PLANS FOR THE MUSEUM

Will Be Far Reaching in Their Scope

LETTER FROM C. F. LUMMIS

Meeting of Archaeological Society Addressed by Doctor E. L. Hewett

"For a quarter of a century New Mexico has held a foremost place in my thought, and in my love. Her noble past has given me one of the richest and happiest fields of study ever found. No one could know her and her people so intimately and so long and in so many ways without an enduring respect and affection. And though my life's duties are now far away, and their demands are heavy and constant, it is a joy and a privilege to renew a little of the old relationship—it is very much like a return to one's boyhood home. This is not an exaggeration, as those will know who know how much the territory has meant to me personally and as a student.

"So it is with the deepest satisfaction that I have seen come to pass here, at last, the inauguration of a work worthy of our best traditions—and inevitable, sometime, if our history is really as noble as we believe it. What is the use of having a noble record, if we let it get lost, or throw it away? What is the use of having had a wonderful history, if it is only to be forgotten? Every thoughtful New Mexican feels something of this. Many efforts have been made to save at least the fragments of our rapidly disappearing past. But it is an enormous task in time and in money, and in people to do such work worthily. It cannot be done by any individual, or association of individuals, or city, on a large enough scale to be worthy of New Mexico. It is a common-sense, 'business' necessity; but it must be met in the most scientific and approved methods. Untrained historians, unscientific collectors, can not lead nor guide such large movements. As a matter of fact, it has taken a five year campaign, reaching through the United States and from Canada to Yucatan, and dealing with all departments of the United States Government, with the universities, museums and scientific bodies of North America, with state governments, with individual students and many other classes of organization and persons to bring about, at last, a great system on a national scale for doing such work—for standardizing history, archaeology and the other branches of the study of man—which is as plain a common sense necessity as is the standardizing of weights and measures. But that system is at last completed—a consensus of practically all the classes named has been effected. We have come to intelligent co-operation—and today, just when for the first time there is available this national backing and aid for such work, New Mexico springs to the front, a splendid volunteer. And she has the chance to be the color bearer. Southern California has been influential in this long campaign; and has a voice in this national council for the systematic study and preservation of American antiquities. It has set the pace for other archaeological societies. It has a representative in the managing board of the School of American Archaeology which has been founded as the aggressive agent of this national work. It would be proud to house that School—which within a very few years will be one of the most famous scientific centers in the world. It was our first thought that the School of American Archaeology should come to Los Angeles. But we didn't anticipate any such rival in the field.

"But the School is not a mere university, nor a mere museum. It is a working force—a great laboratory for education, not by books merely, but by working up the raw material of which history is made. Everybody knows now that 'history' is not a mere volume of somebody's opinions, nor an archive of dates, etc. The written record of millions of lives is reduced for it to a printed page, and the documents are a necessary part. But the people that were history—who they were, what they were, where they came from, how they lived, what they made—the historian nowadays must study these.

"So it is not only fitting, it is a business necessity, that such a laboratory should be established where the evidences of these unrecorded lives

A FOND DREAM COMING TRUE

Plans for Santa Fe's New Hotel Have Been Received and the Project Will Be Pushed.

Santa Fe is soon to realize one of its fondest dreams in the actual materialization of a first class modern, high class tourist hotel. Some time ago the New Mexican chronicled the announcement that an option had been secured on the property at the corner of Palace and Lincoln avenues, coupled with the statement that a large new hotel was to be erected. The plans of the new structure are now in the hands of John P. Wagner, who is heading the promotion of the scheme. The plans will have to be gone over carefully and all details decided upon before any actual work can be begun, but Mr. Wagner assures the public that it will not be far in the future before the work on the hotel will be started in earnest. Two styles of architecture have been submitted, the Spanish style and the Mission style. In all probability the latter style will be the one chosen as it is more in keeping with the historic background of Santa Fe. The building is to be three stories and a large basement and will comfortably house several hundred people. A large, spacious entrance will open into a magnificent and commodious lobby. This on the first floor. On either side will be drawing and writing rooms and in the rear a large, well equipped dining hall. A great wide staircase on either side will lead to the second floor, which will be fitted out in suites of rooms, each suite connected with a private bath. The third floor will be devoted to rooms somewhat smaller in size, but thoroughly convenient and modern. Most of the rooms will have in connection a private bath. In the basement of the structure provision has been made for a large auditorium. Back of this will be a large and elegant grill room. On one side of the basement there will be baths for ladies and a large plunge. A similar provision will be made for men on the other side. There will also be a part reserved for large bowling alleys. To be brief, nothing has been overlooked that goes to make up a hotel that is bound to attract the traveling public and go towards making Santa Fe a stopping off point for tourists. In fact it will wipe out the argument so long used against this town, namely, that it is not well enough equipped with tourists hotels. It has been only a short while since a representative of a New York tourist syndicate stated that Santa Fe was not on the list of stopping points of the tours gotten up by various eastern syndicates, this in spite of its great attractions and simply because of its lack of tourist hotels although it has good hotel accommodations otherwise. With this new hotel and the archaeological school added to the list of attractions, Santa Fe will have every opportunity to become the tourists' Mecca of the West.

BOY SHOTS HIS SWEETHEART

Then Turns Revolver on Himself and Sends Bullet Through His Cowardly Heart.

El Paso, Tex., April 10.—Because his fourteen-year-old sweetheart, Blanche Atkinson, had broken an engagement with him, Clay Ratliffe, aged seventeen, tonight stepped to the little girl's side on one of the principal streets here, pulled a revolver and shot her through the heart.

Her clothes blazing, in such close quarters had the shot been fired, the little girl ran screaming in the street, and fell at a crowded crossing, dying a few minutes later.

Then Ratliffe pointed the gun at thirteen-year-old Eva Mipolski, who was a companion of the Atkinson girl. Eva ran quickly into a nearby store, before he could fire.

Ratliffe then turned the pistol on himself and fell dead with a bullet through his heart.

Ratliffe came to El Paso about four years ago from Alamogordo, N. M. He has been working here as bell boy for the Sheldon hotel.

GAMBLING REPORTED AT FRENCH LICK

Smaller Hotels Adjoining Tom Taggart's Big Place Said to Be Running Games.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 10.—Governor Marshall has instructed the prosecuting attorney in the French Lick district, to inquire into the reported resumption of gambling at the resort. Under the direction of Governor Hanly the games were raided but it is alleged that they reopened on an elaborate scale. Tom Taggart, former member of the Democratic National Committee, is owner of the French Lick Hotel near which it is said are located the small hotels in which gambling flourishes.

TARIFF BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Hides and Lumber Placed on Free List

REPUBLICANS STOOD SOLID

Amendments to Be Made in Senate Where It Goes Monday.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—With almost a solid party front the Republicans passed the Payne tariff bill last night with a vote of 217 to 161. The most important action taken before the vote, was the removal of the duty on petroleum which was accomplished after a hard fight. The bill goes to the Senate Monday where it is believed many amendments will be offered, particularly on iron ore. An attempt to place lumber on the free list was defeated. The bill removes the duty from hides, increases the duty on stockings and gloves, and reduces the duty on rails on half. It is declared that Taft has secured a pledge from the Senate committee for an amendment admitting 300,000 tons of Philippine sugar free annually.

Territorial Matters at National Capital.

Special to The New Mexican. Washington, D. C., April 10.—The Senate has confirmed the appointment of Jose F. Gonzales to be register of the U. S. Land Office at Las Cruces.

Senator Bailey of Texas, after scoring President Taft, acknowledged that he was the best equipped of any man who ever entered upon the Presidency.

Delegate Cameron today introduced a bill providing for the assessment and taxation of the Santa Fe Railway in Arizona on the same basis as other property.

President Taft today sent to the Senate the nomination of Leroy O. Loomis, vice A. S. Breeding, resigned, to be postmaster at Texico.

It is believed that President Taft will not make important New Mexico appointments until consultation with Governor Curry, National Committeeman Solomon Luna and Territorial Chairman H. O. Bursum. They will be communicated with, and may be asked to come to Washington for conference.

Funeral of Hitchcock.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The body of Ethan Allen Hitchcock, former secretary of the interior, was taken to St. Louis for burial today. The funeral train carried members of the family and a few friends.

Reaches Senate.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The Payne tariff bill reached the Senate from the House two minutes after noon today and immediately was referred to the committee on finance.

Bills by Guggenheim.

Washington, April 10.—Senator Guggenheim introduced the following bills: To grant pensions of $12 monthly to surviving members and widows of deceased members of the Forsythe scouts, a volunteer organization, which took part in a battle with Indians at Beechers Island, Colorado, in 1868.

Authorizing the secretary of the Interior to grant a patent for a quarter section of land to each person who may sink an artesian well and irrigate ten acres of such quarter section.

Directing the Secretary of the Interior to permit prospecting, mining and building of reservoirs and canals within forest reserves.

Providing for the appointment of Frank D. Baldwin as a major general on the retired list of the United States Army.

Directing the award of medals of honor to each survivor of the 75,000 men who enlisted under the first call of troops in the rebellion.

Providing for instruction in forestry in the state agricultural colleges. Appropriating $20,000 for the establishment of a government fish hatchery in Estes Park, Colorado.

Intended to Arrest Castro.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—It developed today that it has been the intention of the Venezuelan authorities to arrest Castro immediately he arrived in Venezuela under the indictments pending against him. The deportation from Martinique is expected to relieve the situation.

Duty on Lumber Cut One Half.

Washington, D. C., April 10.—The principal fight on the final passage of the tariff bill in the House was on lumber. As it now stands the duty is a dollar on ordinary sawed lumber as against $2.00 under the Dingley tariff.

Where lumber is planed or finished,

FIFTY DETECTIVES WATCH CHURCH

Threat to Blow up Remains of Petrosini

BLACK HAND SENDS LETTERS

Cordon of Police Around the Building to Prevent Threatened Deed.

New York, N. Y., April 10.—Aroused by the receipt of a threatening letter and fears that an attempt would be made to blow up the church wherein lies the body of Joseph Petrosini, the lieutenant of police killed in Italy, fifty detectives watched the tier today and a cordon of police surrounded the church to prevent the Black Hand measures. The letter which caused the precautions was received by Monsignor Kearney, pastor of the Cathedral.

KELLOGG MAKES CLOSING ADDRESS

Standard Oil Case Biggest on Record and Cost Five Million Dollars Fees.

St. Louis, Mo., April 10.—After continuous argument, lasting five days, Special U. S. Attorney Frank B. Kellogg made the closing address today on behalf of the government in the latter's suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Company as a violator of the Sherman act. The case is the biggest on record containing 11,000,000 words. It is estimated that at the close of the case it will have cost $5,000,000 fees and court costs. Kellogg today insisted that the attempted Northern Securities merger is a case in point and that the twenty companies signing the Standard Trust agreement were just as competitive as the railways subscribing in the Securities case.

GOVERNOR LILLEY IS VERY ILL

Passing Through Crisis and Outcome Cannot Be Predicted, But Patient Is Low.

Hartford, Conn., April 10.—Governor Lilley, who has been ill the last two days, is passing through the crisis and the outcome of the illness cannot be predicted. He is extremely low.

SEVEN KILLED IN AN EXPLOSION

Premature Blast Creates Disaster in Coal Mine

200 STICKS OF DYNAMITE

But That Morning Shift Had Quit Loss Would Have Been Greater.

Windber, Pa., April 10.—Seven miners were killed and several hurt as a result of a premature explosion of dynamite in a mine half a mile from here. A party of twelve men were near 200 sticks of dynamite when a blast was set off. That more were not killed is due to the fact that the day shift was quitting work.

MINE WORKERS ARE PLANNING

Committee Appointed to Seek Ways and Means to Force Adoption of Wage Agreement.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 10.—The Mine Workers have appointed a committee to prepare a plan of action seeking a working agreement. President Lewis of the Mine Workers said today that he could not understand the statement made by the operators. He said the latter had refused to restore the wages of men reduced contrary to the wage agreement and would not treat with the representatives to sign in behalf of the United Mine Workers in the Anthracite region.

LA JOYA LAND AND IRRIGATION COMPANY

First Meeting of Directors Held at Santa Fe This Week and Officers Elected.

The directors of the La Joya Land and Irrigation Company held their first meetings on Thursday and yesterday at the offices of ex-Governor I. Bradford Prince on Palace avenue. It is a company principally composed of Colorado parties, which has taken over the common lands of the Sebastian Martin grant that were sold recently at partition sale and bought by Hon. J. M. Freeman of Greeley, Colorado. Judge Freeman has been for over ten years the enthusiastic advocate of an extensive irrigation enterprise to cover a large tract of land on the east side of the Rio Grande, from La Joya down to Plaza del Alcaide and thence over the San Juan Pueblo grant to Santa Cruz. The lands near the river and below the present aqueduct are very rich and have been occupied by prosperous farmers for two centuries, but back of them is a very large tract, now useless, upon which water can be brought into profitable cultivation for fruit, sugar beets or ordinary agriculture, and form one of the finest communities in the whole Southwest.

Associated with Judge Freeman are James W. McCreery of Greeley, Colorado, who is largely interested in irrigation enterprises, Robert R. Moodie of Denver, well known in real estate and financial circles, and a number of other prominent Colorado men.

The official headquarters of the new corporation are at Espanola, but for convenience this first meeting was held at the branch office in Santa Fe. It is expected that active operations will begin as soon as Territorial Engineer Sullivan passes on the application of the company for an appropriation of water from the Rio Grande and Embudo creek.

At the meeting just held, Hon. James M. Freeman was elected president and treasurer; Hon. I. Bradford Prince, secretary; Hon. James W. McCreery, general attorney; Elias Clark of Alcaide, general superintendent; and the Rocky Mountain Exploitation Company, of which Mr. Moodie is president, financial agent. The local New Mexico members of the directorate are Messrs. Prince, Clark and R. L. Baca. Pedro A. Sanchez of Ojo Zarco was put in charge of the eastern portion of the property to prevent depredations.

HASKELL INDICTMENTS ARE QUASHED

Government Loses Out in Another One of Its Sky Rocket Land Fraud Prosecutions.

Tulsa, Okla., April 10.—The indictments against Governor Haskell and six other prominent men charging frauds in the Muskogee town lot operations were quashed in the U. S. court this morning.

Will Not Drop Case.

Tulsa, Okla., April 10.—Sylvester Rush, special assistant attorney general, said he would again present evidence to the grand jury, submitting it without delay. The court's decision quashed the indictments on the ground that they were returned by a grand jury, twenty-three men, under the federal law, instead of a jury of sixteen, as provided for by the Arkansas law which was held to be in force in the old Indian Territory by the federal enactment at the time when the alleged frauds were committed. The men freed, besides Haskell are: C. W. Turner, 55, proprietor of a hardware company; W. R. Eaton, 40, secretary of a construction company of which Haskell is president; W. T. Hutchins, 46, lawyer. F. B. Severs, 74, Creek Citizen by adoption, wealthy; A. C. English, son-in-law of Severs; Jess Hill, 38, lawyer.

Attorneys for the defense say that the statute of limitations will bar further prosecution and prevent new indictments from being returned.

NEW MEMBER FOR ANANIAS CLUB

Ex-President Roosevelt Says He Never Met French Reporter, Who Sticks to His Story.

Paris, April 10.—Roosevelt in a cablegram to a French newspaper denies that he gave interviews to French correspondents at Naples, and says he never saw the correspondent of "Le Journal," but this paper re-iterates its statements and insists that the interview was accurate.

FIVE YEARS IN PEN FOR TRIFLER

Waco, Texas, April 10.—Ernest Walkerson found guilty of having a mock marriage performed with a highly respected young woman in this city was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary this morning. The ceremony took place on a train and the girl tried to commit suicide when she discovered the trick.

CASTRO TO BE PRESIDENT AGAIN

His Successor Was to Retire Voluntarily

DICTATOR'S WIFE PLOTTING

She is Not Hampered by Foreign Powers Like Her Husband.

New York, N. Y., April 10.—The revival of the story that Castro will resume the presidency of Venezuela is contained in a newspaper report from Trinidad which says that Gomez will leave his office to his predecessor, when the latter arrives in Venezuela. Senora Castro is said to be planning the move, as she is not hampered as her husband is.

Given Nine Hours.

Fort De France, April 10.—Castro was ordered to leave the island of Martinique within nine hours today by the Colonial government of the island. It is not known where he will go. The United States, it is understood, has taken steps to find out whether he will be permitted to land in the Danish West Indies. Upon receiving the expulsion notice, Castro pleaded illness and the colonial governor ordered a physician to make an examination.

Castro Protests.

Fort De France, April 10.—The doctor called to examine as to his fitness to travel, declared the former Venezuelan president sufficiently strong to take the ship. Castro protested vigorously and said his pain was so great he could not endure travel. He demanded sufficient delay to enable him to take a ship to the Canary Islands, Spanish territory.

ASSESSMENT OF TAXABLE LANDS

Governed by Council Bill No. 153 and Not by Schedule of Board of Equalization.

A brief but important opinion was handed down today by Attorney General Frank W. Clancy, which is contained in the following letter:

April 9, 1909.
Mr. Edward R. Wright, Santa Rosa, N. M.

Dear Sir: I am in receipt of your letter of the 5th inst. asking for an opinion as to the powers of county commissioners under Council bill No. 153 of the last legislature, which will be chapter 124 of the laws of 1909, to classify lands for the purpose of taxation.

In the new law it is specifically declared that for purposes of taxation all lands shall be assessed at their actual value in the same proportion as other property may be assessed, and that the assessors and county commissioners are authorized and required to classify all lands according to their value, and to assess the same for taxation accordingly which classification and valuation shall govern in all assessments for taxation.

It appears to me, as I see that it does to you, that the act in question commits the matter entirely to the assessors and county commissioners of the several counties. It is the last legislative expression on the subject, and fully covers the subject so that any previously existing power in any other body, like the Territorial Board of Equalization, is taken away.

Yours truly,
FRANK W. CLANCY,
Attorney General.

GOOD FRIDAY FOR GEORGIA SAMPSON

Acquitted of the Charge of Having Murdered Her Husband She Gives Thanks.

Lyons, N. Y., April 10.—Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson, acquitted yesterday of the charge of killing her husband Harry Sampson, made a statement today before going home: "This has indeed been Good Friday for me," she said. "I am innocent of any wrong. I never wronged my husband in my life and his memory is the dearest thing I have."

GLEANINGS BY A PERIPATETIC PEN

A traveling man who has taken an especial liking to Santa Fe and its delightful climate and surroundings is responsible for the following tale. According to this knight of the grip, St. Peter, who has charge of heaven, was busily engaged in looking over the "celestial register" when he was approached by a man who had just been admitted to paradise. Upon inquiring what the man wanted, St. Peter was given the following reply: "Say, when I came here I thought I was coming to a place worth while. Why, back where I came from, it's every bit as pleasant as up here. This is what I call a sell."

"Is that so," said St. Peter grave-

MISSIONARY'S WIFE PRAISES CUTICURA

Daughter's Head Encrusted with Dandruff—Feared she Would Lose her Hair—Many Treatments were Futile—Baby had Milk-Crust.

BOTH CHILDREN CURED BY FAMOUS REMEDIES

"For several years my husband was a missionary in the Southwest, and we were living on the edge of the desert at an elevation of nearly five thousand feet. Every one in that high and dry atmosphere has more or less trouble with dandruff and my daughter's scalp became so encrusted with it that I was alarmed for fear she would lose all her hair, which was very heavy. After spending between five and six dollars for various remedies, in desperation I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. After rubbing the Cuticura Ointment thoroughly into the roots of the hair, I gently combed the crust of dandruff free from the scalp, and then gave her head a thorough shampoo with the Cuticura Soap. This left the scalp beautifully clean and free from dandruff, and after the hair was dry, I again rubbed the Cuticura Ointment, this time sparingly, into the roots, and I am happy to say that the Cuticura Remedies were a complete success. My troubles with dandruff were over, although for a long time afterward I used the Cuticura Ointment as at first, after shampooing, which kept the scalp and roots of the hair moist. I have used successfully the Cuticura Remedies for so-called 'milk-crust' on baby's head, and have never found anything to equal them. You are at liberty to publish this letter, for I do sincerely believe that the Cuticura Remedies are a blessing to mankind. Mrs. J. A. Darling, 310 Fifth St., Carthage, Ohio, Jan. 20, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful curatives for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed, when necessary, by a mild dose of Cuticura Resolvent (liquid or pills) is often sufficient to afford immediate relief of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, irritations and inflammations, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy cure when all else fails. Sold throughout the world. Putter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Proprietors, Boston, Mass. Mailed Free, Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases.

"From Santa Fe, New Mexico," replied the disgruntled one.

"Humph," answered the guardian of heaven, "there sure was a mistake made in your case. Any one who has ever lived in Santa Fe will never be satisfied anywhere else." And forthwith he wrote out a return trip ticket to Santa Fe and handed it to the complainant.

The other day a citizen of German extraction called upon George W. Armijo to inquire about the new hunting license law. After obtaining the information desired, he said:

"By der vay, I always tought dat Roosevelt vas a first class hunter."

"Well, he is, isn't he," replied Armijo.

"No, I don't tink so, because first class hunters always takes along first class hunting dogs."

"Didn't Roosevelt take along first class hunting dogs?" inquired Armijo.

"No, he didn't. De Paper says he took his cur mit (Kermi)."

George is still selling hunting licenses.

HOME ENDORSEMENT.

Hundreds of Santa Fe Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Santa Fe people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Santa Fe reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Miss Adela Arias, 106 Griffin street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "The use of Doan's Kidney Pills in my case brought relief from a disordered condition of my kidneys that had troubled me for some time. I suffered from a dull, heavy ache in the small of my back, the attacks always being aggravated by colds and in addition to this, I was often distressed by headaches and dizzy spells. My attention was first called to Doan's Kidney Pills about three years ago and I procured a box at Stripling and Burrows' drug store. Their use proved that the claims made for them were genuine. Off and on since whenever occasion has required, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and the quick and positive relief always obtained warrants my high opinion of them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Legal blanks—both English and Spanish—for sale by the New Mexican Printing company.

IDEALS OF LOCAL SELF GOVERNMENT

Bulwark of American Liberties Included Therein

ADDRESS BY SENATOR BORAH

Principle of New England Town Meeting Glorified by Speaker.

Local self government was glorified in an address by Senator Borah of Idaho, last evening, in an address before the Hamilton Club at Chicago. He pointed out that upon local self government rest the liberties of the people. "With the utmost care," he said, "in the formation of our government, there was reserved for the states the control of all matters of domestic concern or local interest." It was for the states but not the territories, and for poor New Mexico the doctrine of local self-government has no application.

Chicago, April 10.—The celebration of Appomattox Day by the Hamilton Club in the Auditorium Annex last night was made notable by presence of distinguished speakers whose addresses were of particular interest. General Fred D. Grant spoke briefly upon some personal recollections of Appomattox and Secretary of War Dickinson chose as the subject of his remarks "The Progress of Peace." Senator William Alden Smith, of Michigan, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, spoke respectively on "The Integrity of the Nation," and "The Integrity of the States."

In speaking on "The Integrity of the States," Senator Borah made a strong appeal in favor of jealous watchfulness to preserve local self-government in its greatest vigor as the surest guarantee for a perpetuity of free institutions and at the same time emphasized the importance of federal power as provided by the constitution.

Describing the pure democracy that existed in Athens, he declared that, although that example of popular government had continued for less than one hundred years, more than 2,000 years have not dimmed in the least the lustre of its achievements.

"They understood well the lesson of self-government," said Mr. Borah, "but the great central and controlling principle of civilization, that is concentrated and harmonious action among separate states or communities on a large scale without destroying or forfeiting self-government, was to them unknown. The representative principle, that system by which independent cities of states retaining full and complete control over domestic affairs with a central and supreme authority for all matters of common interest was yet undiscovered. So amid petty rivalries and constant jealousies, amid strife and conflict and perpetual war, this resplendent political system perished. There was a fatal defect, a defect which another people was to discover and remedy."

As the antithesis of this wonderful example of pure democracy, he traced the development of the Roman Empire and the coincident loss of all local government by communities brought under the sway of Rome.

"Instead of expecting to find virtue and progress and prosperity among the people worked out through the thrift and industry and energy of the people," he declared, "they supposed that in some way those things abided in statutes and imperial decrees. They thought that by legislation all things could be cured and that the government must take care of them all. At last this civilization came into conflict with that of the Teutons of the North, a people having among them the germs of local self-government in their tribal rule, a people independent, self-reliant, possessed of courage and initiative. When the conflict came the false and vernal splendor of Rome perished."

Tracing Anglo-Saxon civilization, Mr. Borah declared that the principle of the New England town meeting has seamed our whole civilization with strength and durability. Without its active presence, its living pervading force, there could be no such thing as a truly Republican government or federal government or federal system.

"Our fathers understood this well," said Mr. Borah, "and were wise and cautious in jealously guarding it when they came to frame the federal system. If they were wise to preserve it their children will be wise to continue to preserve it. It is a remarkably short period from the time when the people cease to be active in the affairs of government until they are incapable of discharging the duties imposed by the government and no people incapable of self-government ever long bred a class of statesmen who were capable of governing for them. For it is nature's everlasting anathema on oligarchies that recruits from the walks of the humble and lowly must be had or else follows a universal bankruptcy of intellect and character, a people enervated in body and mind and from whose venal fingers son fall the reins of government."

With the utmost care, he said, in the formation of our government, there was reserved for the states the control of all matters of domestic concern or local interest, while there was granted to the general government those great and general powers which encompass the welfare of all.

"We must not assume," continues the Senator, "we must not permit ourselves to believe that the reservation is of less moment or less beneficial to the American people than the grant. I am well aware that the phrase 'State rights' has been discredited in our history. It is associated with unhappy days. It is a kind of intellectual tramp recognized for the last fifty years mainly at the back door of the American statesman. But the abuse of the term should not blind us to the great and inviolable political truth that upon the integrity of the states after all rests the integrity and permanency of the Union, that upon the principle of local self-government rests the perpetuity of Republican institutions."

"God pity this government in the hour in which we shall look to Washington for that economy in public expenditures, that comprehension of the common needs, that devotion to the general interests, the power and the willingness to correct abuses and distribute justice, all so essential to a democratic form of government, rather than to enlightened public opinion gathered up and crystallized into law through those agencies of government which reach back and down to the great body of the people—the sole sovereignty of the republic."

The makers of the constitution, he said, did not grant to the general government any powers which it is dangerous to exercise to the fullest constitutional limit, but while building at the top insisted on keeping sound and safe and sure the foundation of local self-government upon which the whole structure rests.

"For what shall it profit," he continued, "to enact laws, create commissions and unfold the ambitious schemes of men who dream of international prestige and power unless we know what the electorate yonder in the field, factory and mine is doing or is willing to do, unless we know the measure of its ability, the worth of its patriotism. Responsibility alone gives strength and initiative to citizenship, contact with government fosters public spirit and local rule is the great school in which is reared and trained and equipped the kind of statesmen who take care that no harm comes to the Republic. A government from Washington by commission, reduced to its last analysis is no different from a government by satrapies from Rome. And simply because the people of the states do not see fit at any particular time to exercise the powers reserved for them, that is in itself no justification for the general government to exercise those powers. Such doctrines are rank heresy. The wisdom of the people may be as fully manifested in the failure to exercise the powers of the state in a particular way or at a particular time as in the exercise of that power. Action is not always statesmanship. Legislation is not always an evidence of sound judgment. The belief so prevalent that every evil of the body politic can be eradicated by an act of Congress, every virtue restored or augmented by the creation of a commission, is the refined and codified creed of official egotism."

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the heart or kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments, the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak stomach, heart or kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fall—then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by Stripling, Burrows & Co.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers for publication, that others similarly ailing may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

CELEBRATING THE FOURTH.

Raton has decided to celebrate the fourth on the third, which may appear like an anomaly, but as this year the Fourth falls on Sunday, a regard for the deccencies will bring public celebrations on the Monday following, unless like Raton, a community deliberately sets to celebrating it on Saturday. Other towns are making preparations for clamorous observance of the Day of Independence, and from the distance can be heard the voice of the reformer in his annual protest against the customary noisy and dangerous celebration. The reformer will win out in the end but for the present his success to abolish the fire cracker and the little boy on the Nation's holiday has not been very impressive. The Forum, in its April number decries the American method of making merr-y.

"Sarah Bernhardt has said of us that 'Americans do not know how to celebrate a day in public,' a remark which is quite true, more's the pity, and any one who has traveled abroad even though he be the most loyal of loyal Americans, must admit that we have much—if not everything—to learn from other countries regarding holiday observance. With the single exception of Mafeking Day, when the whole of England went mad with riotous, delirious joy over the relief of its far-distant post, it is difficult to recall an instance, among civilized nations, of that frenzied, hysterical abandonment to license which disgraces our country several times every year. While others rejoice sanely and merrily, or reverently and with beautiful patriotic fervor we observe our holidays in a mad hurrah spirit which seems a huge Broddingnagian echo of that celebrated dictum of Uncle Joe Cannon's: 'This country is a hell of a success!'

"Regarding fete days abroad, Paris celebrates its great anniversary, July 14th, with decorations and illuminations, with military reviews and public concerts, with splendid displays of fireworks from its bridges, and with public balls in every available space; with free matinees for children at its music halls, and with operatic and theatrical entertainments for grown-ups. There is a Lermess feeling in the air, and after seven o'clock in the evening dancing is general along the streets and boulevards, which are resplendent with lanterns and colored globes. Germany en fete flies to the country, which resounds with rich, patriotic melodies, for Germany sings with as much enthusiasm as France throws into her dances. Norway and Denmark combine charity with holiday glee, and children's days and commemorative funds are part of their national observance. As for Switzerland, it celebrates its day of patriotism, August 1st, with a fervor deep and silent and almost stern, which is as appealing as it is inspiring.

"But we, Americans, even abroad or our fete days, are not apparently influenced by the surrounding sanity and order. An instance of this was afforded last July when a number of Americans in Berlin celebrated the Fourth with a prize fight! A prize-fight in Berlin, where such things are absolutely under the ban, and where permission to hold this one was given only after representations had been made that prize-fighting was an American institution, and that it was thus that we habitually honored the glorious memory of our Revolutionary heroes!"

A SIGN OF PROSPERITY.

Southwestern Mines announces that no time will be lost by the Colorado, Columbus and Mexican Railway in building from Deming to Durango and that White & Company of New York are financing the first stretch, that from Deming to Alma, in western Socorro county, a distance of 120 miles. Whether this is the Southern Pacific project referred to in recent matches or whether it is an independent venture, is not apparent. But it is sufficient to know that railroad building in New Mexico is again under serious consideration. Says the Topeka State Journal:

"Activity in the railroad world, or a lack of it, is rightly accepted as a certain barometer of the business conditions which prevail throughout the territory it taps and over the entire country. If it concerns one of the larger railroad systems. When times are good, when the business world is prosperous, or there is prosperity in sight, the railroads are as busy as bees with improvement work of all sorts. Lines are being extended, double tracking is going on, new stations and freight depots are being built, shops are being enlarged, in fact, there is a forward movement all along the railroad line. When times are bad the reverse of these desirable conditions of affairs is just as true. "It's been this undesirable reverse which has been prevailing throughout the country for the past eighteen months or more. Until most recently the railroads have been retrenching in every possible way. Many of the projected enterprises of even the largest of the roads were allowed to rest immediately after the money panic of almost two years ago. Even some work in this respect which was most sorely needed was gotten along without.

"Of late, however, there has been a decided change in this regard. The railroads are unlimbering themselves. Within the past few days announcements have been made that the Missouri Pacific has finished its plans for rebuilding its main line between Kansas City and Pueblo at a cost of $2,500,000. A contract was awarded for the double tracking of forty-six miles of the Chicago & Alton line in the vicinity of Bloomington, Ill. Estimates are being prepared for the erection of a $500,000 Alton freight terminal in the East bottoms at Kansas City. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has resumed the work of double tracking its line between Chicago and Kansas City. Great progress had been made in this work when it was brought to a stop following the financial stress.

"There is similar activity on the part of most of the larger railroads in the country and all this is indicative of the fact that the approach of a great business prosperity is at hand. The railroads are getting ready to play their part in it. This prosperity hasn't come as quickly as some optimists looked for after the great financial crash, but that it is finally at hand is now recognized on all sides. It won't begin to step along lively, however, until the tariff revision is finally settled one way or the other, but that won't be long now."

A MAGNIFICENT IDEA.

The Museum to be established in the Old Palace in this city will not be a local nor an insignificant affair. That much is plainly apparent from the plans outlined before the meeting of the Archaeological Society last evening. Already arrangements have been inaugurated which will result not only in the exchange of specimens with all the important museums of the world, but for the direct gift of duplicate, but nevertheless priceless exhibits, from the National Museum at Washington. These exhibits will be mounted, arranged and displayed by master hands, men who have made museum work their life study. The Old Palace will be fitted up and decorated so as to attract attention the world over. Not with tenebrous hand but reverently and always with a view of illustrating the period in which it was built and the period of civilization the particular room shall illustrate. Painters of renown and decorators of international repute will place upon the walls scenes from the cliff dwellings or place upon the tables plaster models of the ruins, which the objects exhibited will illustrate further, thus bringing to the eye and mind vividly the particular period and the particular locality so that it may be compared with the civilization of another period or of another place. The great educational value of such exhibits can hardly be gauged by dollars and cents. The museum will offer a priceless educational facility to local schools and colleges and will attract visitors the world over. As one of the speakers remarked last evening: Santa Fe will certainly do as well as a certain place in Europe at which 6,000 American registered in the first three months of the year. It is wonderful this vista of usefulness and of greatness, that is unfolding itself for the museum, and as the idea progresses it brings forth new suggestions and plans which prove verily that New Mexico had never before done so great a thing for itself, as when it invited the School of American Archaeology to locate at Santa Fe and founded a museum in connection therewith.

Southwestern Mines for April 5, brings a well written article descriptive of the Lordsburg Mining region of Grant county. It is from the pen of Professor Fayette A. Jones, an authority on the subject. It is accompanied by a good sketch map of the district and is liberally illustrated with half tone cuts illustrating scenes in both the Pyramid and the Virginia districts. The Lordsburg district has seen considerable development and production, and yet, practically speaking, is a center of undeveloped possibilities.

SHE DESERVES A MONUMENT.

A new championship and one that is worth while is announced from a little New Jersey town. It is a championship that every house wife who has had a servant, appreciates, for Mary Grogan is announced as the champion servant girl. She has served fifty years in one family and never asked for more than $2.00 a week. This paragon of household virtues, in all of her fifty years service, has asked only once for a vacation and that was for only one day, in 1862, when she took her son to New York to enlist as a drummer boy. Mary raised and bossed all the children of the family and has never missed getting up at 5:30 in the morning to make breakfast even on the day that she took off in 1862. When some one asked her why she didn't go oftener, she said: "Why should I be gallivanting around? I've got my work to do. G'long with ye!" When her mistress offered her a raise in wages she refused it, saying: "When I want a raise I'll ask for it, thank ye." It was a large family she served too, for there were ten in it, when she came, and as the children stepped out, grand children and great grand children took their place during these fifty years and Mary has averaged baking forty pancakes for every breakfast in fifty years. When asked the secret of her success and the success of the family in keeping her, she replied: "We both minded our own business!" Ah, if Santa Fe had such paragons of servant girls, how much more domestic bliss there would be found in the city. No wonder Cynthia Grey, the authoress writes the following appreciation of Mary Grogan:

"Simple, steadfast Mary Grogan! Mary Grogan, paragon, jewel!"

"For 50 years she has served one mistress, served her faithfully, uncomplainingly, well. One hundred dollars a year—less than $2 a week—has been her stipend. Raises she has spurned, days off she has asked but one.

"She teaches by her example, a tremendous object lesson, does Mary Grogan. This faithful maid-of-all-work, this champion hired girl, is richer than us all. She measures her fortune in happiness, found by constancy, love for and from her employers, good cookery, good cheer and good service.

"For 50 years she has kept her 'place.' She has raised her own and three generations of others' children—all in the fear of the Lord, all to be manly and womanly American men and women. She is proud of them, they are proud of her.

"All America should be proud of her—Mary Grogan!"

That Arizona delegation is hanging on in Washington until all the federal plums in Arizona are distributed. It is looking after two more judgeships which it desires to go to T. A. Jobs of Prescott, and E. V. Lewis, of Phoenix. It is also keeping an eye on the U. S. marshalship for which J. C. Adams of Phoenix and C. A. Overlock of Douglas, are candidates. According to the Douglas International, Mr. Overlock has furnished much of the sinews of war required by the Republican party the past twenty-five years and therefore he deserves recognition. However, that will be a rather flimsy argument to spring on President Taft. Now wait until the New Mexico delegation gets to Washington and then there may be something doing in the plum line for this Territory too, as there are a number of important places to dispose of between now and the 15th of November.

It seems rather inconsistent that the Secretary of War of this great nation should speak on the Progress of Peace in such hopeful words as did Secretary Dickinson at Chicago last evening. But when it is remembered that the great nations are perfecting the engines of war for the sake of compelling peace, then the address does not seem so illogical. The growth of the peace movement is due to popular agitation and popular insistence just as much as the growth of the anti-gambling and the anti-saloon sentiment in New Mexico. Jingoism is dead in the United States and as Secretary of War Dickinson intimated, even National honor may be arbitrated without stultification. It depends altogether upon what definition is given to National honor.

Since the death of the El Paso News, the two remaining dailies of the Pass City, have assumed metropolitan proportions and come out daily with sixteen pages and a good many more on Saturday or Sunday. In the newspaper business the removal of unnecessary competition does not result in stagnation but in improvement. Whenever a newspaper begins to show profits, it very seldom puts them in dividends but nearly always into betterment of plant and paper. Newspaper publishers came nearer being philanthropists than any other vocation.

Delegate Andrews has introduced a bill in Congress, which will permit prospecting for mineral on the land grants in New Mexico the same as on public lands. If the bill becomes law and it should become law, the treasure chests which are known to exist on many of the grants will be unlocked by human enterprise. It will indirectly help to make these properties worth much more than they are today.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved. Mr. Thos. Stenton, postmaster of Pontypool, Ont., writes: "For the past eight years I suffered from rheumatic pains, and during that time I used many different liniments and remedies for the cure of rheumatism. Last summer I procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and got more relief from it than anything I have ever used, and cheerfully recommend this liniment to all sufferers from rheumatic pains." For sale by all druggists.

"DREDGING"

Dredging is the very cream of the mining business. It is the process that has opened up the treasure vaults of nature, which could not be rifled in any other way—the treasures that heretofore have been held securely under water—and makes available immense amounts of gold that have never before been available.

Van Wagenen, in his "Manual of Hydraulic Mining" says: "Hydraulic (dredging or placer) mining presents fewer risks and more certainties than any other department of mining, other things being equal. It is simply a question of moving gravel or soil from one place to another. Given, therefore, in addition to an abundance of water to move and wash the gravel, ample space to deposit it again after it has been washed and the problem of obtaining a profit has been reduced to a minimum. As an example, the gold-bearing veins of the Western United States have an average value of about $40 per ton of quartz extracted, which $10 can be mined, transported to mill, treated, refined and sold at a gross cost of about $8 a ton, or 80 per cent. The same gold vein, after passing through the laboratory of nature will consist of a gravel bed worth about 20 cents per ton, which 20 cents may be secured and marketed at a cost of not over 5 cents, or 25 per cent.

"Other things being equal, therefore, Hydraulic mining presents three times the chance for profit that is found in gold quartz mining, and one-third the risk, with the additional advantage that the extent and richness of the gravel bed may be completely studied and ascertained before working it, and at slight cost, while vein mining is from first to last more or less of an experiment and a chance. The records of mining show that over 75 per cent of all the gold mined has been derived from working gravel beds."

building. C. R. Huber and a gang of workmen were engaged in moving a fairly large safe to the second floor, the safe being intended for Colonel G. W. Prichard, who has his office in the Laughlin building. Boards had been placed on the stairway in order to skid the safe upwards by the use of heavy ropes attached to it. The men succeeded in getting the safe within a few inches of the top, when one of the men let go of the rope he was holding and as a result of the slack rope the safe started backwards. The other men, unable to hold it any longer were compelled also to let go, with the result that the safe went crashing unimpeded down the two flights of steps, cutting the wood of the steps into kindling and winding up by shattering a large plate glass window in the Vontz jewelry store. In its wild descent, the safe landed against Jose Inez Lucero, one of the workmen, nearly crushing him to death. Fortunately aside from serious bruises and a mighty bad scare, the man escaped with his life.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MASTER'S SALE.

No. 6344.

Territory of New Mexico,
County of Santa Fe.
In the District Court.
Thomas K. D. Maddison, Plaintiff;
vs.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, et al., Defendants.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, heretofore appointed Special Master, under and by virtue of the decree of foreclosure rendered in the District Court of the First Judicial District of the Territory of New Mexico, within and for the County of Santa Fe, entered on the 7th day of January, A. D., 1909, in that cause wherein Thomas K. D. Maddison is plaintiff and The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, et al., are defendants, will, on Wednesday, the 14th day of April, 1909, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m., at the front door of the court house, in the City of Santa Fe, Santa Fe County, New Mexico, sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash, in accordance with the said decree, the following described property, to-wit:

All that mining and smelting property located at Los Cerrillos, Santa Fe County, New Mexico, constituting a smelter, and also the following mines or mining claims located in said Cerrillos Mining District, in said County and Territory: The Tom Payne Mining Claim, The Golden Eagle Mining Claim, The Sukie Mining Claim, The Albany Mining Claim, and The Santiago Mining Claim, together with all improvements thereon; also thirty-five acres of land, more or less, in the southeast quarter of Section 18, Township 14 North, Range 8 East.

Also two dwelling houses, one of office and assay building, safe, desks, chairs, stoves, scales and assayer's implements; one bin house with crusher, 14-36; one elevator, one motor, 15 horse-power; one roller, 14-24, one crusher, 10-12; one screen, 3 feet by 10; two sampling machines; one chain elevator; one engine, 30 horse-power; two boilers, 60 horse-power; one feed pump; one heater with engine, 75 horse-power; one blower; one dynamo; one force pump; shovels, picks, steel bars, tools, electric supplies; one 100-ton lead furnace; one 30-ton copper furnace; slag pots, settling pots, bullion moulds, wheelbarrows; steam, water and air pipe; slag elevator building; one motor, 15 horse-power; blacksmith's shop and mat house, blacksmith tools, anvil, bellows, crusher; motor, 15 horse-power; reverberatory furnace building; reverberatory furnace, 72 by 20; lime kiln; dust flume with 90-foot iron stack; one railroad scales, one wagon scale, and three platform scales; one stone water tank and cooler; two iron water tanks; water pipe connecting with town water works; also pipe line connecting with spring on Wilkison property—about one-half mile in length; one frame barn; also various mining machinery and improvements located on above named mining claims and the property of said The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company.

It being intended to sell all of the property belonging to the defendant, The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, of whatever kind or character, save and except such property as was by the decree of foreclosure rendered in the above cause found by the Court and decreed to belong to the Bank of Commerce of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and reference to said decree is hereby made for a description of said property belonging to said Bank.

Said property will be sold at the time and place aforesaid, for the purpose of satisfying the said plaintiff and the owners or holders of the bonds and coupons of said defendant, The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, outstanding, amounting to the sum of two hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars ($266,000), and which said sum, together with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of said decree until paid, was decreed to be a first lien upon the property hereinbefore described, together with the costs herein to be taxed, and other allowances, expenses and disbursements as may hereafter be fixed by the Court; and the undersigned Special Master, for the purpose of satisfying said decree, and by virtue of the authority vested in him, will, at the time and place in this Notice specified, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, in accordance with the terms of said decree, the said real and personal property.

F. J. OTERO,
Special Master.

While we think of it, we want to say a word of thanks and praise of the Santa Fe New Mexican, which has opened its columns to us, and itself speaks in no uncertain way in regard to latter day reforms, and this burning question in particular. Would there were hundreds and thousands more such papers. The New Mexican has perhaps a wider circulation than any other paper in the Territory. We personally know that it goes to every state in the Union, and also across the waters. Who knows the good it may do in far away lands. "I shot an arrow in the air—it fell to earth. I knew not where."

Why are people so afraid of the right, and to appear on that side?

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

"What makes a city great and strong? Not architecture's graceful strength, Not factories extended length, But men who see the civic wrong And give their lives to make it right. And turn its darkness into light."

"What makes a city full of power? Not wealth's display nor titled fame, Nor fashion's loudly boasted claim, But people rich in Virtue's dower, Whose homes, though humble, still are great Because of service to the state."

April 7th, 1909, will be a red letter day for Santa Fe, for on that day her city council passed an ordinance that all saloons should be closed on January 1st, 1910.

Of all the city councils that have ever met in deliberations in this Ancient City, none have ever passed an ordinance more potent, more far-reaching, more beneficial for the people gathered within its borders, than this.

They have builded far better than they now conceive. They may have even felt while doing this, a hesitancy and doubt of its expediency, but the day will surely come when they will be proud to say "We were the mayor and councilmen who closed the saloons in Santa Fe for the first time, and set an example for the rest of the Territory."

Santa Fe shall be like the city that was set on a hill "her light shall not be hid." It is fitting that this great work should begin in the "City of Holy Faith" that her streets should be swept and garnished and made safe and clean for the feet of her children.

All honor is due our mayor and councilmen, who have at heart the good of their people and whose ears are open to the wishes and needs of the poorest citizen.

Had our Legislative Council shown the same wisdom, foresight and justice, the whole Territory might today have been rejoicing over the near prospect of a day when they would be freed from the evils of the liquor traffic.

It is true Santa Fe is not exactly the first town in New Mexico that has passed this ordinance, but she is the first city of size and she is the Capitol City.

There is hardly a day passes now but a victory is scored, in some state of the Union, for the temperance forces. Those people who think this an ephemeral wave, will probably live to see the day when this government and the saloon traffic will part company forever. There is a power behind this movement, not born of man or woman, and it will sweep this traffic of Satan from the face of the earth. "Be ye not deceived, God is not mocked."

This liquor traffic is a financial question of gigantic proportion, beside which the tariff dwindles into insignificance, yet an extra session of Congress was convened to formulate the tariff bill. Any one thing that takes from the legitimate channels of business two and one-half million of dollars yearly (even though it is forced to return one-tenth the amount as license or bribe money) is a stupendous question to deal with. And when we go further and see that this money is not only taken away from the businesses which support, foster and nourish mankind, but is openly used for his destruction and annihilation, we are dumb with astonishment that such things can be. What will the coming generations think in looking back upon the civilization (?) of this present day?

Teddy was woefully worried in regard to race suicide. It is a strange thing that a little more of his attention and strenuousness was not devoted to preserving the race after it was born, than so much needless anxiety expended in the fear that it would not be born.

Mothers could not be blamed if they refused to ever bear another child, while fathers permit this Red Dragon to stand by demanding every fifth male child that it may live.

"There is no flock, however watched and tended,
But one dead lamb is there;
There is no fireside, howsoever defended,
But has one vacant chair."

You may call this "reform" work and the people interested in the work "cranks" (all of which may be true) but any work for the betterment and uplift of mankind is God's work, and we do not think that any of us poor, struggling, earth-bound creatures need be ashamed of getting on the same side of a question with our Creator.

Woman's Beauty

Some women retain their beauty to an advanced age. But women, who regularly endure pain, age rapidly, for suffering leaves its lasting marks on them.

Nearly all women suffer more or less with some form of female trouble. It should not be neglected. Avoid the pain—treat yourself at home by taking Cardui, as thousands of other women have done. Begin at once and give Cardui a fair trial.

TAKE CARDUI

It Will Help You

Mrs. Katie Burlison, Goreville, Ill., tried Cardui and writes: "I suffered with female troubles, and was so sick I could not stand on my feet. Finally I began to take Cardui, and soon began to mend. Now I am able to do all my housework and am in much better health than I was before." Try it.

It is silver-plated, very pretty, and positively prevents all dripping of tea or coffee. The doctor sends it, with his new free book on "Health Coffee" simply to introduce this clever substitute for real coffee. Dr. Schoop's Health Coffee is gaining its great popularity because of: first, its exquisite taste and flavor; second, its absolute healthfulness; third, its economy—1 1/2 lb., 25c; fourth, its convenience. No tedious 20 to 30 minutes boiling. "Made in a minute," says Dr. Schoop. Try it at your grocer's for a pleasant surprise. Cartright-Davis Co.

Santa Fe, N. M., U. S. A., Earth, April 2, 1919.

The new armory building is one of the finest structures ever erected in the Territory; in fact can compare favorably with any throughout the entire country. Santa Fe has all told over fifteen hundred young men enlisted in the national guard, a fact that her citizens can well afford to look upon with pride. While Santa Fe excels all other cities in the Territory insofar as the number of enlisted men in the National Guard is concerned, it is a gratifying and healthy sign for the new state of New Mexico that the example of the old pueblo town has been so well emulated by all other cities and towns. New Mexico is setting the pace for the entire Union.

The railroad lines at present entering Santa Fe, together with those that are contemplated for the immediate future, have made it imperative that a new depot be built. As a result, the officials of the various lines have gotten together in conference and have decided to build a large central union depot into which all trains coming to Santa Fe will come. The depot will be constructed on a grand scale and will easily vie with many of the best in existence. The stop-over privileges in Santa Fe which are granted on all lines to passengers from the west and east have done the city a world of good. As a Mecca for tourists and sightseers this city cannot be beat.

Santa Fe is now the acknowledged wool center of the United States having succeeded Boston. Yesterday, the fourteenth large wool storage plant was completed and another is to be started within another month. More sheep are raised in New Mexico at the present time than in all other states of the Union combined.

The railroad facilities are now such that nearly all shipments of cattle pass through Santa Fe. Knowing this, a large corporation has been formed for the purpose of starting a large packing house. A gigantic abattoir will also be constructed and Santa Fe will go into the meat business for fair. Business men have come to the realization that meat for household consumption, can be prepared just as well this far west, as in the east and middle west. The project promises to revolutionize the packing industry in this country.

THE PROGRESS OF ARBITRATION

Historical Address by Secretary of War Dickinson

SWORDS INTO PLOWSHARES

Uncle Sam Has Taken a Lead in Movement for World-Wide Peace.

Chicago, Ill., April 10.—Secretary of War Dickinson, responding to the toast "The Progress of Peace" at a banquet given by the Hamilton Club in this city last night called attention to the fact that mankind was always hoping for the fulfillment of the prophecy that strong nations "shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." He said that the time was not far distant "but there has been such development and strengthening of the forces that make for peace that its advocates are boldly aggressive, knowing that they have the potentiality that comes from the quickened, universal conscience of an enlightened age." The present status, in the progress of peace, he said, is the product of centuries. International arbitration, which entered upon a new era about 1815, he said,

"has so progressed in our time that no one can doubt that it is the most powerful force now working upon the nations for the temporal happiness of mankind. International arbitration as we know it, is more the product of the last hundred years than was the Federal Constitution of 1789, a product of that era. It is the flower of our time."

Secretary Dickinson cited various steps in the progress of arbitration and said "the formation of our Federal Constitution, creating for the first time a court with full and final power to settle all controversies between sovereign states, was the greatest step ever taken toward substitution of judicial procedure for appeal to arms." Three separate boards of arbitration were created under the Jay Treaty of 1794, he said, which contained provisions for adjusting by arbitration three questions which threatened to involve us in war with Great Britain. A general reaction prevailed in all civilized countries, after the overthrow of Napoleon, against barbarous methods of settling disputes. "Peace ideas," he said, "were fostered and promoted in every way. Peace societies and peace congresses constantly stirred the conscience of the world."

Speaking of the various treaties made by the United States declaring this country in favor of arbitrable settlement of international disputes, he said that the treaty of 1848 between the United States and Mexico provided that the two nations would in the future adjust their disagreements by pacific negotiations and by arbitration. The Senate committee on foreign relations in a resolution reported to the Senate in 1851 declared that it was desirable to secure in treaties a provision for arbitration. The years 1854, 1872, 1874, and 1888, found similar resolutions introduced.

"The treaty which most profoundly influenced the ideas of the world," continued Mr. Dickinson, "was that of Washington in 1771, which provided for four arbitrations. In 1863, during the preliminary negotiations, Mr. Adams assured Lord Russell that there was 'no fair and equitable form of conventional arbitration' to which America would be willing to submit." The Secretary of War said that Lord Russell was accredited in the beginning as saying that England would not be disgraced forever if a foreign government were left to arbitrate whether an English Secretary of State has been diligent or negligent in the discharge of his duties. "Mr. Adams rose again to a great height and saved the treaty by getting his colleagues to make an extraordinary but effective declaration that certain claims ought to be excluded from consideration, Mr. Adams declaring that he would be assuming a great responsibility, but that he did not do so as an arbitrator representing his own country but as representing all nations."

"These long painful but successful negotiations," continued the War Secretary, "during which so many irritating questions arose, which resulted in the end of such a great achievement, fully attest the fixed purpose of both nations to use every effort to avoid conflict of arms. The next in importance were the arbitration held in Paris in 1893 in the Fur Seal case, and the Arbitral Tribunal, which decided the Alaskan boundary dispute."

Taking up the declarations that had been made that certain questions cannot be settled by arbitration, he said: "Although it has often been said that questions of national honor cannot be submitted to arbitration, experience has shown that the term 'National Honor' is variable and in some degree shadowy, and that many questions which, under a former code, would have been catalogued under 'National Honor' which have been submitted and settled in this way, even though at the outset, as was said by Lord Russell in regard to the Alabama claims, such a submission was thought to be incompatible with national dignity."

Mr. Dickinson discussed the great work and the outcome of the first Hague conference, which he said was by far the most notable event in the history of the world, which was attended by all governments having diplomatic representatives in St. Petersburg. The Pope, while omitted from the conference, expressed his sympathy with the movement in a letter to the Queen of the Netherlands. Twenty-six nations participated represented by 100 members. The first convention was "for the peaceful adjustment of international differences." The signatory powers to the convention agreed to use their best efforts to insure the pacific settlement of international differences.

"All the powers represented at the conference," he said, "signed it. They govern nine-tenths of the world," representing a population of 1,400,000,000 out of the total of 1,600,000,000 of the earth's inhabitants.

"As Americans, whose government has always been in the advance guard contending for humanitarian principles," continued the Secretary, "we take a laudable pride in the fact that the United States proposed to our Sister Republic of Mexico to submit to The Hague tribunal the Pius Fund controversy, the first case brought under its authority. That Japan and Russia, two of the signatory powers, plunged into war without resorting to the Hague tribunal, gives no ground for serious concern as to the future of arbitration. No one but a dreamer ever expected all war to be abolished. It was manifest that there was no place for arbitration between Russia and Japan."

Speaking of The Hague conference of 1907 which was called by the Czar of Russia upon the initiative of President Roosevelt, the Secretary of War said it was participated in by 44 sovereigns, and was the first general conference of practically all the powers of the world. At this conference thirteen conventions, four declarations and three wishes were adopted. Mr. Dickinson discussed the recent conventions, one of which was that signed in February, 1909, at London by delegates of ten of the principal maritime powers of the world which was for the regulating of warfare at sea. A distinct triumph for the cause of international arbitration, continued the War Secretary, was gained when France and Germany agreed to submit to The Hague the questions arising out of the Casa Blanca affair. The questions involved were more or less of what is termed "national honor." A special agreement was signed by the United States and Great Britain on January 27, 1909, submitting to arbitration to The Hague the controversy as to the North Atlantic coast (or Northeastern) Fisheries.

"There can be no disarmament until the greater powers agree upon a system of concurrent action," said Secretary Dickinson, in concluding. "The tide of public sentiment all over the world is setting strongly in this direction. Looking to her progress in peace measures of the last hundred years, and especially the last twenty years, the hope may well be entertained that disarmament will become a reality, and that the people may enjoy not only the blessings of peace, but the blessings of peace without the crushing burden of preparedness for war.

WHEN THE CLOCK HANDS TURN BACK

From the Daily New Mexican of April 10, 1889.

The heaviest storm that has visited this section in years, approached the city from the west and southwest with threatening appearance this morning. At 6:15 a. m., thunder and lightning were observed in the west and southwest while well defined "cumulo stratus" clouds rolled toward us with threatening vengeance. The mercury registered forty-two degrees. Heavy hail began to fall and the temperature dropped four degrees in fifteen minutes. The hail stones were as large as marbles. Stormy and threatening weather continues.

Judge Thornton and wife left this afternoon for the East. The trip is for the purpose of closing a mining deal of interest to Santa Fe.

M. Berardinelli has contracted for 125,000 brick and will soon build a second story to the rear of his brick block on San Francisco street. This will be done in order to enlarge the K. of P. hall.

Every mechanic in Santa Fe has his hands full. Never before were so many improvements going on.

Judge McFie has accepted the resignation of W. J. Joblin and appointed A. L. Christy clerk of the third district court.

District Attorney Wade made quite a haul yesterday. He will send a large delegation to Santa Fe to help make bricks for the building of the Agricultural College.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Oneonta, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and is a splendid spring medicine, as it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. Sold by all druggists.

MINOR CITY TOPICS

Denver, Colo., April 10.—The weather forecast for New Mexico: Fair tonight and Sunday with warmer weather tonight.

Found—Society emblem. Box 357, Santa Fe.

Train Report—All trains are reported on time today.

FOR RENT—Modern brick house. Chapelle street. C. A. Bishop.

WANTED GIRLS—Two girls are wanted to work in the bindery at the New Mexican office.

Mrs. Harvey's change of ad tonight calls attention to the difference between mining and dredging as to costs and profits.

Suit for Divorce—J. P. Shearn at Albuquerque yesterday filed suit for divorce against Stella Shearn, alleging desertion and abandonment.

Low Rates—Santa Fe is advertising today low summer excursion rates to California points. The rates are exceedingly low, allowing stop-over and returning by diverse routes.

Inspection Tonight—Inspection will take place tonight at the New National Guard Armory of Company F, First regiment of Infantry of the National Guard. A full turn-out will be had.

Haskell Pleads Guilty—After the jury had been selected and witnesses sworn, George Haskell this afternoon in the district court, pleaded guilty to the charges against him, and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge John R. McFie.

Mullen Files Third Bond—R. G. Mullen of Alamogordo this afternoon filed his third appeal bond for $10,000, the first two having been rejected, in order to enable him to take his appeal from the denial of a writ of habeas corpus, to the U. S. Supreme Court. Judge McFie has not yet passed upon the bond.

Fischer Drug Co.'s ice cream, always the best, is more delicious this season than ever. To demonstrate this to you we are offering free of charge to everyone coming into our store on Monday April 12th, an ice cream cone filled with our delicious ice cream. We invite you to come in and get a free ice cream. Come on Monday.

Easter Carol Service—The Children's Easter Carol service of the Sunday school of the Church of the Holy Faith, will be held tomorrow, Easter Sunday, at 3 p. m. Parents and friends of the children, members of the parish and all those interested in Sunday school work are cordially invited to be present.

Don't forget that ice cream cones are free at Fischer's Drug Co. on Monday, April 12th. Gregory's delicious ice cream served at our fountain this season.

District Court—Today in the district court, the case of the Territory vs. George Haskell, who has been indicted on two counts for forgery and one count for embezzlement while acting as agent for the Singer Sewing Machine Company, was on trial. In the case of the Territory vs. Julio Chavez, for insulting while armed, the jury yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Features for Opening Night—The pictures for the opening night at the opera house, Monday evening, will consist of the feature films, one by "Pathe," called "Tale of a King," and a "Vitograph" called "The Flower Girl of Paris," and several other good ones. The song will be "Button, Button, Whose Got the Button". Don't forget that Monday will be souvenir night and every lady will receive a present.

A Victim of Apoplexy—Friday morning at 9 p. m. Melquiades Lopez at the advanced age of seventy-two years, succumbed to an attack of apoplexy at his home on College street. The deceased leaves a wife who is about the same age. For over thirty years Lopez worked in the composing room of the New Mexican Printing plant, but for the past three years owing to blindness had been unable to work. The funeral takes place tomorrow at 7 a. m. Interment will be at Rosario.

Cathedral Bells Again Ring—This morning during the mass the bells of the Cathedral again started ringing, having been stilled at the mass on Holy Thursday morning and remaining so over Good Friday. From Holy Thursday morning until near the end of the mass on Holy Saturday no music is permitted in the church and the bells are not allowed to be rung. Good Friday is the only day of the year on which mass is not celebrated. Devout Catholics filled the church during the day and the custom of kissing the cross formed part of the devotions. Today, Holy Saturday, water was blessed which will be used as Holy Water for the ensuing year. Tomorrow, Easter Sunday, the church will cast aside her robes of penitence and sorrow and joyously celebrate the triumph of Christ over death. Elaborate services will take place and will be made more impressive by the fact that the Most Reverend J. B. Pitaval formally takes possession of the Cathedral and will be enthroned at the 9:30 mass. There will be only one other mass, namely at 6:30. In the evening the Archbishop will at 7 o'clock make his first address as Archbishop to the congregation. Benediction will precede the address.

Chautauqua Committee—The committees having in charge the Chautauqua project for Santa Fe will meet with Doctor Edgar L. Hewett on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Returned from Chicago—William Parsons, clerk of the Claire, has returned home from Chicago, where he went as an attendant of C. L. Talmadge. On the way back he stopped off at Kansas City to visit his brother.

Taken to Territorial Insane Asylum—G. B. Pop, wealthy sheep grower, formerly of Wyoming but of late years of Santa Fe, was last evening taken to the territorial asylum for the insane. His case is pronounced incurable.

Made Especially for the Ladies—The ladies of Santa Fe can wear their new Easter bonnets tomorrow with impunity as the local weather forecast is for fair and warmer weather. The weather man says we are going to have one of the most delightful Easter Sundays ever enjoyed.

Mandamus Case Goes Over—The hearing of the writ of mandamus issued upon Territorial Auditor W. G. Sargent on petition of Superintendent of Insurance Jacobo Chaves, to compel the auditor to honor a warrant for $50, back salary due Peter Lienau, assistant in the office of the superintendent of insurance, which was to have been heard before Judge McFie today, has been postponed until Monday upon request of Attorney General Frank W. Clancy who will appear for Sargent.

F. MARION CRAWFORD, THE NOVELIST, IS DEAD.

Sorrento, Italy, April 10.—"I enter serenely into eternity," were the dying words of F. Marion Crawford, novelist, who died here last night. Remembering Good Friday, he said, "I die with Christ," and abjured the members of his family to cease weeping, as he was happy in death.

PLANS FOR THE MUSEUM.

are most accessible. There is no portion of the United States so rich in the monuments of antiquity as New Mexico. Santa Fe with its history, its geographical position with relation to these antiquities and by its dominant place in the recorded history of this Northern Continent, was the logical location for such a school. Still further, its possession of the historic building known as the Governor's Palace, which could be adapted to the purposes of such a school, added another vital argument.

"The patriotism and the promptness with which New Mexico met this honorable proffer of the national body—to help New Mexico if it would help itself—is one of the finest things in your record. I would like to carry the news in person to the honorable Senator from Indiana—and all the other Beveridges, little and big, who have been afraid that the admission of New Mexico into the Union would 'lower the standards of American citizenship.' I might even be malicious enough to say to them 'Go thou and do likewise.'"

"You have the chance, you of New Mexico, to lead them all. The best brains, the most expert skill of modern science will be at your command. Many a man has died poor because he could not find anyone to furnish the capital to develop his mine of untold wealth. That will not be your fate. You will have all the help you can use. You will have the absolute assurance that what is done to record and save the historic treasures of New Mexico will be no amateur experiment, but steadily kept up to the highest scientific standards in the world—and by authorities recognized by the world as standard. No state or territory has ever before had such a backing."

"And you 'have the goods.' This same national system would do its best to help any other location selected for the school; but the help wouldn't be as effective. For the simple reason that no other location can so richly repay in scientific fruits, the labor and the money expended."

"When I wrote some months ago a letter to a friend in New Mexico on this very point (which was published) I said that in my judgment nothing New Mexico has done, nor could do, would be so effective in winning the respect and confidence of the world, nor do so much to expel that ignorant prejudice against New Mexico which has so long disgraced the East. This was no dream. Within a few years you will discover that this movement is not merely national, but international."

"The other museums, not only of New York and Boston, but of Paris, and Berlin and London will be looking to the School of American Archaeology in Santa Fe, New Mexico."

"As a business proposition, I do not know when the territory has done a wiser act. The far-reaching material advantages of our plan will be explained to you in detail later. But they include the very things that will attract to New Mexico the class of visitors you wish to attract here; and will make it to travelers one of the most famous and attractive points in the whole West. When we not only preserve our ruins, but make them accessible; when, as the direct result of this school, there come not merely museum cases and the saving of historic relics and the training of students for this historic work everywhere (so that the young man who wishes to become an explorer in Mexico or in Oregon or Utah, comes to Santa Fe for his technical education), but automobile roads and the opening up of our noble monuments of antiquity—then the intelligent traveler will not pass by New Mexico carelessly."

"It is time to begin the campaign of education at once. Above all things, don't make Senator Beveridge's mistake! Get every man and acquaintance and public man interested in this work, but for heaven's sake don't forget that the key to nine-tenths of the actual history of New Mexico lies in the hearts of its natives. They are full of sentiment, of patriotism and reverence for the past. Let them feel—help them to feel—that it is their privilege and their duty to join in erecting a monument to this blessed old Mother Territory whom all of us love. Unless we can get their cordial assistance, we can never do the work half-way well—and we can have their assistance just as soon as they become convinced that they are entitled and welcome to share in this work, and what it means to them, to their children and to the world. It is a double pleasure to me that we hope to identify again with New Mexico and with the work of this school one of the most distinguished men in American science, one of the most distinguished men who ever graduated from New Mexico, a world-wide authority on the very subjects which we are to study—the historian Bandeller. His greatest works thus far published were based on his long residence and intimate study of New Mexico. And I may remind you that one reason why he ranks easily ahead of any other authority on this subject, is that he knew how to borrow this same key I have spoken of."

"Sincerely yours,
"CHAS. F. LUMMIS."

Thus writes Charles F. Lummis, the author, to the New Mexican Archaeological Society. His letter was read last evening to a large audience which had gathered in the assembly room of the Public Library, at the call of President John R. McFie of the Society. It was received with applause and furnished the keynote to the talks made by Doctor Edgar L. Hewett and Judge McFie.

Before the meeting was called to order, Doctor Hewett exhibited a fine manuscript on leather of the Book of Esther, some five or six hundred years old, which he had purchased in Syria and which had been made in Bagdad. He explained it, and it excited the admiration of every one present. It is one of the objects that will be placed in the new State Museum. Doctor Hewett later in his talk dwelt upon the scope of the Museum, the plans of the school and the personnel of the Board of Regents, paying eloquent and heartfelt tributes to the men to whom the management of the new institution has been entrusted.

Judge McFie spoke in the same strain and outlined plans suggested by the Regents which will make it necessary to purchase all the ground to be secured adjoining the Old Palace as well as the buildings and ground across the street on Lincoln Avenue, in order to house the Museum and the school adequately. Judge McFie paid an especial tribute to Hon. Frank Springer, one of the Regents of the Museum and the foremost authority upon at least one branch of science.

Judge A. J. Abbott related an incident in the school life of Hon. Frank Springer, illustrating how Mr. Springer was profoundly impressed by a visit of the naturalist Louis Agassiz to the school.

Before adjournment, Mr. and Mrs. T. Z. Winter, H. S. Lutz and Dr. J. W. Purcell were admitted to membership. After adjournment there was an informal discussion among members and visitors that showed an interest in the school and museum

"Sorry I could not stop another day this time; but I shall be more than glad to do all in my power for the Museum of New Mexico not only as one of its regents, not only as a member of the governing body both of the Archaeological Institute and the American School, but as one of the directors of the Southwest Society and Museum of Los Angeles. We are all going to pull together—and each of us will get far more than if we pulled apart, or tried for selfish advantage."

"I would like to have spoken tonight face to face; but since that was impossible, am sending this hasty letter in my place."

that augurs well for its future and that will assure that the Society will soon have a thousand members and will prove the aid and support to the undertakings launched recently, anticipated by Doctor Hewett and the members of the Archaeological Institute, for as Doctor Hewett said last evening, its real work has been only begun even though after three years' work it has accomplished here the location of the school and the museum.

TARIFF BILL PASSED BY HOUSE.

fifty cents extra a thousand, for each side treated.

Aldrich Gets Hold of Bill. Washington, D. C., April 10.—The bill was transmitted to the Senate immediately after conclusion of prayer. Aldrich was on his feet instantly and asked that the bill be referred to his committee. This was granted without objection. Two thousand copies of the bill will be printed.

Conference at White House. Washington, D. C., April 10.—A White House gathering took place for the leaders of the House today when led by Speaker Cannon they visited Taft to give an account of their stewardship on the tariff bill. Payne Cushman, Dwight and Olmstead of Pennsylvania were the members of the Republican party who called.

Bailey Talks Big. Washington, D. C., April 10.—Senator Bailey held out a warning to Taft this morning when he asserted that he had heard it said that Taft would veto the census bill unless it placed all employees under the civil service. "If he thus early in the administration has undertaken to coerce Congress, he will find the experience of the last seven years a holiday compared with what the next four will be," said Bailey. Concluding he said, service on the Federal bench tends to make a man corrupt in the sense that it teaches him to oppose his will to all others.

Hostility Tariff Problem. Washington, D. C., April 10.—The President today heard both sides of the hostility tariff question. A delegation from the League of Woman's Clubs at Chicago, protested against an increase of duty, while a delegation of hostery manufacturers asked that the duty be increased over the Dingley schedule.
