Casualties Are Reported From Many Points

DEATH LIST GROWING HOURLY

Property Damage in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee Heavy.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 24.—That the storm of wind and rain that prevailed in eastern Arkansas, northern Mississippi and western Tennessee, was most severe is confirmed by advices received today. The force of elements in Arkansas was felt in the counties of Boone, Woodruff, Prairie and Lonoke. The town of Fisher, in Pointsett county, was practically destroyed. Six persons were killed there and a number more or less injured. Near Ahustath, six are reported dead and a number of others injured. In Lonoke, a child was killed. The wires are prostrated and the full extent of the storm cannot yet be learned. In Mississippi, considerable damage was done to property. Near Greenville, several suburban structures were wrecked and a number of smaller buildings were demolished. At Tunna a number of buildings were damaged. In Memphis and vicinity the storm was very severe. Trees were uprooted and considerable property was damaged, but there were no casualties.

GYPSES WREAK TERRIBLE VENGEANCE

Kill Three Mountaineers Who Had Shot Two Women Who Had Refused to Go to Dance With Them.

Culiacan, Mexico, Feb. 24.—Two women and three men were killed and another woman wounded in a battle between a gang of marauders and a band of gypsies on the road to Mazatlan, news of which has just reached here. Encountering the gypsies on the road, the mountaineers demanded that the gypsy women attend the dance nearby with them. Upon refusal of the women to accompany them, the mountaineers opened fire, and two women fell dead, and another was badly wounded. The mountaineers then fled, but were pursued by the gypsy men, who finally succeeded in killing three of the murderers of their women.

On the executive committee are the following: George A. Martin, Texas; C. R. Root, Colorado; M. R. Hartung, Wyoming; George J. McCabe, Arizona.

Plans for an elaborate revival of the pugilistic game have been made here. Application for a charter for the Memphis Athletic club has been filed.

HOUSE PASSES MANY BILLS

Two Important Measures Introduced in the Council—Attempt to Classify Extra Employees.

HOUSE.

Wednesday Forenoon. Members Stackhouse, Tipton and Pacheco were absent when Speaker Miera called the House to order this forenoon.

Message No. 14 was received from Governor Curry, enclosing the report of the statehood committee. It was published in full in yesterday's New Mexican.

Bills Introduced.

The following bills were introduced: House Bill No. 172, by Roberts, an act to provide an appropriation for gauging streams of the territory and encouraging irrigation. The bill provides for an appropriation of $2,500, the U. S. Geological Survey to expend a similar amount for stream measurements in New Mexico. Referred to the committee on irrigation.

House Bill No. 173, by Brice, an act prescribing qualifications for admission to the bar, creating a board of bar examiners and providing procedure for disbarment.

Bills On Third Reading.

House Bill No. 73, by Moffett, an act to amend Section 1774-1775, of the Compiled Laws of 1897, relating to the fees of justices of the peace and constables, reducing the present fees materially. The bill was passed with an amendment offered by Roberts, only Walters voting no.

House Bill No. 56, by Walters, an act providing for the collection of poll tax was passed unanimously. The bill provides that the clerks of boards of education must before March 1 of each year furnish a list of those liable to poll tax. The clerks, however, are to collect the poll tax and to receive a 10 per cent commission on their collections as now provided by law.

House Bill No. 55, by Walters, an act classifying the extra employees of the House and providing compensation therefor, was tabled by a vote of 11 to 10, those voting against tabling being: Baca, Brown, Brice, Davidson, Martinez, Moffet, Mullens, Roberts, Walters, and Speaker Miera.

House Resolution No. 9, by Blattman, providing that the chief clerk shall hereafter enter in alphabetical order all bills on the calendar and report in accordance, was referred to the committee on rules.

Reports of Standing Committees.

The committee on territorial affairs reported House Bill No. 71, recommending its passage as amended. It also reported Council Joint Memorial No. 5, recommending its passage. Also a substitute for House Bill No. 99, relative to the mileage of county commissioners.

The committee on internal improvements reported Council Bill No. 33, recommending its passage.

Recess was then taken to 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Wednesday Afternoon.

By unanimous consent, Roberts introduced House Bill No. 174, providing for the classification of employees of both houses and providing compensation therefor, reducing the present rate of wages paid. The bill was passed under suspension of the rules by a vote of 20 to 2, Julian Chavez and Gallegos voting no.

An invitation to attend the meeting of the Historical Society tonight, from President L. B. Prince of the Society, was read.

An act to provide for the acceptance of the Territory of New Mexico from the United States of the benefits of the act of Congress relating to desert lands, approved August 18, 1894, and the acts amendatory thereof, providing for the irrigation, reclamation, occupation and disposal of the same and for the creation of a Carey Act land board. Under this act the board shall consist of the governor, commissioner of public lands and territorial engineer. A certified check of $250 to $2,500 must accompany each application under the act. The bill is quite lengthy and provides the details for the administration of the trust placed in the territory by the Carey Act.

House Bill No. 79, by Baker, a local option fence law for Roosevelt, Eddy, Curry, Chavez, Quay, Mora, Santa Fe, Union and Guadalupe counties, the latter east of the Pecos river, passed unanimously.

House Bill No. 75, by Valdez, an act relative to the public schools and providing for compulsory attendance and instruction in the English language was passed unanimously after it was amended so as to reduce the school age from 6 to 20, to 6 to 16 years, and by the addition of a penalty clause.

RAILROAD BILL GOES TO KIBBEY

Creates Non-Partisan Board of Three

SALARY OF EACH $2,500

Arizona Council Also Passes Fruit Tree Inspection Measures.

Phoenix, Feb. 24.—The House bill creating a territorial railroad commission passed the Council yesterday and went to Governor Kibbey. It provides for three members to be appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Council at a salary of $2,500 per annum each. One must be a lawyer and one an experienced rate-maker. Not more than two of the same political faith are to be named as commissioners. The Council passed the horticultural bill providing for the inspection of imported fruit trees.

SUBSTITUTE FOR POSTAL SAVINGS BANK

Federal Government Under It Would Loan Money On Farms and Other Real Estate.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Carter presented a substitute for the original postal savings bank bill. The substitute creates a board of five trustees which is to exercise entire supervision of the postal savings bank system. This board is to consist of the postmaster general, the attorney general, the secretary of the treasury and two civilians to be appointed by the president and confirmed by the Senate, the civilians to receive $10,000 a year each.

The board of trustees is empowered to determine in what banks shall be deposited the funds entrusted to the postal banks and will have the discretion of selecting either national or state banks, or both. It is empowered also to determine the class of securities which may be required from banks receiving the deposits and the manner in which such deposits shall be invested. It is required, however, that these investments shall be made in accordance with the laws of the states where the investments are made, which would permit state banks to loan money on farm lands in such states where such loans are authorized. The new bill makes no change in the interest rates.

Senator Carter had read a substitute for his original bill.

Senator Cummins at once objected to consideration of the substitute bill until amendments he had offered to the original bill had been acted upon. At this time he seized an opportunity to criticize the substitute bill. The provision which makes it possible to withdraw for certain purpose deposits of the savings funds to the treasury of the United States was criticized. Senator Cummins said it would be viewed by the people of the West as "simply another method of collecting money so that it will find its way into the money centers and incapacitate it to render the function to our people which it was intended to render."

Senator Carter defended these provisions, declaring that one of the best features of the substitute bill was that one which authorizes the loan of money of the postal funds on improved real estate. As neither the secretary of the treasury nor the postmaster general could visit various localities to examine the value of real estate, he said it was necessary to provide suitable officials to perform this duty.

Senator Clapp suggested that 200 instead of two men as provided by the bill, would be necessary to examine personally the farms offered as security.

Senator Bailey criticized the loan feature of the bill as an indication that the government was going into the loan business.

For two hours and a half the Senate discussed the bill, but an attempt to reach an agreement as to a day for voting on the measure failed.

Senator Aldrich obtained the consent of the Senate to a resolution continuing the committees of the Senate as they now exist until their successors are chosen in the next regular session.

In the course of his eulogy on Senator Allison, Representative Albert F. Dawson of Iowa, who was for years private secretary to the late senator, revealed the fact that the latter had been the author of the refunding provision of the gold standard act of 1900, and he declared that this provision had not only uplifted the standard of our national credit but had actually saved to the government the enormous sum of $16,500,000.

NEW RIVAL OF STANDARD OIL

Texas Company Enters Eastern Field for Trade

JOHN W. GATES A DIRECTOR

Aggressive Move of Southwestern Producers Causes Comment.

New York, Feb. 24.—In addition to extensive operations in the Southwest, a Texas company promises to become a serious rival of the Standard Oil company in the east. A large tract of land has been purchased at Bayonne, N. J., says the Herald today, and preparations have been made for the erection of several large tanks to supply the eastern market. The site chosen for the plant is not far from one now being established by the Standard. The aggressive policy of the Texas company is ascribed to John W. Gates, who has become a director in the company.

PRESIDENT SIGNS CAREY ACT EXTENSION

Senate Committee On Territories Wrangling Over the Enabling Act for New Mexico and Arizona.

Special to the New Mexican. Washington, D. C., Feb. 24.—President Roosevelt today signed the act extending the provisions of the Carey Act to New Mexico.

The Senate committee on territories is still wrangling over the provisions of the enabling act for New Mexico and Arizona and will not come to a final conclusion until Saturday. Opinion is divided whether the committee will strangle the bill or whether it will be reported, but indications are that a report will be made.

ROBBER KILLS NIGHT CLERK

Then Loots the Offices of the Wells-Fargo Express Company.

Hutchinson, Kan., Feb. 24.—Jesse Haymaker, twenty-two years old, a night clerk of the Wells-Fargo Express company, was shot and killed early today by a robber who then looted the express office. Unsatisfied, the robber secured Haymaker's keys to the up-town office, and entering there, emptied the money drawer. Very little money was secured. Haymaker was killed by his own revolver. It was evident from the condition of the office that the young clerk had struggled desperately with his assailant.

GOES INSANE FROM EATING TOO MUCH STEAK

Marshall, Mich., Feb. 24.—John Dwight Gorham, one of the most prominent men of Marshall, was taken to the Michigan asylum at Kalamazoo as the result of insanity, due, it is believed, to eating too much beefsteak.

Gorman was employed for many years in the bank which his grandfather established. He is a graduate of Harvard and was a member of the rowing team during the last two or three years he was there.

REGULARS WIN IN CHICAGO

Republican and Democratic Party Upheld

VOTERS LEAGUE FARED BADLY

Citizens Evidently Tired of Independent and Reform Movement.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—The party organizations, generally known as "Machines," won all along the line on the city ticket and in most instances on the Aldermanic in yesterday's primaries in Chicago. The municipal Voters' League fared badly, but it has the consolation that in fact the Liquor Dealers' League was bumped just as badly. The victory of the "machine" on the city tickets of both parties was decisive.

COLONEL COOPER IS PUT THROUGH GANTLET

Attorney for the State Shows Up Defendant as a Worthless Character.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 24.—The usual big crowd gathered at the court house today to hear the cross-examination of Col. Duncan B. Cooper, in the Cooper-Sharp trial, for the slaying of former Senator Carmack. The witness said that as he approached Seventh avenue on the day of the shooting, in company with his son Robin and defendant Sharp, his son took hold of his arm and urged him to hurry. The nervous grasp aroused his suspicion and intuitively he turned and saw Carmack. "Instantly I decided to go over and have a plain talk with Carmack," said the witness, "and see if this affair which was worrying my friends, my children and myself, could not be stopped."

"When you started out, did you propose to meet him?" "No, sir; an impulse came over me at once when I saw him, to go over and talk to him." Colonel Cooper said that when he spoke of Carmack the latter threw up his head as though he had not seen him, and at once drew his revolver. Just before this, Carmack had spoken to Mrs. Eastman, and when he drew his revolver he pulled Mrs. Eastman between himself and Cooper. "I had made no hostile movement," said the witness. "What did you say?" "I said, 'I think that looks damned cowardly to get behind a woman with a pistol in your hand.' 'Did you have your revolver out?' 'Not at that time.' 'Did you have any purpose of shooting or killing him?' 'No, sir; Senator Carmack got around the post and at the same time Robin got in between us. In a second Carmack shot between the poles, and Robin got around them. Then for the first time I saw Robin's revolver, and saw him shoot.' The witness said that he did not draw his revolver until after Robin shot. Then he drew his gun, but he saw Carmack was down and that Robin was shot, so he put his revolver back in his pocket. He said in all, five shots were fired.

Cooper told about surrendering himself and turning over his revolver to the police sergeant. The gun was still unfired, he said. The state's attorney then handed the witness some bonds given when Colonel Cooper was master in chancery of Maury county. He asked the witness to identify the petition in the suit filed against him in which he was charged with appropriating money to his own use. The defendant's attorney instructed him not to answer and appealed to the court, claiming that the charges were too remote to be brought into the case, as being against Cooper's character. The jury retired and the argument in the matter was begun. The state's attorney told the court he proposed to show that Cooper was an embezzler to the extent of over $100,000, "thus to show to the jury how much credit they should place in his works." "We propose to show that he embezzled from estates, from widows and orphans, from county and from state, and the very records kept by him prove it," said the state's attorney. He said there was a further reason. Cooper was stung by a few sarcastic editorials, but when he was openly accused of embezzlement, "he never said that the town was not big enough for him and the great men who made the charges." The defendant's counsel replied that it was never claimed that Carmack was killed because of the editorials, but that Robin Cooper shot him in self-defense. After two hours' argument Judge Hart suggested that the state turn over the charges against Cooper to the defense for examination, and a recess was taken.

QUARTET OF SWINDLERS ARRESTED

Used the Mails to Defraud Customers of Half a Million Dollars Through Bogus Races.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 24.—That their field operations extended over the entire country and into Canada, and that their victims numbered nearly a hundred from whom half a million dollars had been secured during the past two years is the declaration of state and federal officials who caused the arrest yesterday of J. C. Maybray, F. M. Clark, J. M. Johnson and Isadore J. Warner on the charge of using the mails to defraud. The alleged swindling scheme of the band was to arrange bogus wrestling matches and horse races. The men were identified by T. C. Cavanaugh of New Orleans, who declared that he lost $35,000 on a previously arranged wrestling match. During the residence the quartet occupied a home in a fashionable suburb as well as a suit of offices in a down-town office building.

There will be speeches after dinner, provided the speakers survive the repast.

SANTA FE MUST GET BUSY QUICKY

Unless Quarters Are Provided Federal Offices May Be Taken Away From Here.

The department of justice is determined that the federal district court for the First judicial district hold its sessions in the federal building. As the court room is occupied by the land office and adjoining office rooms are also occupied, these must move sooner or later. Similarly, the postoffice department may be compelled to remove the postoffice in the federal building after July 1, as the Archaeological School is to be opened on that date. This will mean the removal of additional offices from the Federal building. There are no suitable office rooms available in the city that can be rented even temporarily, and unless a concerted movement is made to secure from the Federal authorities an appropriation for the construction of a wing to each side of the Federal building, or suitable quarters are provided in private buildings, a number of the federal offices will have to be taken elsewhere. It is a matter that the Board of Trade and the Commercial club should consider immediately, for no time is to be lost.

CUTICURA REMEDIES
ENTIRELY CURED HER

"About two years ago I contracted eczema and suffered intensely for about ten months. At times I thought I would scratch myself to pieces. My face and arms were covered with large red patches, so that I was ashamed to go out. I was advised to go to a doctor who was a specialist in skin diseases, but I received very little relief. I tried every known remedy, with the same results. I thought I would never get better until a friend of mine told me to try the Cuticura Remedies. So I tried them as the last resource, and I am very glad that I did, for after four or five applications of Cuticura Ointment I was relieved of my unbearable itching. I used two sets of the Cuticura Remedies (Soap, Ointment and Pills), and I am completely cured. I always recommend Cuticura to any one that is suffering and in every case it seems to cure. MARSH DISCOVERS
A NEW ROUTE

To the Frijoles Canon, But the Facts Are Shrouded in a Maze of Profound Mystery.

Early Sunday morning a jolly party of four set off on horseback for a trip to the Frijoles Canon, Pajarito Park, and the cliff dwellings. The members of the party were Elmer Marsh, Alfred H. Brodhead, F. C. Wilson and Doctor Edgar L. Hewett. Three of the excursionists succeeded in reaching without mishap the famous ruins in the Rito de los Frijoles. One member of the party, however, did not reach the selected destination. And thereon hangs this tale.

When the party were well under way and had reached the broad mesa, outside the limits of Santa Fe, Dr. Hewett suddenly called Wilson's attention to the fact that Elmer Marsh had cut loose from them and had gained considerable headway along another trail.

"Hadn't we better go after him?" inquired Hewett anxiously.

"Oh let him go. Don't bother about him. If he thinks he knows the way better than we, alright."

The party then resumed its journey and Marsh was quickly lost to view in the darkening distance.

Monday evening, Hewett, Brodhead and Wilson returned to Santa Fe, not much the worse for wear and tear, yet somewhat tired and frost-bitten. It is reported that this morning not a single can of "New Skin" was to be had at any of the drug stores in Santa Fe. Suspicion as to who bought up the supply points sharply in a certain direction. But, aside from the vicissitudes of the trip, the returning explorers of ancient ruins were badly worried as to the whereabouts of Elmer Marsh who had failed to arrive at the chosen goal. Investigation discovered within a short time the fact that Marsh had returned to Santa Fe Sunday night at a late hour. Upon further investigation the party discovered that Marsh (at least so Wilson claims) after leaving the main party, thinking he knew the best and quickest way to reach the Frijoles Canon, soon got lost and wandered about aimlessly, finally landing in the neighborhood of Chimayo and later arriving at Tesuque where, according to Wilson, an Indian brave took pity upon Marsh, who by that time was completely pegged out and bewildered, and agreed to lead him back to Santa Fe. Wilson claims to have evidence to the effect that Marsh was seen Sunday night perched on his horse with his face turned towards the horse's tail, and a big burley buck leading the animal by the forelock.

Marsh stoutly denies the statements of Wilson and maintains that he was not lost at all, but that he had pre-arranged his trip and was merely trying to exploit a shorter route to the Frijoles Canon via Chimayo and Tesuque. His side of the tale is given very little credence however, although certain parties assert that for weeks past, they have observed Marsh, deeply absorbed in histories of the explorations of Coronado and other famous Spanish explorers. Whether Marsh was seeking to emulate their deeds was not stated. However, the disappearance of Marsh was thoroughly discussed in an appropriate manner, Tuesday morning, in the undertaking establishment of Senor Montenie and the plot grew thicker every hour.

"And to think of it," ironically remarked Montenie, "here we find a young man, born and bred right in Santa Fe, and yet unable to get further than Tesuque on a trip to the famous Frijoles. Oh, Elmer, Elmer, how could you?"

A CALL TO PRAYER.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 24, 1909.
All Christians and all interested in the progress of the work of temperance in our territory are earnestly requested to set aside as a day of special prayer and fasting the twenty-eighth day of February, 1909; supplicating that Divine light and wisdom may be given to our legislators and any who may be able to influence them that they may, in response to the wish of the people, give to us a good, strong local option law, or a prohibitory law.

The ministers are asked upon that day to preach upon the importance, the necessity, and the power of prayer.

The Lord of Hosts is with us, the God of Jacob is our God, His kingdom shall be established, but His people must be in tune with His divine purpose and must come up as one to the help of the Lord against the mighty.

HIGH GRADE WORK IN LITERATURE

Critique of Pope's Essay On Man By One of the Pupils of Santa Fe's Public Schools.

The following criticism of Pope's Essay on Man, was one of a number submitted in the regular work in English literature in the local high school and was not especially prepared for exhibition or publication purposes. It demonstrates the high standard attained by the High school pupils in English. It was written by Miss Amelia McFie, daughter of Judge John R. McFie.

Pope's Essay on Man is a didactic poem. Many of the words used are derivatives, while many are of Anglo-Saxon origin. Pope displays a wonderful command of language in this production. The rhyming couplet is used and the influence of the classic school is very evident. Pope's sentences are not very long as a rule, but are often ambiguous. The real meaning which was intended is very obscure in parts. The paragraphs in this work are of no uniform length, but vary. There are not very many classical allusions made, although many references are made to great men of that and of former ages. A great love of nature is manifested in the Essay, and one feels in reading it, that the writer was a lover of nature and was close to her. Pope uses many similes, but many of them are very common, in fact some are almost coarse. Some of the strength of his poetry is taken away by the use of similes. Dryden has been called the greatest satirist the world has ever produced. However, Pope's satire was very cutting. Dryden wrote all his productions in satire, but it was not so keen as was Pope's. Pope's satire was of the most cutting nature and gives the impression that he cared nothing for the feelings of his fellowman. He seems of a quarrelsome nature and does not hesitate to ridicule and satirize anyone or anything which displeases him. This Essay is almost entirely on philosophy, in which he deals with "the nature and state of man, with respect to the universe," "the nature and state of man with respect to himself, as an individual, with respect to society, and with respect to happiness."

The dominating idea throughout the poem is "Whatever is, is right." Pope tries to prove this fact to unbelievers. God is placed everywhere. This fact is shown in "Lo, the poor Indian; whose untutored mind sees God in clouds, or hears Him in the wind." It seems as though the author never loses sight of this. Man is rated for his vanity in believing that all things were created for him. Self-love and reason are represented as being absolutely necessary to man. They are represented as tending to the same end, pleasure. Self-love in nature, urges, and reason restrains. Pope's philosophy is mostly of a deep type and it is rather difficult to get the real significance of his lines. Most of it is correct, but there are some parts which are not strictly true to life. A good picture of the times may be gained from this poem, by noticing the things which are satirized. Pope ridicules Pantheism and Socialism, and the strict religious sects and private individuals, with the sharpest kind of sarcasm.

The Essay on Man has nothing sublime or uplifting in it. There is nothing and to cold reason entirely. Pope foreshadowed evolution which reached its zenith about a hundred years ago. It is a poem which appeals to the intellect which appeals to the heart. It years later.

A SAFE AND SANE LEADER.

In Hon. Elihu Root, the Empire State will after March 4 have worthy representation in the United States Senate. Safe and sane are words that apply pre-eminently to the New York statesman who has graven his name deeply upon the history of the times. His address, in which he accepted the election as Senator is a model and in itself establishes his fitness for the high honor. It was a simple, modest, courteous and straightforward speech and it set forth the principles which have governed Secretary Root in the past and are to govern him in his new duties. He said that the increase in population and the growth of commerce and industry have led to an intricacy of social and business life which, in turn, imposes great burdens upon the national government. The limit of capacity to bear these burdens is not far distant, and if government is to be effective, it is necessary that the states themselves must perform their own duties faithfully and wisely.

The just balance of government is only to be maintained, Mr. Root believes, by hearty co-operation between the states and the nation. If the states neglect to perform duties which affect the people of all the other states, it is inevitable that the powers of the national government will be stretched to cover the deficiency; and that means destroying the balance which the founders of the republic sought.

Moreover, there are duties which states owe to their neighbors. In regard to these there ought to be amicable agreement. Two states, for example, which use a common harbor, are equally interested in preserving it from pollution, and ought to do it without the necessity of intervention by the government at Washington.

On the initiative and referendum and the popular election of United States Senators, Mr. Root expressed himself with perfect frankness. He is opposed to all of them as tending to weaken a lawmaking body is not the way to improve its personnel.

"Ultimately and in the last analysis," said Mr. Root, "we must come down for successful government to the due performance of the citizens' duty at the polls"—a proposition that is hard to disprove.

Two most important decisions were handed down by the U. S. supreme court yesterday. One provides that a state has the right to regulate long distance telephone rates, as long as its action is not confiscatory, and the other upholds the decision of the U. S. circuit court for the southern district of New York, in fining the New York Central Railway company $108,000 for giving rebates to the sugar trust. This, together, with the second trial of the Standard Oil on the charge of rebating, which opened yesterday at Chicago, indicates that the federal government has definitely embarked upon the policy of regulating corporations and keeping them well within the letter as well as the spirit of anti-trust legislation. This means the establishment of a much sounder basis for interstate commerce and the companies engaged in it. But there will be trouble in corporate enterprises adjusting themselves to this new state of public opinion and federal policy, as is indicated by the flurry on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, which followed the announcement of the supreme court's decisions and which resulted in a decided decline of securities that are deemed gilt-edge.

It is a very drastic bill introduced by Congressman Hewitt yesterday providing a heavy fine and penitentiary sentence for those who retain public monies in their possession when the law directs that it should be paid over, and for those who exceed appropriations made by the legislature for public improvements. However, some effective step should be taken to safeguard the territory in the future against the wrongful diversion of public monies and the chronic habit of creating formidable deficiencies which has been a growing one in late years. The habit is pernicious, but has been tacitly permitted because former legislatures, with the idea that deficiencies would supplement any shortage in appropriation, have been very parsimonious in making appropriations for public improvements or to cover the necessary expenses of the administration of the public affairs of the rapidly growing and wealthy territory. Let the present legislative assembly make liberal allowances for necessary expenditures and then penalize the creating of deficiencies to be paid by the territory at some future time.

THE PRICE OF MEAT.

The cost of beef, veal, mutton and pork, is as vital a problem at Santa Fe as it is in Chicago, in New York, in London or in Berlin, for civilized nations are meat eaters and a large proportion of the money the workingman spends for food goes to the butcher. The price of meat has been increasing to the consumer rapidly of late years, but not only in the United States, but also abroad and in consequence there is a decided falling off in the consumption of meat and the substitution therefore of starch foods. Certain figures recently published by the Bureau of Animal Industry, which has its agents in New Mexico as elsewhere, are of great interest to every family.

Five great centers of population—London, Paris, Berlin, New York and Chicago—were selected for comparison, during the years 1906 and 1907, of the wholesale prices of high grades of beef and other meats.

The London market is supplied from all quarters of the globe. In 1906 English beef averaged about one cent a pound more than the American product; but in 1907 the two grades sold at the same price, and toward the end of the year American beef was slightly the higher. Scotch beef is regarded as the highest grade of all, and usually sells at a cent a pound more than English or American. The prices varied from nine and one-half cents to fourteen and three-quarters. At the same time, prices in New York were eight and one-quarter cents, and in Chicago eight and one-half.

In Berlin prices are always much higher, averaging just about twice as much as in Chicago. From fifteen to eighteen cents are the usual figures.

In Paris little mature beef is sold. The French prefer veal. Such beef as does come into the market sells at prices approximately the same as in London.

Good veal sells in Chicago at eleven cents; in New York at fourteen; in London at fifteen to sixteen; in Berlin at twenty to twenty-three; and in Paris at nineteen to twenty.

In all the cities mentioned, except Berlin, mutton averages about a cent a pound more than beef, although much less is eaten. America has an advantage of from three to five cents a pound.

The best pork averages three cents a pound more in London than in America, and five or six cents more in Paris. In Berlin prices are about the same as in London.

In answer to the fear expressed in the east that New Mexico and Arizona would be radical in their state constitutions and state government, a fear also refuted by the New Mexico statehood committee as is indicated by its report to Governor Curry, the Arizona Republican answers for Arizona as follows:

"Arizona of all western states and territories has been the least radical and the most level-headed. Populism has never flourished in this soil. Even the silver craze which swept over the entire West was of shortest duration in Arizona, rich in silver mines.

"The records made by our legislatures for several years past show nothing of radicalism, though here and there spots of other kinds of foolishness are disclosed."

New Mexico has even a better official record in that respect than Arizona. Its native people, especially, are by nature, conservative, and the wild-eyed statesmen that made such a farce of the Oklahoma Constitutional Convention, would never feel at home at Santa Fe or in any other part of the territory.

The bill introduced by ex-Governor Prince in the legislature yesterday, providing for the marking of the Santa Fe Trail under the direction of the American Daughters of the American Revolution, should become law by all means. The modest appropriation of $600 carried by the bill, could be expended no more worthily than by marking the historic highway now, that it is not yet quite obliterated. Kansas, Missouri and Colorado have set an example to New Mexico in this respect, which the territory should hasten to follow, for if the Santa Fe Trail is of greater historic interest to any commonwealth rather than the three mentioned, it is to New Mexico.

France is very wise in not wishing to engage in a tariff war with the United States at this time, for Congress in extra session to consider a revision of the tariff, would be quick to let France feel that even in strife over the tariff the advantage lies with the richer and the greater nation.

Several of the yellow papers of the larger cities are publishing yarns from the National Capital which ascribe to President-elect Taft a desire to frustrate President Roosevelt's plan for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona during the Roosevelt administration. These journals go so far as to speak of serious disagreement between the president and the president-elect on that account. The report of the statehood committee yesterday communicated to the legislature, should set at rest the rumor, for the committee says: "We are also assured that President-elect Taft is extremely friendly to the cause of statehood for New Mexico, and that independently of any pledges he believes in the justice of our cause, and that we have ample qualifications fitting us for immediate admission to the Union. He is aiding us now to the extent he thinks it is proper for him to go during the closing days of the present administration, but regards the pledge of the platform upon which he was elected as absolutely binding upon the incoming administration."

It was a fitting resolution introduced by Representative Baca and passed unanimously by the House yesterday afternoon, thanking President Roosevelt for his pronounced aid in the statehood movement and the patriotic efforts of Governor Curry to have the enabling act passed before March 4. The resolution has become part of the history of the memorable fight for statehood waged by the territory in 1909, a fight in which the chief executive of the nation as well as the governor of the territory took an energetic hand. It is no disparagement to any of the other statehood fighters to say that President Roosevelt and Governor Curry are its most zealous and most sincere advocates this time, although there is a host of others, both within and without the commonwealth, who stand shoulder to shoulder with them in their anxiety and their zeal for the speedy passage of the enabling act.

From New York comes the news that the Association of Life Insurance Presidents has appointed a committee to consider the suggestion that the insurance companies appropriate money for a campaign of education to improve hygienic conditions throughout the United States to be conducted by a committee of one hundred on national health. It is maintained that a practical application of modern hygiene would add fifteen years to human life and that the life insurance companies would be justified in appropriating funds toward an object that would reduce mortality expenses. The committee would certainly find a good field for its work right here in Santa Fe. It is encouraging to be told that our lives will be prolonged whether we want to or not and even if it is only for the sordid purpose of lowering life insurance rates and increasing dividends for life insurance companies.

Everyone who possibly can do so should attend tonight's public meeting of the New Mexico Historical Society in the Hall of Representatives at the Capitol. The lecture by Colonel R. E. Twitchell will be a brilliant synopsis of the historical work on the American occupation of New Mexico which he has written after many years of research and consultation of original authorities, some of which have been discovered only within the present decade. The lecture will be beautifully illustrated and thus will convey to the mind very vivid impressions of a period of New Mexico history about which there is very little knowledge even among those otherwise well versed in Southern historical lore and traditions. The meeting will be one of those not only of present interest but will result in lasting benefit.

The refusal of the statehood delegation to accept any portion of the $3,500 appropriated by the legislative assembly for its expenses should shut up the Roswell Daily Record and others who saw in the legislative action nothing but graft. Even the Albuquerque Journal, which accused Governor Curry of appointing none but "dead ones" on the delegation and let out one of its shrieks at the alleged junket, owes an apology to the delegation which gave its times cheerfully for the common good and refused to be reimbursed for its expenses of the trip. The trouble with New Mexico is not "graft," but too many fellows constantly howling "graft," until they make themselves and many others believe that this is the most corrupt commonwealth on the face of the earth.

Wyoming has only a hundred thousand inhabitants, less than one-fourth the number of New Mexico, and yet, its legislature appropriated a million dollars for the state's current expenses and for its educational and charitable institutions. The per capita wealth of Wyoming is no greater than that of New Mexico, but owing to the better assessment methods the tax rate is not as high as it is in this territory.

Even Homer nods occasionally. President Roosevelt, in his address Monday to the returning fleet and men said: "Those who perform the feat again can but follow in your footsteps." Footsteps in the ocean made by warships are rather a novelty and the whole chorus of nature fakirs in another minute will be heard to shriek throughout the land.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circulars free.

Many Sleepless Nights, Owing to a Persistent Cough. Relief Found at Last.

"For several winters past my wife has been troubled with a most persistent and disagreeable cough, which invariably extended over a period of several weeks and caused her many sleepless nights," writes Will J. Hayner, editor of the Burley, Colo., Bulletin. "Various remedies were tried each year, with no beneficial results. In November last the cough again put in an appearance and my wife, acting on the suggestion of a friend, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The result was indeed marvelous. After three doses the cough entirely disappeared and has not manifested itself since." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation—a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. Uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, gets into the circulation because of physical irregularities, and then instead of nourishing and invigorating the body, the blood irritates and inflames the different nerves, tissues, muscles and joints, because of its impure, acrid condition. The pains and aches and other disagreeable and dangerous symptoms of Rheumatism can never be permanently cured until every particle of the cause is driven from the blood. S. S. S. does this because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, purifies and cleanses the circulation, invigorates the blood, and completely drives Rheumatism from the system. Plasters, liniments, soothing lotions, etc., may be used for the temporary relief and comfort they bring, but a cure cannot be effected until S. S. S. has removed the cause. It frees the blood of every impurity and makes it a rich, health sustaining fluid, to bring permanent relief and comfort to those who suffer with Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

BEST TIMBER FOR RAILROAD TIES

Enormous Demand Shows No Indication of Decrease—Looking for New Sources of Supply.

Washington, Feb. 24.—That the humble railroad tie is a most important factor in the material development of the country is a great truth that is little understood by people outside of railroad circles. The puffing engine that speeds at the rate of a mile or more a minute over the country is a slave to the two steel rails that insure a smooth and safe road, and these rails in turn depend on the old-fashioned wooden cross-tie which holds them in place.

Yankee invention has not yet found a substitute which has induced the railroads to give up wood, although experts say that the day will surely come when the country's forests will no longer be called upon to supply the demand for ties. Up to the present time it seems that no other material has been found which has the resiliency of wood and which at the same time causes less wear and tear on the rails, fastenings, and roadbed.

The country's railroads during the last two or three years used 110,000,000 to 150,000,000 of sawed and hewn ties a year. The ideal tie timber is white oak, which combines the qualities of durability, hardness, strength, and close grain. It is not only excellent for ties, but is widely used in shipbuilding, for general construction, in cooperage, in the manufacture of carriages, for agricultural implements, interior finish of houses, and for furniture. On account of this wide use, the supply has been greatly reduced and some of the railroads have been forced to pay almost prohibitive prices for ties, or to substitute other and cheaper woods to replace the white oak ties rapidly disappearing from their lines.

Over 40 per cent of the ties recently purchased by the railroads of the country are oak, according to latest statistics of the United States forest service. Cross-ties of Southern pine formed somewhat less than 25 per cent. Douglas fir ties ranked third, with approximately 10 per cent of the total. Naturally the proportion of these two timbers will increase as the supply of oak dwindles. This is also true of cedar, chestnut, cypress, western pine, tamarack, hemlock, and other trees which are coming into the market as tie timbers.

Cedar, which is very durable, has been extensively used to take the place of white oak for ties, but it is so soft that it is readily cut by the rails. This necessitates the use of tie plates and other protective devices when cedar ties are used. As the supply of cedar is also running short, it is necessary for the railroads to seek further for new tie timber. One of the woods which has all the requisites of a good tie, with the exception of durability, is the beech.

A beech tie generally consists largely of sapwood, which partly accounts for its lack of durability, but, on the other hand, allows a thorough and easy preservative treatment. In Germany and France, beech ties have been successfully preserved from decay, and are used very extensively. Beech is found widely distributed throughout the eastern part of the United States, and at the present time is comparatively cheap and abundant. If, therefore, the railroads whose lines are located in the regions where beech is abundant can make use of this wood, treated with some suitable preservative, another source of supply of the timber will be opened up.

Stumpage values have been increasing so rapidly during the last few years that many railroads have found it necessary to modify their timber policy, and they yearly apply preservatives to a greater number of ties and to more kinds of wood. Substitute woods naturally vary with different sections of the country, but in most cases they lack the two essential qualities found in white oak, namely, resistance to mechanical wear and to decay. Experience proves that wear can be successfully retarded by the use of tie plates and other mechanical devices, and decay can be postponed by the application of proper preservatives. The new conditions have made it necessary for many railroad companies to meet the problem of preservation by establishing treating plants at central points of distribution along their lines.

It is an admitted fact that real estate, financial men and merchants all say that quickest and best results are obtained by advertising in the New Mexican.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO
THE W. B. T.

No Intention of Competition With Dances at Public Library Rooms By Boys' Organization.

Santa Fe, N. M. Feb. 24, 1909.
To the President and Members of the Santa Fe Woman's Board of Trade.
Mesdames:—This letter is addressed to you on behalf of the boys of the Santa Fe Athletic Club.

According to current gossip, there has been a great deal of talk and some feeling shown about the action of the boys in making the date for their Minstrel show coincide with the date of the Board of Trade dance. This was unfortunately unavoidable as no change could be made after the W. B.
T. had announced their dance, because the opera house was engaged.

The Athletic club wishes to assure you that it was not organized to run in opposition to the W. B. T. and has no idea of giving monthly or semi-monthly dances or any other entertainment. Of course there will be dances, etc., occasionally, but the endeavor will be made to so arrange dates as not to clash with the W. B. T.
This club is an athletic organization and not a dancing club; it is desired to have and to hold the good will and co-operation of every person in Santa Fe. This club has been instituted for the benefit of the city and the people in the city, and does not wish to feel that it starts off wrong by having any society or person feel aggrieved through any misunderstanding of its actions or intentions.

Assuring you that the members of the Santa Fe Athletic club are ready at any time to do anything they can to aid the Santa Fe Woman's Board of Trade. I am,

Yours very faithfully,
ROBERT V. BOYLE,
President.

IRRIGATIONISTS AS A RULE USE MUCH WATER

Principles of Dry Farming Apply to Humid as Well as to Arid Regions.

Dr. J. D. Towar, director of Experiment Station, University of Wyoming Agricultural College, addressed the Dry Farming Congress at Cheyenne, Wyoming, this week on "Dry Farming Principles Applied to Irrigation Practice." He said:

"The fundamental principles of dry farming consist in agricultural practices which will tend to conserve soil moisture and make the very most for cultivated crops of a limited supply of rainfall. While the so-called systems of dry farming are supposed to be practiced in the semi-arid regions only it has been found by actual practice and scientific experiments that the dry farmer's methods apply with equal force to the farmer who is growing crops in those sections which are assumed to have regularly a sufficient amount of rainfall. The potato grower in New England, the orchard-ist in New York and Michigan, the corn growers in the great corn belt of the Middle West, and, in fact, all who till the soil, must respect the principles of the dry farmer, for they cannot hope to secure the largest return from their land and their labor without employing religiously and thoroughly the principles of moisture conservation as laid down by the advocates of dry farming.

"We are all aware of the fact that the only obstacles in the way of further development of much of the intermountain country is due to the lack of water. Our irrigation engineers are devising plans to appropriate, by means of immense reservoirs, cement canals, and other expensive works, all of the water that falls on the higher levels for irrigating the greatest possible amount of these western lands.
The time is not far distant when, at the present rate of water distribution, our entire supply will be allotted. It is the opinion of all intelligent water-users, as well as the result of experiments which have been carefully made, that the average irrigator uses far too much water, and that under the present basis of water distribution the irrigable areas can be vastly increased. If profitable crops can be grown by dry farming methods, using only the annual precipitation, it is reasonable that on adjacent lands, where an artificial supply of water is used by the application of the dry farming principles, a very small amount of irrigation water will suffice to grow the maximum crop.

"There is no place which demonstrates the truth of the above statement so plainly as on the irrigated meadows, where in the past an unlimited supply of water has been available and has been used. In order to present more concisely the statement made, we will refer to some of the principles of arid land agriculture, and note their application to irrigation farming.

"Deep Plowing—One of the foundation principles of arid land farming is that the soil must be stirred to a much greater depth than is the custom in the districts favored with an abundant rainfall. It is sufficient to state that deep plowing is generally advisable and that for the irrigator the preparing of a large volume of soil for the use of growing crops by means of deep plowing is as important and will result in increasing the yield.

"Fall Plowing—It is universally conceded by all who have studied carefully the systems of dry farming that fall plowed land will produce larger crops the succeeding year than spring plowed land.

"The Sub-Surface Packer—With the exception of soils which are very heavy and more or less devoid of humus, there is a universal belief in the use of the land roller. The dry farmer's sub-surface packer is nothing more nor less than an improved land roller, and there are few places in any kind of agricultural practice where the sub-surface packer, if sufficiently weighted would not be an improvement upon the old-fashioned roller.

"The Press Drill—All of the points in favor of this implement for seeding on dry land apply with equal force to the irrigator.

"The Surface Mulch—While all the other principles enumerated have an important bearing on the practices which will insure success to the arid land farmer, the great principle on which the entire matter is based is that of preventing the escape of moisture through the agency of a layer of

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. With out that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's
Restorative

loose soil maintained at the surface of the ground on all cultivated crops as well as cereal grains wherever the plan may be exercised.

"It is one of the more progressive ideas in dry land farming that cereal crops, such as wheat, oats, and barley, should be cultivated even after the crop has attained considerable height. This cultivation tends to destroy weeds and serves its primary purpose of preventing the escape of moisture.

"Permanent Meadows—The dry land farmer has found that fields of alfalfa, brome grass and other perennial crops are greatly benefited through the practice of thorough cultivation, such as disking or harrowing with sword-tooth harrows. The permanent meadows of the irrigator can be materially improved through the exercise of cultivation methods.

"The Irrigator has been prone to look upon the dry farmer with derision and pity. The fact that the irrigator farmer has at his command the one element, water, does not prove that he has mastered all of the demands of a growing crop when he supplies this single element and depends upon nature without the exercise of intelligence to supply what else is needed. The providing of the best physical condition for the growing crop, the supplying of air and warmth and sunlight, are matters which demand the attention of everyone who cultivates the land. The farmer in the humid regions realizes this fact, and exhausts every possible means of maintaining his fertility through the application in the best possible manner of all the stable ma-nures produced on the farm, by practicing the rotation of crops, whereby the legumes may be grown and advantages taken of their ability to assimilate atmospheric nitrogen, and by practicing systems of cultivation to insure the greatest amount of good from the supply of water at hand, provide a constantly renewed supply of air, and take advantage of all the forces of nature to insure warmth and sunlight for his crops. There can be nothing in these principles which the irrigation farmer has any reason to overlook, and they are the foundation principles of dry land farming."

the affair and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.The Weather—Fair, warmer weath-or's Mansion—Yesterday the discovery was made that a freight car on the Santa Fe, which arrived here yesterday had been broken into and that the thieves had succeeded in robbing a number of packages of part of their contents. Just how much the thieves got away with altogether has not been ascertained, but silverware and cutlery to the amount of nearly $50 were stolen from a consignment of goods being shipped to the Wagner Furniture company. Three hundred dollars worth of fine monogrammed linens, purchased by Arthur Seligman and intended for the governor's mansion, were also stolen. The robbery occurred somewhere between New Mexico and St. Louis. Every effort is being made to apprehend the perpetrators of the crime and as the goods are such as can easily be identified the capture of the guilty parties is expected within a short time.Prisoner Used Shrewd Method to Escape—August Etienne, the prisoner which the New Mexican yesterday reported as escaping from the penitentiary, in making his dash for freedom, made use of rather shrewd means to accomplish his purpose and at the same time went to considerable trouble. He was a baker at the institution and always slept in the hospital.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday morning he climbed up the ladder leading to the trap door in the ceiling and escaped to the roof. He had somehow secured a double rope which he used to let himself down to the second story window after tying it about a chimney. From the window he lowered himself to the ground, rushed over to the cell house, climbed the water spout to the roof and from there went over to the chapel and let himself out of one of the chapel windows with the rope, reaching the ground on the outside of the prison.FOUND DEAD IN BED AT ALBUQUERQUENoted Railroad Construction Engineer Succumbs to Attack of Chronic Illness.J. V. Key, superintendent of construction on the eastern railway of New Mexico, known as the Santa Fe Belen cut-off, was found dead in his bed at St. Joseph's hospital at Albuquerque, yesterday, by his nurse.
Physicians announce the cause of death as heart failure, the result of long, chronic illness.J. V. Key was probably the best known railroad builder in the Southwest. His master work was the Santa Fe cut-off, but miles of road on the Mexican Central in Mexico, and the Shawnee extension of the Eastern Oklahoma branch of the Santa Fe are monuments of his work. Eighteen years' service with the Santa Fe is sufficient evidence that he had marked ability as an engineer.He was born in Decatur, Ill., forty years ago. He received his education in the Decatur public schools and graduated from the Decatur High school. He was a practical man. He entered the service of the Santa Fe in 1892. The years of 1898 and 1899 were spent in Mexico. Then he was made chief engineer of the cut-off by the Santa Fe.Mrs. Key preceded her husband to the grave less than two years ago, leaving four small children motherless. The eldest is less than seven years old.LEGISLATIVE THUMB NAIL SKETCHESCurry County—Governor Curry late this afternoon expected to sign the bill creating Curry county with the county seat at Clovis, and taking northern Roosevelt and southern Quay counties for the new county. In a day or two, he will appoint the first officials of the county. A delegation will be here from Clovis to make recommendations to the chief executive as to those officers.Law Revision Should Be Made Available—A prominent attorney at Albuquerque writes as follows:
Editor of Santa Fe New Mexican:Your editorial of Monday the 15th inst. under "Publish the Revised Laws," is certainly worthy of more than passing notice. From start to finish you speak the truth and the whole truth in the matter of the demand for a publication and official issue of the new compilation of our laws, and bespeak the urgent need of all who have to do with the laws of the territory, in terms that ought to rivet that fact on the mind of every member of the present session of our legislature. I do not expect to add anything to the merit of your suggestions, because it is all there in a nutshell; but I would like, to say that your article ought to be re-published and then published again until this need is fully understood by our representatives now in session at Santa Fe.

Missed the Mark.

Tom Gable, the genial sergeant-at-arms of the Council who loves a joke, is responsible for the following yarn, being reminded of it, he says, by a recent application to the Governor for a pardon (not his own application, of course). Said Gable:"Some time back an important looking gentleman took a seat beside a quiet man in an Arkansas railway carriage, and began a conversation.
"I'm going up to Little Rock," he said, "to get a pardon for a convicted thief. I'm not personally acquainted with the governor, but he can't afford to refuse me."
"Is the fellow guilty?" asked the man."Of course he is, but that makes no difference. His friends have agreed to give me $500 if I get him out, and the thermometer is very low when I can't put up a good talk. Where are you traveling?"
"Going to Little Rock."
"Do you live there?"
"Yes.""Perhaps you might be of some service to me. What business are you in?"
"I am the governor."The Best County Proposition Yet—The other evening H. M. Sweezy, one of the most active members of the lower house, started a number of legislators by declaring that he had a brand new county idea, "the best ever." Sweezy says he is tired hearing so much wrangling about the creation of new counties so he has come to the final conclusion that his county might as well get to work and annex all such parts of other counties bordering on San Miguel, as desire to be annexed and then have the people of San Miguel county apply for separate statehood. Statehood! Just think of it. As one of the those present remarked, "There is certainly nothing small about Sweezy. Wouldn't mind smoking his brand of tobacco, myself."Beelzebub—A journalist who wanted to be especially flattering to a legislator who was a regular church attendant, wrote of him:
"Deep on his front engraven Deliberation sat, and public care," and was chagrined to be told by the indignant legislator that the above lines from John Milton were part of the poet's description of Beelzebub.
The Third House—The employees of the legislative House have perfected an organization, which held a very interesting and "amusing" session yesterday afternoon. A resolution was introduced asking for the in-vestigation of the report that members of the third House had accepted bribes for their vote. There was a storm of protest and Floor Leader Jaramillo insisted that every member must vote as he directed. At that juncture, the sergeant-at-arms was directed to eject an unruly participant in the meeting and succeeded after quite a struggle. Reading Clerk Francis E. Newell is the speaker of the Third House and is a parliamentarian and presiding officer of great ability. It's lots of fun for the pages and the proceedings at times put in the shade the famous Grid Iron club's griddling.LEGISLATIVE EMPLOYEES

105, an act to regulate the fees of

Wednesday Afternoon.

Every member was present except Mechem when President Spless called the Council to order at 2:45 p. m.Numerous petitions protesting against the division of Grant county were presented by Upton. Petitions for passage of a local option bill were also presented, including a petition signed by 1,000 names by Hanley; another by Prince. Hanley presented a petition asking for the extension of the new fencing law to Bernalillo county.

New Bills.

act providing for the assessment of act providing for the regulation of the sale of intoxicant liquors. Referred to the committee on territorial

Prince, relating to the Carson Forest Reserve, addressed to the president, asking that areas not forested and adapted only to grazing, such as the San Antonio Mountain entirely bare of timber, be restored to the public domain and that the former eastern boundary of the reserve be restored.
Catron suggested that similar areas in all other forest reserves in the territory, are not timber areas and that the memorial be made more general.
Prince answered that the department insists upon the description of specific instances in being asked to remedy complaints of this character. Referred to the committee on judiciary.House Bill No. 10, by Garcia, an act to amend Section 2, Chapter 32

I was finally forced to put him out of
