MUNICIPAL ELECTION

COLORADO COMBINATIONS WON.

Denver, April 5.—The Democratic city ticket, except clerk and treasurer, and several aldermen, was elected by pluralities of from 1,000 to 2,000. The mayor-elect is Henry V. Johnson, United States district attorney during Cleveland's second term. The successful candidates for clerk and treasurer were on both Republican and Democratic independent tickets. The winning Democrats ran on practically the same platform as Mayor McMurray, declaring unequivocally for municipal ownership of public utilities.

In Pueblo George F. West, Democrat, was elected mayor.

In Colorado Springs Dr. John R. Robinson, a Republican, was elected; Cripple Creek, E. P. Arthur, Silver Republican; Victor, W. J. Donnelly, Populist; Trinidad, F. R. Wood, Republican; Leadville, J. F. McDonald, Silver Republican.

CARTER HARRISON CHICAGO'S MAYOR.

Chicago, April 5.—The official count of yesterday's election for mayor in this city is as follows: Harrison, Democrat, 149,158; Carter, Republican, 107,225; Altgeld, Independent Democrat, 45,533. Harrison's plurality, 41,933. Thomas Gahan, Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, said today: "Harrison is the choice of the people because of his gallant fight against corporate influence. Altgeld is dead, and will never be resuscitated." Harrison's nomination for governor is already talked of by friends.

City Clerk Loeffler, Democrat, ran second to Mayor Harrison, receiving a plurality of 16,966. The rest of the Democratic ticket was successful by largely reduced pluralities. The new city council, composed of 34 Democrats, 33 Republicans, and one independent Republican, is said to be the best Chicago has had for a decade. Of 68 members, 47 stand pledged for methods favored by the reform organization known as the municipal voters' league.

OF COURSE DEWEY GOT THERE.

"Things Ill Gotten Are Ill Spent."

This is true of the man whose physical condition has forced him to call upon his nerves to make good the depletion of the rest of his system. The overdrawn business man is overdrawn because he lacks proper capital. The capital of the physical man is pure, wholesome, life-giving blood.

Make this capital for yourself and do not overdraw. The best blood-giving banker is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It lends and gives interest, too. You cannot beat that. If your physical bank account is low, see what this banker will do for you. It never disappoints.

Rheumatism.—A few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla entirely cured my sufferings from rheumatism. Later on it stopped dyspepsia from which I suffered intensely. I can eat anything now." Wm. A. Bockley, 344 Summer St., East Boston, Mass.

Indigestion.—"I now have a good appetite, eat well, sleep well and my dyspepsia and indigestion have left me. The reason I took Hood's Sarsaparilla which entirely cured me. I am Baggage Master on the B. & O. Railroad." THOMAS COLLS, 110 Carr St., Sandusky, Ohio.

Blood Poison.—"At 121 I had bone disease and used crutches. Doctor prescribed and wanted to scrape it. My grandfather gave me Hood's Sarsaparilla. After taking four bottles I threw away crutches, am well and go to school." CHARLES CAMPBELL, 1616 Ontario Ave., Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Harrison will also make a speech. IT IS BOUND TO BOOM.
Santa Rita Copper Mines Continue to Attract Attention, and Outside Parties Are Seeking Options There—Heavy Investments Forthcoming.

The following interesting article about the Santa Rita copper country from the Denver Republican will be read with interest in this territory:

"John E. Phillips returned yesterday from Silver City and the Santa Rita copper district of New Mexico. J. R. McKinnin, of the Moon-Anchorage company, of Cripple Creek, accompanied Mr. Phillips on the trip, and they succeeded in securing an option on some desirable copper claims adjoining the Santa Rita company's property.

"This district," said Mr. Phillips, "is one of the oldest in the country, and the Santa Rita mines have a record of production for more than 100 years. At present the property is owned by J. Parker Whitney, of Boston, one of the early pioneers of Colorado. The property is being worked in a desultory manner by lessees, most of them Mexicans who have no conception of modern mining methods. The deepest shaft on the property is only down 200 feet, and the timbers are falling in so that it is not worked. Most of the lessees are working in shallow holes. They sort out the ore by hand and then pack it on jacks to the smelter at Silver City, which is owned by the Hearst estate. They are thriftless and improvident, and make a bare living on a property that, if properly developed and operated, would make a rich return.

"Experts are now on the ground making examinations, with the view of a sale of this immense estate to the Standard Oil people for $1,500,000. The property has an area of about a mile and a half square, and is undoubtedly capable of producing large quantities of copper ore in the future, as it has in the past. Much of the ore is in red and black oxide, with considerable quantities of copper glance that will yield a high percentage of metallic copper.

"Adjoining this copper deposit there are immense manganese iron beds that have recently been leased to the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, which has men on the ground laying tracks preparatory to heavy shipments of iron ore to the steel works at Pueblo.

"Santa Rita is the end of a branch of the Santa Fe system, something more than 1,000 miles from Denver, but ore shippers get a rate of 84 per ton to this city. The Colorado Fuel and Iron company expects to ship from 200 to 300 tons of iron ore per day to Pueblo."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3.

Michigan scored all right yesterday by giving a good Republican majority.

The New York Sun wants the name Pacific ocean changed to American ocean. Approved.

There will be a hot time in the old town when Uncle Sam's $20,000,000 check is cashed in Madrid.

What's the matter with making the next Democratic ticket Bryan and Aguinaldo? If not, why not?

There are but a dozen of the Samoan isles. The United States has taken 1,200, and might as well take Samoa.

Rear Admiral Kautz, in command of the American forces in Samoa, has a sort of a German name, but he certainly shot like a good American, and shot straight.

New Mexico has expanded with a vengeance. According to a late decision of the land office, published today, Union county's lines include 84 square miles of land that has been held by Oklahoma.

The United States forces in Luzon are very sorry that for a while they will not have much more rabbit hunting, as they call their brushes with the great and noble Filipinos. But then a good thing cannot last forever.

The Boston Herald gravely announces that in its lofty opinion President McKinley's visit to Thomasville, Ga., for a few days' rest was not a good political move. This is horrible, and the New Mexican is really sorry that Mr. McKinley visited.

The extension of a Santa Fe railroad branch into the San Pedro mining region in this country would be a great and good thing alike for the vast mining interests of that section, for the railroad and for this country. It cannot come any too soon.

The sockless statesman, he the most prominent citizen of Medicine Lodge, Kansas, says that Colonel W. Jennings Bryan can easily capture the gold Democrats' support by keeping quiet. Ah, there is the rub. Jerry expects impossibilities, and the days of miracles are past.

Hon. H. O. Bursum has some excellent ideas and plans as to the management of the territorial penitentiary. The sooner he takes charge and carries his ideas and plans into practical execution the better for the commonwealth. Do not tarry too long, Mr. Bursum. The people have their eyes on you.

On the desert of Sahara, North Africa, 12,000,000 acres of land is made fruitful by irrigation from artesian wells. Undoubtedly much of New Mexico has underlying water that will some day be brought to the surface and aid in making a fruitful land. In New Mexico Colfax county and the Roswell country have artesian districts, and others will be found.

In the English parliament the first lord of the admiralty has called for appropriations to cover the building of several new war vessels "in the interest of peace." The way to prevent war is to be prepared for war. The United States is now getting ready to make a safe naval showing. Uncle Sam has brave and skillful gunners, but is shy on ships. The Republican congress has said this nation shall not again be held in contempt. Had there been a great United States navy like that of England, there would have been no war with Spain.

The greatest collapse of the year is due when the copper bubble bursts. The prices of copper stocks are inflated, production is increasing, and dividends are not growing in size or frequency. The majority of stock buyers expect to sell at the top notch. When they try to do so, down will go prices, which have been boosted 400 per cent within four months. Owners of copper claims who have fair offers should sell, because the demand for any old relic by promoters who wish to organize stock selling schemes, will not see many birthday anniversaries.

New York Democrats are apating as to whether they shall eat dollar dinners or ten-dollar layouts. Until McKinley was elected the live question with New York Democrats was not what sort of a dinner they should eat, but whether they could eat. They had not the dollar, and saw no way of getting it, even if Bryan succeeded in cutting the price to 50 cents. In the three months ending in March the inspector of factories in New York found 373 new firms engaged in business, and 100 establishments that had closed had reopened. Also that 1,196 places had added 13,352 men to the list of wage earners. It is no wonder the Gotham Democrats can now have spreads.

The Kansas volunteers who never shot at game bigger than a loping jack rabbit until they went to the Philippines, have time and again done most effective work over there. Come to think of it, practice on the loping jacks probably accounts for success in bagging the elusive insurgents. The San Francisco papers and citizens pretended to make merry over those Kansans because of their speedy appearance on arriving at the Golden Gate, and laughed at the looks of men, many of whom had never smelt salt water before. But in view of recent achievements in the Philippines, San Francisco people will not laugh any more, and Colonel Funston and his veterans are now being praised in the California papers.

The Political Situation in Santa Fe Again.

The result of yesterday's election for city officers clearly shows the ultimate outcome of factional rows and blame-fol political tactics. Through the action of a few hot heads and political malcontents the organization of the Republican party in this city has been disrupted, the party defeated at the polls, when there was not a ghost of a chance for the Democrats had there been a little common sense and some decency used by the would-be bosses of the city politically.

And the whole trouble arises from jealousy and from revenge, based upon nothing more nor less than a desire to read a few men out of the party, who for years have borne the expenses of organization, fought the battles, and placed the very tyros, who are now arrogating to themselves the right to rule or ruin, in a position to exert sufficient influence to do that. Nor is that all. These same ingrates declare that they will carry their fight on until the election of 1900, and that at that time they will teach the Republicans of the county who are the coming men.

Coming men of the kind are not wanted in any party, although in this instance there is no desire on the part of the regular Republicans to drive them out of the party. However, they have become arrogant, quarrelsome and disturbers. Impatient of disappointment, unwilling to accept the mandates of a majority of the party, acting on the principle that they owe no allegiance to party principles, they are bringing the party in this city to ruin and giving aid to Democrats. It is to be hoped and also trusted that they will think better of their actions and declared intentions, and regain their political equilibrium in time to prevent trouble within the ranks of the party in 1900. They may imagine that they have demonstrated their power sufficiently to dictate the nomination of candidates and policy in the future, but they should remember that there is a future to deal with, and the time will come when they will bitterly regret their actions of the past two weeks.

The Trust Craze.

In the last six months trusts have been incorporated in New Jersey the capitalization of which foots up over four billions of dollars. The sum includes little but the common stock that is to be sold, the preferred stock being kept by the inside operators. Some of these trusts own no property or business whatever as yet, but expect to corner some industry with the money of stockholders. Many of the trusts are not included in the above aggregate, as their stocks are not yet on the market. All the actual money of the globe would not be enough to pay a dividend of one per cent annually on all of the trust stock now in existence. In England the same rage for trusts prevails. Many of them will fail to sell stock, but others will find victims. Few can pay dividends on the watered stock, and a collapse will come. The banks are not disposed to lend support to the assortment of trusts, and it is the people whom the trust promoters expect to play upon with hopes of enormous profits, such as have accrued in some of the big combinations shrewdly managed.

Unwarranted Complaint.

The Denver Post is still worrying over the alleged injustice to the squatters on the Maxwell Grant in this territory. It goes as far as to say that the general land office, the department of the interior, congress and the United States supreme court, have been instrumental in wronging the first settlers in what is now included in the northern part of the grant. It is true that through some one's blunder some of these settlers unwittingly settled on land included in the Maxwell grant, but an investigating committee which considered the matter has recommended to congress that some sort of relief be granted these settlers, which will undoubtedly be done. The Maxwell Land Grant company, which has done very much for the development of Northern New Mexico, is also disposed to be very liberal toward the settlers who have no legal or indeed equitable claims. They settled there with the full knowledge that these lands were private property, held under direct titles from the United States, which had been passed upon by the United States supreme court and there confirmed. The lamentations of the Post are therefore uncalled for and meant merely to stir up bad feeling against the Maxwell Land Grant company and the federal authorities.

Bulletins issued by the marine hospital corps show that during the past few months small pox has existed in almost every state in the Union. Undoubtedly the contagion has been spread by soldiers returning from Spanish countries, although in the southwest it may have come in from Mexico. Small pox has not been epidemic in any American city, because sanitary precautions and public cleanliness have prevented. Probably Los Angeles has recorded more cases than any other city, nearly 100 having been reported there, with a mortality of about 15 per cent. Los Angeles, however, has a population of over 100,000. In the same period in which the plague has prevailed, there have been more cases of other specific diseases than of small pox. There has been no epidemic, and probably the majority of the residents did not take the matter seriously enough to be vaccinated. It has not been more fatal than typhoid fever or diphtheria.

It is asserted that the drought caused the orchardists of Southern California to seek and discover underground water, enough to irrigate 150,000 acres were it all utilized. As the entire quantity of land irrigated in that section of California by canals is less than 100,000 acres, the value of the discovery can be seen. There is water enough in the Pecos valley alone to irrigate more land than can be irrigated by Southern California canals and this subterranean supply combined. In the orange country all of the available mountain water is used and the prices are high. Here but little is utilized and the cost light. New Mexico can and will some day produce a thousand fold more produce than she does today.

Coming America's Way.

The last monthly treasury report issued at Washington is a little burdened with figures, but as none of them are doubtful, the story is interesting reading, except to the calamity class. In 1893 the business losses from failures footed in millions just 346; in 1896 the sum was 226, and in 1897 fully 154. The next year the amount was only 120 millions—a decrease of 60 per cent in five years, and of 50 per cent in the two years since the McKinley election. Out of 367 millions of dollars worth of imports in the eight months ending with January, 16 millions covered the value of free manufactured goods, and 80 millions the dutiable manufactured goods. In the same period in 1897 only 77 millions were collected on imports and last year 114 millions for the month, showing that the people are again able to buy.

Exports for the same period were 737 millions, of which 69 per cent, or 508 millions, were of agricultural products, and 25 per cent, or 182 millions, were of manufactured goods.

The imports of gold increased over the eight months of the previous year from 33 to 60 millions of dollars, and net exports of silver reached 15 millions in value.

Old Silver Camps Prospering.

Some of the silver camps of New Mexico are enjoying greater prosperity than they had in the palmiest days of silver mining, because the miners have devoted their energies to producing gold and other metals. It is to be remembered that in the silver days the output came from rich pocket mines, which employed comparatively few men and were soon exhausted, leaving the owners but little better off, because the money was wasted under the belief that the stream would continue flowing; also, that much of the mining was done at the expense of eastern capital and not on a legitimate basis, and whenever the ventures of the non-residents ceased, there were dull times in the camps. Today there is less recklessness, mining is not so spasmodic, and the people of the camps who were pinched in the depression that followed the suspension of silver mining, are less extravagant and making better use of wages and mine profits. Take Silver City, for instance, which was the banner camp. From general information, it is judged that there were never before so many men being paid wages from mine profits as there are now in that immediate vicinity; never so many leasers making profits; never so many teams employed in hauling ore; never so many men mining and smelting, and never so many companies mining on a cash paying basis.

English capital is being invested in Cuba freely, perhaps as freely as it would be were England herself preparing to give the island a colonial government. This indicates that English business men believe Cuba will soon become a part of the United States. No risks would be taken did they believe Cubans are to control the policy by a local republic. The island will fall to the United States as a ripe apple drops to mother earth.

PRESS COMMENTS.

MR. MCKINLEY IN 1900.

(Philadelphia North American.) He is the logical candidate of the Republicans. No national leader rivals him in his claim to the honor; and, indeed, as he stands for certain issues which the party has adopted, and which are yet pending, there can be no other name seriously considered for the office. Moreover, he has the confidence of the people and of the leaders of the party, and to withhold from him the renomination which he has earned would be to open the doors to several would-be claimants, whose contests for the nomination might result in serious harm to the unity and harmony of the organization.

As to the nominee for vice president, Mr. Hobart has filed that office well, and there is no apparent reason for a change now; but the exigencies of politics may make evident the desirability of nominating another man one year hence, in which even no real difficulty ought to be encountered in reaching a decision satisfactory to all.

WILL GET HIS DESERTS.

(Washington Times.) President McKinley has well deserved re-nomination at the hands of his party. He has done more than any president since Lincoln to make his term memorable. The determination with which he pressed the war to a glorious conclusion, his firmness in insisting on the Philippines when he was once persuaded that it was the will of the people, have led this country into the new career for which it has been preparing by a century of growth in territory, population, enlightenment and wealth. Under his guidance the first and hardest step—the long stride from selfish isolation to fellowship with the great powers—has been safely and proudly taken against the cries of the narrow, the self-seeking, and the timid. If he remains true to his best ideas and ideals, it would be the basest ingratitude for the party to entertain the claims of a rival.

NOT CONDUCTIVE TO PATRIOTISM.

(Kansas City Star.) While the insurrection in the Philippines and the consequent loss of life may intensify the opposition of the anti-expansionists, it is believed that it will also strengthen the position of the so-called imperialists, and that it will array on the side of the United States

A MEAN TRICK.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. Rivers Scarcely Speak to Each Other Now.

Brooks is somewhat particular as to the quality of the smoking tobacco he uses. He buys a certain mixture which comes in ornamental tin boxes.

A week or two ago he observed his consumption of this tobacco had nearly doubled.

When he made this discovery, his suspicions fell upon Rivers.

He keeps his smoking tobacco in a certain drawer of his desk, and Rivers was the only man likely to have meddled with the things in that desk.

The other night, after Rivers had gone home, Brooks opened a new box of that tobacco, took out about half of it and proceeded to doctor the remaining portion.

He procured several dozen small rubber bands.

These he cut with a pair of sharp shears into small bits. He mixed these bits with the tobacco, stirring the stuff till the particles were well distributed throughout the mass.

Then he hunted about for other good smoking material.

He found an old leather glove in Rivers' desk.

Tearing off the fingers, he cut them into small shreds and added them to the mixture.

Not entirely satisfied with this, he cut a generous section from an old rag which he had borrowed from a typewriter young man on the next floor, and when properly reduced to fragments it went to swell the grand total in the box, now nearly full.

The mixture, when thoroughly stirred up, looked perfectly innocent and could not have been distinguished, without a microscopic examination, from Brooks' favorite brand of smoking tobacco.

He put the box back in its accustomed drawer and calmly awaited events.

A day or two after this he noticed that the box had been opened and a good sized pipeful taken out.

That box of Brooks' favorite smoking tobacco, the celebrated Hunky Panky mixture, has not been disturbed since. But there is a furtive look in Rivers' eye that bodes no good to Brooks.—Chicago Tribune.
