The Enemy Reported as Demoralized and Without Ammunition to Again do Battle.

BUT AGUINALDO LEADS AN ATTACK

Spanish Prisoners Escape and Come Into the American Lines With Encouraging Stories—Cavite Viejo Deserted.

Manila, June 16.—Spanish prisoners who fled into the American lines from Imus report that the enemy has retreated into the mountains. They brought to Imus the bodies of 100 killed and 300 wounded as a result of recent fighting between Las Pinas and Bacor. The Spaniards say that the Filipino forces are demoralized, without ammunition, and many rifles have been thrown into the river. Cavite Viejo is reported as deserted by the enemy. Thousands of non-combatants are entering the American lines.

AGUINALDO REPORTED DEAD.
London, June 16.—An unconfirmed report is circulated that Aguinaldo met a fate similar to that of General Luna. Details of the assassination are lacking. However, as the report was brought by a native, it finds some believers. It is supposed the murder was done by friends of Luna.

ALIVE AND KICKING.
London, June 16.—The Filipino junta says there is no truth in the report that to the United States that Aguinaldo has been assassinated.

SOLDIERS DID NOT SHIRK.
Washington, June 16.—The report of Brigadier General Charles King, commanding the 1st brigade of the 1st division, during the early fighting in Manila, has been made public. The brigade, composed of the 1st California, 1st Washington and 1st Idaho, saw some very hard fighting. "I saw no instance of shirking," says King. "I saw many of our men fighting on the part of officers and devoted following on the part of men."

AGUINALDO LED AN ATTACK.
Washington, June 16.—The war department to-day received a dispatch from General Otis announcing the repulse of an insurgent attack upon our forces at San Fernando. The attack was made by a body of rebels under the direct command of Aguinaldo. The rebels were driven back with heavy loss. Fourteen of our men were wounded.

No Bounty For Beets.
Lansing, Mich., June 16.—Governor Pingree has vetoed the beet sugar bounty bill.

In the veto message to the legislature Governor Pingree said: "The Republican party in convention unanimously pledged itself and the people endorsed reforms in taxation, not one of which has been fulfilled. Such violations of faith are sometimes as dangerous to parties as to individuals."

The Vixen On Guard.
New Orleans, June 16.—Passengers on the Jari, which arrived from Bluefields last night report all political affairs at Bluefields as extremely quiet. The American gunboat Vixen has crossed the bar and taken up a position just over the entrance to the bay. It commands the bay and town and has the Nicaraguan custom house and army post on the bluff at the entrance to the harbor at its mercy.

LUCKY LOUIS.

Editor L. O. Fullen of Carlsbad, Gets His Official Oinch Renewed.

Washington, June 16.—The president to-day appointed Louis O. Fullen postmaster at Carlsbad, Eddy county. The change of name of the postoffice from Eddy to Carlsbad made a new appointment necessary. Mr. Fullen is editor of the Argus. He was already postmaster there, but the appointment makes his term begin anew. He had the endorsement of Governor Otero and the officers of the New Mexico Republican central committee, besides an excellent record in the department as an official. The salary of the Carlsbad postmaster is $1,400 per annum.

BARROW BORROWED A BABY.

But He Will Serve in States Prison for the Crime.

New York, June 16.—George Beaugard Barrow, principal in kidnapping Marion Clark, the infant daughter of Arthur Clark, of this city, was to-day sentenced to fourteen years and ten months' imprisonment. The trial was begun Wednesday, when Bella Anderson, or Carrie Jones, the tool of Barrow and his wife, gave evidence for the state. The case was concluded with testimony intended to establish the previous good character of the defendant. Summing up by counsel was very brief, and the case was given to the jury with a few words of instruction from the bench. The jury, after being out about five minutes, rendered a verdict of guilty, and sentence was passed as above stated. Carrie Jones, who pleaded guilty, was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. The trial of Mrs. Barrow as her husband's accomplice will follow.

FREIGHT DISCRIMINATION.

Judge Reagan Takes the Matter up Before the Interstate Commerce Commission.
St. Louis, June 16.—Judge J. H. Reagan, chairman of the Texas board of railroad commissioners appeared before the interstate commerce commission today and made a statement in regard to alleged discrimination against domestic and foreign exporters of grain, and alleged discrimination against grain products. Reagan suggested there should be a meeting of railroad men and shippers from all over the country at which the situation could be thoroughly canvassed and some agreement reached which would be satisfactory to all concerned. He was inclined to believe it would be necessary before an agreement could be reached to have some legislation on the subject, not only to make the agreement valid and binding but also to fix penalties for its violation. He said: "Certainly the spirit such agreement is not opposed to the spirit of laws against pools and trusts. Such an agreement would be for the benefit of the people and shippers as well as railroads. There is certainly some middle ground upon which all can stand with equal advantage. Chairman Knapp thanked Judge Reagan for his valuable suggestions."

A Reciprocity Treaty.

Washington, June 16.—The new treaty between the United States and Great Britain covering reciprocity with the British West Indian colonies and Barbadoes will be signed at the state department this afternoon. This is the first reciprocity treaty under the Dingley tariff, as previous agreements have been under a section allowing reciprocity arrangements by proclamation without formality of a treaty.

COLLIERY DISASTER

Explosion Three-fourths of a Mile Under Ground Kills Many Miners.

LUCKY ESCAPE MADE BY OTHERS

One of the Most Appalling Disasters That Ever Occurred in the Camp of Nova Scotia.

North Sydney, C. B., June 16.—The most appalling disaster in the history of Cape Breton coal mining occurred at the Caledonia mine at Glace bay, the principal colliery of the Dominion Coal Company, to-day, when two explosions occurred, causing the death of eleven men, including Thomas Johnson, underground manager of the works, and his brother, assistant manager of the Dominion Coal Company. Up to noon eleven bodies had been recovered. The names of the victims found up to that hour are as follows: Thomas Johnson, underground manager; Neil McDonald, of Pictou; John Doyle, Sr., John Doyle, Jr.; Stephen McCormick, of the Sydney mine; Alex. McDonald, of Cape North; Wm. Simpson, Malcolm McCauley; Roy G. McDougal and Arthur Grant, Donald Martin, missing. The explosions occurred in the west pit at a depth of about three-quarters of a mile, and were caused by gas which accumulated in old workings. The full force of working-men employed in the mine at night is about 150, but the night shift had just stopped work, and all but about sixty left the mine.

ALL IDENTIFIED EXCEPT ONE.
North Sydney, June 15.—At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon all the miners have been accounted for except one. The body of Donald Martin is the only one missing.

The Kentucky Killers.

London, Ky., June 16.—News received here from Manchester, Ky., states that James Howard is another victim of the Baker-Howard feud. It is reported he was shot last night in front of the court house near where Tom Baker was shot down last week. The assassins escaped. Howard was accused of having killed George Baker county attorney, in April 1898.

Must Pay the Penalty.

Paris, June 16.—The correctional police court today sentenced Comte de Dion, Comte D'Aubigny and Comte D'Assy to a fortnight in prison and to pay 100 francs fine for participating in disturbances at Auteuil, June 4. Others were sentenced to imprisonment of one month and to three months on the same charge.

Steamer Sunk in Germany.

Stettin, (on the river Oder) off the village of Zuelienheim) June 16.—The passenger steamer Blucher was sunk by steamer Poeltitz today. Thirty persons are reported drowned and ten were saved.

Yellow Fever at Havana.

Havana, June 16.—A marine on duty at Machina wharf developed yellow fever Thursday and died today. There are no new cases. The marines sleep in small barracks on the wharf where they breathe the foul air of the harbor.

Editor Goes to Chicken Raising.

A. J. Papen, of the Rio Grande Republican, has purchased the Rose ranch north of Las Cruces, and will open a fine poultry yard. He intends to devote most of his time to raising high-grade turkeys and chickens. Until the ranch gets well stocked timid poultry on neighboring places will roost high.

Accidentally Killed.

William Nelson, a colored coal miner employed in the Gardiner mines, met his death in a peculiar manner. Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock he was about to enter a doorway while carrying a rifle. He stumbled and the rifle was discharged, the ball passing through his body and killing him almost instantly. The miner was 24 years of age.

Met his Death in Mexico.

Alfred Bennet, of Raton, was killed in Mexico in a railroad accident. He was an engineer on the Mexican Central railroad, running out of San Luis Potosi. His engine was wrecked in a wash-out. He was thrown from his engine into the sand and smothered to death. He was 32 years of age. A wife and child survive him. The funeral took place at Raton.

A Summer Snowstorm.

Some snow fell in the mountains last night. The contrast this morning between the light green that for the past few days has been creeping higher and higher on the mountain sides and the white snow was very pretty. By noon most of the new snow had melted.

RIOTS IN CLEVELAND

Street Car Strike in Cleveland, Ohio, Leads to Outbreaks of Mob Violence.

MOTORMEN PELTED WITH STONES

Nobody Was Seriously Hurt in the Riots—The Police Force is Inadequate to Keep the Street Car Line Running.

Cleveland, O., June 16.—All through the forenoon the streets were quiet, cars being run without molestation. At the noon hour, when the big factories let out their men, trouble was experienced all over the city. The police had been drawn into the outskirts of the town, and rioters, seeing this, gathered in force in the down-town streets. At the corner of Wood and St. Clair streets several hundred factory girls bombarded passing cars with bottles, stones and other missiles from shop windows. A crowd of 2,000 people blocked the cars at Superior and Bank streets, and stoned them at will. Only two arrests were made. On St. Clair street, between Bank and Water, two cars were attacked with missiles from the surrounding buildings.

Shortly after noon two large stones thrown from a roof crashed down through a Wade Park car on Perkins avenue, narrowly missing the motorman. A crowd of 1,000 people here soon dispersed, but another immediately formed at Case and Perkins avenues. The track was blocked here, and the crowd, largely composed of women and children, vigorously stoned the passing car. At Vinton and Clark avenues, a brick thrown from the crowd injured a policeman, and a sharp melee followed. At Holmden avenue a crowd of 2,000 people was encountered. The motorman was hit with a paving stone, and volley after volley of stones and eggs was sent into the car. Police reinforcements finally arrived and drove the mob back. Two strikers, John Murphy and J. J. Crax, were arrested. The first attempt to open the south side line failed, rioters being too strong, and no adequate police force being available.

Killed in a Mine.

H. O. Schultz, a skilled miner and highly respected citizen of Blossburg, was killed in the Blossburg mines by a falling roof. The funeral took place at Raton.

Mr. Schultz decided that a certain place needed timbering, and was in the act of wedging in a prop, when a huge boulder twisted the prop out of position and fell on him, pinning him to the ground.

Mena, Ark., June 16.—About 2:45 this morning the south bound passenger train No. 2 was held up by three masked men at a curve about a mile south of Shady, I. T. The engineer was signalled to stop by a red lantern. On bringing the train to a stop, guns were leveled at him and the fireman was commanded to go back and cut off the express car. The robbers then entered the cab of the engine, one man being familiar with the engine ran the cars down the track a couple of miles where they went through the express and mail cars, securing considerable booty. The express company will not give the amount of its loss.

The French Cabinet.
Paris, June 16.—M. Poincare has informed President Loubet that he declines to form a cabinet. The reason is understood to be the objection of radicals to the presence of M. Ribot and M. Barthou in the cabinet, while M. Poincare wished them to join him in the ministry.

FRIDAY, JUNE 16.

The decision of the United States supreme court in relation to the dam at Elephant Butte is too extended for the news columns, but a synopsis of it is given on the third page to-day.

Kaiser William says that he bought early to avoid the rush that Spain said would follow a knowledge that the Caroline islands were for sale. The emperor appears to have been successfully played for a sucker, and the rest of the nations are laughing over the deal.

Albuquerque has just released its last smallpox case from the pest house, and heaves a sigh of relief in consequence. Almost $5,000 was expended to guard against an epidemic. It was money well spent, and if every county, town and village in the territory had been proportionately liberal in effort to preserve the public health, there would be little smallpox in the territory, and slight danger of its recurrence.

A financial hen now on is hatching the largest trust in the banyard. American breweries are to go into a combination with $1,000,000,000 of capitalization. Of course, the plan is to sell stock and raise prices on dealers. The latter can get even on consumers by pumping more air into their beer tanks to cause froth to float on the substratum of extract of hops. Thus the consumer must drink more beer in order to get his fill, and the people will pay the price.

A published letter from Rome says that in one of the suburban districts there recently crops were saved by firing cannon to break threatening clouds and drive away hail. None fell in the district, although the crops of adjoining sections were ruined. In America the theory has prevailed that precipitation of rain could be caused by bombarding the clouds. It might be a saving idea for the people of the prairie states to do as the Romans do whenever a cyclone cloud approaches.

The New Mexican makes no kick when the papers down the country take its news articles and use them without the labor of rewriting or giving credit. News, in a sense, belongs to the public, and the paper gives the news for the public. But the New Mexican does not recognize the right of the Albuquerque Citizen to appropriate and palm off as its own the product of the editorial department. Admiring the judgment which leads the Citizen to desire the use of editorials, this paper is willing to supply the Albuquerque publication if the latter will join in paying the editorial salaries.

The president would find the people ready to furnish as big an army as necessary to hold all towns that troops take. There would be no more dissatisfaction with an increase of the army than exists with the present condition of things when it is necessary to admit that while troops can drive any number of rebels from any point they will stay away only as long as the Americans are in gunshot distance. The Spaniards were able to keep insurgents out of Manila, but not to go forth and whip them. The American troops do far better than this, but can not put down guerrilla warfare and restore order and safety in the country until they are there in sufficient numbers to stay on guard in all the territory taken from insurgents.

There have so far, in the past year, been 16,000 applicants for pensions, and more may be expected. The soldiers and their families surrender fees to pension attorneys to make applications. This expense seems to be entirely unnecessary. The government has plenty of officers who are not overworked, to attend to this matter. There are but few applications made from any one locality. The postmasters, generally, could fill out blanks and prepare all necessary affidavits under instructions from the department, or county clerks would do the work free if authorized by the government. Only in exceptional cases would the services of an attorney be necessary if this system were adopted. The soldier entitled to a pension should have every cent of it; it should come to him absolutely free of cost.

While Great Britain is talking about Transvaal matters troops are being hurried to Cape Town, and in a few weeks there will be a considerable army at the point. President Kruger is buying artillery and making ready to resist invasion. He says that the moment British troops cross the border he will dynamite every operating gold mine and mining plant. As these are the property of Englishmen, the prospective loss makes the threat formidable. The owners would certainly resist, and fighting would occur before British troops could arrive. If hostilities be opened in this way the Dutch will certainly not have the sympathy that now exists for them, when England is planning to efface the republic for the benefit of the miners who occupy the gold region.

England boasts of the success of Lord Kitchener in his Sudan campaign, in which he killed 10,000 natives and accomplished the building of a railway. The crazy people whom he vanquished came at him in solid masses on the open plains. All his men had to do was to turn cranks of machine guns and the weapons did the rest without any footling. He did not have to fight hidden enemies as General Otis is doing. Still, it must be confessed that Lord Kitchener is a success as a fool killer, for none but fool African savages would have faced his shower guns.

Trusts may feel that they are too well established for comment to affect them, and may defiantly say, "Damn the newspapers." They may not fully realize that a fearless press encourages and awakens public sentiment, which, when fully developed, brings about favorable decisions from courts and necessary legislation from legislatures and congress. The will of the people prevails in the long run when they are right in their position. Justice may be ignored for awhile in individual instances, but the whirlwind of time brings about retribution in these matters. The newspapers will not weary of war upon wrong simply because it becomes an old story, but will keep up the campaign until the people are ready to unite in measures to suppress the trust abuse.

Had lynch law ruled in Santa Fe and a hasty trial of Walter E. Locke occurred immediately after the death of Fred Merrill, the accused would have died for an act that he did not commit. Appearances were all against him when the preliminary examination was held, but when a more deliberate inquiry occurred, after the defendant had time to secure testimony that was not forthcoming at first, he was fully cleared of suspicion, mainly by scientific or expert evidence, but partly by the fact that a witness had heard a pistol shot in the vicinity of where death occurred, going to show that life was taken by the weapon found in the hand of deceased. This is only another instance of the danger of relying entirely upon circumstantial evidence in charges of murder.

Kansas City practices the Pingree plan of allowing the people to cultivate idle lots in the town, whether they belong to the municipality or individuals. There are sixty acres of potatoes, vegetables and gardens there from which many families get a large share of the necessities of life. The patches vary in size from one-third of an acre to an acre, and hundreds of women and children cultivate places that were waste and unsightly. The city has an agricultural board that sees to it that the workers are protected in possession against trespassers. That is a municipal enterprise of a truly benevolent character, which gives people who can not otherwise secure land for gardens an opportunity for healthful and profitable opportunity to improve their method of living.

A husband in Texas who feared that a certain man who sought the society of the wife of the suspicious individual would interfere with the domestic felicity that prevailed in the household, recently asked a court to enjoin the suspect from writing or talking to the feminine property of the petitioner. The injunction was issued and disobeyed. Thereupon the guilty man was arrested and punishment ordered by the court. The defendant appealed from the decision, restricting his rights on the range. The supreme court sustained the action of the lower tribunal. Thus has a haven been opened where the fearful husband may take his spouse and depend upon the judges, the sheriffs and the jailors to make marriage a success, instead of relying on a shotgun to stay those who menace tranquility.

Dreaded Age.

"Beware of age!" was the croaking warning of Fitzsimmons when he congratulated the young victor in the pugilistic contest. The loser is not yet 40 years old. But a man who has stood the strains, the excitement and hard training of Fitzsimmons must have lost something in strength before he reaches forty. This pugilist has not wrecked his physique by drink as did Sullivan. Jeffries is aged but 24 years. At the best, he may not hope to hold the championship much over a dozen years, when some stronger if not more skillful gladiator will put him out. "I tried it once too often," said the philosophical champion. "How did I come to go against him, young, strong, clever?" If "Professor" Jeffries will frame the friendly warning, "Beware of age!" and hang it in his tent he may remember to abandon the field in time to retain the honor he covetously holds.

Reservoir Controversies.

In September, the national irrigation congress will meet at Missoula, Mont., to discuss the best means of reclaiming the arid regions and to bring them under cultivation. Sixteen western states and territories are represented in the membership. The congress is important because irrigation is the chief method of prolonging the growth and prosperity of the far west. Large areas of fertile lands should be opened to the settlers, and that can be done only by constructing large systems of irrigation. The advocates of irrigation propose two methods, each of which has adherents. One party demands that the government shall undertake the construction of reservoirs and irrigation canals. The other side wants all the arid lands ceded to the territories and states in which they are situated.

The cessionists argue that from the proceeds of the sale of arid lands or their rental, a sufficient revenue would be derived to construct irrigation systems, or, if the commonwealth constructs irrigation systems the value of the arid lands would increase sufficiently to pay for the construction of such systems and leave revenue besides for state purposes. The other party does not believe that the state and territorial governments can efficiently handle the great problem of irrigation, and proposes to go to congress with an urgent demand for the people living in the arid regions for annual appropriations to be expended under the direction of government engineers in the construction of storage reservoirs at the heads of rivers and of main canals extending through the irrigable valleys. They point to the failure of certain arid states to make satisfactory use of the desert land, and to the fact that some states and territories have limits fixed upon their indebtedness, so that they would be unable to borrow money to construct irrigation works.

Between the two parties the question of irrigation is thoroughly discussed, and this difference of opinion helps to keep alive the movement for reclaiming arid lands. Some good must result from the discussions, and congress, which is a slow body to move in matters of this kind, will finally do justice to the arid regions by adopting the plan of one or the other wing of the irrigationists.

All is Well that Ends Well.

The Cuban soldiers are now surrendering guns as rapidly as six paymasters in various places can investigate applications. Of course, every man who presents a gun can not be recognized as entitled to the bounty. It takes time to examine certificates of military service and to ascertain whether they are genuine and held by the proper parties, so that the work proceeds slowly. The United States is now in possession of knowledge that the official obstruction to acceptance of the money by troops was the result of the failure of a plot among the colonels to secure for themselves the distribution of the money. It was intended to deliver but a small part of the $75 to each soldier. When the pay rolls were called for, the insurgent officers made them recklessly, and added many names, not thinking the American officers would or could verify them. By swelling the rolls it could be made to appear that the $3,000,000 would only allow a smaller sum per man. When the game was blocked by verification the officers became obstructionists. In many cases they demanded from $5 to $15 for identifying a soldier and furnishing him a certificate. The paymasters, however, are finding methods of identifying the holders. The men who have been imposed upon are said to be thoroughly disgusted with the dishonesty of their old officials, and to be impressed with the fairness of the Americans. The American officials believe that not a single soldier will fall to surrender his gun.

Certainly the south has forgiven the war, or Mrs. Jefferson Davis would not select Montpelier, Va., as a place at which to spend the summer. As Dewey will soon be in the same town, she may be going there to congratulate him on maintaining the glory of the country which her husband mistakenly sought to destroy.

THE TERRITORIAL PRESS.

HAVE WEIGHT AT WASHINGTON. (Clayton Enterprise.) Governor Otero is not only popular with the people of New Mexico, but he is so well posted on the needs of the territory, and is so thoroughly qualified to tell them, that his views have great weight with the authorities in Washington.

HAY IS HAY THIS YEAR.

(Albuquerque Citizen.) Rio Grande valley hay is going to be valuable again this year, the farmers say. Last year the sales of alfalfa hay in this valley paid off dozens of mortgages. This year's sales will be all "to the good."

LET PARTY BE RESPONSIBLE.

(Raton Range.) The long delayed order relinquishing from civil service control of about 4,000 positions was issued by President McKinley last week. When the remainder are cut loose from the management of the men milliners in politics and the party in power that is held responsible for running the government makes the appointments, we will have a better state of affairs and an American government in fact as well as in name.

WHY COLORADO IS FOR CESSION.

(Albuquerque Journal-Democrat.) If the public lands shall be ceded to the states for the construction of irrigation works, then the control of the water will be wholly within the power of the state, and the thousands of persons who have made farms in New Mexico, northwestern Texas and eastern Kansas, through the use of water from streams which flow from Colorado, may as well abandon their places at once, for it will only be a question of a short time till their water supply will be cut off and their lands rendered useless. If, on the other hand, the work of reclaiming the arid lands shall be done by the general government, there will be no selfish interests involved, to defeat the ends of justice. The prior rights of settlers will be respected, and the surplus water will be equitably distributed. But that is just what Colorado does not want. She wants the privilege of using all the water of all the streams that rise in that state, and with the matter of irrigation under state control there will be nothing to prevent her from exercising that power.

PRESS COMMENTS.

MAKING A GOOD IMPRESSION.

(El Paso Graphic.) New Mexico is showing commendable enterprise in the support of her educational institutions.

MIGHT PREVENT COLORADO HOGGING THE WATER.

(Denver Republican.) Congress will not refrain from legislation concerning the distribution of water by irrigation systems, if it provides for the construction of ditches and reservoirs. Of this we may be assured by the known tendency of the national legislature to grasp power and assume control of everything upon which, within the limits of the constitution, it may lay its hands. Congressional laws governing irrigation would conflict with state laws, and one or the other would have to give way.

A PECULIAR PEOPLE

Unique Experiment Along Communitistic Lines in the Mesilla Valley Near Las Cruces.

VERY PROSPEROUS SHALAM COLONY

Successful Irrigation by Means of a Pumping Plant—A Model Dairy—Castaway Children Adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Howland.

About a mile west of the railroad station of Dona Ana is the Shalam colony. The colony tract comprises about 900 acres of land on the east bank of the Rio Grande. About 150 acres of the land is or has been under cultivation. The colony was founded in 1884 by Dr. J. B. Newbrough, a dentist, who had previously written a new bible which bears the name of Oahspe. Oahspe teaches philanthropy, co-operation as opposed to competition, vegetarianism, and the duty and joy of self-devotion to the common good. It was hoped that a goodly number of adults would unite with the colony and remain with it. The hope has thus far failed in realization. Dr. Newbrough died in 1886, and A. M. Howland, a millionaire, succeeded to the headship of the enterprise. Mr. Howland married Mrs. Newbrough, the widow of the founder, and for the past dozen years they have labored together to build up the colony and develop the lands. At various times castaway children have been taken to Shalam to be reared as material for the new civilization to be worked out. There are now about twenty-five of such children from 2 to 12 years of age at Shalam.

All, including two or three negroes, have been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Howland. The children are neatly but cheaply dressed, and look healthy, clean, well-grown and happy. Everything about Shalam indicates that there is an abundance of money behind the undertaking.

For irrigation, water was at first pumped from the river. But the river began to encroach on the pumps, and the plant was moved a distance of one mile. There a large well was dug, and the colony has now an inexhaustible supply of good water. It has stood the test for years, with no change of the volume of supply in summer or winter, nor does the stage of the river have any effect upon the quantity. Much money was spent in experimenting before the well was completed, and at present the plant could be put in for $25,000 less than it cost.

At first the purpose was to sink a stone curb through the sand to the impervious stratum of concrete about 83 feet down, so as to get the water from below the stratum. By dint of great effort, the curb 18 feet across was sunk by its own weight. When the pump is set to work the water is lowered 10 to 12 feet, and there the equilibrium between the flow of the water and the power of the pump is reached. The water is carried in open ditches and board flumes to the fields. The flow is sufficient to flood two or three acres of alfalfa in ten hours. The soil is sandy, and takes up more water than in many other parts of the valley. The Shalam lands appear to need above all else a large admixture of river silt. Mr. Howland thinks the open well with pipes to bring the water from below the concrete is the best, if not the only practical plan for a pumping plant. While it is a costly plan, it insures a sufficient supply of good water.

Mr. Howland planted large orchards several years ago, but concluded that spring frosts made fruit growing too uncertain. So he turned to dairying and alfalfa growing. This year he has dug up ten acres of peaches and apricots and put the ground into alfalfa. He has already thirty cows and heifers, two hundred and grades, with two fine Guernsey bulls. The dairy plant includes separator, butter worker, pasteurizer, and everything requisite to make gilt-edged butter, such as retails in the large cities of the north at fancy prices. The dairy is in charge of R. B. Vandewater, a graduate of the dairy course at the university of Madison, Wis. The cows are well groomed, and their udders are wiped carefully before milking. Each cow's milk is weighed and a record kept. The feed is alfalfa hay in troughs in the yard, and cut hay with grain moistened in the stable manger. The cows are milked at 8 p. m. and 3 p. m. Ice is bought by the car load. The dairy products are disposed of at a good price in El Paso.

The colony has a well-equipped fowl house and yards. J. J. Rose, who worked for several years on the poultry farms in New Jersey and Long Island, has recently been employed to take charge of this branch of colony work.

Shalam colony is interesting from every point of view, and is helping in its way to solve some of the economic and social problems of the day. Mr. Howland is a man of strong personality, high purpose and devotion.

Solicitor General Bartlett Gives an Opinion Regarding District Attorneys.

Solicitor General Edward L. Bartlett has written to Territorial Auditor Louis M. Ortiz as follows:

"Your favor of this date with regard to district attorneys, with accompanying papers, is received, in which you ask my opinion as to your payment of those officers without complying with sections 2594 and 2595, Compiled Laws of New Mexico, and in reply would say that those sections make it the duty of the district attorneys to furnish you with a certificate, setting forth the date upon which they 'entered upon the discharge of their duties.' The certificate which you have from the secretary of the territory is simply that they were nominated and appointed. Before they could enter upon the discharge of their duties, it was necessary to execute and file a bond in the office of the district clerk of the district in the sum of $5,000; also, to take and file with the secretary of the territory the oath of office. In addition, section 2188 requires the bonds of district officers to be recorded with the secretary. This bond is to be recorded in the office of the secretary and then filed with the clerk of the district court. These are plain, mandatory provisions of the law which must be complied with before you are authorized to draw a warrant, and whether they have not been complied with through neglect or ignorance does not change your duty, and you can not draw any warrants legally and with safety to yourself until these requirements have been met by the gentlemen interested."

The specimens taken from the claims are very promising and are now in the hands of an assayer. On one of Hunter's claims a vein of gold ore twelve feet wide is said to have been laid bare. ## Protect Our Food.

The doctors inform us that alum is a poison, and that alum baking powders should be avoided because they make the food unwholesome. Prominent hygienists, who have given the matter most study, regard these powders as an evil that should be suppressed by state action. In Minnesota and Wisconsin alum powders are not permitted to be sold unless they are branded to warn consumers of their true character, while in the District of Columbia the authorities have, under the direction of congress, adopted regulations to prohibit the use of alum in bread altogether.

Are not the people of other states, as well as those of Minnesota and Wisconsin, entitled to warning of a danger which is apparently menacing them at close hand, and is not the whole country entitled to absolute protection as the people of the District of Columbia are protected, by legislation which is entirely prohibitive?

Until we can have protection in the form of a statute, how can our state boards of health, state analysts or food commissioners better serve the public than by publishing in the newspapers from time to time the names of the baking powders which they find to be made from alum?

Meantime, it will aid the housewife in designating the alum powders to remember that all powders sold at 25 cents or less per pound are of this dangerous class. Pure cream of tartar powders, are usually sold at from 45 to 50 cents a pound.
