Woodson of Las Cruces, will assist. Arrangements are being made to have special lectures by prominent educators.

District Court.
The Prescott-Manby controversy still held the attention of Judge John R. McFie in district court today.

A suit in attachment was brought today by the Baldwin Piano Company, of Ohio, vs. Max Gardner, to recover $670, the price of five pianos sold to D. W. Anderson, Patrocinio Lopez, John Callahan, Frank Andrews and Mrs. Valdez. The plaintiff also garnished the holder of notes given in part payment on some of the pianos.

Attorney R. H. Hanna filed answers in the case of Jose Francisco Duran, Jose Eugenio Suazo, administrators of the estate of Jose Manuel Duran, deceased, and Jose Francisco Duran, Julian Vigli, Jose Albino Duran, Antonio Duran and Donicio Duran vs. George Anton, Ella S. Anton and Henry Grant, involving title to a parcel of ground and house on Hillside avenue, in this city, upon which Mrs. Adeline Keachie had a mortgage and in the suit of Pedro Jose Gallagos, Andrew Romero, Ben C. Speer, Vicente Archuleta, Santiago Martinez, Jose Leon Cruz, Carpio Archuleta and Ramon Romero vs. Manuel Duran, Jose Trujillo and Jose de la Luz Duran, involving title to parts of the Nuestra Señora del Rosario San Fernando y Santiago grant in Rio Arriba county, the privilege of cutting timber thereon by B. C. Speer and the legality of the commission of five administering the grant. The answer asks for an accounting. On next Wednesday, August 4, Judge John R. McFie will draw the panels for the grand and petit juries for the term of district court which will convene on the first Monday in September, the sixth.

Hunt of Raton, trustees of the New Mexico reform school. The board organized by electing Mills president and Aldredge secretary and treasurer. Miss and Hunt were designated to visit the Colorado reform school at Buena Vista this week. This morning, Governor Curry, Land Commissioner R. P. Ervlen and Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan left for Cimarron and Raton on good roads business. The governor and party were guests last evening at a banquet in their honor at the Springer hotel, the Springer Commercial Club being the host.

TARIFF FIGHT NEARING END

Conferees Are Expected to Return This Week

NEW MEXICO MEASURES

Introduced by Senator Penrose Upon Request of Delegate Andrews

Washington, July 27.—So confident are the Republican conferees of an early termination of their labors that the "whip" of the House was ordered to have all Republicans present on Thursday when it is now expected that the resolution authorizing the conferees to agree to a reduction on the rates on leather and leather goods will be presented. The conferees have been assured that the resolution will be adopted by the House and that there will be no serious opposition to the agreement in the Senate.

For New Mexico's Benefit.
Special to the New Mexican.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Upon the request of Delegate to Congress W. H. Andrews, Senator Penrose today introduced bills for the relief of Serapio Romero, former postmaster at Las Vegas; for the construction of a bridge across the Rio Grande at Wamsley's crossing in Taos county; and for the construction of a bridge across the Red river in Taos county.

Newell and Ballinger.
Washington, D. C., July 27.—Director Newell, of the reclamation service, is on his way to Portland, where, on Thursday, he will hold conferences with Secretary Ballinger and the district engineers of the reclamation service. Effort will be made at the conference to arrange a schedule of work to be done by the reclamation service on all government projects during 1910.

Director Newell is not worried over reports that he is to lose his job. He has been assured by the president that there is no intention of displacing him.

Twain Will Act as Pilot.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—When President Taft takes his trip down the Mississippi river from St. Louis to New Orleans, Mark Twain, humorist, will act as pilot on the boat carrying the country's chief executive. The president's river itinerary has been completed and includes stops at Cape Girardeau, Caruthersville in Missouri; Cairo, Illinois; Memphis, Tennessee; and Vicksburg, Mississippi. When a president of the United States takes a river trip Mr. Clemens always has been invited by the committee in charge to pilot the boat. The usual invitation was extended to Mr. Clemens on this occasion and his friends who say he has a high personal regard for Mr. Taft declare he will agree to pilot Taft safely down the river. The humorist was asked to guide one of the vessels during Roosevelt's trip from Keokuk to Memphis, but was unable to accept.

Utah Coal Company Compromises.
Washington, July 26.—Promising new prosecution in further investigation now in progress, show that other coal lands have been illegally acquired. Attorney General Wickersham has discontinued equity suits recently instituted against the Utah Fuel Company to annul the title to 8,000 acres of coal lands in Utah, valued at $40,000.

This action is caused by the settlement between the government and representatives of the fuel company under which the company agrees to pay the government $13,000, recovers the eight thousand acres to the United States, besides forfeiting $14,400 paid to the government when the patents were issued on the land. The fuel company is a subsidiary corporation of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad.

HIS MODESTY WAS SHOCKED

Atlanta, Ga., July 27.—His modesty rudely shocked by the sight of a pretty girl on horseback, wearing divided skirts, Representative Wright of Stew. For county, rushed a bill before the legislature making it a felony for a woman to ride astride in Georgia. He had never seen a woman astride until he came to Atlanta.

BLOOD IS SHED AT BARCELONA

Governor Refuses to Proclaim Martial Law

POLICE AND STRIKERS CLASH

Many Deserting From Army and Fleeing Across Boundary

Perpignan, France, July 27.—During street fighting in Barcelona today, a captain and three gendarmes and eight strikers were killed and a score wounded.

All Quiet at Melilla.
Madrid, July 27.—The strikers at Barcelona have cut the telegraph wires to the capital. The last message stated that the strikers have invaded the factories and enforced complete cessation of work. The general staff announces today that all is quiet at Melilla.

Trouble at Barcelona.

Barcelona, July 27.—Violence followed the declaration of a general strike in protest against the Spanish-Moroccan war. The strikers stoned street cars and tore up the rails. Two street cars were overturned on the main street. A dozen persons have been killed by the police and hundreds arrested. A regiment of infantry from Tarragona arrived to aid the police. Many are deserting the reservists and fleeing across the frontier. The civil governor has resigned when he was ordered to proclaim martial law.

Situation in Spain is Bad.
Pendaye, France, July 27.—Dispatches smuggled into this port, report that the Spanish troops were on the verge of a rout during the fighting on July 25, when the Moors cut off the ammunition trains and pillaged the convoys. The panic is intense inside the Melilla. Barcelona is cut off from all communication. Couriers report rioting still in progress.

COURT ADJOURNS INDEFINITELY

Mrs. Sutton is Ruled to Be Complainant and Officers Involved as Defendants in the Inquiry.

Annapolis, Md., July 27.—The Sutton court of inquiry has adjourned indefinitely, following a ruling by the court that Mrs. Sutton was the complainant and all officers concerned in the affair were parties defendant and entitled to be represented by counsel. This action was followed by the introduction of Mrs. Sutton's letter requesting the navy department to re-open the investigation of her son's death. Judge Leonard requested that Mrs. Sutton be regarded as the complainant and was sustained by the court after long arguments by Mrs. Sutton's counsel who said she did not accuse any specified person of causing her son's death. All officers concerned were notified that they are parties defendant and the court adjourned pending the arrival of Lieutenant Utley and Surgeon Cook from abroad.

MRS. GEORGE LAW MUST PAY BILL

Her Dressmaker Wins Claim for $5,000 for Paris Creation That Was a Wonder.

London, July 27.—A $5,000 dress bill was the subject of a controversy in the chancery court here today between a Paris costumeur and Mrs. George Law, a wealthy American, who divides her time between New York, Paris and London. Mrs. Law declined to pay the bill on the ground that the costume did not fit and because the charges were extortionate. The verdict, however, was in favor of the plaintiff who greatly amused the court with a recital of how Mrs. Law took her to the theater and to the Louvre had her copy the dresses of actresses and famous women of the Louis XV period, pictured in the Louvre and kissed and complimented her on the admirable reproductions she supplied to her.

SOCIALISTS CAPTURE WESTERN FEDERATION

Literature in a Dozen Languages to Be Printed and Distributed By the Miners.

Denver, July 27.—Fight for a campaign of Socialist literature occupied the miners today, the executive board being ordered to print such literature in a dozen foreign languages. The sessions will end on Thursday with the election of officers. The present officers probably will be re-elected. Denver will secure the next convention.

REYES QUILTS IN DISGUST

Resigns as President of U. S. of Columbia

HIS HEALTH IS BROKEN

His Opponents Antagonistic to This Nation and Panama.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—A special from Hamburg to the Tribune says: President Rafael Reyes of Columbia, cabled to Bogota today resigning the presidency. General Reyes in discussing the situation said the newly assembled Congress is opposed to Tripartite treaty of Columbia, the United States and Panama and it is useless for him to remain in office when the country did not share his views. He regarded Columbia's refusal to recognize the independence of Panama as childish and probably will result in the loss of the compensation which the United States is ready to arrange to have Panama pay. He says his health is broken by two attempts to assassinate him and the people are not willing to support him.

DROPPED DEAD IN A SALOON

El Paso Barber While Waiting for a Manhattan Cocktail Passes in His Checks.

El Paso, Tex., July 27.—L. G. Smith, a barber, dropped dead in a local saloon, his death being caused by heart failure. There was a lull in the business at about this time and Smith and another barber, R. S. Richards, went into the saloon to get a drink. They were chatting about shop affairs and Smith remarked to Theo. Eggers who was tending bar, that he was feeling faint. Eggers then suggested that he take a stimulant and he ordered a Manhattan cocktail. While the bartender was preparing the drink, Smith threw up his hands and fell to the floor in a faint. He was carried into the barber shop where cold water was applied to his forehead and he was given ice water to drink but he succumbed before the arrival of a physician.

DROWNED IN THE RIO GRANDE

El Paso, Tex., July 27.—A deep mystery surrounds the discovery of the body of a Mexican in the river near the Santa Fe bridge. The man was stark naked and was lying face downward in a pool of water not more than three feet deep and from the condition of the body it was apparent that he had lain there all night. There were no marks on the body to indicate that he had been foully dealt with, and the police express the opinion that he went down to the river to bathe and was suddenly overcome by heart failure and sank in the small pool of water never to rise.

ASSISTANT CASHIER TOOK $85,000

Set Time Lock on Saturday to Protect Himself

TIPTON BANK CLOSED DOWN

Absconder Writes Brother That He Has Left Forever

Tipton, Ind., July 27.—Anxious depositors gathered about the First National Bank of Tipton discussing the placard announcing that Assistant Cashier Noah Marker had absconded with all the bank's available cash and the institution closed pending instructions from the treasury department. Marker in setting the time lock of the vault to protect himself, departed with all the cash in the vault on Saturday, leaving a letter for his brother, saying he was departing forever and that he was taking enough money for his expenses. It is said the total money missing is $85,000. The amount taken by Marker on Saturday was about $60,000.

WILL NEVER RETURN TO ASYLUM

Thaw Was Eager to Take Stand Today

NOT AFRAID TO FACE JEROME

Patient Never Was and is Not Now Insane Says Expert

White Plains, N. Y., July 27.—When Harry K. Thaw entered the courtroom this morning during the hearing of his application for release from the Matteawan asylum he looked unusually buoyant. "I will never go back to Matteawan," he said. "I am satisfied with the way the hearing has gone and am not afraid to face Mr. Jerome." Thaw is eager to take the stand in his own behalf.

Dr. Evans, who declared yesterday that he is not now and never had been a paranoiac, resumed the stand this morning. "In my opinion, Mr. Thaw is now sane," were the first words he spoke.

Evans Changed His Opinion.

White Plains, N. Y., July 27.—Dr. Evans stated in reply to a question that Thaw had no delusions or hallucinations at this time. Mr. Jerome, in cross examining Evans, called attention to his former testimony when he declared Thaw was insane for a year before he killed White. Dr. Evans stated that later information given by Thaw caused him to modify his opinion. Regarding the brain-storm testimony which aided Thaw in gaining a verdict in the trial, Evans said he thought the facts upon which this report was based were true at the time but he no longer believed them to be true. Evans was followed by Susan A. Merrill, who testified that she knew Thaw under several names in 1902 when he rented rooms from her claiming to be a theatrical agent placing young girls on the stage throughout the country.

MINE SUPERINTENDENT DENT IS BLAMED

State Inspector Makes His Report on Recent Disaster Near Trinidad, Colorado.

Denver, July 27.—That the explosion in the Teller coal mine, near Trinidad, on July 6, in which nine men lost their lives, was due to the carelessness or incompetency of the superintendent, Emory Fisher, is the gist of the report of State Coal Mine Inspector J. D. Jones, made to Governor Shaffroth. Inspector Jones, in his reports, says that the mine is one in which a peculiar gas which makes its presence known by a buzzing sound is prevalent, and should have been readily known by one familiar with its workings; that gas had been allowed to accumulate in the shaft by the improper working of the fans and the further fact that the fans had been out of commission entirely for several hours; that the nine men victims of the explosion were allowed to enter the mine on this day, by reason of an ambiguous order, easily misunderstood by them. The order referred to was to the effect that the mine would not be in operation on the day mentioned. Miners ordinarily understand that they are allowed to enter a mine regardless of whether work is being performed or not, in order to prepare their lay-out for the next day. The men should have been told, the inspector intimates, that they were not to go down the shaft for any purpose until the fans were repaired and everything placed in shipshape.

WHO IS IT LIVES THE LONGEST

John D. Rockefeller Tells His Sunday School Class to Be Temperate in Eating.

Cleveland, July 27.—"The best investment any of us can make in this world is to set about each day doing something, however, small or large, that will cheer the pathway of some one else. This was the life and is today the gospel of Jesus Christ." This is what John D. Rockefeller told the Sunday school classes at the Euclid avenue Baptist church. Turning to the question of eating, Rockefeller asked: "Who is it lives the longest? Is it he who eats the most?" "The bible says that he who obeys his father and mother lives the longest," ventured an aged woman in the audience. "Yes," answered Rockefeller, "but our parents do not teach us to eat wisely. They often permit us to eat too much."

LATHAM MAKES DARING EFFORT

But Fails Within Sight of Dover Cliffs

COVERED NINETEEN MILES

Had Intended to Fly Hundred and Six Miles to London

Dover, July 27.—Robert Latham made another daring effort to cross the English channel this evening. After covering 19 of the 21 miles from Calais to Dover, the motor failed and he sank into the sea, two miles off Dover. Five French torpedo boats accompanied him, but were left behind by the swift monoplane. Latham was to have made the attempt to reach London from Calais, a distance of 106 miles, thus surpassing the feat of Bleriot who crossed on Sunday. Weather conditions, except for a slight rain, were in his favor when he left Sangatte Cliffs where the start was made. Latham was rescued by a torpedo boat.

WAS A BAD DAY FOR AERONAUTS

Calais, July 27.—In the trial flight Latham's machine came violently to the ground in making a landing. A wheel was smashed and the propeller damaged. It is possible repairs will be made in time to make the attempt to cross the channel before noon.

At 5:15 this morning Latham was about to attempt a flight across the channel to Dover. He sent his aeroplane through the air on a very successful trial flight the first time and as a result declared great confidence in his ability to reach the English shore, but the second trial flight ended in disaster.

Snow Storm Stops Aeronauts.

St. Louis, July 27.—A midsummer snow storm two miles above earth caused John J. Berry, Paul J. McCullough and John S. Thurman, who ascended here in the balloon University City in an attempt to capture the Lahm cup, to land near Savanna, Ill., yesterday. They traveled 242 miles, mostly through rain.

The attempt to win the cup was given up after the bag, netting and basket became so wet that the gas would no longer support the weight. "At one time when we were trying to get out of the snowstorm," said Captain Berry, "we rose to 13,000 feet. We were in rain clouds nearly all night and got soaking wet."

"At 7 o'clock yesterday morning, after I had thrown out ballast, we left the rain cloud and went into snow. At times the basket swung around like a top. Sleet cut our faces and we had to keep brushing snow off the edge of the basket to prevent its weight from retarding our flight."

Wright Again Postponed Test.

Washington, July 27.—Orville Wright made a two and a half mile flight under adverse conditions, with his aeroplane at Fort Myer last evening. The occasion by reason of the presence of President Taft and a brilliant assemblage of Washington official life, bore an air more social than aeronautical.

Everybody had expected Wright to make the first of his official tests—the so-called "endurance test"—of an hour in the air, with a passenger—and nobody had forgotten that the last time he attempted this feat, only ten months ago, it cost the life of Lieutenant Selfridge, of the signal corps and a broken thigh and ribs for Wright himself. That was the main reason for the vast crowd, and beneath the gaiety there was an undertone of apprehension.

A stiff wind caused postponement of the expected trial and all that Wright attempted was a brief flight without a passenger, in order to show the President that the aeroplane really could fly, and to avoid disappointing the great crowd.

With President Taft flanked on either side by Speaker Cannon and Senator Aldrich, looking on the machine which trundled to the foot of the starting derrick in the center of the drill field and poised on the monorial preparatory to the start.

TYPHOID FEVER CAUSED BY BAD POTATOES.

Provincetown, Mass., July 27.—That the recent outbreak of typhoid fever among the men of the battleship fleet was due to bad potatoes was the official verdict, of a naval physician on the supply ship Celtic after a thorough examination. Out of hundreds of barrels of potatoes in the Celtic's store rooms about 60 per cent was condemned.

THE DAILY ROUND UP.

THE FREER LIBERTY.

(By Maurice Smiley)
In times like these God give us minute men
Once more to lead us back to Bunker Hill
And Yorktown—men to set our straying feet
In Valley Forge's reddened prints and bid
Us catch the olden step; bell-ringing men,
To sound again the call that rang across
The green New England hills; the Paul Revers
Of some magnificent alarm, to wake to life
The slumber of these later days that dream
Of Gain, while Tory greed and alien foes
Assail our dearest citadels.

In times
Like these God give us men, not bags of gold,
With feet to trample us and hands to clutch
Our throats, but men, great-hearted men, whose store
Is not a-reck with filchings from the mouths
Of children; men, not money-monsters;
Not auctioneers of honor; patriots, And not Pizarros thirsting with the lust
For lands.

God give us men to write His will
In laws for all alike, not one for rich
And one for Lazarus; not one for him
Who steals a Prince's ransom and for him
Who pilfers loaves another. Give us laws
That have not eyes to watch the tilting scales
Of Justice, one decree for him who sells
His toil and him who loves. God lead us back
To all the fathers' olden paths, wherefrom
We blindly wander in these dollar days
Of ours; back to the faiths our fathers held,
To stern, unswerving goals of honesty.
God give us Independence days again.

IT IS SERIOUS.

Some Santa Fe People Fail to Realize the Seriousness.

The constant aching of a bad back. The weariness, the tired feeling. The pains and aches of kidney ills are serious—if neglected. Dangerous urinary troubles follow. A Santa Fe citizen shows you how to avoid them.

Mrs. Desideria J. de Quintana, College Street, Santa Fe, N. M., says: "Several years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Stripling, Burrows & Co.'s drug store and I was cured of a bad attack of kidney complaint. At that time a statement appeared in the local papers, telling of my experience and I now take pleasure in confirming all that was then said in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills. I had pains in my back that made it difficult for me to stoop and there were other troubles which plainly showed that my kidneys were at fault. Soon after I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills, an improvement was noticeable, and the contents of two boxes restored my kidneys to their normal condition also entirely removing the pain in my back. I am glad to say that during the time that has since passed, my cure has been permanent."

PROGRESS ON PANAMA CANAL

B. Spitz of Albuquerque in Washington on Indian Business—New School for Navajo Indians.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—Substantial progress in canal construction along all lines in shown by reports received at the Washington office of the Isthmian Canal Commission. Excavation work by the Americans approximates 80,000,000 cubic yards, almost as much as the total amount of dirt taken out by the French during the period they were engaged in operations there. Less than 100,000,000 cubic yards of earth remain to be taken out of the ditch, so that that feature of the work to be done at Panama is almost half completed. Col. Goethals has estimated that the great waterway will be completed for the passage of ships by the 1st of January, 1915, so that he has five years and a half to make good his predictions.

Stupendous figures tell the story of the great work at Panama. Four hundred and eighty concrete monoliths had been laid when the north section of the floor of the great dam spillway was completed recently. Thirty thousand cubic yards of concrete were laid in that section. Each monolith is thirty feet long and twenty feet wide. The section, one of three necessary to complete the spillway, is 950 feet long and 300 feet wide. A very satisfactory condition has been found in some excavations in the Mindi hills, between the Batun and Limon bay, where work is being carried on thirty-two feet below sea level. There has been surprisingly little seepage into the excavation since the work below sea level has begun; when it is considered that a dike a few feet thick keeps the water in the old French canal from flowing into the trench, and that the Bay of Limon is within two miles and the Mindi river is within a few hundred yards of the pit.

There is universal comment about the surprisingly high prices of meats at the present retail prices in the local markets. Beef is unusually high, local dealers being told that delayed shipments are due to high water in the west. There is supply to meet the demands, however, at the high prices that are charged. Choice porterhouse steaks readily bring thirty cents a pound, about as much as they ever brought in local markets, and other cuts are correspondingly high.

The Democratic tariff conferees are beginning to take notice. So far they have not had even a look-in. Theirs has been a waiting part. While their Republican colleagues have been wrangling and perspiring over schedules, and occasionally lunching and dining with the president, they have been occupying easy chairs, reading newspapers, and waiting for the verdict.

This is the usual order. The minority does not help shape a conference report. It simply hears the report read in time to make a report of its own on the majority report.

The minority this time need not consume a great deal of time. It is already fully on record. Mr. Clark and his friends in the House paid their respects to the Payne bill when the measure was under discussion there, and Mr. Bailey and his friends in the Senate expressed themselves at length on all the work of the finance committee of that body. So that whether the conference report shows a triumph for either the House or the Senate, or a mixed triumph, Democratic condemnation is certain. The only matter is summing up, and that might very well be done in a day. Still, if two days are desired, why not grant them? What sort of bill the Democrats would have prepared had the responsibility been with them is a most interesting question. They would not have been guided either by the Denver platform of last year, or the Chicago platform of 1892. Both of those deliverances were practically repudiated by them in the debates. The doctrine of free raw materials received a black eye both in the House and Senate. In the Senate Mr. Bailey's speech on the subject was an elaborate one, and we shall hear a good deal about it next year and in 1912.

But nothing that was said afforded material for the general outline of a tariff bill. It was at most criticism of the work of others—some of it very clever criticism, and difficult of reply, but still only criticism. Humor was not absent—as when men who were repudiating the Denver platform were jeering at those they were charging of repudiating the Chicago platform. The pot looked very solemn while remarking on the color of the kettle.

So much was said about the minority about both the Payne bill and the Aldrich amendments to it while the debate was in progress that any repetition on a conference report would be of no interest to the country or value to the Democratic party.

Delegate Andrews accompanied Mr. B. Spitz, of Albuquerque, New Mexico, to the Indian bureau today. After a long conference with the acting commissioner, the chief of the bureau of education, and examining numerous records and documents, a partial compromise and adjustment was the result on the business that Mr. Spitz had with the Indian bureau. Mr. Spitz expects to receive the desired and necessary papers which he wishes and return home tomorrow afternoon. Large new Indian schools will be erected at Fort Defiance, on the Navajo reservation in Arizona.

RANGER SCHOOL ON NATIONAL FOREST

Forty Men From This District Will Be in Attendance—Instruction Along Practical Lines.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 27.—A school for the instruction of forest service rangers will begin September 1 on the Coconino National forest, near Flagstaff, Ariz.

Each of the six districts into which the forest service in the West is divided has provided for the instruction of rangers, but the school to be established by the Albuquerque office is unique in that it is to be located in the forest itself. The schools in the other districts are held at some university, and many of the courses will be given by university instructors, who conduct such work as does not require familiarity with technical forest matters. In the school on the Coconino, instruction will be given entirely by officers of the forest service.

While the courses in theoretical forestry are given careful attention, the greatest stress is put upon instruction along practical lines, such as surveying, estimating timber, mapping, road and trail making, office routine, camp practice and packing, and the men will put into actual practice, under field conditions, the theories and principles taught in the lectures.

The student body of this school will be composed entirely of rangers from the twenty-one national forests in the Southwest. Owing to the pressure of work on the National Forests, only forty rangers can be spared this summer. These men will be detailed in classes of twenty each, one class during September and one during October. The men will have to work extremely hard because of the short time at the disposal of the school and the wide scope of the subjects to be covered.

The school will be under canvas, and will serve as an illustration of a model camp.

A failing tiny nerve—no larger than the finest silken thread—takes from the heart its impulse, its power, its regularity. The stomach also has its hidden, or inside nerve. It was Dr. Shoop who first told us it was wrong to drug a weak or failing stomach. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed straight for the cause of these ailments—these weak and faltering inside nerves. This, no doubt clearly explains why the Restorative has of late grown so rapidly in popularity. Druggists say that those who test the Restorative even for a few days soon become fully convinced of its wonderful merit. Anyway, don't drug the organ. Treating the cause of sickness is the only sensible and successful way. Sold by Stripling-Burrows Co.

DRIVING OUT BLIND TIGERS

Montrose, Colo., July 27.—The first step in a determined campaign to drive the gamblers and bootleggers out of Montrose was taken at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. Sheriff Ed De Guelle and Night Marshal Taylor raided the Caddes rooming house and arrested J. C. Howardson, T. W. Donahoe, D. H. Donegan and Gene Moon. The officers appeared at the door, and pulling their guns, broke the lock and burst into the room. The men surrendered without any resistance. The money, chips and cards were confiscated by the sheriff to be used as evidence.

Since the city election in the spring it has been suspected that a great deal of bootlegging and gambling was going on, and Sheriff De Guelle has been planning the raid for some time. He and Marshal Taylor put in the early part of the night watching the men whom they suspected of gambling and traced them to the rooming house.

Deputy District Attorney John Gray said that this raid was the first of a series that would continue until gambling, bawdy houses and bootlegging was effectively stamped out. He said that the sheriff's office had waited for some time to give the city authorities time to act, but that they had finally decided to take the matter into their own hands.

THE INDIAN DANCE.

On August 4, that is next week, one of the finest Pueblo dances to be witnessed, will take place at Santo Domingo, about forty miles south of Santa Fe. It is a gorgeous spectacle that is worth coming many miles to see and should be witnessed this year by all those who can possibly make the trip, for the Pueblo dance is distinctly a pageant of the past. Even now, at most of the pueblos, crudities are creeping into the ceremony and it is losing its original religious significance. It is, of course, proper that this is so, and still it is to be regretted, despite the iconoclasts who would root up the custom entirely and that without any further loss of time. Be that as it may, the Santo Domingo Corn Dance is one of the unique annual attractions of this part of New Mexico and a sight well worth while a long journey.

As to the attitude of the authorities toward the Indian dance, it is well expressed by former Indian Commissioner Francis Leupp, in a letter published in the June number of the Indian Craftsman:

"I never knew until your letter came what Mr. J.—'s position was on the subject of Indian dances. In some respects I go a little further than he does and in some less far. I believe that the dance, like the blanket, and the bead teggery, and a number of other external features of Indian life, will drop off the race as time goes on and these things are found to be handicaps to a progress which the Indian feels incited to from within. I do not worry my brain in the least about such matters except as they affect something that is important from other than a conventional or artificial point of view. When I have been called upon for my opinion or for a statement of policy, I have laid down these rules with regard to the sun dance and every other dance in which the Indians indulge.

"They must be purged of such barbarities as physical torture; also of patent incinerations; in both these respects I give simply the same rule that every civilized Caucasian government applies to its own people. I also make a point, where the Indians are under an agent's supervision and still wards of the government, of having them confine their dancing to those periods in the year when the dances will not conflict with the work they are doing for self-support. But in this particular I proceed by making an appeal to their reason and common sense, in the first place urging them that the Great Spirit whom they worship will be better pleased with their taking care of their crops and having their dance at some time which will not interfere with that, than by having their crops spoiled and the people going hungry because of their insistence upon a certain arbitrary date. In laying this matter before them, also, I point out the fact that the white man does just the same thing, and holds his religious festivals at times when they will not interfere with the business of supporting himself and his family. Tactful agents, as a rule, have been able to accomplish a great deal by these means without arousing antagonism except on the part of a few scattered agitators.

"While I do not go so far as you quote Mr. J.— as going in his statement to you, and certainly do believe that the Indian is not exempt from the general governmental supervision to which white men have learned their own good to submit, I put whatever authority I may exercise upon precisely the same basis that the non-Indian community now puts its authority upon in the social system to which the Indians are gradually being accustomed and into which they are presently all to be inducted. I have been under constant siege ever since I took office to break up dancing the most persistent advocates of this policy being Indians themselves who have joined the progressive element. But with all I have taken just one position—the one I have indicated to you.

"So far as the dances are an exponent of a religious idea it would be the last purpose of mine to interfere with them. It is only when religion of any sort exceeds the limits of good citizenship that it seems to me that the law has any right to interfere. For the good of the general social system, for example, we whites prohibit the practice of polygamy under the guise of a religious institution. A sect some time ago which persisted in holding dances in which both sexes appeared naked, was suppressed in one of our northern states—at least the performance was suppressed, although the authorities made no attempt, very properly, to interfere with the belief, however peculiar, of the members of the sect. I have stretched the point with regard to cruelties even as far as this—that, if there were a religious significance attached to some of the acts of self-torture, I have no objection to a symbolic action conveying the idea without actual gashings of the body, or whatever form the torture might take.

"To bring the argument home. The religious body known as Christians insist that their members shall follow as far as possible the example of Jesus Christ; and yet, if that extended to the point of offering themselves for crucifixion in the actual physical sense, of course the law would step in and prohibit it very promptly. We prevent persons from committing suicide, or at least we have laws which are supposed to be deterrents. I dare say there are extremists who would urge that a man's life belongs to himself rather than to any one else, and that society has no business to interfere with him if he wishes to sacrifice that life; but we cannot halt on their account.

"I hope I have made the philosophy of my course clear, and I am much obliged to you for calling my attention to this case. I shall take it up in correspondence with the agent to whom you refer, and get his side of the story before acting. Sometimes, as you are doubtless aware, we have to take the first version of a matter which comes to us with some grains of salt. I think this particular agent knows what my policy is, and I shall be surprised if he proves to have taken any such radical steps as indicated in the complaint."

A PROBLEM FOR THE WOMEN.

The trial of the chief of police of Los Angeles on the charge of protecting immorality and vice, is but another instance proving that no city government can be healthy if it tolerates or protects wrong doing. From the protection or licensing of crime there can be no actual advantage. There dare be no compromise between authorities legally constituted and activities that debauch the individual and the community. Many places are learning the lesson in the manner that New York, Chicago and Los Angeles have learned it. In other communities, citizens are being aroused by the terrible effects upon individuals and the breaking up of families and homes by the scarlet sins tolerated by authorities supposed to exist for the very purpose of enforcing not only the direct statute and municipal law but also decency and morality. The greatest wonder always has been that the women of any community, who are always the chief sufferers, will tolerate for one day in silence any city government, or any condition that will permit vice to flaunt itself into the face of young men and young women still uncontaminated or permit it to destroy the peace and happiness of the home. Is it not poetic justice that one after the other of their sex is called upon to suffer, to weep, to go into the depths of despair because of the ravages of vice, because a son, a brother, a husband or a father falls a victim?

Although Las Cruces has four good hotels, two more new ones are to be built. It is one of the signs of growth and progress on part of a community that there are ample provisions for taking care of the visitor and the stranger. Modern hotels are a modern necessity and to a town that bids for the tourist trade they are indispensable. Santa Fe is fortunate in having good facilities, but a hotel especially built for the tourist will not affect adversely the welfare of those hotels already in existence. Yet, at the same time it will prove of great benefit of the city. In fact, it will help to create business for the other hotels, for it will attract many visitors and tourists who would not come to the city otherwise and these will in their wake bring those who will patronize the other hotels.

Perhaps, if the law were such, that the only alternative for Thaw, would be the electric chair, he would not be trying so hard to prove that he is sane. To the mind of the public, Thaw is no more insane than the average criminal or person of depraved mind and habits is insane. It will also be hard to convince the public that insanity was not feigned in order to fool justice and so that this young degenerate might walk to freedom by way of the insane asylum. It is not a healthy spectacle when a murderer who commands the means may bamboozle justice and the law in that manner.

Up in San Juan county, a farmer has just sold his forty acre farm for $12,000 besides keeping the crops on it which are valued at $6,000, his total proceeds, therefore being in the neighborhood of $18,000. Not so many years ago, these forty acres were no different from many a 40 acres on the public land immediately surrounding Santa Fe or inferior to many a forty acre tract in the Santa Fe; Tesuque, Santa Cruz or Rio Grande valleys that can be bought for a song. Possibly ten years of work, possibly less, perhaps, a few years more, have increased the value of the forty acres until they now yield their owner $6,000 a year in crops and are valued at $12,000. This in addition to having furnished him and his family a good living amidst pleasant surroundings at a healthful occupation. How many men in business today are equally as successful? How many a man in politics, loaded down with honors and offices but harassed day after day by political enemies and friends, accumulates as much from his work? Surely to the average man with no high-faloot ambitions but willing to work, forty acres of New Mexico soil with a water right, are a blessing that nothing anywhere else can duplicate.

Albuquerque is reorganizing its militia company and is thus removing a blot from New Mexico for it could be said that the largest and most prosperous city of the commonwealth does not even possess a National Guard company. Clovis and Tucumcari are about to organize companies, and Artesia, Alamogordo and other places have lately done so. Roswell now has two militia organizations. Santa Fe has three and with the success of the present encampment at Las Vegas, it is quite certain that Las Vegas will have another company. It is especially gratifying to know that the Spanish speaking young men are taking hold, that Santa Fe has now a company composed of native young men and that the new company at Las Vegas, also, is to be a company of natives. The Spanish speaking residents of the Territory have been ever to the fore in patriotism, have been ready volunteers in times of peril, and it is quite fitting that they should take an important part in the National Guard organization.

The editor of the Ladies' Home Journal in its last issue devotes considerable space to proving that the fear of lightning is unfounded; that lightning very seldom strikes the human being, and yet, during the present summer, there has not been a week that some one or the other was not killed by lightning in New Mexico. Cases have been reported where lightning struck the same place twelve times in succession within the space of twelve minutes, and it is familiar to sheepmen in New Mexico that lightning will kill from a score to a hundred sheep in one flock during a thunderstorm of ordinary violence and many a sheep herder has found death from lightning stroke. There are certain precautions that can be taken and should be observed, especially while out on the range or in the open, even though Editor Bok poo-pooes the idea that lightning is dangerous and insists that fear of it is groundless.

A forest school for forest rangers in the forest itself is a good idea. Forester Pinchot is to be congratulated upon evolving the plan and putting it into practice in this district. There has been too much theory in the past and not enough practical knowledge. Conditions in western forests under varying conditions of soil, altitude and climate are such that the knowledge from text books or from attending lectures at some eastern or even European forest school will not solve the problems of forest preservation and forest renovation in the West. Nor will it do merely to send out technical men to spend a few days or few weeks at a certain place observing forest growth if permanent results are desired. The forest service must get nearer to the forest to achieve the results it desires to accomplish, and the forest school for rangers at Flagstaff is a step in the direction which must be taken in the future.

It is a healthy sign that the representatives of the people at the national capital will not accept a cut-and-dried program dictated by eastern interests on the tariff. The independence of the western Senators on the question, may not help the cause of statehood much, for it will harden the Senators of the East against admitting New Mexico to be a state and yet, it also makes more determined friends for the cause, who will insist that the territories be admitted and who will force the fight into the last ditch where the Republican party must keep its pledge as to statehood or face inevitable defeat until that pledge is redeemed. No party can succeed nationally at the polls without the West.

The Fourth Ward does not yet have its modern school house which it should have had many moons ago, but there is no need of losing hope or faith. The school house is coming some day—not yet but soon.

With coyotes being slain in the suburbs of Albuquerque and wild cats in Santa Fe corals, it does not seem as if the wild and woolly west has passed altogether.

AN OLD MAN'S LESSON

We met an old man today who is dependent on his relatives, and they don't like the enforced task of taking care of him. "Had I saved 10 cents a day during my younger years," said he, "I would have been independent. I might have saved a dollar a day during all my working career and not stinted myself in the least" (Atchison Globe)

The above is only one of many reasons why a SAVINGS ACCOUNT is a good thing both for youth and old age."

ANTI DIAZ RIOTS
AT GUADALAJARA

Mob Dispersed by Hall Storm But Only After Many Policemen Were Wounded.

City of Mexico, July 27.—Two dead, 20 injured and more than 200 arrested from the result of political riots in Guadalajara yesterday, according to reports received here. The riots started when a mob broke up a meeting in Delgado theatre, called in the interest of Porfirio Diaz, the president, and Ramon Corral, vice-president, for re-election. The orators were stoned in the street cars, carriages and automobiles in which they rode.

Mobs paraded the streets, crying "down with Diaz." "We want Reyes." A barricade was erected and many shots were exchanged. Eight policemen were wounded.

The Diaz orators were escorted to the railway station by a cordon of mounted police and the Tenth regiment of infantry. Luis Rojas, a prominent Diaz adherent and a well known lawyer, was among the wounded.

The police charged the crowd repeatedly, but were repulsed. State troops were called out and a number of volleys were fired in the air without effect. Some members of the mob erected a barricade and shots were exchanged between them and the soldiers.

Considerable American property was destroyed and two Americans wounded. The Americans have asked the American consulate for protection.

The Hotel Garcia, which was wrecked by the mob, was leased by an American and he has put in a claim for damages.

W. Hinton, an American who was wounded, was a guest at the hotel and just before it was stoned he is said to have stepped to a balcony and fired his revolver in the air in an attempt to disperse the crowd. A. Murphy, the other American injured, was cut by a policeman's saber.

A heavy hailstorm eventually dispersed the mob, which had taken up a position in the Plaza de Armas after breaking up all the benches and the band stand.

American Consul Demands Damages. Mexico City, July 27.—It is reported that six are dead and 35 wounded as the result of the political riots on Sunday at Guadalajara, the capitol of the state of Jalisco. Samuel Magill, the American consul, presented a formal claim for injuries sustained by an American. The city is reported quiet today.

BLOOD POISON CAUSES DEATH.

Fred is dead. Fred was not a human being. He was only a horse but nevertheless his untimely death is sincerely mourned, particularly so by his owner C. J. Bacon, the local ice man. For the past twelve years Fred never missed even a single day but regularly pulled about the town the heavily laden ice wagon that supplied Bacon's many customers. Nearly every one knew the horse, having seen it so frequently.

Some time ago it became lame in one leg, gravel having gotten into the hoof. Later this developed into blood poison and last night about 7 o'clock, the animal succumbed.

NATIONAL INDIAN
WAR VETERANS

Have Formed an Organization to Obtain Pensions for All Those Who Served Against Red Men.

The National Indian War Veterans, an organization formed in Denver, Colo., has for its object, to obtain pensions for all those who, while serving the government, contributed their share to open for peaceful settlement this great western country.

These men as a rule are old and feeble, by reason of endured hardships and privations, unable to perform manual labor and on account of age barred from obtaining suitable employment.

A government which through its liberality to its veterans of other wars, to its educational institutions and its farmers, ranks as the very first in the civilized world, should surely not hesitate to give to this limited number of surviving war veterans, enough to allow them at least a living for their few remaining days.

These men spent some of the best years of their lives in their country's service, opening up this great western empire, fighting under such noted leaders as Custer, Merritt, Crook, Miles, Forsyth, Carson, McKenzie and others, and should in their last days receive government recognition.

All those eligible to membership in this organization should send their application to the national secretary and treasurer, C. R. Hauser, 1643 Market street, Denver, Colo., when they will receive further information.

I consider it one of the best medicines of its kind in the world, and had I used it in 1902 believe it would have saved me a hundred dollar doctor's bill. Sold by all druggists."

MOTHER'S FRIENDROAD FROM LAS VEGAS TO MORA

Governor Curry Finds it in Fairly Good Condition—Starts for Springer and Raton.

Las Vegas Optic.
Governor Curry, accompanied by Captain D. J. Leahy, S. B. Davis, Jr., E. L. Reynolds, Dr. H. M. Smith, D. T. Hoskins, William Harper, M. M. Padgett, J. S. Clark and Secundino Romero, made a trip to the town of Mora yesterday. The trip was made in three large automobiles and was without mishap. The party left at about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, reaching the county seat town at 1 p. m., and after spending several hours there, started on the return journey, arriving in Las Vegas at 9 p. m. The party was not caught in the heavy rain storm of yesterday morning, but found the roads quite muddy when about half way back on the trip home.

Favors Mora Road.

Governor Curry was interviewed by an Optic representative at the Castaneda hotel this morning relative to the trip. He said that the Mora road was in very good condition, but that here and there it needed repairing, which would put it in first-class condition for heavy traffic of all kinds. When asked if he thought that El Camino Real from Raton to the south boundary of the Territory should be routed via Mora, he answered that this was a matter for the Good Roads Commission to decide, and as he had not yet consulted with the members of the commission about the road, he could not make a definite statement. However, the governor is known to personally favor the routing of this north and south territorial highway via Mora instead of by way of Springer and Watrous.

The Mora road, which is about thirty miles in length, is probably the heaviest traveled of any road of similar length in New Mexico. This is a point in its favor, for Springer and Watrous are on the Santa Fe railway and hence have easy access to both this city and Raton. With the people of Mora and its vicinity this is not true, for they are far removed from rail facilities and the building of this road via Mora would give them an outlet for their products, which while not as good as a railroad, would be a means of transportation far better than they now have.

Goes to Springer.

This afternoon on No. 10, the governor left for Springer, where this evening he will meet with the board of regents of the territorial reform school, when the board will formally organize. This will be the first step towards the early opening of the reform school there which will follow a proclamation by the executive. This school has long been a necessary adjunct to the Territory's penal institution, the penitentiary. Heretofore boys under the age of 18 convicted of felonies, have been sent to the penitentiary to serve their sentences, because there was no place else to send them. When the reform school is opened they will be sent there and those now in the penitentiary will be transferred there. They will be taught trades and will assist in taking care of the farm, which will be operated in connection with the reform school.

From Springer the governor will go to Raton, then to Cimarron and the coal camps of Colfax county, where he will make a thorough inspection of conditions in northeastern New Mexico. While at Raton, the executive will also improve the opportunity to inspect the work being done on the Scenic Highway.

Most of the trip over Colfax county will be made in the territorial good roads' automobile, which left here this morning at 7 o'clock in charge of Territorial Engineer Vernon L. Sullivan and Land Commissioner Robert P. Ervien. They expected to reach Springer tonight, where the governor will be met and the trip to Raton will be made in the machine, providing accidents do not put it out of commission, as was the case on its first trip. However, since then the big auto has been undergoing a course of treatment at the local garage, and may weather the trip without mishap this time.

No Convicts Available.

As was stated in the Optic Saturday, the governor was taken for a trip up the Scenic Highway as far as the Hot Springs. This was for the purpose of showing him the work that was necessary to place this piece of scenic roadway in such condition as would make it a permanent highway. When asked today if a detail of convicts from the penitentiary would be sent here to place the road in good shape, the governor said that just now the convicts available for road work were all engaged at other points and that for the present this could not be done. It is believed that in the fall a detail will be sent here to work the road in the canon.

Help for Those Who Have Stomach Trouble.

After doctoring for about twelve years for a bad stomach trouble, and nearly five hundred dollars for medicine and doctors' fees, I purchased my wife one box of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, which did her so much good that she continued to use them and they have done her more good than all of the medicine I bought before.—Samuel Boyer, Folsom, Iowa. This medicine is for sale by all druggists. Sample free.

AS SEEN THROUGH A VISITOR'S EYES

Vivid Description of Some of Santa Fe's Manifold Attractions and Sights.

The Fremont, Ohio, Daily Journal, in a recent issue contains the following Santa Fe letter from Hon. Thomas McSheehy who was a recent visitor in this city:

The News today takes pleasure in printing another interesting and entertaining article from the pen of Hon. Thomas McSheehy, who recently spent several months in the South, well knowing that the letter will be appreciated by our many readers. Mr. McSheehy writes:

Editor Daily News: Having received several letters from the readers of the News prior to my leaving Santa Fe containing the pleasing information that they read with interest and pleasure my former letters to the News on New Mexico and earnestly requesting me to write another on the same subject, I have concluded to do so. This conclusion wasn't reached, however, until after I arrived home. I mentioned in my former letters that neither time nor space would permit me to go into details such as I would wish in treating this subject, as it would require volumes to do justice to any one of the topics alluded to, and I can only repeat that statement now. But I will try and say something about the "Sights of Santa Fe," not heretofore mentioned.

The Plaza, or large square or park, is located in the heart of the city and is under the care of "The Woman's Board of Trade." Here Onate camped and set up the banner of Spain in 1598. Here the Pueblos in 1680 burned the archives and historical records of the Province. Here Governor DeVargas halted in triumph after taking the city from the Pueblos in 1692, an account of which victory I gave in my last letter. Here General Kearny planted the glorious stars and stripes in 1846, and most of the thrilling historical and gala events for the past three hundred years have occurred here.

The old adobe palace, is without doubt, the oldest government building in the United States. The date of its construction being variously estimated at from 1598 to 1607. It has been occupied as an executive building by governors under the Spanish, the Pueblo, the Mexican and the American regime, and is even now occupied as a residence by the present governor. The Daughters of the American Revolution have their headquarters here, and it was in one of the rooms of this old palace where General Lew Wallace wrote his famous book Ben Hur. The Historical Society Museum is also located in the old palace building. It contains the collection of New Mexico's antiquities and the most complete library of books relating to the history of the southwest to be found in the United States outside the Congressional Library at Washington. In my former letters I referred to the Soldiers' monument, the Lamy fountain and the Kearny monument, all in the Plaza. The Masonic building and hall, located on the south side of the Plaza, is occupied by the oldest lodge of Masons in the Southwest. There are many interesting historic relics in the lodge room. Kit Carson was a member of this lodge. The Fonda (now the Exchange Hotel) at the southeast corner of the Plaza, is the end of the celebrated Santa Fe trail. There are few Americans who haven't read or heard of the famous Santa Fe trail and the experiences, trials, hardships, endurance and even "hold-ups" of the stage on its way westward over this trail.

The Public Library, which is another five minutes walk from the Plaza, was built and is maintained by the "Woman's Board of Trade." The Federal building, which is one of the most modern and complete at the historic capital of New Mexico, is built of grey stone. It is the headquarters of the federal land office, internal revenue service for Arizona and New Mexico, surveyor general, weather bureau, forest supervisor of Pecos, Jemez and Taos national forests, the U. S. attorney for the Pueblo Indians and other federal offices. The Kit Carson monument is located in front of this building.

The following prominent institutions are located on Palace avenue, which is the principal residential street of Santa Fe: The court house, St. Vincent's Sanitarium conducted by the Sisters of Charity, the order founded by Mother Seton, and the members of which community are commonly known as the Black Caps. These sisters have charge of St. Vincent's hospital and St. Vincent's orphan's home. The Diaz Sanitarium on the corner of Water street and Don Gaspar avenue is also worthy of a visit. The Loretto Academy for girls is not only the leading educational institution of learning for girls at Santa Fe, but it is also the oldest west of the Missouri river. There is a quaint old cemetery in the rear.

The Loretto chapel on College street is one of the most perfect specimens of Gothic architecture in America. It was built from a design by the French architects. As I have given a brief history of the churches in my former letters, I will make no mention of them in this.

The archbishop's residence on Cathedral street is one of the imposing edifices at Santa Fe, but, strange to say, the present archbishop does not occupy it. He lives in an adobe in the rear of the bishop's palace. In the rear of his adobe is located the Bishop's Garden, one of the most beautiful spots in Santa Fe, with its artificial lakes, swan, beautiful flowers, islands, etc. We had our pictures taken with the archbishop in these gardens. As I devoted some space to the schools at Santa Fe in my former letters, I will only mention one or two which were not specifically mentioned heretofore. St. Catharine's Indian Industrial school, in charge of the Ladies of the Blessed Sacrament, is located about a mile from Santa Fe and near the historic Rosario or De Vargas church and cemetery. The building is located on an eminence commanding a splendid view of Santa Fe and the surrounding mountains and valleys. It is as imposing as well as an ancient looking structure. It is four stories in height with basement. Its grey walls can be seen for miles. The visitor is required to climb an outside stairway which leads to the main hall door in the second story and here a printed notice meets his gaze which reads: "Please pull the bell rope three times and some one will answer your call." We obeyed instructions and sure enough some one did answer our call. One of the sweetest faced nuns I ever saw. She was certainly very refined and highly educated. I learned afterwards she hailed from Philadelphia. Our sister guide spared no pains in showing us through this celebrated industrial and educational institution. Here we found about one hundred and seventy-five Indian children attending school and learning to make clothes. The boys attend school and also learn the tailor's trade at this institution. It was an amusing sight to see the little Indian boys (some of whom were not more than nine or ten years of age) working at vest making, sitting on large tables with their legs crossed (tailor fashion) sewing away for dear life. The girls, too, are taught to sew and make their own clothes, also embroidery and drawn work. The great majority of these Indian children hail from the surrounding country. Nearly all are Pueblos, but here and there a Navajo, a Comanche and an Apache was pointed out to us. There are a few colored children attending this school also.

The order of the Ladies of the Blessed Sacrament was founded by Miss Drexel, the millionaire Philadelphia lady, about twenty years ago. Mather Drexel has given her entire fortune to works of charity. She has endowed the American Catholic university at Washington and several other Catholic institutions. I asked the kind nun whether the national or territorial government appropriated any money for the support of this most interesting, useful and prominent institution, and she answered "Not a cent." I then said, "Well, Sister, you don't mean that Mother Drexel supports this establishment exclusively?" when she smilingly answered "Indeed she does, and several similar." We were escorted into the class or school rooms and the nun in charge asked these little Indian children to sing for us. They responded without any hesitancy and I think the others in our party will agree with me that their singing was faultless. They selected some Latin hymns which are usually sung at the mass. Imagine my surprise on hearing it announced at the cathedral on the following Sunday that the Indian children from St. Catherine's Indian Industrial school would sing the high mass at the cathedral on "Ascension Thursday." We attended this mass and were delighted with the Indian children's singing. They sang like old veterans who had been excellently well trained. What a debt of gratitude our country owes Miss Drexel and the members of her order in the training and teaching of these children of the savage without one cent expense to either our national government or the territorial government at New Mexico. This is surely God's work and the only compensation these poor sisters receive outside their board and clothes is the consolation in the thought that their work among these poor Indian and negro children will entitle them to eternal reward.

Among the many other interesting sights in and about Santa Fe may be mentioned Fort Marcy, which is within thirty minutes walk of the Plaza. Fort Marcy is the ruins of an old fort on a hill overlooking Santa Fe from the north side. This old fort has an elevation of 229 feet above the Plaza. It commands a fine view of the city and surrounding country. President Roosevelt admired this spot more than he did any of the other sights and scenes in and around Santa Fe. The Perez monument on the Aqua Fria road marks the spot where Governor Perez was assassinated by Santa Domingo Indians August 3, 1837.

The Rosario chapel, of which I spoke in my former letter, is in this vicinity. This was the church or chapel, that DeVargas had built in commemoration of his retaking the city of Santa Fe from the Pueblo Indians in 1692. The National cemetery is also located near here. It, too, commands a splendid view of the city and surroundings as it is situated on the side of a high mountain. This is the burial place of veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Indian wars and is the only National cemetery in New Mexico and Arizona. Upon the gravesites in this cemetery may be read many names of the warriors famous in Southwestern history. The St. Catherine's Indian Industrial school, of which mention has heretofore been made, is located directly opposite this cemetery. The United States Indian Industrial Training school, a substantial brick and stone three-story structure, is located about a mile south of the city. This is one of the largest federal Indian schools in the United States with an attendance of 400 pupils representing a score of tribes. The deaf and dumb school of the territory is also located near this Indian school and the building look very much alike, being about the same size and constructed of the same kind of material, pressed brick and stone. The penitentiary, of which I spoke at length in one of my former letters, is also located in the vicinity of the two last named institutions. It is constructed of grey stone, however, and is in marked contrast with the other buildings referred to. There is still another cemetery near Santa Fe which is known as Fairview and is in charge of the Woman's Board of Trade. At the entrance there are two large wrought iron gates which were brought overland on the romantic and historic Santa Fe trail in 1854 for the Masonic cemetery. In Masonic plot are buried a number of the distinguished military officers and prominent residents of the territory, and adjoining this is the Odd Fellows cemetery, which is also well cared for.

One of the most interesting drives we took while at Santa Fe was up the Talaya mountains, at the foot of which is located one of the best tuberculosis sanitariums in this section of the country. It is known as the Sunmount Tent City, and its name is indeed appropriate. There are over one hundred tents in this place and each tent is occupied by some poor unfortunate human being who is trying to prolong life by living in the open air as much as possible. To one in robust health visiting this place a feeling of pity and sadness is experienced as he gazes on suffering humanity, and yet the inhabitants of this place seem happy and contented. We could see them taking brisk walks in front of their tents which are arranged in rows, each tent being about ten feet apart. Our government is doing all in its power to stamp out this white plague and the problem seems to be at least partly solved, as pure air in a high altitude seems to have prolonged the life of consumptives more than anything else. Sunmount Tent City is laid out like any other city, with its streets, alleys, sidewalks, etc. These tented cities are a Godsend to those suffering from lung trouble. It is said that there have been a larger per cent of permanent cures of consumption in these tented cities than in all the hospitals in the country and the reason assigned is that the tuberculosis germ cannot live in a high altitude where there is light and pure air and sunshine nearly every day.

In this drive into the Talaya mountains we visited the largest reservoir near Santa Fe and where the city gets its water supply. This reservoir is about three miles from the city and at the mouth of the Santa Fe canon and forms a considerable lake. We also saw several mineral springs on this drive, the principal one being the Aztec springs, four miles from the city, near which is located the ruins of an old hotel, fashionable in the days of Santa Fe's military glory. We had now reached the summit or near the highest point, being over 9,000 feet above sea level, where we expected to take our lunch in the open air as we had provided ourselves with well filled baskets, expecting to have a picnic on the mountain side, but owing to the chilly air which prevailed at the time we were compelled to change our well arranged program. Our driver suggested that we had better eat our lunch in doors and as he knew the gentleman who lived in the vicinity, we drove to the man's house and imagine our surprise on being met with a warm welcome by this Spanish family. Why, we were treated like some royal personages. Nothing seemed to be a trouble to Mrs. Martinez and her son who not only allowed us the use of their house wherein to eat our lunch, but who prepared some other articles of food and set a table for us with their choicest linen, silver, etc., and didn't want to take any compensation for all the trouble they had taken. This only illustrates the hospitality of the Mexicans. We learned that Mr. Martinez had been a member of the legislature of New Mexico.

The Bishop's ranch and private chapel of the late archbishop Lamy is located in the vicinity of the ruins of the hotel referred to. We drove to the mouth of the Small Box canon on Bishop's creek which is located in the heart of these mountains amidst the tall pines and spruce. There is a good wagon road to the bottom of the canon, along which are various mines, silver, zinc, copper, gold, coal, mica, etc., are found in these mines in large quantities. Arroyo Hondo, south of Santa Fe, is the largest tributary of the Rio Santa Fe. It has a beautiful canon and on its banks are situated several pueblos, the remains of prehistoric Pueblo villages, upon which are scattered fragments of ancient pottery and where excavations have brought forth many interesting relics. The celebrated Tesuque valley is located about six miles north of Santa Fe. This was another magnificent drive, and I believe I may add the most picturesque and interesting of all. The valley is dotted with lovely orchards and prosperous homes. Speaking of the orchards, by the way, the late frosts (which have visited that country now regularly during the past four years) have played havoc with the fruit. There was a heavy frost on April 29, (while we were there) and the result was that thousands and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of fruit was destroyed. New Mexico has its drawbacks as well as other places and this is one of them. You will pardon this digression, so returning again to Tesuque valley. It is reached by a fine driveway that offers superb views of the mountains and valleys and on a clear day one can see a distance of 150 miles. The day we made this drive was all that could be desired as far as the weather was concerned. We visited the Tesuque Pueblo Indian village and here a scene met our gaze that one shall not soon forget. This Indian Pueblo is about nine miles from Santa Fe and about three miles from the Tesuque fruit farm valley, spoken of. The first thing we knew the driver of our carriage turned abruptly off the main road and in a short time we found ourselves in a court yard about the size of the court house park. On all four sides are two tiers of adobe houses, all one story in height. There are about forty of these houses on the lower or ground floor, and an equal number in the upper, making eighty in all. And as the size of an Indian's family averages about six, there are perhaps about 500 inhabitants in this village. We were told that we had to first pay our respects to the governor of this Pueblo who is the chief or high ranger of the tribe. We were introduced to this most important personage by our driver who, by the way, spoke Spanish and the Indian dialect fluently. While we were engaged with the "governor" in conversation, a crowd of little papooses formed in line at the entrance of his adobe wigwam.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

Over Thirty-Five Years.

In 1873 there was a great deal of diarrhoea, dysentery and cholera infantum. It was at this time that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was first brought into use. It proved more successful than any other remedy or treatment, and has for thirty-five years maintained that record. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to every part of the United States and to many foreign countries. Nine druggists out of ten will recommend it when their opinion is asked, although they have other medicines that pay them a greater profit. It can always be depended upon, even in the most severe and dangerous cases. For sale by all druggists.

YOUTHFUL DEPRAVITY IN DENVER

Denver, Colo., July 27.—The youngest boys ever arrested on a burglary charge in the history of the Denver police department were taken in tow
when Officer Brick stood at a window of the industrial building of the Salvation Army at 1233 Larimer street and captured a quartet of boys ranging in ages from 5 to 7 years. The boys carried among them a large quantity of articles, including crutches, a small sewing machine and boxes containing sewing outfits. They were taken to police headquarters and were later released to appear this morning in police court, when they will be given a hearing. Brick had been told that four boys were kicking in a window of the building, through which the four of them are said to have entered. Later two of them stood outside to receive the stuff passed to them by the remaining two. Concealing himself, the officer awaited until all of them stood outside of the window, when he arrested them.
When taken to the station they gave the names of Ralph Stevenson, aged 5; Louie Schwartz, aged 7; Jacob Chenokowitz, aged 5, and Charles Moskowitz, aged 6. All of them live in the vicinity of the Salvation Army headquarters.

TO DEVELOP GOLD MINES

Owners of the Little Mack Group Near White Oaks Expect to Start Work.

This afternoon Colonel George W.
Prichard left for Alamogordo on legal business and incidentally will make a trip to White Oaks from whence he will proceed to his mining properties which are located in that neighborhood. The colonel owns the larger portion of the group and has part interest in the rest. The group is composed of the Comstock, Rip Van Winkle, the Thunderer and the Little Mack claims. Each is recognized as a valuable producer of gold,
some of the pockets of the mines yielding mineral that assays almost fabulously. The general run of these mines, however, averages about twenty-five dollars to the ton.

Colonel Prichard will make a thorough inspection of the properties while there with a view to having work started as soon as possible. The district in which the mines are located is regarded as being very valuable and as soon as work is started, excellent results are anticipated.

Will Fight to Retain Water.

While in Alamogordo Colonel Prichard will argue a motion that has been made by the Oro Grande Smelting Company in which the latter seek to amend a former decree regarding certain water rights of the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company. The original decree was rendered in December 1908, and permits the Oro Grande Smelting Company to take a certain amount of water from the streams included in the water rights of the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Co. but only for power and manufacturing purposes. The motion now to be argued before Judge Cooley at Alamogordo seeks to modify the decree so as to give the Orogrande Smelting Company the right to use the waters also for irrigation purposes. This the Sacramento Valley Irrigation Company will not hear of as it would be injurious to their projects and Colonel Prichard as the legal representative of the company will resist the petition of the Orogrande Smelting Company.

CLUB LIFE AND DRUNKARDS

Denver Stirred By a Sensational Sermon Delivered By the Pastor of Grace Methodist Church.

Denver, Colo., July 27.—Statements that men become hopeless drunkards
in the Denver club, made by the Rev.
Christian F. Reiser in a sermon delivered at Grace Methodist Episcopal church, have stirred officers and members of the most exclusive and substantial social organization.

In the course of his sermon Dr.
Reiser said:
"Many smiling faces in Denver hide sobbing hearts. Happiness requiring the flowing bowl has a hellish goal.
"Indescribable agony is endured in many homes rather than permit the public to know the real conditions. It takes courage to resist custom. Men become hopeless drunkards in the Denver club rather than admit weakness by resigning.

"Little habits grow. A respected father plead with me not to expose his daughter, who begged in the name of the church and used the money to buy opium. Women almost sell their souls to get the privilege of going in the social whirl. How many politicians belong to great corporations who bought them with nominations and campaign expenses!

"Girls are now in the underworld
who imagined that they could buy happiness with their virtue. The graves are full of suicides who endeavored to purchase joy with the sale of honor."

TALENTED GIRLS ENTERTAIN WELL

The Musical Performance at the Elks' Opera House Was indeed a Treat.

Before a well filled house, the Hilton Trio last night gave their performance and succeeded in fully living up to their reputation. The program which consisted of classical numbers was a very delightful one, keeping the audience well entertained and not in the least tiring them. The appreciation of those present was time and again made manifest by outbursts of genuine and enthusiastic applause and encores were called for after each number. In the playing of extra numbers, the young ladies composing the Trio were generous, this delighting the audience all the more.
Miss Hilton as a violinist, astonished her hearers, her technique being admirable and her playing in general indicating that her musical training is of the highest standard. Miss Head, whose contralto voice has a most pleasing ring to it and which has both volume and resonance, also showed very careful and successful training. Her songs made quite an impression. Miss Chapman brought forth storms of applause by her splendid performance on the piano.
She appeared to possess absolute mastery of the instrument and the shading of the tones she brought forth was exquisite.

All in all the Hilton Trio is one of the best, if not the best concert aggregation that has played in Santa Fe. In fact the people of Santa Fe are entitled to just such high grade entertainments and it behooves the management of the Elks' opera house
to make the bookings.

AMARILLO GIRLS CAPTURE SPOKANE

Incidentally Tell Tenderfoot Reporter
Something About Roping Steers
and Lone Star State.

Spokane, Wash., July 27.—"See Vera Beard and Cordella Reeder of Amarillo, Texas; notary's office, Exchange National bank building. Seven hundred and photos."

"Charlie" Hart, city editor of the Spokesman-Review, wrote the name of the newest recruit, a recent arrival from Boston, opposite the foregoing entry in the big book.

"Chance for a 'live' story there," quoth Hart, as the Bostonian copied
the assignment and armed himself
with several nicely pointed pencils,
a bunch of copy paper and a quick-action camera.

"I shall endeavor to do justice to the subject," said the youth as he sallied forth.

H. L. Moody, a pioneer of the Spokane country, in whose office the interview took place, was obliging and stopped his work of registering applicants for homesteads in the Spokane Indian reservation to present
the "journalist."

The trio talked for an hour, after which the man from the east end of the continent returned to the office.
Just before midnight he turned in his "story." It caught the second edition. Here it is:

"She didn't look like a typical 'cowgirl' as she sat in a notary's office in the Exchange bank building yesterday afternoon. Neither did her companion. Anyway, she wasn't like the 'cowgirls' that are 'presented' on the stage. And she wasn't slinky and didn't chew gum or pinch snuff."

"Her hat took the latest coal scutle or peach basket curves. There was no leather belt around her waist. The red bandanna was missing from her neck and as for chaps—
but those are strictly male attire,
even in the cow puncher's habitat."

"One was hardly prepared after a hasty scan of the young woman's correct apparel to learn that they were from Amarillo. Amarillo is known as the heart of the cattle country in the Texas panhandle, and not a man, woman or child in the city but could lasso a 'jar' fly from the top of a telephone pole. But that was in the olden days. The 'cowgirl' is authority for the statement that the panhandle metropolis could give Spokane some points about paying and civic improvements. This, by the way, is going some."

"Yes, we came 4,000 miles to register," she said with a smile that would have stopped a stampede of longhorns. "That's my name there,"
and she pointed to 'Vera Beard' on the notary's book.

"This is her's" nodding at her companion and pointing to 'Cordella Reeder' on the register.

"There's plenty of land in Texas,
and it can be bought for a song. Why are you coming so far?"

"The young women exchanged glances, each waiting for the other to explain.
"Well, you see, it's like this," said Miss Beard. "I've punched cattle in every county in Texas from Brazos to Navidad and I was born under a cotton stalk. But I got restless and wanted a change. Dad says I have a roving disposition and maybe he's right."

"Would you live on a ranch alone
if you got a good one?"

"Don't worry about that. I've slept on a saddle forty seven miles from camp and heard the coyotes howl too many times to be too chicken-hearted to bunk in a cabin. That's easy."

"She can 'rope' the wildest steer in Texas and tie him in 50 seconds," chipped in Miss Reeder.

"Can throw a loop over their horns every time. I suppose," the interviewer ventured.

"Both let out a peal of laughter.
The interviewer, not knowing that he had said 'anything' humorous, waited for an explanation.

"The feet, you goosy," Miss Reeder
er finally said.

"The reporter looked at his feet,
but still did not understand. He then looked at the girl's neatly shod feet, but still failed to comprehend. The young women looked in his blank face and laughed louder than before.
"Finally he was made to understand that steers that are lassoed on record time have their feet entangled in the rope, and not their horns.
"It should be explained that the young women did not seem to have

'lasso' in their vocabulary. 'Rope' did service as both noun and verb. After this break the interviewer did not attempt to conceal the fact that he is a tenderfoot.

"It may seem a little queer to be in the timber," admitted Miss Beard,
"yet there was lots of timber on the Brazos."

"I like this town," volunteered Miss Reeder, "and I hope we get a good ranch on the St. Joe and we'll spend Sunday here every week."

"Picture? Now you don't suppose I carry my latest photograph in my knapsack do you? No, we won't pose, either. We're going to Coeur d'Alene,
Idaho, tonight. Say, if we get Nos.
1 and 2 in the drawing, we'll dig up a picture for you."
