would restore her husband to health.

She little thought that while his improvement would be so rapid, she herself, in the bloom and strength of her young womanhood, would fall a victim to a more fatal disease. After coming here she immediately united with the St. John's Methodist Episcopal church and became identified also with the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the same church.

During her short residence here she made many friends who were shocked to hear of her sudden death. From her childhood she loved the church, and in her girlhood days took an active part in the Sunday school and Epworth League. Through her faithfulness to the latter organization she was often sent as a delegate to district conventions, and was also a delegate to the great international convention held a few years ago at Toronto, Canada.

She was a woman of refinement, and her modest, gentle manners and dainty ways, combined with the natural sweetness of her disposition, were the elements which helped to constitute a personality of unusual charm. She was a most dutiful wife and mother, striving in every way to minister to the comfort and happiness of her loved ones. Her illness was of brief duration and only a few knew of her sickness until the announcement of her death.

The husband and kind, sympathetic neighbors, together with her physician, did all within their power to relieve her suffering and to hold at bay the grim messenger of death but all in vain and at 2:30 last Friday morning her spirit returned to the God who gave it.

To sorrowing friends this untimely death seems a mystery indeed, but believing "That we will shortly know that his friend."

We know His way is best."

Besides the husband and child there remain of her near relatives the aged parents, three sisters and one brother, all of Bridgeport, Conn. To these and all others her friends in Santa Fe extend their sympathy.

THE NAVAJOES

AT HOME

(By John Cowan.)

When it became known that six troops of United States cavalry, with several machine guns and 140 pounds of ammunition for each man, had been sent under sealed orders into the wilds of the Navajo reservation in Northern Arizona, sensational rumors of an impending Indian outbreak gained wide circulation, and the settlers of Arizona and New Mexico began to feel their scalps to make sure that they were still firmly moored to their skulls. However, it is now known that the official announcement that the march of the troops was mainly for practice purposes, to give the cavalrymen a taste of actual field conditions, was substantially correct. In addition to this, it was probably felt that it would be well to give the Navajos a glimpse of Uncle Sam's fighting men, as many of those living on the northern half of the reservation had never seen half a dozen soldiers in a bunch before in their lives.

But the most important object in view in thus sending the troops through one of the least-known regions of America was to explore the Black Mountain district of the reservation, map it, and ascertain its resources. It is known to contain a vast coal area, and is believed by some to comprise some of the richest coal deposits in the entire country. It is also known to include one of the most valuable forest areas on the continent. Other little-known portions of the reservation are rumored to contain rich deposits of gold and copper. When the official report of the present expedition is made public, it is possible that all these suppositions will be thoroughly eradicated, and that for the first time the public will be made acquainted with the true value of the great Navajo Indian reservation. There is good reason for the belief that it will not be long until the Navajos are compelled to accept individual allotments of land, and that the rest of the reservation will then be thrown open to homestead entry.

According to the most reliable estimates, the number of Navajos now exceeds 22,000. These pay no attention to reservation lines, occupying not only their own reservation, but most of that of the Hopi Indians, and large areas of the public lands in Arizona, New Mexico and Utah. They are scattered over an area of at least 75,000 square miles, on which they pasture about 1,500,000 sheep, and an uncomputed number of goats. They do a little farming, raising small patches of corn and beans, but are too nomadic in their habits to make a success of agriculture, rarely occupying the same patch of land more than one or two seasons.

The present year is a hard one for "Poor Lo" on the Navajo reservation. His goats, his sheep, and his wife are depended upon to keep him alive. The goats supply as much meat as ever, but his other resources are falling him. Wool is selling on the reservation as low as 6 cents a pound—a low price that has prevailed for many years. The squaws still weave blankets with more than usual industry, to try to compensate for the decreased revenue derived from the sale of wool; but the traders are paying less than half as much for blankets as they paid one year ago. So it is seen that the financial disturbances and industrial depression are felt as severely in the wilds of Arizona as on Wall street, and that the Navajo braves feel the pinch of hard times as well as the captains of industry and the generals of finance.

It has been stated in official publications of the Bureau of Indian Affairs that the Navajo reservation is now supporting as great a population as it is capable of maintaining. This statement is made on the supposition that it is all a barren and irreclaimable desert unfit for anything but pasturing small flocks of sheep and goats. As a matter of fact, an aggregate of hundreds of thousands of acres is easily susceptible of irrigation, with an abundance of water available for that purpose, and will some day be made as productive as the richest areas of the Salt River and Rio Grande valleys. Still other areas are capable of being dry-farmed as successfully as any portion of the great dry-farming belt of Eastern Colorado. On the vast semi-desert are yet remaining, ten times the number of sheep and goats now on the reservation might be pastured without danger of overgrazing, and the development of the natural resources of the reservation, in timber, coal and other minerals, would give a livelihood to many times the present population.

An instructive illustration of the agricultural possibilities of the region may be seen at Ganado, eighty miles from Gallup. At this point is located a green oasis of 160 acres—the only farm within a radius of more than 100 miles. It is the homestead of Mr. J. Lorenzo Hubbell—the only patented homestead within the boundaries of the reservation, and the only cultivated area of any importance in a region as great as the combined areas of New York and Pennsylvania. A more unfavorable location for a farm in the semi-desert region could not well be found. There is no perennial stream of running water available, and no natural site for the construction of a reservoir. Yet a reservoir was built, at disproportionate expense, impounding the surface waters of the rainy season. By the careful utilization of this, the Hubbell ranch has been transformed into a garden spot. Alfalfa hay from the Hubbell farm is sold to the United States Indian school at Keams Canton at $30 per ton on the ground, or $38 per ton delivered. In extraordinary seasons, it has been sold at $60 per ton at the ranch, or $68 delivered. Inasmuch as Colorado farmers consider alfalfa at from $10 to $12 per ton the most profitable crop they can grow, even the prices realized in this year of depressed values cannot be described as ruinous.

It is worth recording that it has taken Mr. Hubbell just thirty-two years to perfect his title to his land. He filed upon his homestead in 1876, and did not receive his patent until in August of the present year. When he filed upon the land, there was no Navajo reservation. Then when the Navajo reservation was created, an attempt was made to oust him. He stuck to his guns, and has fought every official of the General Land office ever since. In addition to owning the only patented homestead on the reservation, he also owns the largest trading store. In some seasons he handles as high as $50,000 worth of Navajo blankets, as well as enormous quantities of wool, and a considerable amount of manufactured silver and other articles of Indian workmanship. At Ganado is being built what will be the first church of any denomination on the reservation. This is being constructed under the personal supervision, and largely by the personal labor, of Rev. Mr. Bierkamper, a missionary of the Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Bierkamper has labored in this field for six years, and claims only four converts, one of whom he is inclined to suspect of insincerity. Yet he is building a stone church capable of seating 200 people. Evidently the good missionary of a hopeful disposition.

However, the most remarkable example of missionary enterprise among the Navajos is that supplied by Rev. Mr. Brink, of Tohatchi, who is engaged in the monumental labor of constructing a Navajo dictionary and translating the Bible into the Navajo vernacular. Several books of the Bible have already been translated as well as a hymn-book, and instruction in the written and printed language is now imparted to the children of the tribe at the Rehoboth Mission of the Christian Reformed church near Gallup.

The homes of the Navajos are widely scattered over the reservation, instead of being assembled in towns or villages. They are only rude structures of stones, logs or sticks of wood, banked up with earth in winter, and known as hogans. In the summer time the Navajo builds a summer cottage in the woods, or on the mossy banks of a stream. This, however, cannot be described as an elaborate bungalow. It is more often a mere corral, formed by piling up the leafy branches of trees. Sometimes canvas, sheet iron, old pieces of tin and other junk picked up from the dumps of the nearest railroad towns are also employed in the construction of these summer hogans.

It is strange that the Navajo, who is really superior to most other aborigines in natural intelligence and ability, is content to live in such squalid and makeshift dwellings. Probably he is prevented from indulging in more elaborate architectural devices by the immemorial practice of abandoning a hogan as soon as a death occurs in it. The Navajo is not a coward when any living person is concerned, but is abjectly afraid in the presence of death. When left to their own devices, very often they do not bury the dead at all. They simply close up the entrance of the hogan, leaving the body in it. If the hogan is made of wood, it is then burned; or if of stone, a hole is made in the rear wall, to indicate the reason for its abandonment. Sometimes the body of the dead is taken to a place near the hogan and rudely covered with stocks, stones and earth. So superficially is this "burial" performed that wolves and coyotes have no difficulty in finding access to their ghastly prey. Having found that the white men are not afraid of the dead, the Navajos will bury a near relative or friend. However, this is a thankless task; and one who has lived long enough in the neighborhood of the reservation feels quite justified in refusing.

The curse of the Navajo reservation are the shamans, or medicine men, who prey upon the superstitions of the people and incite them to various kinds of devilry. They conduct a variety of weird and sometimes shocking religious ceremonies, most of which are designed for the cure of the sick. Of the rites that the medicine men conduct in the closed hogans, little is known, but the concluding dances are performed in the open, and may be witnessed by any one who happens to be in the neighborhood. In the case of men of wealth (and there are some Navajos who would be considered well-to-do in any ordinary white community), ceremonies for their cure when sick are continued for a period of nine days. If the victim is really in a serious condition, he is pretty sure to succumb to the rigors of the ordeal before the ceremonies are finished. If he is not really sick, but only indisposed, a "cure" is reasonably certain—and then great is the rejoicing over the exhibition of the supernatural powers of the medicine man. To white doctors, particularly in surgical cases, the Navajos take more kindly than do most other aboriginal tribes. Any white physician settling near the reservation is sure of all the business he can attend to, but for pay he will receive nothing but the laconic thanks of his patients.

Minor City Topics

Snowbound—Denver & Rio Grande trains between Antonio and Durango, Colo., were on Saturday reported to be again snowbound on Cumbres pass in Rio Arriba county.

Placing Steel Trusses—The brick walls of the National Guard armory having been completed, the work of placing the huge steel trusses to support the roof began this morning.

National Guard Election—At the regular drill tonight of Co. F, First Regiment Infantry, National Guard, the election of a captain will take place in accordance with the statutes.

Gold Stick Pin Found—Miss Olsen, private secretary of Governor Curry, today turned over to the New Mexican a gold stick pin found in the corridors of the capitol, and which owner can have by identifying and paying for the advertisement in another column.

Jury Drawing—Notice has been given by Francis C. Wilson, clerk of the First judicial district, that Judge John R. McFie will draw from the jury box on Wednesday, February 3, the names to constitute the panel of grand and petit jurors for the March term of court.

Laura Dickinson Dies—Saturday evening at 8 o'clock Laura Dickinson departed this life at the age of 10 years at the home on lower San Francisco street. She had been ill several weeks with scarlet fever and death resulted from the effects of that dread disease. Her brother, Frankie, died December 20 from the same disease. The funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the home; interment in Fairview cemetery.

Back from Flood District—Boyd Wyatt of Denver and I. Hoffman of Monte Vista, were in the city today returning home after having taken a train load of San Luis pea feed hogs to the California markets. Mr. Wyatt went to San Francisco and Mr. Hoffman to Los Angeles. Both encountered the recent floods in that locality returning home and saw devastation and damage right. They are glad to get back to the rainless belt.

LEGISLATIVE THUMB NAIL SKETCHES

Beat Them All to It—The other even-one new arrival in the city saw he was one of a large crowd at the depot, all bent upon the same purpose of securing a room at one of the hotels. This man was accompanied by his wife and while the other newcomers were being hustled into hacks and carriages he stepped into the depot and made use of the telephone. He called up the Claire, and asked that a room be reserved for him. This done, he and his wife were brought up town comforted with the assurance that they had stolen a march on the other arrivals.

A Duel in the Air—Things are coming to a pretty pass in the capital city when duels are being talked of, Friday afternoon J. E. Morrison, better known as "Uncle Josh" Morrison of Portales, Judge W. M. Gill of LaLande, Judge C. H. Hannum of Melrose and C. V. Harris of Portales, all of whom are in the city to protest against the division of Roosevelt county, made arrangements to visit the terminus should pay a forfeit. It transpired that they all met at the Claire hotel at the appointed hour, all except Judge Hannum. The others after waiting a reasonable length of time proceeded to visit the territorial institution. Soon after the belated member of the party arrived and finding that he had been left he sat down and wrote the following blood-thirsty challenge, addressing it to "Uncle Josh" Morrison: "I challenge you to fight according to the code, either pistols or swords. Prefer pistols and at a distance of four miles." It is to be hoped that the desperate affair will be prevented by the officials as Roosevelt county would hate to lose an efficient tax collector which they now have in the person of "Uncle Josh."

The Jack Rabbit Bill—Representative Chavez of Sierra county, is certainly in earnest about the bill providing a bounty of ten cents per head for jack rabbits. He is a resident of Hillsboro and in his part of the Territory as well as in Dona Ana and Luna counties, the rabbits do incalculable damage not only to orchards but also to the range and steps must be taken to eradicate the evil lest it become as great a pest as it has been in Australia and where legislation has sought for years to exterminate rabbits. Mr. Chavez is confident that the bill will pass when its provisions become better known. The bounty is to be paid out of the wild bounty fund provided by each county and the bill makes no territorial appropriation. It is demanded by the people of southern New Mexico and since they are willing to pay the piper they should have the dance.

A Legislator With Decided Ideas—Inordinately fond of children and fine horses. Thus might be sounded the key-note to the character of James N. Upton, the legislative adjunct, furnished by the live Wind Mill town of Deming, the county seat of Luna county. Upton is a wrong-side-of-the-fence member of the Council. But says he, "I'd rather be with the silent minority than with the silent majority, for I've no noticeable hankering to be a dead one in earnest, even if I am compelled to spend sixty days in the midst of strong Republican environment." Extreme buoyancy and optimism are constantly evident in the general strain of this able gentleman's make-up and he plainly in-dictates that he has the interests of New Mexico thoroughly at heart. Fifty-seven years ago, he became a new born citizen of Tyler, Texas, but for the past twenty-one years has been in the territory. Formerly a banker, he is now a farmer and stockraiser, taking special delight in breeding fine horses. "I have no particular bill of my own to introduce," said Upton, "but I desire to assist in every possible way to secure better and more up-to-date laws in the interest of the people. I strongly favor reform that will regulate the election laws and prevent any possibility of fraud and that will insure honest voting. The clause regarding independent candidates should be altered so that a single candidate can run independently thus doing away with the requirement that an entire ticket must be placed in the field. The present method discourages independent thought and action in territorial politics, while the proposed change would encourage and stimulate the independent spirit which is after all the saving grace and safety valve in a republican form of government. The crushing out of that spirit means retrogression and finally disintegration. I likewise favor legislation with regard to passenger and freight rates of the railroads. The idea that the railroads would resent any interference by retaliating with a raise in the rates is in my opinion a mere bug-a-boo. If it were the case, that the railroads could successfully raise the rates or give poorer service, why the roads themselves would secretly agitate such interference so as to have the opportunity and excuse to increase their revenue. There is no need of legislating unjustly against the railroads, but the rights of the territory and its people must not be overlooked." Mr. Upton also favors the local option bill as introduced by President Spiess, believing that the true American principle is being followed by leaving the liquor question to be settled by the vote of each locality. He also believes that because of conditions existing on the ranches, particularly in the eastern parts of the territory, where new farmers are constantly coming in who have not sufficient money to properly fence all around their ranches, the legislature should pass some suitable law that will solve this perplexing question and afford protection to those whose property is being damaged by cattle that go off on a rampage.

HISTORY OF AMERICAN OCCUPATION
Much Needed and Very Valuable Contribution to New Mexico History By Colonel Twitchell.
"The History of New Mexico Since the American Occupation," is the title of a pretentious historical volume, from the pen of Colonel R. E. Twitchell of Las Vegas, now on the press of the Art Publishers in Denver, Colo. Colonel Twitchell has been a close student of New Mexico history all his lifetime, and has devoted considerable of his leisure the past ten years to original researches, delving into dusty archives and tomes, for material, for this the first of a series of historical volumes to cover the history of New Mexico. The New Mexican has had the privilege of a glance at the manuscript and the extraordinarily fine half-tone illustrations, copies of old daguerotypes, ancient woodcuts, long-forgotten paintings and drawings, and historic manuscripts and documents. Colonel Twitchell tells his story not only interestingly and with much literary finish, but he has sought to present the truth, glossing over no events nor bestowing praise where it does not belong. The history will be a monumental work, a notable contribution to literature and the possessor of the first as well as of the succeeding volumes may count himself fortunate for the edition will be limited.

Colonel Twitchell has also prepared a lecture based upon New Mexico history, which he will illustrate with more than fifty colored lantern slides. Colonel Twitchell is one of the most eloquent speakers of the Southwest, a finished orator, and his lecture will be one of the most popular and at the same time most instructive ever delivered in New Mexico. Colonel Twitchell will address the New Mexican Historical Society sometime next month at a joint evening session of the two legislative Houses and also intends to give free lectures in the public schools in order to instill knowledge of New Mexico history and traditions and patriotism in the young minds of the future Sunshine State.

Colonel Twitchell has among his pictures one of the Old Palace in 1846. Instead of the present portico in French style, with light columns and balustrade around the roof of the veranda, the portico was supported by massive Moorish or Mission Arches and there was no balustrade around the roof of the portico. This is of great interest to the Archaeological Society which seeks to restore the Old Palace to its original architecture. The present appearance of the portico is incongruous and not in harmony with the remainder of the building.

BILLIK ESCAPES

HANGMAN'S NOOSE
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 25.—Governor Charles Deneen Friday night commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of death which had been pronounced on Herman Billik, of Chicago, who was condemned to hang for the murder of Mary Zrzal, whom he was alleged to have poisoned, with other members of the family.

and communication were referred to the committee on agriculture. Council adjourned to 10 o'clock tomorrow forenoon.

HOUSE.

Monday Afternoon.

Every member was present when Speaker Miera called the House to order this afternoon.

The committee on rules, through its chairman, R. L. Baca, reported, and the House was in committee of the whole the greater part of the afternoon to consider the rules, which with a few slight changes are the same as those of the 36th legislative assembly held in 1905.

Messages from the governor, similar to those received by the Council, and mentioned under the Council proceedings, were read, and Baca, Roberts and Gallegos were appointed a committee on executive mansion and capitol extension.

Mr. Chavez of Bernalillo, presided over the committee of the whole.

House Joint Resolution No. 1, by Valdez, protesting against a change in the name of New Mexico upon its admission to statehood.

The House was still in session at four o'clock, as the New Mexican went to press, the Valdez resolution having provoked considerable debate.

SOCIALISTS GATHER FOR DEMONSTRATION

Berlin, Jan. 25.—Large crowds of Socialists, many of whom were women, assembled in front of the diet building today where an interpellation regarding suffrage reform was scheduled for a hearing. The purpose was to make a demonstration in favor of the reform electoral system. However, the police dispersed the crowd and formed a strong cordon around the building. They prevented further gatherings. The Socialists then attempted to enter Under Der Linden through the Brandenburg gates, but found them closed by policemen. There were sporadic gatherings in other parts of the city but up to three o'clock there was no disturbance. Replying to the matter of the interpellation in the diet, Minister of the Interior Von Moltke said the government declined to discuss the matter because at present it was engaged in making a thorough examination of the question, which examination was not complete.

GOVERNOR'S THREAT HAS ITS EFFECT

New Orleans, Jan. 25.—The threat of the governor of Louisiana to call out the state troops if gambling and racing were not immediately terminated, had the desired effect. With the horses that have been running at the Suburban track, stamping restlessly in their stalls at McDonoughville, the doors to the gambling houses at South Port have closed and a ban placed on the sale of lottery tickets. Jefferson parish, La., is having the quietest season it has known in a long time.

TAFT SAILS FOR PANAMA.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 25.—President-elect Taft and party, including a small staff of distinguished civil engineers selected to inspect with the president-elect, the Panama Canal, sailed for Panama today. The party will reach New Orleans on the return trip, February 12.

Taft and the members of his party are aboard the Cruiser North Carolina, while on the Montana collier were a party of newspaper correspondents. Aboard each craft was a secret service agent.

FIRE ATTACKS

SHERIFF'S PROPERTY

Las Vegas, Jan. 25.—Shortly after midnight Friday night, outhouses on the premises of Sheriff Cleofes Romero were consumed by fire, entailing a loss of several hundred dollars.

Both companies responded promptly to the alarm, hose being attached to a hydrant in proximity to the west side of the Catholic church.

The fire is supposed to have originated from a careless use of matches by someone seeking shelter in the barn.

WILL LEAVE HOSPITAL.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Joseph Leiter, who was operated upon for appendicitis, last Friday, will be able to leave the hospital within a week, it is said. He is somewhat improved today.

IMPORTANT DECISION BY ATTORNEY GENERAL

Attorney General J. M. Hervey this afternoon, completed an important opinion, which the New Mexican will publish in full, but which holds in brief, that stockholders in order to protect themselves against liability for contribution, must file and publish a non-liability clause at the same time as the incorporation papers the filed and published.

ROOT RESIGNS.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Secretary of State Root today tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt to become effective upon the qualifications of his successor, Robert Bacon, whose nomination, along with that of J. C. Cloughlin, to be assistant secretary of state in place of Bacon, went to the Senate today.
