BATTLE OF CALUMPIT

The Filipinos Make a Final Stand and Are Using Artillery with Shrapnel with Little Effect.

FIGHTING FROM TRENCHES

The Americans Are in Deserted Trenches Popping Away at Rebels Across the River—List of Dead and Wounded.

Manila, April 26.—Aguinaldo's army is today defending Calumpit energetically, which is said to indicate that the rebels are finally making that place their last ditch or stand, which the Americans expected them to make at Malolos. For the first time the Filipinos are employing artillery. They brought two guns into action in trenches today before Calumpit, firing modern shrapnel which burst over the head of General Wheaton's men without effect.

THE LINE OF BATTLE.

Manila, April 26.—Fighting was resumed at 6 o'clock this morning. During the night the engineers repaired a bridge, thus enabling troops to cross the river. Wheaton's brigade advanced, extended order with the Kansas regiment west of the railroad, the Montana regiment to the east, and took up a position covering one and a half miles of the south bank of the Rio Grande. On the opposite bank were fortified trenches from which a few American soldiers would have been able to defy thousands, so strongly were they constructed. The Americans found trenches on the south bank of the river deserted.

The deserted trenches furnished cover from which troops could pick off a Filipino whenever one of them showed his head. When the rebels began firing two puffs of smoke simultaneously from trenches each side of the railroad track showed that they were using cannon, which was a genuine surprise to the Americans. Several shells burst close to Wheaton's staff, but it seemed that the Filipinos failed to master the machinery and modern shells, as they were unable to get the right range. Young's Utah battery was ordered into position in the center of the Kansas regiment to silence the rebel guns. At 11 o'clock the rapid fire guns had been fired across the river and came in line. At noon the rebels were still pouring a heavy fire in the direction of the Americans, who returned it spiritedly. Two Americans were killed and seven were wounded. Hale's brigade was advancing on the east line, apparently to cross the river and attack the rebel trenches in flank as the Americans did yesterday.

THE DEAD AND WOUNDED.

Washington, April 26.—General Otis sends the following additional casualties: Killed: Hospital corps, Private Holland I. Laidler; First South Dakota, Wagner Mortimer Bowen, Corporal Vicker E. Johnson, privates Charles Stutz, James A. Lyes, Corporal Harvey M. Breed, privates Charles Patterson, Guy Jones, James A. Lister, Harry De Jean, First Nebraska, privates Harry McCart, Utah artillery, private Max Madison, Hospital corps, private Paul Gompertz. Wounded 53.

GENERAL JOE CANNOT GO.

New York, April 26.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: It is understood the cabinet decided not to send Major General Wheeler to the Philippines. The generals who will be assigned to duty under General Otis will be Brigadier Generals Young, Grant and Bates. It is proposed, however, to place Wheeler on active duty and to this end the organization of the new department of Texas is contemplated.

"One Grain Fills not a Sack, But Helps Its Fellows."

In Spring work, we sow grain and expect a harvest. The cloddy ground is plowed, harrowed and cross-harrowed until with proper fertilizing it is in condition to respond heartily. How about your blood? It should have attention; the clods of impurity need dissolving and purifying with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

If this is done, the grains of health (corpuscles of blood) will bring you into a perfect state, making you better fitted for life's duties and pleasures. Hood's never disappoints.

Sore Eyes.— "Humor in the blood made my daughter's eyes sore, so that we feared blindness, until Hood's Sarsaparilla made her entirely well. E. B. Gibson, Hemlock, N. H."

Erysipelas.— "My little girl is now fat and healthy on account of Hood's Sarsaparilla curing her of erysipelas and eczema. It is our family medicine, as we all take it." Mrs. H. O. Wheatley, Fort Chester, N. Y.

Cataract.— "I was so low with cataract that I could not get around the house. Tried all sorts of remedies. Hood's Sarsaparilla was the last. It cured me." Mrs. Charles Reine, 335 Oak Lane, York, Pa.

Dyspepsia.— "We all use Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cured my brother-in-law and myself of dyspepsia. I owe my life to it." M. H. Kins, 67 Franklin St., Philadelphia.

Sick Headache.— "Distresses, loss of appetite and sick headache made me discouraged. Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills made me well. I feel like another person." Mrs. Lizzie Shazant, Condit Street, Ext., Annapolis, Md.

Sore Throat.— "Rob, our little boy had the grip, which was followed by a mass of scrofulous sores. After trying other medicines without avail, Hood's Sarsaparilla made a perfect cure. It is a great blood purifier." Mrs. E. Shout, Thompsonville, Del.

Now a Bicycle Trust.

Cleveland, O., April 26.—There is a strong probability that within a few days nearly 100 of the largest bicycle manufacturing plants in the United States will be under the control and ownership of one gigantic company capitalized at $50,000,000.

The George Trial.

Canton, O., April 26.—Attorney Welty occupied the morning in a closing speech in defense of Mrs. George, accused of the murder of George D. Saxton. He said to the jury if they found the accused guilty of murder in the first degree they should not recommend her to mercy, thus substituting imprisonment for life for the death penalty. "For her sake and for my sake," he said, "do not recommend mercy. We do not want it."

A Copper King's Denial.

Chicago, April 26.—Marcus Daly, the Montana copper king, has arrived from New York. Being asked about the copper combine, he gave it to be understood that the Anaconda property had not been secured, and professed to have no knowledge of a trust being consummated.

Price Paid Attorneys.

Lancaster, Pa., April 26.—W. E. Kendig, one of the principals in the extensive counterfeiting of revenue stamps, speaking of the alleged connection of the former United States District Attorney Ingham and Newitt with the scheme, said the last bribe of money paid out was to those two. The amount was $3,000.

A Strong Pair.

New York, April 26.—Richard Croker sailed for Europe today. Speaker Thomas B. Reed was also a passenger on the same steamer from New York. Mr. Reed said to a reporter that he was going abroad for a vacation of about three months, and upon his return would settle in New York.

The Corner on Copper.

London, April 26.—The Rothschilds and J. S. Morgan & Co. deny that they are in any way connected with the corner in copper said to be in process of formation in the United States.

The Mazet Committee Disagrees.

Albany, N. Y., April 26.—The majority and minority reports of the Mazet investigating committee were submitted to the assembly today. The former asks for more power in scope of the investigation and urges that the committee be empowered to sit at libitum during the legislative vacation. The latter urges the utility of further investigation and prays the assembly to discharge the committee.

Coghlan Will Get a Letter.

Washington, April 26.—Captain Coghlan will be in command of the Raleigh when President McKinley pays a visit of state to the cruiser at Philadelphia next Friday. As to the future course of the Navy department with respect to Captain Coghlan, it is believed administration censure in shape of a letter from Secretary Long will suffice to meet the needs of the case, particularly as he is almost immediately to be relieved of his command on account of placing the Raleigh out of commission while undergoing extensive repairs.

Even Silver Goes Up.

New York, April 26.—Bar silver was quoted today at 61, a rise of 1/2 of a cent since yesterday. The last time it ruled around the present figures was November 5, 1898, when it touched 61 1/2. Local dealers style the demand as speculative, the speculation being carried on in London. Cable advices reported silver as the feature of the London market today. Rupee paper jumped from 66 1/2 at opening to 67 1/2.

England Cannot Afford to Buy Copper.

Birmingham, England, April 26.—The enormous rise in the price of copper is playing havoc with the leading industries in the Midlands. At Kynoch hundreds of men have been discharged since the rise began. Now, instead of 4,000 men only 2,000 are at work there. The government decided not to give any more orders for cartridge shells while the present price prevailed.

Carpenters Get Better Pay.

Denver, Colo., April 26.—The wage of carpenters has been increased 50 cents per day to $3.

It was Good Beef.

Washington, April 26.—The board convened by special order to report on the responsibility for the loss of 300,000 pounds refrigerated beef sent to Puerto Rico on the Manitoba last summer has submitted a report. The board finds the beef was not chemically treated. It was good and the United States was responsible for its loss, no due effort having been made to issue it to troops. Swift & Co. must be reimbursed.

AbcGold this morning sent thirty men to La Veta pass to work on improvements of the Rio Grande railroad. The men were placed in charge of Charles L. Brosier. There would have been almost forty to go but several backed out after reading that smallpox exists at La Veta. At Espanola twenty joined the gang.

A FAMILY MURDERED

One of the Most Fiendish Crimes Ever Committed in a Tough Section of Missouri.

A STEPSON IS ARRESTED

Killed a Widow and Four Children, Then Burned the House—Trouble Over Settlement of An Estate.

St. Louis, April 26.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Dexter, Mo., says one of the most fiendish crimes ever committed in southeast Missouri was the murder last night of Mrs. Jane Tettaton, widow of Wash Tettaton, and four children, whose remains were partly incinerated by burning their home, 17 miles south of Malden. J. H. Tettaton, son of Wash Tettaton by his first wife, is under arrest. Wash Tettaton left considerable means, the greater part of which was bequeathed to his second wife, J. H. Tettaton was appointed administrator. His management was not satisfactory to Mrs. Tettaton. Several suits were brought. Yesterday Mrs. Tettaton agreed to dismiss suits for a cash consideration of $500, and cancel claims held upon lands belonging to the estate. J. H. Tettaton went to his parents' home last night to adjust matters. That was the last seen of the widow and children alive. About 9 o'clock neighbors saw the Tettaton home on fire and on reaching there discovered the bodies of five victims in the yard with 13 knife wounds on his head and face shamingly unconscious. His wounds were trifling. Tettaton says the crime was committed by two unknown men who beat him into insensibility.

An Immune Colonel III.

Havana, April 26.—Colonel Duncan Hood, of the 2nd Immunes regiment, son of old Confederate General Hood, is seriously sick of appendicitis.

SANTA FE RAILWAY WORK.

Getting Ready for Heavy and Rapid Travel on the Main Line.

By the end of the year all piling and wooden bridges on the Santa Fe main line will have been removed, at an expense of half a million dollars. Temporary and iron being substituted. The contractors have all been let, R. Lantry & Sons having the work on the New Mexico and Chicago divisions.

The Santa Fe company will also lay 250 miles of new steel rails this year. Sixty-seven miles will be new track and the rest will be in replacing old rails on the main line.

The relaying on the New Mexico division has already commenced. Grading for the remainder of the double track between Emporia and Florence and the new second track out of Ottawa east has been completed, and the laying of steel will be commenced within a short time. Work on the Middle and Western divisions will be taken up early next month.

One hundred and fifty miles of new rails will be distributed between La Junta and Albuquerque.

The estimated cost of relaying is $3,000 per mile, and the average cost of putting down new track is just double that amount. Consequently, the Santa Fe management will expend in the neighborhood of $1,000,000 in the improvement of track and the construction of a new track this year.

Forty-three miles of the new track will form the line to be built from Caney in a southwesterly direction through the Indian Territory. Grading for this new branch line is now in progress, and it is expected that work on the track will be commenced by the middle of May. Twelve miles will close the gap in the double track between Emporia and Florence. Two and a half miles will be laid as a short second track from Ottawa east.

PARDONING CONVICTS.

The Law Regulating the Shortening of Sentences and Restoring to Citizenship of Convicts.

The act amending the Compiled Laws of 1897 regarding the reduction of sentence of convicts after conviction and restoring them to citizenship after serving their sentence, reads as follows:

Section 1. That section 3536 of the Compiled Laws of 1897, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

"Provided, That no such deduction from the time of any sentence shall be made unless the governor of the territory shall issue to the person for whom such deduction is claimed, a pardon as provided in section 3541 of said Compiled Laws."

Sec. 2. That section 3541 of the Compiled Laws of 1897, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

"Section 3541. If any convict shall pass the entire period of his sentence without any violation of the rules and regulations of the penitentiary, he shall be entitled to a certificate thereof by the superintendent, endorsed by the board of penitentiary commissioners, and on presenting the same to the governor he may be granted a pardon and restored to citizenship, but the governor shall not be obliged to grant such pardon and in case of the refusal of the governor to grant such pardon such convict shall remain in the penitentiary until the expiration of his full term of service according to the sentence of the court, unless the governor shall at some subsequent time prior to the expiration of said term, grant such pardon and restore such convict to citizenship."

Sec. 3. This act shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and all laws and parts of laws in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SAN PEDRO HARBOR.

The President Touched a Button and Dumped Rock into the Bay.

Los Angeles, Calif., April 26.—The commencement of actual work on the harbor at San Pedro was inaugurated today when President McKinley at the White House pressed an electric button which caused a rock barge to tilt its cargo on the spot where the contractors designated the work was to be begun. Representative people from all parts of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Nevada witnessed the beginning of what is destined to be one of the finest harbors on the Pacific coast. The dumping of the first load of rock was greeted with the mingled cheers of thousands of people, accompanied by the screeching of steam whistles and booming of cannon. Literary exercises attending the celebration will take place this afternoon. Senators White, Perkins and other citizens will speak.

Sailed for Samoa.

San Francisco, April 26.—The United States despatch boat Badger with the Samoan commission on board has sailed for Apia.

To Be Taken to Arizona.

The governor today signed the requisition papers for William and Thomas Halderman who are in the Silver City jail accused of murder. Sheriff Scott White will take the men back with him to Tombstone, Arizona, where they will be tried for murder if they escape a threatened lynching here.

Another La Veta Laborer Dead.

Gil Chavez died yesterday afternoon at the home of his mother, Mrs. Felicitas U. de Chavez. He was aged 26 years. Chavez had been working at La Veta pass and in lifting a heavy rock wrenched his arm. He did not give the injury the proper attention and blood poison set in, of which he died. The funeral will take place tomorrow. Mass will be said in Guadalupe church and interment will be in the cemetery adjoining.

Notaries Named.

Governor Otero today appointed the following notaries public: Joseph F. Towle, of Socorro; Henry D. Meyer, of Chamita; Charles H. Spiereder, of East Las Vegas; Louis Noh, of Espanola; Morris Freudenthal, of Las Cruces; Elizabeth C. T. Warren, of Silver City.

Weather Bureau Notes.

U. S. weather bureau forecast for New Mexico: Fair tonight and Thursday. Yesterday the thermometer at the local weather bureau registered as follows: Maximum temperature, 70 degrees, at 3:15 p. m.; minimum, 46 degrees, at 5:15 a. m. The mean temperature for the 24 hours was 52 degrees; mean daily humidity, 18 per cent.

HEALTHY MATERNITY.

Two Grateful Women Tell of the Help They Have Received From Mrs. Pinkham.

The climax of life force in woman is capable motherhood. The first requisite for a good mother is good health. Health of body means health of the generative organs.

Read what Mrs. G. A. NONMAKER, Bluffton, Ohio, says about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and how well it prepared her for maternity:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I must say a word in praise of your Vegetable Compound. I used three bottles of it when I was pregnant, and labor was not nearly as long as it was with my other babies; and my baby is so healthy to what the others were. I think every woman should use your Compound when pregnant, and it will save them so much suffering and misery. I cannot say enough in praise of it. If ever I need medicine again, I shall use your Compound."

The most successful tonic known to medicine for women approaching maternity is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a safeguard for every woman who uses it, and the fullest benefit comes from its use with Mrs. Pinkham's advice freely offered to all women. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

Here is a convincing statement, bearing directly on this subject, from Mrs. E. Bismor, of 1848 Pacific St., Brooklyn, N. Y.:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am a great believer in your Compound. I was almost despairing of ever again being well, as I was a great sufferer, and had been for years. I suffered from womb trouble, and had terrible blind fits. After writing to you I tried your Compound. The result was astonishing. I have used it and advocated it ever since. In childbirth it is a perfect boon. I have often said that I should like to have my merits thrown on the sky with a search-light, so that all women would read, and be convinced that there is a remedy for their sufferings."

A Million Women have been Benefited by Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Medicine

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

In one year the money in circulation in the United States has increased $1.76 per capita and is now $25.45. The financial condition of the country will remain good while the Republicans are in power because they are "strictly business" and not given to crazy schemes.

The czar's peace congress is going to be a good enough thing as far as it goes, but he ought to have invited Aguinaldo. In dealing with the Spanish that person always proved that he was not averse to "a piece" if they would make it big enough and pay on the spot. Perhaps, however, the czar did send the chief an invitation and it has not caught up with him yet.

No one who does not stand on the Chicago platform shall help to write that of the next national convention, is the edict of Colonel Bryan. If the same rule had prevailed at the convention that nominated the Nebraska silver platform would not have been written. It is just possible that the Nebraska will not have the party hypnotized in 1900 and the convention may choose its platform writers instead of permitting him to be the Whole Thing.

The fire insurance companies have withdrawn from business in Arkansas and threatened to do so in Texas to bluff the legislature into voting against a certain bill. The companies can probably make a profit in Texas under the proposed law and if they do not choose to do so, certainly companies will be formed for the purpose. A bluff like that can not be effective if the people stick to their resolution to break up the combinations that have charged extortionate rates and driven out competitors.

Recently at a banquet Secretary Gage and Senator Dewey urged bankers to induce patrons to have no financial dealings with inflated trusts. When not more than 75 per cent of the preferred stock of a trust can be regarded as fairly representing full value, what does the common stock represent? If this inflated paper remained in the possession of those who received it in exchange for industrial property surrendered to the trust, the matter would not be worth discussing from the investor's point of view. But the very knowledge that the stock held is based on an excessive valuation will cause them to dispose of it at the earliest moment. Most properties of this class should be left exclusively in the possession of those who created them.

The dispatches yesterday read very much like the American commander was sending an expedition out to put the finishing touches to the Filipino forces. It is greatly to be hoped that the rebels stayed where they were until the matter was settled, instead of running away after potting a half dozen volunteers from the shelter of a ditch. The telegrams today indicated that such a result was accomplished. The guerrilla warfare is very aggravating because American forces are more distressed over losing one man than the rebels are over leaving a hundred bodies in the jungle. Any good American volunteer is morally and mentally worth 100 of such people. The rebels probably know this and consider matters even if they can kill a man for every hundred slain by the United States troops.

A romance has become public involving Admiral Dewey, his sweetheart and a Spanish duke. Several years ago Captain Dewey as he then was, courted an eastern girl named Virginia Lowery and might have won her had not a titled Spaniard of wealth sought her hand. The sailor went to sea and did not attend the wedding, while the duke went to Mexico as Spanish minister. Not long afterward Dewey sailed to Manila and smashed Montejó's fleet to smithereens, with much satisfaction. Now the duke is minister at Washington, and when Dewey comes home the trio in the romance will meet at social events given at the capital in honor of the Yankee admiral. No one is privileged to read a woman's heart, but the bride may have cause to regret that she chose a duke instead of a Dewey who is first in war and first in the hearts of his countrymen.

Down at Eddy someone has started a proposition to change the name of the place to "Carlsbad," and it appears to be discussed seriously. There are some mineral springs near town and it is thought the suggested foreign name would be a good advertisement. Another reason is that the present name sounds boyish. The arguments are mere moonshine. Eddy is already a pretty well advertised town and if the mineral of the great tract of land to be utilized, but the Indians will be allowed to retain the watered valleys they are now using, a right that they are earning by their industry and success. Other portions of the reservation may be made available for farming by construction of reservoirs, probably, while the mineral development will furnish occupation for a large number of people.

Only the Effect of Climate.
A few sunny days with the ground softening enough to allow holes to be chopped into the crust of the earth's surface, have inspired the editor of the St. Louis Republic to break forth in verse in a column usually devoted to grief and lambasting the Republican party. And this is what he sings:

It's golf and ball and polo now,
And tennis and the wheel;
It's horseback-riding in the park,
Or good old tow-and-heel.
It's driving in your own fine drag,
Or trolleying here and there,
But anyway, it's all hands out
Into the open air!
Oh, fill your lungs full of ozone,
And fan your skin with sun!
The finest time of all the year
Is only just begun!
A house is but a place to sleep
When Nature smiles so fair,
And now the shout is all hands out
Into the open air!

It was probably the St. Louis editor who in winter gale or summer cyclone wrote that good old hymn:
"I would not live away,"
I ask not to stay,
Where storm after storm
Gathers dark o'er the way."

Santa Fe is a mile and a half nearer heaven than a St. Louis editor is accustomed to being, and if his transportation reads heavenwards the rhymester should come up this way to find a land where ever "Nature smiles so fair;" a land where,

Bikies bike thro' all a year,
And weather plays no pranks;
Though toilers sit at home,
There's golf and tennis cranks.

The Odd Fellows.

All over the United States today the Independent Order of Odd Fellows celebrates the 81st anniversary of its existence in this country. The work of its 800,000 members with high 4,000,000 people dependent upon them is done without ostentation and so quietly that the influence is scarcely noticed in the political or business world. Yet it is an economical and fraternal force exerting as great an influence as any other body of men organized for any purpose. Its work is altogether along the line of well doing, of assisting the sick and needy, of supporting the widow and the orphan, of teaching grand principles to its members and not along political and business lines. Immense sums of money are spent each year by the order to aid members, many of whom would have to be supported by public charity were it not for the work of the Odd Fellows. The world is decidedly the better for the existence of the Odd Fellows and kindred organizations, and when 800,000 men of this nation celebrate the anniversary of such an order the other men of the United States can well afford to extend sincere congratulations and to wish the order success.

Reckless Generosity of Municipalities.

Governor Roosevelt has sent a message to the legislature of New York in favor of municipal ownership in a city asking for the privilege of selling a waterworks franchise to a corporation that has made a cash offer for it if the term shall be made 50 years. The governor advises that if the municipality does not undertake the enterprise itself the franchise should be sold in the open market to the highest bidder. Fifty years from now the wonder of sensible people will be that any progressive city parted with franchises for a stated sum or a percentage of the gross receipts instead of the municipality controlling the utilities. There is substantial profit in them and every cent of it is made direct from the people of the town. These corporations, in many instances go into politics to elect officials who will permit them to rob the public, bribery and corrupt jobs resulting, the people "paying the freight." A city government could manage waterworks as well as a corporation, reduce the rates to a basis, that would maintain the plant, provide some revenues and yet be an economical proposition because the profits that would otherwise go to individual owners would be cut off. As to interest upon funds thus invested, any active city can borrow money on long time bonds at as low a rate as can private individuals. In time the custom of selling municipal franchises will be looked upon as foolish as now appears the old habit of giving them away; or the acts of cities that were flattered by appeals to their progressive spirit into giving bonuses to railway corporations, when the amounts granted were frequently sufficient to construct the roads. The companies really got the property for nothing, when they would have constructed the lines anyway, in many cases.

Indian Farmers Successful.

The article in today's paper written by a staff correspondent, relating to the farming enterprises of the Indians at the Mescalero reservation in southern New Mexico, shows what may be done with the race when proper methods are pursued by the government agencies. This is probably by all odds the most successful effort made to induce western Indians to become agriculturists. Undoubtedly a large portion of the success is due to the fact that the climate and soil of the favored locality are so well adapted to farming, fruit growing and cattle raising. Many of the previous experiments were made in bleak sections where even experienced farmers have been unable to succeed to any great extent. In their present home the Mescaleros of that section have an ideal climate, they have the advantage of irrigation and a soil that yields abundant returns for cultivation. Some day the reservation will be opened for settlement to permit the timber and mineral of the great tract of land to be utilized, but the Indians will be allowed to retain the watered valleys they are now using, a right that they are earning by their industry and success. Other portions of the reservation may be made available for farming by construction of reservoirs, probably, while the mineral development will furnish occupation for a large number of people.

PRESS COMMENTS.

NOT CHEERFUL NEWS.

(Washington Post.)
Yesterday was not a cheerful day for the anti-expansionists. No American soldier was killed, and only three were wounded.

GIVING AWAY OF FRANCHISES.

(Denver Post.)
Through the municipal ownership of public utilities corruption in the administration of city affairs would be reduced to a minimum. There would no longer be a private corporation to corrupt the city officials and no one would see an office in the municipal government for the purpose of serving corporations for a consideration.

NO PROTECTION FOR TRUSTS.

(Chicago Tribune.)
No trust deserves protection. Any trust which flourishes because of discriminating laws or through the unfair operation of common carriers should be thrown upon its own resources and compelled to meet in its own administration the fierce competition which it has impartially distributed to others. "All they that take the sword may perish with the sword."

WE ARE THE MASTER.

(Boston Journal.)
Within the memory of all persons of middle age or beyond, Great Britain was known everywhere as the chief iron and steel manufacturing country. Almost all of the choice and many of the common and bulky iron and steel articles, from penknives to railway metal, came from across the seas, and America's competition with the vast workshops of Sheffield and Birmingham seemed to be hopeless and hopeless. But a few decades of strenuous effort have brought about a complete reversal in relative positions. The United States is now the first iron and steel manufacturing nation, and Great Britain is the second by a margin which suggests that she must soon drop out of the race.

THE RAILROAD WONDER STORY.

(New York World.)
The interstate commerce commission has gratifying reports of earnings, expenses, etc. for the year ended June 30, 1900, from 730 lines, operating 181,333 miles of railroad.
The gross earnings were $1,238,323, an increase of $163,161,583 over the previous year.
The net income after deducting operating expenses, was $456,790,110. Of this sum $355,189,502 went to interest on bonds, taxes, etc., and $815,995,915 was distributed in dividends, leaving a surplus of $12,604,999 in the treasuries of the roads. During the preceding year there was a small deficit instead of this surplus.
These figures tell the same tale of reviving prosperity that has been told in statistics of exports, manufactures, crop production, and everything else. They suggest a rapid growth in the country's wealth, and a very great increased employment of labor. For in order to earn less than $110,000,000 of dividends and surplus for the stockholders the roads paid out $811,241,458 in operating expenses—the most of it going directly or indirectly to workmen as wages.

A BREEDER OF CLASS HATRED.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat.)
There were some passages in Bryan's speech at the New York banquet that would be more in keeping with a socialistic harangue than with what, prior to 1896, was called a Democratic speech. He declared that "the Republican party is putting the dollar above the man in all its legislation." In another passage he continued: "I am glad that the 6,500,000 who voted for me simply wanted me to get other people's hands out of their pockets and not to get their hands into other people's pockets." This is the kind of talk to be expected from Herr Most rather than from a man asking to be elected president of a great nation. Bryan denounces the millions who voted against him, constituting a majority of the American people, as persons plotting to rob their fellow-citizens. The socialists who, in large numbers, were instinctively attracted to hear Bryan went wild over these expressions and plainly accepted him as a valuable recruit. He is working harder than ever to array class against class, and invariably making a good thing out of it for himself. After all he is a demagogue who is found out and beaten, and his socialistic ranting can be discounted accordingly.

A Dead Man Brought to Life.
In Paris recently a man was revived whose heart had actually stopped beating. A daring surgeon cut through the dead man's ribs, grasped his heart, set the blood in circulation and the man breathed, opened his eyes and lived. It is probable, however, that the rally will be of short duration, although this detracts not at all from the miraculous nature of the deed. If he had kept his bowels regular, doctor could not have attacked him. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is nature's strongest ally. When her laws have been repeatedly disregarded, when a tired stomach has been abused until indigestion, constipation and biliousness are the result, then the Bitters proves its efficacy. It can not be equalled. Your doctor would be the first to recommend it.

An Honest Admission.
She—You are hypocritical. The fact is you don't like German opera.
He—Oh, I don't know. It isn't so bad—that is, you know, to a man who is very hard of hearing.

REMARKABLE CURE OF RHEUMATISM.

Kenna, Jackson Co., W. Va.
About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions, and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she had not had a similar attack since.—A. B. Parsons. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Adalbert—And so I am the first man that you have ever kissed?
Guinevere—Yes, Adalbert; the others all took the initiative.—Chicago News.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers, we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine cure for colds and coughs.—The Herald, Andersonville, Ind. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Comes to the Same Thing.
What is there in this story about the girl Gubbin is engaged to being a millionaire?
Not a millionaire: a milliner.
Oh, well, that is not so bad.
—Indianapolis Journal.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine. Such persons make a point of telling of it whenever opportunity offers, hoping that it may be the means of saving other lives. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

Blocking His Game.

"Does it mean that he has heard it before?"
"No; it means that he isn't listening because he is thinking up the one he intends to tell me."—Chicago Record.

THEORY OF WEDLOCK

I had often seen the unattractive man in the smoking room, but had had little talk with him. On this evening, however, we read at the same table, and it happened that we were both interested in an article in one of the reviews, and began to discuss it.

The article stated a theory. For a good marriage it was necessary that each of the parties should have some quality not possessed by the other. One might be beautiful, and the other ugly; one rich and the other poor; one clever and the other dull. If each had some advantage, there would be mutual respect and consequent happiness.

The discussion became emphatic. The theory was wrong, said the unattractive man; the good marriage was that of persons having many qualities, the beautiful with the beautiful, the clever with the clever, the rich with the rich, and so on.

"I will give you the one you remember," I said. "We can both smile at the tragedy." The unattractive man half closed his eyes. "We can both smile," he said and paused, and then went on. "Yes, I will give it if you wish."

"I will call the man Filippo and the woman Giannina. In the Coppée play the heroine is a girl with a gift of beauty, and the hero is an ill looking hunchback, with a gift of music. In my story are a similar hero and a heroine.

"Filippo was one of the finest violinists in London. When he placed the violin under his chin and drew the bow back and forth, you thought not of his shape, but of the music. And when at length he stood with flushed face and bright eyes you thought not of his features, but again of the music.

"Giannina met him at an home. No Sandro had put his hand on her heart, and she could turn to whom she would. The Coppée heroine plies her Filippo for his poor body, she admires him for his rich soul. When he finished playing, she whispered thanks, and then sat by his side listening to talk of music. While he talked he was looking always at her face and wondering at the beauty.

"She met him afterward at many places. She was learning to play, and he became her master. For an hour each week they were together in her father's drawing room, and he saw and she heard. The short seemed the lessons. While she held the bow he would look at her face and wonder at the beauty.

"There is a path in the north part of Kensington gardens bordered by close growing trees and little frequented. It may have been by chance that the two walked together here for the first time. It was by arrangement at the second. Morning after morning they passed slowly up and down and then rested on the seat at the end of the path. Above them were the trees and the birds, before them the grass and the flowers.

"They loved each other, he her for the gift of beauty, she him for the gift of music. Latterly their hearts admitted no reason for the love save that he was he and she she. One day the words were said. In the Coppée play, at the tale of the heart of Filippo Giannina weeps in pity for him; in my story she weeps in gladness for herself. Sweet sounded the bird songs and bright seemed the sun.

"Years ago a musician in London was not so honored by men as he is today. Women were his content with genius or talent, but they were not. The father of Giannina died much to help the romance. When Filippo asked for his consent, he replied with scorn and told him to wed one of his own kind. His daughter he bade think of herself and him and no more of the father.

"The unattractive man ceased to speak and leaned back in his chair and lit a cigar. I waited for a few moments; then, as he was silent, I said:

"But I do not understand. Did they quarrel? Did the man lose his gift or the woman hers? Did the Sandro come afterward?"

"They lived very happily. Every day he wooed her with his music, and she him with her beauty. There was no Sandro before nor afterward."

"I do not see the point. What was the tragedy of the marriage?"

"The tragedy," he replied, leaning forward and increasing the natural lurch of his back; "yes, it is necessary to spell that. It is easily done. Giannina was my mother; Filippo was my father. You already know that I am not beautiful; you will believe me when I say that I have neither power nor pleasure in music. I am the tragedy of the marriage."

There was again silence for a few moments; then, looking away from him, I remarked:

"You are a humorist?"

"Yes," he said, "I am a humorist. I am the tragedy of the marriage."—Exchange.

Lagnappe Giving in New Orleans.
"New Orleans grocers and market men and dealers in fruits and confectionery all know that lagnappe is required, and they lay in a goodly stock of articles to be given away," writes Julia Truitt Bishop in The Ladies' Home Journal. "A little handful of something goes with every purchase, and it is astonishing how rapidly the barrels of gingernuts and the buckets of candy will melt away. An expensive custom, one would say, but so firmly established that no one dares to resist. Once in a while one finds a grocer who complains rather bitterly to his confidential friends, but he will not set the fashion of rebelling, and his customers would seek out the lagnappe stores without delay."

Ratskin Suit.
A thrifty Welshman at one time exhibited himself publicly in England attired in a costume composed from top to bottom of ratskin, which he had spent three years and a half in collecting. The dress was made entirely by himself. It consisted of hat, neckerchief, coat, waistcoat, trousers, tippet, gaiters and shoes. The number of rats required to complete the suit was 570. Most curious of the garments was the tippet, composed entirely of rats' tails.

A Load Off His Mind.
Mrs. Honkley (severely)—It's not necessary for me to ask where you were and what you were doing last night.
Mr. Honkley (brightening)—I'm glad that, for I couldn't do it to save my myself.—Chicago News.

Miss Pallado—Now that I have accepted Jack, tell me honestly if he has ever kissed you.
Miss Summitt—Why don't you ask him?
Miss Pallado—I have, and he says no.

A BURDEN LIFTED.

When a woman who has long suffered from female troubles, is again restored to health she feels that a tremendous burden has been lifted from her shoulders. Her figure rounds out again. Color comes to her cheeks, and sparkle to her eyes.

She feels much the same as when a girl, and if the neighbors wouldn't talk, the chances are she would go out and have a good romp, as in childhood's days. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription lifts the burden of disease from women. It allays inflammation and stops drains in the feminine organs. It strengthens the fragile supports that hold the internal organs in place. It corrects irregularities. It drives away the "blues" and banishes nervousness. The ordeal of child-bearing is rendered an occasion of no danger and little pain. It is the best medicine that Dr. R. V. Pierce, the long experienced specialist in woman's diseases, ever made. The Doctor will give free, fatherly advice to all women who write him at Buffalo, N. Y. No fee whatever is charged.

"I was a great sufferer for four years from displacement and ulceration," writes Mrs. Mary Pickering, of Otis, Keokuk County, Iowa. "At the time I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription I was not able to sit up to bed. I took eight bottles and got to be a stout woman. I also gave Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to my little daughter for quinsy and enlarged tonsils and it completely cured her. Any doubting this can write to me, enclosing a stamp, and I will answer."

Honest dealers will not urge substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines. There are no other medicines in the world "just as good," although various druggists will sometimes say so for the sake of the greater profit to be made upon the inferior articles.

Pneumonia is one of the most dangerous and fatal diseases. It always results from a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will quickly cure a cold and perhaps prevent an attack of pneumonia. It is in fact made especially for that ailment and has become famous for its cures over a large part of the civilized world. It counteracts any tendency of a cold toward pneumonia. Can you afford to neglect your cold when so reliable a remedy can be had for a trifle? For sale by A. C. Ireland.

WERE BIG ENOUGH.

But the Sheep Had Defects Painfully Apparent.
This is a true story about a well known western merchant.

He had made his money in dry goods, but all through the years when he was outwardly devoted to the yardstick and counter inwardly he hankered for the country sounds and scenes of his early boyhood and thought with pleasure of the time when he could retire from active business and go out and run a farm for himself.

He was nearly 70 years old when the time came, but it did come, and he bought a large old farm well out in the country and moved himself and his family on to it.

With a dim idea that he might not know as much about crops and cows as about muslin and silk he hired a farmer to come and help him out, but nevertheless he had not been head of a large establishment for years for nothing—he wanted to have his say, and what was more, his way, about everything, and he had it.

Especially in the matter of sheep; he was determined to have a flock of sheep, and also determined to buy them himself. Nothing the farmer could say would turn him from his course, and so in due time he started out alone and returned jubilant. He had bought such a fine flock—50 of the best and biggest sheep you ever saw; guessed he could buy good sheep; he knew a good bit of wool even if it did happen to be in the raw, and so on until the farmer's fears were allayed and his professional curiosity aroused to see those wonderful sheep. He saw them. They came the next day, under charge of hired drovers, who delivered them over with many a grin, and then hastened away beyond the reach of that farmer's wrath, for every one of those great, beautiful sheep was nothing but a worthless old ram.

For once the farmer was loud in his remarks, and the owner was silent. Since then he gives out that he has "retired from the active business of the farm." But one thing is noticeable—he hasn't a single wool growing animal on the place.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Mrs. Fatpursue—You paint pictures to order, don't you?

Mrs. Fatpursue—Well, I want a landscape, with lots of deer and ducks and quail and partridges and pheasants and cattle and sheep and pigs, and so on, you know, and put a lake and an ocean in—fresh and salt water, you know—and be sure to have plenty of fish swimming around, because it's for the dining room.—Boston Globe.

TAOS COUNTY ITEMS

Dr. Martin Tells of Mines, Springs, Crops and Other Things in That Section.

NO SMALLPOX THERE NOW

A Big Copper Property Sold to New York
Men and Machinery to Operate
It Extensively Is Now on the Road.

Dr. T. P. Martin of Taos, secretary of the territorial medical board, returned last night from Las Vegas, where the board was in session. The secretary is one of the best known physicians in New Mexico. He is an incessant worker to make the resources of the territory better known to the outside world and is doing much for the upbuilding of his home county. He is the county physician of Taos and it is due to his energy that Taos is a successful effort to keep out smallpox.

Dr. Martin says that Taos is enjoying prosperity and a steady inflow of new settlers. Within the past few months much improved and considerable improved land has been settled upon by a most desirable class of immigrants.
A fine fruit crop is expected in that county this year. The trees have not yet blossomed, owing to the lateness of the season and the late frosts did no harm.
Merchants are doing a good business
despite the fact that money is generally scarce at this time of the year.

In mining, this year will see great development. At Almitz, in the Red River country and at Rinconado there is great activity and many new claims are being filed. Eastern capitalists are investing heavily in mines and this will result in astonishing development of the latent mineral resources of the county.
Dr. Martin speaks very highly of the waters at Ojo Caliente. They are among the very best to be found in the United States. He has sent some prominent people to the springs in the past few years and all have been benefited if not cured. If capitalists could be induced to take hold of the springs they would become famous everywhere. There is not a sign of smallpox for miles around Ojo Caliente and the section is remarkably free from all diseases.

Dr. Martin has been a kodak enthusiast for years and his collection of photographs is probably the most interesting to be found in the territory.
One of the photos most prized by him is the picture of an Indian chief of Taos county, who, church records of Taos testify, was born in 1770. He was killed two years ago by falling from the roof of an adobe house upon which he went almost every morning to sun himself. He was blind and made a mistake that cost him his life.

Dr. Martin speaks highly of the work
The New Mexican does for New Mexico and expressed a desire to have the paper issue an industrial, mining and farming edition for Taos county.

A. J. Anderson, a well known miller of Taos, came to the city Monday and returned home with Dr. Martin this morning. Mr. Anderson is interested in mining and has just completed a deal by which the Copper Hill mine has been transferred to a number of wealthy New Yorkers. They have sent W. S. Turner, of that city, to take charge of the mine and he will this evening meet Mr.
Cole, the superintendent, who will come to Santa Fe from Rinconado. Fifteen men are employed at the mine at present, who found a large body of fine ore last week. It carries 20 to 25 per cent of copper, 30 to 40 ounces of silver and $5 to $6 worth of gold to the ton. Several reservoirs are being built, machinery for a concentrating mill and mining machinery are on the way to Taos, and a large number of men will be put to work on the property this summer. The men at the mine are driving in the shafts and finding ore in such quantities as to prove that the Copper Hill is one of the most valuable copper properties in the territory.

While at Las Vegas, Dr. Martin received assurance that this summer work will be commenced on a railroad from Las Vegas to Taos. Dr. Martin is somewhat skeptical about the project but would very much like to see its successful realization.
