A TERRIBLE WRECK

Twenty-eight Persons Lost Their Lives in a Pennsylvania Rear End Collision.LIST OF DEAD AND WOUNDEDA Following Engine Plowed Through Three Cars Filled With Passengers and Fled Escaped Injury.Reading, Pa., May 13.—A terrible rear-end collision of passenger trains occurred last night on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at Exeter, a small station six miles below Reading, resulting in the loss of at least twenty-eight lives, and probably forty others are badly injured. The "cannon-ball" express for Philadelphia was about a half hour late. The number of Harrisburg passengers being too great to be accommodated, it was decided to send an extra to Philadelphia to run as the second section of the express. The heavy travel was due to the Hartranft monument unveiling yesterday at Harrisburg. The second section left here about twenty minutes after the express train. At Exeter the first train stopped for orders. While standing still it was crashed into by the second section with terrible force. The locomotive plowed clear through two rear cars, reducing them to splinters, then mounted the end of the third car from the rear. The first car of the second train was also wrecked. Many occupants were crushed to death instantly, and others mangled in a horrible manner. The dead are:
Frank D. Shaner, Norristown; ex-Postmaster George W. Schall, Norristown; Captain S. T. Stirk, Philadelphia; Miss Annie McGraw, Ashland; Harry
Hunchberg, Gulf Mills; Frank Somer,

Philadelphia, May 13.—General Superintendent A. I. Swigart, of the Reading railway, gave out a statement this afternoon, in which he places the number of killed in the wreck near Exeterlast night at twenty-five, injured fifty.
Swigart says: "The cause of the accident was the pulling out of a drawbar on a coal train taking a sidetrack at Birdsboro to allow the first section of the express train to pass. Considerable time was consumed in coupling up the coal train, and it did not clear, delaying
the first section of the express."NORRISTOWN'S LOSS.
Norristown, Pa., May 13.—Thirteen well-known citizens of this place were killed in a wreck on the Reading railroad last night, and over thirty seriously injured. John Slinguff, one of the killed, was chief of the volunteer fire department, president of the Montgomery National Bank, police inspector and director of the Reading railway. Others were prominent in business circles or retired merchants.Charles H. White and Captain Eicholtz, died this morning shortly after being admitted to a hospital.PHILADELPHIA MEN KILLED.
Philadelphia, May 13.—Three men killed in the Reading wreck were employed in the United States appraiser's department of this city. They were:
Captain George C. M. Eicholtz, Captain
C. T. Street and Elmer E. Schelly.BIG BEAR RAID.
Caused by the Death of Ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower.New York, May 13.—The body of ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower was brought to this city today from Eastport, L. I., where he died last night of heart failure. Owing to the diversified interests of Mr. Flower, which includes a number of speculative properties on the New York Stock Exchange, the bear faction prepared for a concerted raid against these stocks at the opening of the market. Immense blocks of stocks came out on a scale down to 19 points,
the latter in Brooklyn Transit. People's Gas struck 15 points, Federal Steel and Rock Island and other Flower investments 5 to 10 points. About 50,000 shares were thrown over of Brooklyn Transit during the first fifteen minutes. After the first quarter of an hour the market turned violently upward. New York Air Brake recovered 40 points, to 165. Anson R. Flower, head of the firm of Flower & Co., said today: "Governor Flower had no stocks on hand
other than those he held for investment.
These will not be placed on the market.
Governor Flower's death should have no effect, as far as our holdings are concerned."The trading on the stock exchange
during the first hour eclipsed anything ever witnessed on the market for violence of fluctuations. Variations of 2 to 3 points were common, and in one instance there was a split on New York Air Brake of 15 points on a single transaction. There appeared to be some unanimity of action among substantial investors to support the market after the opening demoralization, and stocks
were purchased rapidly, improving prices.Heavy realizations started prices down grade again. The market closed under pressure, but with the general level of prices materially above the lowest.THE FLOWER FIRM O. K.
New York, May 13.—Russell Sage said of Flower: "I knew Mr. Flower for twenty years. His word was worth $1,000,000 at any time. I don't think it will be found that he was worth over $5,000,000 or $6,000,000."A. R. Flower said the firm had been overwhelmed with offers of assistance from large financial interests. All offers were declined with a statement that the firm did not need money.Dewey Needs Rest.
San Francisco, May 13.—In response to a message from Mayor Phelan, asking him to become a guest of the coast
on his return from Manila, Admiral Dewey cabled: "With sincere thanks, I must decline the hospitality of the Pacific coast. Condition of my health makes absolute rest and quiet imperative."A Crazy Girl's Dead.
Pittsburg, Pa., May 13.—Bertha Beilstern, on trial for the murder of her mother, was acquitted today, a jury

cliffe, aged 72 years, is dead.Columbia Crew Wins a Race.
Annapolis, Md., May 13.—The boat
race between Columbia and the Cadets to-day was won by the Columbia by half a length. Time—12:45.The Strike of Coal Miners.
Pittsburg, Kan., May 13.—The strike of coal miners in western Missouri and southeastern Kansas, ordered by National President Mitchell, of the U. M.
W. A., to take place at noon to-day, was respected at all camps except Yale. Yale miners, by a vote of 180 to 18, opposed a strike that only called out part of the miners. They called another meeting.
President Wright, of district 14, said to-day that a general strike would have to be declared before they would win.Race Ends Tonight.
New York, May 13.—The twenty-two-hour go-as-you-please race will be finished at midnight. There were only eight starters to-day. Guerrero and Craig quit. The score at 2 o'clock was:
Hegelman, 358 miles; Glick, 348; Tracy,
338; Cox, 334; Igo, 314; Day, 306; Barnes,

PHILIPPINE TROUBLE

Rebels Making Work Around San Fernando—Army Has Difficulty in Getting to Them.AGUINALDO IS VERY FOXYThe Dictator Seeks a Conference With the United States Commissioners Again But Hopes Europe Will Recognize Him.Manila, May 13.—Aguinaldo has issued orders for all foreigners to leave the insurgents' territory within forty eight hours. There are only a few commercial men there, mostly English and German. Aguinaldo believes by refusing their rights to non-combatants
he can force their governments to recognize belligerency of his so-called government in order that they may treat for safety of their subjects. A Filipino priest who talked with Tagal General Treas brought Father McKinnon a copy of a letter written by Aguinaldo to General Treas asking his opinion of the advisability of surrendering, saying: "I fear long warfare will be necessary to conquer the United States and will drain our country's resources too much."
The rebels are so close to San Fernando as to make life at that place uncomfortable. To get the armies of the United States advanced so far, the question of transportation has become a great problem. To solve it engineers are repairing a bridge so it will be safe for the passage of trains and give railroad connection between Manila and San Fernando. Meantime, supplies shipped to Calumpit have to be hailed fifteen miles to General MacArthur at San Fernando, and twenty miles to General Lawton at Bacolor by bullock carts, and every cart has to be ferryed separately on a raft across the Rio Grande two or three times. Roads are so rough it is impossible to make more than a mile an hour. Among the thousands of pretended friendly natives returning to their homes beside the American army, are some who make one unsafe unless Americans go well armed and in parties. Soldiers going about alone are frequently fired upon from houses or from beside bushes.Reyes, lieutenant on the staff of General Delphi, came to General Lawton to-day under a flag of truce, and was escorted to Manila. Reyes told Major General Otis that Aguinaldo desired passes for a military commission to come to Manila to confer with the American Philippine commissioners.
Otis replied that passes were not necessary, as unarmed commissioners could enter the American lines.Reduction in Rates, over the Denver

HOW IT IS DONE.

A Trust Pays Cash Value for a Plant and Gives Stock to Load on the Public.
Washington, May 13.—The whisky trust was under investigation by the industrial commission to-day.Speaking of the organization of the Standard company, Chase Clark, a dis-tiller, testified that the method of getting rival concerns in was to put a valuation on a distillery, pay full value cash, then give the owner the value in preferred stock and again in common stock. Capitalists behind the enterprises also get the full amount of valuation of preferred stock and one and a half times this amount of common stock. Clark believed in the end that trusts would fall of their own weight.Wagner Car Official Killed.Utica, N. Y., May 13.—Harry Neat, of Buffalo, assistant superintendent of the Wagner Car Company, was injured in a collision in the New York Central yards here last night, and died to-day.Dewey's Voyage Home.Manila, May 13.—Admiral Dewey will leave for the United States as soon as he can arrange his business here and give full instructions of the management of the fleet to his successor. The cruiser Olympia, upon which Admiral Dewey will make the voyage home, will sail on a leisurely trip, stopping at Mediterranean ports some time to give the admiral, officers of the ship and the crew an opportunity for rest. Like all of the Olympia's company, Dewey is much run down by a long stay at the tropical port without change, under rigid conditions incident to a war footing.
The Olympia will proceed first to Hong Kong, where a fortnight will be spent in transferring the mud color to white.Chicago, May 13.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Crosby and her 14-year-old son Thomas, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Nye, returned a verdict to-day. Mrs. Crosby was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to a year

A granddaughter of President Grant is to wed a Russian nobleman. If she would profit by the experience of the daughter of the American hero she would wed among her own countrymen.

The English have begun to remove to America in greater numbers than ever before. Their country is getting crowded, and there is more room in America for golf links.

The American army must rush and crush the Filipinos by the end of this month, or else the war will be prolonged and more troops will be needed. That is the present outlook, and the conviction is growing that they will be required.

Since January 1 over 6,000 cases of typhoid fever have been reported by physicians in Philadelphia, caused by the impure river water the people drink. But a few cases of smallpox would probably create a greater panic in the slow city than the typhoid epidemic.

The Alamogordo, La Luz and Tularosa people have done much justifiable bragging of the fruit that grows in the valleys of the Sacramento mountains. They have a right to be proud of it, and should have some of it on exhibition at the territorial horticultural fair at Santa Fe this year.

The industrial commission at Washington is digging away to unearth all facts in connection with trusts and their workings. Very properly, the commission has begun with the worst of all offenders, the Standard Oil Company, and will have a session with John D. Rockefeller, the head push of the robbing corporations.

Chicago is receiving commendations from all over the country for her patriotic meetings held to condemn the expressions of the college professors and political saints who are encouraging the Filipinos. Public meetings in all cities will probably soon be held to voice the opinions of the people.

The officials of the German government have seized upon the allegations that unwholesome refrigerated beef is sold by American packers, to support their plan to exclude the American product. The Germans may go hungry if they like, but Americans who can get refrigerated beef will continue to enjoy it.

Prosperity in New Mexico is attracting immigrants. Last week about forty families from Indian territory arrived at Raton, and will reside in that locality. There is room and work for many more in the mountains and valleys of the territory. Many of the Raton settlers have already found employment in the lumber industry. Raton has just decided to erect a $10,000 school house on a block donated by the Maxwell grant company. The town now has a population of 4,000, and is growing rapidly. Railway business there was greatly enlarged during the last year. The Maxwell Land Grant Company, by advertising and enterprise, is helping that section. New Mexico is short on laborers yet, and even a hobo can get $1.50 per day if he will condescend to work. The railway being built in Otero county still calls for men at $1.75 per day, and down in Grant county there is a scarcity of laborers at mines and on railway work.

The National Woman's Health Protective League in Cleveland has been condemning kissing. But resolutions passed by the women every hour in the day would not banish the custom. Some form of affectionate greeting prevails in all lands, and scarcely one of them would meet the approval of American women as a substitute for kissing. Among the foreign customs may be mentioned patting the arms, blowing on the hands and rubbing noses, the last of which is common among horses, as well as with the Malays, Polynesians and Greenlanders. Darwin once beheld the Malay salutation, and he wrote of it: "The women sat crouching with their faces turned upward, and put his nose in a right angle against theirs, whereupon he made a pressure. The act lasted a little longer than a common handshake among us." As long as affection demands some greeting, so long will the kiss remain a token. The woman who advocates its abandonment surely has no children to caress, no husband to greet, no sweetheart to welcome, or else she talks through her spring millinery.

Facts About Vaccination.

A modern fad, or an old prejudice that existed when vaccination was inaugurated, has been revived by a long period of exemption from smallpox in most large cities of the world. But long experience in all sections where smallpox is indigenous or prevails to some extent at all times like other diseases, proves that the only safety lies in vaccination renewed every few years. The opposition to it in such localities exists only among such natives as have little fear of the disease and consider it only as they do any other illness against which they take no special precautions. There are fewer of these indifferent ones than there used to be, because they have learned from Anglo-Saxon settlers that the disease may be avoided entirely by vaccination. In the Franco-Prussian war the German army, which had enforced vaccination, had but 261 cases, while in the French army, which was not so protected, there were 23,469 cases. In Russia before the introduction of vaccination 2,000,000 people were killed by the disease in one year. In Ireland in 1707 fully 18,000 of the 50,000 people succumbed to the plague. Statisticians state that in the eighteenth century 60,000,000 people died of smallpox. Before vaccination was introduced into Sweden 2,045 deaths in every million were due to this disease, but now the number is but 155. In England 2,000 deaths in every million were caused by smallpox, but since the epidemic of 1871-2, which was followed by compulsory vaccination, the rate has been reduced to 58, and in Scotland but eight deaths in a million are now charged to the plague. The French Canadians have been the most determined opponents of vaccination on the American continent, and they have perished by the thousands when other races escaped.

The Conspiracy Cases.

The arrest of E. H. Bergmann, late superintendent of the penitentiary, and his son, Henry Bergmann, upon a charge of conspiracy, was expected after the previous arrest of O. L. Merrill, late assistant superintendent of the institution, upon a similar charge. The New Mexican has, through official sources, long been aware that evidence to warrant arrests and charges was being gathered, but for reasons of public policy and to respect confidence placed in it, the paper has published no facts, except to mention the serving of warrants. It was desired not to interfere with the work of the officers, nor to inflame public opinion when an official investigation was being made.

The proceedings leading up to the charge began with the making of a written affidavit by an inmate of the penitentiary that various parties had plotted to murder a number of other citizens of prominence, and that he was the chosen instrument. The plot, in detail, if true, was one of the most horrible conspiracies of modern criminal history. Therefore, investigation was begun by detectives and other officials and continued for some months, with the active assistance of Hon. Thomas B. Catron, the alleged principal to the murderous plot, who had been informed by a convict of the revelation made to officials.

The result was that when the self-professed chosen instrument of death for proposed victims ended his term of imprisonment, he was incarcerated in the county jail upon a charge of perjury in having made the previous written statement on oath. The prisoner soon made a second affidavit, which led to the arrest of persons now accused of having conspired to have this convict make the criminal accusations against the parties whom he said engaged him to commit murder.

The issue is now fairly made. The whole truth and all falsehood should be drawn out by the court. On one side are involved the reputations of men who were said to have planned assassination. Upon the other are those charged with a conspiracy to accuse others of intending to commit cowardly crimes.

The interests of the public as well as of the individuals affected are at stake, and although the charges are for judicial investigation now, the people have a right to know all facts of the case.

The New Mexican will publish all of the developments without fear or favor, and with strict impartiality, and all evidence submitted in court.

The court will doubtless impose justice in favor or against the accused. Public opinion should be just, and doubtless will be when the facts are printed.

Colonial Governments.

There are 52,000,000 square miles of land area on this planet, and one-half of this is under colonial governments of some character. England rules one-half of the colonial territory, and two-thirds of the colonial population. In Europe or South America only 3 per cent of the country comes under this classification, but 43 per cent of North America does, 27 per cent of Asia, 80 per cent of Africa, and 90 per cent of Oceania. When it comes to population, the percentages given for area hold good in the two great geographical divisions named last, but in Europe and South America it is only 1 per cent of the population, in North America 10 per cent, and in Asia 35 per cent.

All the governing countries are in the north temperate zone, and more than three-fourths of the governed or colonial areas and peoples are in the torrid zone. There are 127 colonies, Great Britain having 52, France 23, Germany 8, and the United States and Spain 4 each. The governing countries have a total area of 15,683,534 square miles, and their colonies 22,421,791 square miles. In population the governing countries number 851,375,427, and their dependencies 531,764,301.

When the tropical countries were governed by rulers in the torrid zones they knew no peace or freedom. There has been an improvement in all since colonial governments were established. The new colonies of America will be no exception to the rule. The policy of this country will undoubtedly be similar in many respects to that of England, which is "not only to give to the colonies as large a share as practicable in the management of their affairs, but to perform all the details at the point where the laws are to be administered; that is, within the colony itself; while with other governments the details are largely attended to at the seat of the home government."

MINERAL IN SANTA FE COUNTY.

No reason worth one minute's consideration has ever yet been advanced why the San Juan de Cristo range, from Rosita, Custer county, Colo., into Santa Fe county, N. M., should not equal any other portion of the Rocky mountains, in the production of the precious and useful metals. On the other hand, ev-

A SMALL SPOT MAY BE CANCER.

MOST VIOLENT CASES HAVE

APPEARED AT FIRST AS

MERE PIMPLES.

The greatest care should be given to any little sore, pimple or scratch which shows no disposition to heal under ordinary treatment. No one can tell how soon these will develop into Cancer of the worst type. So many people die from Cancer simply because they do not know just what the disease is; they naturally turn themselves over to the doctors, and are forced to submit to a cruel and dangerous operation—the only treatment which the doctors know for Cancer. The disease is not contagious, however, and is even more violent and destructive than before. Cancer is a deadly poison in the blood, and an operation, plaster, or other external treatment can have no effect whatever upon it. The cure must come from within—the last vestige of poison must be eradicated.

Mr. Wm. Walpole, of Walskington, S. D., says: "A little blotch about the size of a pea came under my left eye, gradually growing larger, from which shooting pains at intervals ran in all directions. I became greatly alarmed and consulted a good doctor, who pronounced it Cancer, and advised that it be cut out, but this I could not consent to. I read in my local paper of a cure effected by S. S. S., and decided to try it. It acted like a charm, the Cancer becoming at first irritated, and then discharging very freely. This gradually grew less and then discontinued altogether, leaving a small scar which soon dropped off, and now only a healthy skin remains where what threatened to destroy my life once held full sway." Positively the only cure for Cancer is Swift's Specific—

S. S. S. FOR THE BLOOD

—because it is the only remedy which can go deep enough to reach the root of the disease and force it out of the system permanently. A surgical operation does not reach the blood—the real seat of the disease—because the blood can not be cut away. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place. S. S. S. cures also any case of Scrofula, Eczema, Rheumatism, Contagious Blood Poison, Ulcers, Sores, or any other form of blood disease. Valuable books on Cancer and Blood Diseases will be mailed free to any address by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

every experiment and investigation goes to establish the great mineral wealth of this whole section, and the existence of plenty of mineral as far south as the Colorado-New Mexico line is now admitted. Does any man who makes any pretense of having rational epochs in his career wish to stand on the theory that an imaginary line presumed to cross a row of hills has any effect upon their composition?

THE WOOL SUPPLY.

(Raton Range.) Had it not been for the infamous Wilson bill, that admitted foreign wools into America free, our wool producers would be receiving remunerative prices today for their products. When the Republican party secured control, in the last congress, it was known that American wool would be protected, and every manufacturer and many speculators imported all the foreign wool they could purchase. That is what is affecting the legitimate price of our wools. In a few more months this supply of foreign imported wool will be exhausted. For this we can feel thankful.

PRESS COMMENTS.

AN EFFICIENT RIVER CRAFT.

(Detroit Journal.) The statement was made some time ago that the government desired for the Philippine river service, small, light draft steamers, known as "iron-clads." But they are not necessary now. Colonel Funston fills the bill.

THE ANTI-EXPANSIONISTS.

(Washington Times.) There has never been any doubt of the sentiment of the vast majority of the American people regarding the policy of expansion. They have regarded it as a settled fact. They have realized that while the consequences of the war could not be foreseen, they could not be shirked or evaded whatever they might be. If they were apathetic in going to the record to this effect it was only because they did not deem it necessary to do so. Comparatively speaking, the anti-expansionists, the opponents of the policy of the government, and the revilers of it at every successive step, have been so small in numbers as to be beneath contempt. But what they have lacked in multiplicity they have made up in noise, in venom, and in the vilest kind of treason. They have prided themselves on being "educators of the masses," while preaching a gospel of despair. They have sought in every manner of way to undermine the administration and paralyze the patriotism of the nation.

FEARED BY CAPITALISTS.

(Kansas City Star.) The trust, as at present constituted, is a danger to capital and to the general finances of the country, and the fact that they are a growing evil and are the agents of harm and mischief is proven by the fact that they are grieved with fear and suspicion by capital as well as by labor.

A VILLAINOUS LIBEL.

(Illinois State Journal.) It is a villainous libel upon soldiers who swim rivers under fire to assert that they are unwilling to fight and anxious only to return home. The anti-expansionist copperheads mistake the mettle of the American volunteer as badly as they do the sentiments of the American people.

THE WHIPPING POST.

(Hartford Courant.) Governor Roosevelt, of New York, has given out that he favors a return to the whipping post for certain crimes. In this he is supported by the presidents of several anti-crime societies and by many careful thinkers. If put to a popular vote to-day, whipping would be adopted as the punishment for wife-beating. It "fits the crime." Cowards especially dread the lash, and especially take to beating their wives. A revival of the whip in punishment would reduce brutal crimes.

REFORMING THE LANGUAGE.

(Washington Times.) In spite of its defects, and they are neither few nor small, the English language is making progress at a rate which looks like an all-conquering march. But there are a good many educators in the United States who desire to facilitate that march, or, at any rate, to make it more comfortable. Among those is Dr. Andrews, ex-president of Brown University, now holding the im-

Who's to Blame?
News from Madrid says that Gen. Martinez Campos has insisted upon the appointment of a commission to investigate the conduct of the war and to place the responsibility. Carelessness and neglect all through the war gave rise to the most disastrous conditions, but no more dangerous than comes from neglect of the health. It is every one's duty to guard his health. It is easier to keep it than to regain it. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters taken honestly will not only create health, but will preserve it. It is the medicine which for fifty years has made weak stomachs strong, and has overcome that terrible dragon, dyspepsia, and all the evils such as constipation, biliousness, kidneys and liver troubles, malaria and fever and ague, which follow in its train.

A FOLLOWER OF MEASLES.—In many instances a persistent cough follows an attack of measles. In speaking of this Mr. Walter B. Beal, editor of the Elkin (N. C.) I consider it not only a pleasure but a duty I owe to my neighbors to tell about the wonderful cure effected in my case by the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I was taken very badly with flux and procured a bottle of this remedy. A few doses of it effected a permanent cure. I take pleasure in recommending it to others suffering from that dreadful disease.—J. W. LYNN, Dorr, W. Va. This remedy is sold by A. C. Ireland.

Weary Watkins—It is a guy that still has money left after drinking all he wants.—Indianapolis Journal.

The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon within a man. Anyone who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the infliction is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's Pain Balm would cast out demons, but it will cure rheumatism, and hundreds bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone worth many times its cost. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

The Chicago Record's Correspondent
Writes of Their Habits and Progress.

SOME ANCIENT CUSTOMS

Railway Preparations Being Made for Heavy Travel in and Through New Mexico for the Coming Season.

Special Correspondence of the Chicago Record.

Santa Fe, N. M., May 4.—The Pueblo Indians of New Mexico are making no apparent progress. The government has provided fine schools for them at Santa Fe, Albuquerque and other points, and several hundred of the coming generation are being taught the arts and industries of civilization, but their fathers and mothers still cling to their ancient customs and retain their pagan superstitions, which for the most part are peaceful and poetic and appeal strongly to sentiment, but are interwoven with religious rites that are cruel and barbaric. They are a quiet and industrious people. They have no malice and no vices except what they have imitated from the whites; they mind their own affairs in a manner that furnishes the most civilized community a commendable example; they keep their promises and contracts; they are frugal, thrifty and enterprising in various ways, but they prefer their own ancient customs to the modern methods which the whites have introduced, and "stand in the way of progress."

What the next generation, now being educated at the government schools, may bring forth is an interesting question. The children are quick to learn, they are obedient, studious and eager for knowledge, but the greater number of those who have graduated from these institutions have resumed their ancestral habits as soon as they have returned to the pueblos. This is, of course, discouraging to their educators, who see with grief that so little use is made of the knowledge they have endeavored to instill into the youthful minds. Heredity is stronger than culture. The habits of centuries refuse to yield to intellectual treatment. The missionaries representing several of the religious denominations in the different pueblos find the Indians equally tenacious of their ancient faith, although it has yielded considerably to the persistence of the Catholic priests, who have been among them ever since the conquest of Mexico, and have taught them many of the useful arts as well as a knowledge of the Christian religion.

The physicians employed by the government to doctor them for bodily diseases are equally unsuccessful. The Indians take the medicine, but continue to practice their heathenish incantations and depend upon the supernatural powers of their own medicine men. The smallpox now prevails among them to an extent that prohibits strangers from visiting the pueblos, and has interrupted trade, but the Indians refuse to be vaccinated, and when a person dies they distribute the germs of the disease as widely as possible by dividing his garments and other belongings among his relatives, by inviting his friends to the funeral from all the neighboring villages and exposing the corpse publicly for the inspection of men, women and children. Vaccination should be made compulsory, and the agency physicians should be required to enforce sanitary regulations in all the pueblos. If the stories that are told are true, some of the agency doctors are very neglectful of their duties.

About half-way between Las Vegas and Santa Fe is a sacred spot—the Nazareth of the Aztecs, the old pueblo of Pecos—where the simple children of the sun believe that Montezuma was born. It matters not that the records of the church and state and the truth of history discredit the romantic legend that is the basis of their religious faith; the story remains one of the most charming of the folklore of our land. According to their traditions the birth and youth of Montezuma were strangely similar to those of the Christ. When he grew to manhood he became their prophet, priest and king, and when he disappeared he became a messiah, who, they devoutly believe, will return to relieve them from their present degradation and restore the glory and the power of an empire of which they have but the vaguest conception. This belief seems to be the development of the Christian theory of salvation on an Aztec foundation.

The Aztecs worshipped fire, and Montezuma's principal occupation when he grew to manhood was to keep the flames alive on the altar of an ancient estufa, or temple, which stood in his native village of Pecos, a few miles south of a cluster of shanties that now surround a water tank and a railroad house that bears the Israelitish name of Levy. One day a great white eagle came and carried Montezuma away on its back. Everywhere the bird alighted on its journey southward a pueblo arose, and the end of the flight was the base of Popocatepetl, where Montezuma founded an empire and a dynasty, which reigned for centuries, until it was overthrown by the Spaniards, who killed the king, stripped the temples and palaces and enslaved the people.

Before he left Pecos on the aerial journey Montezuma told the people that some time he would come back again to redeem them, and every morning the devout and confiding Aztec goes to his housetop at sunrise, and shading his eyes with his dusky hand, scans the horizon in the hope that his messiah will appear. He told them they must keep the fire on the altar burning until he came, and this injunction was obeyed until travel became so frequent along the Santa Fe trail that the priests feared the vandals would extinguish it and prevent the return of their redeemer; so they took it one day with great ceremony over the mountains to the pueblo of Taos, where, according to tradition, Montezuma's eagle first alighted in its flight from Pecos. There it is supposed to burn to-day in a secluded spot, piously guarded from the touch or sight of unbelievers, and safe from the sacrilegious hand of the cowboy, whom him. He is so playful and holds himself up so well. I would like to see this in print for so many have asked me. Do you know where the testimonial of the people, or has Dr. Pierce just made them up and printed them?

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION

to be the greatest of all medicines for the cure of diseases and disorders of the organs distinctly feminine. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women. It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. It contains no whisky, alcohol, opium or other narcotic, and therefore, does not cause a craving for stimulants. It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute. No counterfeits as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most precious possession—your health—maybe your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

The Pueblos fear as much as they reverence their mythical messiah.

The old town of Pecos was no doubt a fortified pueblo of the Aztecs, and stands to-day, as it stood for many centuries, upon a great rock, which bears the shape of a human foot. It was founded, no one knows when, as there are no records. It can be seen at the left of the track, and farther down on the right, 1,000 feet from the car window, a heap of adobe ruins which mark the spot where Montezuma's church stood. It can be plainly seen, but has been stripped by the hands of vandals of everything except its sacred memories.

It would be difficult to imagine a more picturesque valley than that which bears the Pecos village in its bosom. It is not only beautiful, but the soil is rich, the grass superb, and there is plenty of water for cattle and irrigation purposes; the mountains are full of precious metals, and there are inexhaustible mines, which need only capital and energy to develop them. In the control of men less indolent than the Mexicans this valley would have been an Eden hundreds of years ago, but it stands to-day for a great part what it was when it left the hand of the Creator, awaiting Yankee enterprise to awaken it to life and develop its richness.

It is remarkable that these Indian villages are not visited more frequently than they are by our own people, for they contain more of interest than any town in Egypt or Africa, where thousands are going every year at great expense of time and money. Several of the pueblos are conveniently located with reference to the railroad, the cars passing in sight of them, while others are at a considerable distance, but arrangements can easily be made to reach them by applying to the conductor of the train.

The humor of the saloon-keepers down this way finds expression in novel signboards. "A gentleman's thirst parlor" is the latest and most remarkable we have seen; but another and more candid saloon-keeper advertises "Nose paint for sale." "Suction socials" are held every evening at a certain mining camp and "larynx lubrication" is a new term for taking a drink.

You've all heard of the inscription that was found in an abandoned dugout in North Dakota some years ago, but it has been somewhat improved upon by a New Mexican prospector who left in his cabin the following inventory of his situation:

"Forty miles from a railroad.
"Thirty miles from a post office.
"Nearest neighbor, 25 miles.
"Nearest wood twenty-three miles.
"Nearest water four miles.
"Hell one-half mile.
"God bless our home."

The railroads are making preparations for the large tourist business this year. The National Educational Society, which met last year in Washington and called together several thousand school teachers from different parts of the country, will meet in July at Los Angeles, and several other important associations will gather at different points in California during the summer. In addition to these an unusual amount of pleasure travel is expected, which is a direct result of the prosperity revival. The visitors to the far west have been comparatively few for several years, for pleasure travel is a luxury which the majority of people were not able to indulge in.

To meet the demands of this travel boom, extensive preparations are being made by the Santa Fe company. A beautiful new hotel has recently been completed in connection with the railway station at Fort Dodge, and another even more extensive at Las Vegas. The latter is a beautiful example of the mission style of architecture, with long, cool cloisters and Moorish arches. It is by far the prettiest hotel between St. Louis and the Pacific.

A novel improvement recently adopted by the Santa Fe company would be a grateful boon to the patrons of all other railroads, east and west. Electric fans have been fitted to the ceilings of the passenger coaches, dining cars and Pullman sleepers. The motive power is derived from an apparatus attached to the axles and the electricity is generated and stored by the revolution of the wheels. In this way summer travelers will be furnished with fresh air when and where it is most needed.

Passes.
Sprocket—Do you believe that the bicycle has seen its best days?
Tyre—I know mine has.
—Philadelphia North American.

Rough on the Doctor.
Mrs. Bright—Johnny, did the doctor come while I was out?
Johnny (suspecting his play)—Yes, ma. He felt my pulse, looked at my tongue, and shook his head, and said it was a serious case, and he left a prescription and said he'd call again this evening.
Mrs. Bright—Gracious me! It wasn't I sent him to see! It was the baby! —Ally Sloper.

Not to Be Drawn.
Scenic Artist (to manager)—I have heard we shall soon have to congratulate you on another engagement—this time of the matrimonial order.
Manager—Indeed, who told you that?
Scenic Artist—True enough, isn't it? Manager—Look here, Danbison, you're a very clever artist, no doubt, but you can't draw me like that! —Pick Me Up.

Anxious to Please.
"Of course you wouldn't think of saving yourself at the expense of some one else," said the French soldier's friend.
"Well," was the answer, "you know the popular cry now is 'long live the army.' So, as a part of the army, I feel it my duty to live as long and comfortably as possible." —Washington Star.

Why He Suffered.
Mr. Snuggs—When my wife has the grip, I suffer intensely.
Mr. Spillins—From sympathy, I suppose.
Mr. Snuggs—To some extent from sympathy, but chiefly because she calls it "the la grippe." —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

This Is Your Opportunity.
On receipt of ten cents, cash or stamps, a generous sample will be mailed of the most popular Catarrh and Hay Fever Cure (Ely's Cream Balm) sufficient to demonstrate the great merits of the remedy.

Carried Idealism Too Far.
"Speaking of applying the artistic to ordinary duties," said the biggest liar in the drapery shop, "reminds me of my unmarried aunt Ophelia, with whom I lived when I was a kid. She used sometimes to do such a fine job of making the beds that she would make us kids sleep on the floor because she had not the heart to see her work spoiled." —Nuggets.

Evidence to the Contrary.
They were speaking of the heavy, brutal looking man.
"I saw him in a fight once," said one.
"You did!" exclaimed the other.
"Well, then he lied to me."
"What did he tell you?"
"He said he was a professional pugilist." —Chicago Post.

Only a Guess.
Yeast—I suppose some kinds of lightning are quicker than others?
Crimsonback—Certainly.
"Which do you consider the fastest lightning?"
"I should think chained lightning would be the fastest." —Yonkers Statesman.

Cause for the Rash Act.
"Any cause been found for that suicide yet?" asked the reporter.
"Naw," answered the policeman.
"We're inclined to think that she killed herself because she thought she looked like the picture of her you printed next afternoon." —Cincinnati Enquirer.

HELD TO ANSWER

Walter E. Locke Must Stay in Jail Pending Trial for Murder of Fred L. Merrill.

BAIL WAS REFUSED HIM

The Prosecution Disclosed Little Evidence and the Defense Failed to Establish a Case of Suicide.

Justice J. M. Garcia, at the hearing of Walter E. Locke yesterday afternoon, overruled the motion of the defense to release the defendant for want of sufficient evidence. He also overruled the motion to admit Locke to bail on account of reasonable doubt against the defendant. The judge then remanded him to await the action of the grand jury on the first Monday in September.

G. B. Chapin, for the defense, testified that Sunday evening, between 5 and 6 o'clock, he hailed James Van Arsdale's coach, which was standing in front of the jail at the time. Merrill was in the carriage, and wanted to get into the jail to see O. L. Merrill, but was refused admittance. Then F. L. Merrill said: "When I die, I want you to be one of my pall-bearers." Later on Merrill said: "Next time you see me will be on the road to the cemetery."

One of the next witnesses for the defense, James Van Arsdale, flatly contradicted one of Chapin's statements by testifying that Chapin had come into the carriage in front of Lacombe's saloon. Van Arsdale described the carriage trip he had taken that afternoon with Merrill, and admitted that he had said Monday afternoon to Deputy Sheriff Huber that there might have been women in the hack with Merrill. Van Arsdale, however, said that upon more serious thought he was positive that there were no women in the hack. He drove with Merrill to Fairview cemetery, where Merrill stood beside the grave of his sister, and said: "I want to be buried right beside of her." Van Arsdale asked: "What do you mean?" Merrill answered: "I want to take my life." Van Arsdale told him: "No sane man will say that." After that Van Arsdale fell under the influence of liquor. Later on Atalano Gold was picked up, and he drove, Van Arsdale going into the hack with Merrill.

Atalano Gold testified that he had bidden Merrill good-bye in front of his home. Merrill shook hands with Gold before going into the house, and said: "Good-bye, if I never meet again."

Charles B. Conklin testified that April 27 Merrill had asked him for the loan of a pistol. "I want to shoot myself; I do not want to see to-morrow's sun." It was also testified that since his sister's death Merrill had appeared melancholy and all "knocked out."

Dr. Daniel Knapp was the last witness of the defense. He testified that one of the wounds on the right side of the head was a clear, incised wound. When asked to explain the circular apertures in the skull on both sides of the head he said that they might have been caused by a bullet, especially since no piece of skull fitting in those openings had been found, and that the bone around those apertures had not been badly splintered. The territory, in the cross-examination, pressed Dr. Knapp very closely, but failed to shake his testimony.

During the latter part of the examination Locke became visibly excited, and demanded that he wanted a perfect examination. He also demanded that Merrill's alleged statement should be admitted as evidence. Locke showed by his actions that despite his affected coolness he was, after all, a very excitable character, who, under a strong stress, would lose his head.

The defense held that Merrill might have died from the effect of a bullet wound; that Merrill had repeatedly, up to an hour or two before his death, threatened to commit suicide, and that the prosecution had failed to produce a scintilla of evidence to show that Locke was in any way connected with the murder, if murder there was.

District Attorney R. C. Gortner made a formal address, while A. B. Renahan made an eloquent and elaborate plea for his client.

Locke took the judge's decision coolly, and expressed no emotion when led back to jail. Judge Garcia's decision meets with popular approval, and while the territory did not make a strong showing at the hearing yesterday it is known that it holds considerable evidence against Locke, and that it has compelled the defense to show its hand and outline its method of defense, without disclosing much of the evidence of the prosecution.

Locke yesterday shook hands with District Attorney Robert C. Gortner and said: "My God, you are trying an innocent man." Locke then wanted to tell Gortner the story of the alleged suicide, but the district attorney referred him to the attorney for the defense. Attorney Renahan threatened to withdraw from the case if Locke did not stop talking to others about the case.

A very thorough search of the premises of Locke's residence was made.

Invitations have been issued for a luncheon by Mrs. Bergere, for Monday, which is expected to be quite a society event. The occasion is to be in honor of Mrs. Sol. Luna.

The Fifteen club met at the home of Mrs. Day Thursday afternoon. Miss Amy Gullford in the chair. The first number a paper by Mrs. Marsh, on "Modern German Fiction and the Drama," was one that showed much thought and research and did full justice to the subject. Mrs. Day's reading on "Modern Berlin" was of a special interest. Mrs. Ralph Gay, Helen Hunt's graphic account of the great Passion Play, which is performed every decade to the delight of thousands of spectators the little town of Oberammergau, where in the drama is enacted, the peasants who take part in the play also coming in for their share of description. Practical parliamentary law was led by Mrs. Laughlin. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Gullford, Mrs. Laughlin to preside.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Morrison, Jr., delightfully entertained a party of friends at cards Tuesday evening.

Major Max Luna will depart in a day or two for El Paso to meet Mrs. Luna upon her return from San Antonio, Tex., where she has been visiting her father.

Adolph Seligman will leave Sunday evening for Santa Rosalia Springs, Mexico, where he will spend six weeks.

Mrs. Mills, wife of the chief justice of New Mexico, who has many personal friends in Santa Fe, entertained at dinner at her home Friday evening. The table decorations were handsome, consisting of beautiful flowers, notably scarlet carnations, which lent a charm to the glitter of cut glass. It was a merry party and thoroughly enjoyed by the guests. Those entertained were Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Fendley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Nyess, Misses Mary La Rue and Mary Davis, and Messrs. G. P. Money and Max Nordhaus.

F. C. McClintock, observer at the government weather bureau, has been transferred to the Denver station, and will leave some time this month. J. B. Sloan, formerly of Santa Fe, and now of Denver, will succeed Mr. McClintock.

Archbishop Bourgade is slowly improving from his attack of illness.

Solicitor General Bartlett has so far recovered from his serious illness that he will be out in the course of a few days.

Miss Jennie L. Walz, of El Paso, who is visiting Hon. T. B. Catron and family, will this evening return to El Paso. She will come to Santa Fe again to spend the summer here.

Miss Grace Kennedy, the charming notary public and stenographer in Hon. T. B. Catron's office, celebrated her eighteenth birthday anniversary Thursday. In her honor the dining table at the Sanitarium was beautifully decorated with La France roses, marguerites and pink satin ribbon. On the center of the table was a large birthday cake. Miss Kennedy is a general favorite at the Sanitarium, and was handsomely remembered by pretty presents by her friends upon her anniversary.

Sherrard Coleman, of the court of private land claims, will this evening leave for Rio Arriba and Taos counties on official business.

Dr. W. S. Harroun is at Albuquerque attending the Episcopal convocation. He will return home this evening.

Governor L. B. Prince has returned home from Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Gullford will this evening entertain and have several of their friends to meet Mrs. Sol. Luna.

There will be a meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the rooms of Mrs. W. H. Whitman.

Mr. and Mrs. Gullford to-day entertained at luncheon ex-Governor Prince, Miss Creelman and several others.

Miss Creelman gave a tea Thursday afternoon, which was very largely attended, and proved a very enjoyable affair. She intends to leave very soon for her home in Massachusetts, much to the regret of society folks in Santa Fe, among whom Miss Creelman was a great favorite.

Mrs. J. B. Davis, who has been visiting her son, F. S. Davis, returned this week to her home at Santa Fe, Mo.

Miss Agueda Romero, daughter of Probate Clerk Atanasio Romero, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ignacio Lopez, at Las Vegas. She will also spend some time at Las Vegas Hot Springs.

Adjutant General William H. Whitman has returned home from a week's visit to Roswell.

At the Hotel.

At the Clair: Emmet Mason, Pueblo; Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Salida.

At the Exchange: G. M. Trout, Ouray, Colo.; J. F. Rhany, Denver; O. M. Taylor, Kansas City.

CONSPIRACY CASES

The Late Superintendent of the Penitentiary and His Son Now Among the Accused.

SCHULTZ THE INFORMANT

The Prominent Men the Convict Said He Was Employed to Poison and the Ones Arrested on an Accusation of Concocting the Allegation.

Ten days ago warrants were issued for the arrest of O. L. Merrill, late assistant superintendent of the penitentiary; E. H. Bergmann, superintendent; his son Henry Bergmann, and Captain T. B. Hart, a rancher, who served a term in the penitentiary for manslaughter, committed in a fight. The charge against all of the accused is conspiracy.

Merrill was arrested a week ago and gave bond. Sheriff Kinsell and Detective Cook brought Hart down from his ranch near Aztec, though serving the warrant was not necessary, and he was not imprisoned. Yesterday Sheriff Kinsell telephoned to the Bergmanns to come to the court house, as he had warrants to read to them. The call was complied with, and promises given to be present whenever examination should be held.

The examination of the charge will begin before Judge John R. McFie next Tuesday, if there be no postponement. The accusation is based upon an affidavit or statements by C. H. Schultz, alias W. H. Garner, made since his incarceration in the county jail upon a charge of perjury, upon complaint of ex-Marshall Fred Fornoff, of Albuquerque.

Schultz, alias Garner, was sent to the penitentiary from Bernalillo county, the residence of Mr. Fornoff, for obtaining money under false pretenses. His term ended April 20 last, and on that day he was arrested for perjury. While in the penitentiary Schultz made a sworn statement that he had gone to the penitentiary by agreement with Hon. T. B. Catron, Fred Fornoff, and through connivance with other Albuquerque people, to poison the food of Superintendent Bergmann, District Attorney J. H. Crist, Governor W. T. Thornton, Dr. J. H. Sloan and Judge N. B. Laughlin, upon some occasion when they should dine there.

The confessor also submitted bottles said to contain poison furnished to him for the murderous purpose. The statement was lengthy, and contained many details not proper to announce until considered in court.

Prior to this affidavit being made, Captain Hart had become a free man. Before he left Santa Fe he informed District Attorney C. A. Spiese of the claim being made by Schultz. The fact was also learned by Mr. Catron, who has since been actively working out his theory that Schultz was prompted to make the accusation in regard to the proposed poisoning and other matters by other parties at the penitentiary. It was undoubtedly expected to discover from Schultz all facts connected with the matter for the purpose of reaching the parties suspected of inspiring the conspiracy.

How much the prisoner has revealed or stated upon this subject, and whether his statement is corroborated can only be ascertained at the examination next week, when his statements in regard to the alleged murderous plot and the alleged conspiracy will be considered.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH CONVOCATION.

Met at Albuquerque and Transacted Considerable Church Business.

The annual convocation of the Episcopal church in this district, which includes New Mexico and Northwestern Texas, met in Albuquerque Thursday, and concluded its business yesterday. The attendance was very satisfactory, and Santa Fe was particularly well represented. Rev. J. L. Gay and all three lay delegates, Hon. L. B. Prince, Dr. W. S. Harroun and Arthur Boyle, being present.

Bishop Kendrick opened the proceedings Thursday, with the regular service for ascension day, and the convocation organized immediately afterward. Rev. T. F. Bennett was elected secretary and Major R. J. Palen treasurer.

The standing committee for the ensuing year consisted of Rectors Martin of El Paso and Lewis of San Marcial, Hon. L. B. Prince of Santa Fe and Judge Kemp of El Paso.

Rev. T. F. Bennett was appointed register, and Hon. L. B. Prince chancellor of the district. This is the twentieth successive year that the latter has held the position, or ever since the organization of the district in 1880, under Bishop Spalding.

Thursday evening the convocation sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Renahan, of Gallup; at the Friday evening service, Rev. Mr. Gay delivered the sermon. Sunday morning Rev. Mr. Selby, of Las Vegas, will preach.

Apart from the ordinary business, the most important matter attended to was the inauguration of a fund for the support of the episcopate, when the present missionary district becomes a diocese, which was finally established by the adoption of a resolution introduced by ex-Governor Prince. Much interest was manifested in a general discussion as to the state of the church, participated in by all the members of the convocation, and in which some of the most valuable and helpful suggestions were made by Arthur Boyle.
