NEW LIGHT ON OLD HISTORY

Doctor Edgar L. Hewett Makes Great Discovery

8,000 SPANISH MANUSCRIPTS

Work on School of American Archaeology at Santa Fe.

Greeley, Colo., June 12.—Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the School of American Archaeology at Santa Fe, while in charge of the exploration committee of the National Scientific Society, has made one of the most valuable archaeological discoveries known in years.

He has discovered in an old palace in Granada, in Southern Spain, 20,000 folios of hand written manuscript, 400 years old, relating to the time of the Cortez and Coronado conquests in Mexico, New Mexico and Central America and records up to the time of the disintegration of the Spanish possessions.

For several years Dr. Hewett has been tracing these manuscripts, lost to the world for centuries, and was only able to locate them after months of patient work in Spain, carried on through the courtesy of the Spanish government.

The folios are said to include 80,000 manuscripts and it is believed that when they are read great light will be thrown on early Spanish history in America and that much valuable information will be obtained regarding the cliff dwellings and other ruins of prehistoric races in America.

Dr. Hewett has just returned from Spain and is now on his way to the Moonlight district of Utah, on the north rim of the Grand canon of the Colorado river, which is rich in prehistoric ruins. He will take charge of a part to be headed by Prof. Byron Cummings of the Latin and Greek department of the Utah University. Later, Dr. Hewett will resume his explorations in Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico and install the working force in the School of American Archaeology in Santa Fe. He is also anxious to find some one who will devote two or three years in studying the ancient manuscript he found in Spain, so that their contents may be given to the world.

Jesse Nusbaum, a Greeley boy, recently teacher of manual training in the Las Vegas Normal school, will again accompany Dr. Hewett to the Moonlight district of Utah to make photographs of the finds there. Then Nusbaum will go with the Hewett party to make excavations and take photographs in the Pajarito National park and among the Pueblos near Santa Fe. In August, young Nusbaum begins work in the Archaeological museum at Santa Fe, and on excavations on the Rito de los Frijoles and in other places. Professor Nusbaum will practically have charge of the school and museum, as he will be the only one of the faculty there the entire year.

FOLSOM AGAIN FLOOD SWEPT

Residents Take to the Foot Hills to Avoid Repetition of Recent Disaster.

Trinidad, Colo., June 12.—Reports received here from Folsom, Union county, New Mexico, tell of a cloud-burst and hail storm that swept that region yesterday. The deluge was followed by a flood. All the business houses have been closed and the population has fled to the hills for safety. The flood swept down the arroyo where last August six were drowned in a similar deluge. The arroyo is bank-full. From Folsom to Cimarron the lowlands have been transformed into an inland sea. The only means of communication with the outside world is over the wires used by the Colorado & Southern Railroad.

Big Rain at Clovis.
Clovis, N. M., June 12.—The heaviest rain of the season and the second big storm of the season for this section began at six o'clock last evening at nine o'clock the rain was still falling in a deluge with no signs of a let up.

The streets are like rivers and reports from Texico say the streets of that town are also almost submerged by the torrents.

Melrose also reports a good rain in the surrounding country and Portales reports a heavy storm. It is believed the rain does not extend much farther west. It will be worth millions of dollars to the dry farmers and ranchmen of Eastern New Mexico and coming after the heavy rain of some time ago, practically assures a successful season for the eastern counties.

MORE ACRES FOR FREE HOMES

New Mexico Is a Favored Commonwealth

DRY FARMING POSSIBLE

Government Wishes to Encourage Biennial Plan of Cultivation.

Washington, June 12.—Secretary of the Interior Ballinger has just designated 270,000 acres of land in New Mexico and 46,060 acres in Montana, as coming within provisions of the 320 acre homestead law in addition to the vast areas already designated. The lands are semi-arid, while fertile if properly cultivated, but must be farmed according to dry farming methods. The government's idea in giving large farms is to make possible biennial farming.

Taft Plays With Champion.
Washington, D. C., June 12.—Paired with Walter J. Travis, the International champion, Taft played four some against Vice-President Sherman and C. Allan Laird, of Chevy Chase, this afternoon. Both Laird and Travis came to Washington especially for the match.

Calls it Iniquitous Bill.
Washington, D. C., June 12.—Considerable of the free list tariff bill was taken up today when Overman characterized the Payne-Aldrich bill as the most iniquitous bill ever passed by Congress, if passed. He favored Bailey's income tax amendment and declared he would offer an amendment for a head tax on immigrants and an amendment empowering the president to abrogate the collection of duties on articles similar to those manufactured by a corporation which controls fifty per cent of the American output and offers for sale its goods abroad cheaper than in the United States. Following this set speech the Senate resumed the routine discussion of the articles on the free list.

BLACK HAND IN MEXICO

Thirty More Arrests Have Been Made in Connection With Bomb Throwing.

Monterey, Mex., June 12.—Investigation by the police of recent bomb throwing leads them to the belief that the Black Hand is concerned in the affair and more than thirty arrests have been made. Following the arrest of Juan Ferrino, who threw a bomb into the office of Leon Flores, Flores himself has been arrested and is held in jail. A general round-up of suspicious characters surrounding the country has been made by the police. The affair created a sensation.

Have the Right Ones.
Cleveland, June 12.—United States Attorney William Day today said he believed that the men now under arrest for black hand work are the right ones and that the gang will be broken up. He made this statement after a conference with postal inspectors. The conference was the result of the arrest of ten men in various parts of the state this week believed guilty of Black Hand crimes. The postoffice inspectors turned over scores of letters incriminating suspects.

WILL GO TO A HOT PLACE

Wilwaukee, Wis., June 12.—The marriage of Miss Helen Berger, a former Milwaukee girl, daughter of Alexander Berger, well known in flour milling circles, to William Jennings Bryan, Jr., will take place at the summer home of the bride at Grand Lake, Colorado, on June 24. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan will live in Tucson, Arizona.

DR. JOHN P. WAGNER, TO WHOSE EFFORTS SANTA FE WILL OWE THE HOTEL DE VARGAS—ILLUSTRATED ON SUPPLEMENT.

HOTEL DE VARGAS IT WILL BE

Miss Anita Baca Receives Prize for Name

A MAGNIFICENT HOSTELRY

Dr. John P. Wagner Candidate That Structure Will Soon Be Reality.

The competition prize for a name for the new hotel, which was offered by Dr. John P. Wagner, has been awarded to Miss Anita Baca, the name selected being Hotel De Vargas. Many names were presented by quite a number of persons, and the name De Vargas was also suggested by several of the competitors. The prize has been awarded to Miss Anita Baca for the reason that her communication was the first received suggesting the name and she being the only one who complied strictly with the requirements governing the competition by writing an essay in which was set forth the reasons why the hotel should be named De Vargas.

It is to be regretted that some of the competitors for the prize did not sign their communication and that they did not comply with the requirements governing the competition. In selecting the name De Vargas, it has to be said, that no more appropriate name could have been selected inasmuch as Don Diego De Vargas played such an important part in the history of Santa Fe and the Territory of New Mexico in general. General De Vargas reconquered New Mexico and entered Santa Fe on September 13th, 1692, and before entering the city of Santa Fe with his little squad of soldiers made a pledge to the Virgin Mary that he would erect a chapel on the site of his camp, if he met with success and made a solemn vow that the image of the Blessed Virgin would once a year thereafter be carried in triumphal procession through the streets of Santa Fe. It is well known that this pledge has been religiously kept by the Catholic church of Santa Fe. It is also a pleasing thought that such a palatial monument should be erected bearing the name of De Vargas, who had reconquered the city of Santa Fe over three hundred years ago, and that his name should be perpetuated on the land mark of his triumphant campaign.

The winner of the prize, Miss Anita Baca, was born in Santa Fe and is a daughter of Hon. R. L. Baca, member of the last Legislative Assembly, and numbers among the oldest families of New Mexico.

In awarding the prize Mr. Wagner wrote the following letter: Miss Anita Baca, Santa Fe, N. M. Dear Miss Baca: I am pleased to acknowledge receipt of your favor of May 3rd in which you submit names for the proposed new hotel to be erected at the corner of Lincoln and Palace avenues in the city of Santa Fe.

There have been submitted quite a number of names, all of which were submitted to the competition committee, consisting of the Hon. M. A. Otero, Hon. George W. Prichard and the writer, and the committee has selected the name "Hotel De Vargas" and deem it the most appropriate name for the new hotel which is to be erected in the city of Santa Fe. While your essay is concise and very creditable, I would ask that you submit to us a more exhaustive essay as to the history of General De Vargas and his connection with the city of Santa Fe.

It affords me great pleasure in presenting you with my check covering the prize money for the best name for the new hotel. While there have been others who submitted the same name this prize is awarded you for the reasons that your communication was the first received containing the name selected, and the best essay, thereby being in full accordance with the conditions set forth governing the competition.

Soliciting your continued interest and public spirit, I remain, Sincerely yours,

JOHN P. WAGNER, Description.

The hotel will be located on the plot of ground located at the corner of Palace and Lincoln avenues, where the old military quarters were located and the adjoining lot to the north located on Lincoln avenue. This plot of ground has a frontage of 215 feet on Lincoln avenue by 240 feet on Palace avenue to Sheridan street.

The hotel building will have a frontage on Lincoln avenue of 156 feet and 198 feet on Palace avenue. These are the dimensions for the building proper. Large verandas will extend around the building on the east, south and west.

The design is strictly Spanish for the exterior. The construction will be absolutely fireproof, the outer walls to be of re-enforced concrete with a gray pebbled-ash finish. The verandas will be finished in the same manner. The roof will be covered with red Spanish tile, giving the whole a subdued pleasing appearance.

The building will be back from the sidewalk about thirty feet, leaving a grass plot about fifteen feet wide between the sidewalks and the verandas. There will be two towers on the Lincoln avenue front which will be so constructed that the same can be open for the use of the guests during the summer and in the winter closed by the use of glass sashes.

The building will be four stories high. At the northwest end of the building will be constructed an L shaped annex 64 by 67 feet, facing Sheridan avenue, which is to contain the power, electric light and heating plant, also the kitchen, storage rooms and servants' quarters. It will be three stories high.

The entire interior of the building will be constructed of fireproof material, the floors to be of re-enforced concrete and the partitions will be of brick and cement plaster so that there will be nothing save the furnishings, of an inflammable material.

In designing the building every effort has been put forth to provide a strictly fireproof structure and take care of every comfort for the traveling public. Provision has been made for indoor amusement for the tourists and accommodations looked after for large gatherings such as conventions, banquets, parties, lectures and small theatrical attractions. In fact everything that goes to make up a modern first class hotel has been provided.

The lower or ground floor contains an auditorium 48 by 67 feet, with a stage 18 by 48 feet, thoroughly venti-

ROSWELL GROWERS SELL WOOL

Received Better Than Twenty Cents a Pound

SEALED BIDS REJECTED

Large Quantity Still Held in Southeastern New Mexico.

Roswell, N. M., June 12.—After failing to sell their wool yesterday in general competition by sealed bids from sixteen buyers from all parts of the country, five local wool growers sold their clip of 700,000 pounds at private sale at a price said to be over 20 cents. It is estimated that a million pounds of wool is still held in this part of New Mexico.

C. W. Smith, representing J. Koshland and Company of Boston, bought the following clips: A. D. Garrett, 185,000 pounds; Frank Garcia, 110,000 pounds; Knollin and Brinck, 135,000 pounds.

Sam G. Adams, representing Brown and Adams of Boston, bought 20,000 pounds from G. W. Gross and 80,000 pounds from Arthur Ingraham.

SPAIN IS DUNNING CUBA

Expects Island to Pay Part of Old Debt

MINISTER MAY BE RECALLED

Congress May Cancel Its Agreement to Buy Old Cannon.

Havana, June 12.—It became known today that Spain is trying to get Cuba to pay her proportion of the Spanish national debt incurred prior to the Spanish American war. During the peace negotiations at Paris Spain endeavored to get the United States to assume this debt, which was refused. Then Spain, in renouncing sovereignty over Cuba did not specifically renounce its monetary claims and the Spanish minister was instructed to press this for the sake of assurance to the French bondholders. However, the minister seems to have not done this, and rumor is rife that Minister de Ayala is to be recalled because of the failure to press this claim. It is also probable that Congress will cancel the agreement to buy for $300,000, the old Spanish cannon left in Cuba and claimed by Spain. It is said the cannon are no good and not even worth removing to Spain in case the agreement is cancelled.

FLOOR CAVES IN, FIRE FOLLOWS

Four Persons Were Killed and a Number Injured in Disaster in Stone Works.

Detroit, Mich., June 12.—A floor in the plant of the Peninsular Stone Works caved in today and was followed by a fire. Four persons were killed and a number injured.

With no warning the floor gave way and each of the floors below gave way under its burden of stoves and debris.

Detroit, Mich., June 12.—Three bodies have been recovered. One man has been located in the ruins pinned down in such a manner as to make rescue at present impossible. The upper floors were filled with the finished products of the company.

ASK $25,000,000 FOR IRRIGATION

Grand Junction Chamber of Commerce Wants to Rush Reclamation Projects to Completion.

Grand Junction, Colo., June 12.—The plan to unite the western states in a gigantic reclamation project with the idea of asking Congress for twenty-five millions to rush the reclamation project now under way, was started today by the Chamber of Commerce. It is hoped to make the plan national in scope and bring it to the attention of the National Irrigation Congress.

SAD DAY ON THE OCEAN

Russian Torpedo Boat Sunk in Storm

TWENTY OF CREW PERISHED

Cunard Trans-Atlantic Liner Slavonia Wrecked off Azores.

St. Petersburg, June 12.—The submarine torpedo boat Kambala of the Russian navy has been sunk in a storm on the Black Sea while undergoing trials. Twenty members of her crew, including the captain, the first lieutenant and chief engineer perished.

Passenger Steamer Wrecked.
Horta, Azores Island, June 12.—The steamer passengers on the Cunard line steamer Slavonia wrecked off Flores Island have been landed. The cabin passengers were taken aboard the Lloyd steamer Princess Irene.

The rescue of the passengers of the Slavonia perhaps was more thrilling than that of the Republic, the wireless being used with great effect. The Princess Irene was 180 miles away when "C. Q. D." was picked up. Immediately the big steamer put about and learned the location of the stricken ship. She then hastened to the Slavonia and every passenger was saved.

COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION

Equalize Assessment Returns and Declares Road to Pajarito Park Public.

The board of county commissioners has been sitting this week as a board of equalization and as usual found the assessment returns a wonderful and interesting study of how poor property owners and business men really are. In many cases, the returns were lower than last year and the commissioners were compelled to restore the former assessment. Some places, like Stanley, loom up with an increase of 100 per cent in their assessment returns while for the city of Santa Fe, despite the many new buildings, and the general prosperity, the total return is less than last year. For the entire county, the increase will be about $125,000 due to the diligence of Assessor Trinidad Alarid. At the meetings of the commissioners, Hon. I. Sparks presided and there were present also Commissioners Alfred Lucero and Jose Ortiz y Pino. The board was much pleased with the work of Assessor Alarid. The board also refused to act on the petition of the Ramon Land and Lumber Company to declare the bridge across the Rio Grande at Buckman's a toll bridge. At the same time, it declared the road to the Pajarito Park a public road and ordered the road commissioners to see to it that it is kept in good condition.

FRENCH TOWNS LAID LOW

Earthquakes Last Night Visited Southern France With Terrible Effect

Paris, June 12.—According to the latest reports which reached here last night from Southern France, the town of St. Cannat and Rognes are completely ruined by an earthquake that visited this territory last night. A large proportion of the houses were damaged and those left standing are cracked and threaten to fall at any time.

The earthquake shock last night was the most severe in the departments of Herault and Bouches du Rhone. Fifteen are dead at Lambesc, ten at St. Cannat, and 20 at Rognes. It is believed that the total will reach one hundred. Food supplies have been dispatched to the helpless people and troops sent to take charge. Most of the villages were cut off from communication and the news indicates that the situation is worse than at first believed.

WOMAN MAY BE CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Buffalo, June 12.—A woman probably will be the next president of the National Conference on Charities and Corrections. Indications point to the election of Julia Lathrop, of Hull House, Chicago, who has been a charitable worker for years and one of the leaders of the present movement. Another possible candidate is Jane Adams, also of Hull House. Today's discussion was devoted to "Children," "Defectives" and "Families and Neighborhoods."

How dear to our hearts is the old silver dollar. When some kind subscriber presents it to view-- The liberty head, without necktie or collar, And all the strange things that to us seem so new; The wide spreading eagle, the arrows below it, The stars and the words with the queer things they tell, The coin of our fathers! We're glad that we know it. For some time or other 'twill come in right well.

In the center of the building is located the main stairway with an electric fountain in the center, a very unique feature.

The first or main floor is provided with a large and spacious lobby 48 by 96 feet, in which is located the main circular stairway. There will be two large fireplaces in this lobby. The floor will be covered with Masoic tile and finished with numerous arches and pannels. The main entrance to this lobby will be from Lincoln avenue, the ladies' entrance from Palace avenue. The office will be located in the southeast corner, 33 by 35 feet in size. Adjoining the ladies' entrance on the Palace avenue side will be located two ladies' reception rooms and parlors.

The main dining room will be located at the west end of the building and is entered from the main lobby. The room will be 51 by 82 feet, with an alcove 16 by 50 feet. The dining room will be finished in elegant style and will present a pleasing and attractive appearance. Along the north side of this floor will be located four private dining rooms, 15 by 21 feet, for private parties or may be used in connection with the needs of conventions as committee rooms. There are also several large sample rooms for the use of the commercial traveler, 15 by 21 feet. At the northeast corner is located the main reading and writing room, 19 by 34 feet. At the northwest end is located serving room, cold room, auxiliary kitchen, provision room and bakery and storage room.

The main stairway will be an attractive feature, it will be circular with an electric fountain at the base and art glass dome over the staircase, giving a subdued and pleasing light effect.

The second and third floors will be devoted entirely to guest rooms of good size, ranging from 12 by 14 feet to 15 by 23 feet. Ten of the rooms on the second floor will open on balconies. Every guest room will be an outside room, well lighted and ventilated. Every suite of rooms will be provided with a bath room, containing every modern convenience and each room will be provided with large closets. The halls are large and spacious and are reached from the main stairs at the center. At the four corners of the hallways, stairs are provided to reach the third floor.

Every room will be provided with electric light, private telephone and such other conveniences as are found in the best modern hotels of the large cities.

In the ell of the second floor are located the servants' sleeping quarters, separated from the main building.

There will be 100 first class guest rooms.

At the southeast and northeast corners of the building there will be two towers, 40 by 40 feet, which will be for the general use of the guests and are to be reached from the third floor.

The two lower floors will be finished with tile and hardwood floors. The doors and trim will be hardwood, finished in Mission style. The second and third floors will be finished in yellow pine and stained. A number of the rooms will be finished in white.

The hotel will be heated with hot water system and will be provided with automatic cleaning apparatus and its furnishings throughout will be strictly first class in every respect. The decorations will be of high class and suited to the surroundings.

The hotel will be connected by an arch bridge with the annex building, which will be located on the plot of ground fronting on Palace avenue, Grant avenue and Sherman street.

This building will be 34 by 230 feet, two stories high, with a tower at the corner of Palace and Grant avenues. There will be eleven store rooms on the ground floor, 18 1-2 by 22 feet, and a large room fronting on Grant avenue, 54 by 60 feet. Over these store rooms will be located a number of rooms to be used in connection with the store rooms.

In the rear of this building will be located a garage and stables and a large plot of ground to be used for hotel garden and playground for use of the guests.

The hotel has been planned with a view to provide for the complete accommodation of the traveling public. The hotel will cost $200,000.00 and will be a great credit to the Capital City.

The building of the hotel has also more than a local aspect for Santa Fe being the Capital City of a great commonwealth, draws to it at frequent intervals almost every person of consequence and prominence in the Southwest and in the past, many of these visitors have complained of the lack of adequate hotel accommodations and tell stories of being compelled to sleep on cots in hotel corridors or being compelled to sit down to quarter or half dollar meals when they were willing to pay a dollar. It is to the comfort of the New Mexico visitors therefore, that the hotel will contribute materially, without detracting from the business of the present hotels, for these will continue to receive the patronage of those who seek accommodations at the rates that are now charged.

Dr. J. P. Wagner,
Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Sir: I am enclosing seven names for your new hotel, and I shall be very much pleased if one of them should suit you. I send these in answer to your advertisement in the Santa Fe New Mexican. Should you select one of these names and wish it, I will give a more detailed description or history of the name. I have given only a few lines of explanation in this.

Yours very truly,

ANITA BACA.

Santa Fe, N. M., June 11th, 1909.
Hon. John P. Wagner,
Santa Fe, N. M.

My Dear Sir: I acknowledge receipt of your valued favor of yesterday, awarding me the prize in the contest, which you proposed for the selection of an appropriate name to be given the contemplated new hotel, which is so necessary and valuable an addition for the welfare and advancement of Santa Fe, and which is to be erected through your indomitable energy. I sincerely thank you for the kind compliment and in compliance with your wishes, I herewith take pleasure in enclosing a history as I know it, of Don Diego de Vargas as Zapata Lujan Ponce de Leon, conqueror of New Mexico.

Wishing you the greatest success in your hotel project, I remain gratefully,
Yours friend,

ANITA BACA.

"Hotel de Vargas."

Don Diego de Vargas, was the Spanish general who re-conquered New Mexico and entered Santa Fe on September 13th, 1692, and who before the battle at the re-taking of Santa Fe made a pledge to the Virgin Mary that he would erect a chapel on the sight of his camp, if he met with success that the image of the Blessed Virgin would once a year be carried in triumphal procession through the streets of Santa Fe and this pledge has been religiously kept by the Catholic churches of Santa Fe to this day.

ANITA BACA,

Santa Fe, N. M.

General Don Diego De Vargas Zapata Lujan Ponce De Leon, Afterwards Titled By the King Marquis De La Nava De Brazinas.

Cruzate having failed to take possession of the province with which he had been entrusted, the Viceroy of New Spain, in the spring of 1692, appointed Don Diego De Vargas Zapata Lujan Ponce De Leon as governor, with the avowed desire of having New Mexico reconquered as speedily as possible.

De Vargas was a man of great energy and decision of character and lost no time in preparing for the work before him. He left home immediately for Paso del Norte, and although he was greatly disappointed at the mounted force which he was able to muster for the campaign, which barely amounted to 300 in all including 100 friendly Indians, yet he determined to undertake the work without delay and commenced his march the latter part of August.

He passed rapidly up the valley of the Rio Grande, finding nearly all the old pueblos in a half ruined condition. He made only the necessary stops for rest and sleep as he decided to strike his blows before the enemy were prepared; and in less than a fortnight he was in sight of Santa Fe.

Meanwhile, the Indians had been watching his movements, not knowing which point would be first attacked, but as soon as it was evident that it was the capital they began concentrating toward Santa Fe, and as De Vargas approached the city he saw numerous companies from the adjacent pueblos hastening to its relief.

Early the next morning the battle commenced, and (notwithstanding, Bancroft says there was no battle) was waged with great determination for eleven hours, when the pueblos gave way and De Vargas entered the city.

This signal success had an important effect, for judging from the speed with which the capital was captured that nothing was to be gained by resistance, twelve adjacent pueblos surrendered and were immediately occupied.

De Vargas, however, well understood that with so small a force it would be impossible to hold so extensive a country. He wrote the Viceroy from Santa Fe, that in order to retain possession of the country it would be necessary to establish permanent garrisons; and to send "not less than 500 families and 100 soldiers or it would be like throwing a grain of salt into the sea."

The governor, however, did not wait for re-enforcements, but with characteristic energy, started October 5th, 1692, for the Pueblo of Taos, which was considered the most determined in its opposition to Spanish rule. So rapid was his march, although a considerable halt was made

OFFICIAL PAPER OF SANTA FE COUNTY.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the Territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the Southwest.

THE NEW HOTEL.

Santa Fe will be one of the great tourist centers of the future. To realize this ambition it must have ample hotel facilities. It has good hotels now but these are taxed to their utmost upon frequent occasions. But Santa Fe needs a hotel upon different lines than those it has today; hostilities which will make it a specialty to cater to the tourist and to those who can afford to pay $5 a day and upward for accommodations that are not only comfortable but also luxurious. Santa Fe's climatic excellence; its manifold attractions including its historic associations, its prehistoric ruins, its vast forests, its delightful mountain streams, all will draw men and women of wealth who are accustomed to the very best that money can buy. There will be no trouble about the new hotel being a paying venture if it is managed rightly; it will never lack for guests. For Santa Fe it will mean an additional attraction, a very important attraction, for being assured superior hotel accommodations the crowds that now hurry past Lamy will take pleasure in making the side trip to Santa Fe there to learn something of the real Southwest and there to break a long and monotonous railroad journey to the coast with a comfortable rest at the finest hostelry in the Southwest.

LET THE INDIAN BE A MAN AMONG MEN.

It must have come as a surprise to the four Pueblo Indians in district court at Los Lunas when Judge Ira A. Abbott sentenced them to ten days in jail each for refusing to send their children to school. The Pueblo has been coddled for so long, has been permitted to have his own way, is exempted from taxation, though he owns the best lands in the Territory, until he has fortified himself with the idea that he need not obey the laws of the land, has no responsibilities and no duties toward the commonwealth or his neighbors. The government has assiduously fostered that idea, has protected the Pueblo when he needs no protection and is better able to make his fight for a living than the majority of the citizens of the Territory. He has been given grants of land much larger than he needs and the paternalism of the federal government and the law has gone so far that they will not permit him to dispose of the lands he does not need. The government has given the Pueblo separate schools and pays for them out of government funds, it looks after him as a father would after his favorite child. But that is not the way to grow strong men and sturdy citizens. Let the decisions and dicta of the courts be accepted and let the Pueblo be regarded as a full-fledged citizen of New Mexico, with all the duties, responsibilities, burdens and taxes that this implies and also with all the privileges and protection given every other citizen of the Territory. Possessed of great landed wealth, with schooling that is free and with no bonded indebtedness to retard him, the Pueblo Indian would occupy ground of distinct vantage in starting out to be a strong, responsible citizen of the commonwealth. Such action as that of Judge Abbott, compelling them to send their children to school, or of the territorial authorities in compelling the Indian to obey the game and other laws, are a good beginning in that direction. Let New Mexico also beware lest in the statehood bill creep in guarantees of immunity and protection to the Pueblos that are not extended to other citizens, and that would keep the Indians infants forever, an independent republic within an independent commonwealth, an anomaly that should not be perpetuated. Why not let each Pueblo Indian be a man among men?

A REAL UNIVERSITY.

With Dr. Edward McQueen Gray at its head, the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque, will greatly extend its usefulness and will begin to acquire the standing of a real institution of "higher" learning. Under Dr. Gray, the New Mexican feels certain, that Scholarship will be the first and not a secondary aim of the institution. Small universities and colleges have such a hard time to attract a sufficient number of pupils that they too often resort to all sorts of expedients to advertise themselves, from erecting mud houses to imitate

Pueblo architecture, to doing silly things that find their way into print. The tendency is also to endeavor to do too much, to scatter, to provide a different course of study and curriculum for every pupil who thinks he has ideas of his own. While a University embraces the idea of broad and liberal culture, it does not properly include normal departments or preparatory schools or mining or other technical courses. Let the Territory build up at Albuquerque a University in its true sense, with a classic regard of proportion. The New Mexican knows that this is the ideal that an Oxford graduate like Dr. Gray will have in mind, and while he may not have as many kindergarten pupils the first few years, he will lay the foundations for a state University of which the Southwest will have every reason to be proud.

WHERE AND HOW TO INVEST.

It is not often that a western newspaper advises men of moderate or of opulent means to invest in western mines. But the New York Press in a recent editorial did this very thing for it said:

"Here is an inquiry from a young man who has worked and saved. There are many like him. They would like to get rich in seven-league boots. 'How would you advise a young man to invest his all, about $500? This money is now drawing 4 per cent in a savings bank; but the young man is ambitious and would have the advantage of your superior wisdom.'"

"The vastest fortunes of the earth have been made out of the land. I do not refer to scratching the surface with a scooter, or a twister, or a modern cultivator; but to groveling into the bowels for such things as precious metals, coal, iron, ores, copper, lead etc. Rockefeller's millions came out of the ground. Carnegie's millions came out of the ground. William A. Clark's millions came out of the ground. Marcus Daly's millions came out of the ground. The millions of Barnato, Beit, Rhodes, Hammond, Mackay, Flood, Fair, Stanford and ever so many others came out of the ground. The Astor fortunes are founded on real estate. The venerable John I. Blair who left $100,000,000, used to sing—'Put your money in your yaller corn belt.'"

"Young man, if you have $500 to invest, put it in a mining property out west. But be rigid as to the conditions. Be sure that the mine is in the ground; not in the air. There is no profit taking in the blue empyrean. Be sure that honest men are interested in the management. Have nothing to do with mining stock deals. After inquiry, if satisfied, buy $500 worth of shares. Some sell at five cents, some at $1. Remember Calumet and Hecla, which, starting on a shoestring, has made millionaires of many who took a chance."

BOOSTING ALL THE TIME.

Glance over the files of the New Mexican this week. Day after day, in the editorial and in the news columns, you will find this paper pushing and boosting Santa Fe's enterprise and undertakings, be it St. Michael's College, the Scottish Rite Cathedral, the new Hotel De Vargas, the Elks' Theater, the local baseball teams, the Fourth of July celebration or local advantages and attractions. This space is given free of charge week after week, year in and year out, for the upbuilding of this city. Yet, to a newspaper, space is a commodity as much as lumber is to the lumber yard, sugar to the grocer, calico to the dry goods store or drugs to the druggist. It is as reasonable to expect the donation continually of lumber, sugar, calico and drugs to local progress and local enterprises as it is to expect donation of space for every local object from baseball games to Plaza Fetes. But the New Mexican does this willingly, without grumbling or being grouchy, and merely calls attention to the fact, so that other business men and property owners may be encouraged to be equally as liberal in giving of their wealth and commodities as the New Mexican is in giving of its stock in trade-space in its columns.

Harriman, the railroad king, keeps close tab on the newspapers. Their criticisms are of much value to him and his railroads. He assumes the correct attitude toward the press. Instead of resenting what other business men are apt to call interference in private business affairs, he invites criticism and profits thereby. After all, there is no other method near as adequate in reaching the public, than the press, and whether it is through the advertising or the editorial columns, it is the press that makes public sentiment to an even greater extent than ever before.

A HISTORIC CELEBRATION.

Several New England towns are inaugurating a saner, safer and quieter method of celebrating the Fourth of July. Instead of a big, senseless hullaboo they will have historic pageants illustrating local history as well as the colonial and revolutionary periods. There will be open air picnics and old fashioned games, masquerades and medieval plays, and altogether, these celebrations will substitute novelty and real enjoyment for the shooting of fire crackers, horse races and the other traditional concomitants that compel the average peace loving citizen to evacuate the towns for the woods on July Fourth. When the new fashion of celebrating the Fourth reaches Santa Fe, what a glorious historic pageant could be had, illustrating the costumes and customs from the time of Coronado to the present. Such an annual pageant would advertise the city far and wide and would with years draw thousands to view it. The simple De Vargas procession has given Santa Fe fame, but what would an annual procession that would illustrate the glories of the Conquistadores, the picturesque of the Indian, the earnestness of the San Franciscans, the display of governors and captains general for almost three centuries, the frontiersmen and scouts of the last century, the cowboys and Pueblo dances of the present, not do toward making this historic city still more famous? It would cost no more than the scattering celebrations that are now held with their baseball games, and aquaw races, but their value in bringing to Santa Fe visitors, would be many times that of the ordinary attractions that are advertised each Fourth of July from year to year.

Secretary of the Interior Ballinger has designated another quarter million acres in New Mexico to be subject to entry under the 320 acres homestead law. Of its 45,000,000 acres of public lands, fully 15,000,000 acres come under the dry farming class, which will make fifty thousand 320 acre homesteads. The New Mexican predicts that these will be all taken up within the next two years, adding at least another 100,000 to the population of the Territory, building new towns and cities and bringing millions of dollars of wealth. Santa Fe will be the beneficiary to a large extent, for much of this land is tributary to this city and all it needs to do, is to reach out for the trade that is growing every day, every week and every year. Greater still will be the benefit of settlement on the lands immediately surrounding the city. Strange to say, the 400,000 acres of public lands in this county are slow to be settled upon although more favorably located than much of the land that is now being filed upon so eagerly in the Estancia valley and eastern New Mexico. But when these other lands are settled upon, then it is inevitable that the lands stretching for twenty miles south of Santa Fe and as many miles west to the Rio Grande and far to the north will be turned into productive areas that will bring population and wealth to this county and city.

Dr. I. N. Hall in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences puts a quietus upon the old superstition that high altitude affects the heart unfavorably, for as a matter of fact there are fewer cases of heart failure and heart disease right here in Santa Fe year in and year out than there are in towns at sea level with the same population. Doctor Hall says: "The dangers to the heart in high altitudes are the same as in other places. The average case of well compensated valvular disease will do as well at a high altitude as anywhere else. In the high altitude he is less susceptible to acute rheumatism. The trouble with those who suffer in high altitude, is that they try to do much more than they would at sea level, because of the invigorating effect of the bracing atmosphere."

It is a good advertisement of the sanitarium principle for the cure of consumption, that the American Medical Association at Atlantic City this week declared itself in favor of building a sanitarium for consumptive physicians. From the scientific standpoint there would be much of value in bringing together physicians, thus afflicted, in one sanitarium. Consumptive patients are sharp critics but generally their criticism has no scientific value, but a physician who is ill with consumption should be able to tell what agrees with him and what does not, and by comparing notes in an institution where there would be scores and perhaps hundreds of students of medicine, much of value in the treatment of the different phases of tuberculosis should be learned.

The increase of $125,000 in the assessment of this county is gratifying but gives only little prophecy of the growth and prosperity of this section during the past twelve months. It is hard to realize that Santa Fe is really going forward, that it is adding substantial building after building and residence after residence, but it is a fact, and the prediction of a medium at a local show the other evening that within five years this would be a city of 16,000, is not at all improbable.

South Dakota, Colorado, Texas, are praying for the rains to cease and for the floods to subside, while New Mexico is basking in uninterrupted sunshine. There are days when it rains in Santa Fe and when it is cloudy, but they are so few when compared with such favored regions even as Colorado, that it is a wonder that healthseekers will go anywhere else than to the sunny Southwest.

It must be rather a novel titillation for the aged Sultan of Turkey to be game for kidnappers. He had been in the kidnapping business himself for many years and it would be merely poetic justice for the kidnaper to be kidnapped.

MEN PAST FIFTY IN DANGER.

Men past middle life have found comfort and relief in Foley's Kidney Remedy, especially for enlarged prostate gland, which is very common among elderly men. L. E. Morris, Dexter, Ky., writes: "Up to a year ago my father suffered from kidney and bladder trouble and several physicians pronounced it enlargement of the prostate gland and advised an operation. On account of his age we were afraid he could not stand it and I recommended Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the first bottle relieved him, and after taking the second bottle he was no longer troubled with this complaint. Sold by all druggists."

Representing the Mitchell, Moline, McIntyre and Zimmerman Factories. These factories are noted for their excellent cars, who, instead of building down to a cheap price car, build up to a machless standard, as good a car as a man would care to own. The Mitchell people have built $11,000,000 worth of cars within the past few years, and their current year's production will equal 18,000 cars.

The Moline car occupies a position of high favor among automobile users. Models "K" and "M" for 1909, are two models of still higher excellence than their satisfactory models of last season, and have proven themselves the cars for anywhere.

High wheelers in solid rubber tires are represented by the McIntyre and the Zimmerman cars. These cars can be furnished in 26 styles of commercial and passenger combinations from $250 up.

The people realize that the motor driven vehicles have proven good and is here to stay. It is erroneous to suppose that only expert mechanical engineers can own and operate a motor driven car, many ladies drive their cars.

At present quotations they are relatively cheaper than horses—cheaper to maintain. In its adoption you take nothing from the horse except that part which can better and cheaper be done with the motor vehicle. You drive the car yourself. You get the real rest of motoring by using the levers and steering the car yourself.

Two Little Girls had Eczema Very Badly—In One Case Child's Hair Came Out and Left Bare Patches—Father's Head Sore from Childhood—In All Three Cases

CUTICURA MET WITH ITS USUAL SUCCESS

"I have two little girls who have been troubled very badly with eczema. One of them had it on her lower limbs. I did everything that I could think of for her, but it did not give in until winter weather when it seemingly subsided. The next winter when it became cold weather the eczema started again and also in her head where it would take the hair out and leave bare patches as large as a quarter of a dollar. At the same time her arms were sore the whole length of them. I took her to a physician and he said that she had two distinct types of eczema. I continued with him for several weeks and the child grew worse all of the time. Her sister's arms were also affected in the same way. My husband came home one day with a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap. I began using them and also the Cuticura Pills and by the time the second lot was used their skin was soft and smooth as it had not been before for the winter. We keep the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment constantly by us and when any little roughness or irritation appears on their skin I quickly dispel it with the Cuticura Remedies. My husband has used them with most satisfactory results for a sore head which has troubled him from childhood. Mrs. Charles Baker, Albion, Me., Sept. 21, 1908."

Cuticura Ointment is one of the most successful remedies for torturing, disfiguring humors of the skin and scalp, including loss of hair, of infants, children and adults, ever compounded, in proof of which a single anointing with it, preceded by a hot bath with Cuticura Soap, and followed by mild doses of Cuticura Pills, is often sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of itching, burning and scaly humors, eczemas, irritations and inflammations, permit rest and sleep and point to a speedy cure when all else fails.

Cuticura Soap (25c), Ointment (25c), Resolvent (50c), and Chocolate Coated Pills (25c), are sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Boston, 137 Columbia Ave., Boston. 62-Mailed Free, Cuticura Book on Skin Diseases.

The latest number of the Academy News prints a group of pictures of the graduates among which appears the portrait of Fletcher, and the following editorial mention:

"Fletcher Catron, Santa Fe, N. M., Academy Scholar, Football, Baseball, Tennis.

"The sentence, 'Yap is going to Yale,' if spoken by a Norwegian would undoubtedly sound bad to a cadet who is as good, morally, as Catron is. We are sure that Yap will not land in jail, and we predict bigger things for him. He is not only admired by the faculty for his scholarly enthusiasm, but he is a favorite among the cadets also."

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

"To sin by silence, when we should protest.
Makes cowards out of men.
The human race has climbed on protest;
Had no voice been raised against injustice, ignorance and lust,
The inquisition yet would serve the law, and guillotines decide our least disputes.
The few who dare must speak, and again
To right the wrongs of many."

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Monday's election fell short by a small majority; a very few votes would have changed the outcome. We feel that the temperance cause was defeated by its friends, that the saloon forces polled their vote, but we did not, from the fact that it was not a legally ordered election and they were indifferent. There was, however, an issue of principle at stake, which was more important than personal matters would have been.

The results are not discouraging in the least, the temperance sentiment is mighty and is growing.

We heard that some stringent criticisms were passed on some of the mottoes of the W. C. T. U., on especially "God is counting the votes." We did not use the motto irreverently, we believed it absolutely true. We believe God lives and reigns in Santa Fe as he does in all the world, and that he takes note of the deeds done in the flesh, every word of our mouth and thought of our heart. The Bible says that not a sparrow falls to earth without his notice, and the very hairs of our head are numbered, and when the welfare of hundreds of His little children are hanging in the balance, why should he not take note? Man may forget God, but He does not forget man.

We even believe he hears the pitiful cry of fear of the baby kid sold along our streets, and the groan of pain from the burdened little burro, who on his scarred back bears to our doors the fuel for our comfort and warmth, and with how much more sorrow the robbing of children of food, clothing, love and home. When we sin against a little child, or any of God's creatures, we sin against Him who made them. "Even as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

If any man doubt that God is in Santa Fe, or that he fails to note the doings of men, let him read the 139th chapter of Psalms in full. The 7th and 8th verses read, "Whither shall I go from thy spirit? Or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend into heaven, thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold thou art there." "In God we live and move and have our being," and if he withdraws his breath from our nostrils for only a moment, we are dead. How foolish to say, God is not here or there. When we "quench within us the spirit" we quench our life.

In one sense of the word this is also a religious fight. It is a fight in which all religions and denominations are joined. It is the common cause of humanity. If a wild beast came into town and caught and destroyed a child each day, the town would rise up to hunt and destroy that beast, and they would never ask each other of what church, of what creed are you? The present movement against the legalized liquor traffic was born in the Catholic church, was fostered by its greatest and best men, and has spread into every religion and into every land. Long before the Woman's crusade in Ohio, dear old Father Mathew was preaching the gospel of total abstinence to the world.

The fight is not against the men engaged in the business, but against the traffic. The men are God's children, but the traffic is of Satan. The man who votes to license the business, is as responsible for the business as the man who engages in it. If either realized what they were doing, they would desist. Christ prayed for his persecutors, "Father forgive them, they know not what they do." The church today should pray the same prayer for those who are still persecuting Him, through his children. No man can realize fully what he is doing, when for an personal gain he will rob or destroy his brethren, for "what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?"

It is no slur to call this a "woman's fight." It is a man's fight, and a child's fight too. The wild beast's mother will protect her offspring, and we surely cannot expect less of the human mother. The world certainly cannot expect her to stand back and watch her children lured to their destruction, their bodies poisoned and torn down fiber by fiber, their minds wrecked, their wills weakened, their morals ruined and never raise a protest or make a fight. It is a fight between the licensed liquor traffic and the mothers and fathers, and the stake is the children of the nation. That and nothing else is the issue.

No subterfuges, no excuses can change it. If the saloons stand and flourish, the children must go. Saloons cannot run without men, every man is some mother's boy. This is the true issue and every thinking person knows it. It is not a question of your own appetite, your own personal tastes, it is a question of the future of the children of Santa Fe, of New Mexico, of America.

HOTEL DE VARGAS IT WILL BE.

at San Juan, in order to receive with proper ceremony the warriors of that pueblo who were counted as allies, the army reached the Taos valley on the third day (October 7th) and speedily surrounded the two great buildings. Not an Indian appeared, and on entering they found them entirely deserted—the inhabitants having retired to a gorge in the adjacent mountain.

Sending Luis (an influential and friendly Indian of Pleuris) in advance De Vargas succeeded in arranging a conference and in a short time induced the Pueblos to return to their homes, promising loyalty to state and church. The general on his part agreed to forget, or overlook the past, and provided them with a priest who absolved the whole community and then proceeded to receive into the church by baptism no less than ninety-six of their number.

The governor also succeeded in adjusting the feud that existed between Taos and the pueblos to the south, and induced a number of the best young men to promise to join his standard in an expedition soon to be undertaken against the Indians of Zuni. All this accomplished, De Vargas returned to Santa Fe on the 13th, being absent from the capital but eight days and not losing a man.

With wonderful energy he at once began preparing for another expedition of more extensive character and as he expected to be absent for some time, he appointed Luis of Pleuris, who seems to have been a man of superior ability, as governor of all the pueblos under Spanish control, administered to him the oath of office upon a cross, in the presence of the chief men of the different towns.

Intending to make his first visit to Pecos and then proceed westward, he dispatched part of his troops with pieces of artillery to Santo Domingo to await him there, and starting on the morning of October 17th reached Pecos by 2 o'clock. Here the people were prepared to receive him very favorably, and had erected a large cross and arches at the entrances to their town, by way of greeting.

Here two priests (Fathers Corven and Barras, who accompanied the army absolved the people and 248 were baptized. Here De Vargas, at the request of the people, appointed officers for the pueblo. They left the next day for the west, passing the ruined Pueblo of Gallisteo, which had been entirely abandoned. Three leagues farther on they passed San Marcos, once a populous town but now deserted, and on the evening of October 19th they reached Santo Domingo, where they found the other detachment. Here the governor held a council with the Caciques of a number of the neighboring pueblos, who were presented with crosses, rosaries and other gifts and sent to their respective villages with instructions to prepare to receive the army.

On the 21st of October he marched from Santo Domingo to Cochiti where he met the inhabitants of that town, together with those of San Marcos and San Felipe, who had deserted their pueblos for fear of the other Indians combined against them. They were assured of protection and promised to return to their homes.

From here, with a detachment of troops, De Vargas proceeded to Zia, where he found the old pueblo in a ruinous condition, as it had been left after its capture by Cruzate, the people having built a new town near by. Crosses and arches had been prepared as at Pecos, and the people received them with acclamation.

The governor recommended that they should re-occupy the old pueblo, and gave them some steel axes to assist them in their work, and after witnessing a grand dance, rode on to Jemez.

Here, as at Zia, the old pueblo had been abandoned and a new one built on an elevation a few leagues beyond, where the position was almost impregnable, and had been rendered still stronger by the erection of walls and redoubts, the towns being built around two plazas, each of which had only one narrow entrance. Although 600 warriors were in arms, and De Vargas was in continual dread of attack, no opposition was made to his approach, and he was treated with great hospitality by the chiefs. In each village the same ceremonies were performed, followed by the baptism of a large number of Indians.

Thus De Vargas continued his operations throughout all the province, taking pueblo after pueblo and establishing Christianity through the Roman Catholic church, where ever he went.

After this he went to El Paso and arranged for the immigration into New Mexico of a sufficient number of families to colonize parts of it, in accordance with a report which he made to the Viceroy.

In October of 1693 he commenced his march from El Paso, returning the whole number, numbering colonists and escort, numbering 1,500 persons. They carried with them 3,000 horses and mules. These people were located at various points in the province of New Mexico.

On his return De Vargas hoped to find the pueblos in the same peaceable and hospitable frame of mind in which he had left them, but such was far from the cause, and he had to undergo a great many trials and use wonderful tact in restoring peace and order.

On his return to Santa Fe the Indians refused to allow them to enter the city, and on the evening of December the 11th, De Vargas, who had encamped at the ranch of Roque Madrid, five miles southwest of town, was met by a deputation, including the Indian governors of Santa Fe and Tesuque, who expressed the best of feeling and in token of friendship brought a quantity of tortillas. They stated that the stories of the interpreters had done much harm, but the older men and women had not believed them.

On the 16th of December, 1693, the Spanish army marched into Santa Fe, bearing the same banner which had been carried by Onate when he entered the city just a century before.

The occasion was one of much pomp and ceremony. The inhabitants were assembled in the plaza, the men on one side and the women on the other; the soldiers opened ranks to allow the priests to pass through; the latter in gorgeous vestments saying the Te Deum and chanting the Litany; and the governor delivered an address. When all was concluded the troops and immigrants were marched to the hill immediately north of the city where a camp was prepared, and where they remained until Christmas day; the Tanos Indians being left in possession of the Palace and the other natives of the houses in the town.

The weather, meanwhile, became very cold, men sent out for timber to repair the church of San Miguel were unable to work on account of the severity of the weather, and the priests and council asked to be allowed to occupy houses in the city.

De Vargas therefore directed the Tanos Indians to vacate the palace and return to their pueblos on the Gallisteo. This created a great commotion, and on the 24th day of December at a council held by them, it was determined not to allow the Spaniards to enter the city. When De Vargas learned this he prepared to make an assault, but waited one day in hopes that better council would prevail among the Pueblos. On the 26th, however, a fierce battle was waged during the whole day. The defenses were strong and the Palace could only be taken by scaling the walls. The Indians fought vigorously with bows and arrows, and used boiling water to prevent an attack close to the walls. In the afternoon reinforcements from other pueblos appeared and only after successive cavalry charges were they driven back. At night both sides were exhausted and glad to have the conflict cease, the Indians had suffered heavily, ninety of their number being killed, and they were discouraged at the retreat of their allies.

The next morning, no opposition was made to the entrance of the Spanish, and formal possession was taken by the governor. Four hundred women and children who were captured were divided among the Spanish families in practical slavery; seventy warriors were executed and their property, consisting principally of beans and corn, were confiscated.

Every one knows who succeeded Don Diego De Vargas. After a number of years he was reinstated and again made governor of the province of New Mexico from 1703 to 1704, with the title of Marquis De La Nava De Brazinas.

This remarkable man started on an expedition against the Apache Indians and was taken sick in the Sandia mountains, and died at Bernalillo whither he was carried, on the 4th day of April, in the year 1704. His remains were interred in what was then known as the church of Santa Fe.

History also tells us, that before the battle took place, on entering the city of Santa Fe the first time, he promised our Blessed Virgin that if successful, he would have a church

If your Stomach, Heart or Kidneys are weak, try at least a few doses only of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. In five or ten days only, the result will surprise you. A few cents will cover the cost. And here is why help comes so quickly. Dr. Shoop doesn't drug the Stomach, nor stimulate the Heart or Kidneys. Dr. Shoop's Restorative goes directly to the weak and failing nerves. Each organ has its own controlling nerve. When these nerves fail, the depending organs must of necessity falter. This plain, yet vital truth, clearly tells why Dr. Shoop's Restorative is so universally successful. Its success is leading druggists everywhere to give it universal preference. A test will surely tell. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

A large townsite has been surveyed and located on the Costilla Land Grant which is to be the principal town on the line.

The game will be called at 2:30 sharp. See the line up of both teams on another page of this issue.

Snow Still Very Deep—The snow on the east slopes of the Sangre de Cristo range is still very deep, although on the west slope it has mostly disappeared. The Knox trail, near the head of Holy Ghost creek and Holy Ghost lake, twelve miles from Santa Fe is still impassable on account of the snow and the peaks of Santa Fe Baldy, Pecos Baldy, Lake Peak, the Truchas, Jicarilla and others ranging from 12,000 to 13,000 feet in altitude within sight of Santa Fe are still glittering white with snow as viewed from the Pecos side.

Big Seat Sale—The first day's sale of seats for the opening performances at the Elks' theatre was the largest advance sale ever recorded in Santa Fe. The El Renal Stock Company will undoubtedly play to crowded houses at every performance. Those who have not yet reserved their seats had better do so without further delay as the indications are that the house will be sold out long before the day of the opening. The reserved seats chart is now open at Fischer Drug Company's.

Oh, These Delightful June Days and Nights—Sunshine and blue skies every day thus far this month and a prediction of fair weather for tomorrow, is what the Weather Bureau says. There isn't another weather bureau station with a record like that. Yesterday, the maximum temperature was 77 degrees, the minimum 46 degrees, and at 6 p. m. the relative humidity was only 12 per cent while eastern cities were sweltering under a temperature in the eighties and nineties and the relative humidity up to 60 or 70.

Court at Bernalillo—At the district court for Sandoval county, to be convened next week at Bernalillo, two sensational murder trials will come up. That of Emiliano Sandoval, former sheriff of Sandoval county, and Abelino Gurule, charged with the killing of a native ranchman with an axe near Cabezon on May 4, 1908; and the case of Lucian Gonzales and Mrs. Martin Salas charged with the killing of Martin Salas, who was buried under suspicious circumstances and whose body when disinterred was found to bear marks of violence. ## GRAND AUCTION SALE OF LOTS

In The Beautiful Residence Addition to Santa Fe, Adjoining the Indian School

This fine level tract offers the only chance for the expansion of our growing beautiful city, on account of the Mountains surrounding us. It is bound to be the ideal residence part of the city. These lots will be sold at Auction without Bid or Reserve on the ground at 2 o'clock Tuesday, June 15th.

Believing it is better to have the property in the hands of the people, rather than hold for big prices, we have made arrangements to close out the entire tracts in Texas, Oklahoma and elsewhere. Before offering this property for sale in other states, the people of Santa Fe will be offered the choice pick of the whole tract.

THE CAPITAL LAND AND TOWNSITE CO.

Promotor of Sale.

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO MISS THIS AUCTION.
Remember, every man, woman and child attending the sale will have an opportunity to draw one of the three lots given away absolutely free, whether they buy or not. Those drawing the free lots are given the choice of the whole townsite.

Santa Fe, the capital of our future great state, is the only city.

WHERE THE BUILDING BOOM NEVER STOPS.

You can not make a mistake in investing a few dollars in property, which will increase in value tenfold in a very short time.
