THE TEXAS FLOOD

Fully $4,000,000 Worth of Cotton
Destroyed—Great Damage to Property of All Kinds.

200 SQUARE MILES COVERED

All Domestic Animals Perished, Houses
Were Swept Away. Railways Ruined and Stores Were Flooded by the Brazos.

Caldwell, Tex., July 8.—Estimates of competent cotton buyers of the damage resulting to the cotton crop of the Brazos badly tax the credulity of those not familiar with flood conditions. Not less than 200 square miles of cotton-bearing land is flooded. Basing the loss on 5-cent figures, the crop destroyed was worth almost $4,000,000. Well-informed persons estimate that the unprecedented rise of the Brazos cost a little less than $10,000,000. All domestic animals perished, rented houses and negro quarters were swept away, gins nearly all ruined, and hundreds of plantation stores, carrying big stocks of general merchandise, are under water. Not a bridge escaped; not a train has passed over the Santa Fe railroad between Brenham and Milano for a week.

ROAD TO BE REBUILT.
Denison, Tex., July 8.—The Houston and Texas Central officials state that the road between Calvert and Hearne will have to be virtually rebuilt owing to the flood. The cost will be not less than $500,000.

HELP NEEDED.

St. Louis, July 8.—A special to the Post-Dispatch from Dallas, Tex., says: Governor Sayers, in a talk over the long-distance telephone from Austin, requests the press to state that in addition to money, all character of clothing and provisions are needed in the flood district. He suggests that parties contributing such articles communicate with him before shipment is made, in order to intelligently make distribution. There are 75,000 to 100,000 persons needing relief, and about $100,000 in money and supplies have been distributed. Many times that much is needed.

Reports received at Dallas at noon from Denison, Paris, Texarkana and other places on the Red river state that rain has been pouring in torrents for the last five hours, with no prospects of stopping. It is feared a flood in the Red river will result.

A telegram received to-day from Julliff, Fort Bend county, says 600 persons are in danger of drowning at that place.

A Colonel Retired.

San Francisco, July 8.—Having reached the age limit, Colonel Wagner, 4th cavalry, has been retired. His successor is Major Hays, 7th cavalry.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, July 7.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Surplus reserve, decreased, $6,313,075; loans, increased, $6,968,900; specie, decreased, $5,638,500; legal tenders, decreased, $4,310,800; deposits, decreased, $3,498,900; circulation, increased, $40,700. Banks hold $5,062,475 in excess of requirements.

Wheeler Says Farewell.

Washington, July 8.—General Wheeler sails for Manila from San Francisco on July 26th. He called upon the president today and bade him good bye.

AN ARMY EPISODE.

Lieutenant Who Shot at Colonel Crofton Shot Himself.

Chicago, July 8.—Lieutenant Samuel F. Pague, United States army, retired, committed suicide at the New Era hotel, last night. Lieutenant Pague was court-martialed in 1895 for an assault upon Colonel Crofton, 15th infantry, Fort Sheridan. The court-martial of Lieutenant Pague attracted wide attention. Pague was jealous of Colonel Crofton, alleging the latter's attentions to Mrs. Pague were too pronounced. October 3, 1895, Pague, heated with wine, attempted to kill the colonel. Two bullets went through the latter's overcoat, the third striking the ground. Mrs. Pague seized her husband's arm. He was dismissed from the army on the finding of the court-martial.

KLONDIKE GOLD.

Pack Trains Bring It to Dawson City by Tons.

Tacoma, Wash., August 8.—Dr. L. O. Wilcoxson, of Chicago, who arrived from Dawson, brings authentic news of an enormous clean-up in the Klondike. During the first half of June pack trains arrived at Dawson daily from Bonanza.

"The Mill Cannot Grind with Water That's Past."

A fagged out, tearful little woman said this in telling her cares and weaknesses. Her friend encouraged by telling of a relative who was cured of just such troubles by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The little woman now has reason to be glad, for she took Hood's, which put her blood in prime order, and she lives on the strength of the present instead of worrying about that of the past.

Told Her Friend—"After having pined on my neck 42 years Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cured me. I was so glad I told friends about it and a lady in Wisconsin who read of my cure told me she also took Hood's for the same trouble and was cured. She thanked me." Mrs. Anna Sutherland, Kalamazoo, Mich.

and Eldorado, Hunker and Sulphur creeks, each bringing $500,000 to $1,000,000 in dust. One big pack train made several trips from Professor Lippe's claim on Eldorado, which produced over two tons of gold dust. Coming out, Wilcoxson learned of two important new discoveries, one on Thirty-mile river, where $26 per pan was found. The other was on Big Salmon, where the winter's dumps averaged $38 per day per man.

Two Regiments to Remain at Manila.

Washington, July 8.—General Otis cables: "The desires of all volunteers in the Philippines have been ascertained. Two skeleton regiments are fairly well assured. In two or three days will cable names of officers nominated for regiments, so appointment of lieutenants to recruit in the United States can be made."

GREAT PEACE GATHERING.

The Christian Endeavor Society Will Send a Memorial.

Detroit, July 8.—The great outdoor "international peace and arbitration" gathering looked forward to as the most novel, perhaps the chief, event of the Christian Endeavor convention this week, will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon, under weather conditions more like those of October than July. A northwest breeze, with an occasional dash of rain, blows freshly from Lake St. Clair, across Belle Isle, where the crowds are to assemble this afternoon for the peace jubilee. Speaking will be followed by presentation for adoption of the "Christian Endeavor peace memorial," a copy of which will be sent to the international peace conference at The Hague.

Not Bubonic Plague.

San Francisco, July 8.—The Chronicle says: "The report of Dr. Kinyoun, of the marine hospital service, regarding the possibility of the two drowned Japanese from the Nippon Maru having been afflicted with bubonic plague shows conclusively that the San Francisco board of health dealt with a manufactured plague scare. Kinyoun is positive that the microscope slides made by Dr. Barbat show no signs whatever of the dread disease. Quarantined passengers from the Nippon Maru will be released soon."

Surveying for a Cable.

San Francisco, July 8.—The British survey steamer Egeria has arrived from Esquimaux, B. C. The English and Canadian governments are to establish a cable between British Columbia and Australia, which will touch Samoa and Hawaii. The Egeria is now surveying the route.

New Postmasters.

Washington, July 8.—Fourth-class postmasters for New Mexico appointed to-day: Mills, Mora county; Trinidad Lucero, vice Joseph Barnes, resigned; Sulphur, Bernalillo county, George W. Bixler, vice Charles F. Spangler, resigned.

President Schurman's Report.

Washington, July 8.—Dispatches received by the state department from President Schurman, of the Philippine commission, giving some account of his journey to the southern islands of the archipelago, say conditions in these islands are extremely gratifying. There is a disposition almost everywhere south of Luzon to accept American sovereignty. President Schurman expects to arrive at San Francisco about August 15.

Carloads of Horses Killed.

Elko, Nev., July 8.—A freight train carrying four cars of horses loaded here yesterday was wrecked at Moors, twenty-two miles east of Wells, to-day. The four cars of horses left the track, and nearly all the animals were killed. The accident was caused by one horse kicking open the front car door and falling on the track. No one was injured.

The Tinplate Trouble.

Chicago, July 8.—T. J. Shaffer, representing the amalgamated association, in a conference with the tinplate manufacturers and workers, said at 10 o'clock to-day that no settlement of the wage dispute had been reached. The conference remained in session all day, but several of those present expressed their belief that the threatened strike can scarcely be avoided. About 40,000 men will be affected if the strike order be issued.

The Golf Contest.

Lake Forest, Ill., July 8.—The struggle for the amateur golf championship of America between Findlay S. Douglass, present champion, and Herbert M. Harriman, of the Meadow Brook club, Hempstead, L. I., took place to-day. Douglass was picked to win by a majority of experts on account of long experience. But Harriman had many friends. Both players were confident.

THE CANAL COMMISSION.

Will Soon Start to Visit the Isthmus Country.

Washington, July 8.—The Nicaragua canal commission has finished its present business in Washington, and the members scattered to wind up personal business before starting for the field. It has been settled that the field force taken from this country will number about seventy-five. Admiral Walker, Colonel Ernest, Mr. Burd and Mr. Morrison, constituting the Panama committee, with probably two other members of the commission, will leave here in about thirty days for Paris to examine the records of the Panama company and secure whatever data is obtainable in connection with that part of the work. Meantime, the remainder of the commission will do whatever is possible by correspondence with the several Central American governments who may be interested in the route to be finally selected.

Santa Fe Selects a Vice President.

The directors of the Santa Fe railroad system have elected James M. Barr as vice president, and put him in charge of the operating department of the road.

RACING FOR A CUP.

The Columbia and the Defender Were Contestants.

New York, July 8.—Conditions early to-day for the trial races between the yachts Columbia and Defender of Larchmont were most unpropitious. A thicker fog than that which enveloped land and water has rarely been experienced. The contest to-day is for the $250 cup offered by the Larchmont Yacht club. The course planned, a triangle, is one nineteen miles long, starting just outside of Larchmont harbor, with a turning buoy off Stamford, another at breakwater, at Hempstead, on the other side of the sound, and then back to the finish line with repeat. The Defender crossed the line at 12:40:41, the Columbia at 12:40:53. Both boats had a great match right after the start. The Columbia gained the best in luffing. The Defender sailed a mile, which left them half a mile off the course. Passing the luffing line was a couple of lengths ahead, both crafts speeding along with a fine breeze. The Columbia rounded the third mark finishing first around the course in 2:10:30, and the Defender in 2:12:26. Both boats then started on the second round of the course.

The Columbia won by three minutes and two seconds. The Columbia crossed the line at 3:24:20; the Defender at 3:27:22. The official finish: Columbia, 3:24:09; Defender, 3:27:22. Elapsed time: Columbia, 2:43:16; Defender, 2:46:29.

Western Soldiers Coming Home.

Fargo, N. D., July 8.—A private cablegram received here this afternoon from a member of the North Dakota regiment says that the regiment leaves Manila to-day for home on the transport Grant. The Idaho and Wyoming regiments accompany them.

Roosevelt Asked to Washington.

New York, July 8.—Governor Roosevelt passed through this city this morning on his way to Washington. He would not tell why, except that he had been asked to come by President McKinley.

Died on the Fourth.

At San Miguel, Dona Ana county, a farmer named Donaciano Savendra went into a wheat field to work on the Fourth of July and fell dead. His neighbors believe death was a judgment sent upon him for ignoring the national holiday.

FIFTY YEARS OLD

Why let your neighbors know it? And why give them a chance to guess you are even five or ten years more? Better give them good reasons for guessing the other way. It is very easy; for nothing tells of age so quickly as gray hair.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

is a youth-renewer. It hides the age under a luxuriant growth of hair the color of youth. It never fails to restore color to gray hair. It will stop the hair from coming out also. It feeds the hair bulbs. Thin hair becomes thick hair, and short hair becomes long hair. It cleanses the scalp; removes all dandruff, and prevents its formation. We have a book on the Hair which we will gladly send you. If you do not obtain all the benefits you expected from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some difficulty with your system, which may be easily removed. Address, Dr. J. C. Ayer, Lowell, Mass.

Strike Getting Interesting.

Pueblo, Colo., July 8.—A collision occurred to-day between the strikers and the guards at Eller's smelter. None were seriously hurt. All quiet now.

High Water in Kansas.

Independence, Kan., July 8.—The Verdigris river reached the danger line again this morning, and is still rising at the rate of half a foot an hour, which will put it out of its bank to-day and flood the bottoms. The Elk river is flooding over lowlands for miles along its course. If the Verdigris rises much higher it will put out the fires in the pumping station at the water works.

A hearing was held this afternoon in the partnership partition case of Joseph Mahboub vs. Khalil Saba before Judge N. B. Laughlin, the referee. Messrs. Rehan and Read are the attorneys in the case.

MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

Being Built for the Chaves Family at Belen.

Angelo de Tullio is hard at work on the beautiful memorial chapel, which Don Felipe Chaves, one of New Mexico's millionaires, is having erected near the Catholic church in Belen. The chapel will be of alternate courses of Vermont marble and Arizona red sandstone, resting on a granite foundation. The structure will be 16 by 35 feet in dimensions. Below the marble floor, which can be taken up, will be six vaults, designed for the last resting places of the members of Mr. Chaves' family. The remains of the late Mrs. Chaves will be deposited in one of the vaults. Among the interior decorations will be six pieces of fine statuary, and three pieces will adorn the exterior front. The whole cost of the chapel will be $10,000. Albuquerque Journal-Democrat.

SATURDAY, JULY 5.

Governor Hogg, of Texas, appears to have been sent to the Tammany pasture to root for Bryan.

From all points in the territory where wool is grown the market is active, and large shipments are being made.

New Mexico is entitled to a captain and two lieutenants in the auxiliary force being organized. There are worthy applicants.

Colorado appears to have been as short of rain this season as New Mexico. In the San Luis valley crops are very poor.

The combined Hanover and Santa Rita camps promise to be the Butte of New Mexico, while Cochiti may be the Cripple Creek of the territory.

Dreyfus can now be happy. France has not yet acquitted him, but Albuquerque has officially cabled him that the city unites in believing him innocent. The prisoner may be allowed to look at a map, perhaps, and then he will know whence came consolation.

The Cleveland people who have been destroying electric cars have counterparts in Korea. Only in the latter country the rioters were beheaded and their heads carried about the city on poles, while in Cleveland the lawless people were regarded as heroes by their class.

The men at Homestead concluded that the time was not ripe for a strike. They have not forgotten the bloody events of 1892, when Manager Frick imported an army of Pinkertons to resist assaults of the strikers. A burnt child dreads the fire in this case. Manager Frick is still the moving spirit of the Carnegie company, and would certainly again meet violence with violence.

The summer resort built at Cloudcroft, on top of the Sacramento mountains, for the relief of El Paso people by the El Paso and Northeastern railway, appears to be a pretty comfortable place, in 107 miles of the Texas city. The published temperature for El Paso last Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock was 93, Cloudcroft 65, Some days Cloudcroft is almost as cool as Santa Fe.

Undoubtedly the west lacked much of the picturesque charm expected by the touring teachers because men seen from the train windows and around the towns do not carry revolvers strapped about their necks or wear Indian scalps dangling from their belts. The fact that the people look exactly like those of the states was a surprise to many of the visitors who had expected to see a race of cowboys of wild and woolly mien.

If the promised smelters at various mining camps in Colorado are built the shut-down by trust smelters will prove to have been an unintended blessing. There is too much wealth in the mines and too much idle capital to permit them to long lie idle for the lack of smelters to treat the ore. The trust has a big job on its hands in attempting to long look the wheels of the mining industry.

A Denver building and loan association, in which some New Mexico people have stock, and which has made loans, announces that it will do no new business in the territory owing to the law requiring it to pay fees to the extent of $22,500, besides a tax of $2,400 per annum on its assets. The probability is that the company has loaned no money in New Mexico in excess of its receipts from stockholders, so little or no outside capital is shut out. Loans already made will be carried to maturity.

The El Paso Times called upon all of the papers along the Rio Grande to know what they thought of a scheme for a joint Texas-New Mexico convention at El Paso or Albuquerque to pull together for irrigation aid from the government. The papers of the two cities proposed for the convention say the proposition is acceptable. But no other Rio Grande paper has endorsed it. The source from which the suggestion came made it open to suspicion. The Times may have been sincere, but it has been in irrigation schemes before, as the Mesilla valley people learned to their cost.

Delegates to Paris.

While the legislature of New Mexico made no provision for an exhibit and delegates at the Paris exposition, some of the prosperous counties should join in a move to secure representation. There should at least be a mineral exhibit. The counties that are able might very well afford to pay the expenses of active delegates to represent the territory or particular sections, and to distribute printed information in regard to the resources and merits of the country. While no provision may be made for this work the governor should select representative people from the territory for accredited representatives to the exposition, so that New Mexico may appear on the records of the association as taking an interest and participating to at least that extent in the great event. Doubtless there are eight or ten citizens who will attend and do what they can individually to represent the territory in Paris. If they would volunteer for this service they would probably receive official credentials and commissions from the governor that would entitle them to many privileges and courtesies at the exposition.

The latest claim made for Otero county resources is somewhat sensational, but sensational discoveries there have generally been marked O. K. upon investigation. The assertion is made in El Paso that there are dry places near Jarilla, fifty miles from the city, from which 50 pounds of unselected dirt taken on bed rock yielded 35. The absence of water would not prevent such ground from being profitably worked. It would pay to ship to the Pacific ocean and give the earth a sea bath. A good deal can be believed of Otero county, but the El Paso Herald editor, who saw this gold, must have had some stroke or some other delusion producing attack. Ground that will yield $200 per ton of earth would make the Klondike appear unrich. Otero county has gold, copper, silver and coal to burn. But it is not underlaid with soil that yields ten cents per pound.

Quarantining Against Mexico.

The United States has directed a physician of the marine medical corps to go to the City of Mexico and endeavor to prevent the introduction of yellow fever into this country from Vera Cruz and other ports. It will be his duty to see that freight and baggage coming to the United States after passing through infected ports shall first be disinfected, and to give health certificates to such travelers from this country as may be entitled to them when they start homeward. These shall be recognized by the inspectors appointed at El Paso and other points where the government some months ago authorized agents to quarantine persons returning to this country, who have traveled in Mexico without being vaccinated, unless they have health certificates. In addition to this the physician in the capital of Mexico has been given two assistants from El Paso, young physicians, who recently graduated and were sent to Cuba by the medical corps of the United States, who will be detailed for duty at other points. Of course, these sanitary precautions are taken by consent and co-operation of the Mexican government. If the marine medical corps succeeds in preventing the introduction of yellow fever from Mexico and Cuba this year it will do what was never done when inspectors and officials confined their efforts to ports on the coast line of this country.

An Extradition Case.

The first case in which Mexico has asked for extradition of an American citizen under the new treaty is attracting much attention because the person wanted is a woman. Some years ago Mr. Rich, an American merchant on the American side of the river at Juarez, met a woman who was traveling with a circus as a female pugilist, and induced her to become his wife, telling her that he had been divorced from a former wife. After residing with her some time he taunted the pugilist by asserting that the divorce was illegal, and that the second marriage was void. He was a gay husband, and the result was jealousy and trouble. One night he was shot in his bed room, and declined to tell who did the shooting until he was dying. In the meantime he had been removed to El Paso, on the American side, by the wife. His dying statement alleged that she was his murderer. The Mexican government at once asked that she be delivered to that country for trial. The United States commissioner has decided that there was evidence enough to put the woman on trial for murder had the crime been committed in Texas, and given the opinion that the claim of Mexico should be granted. However, the findings must go to Washington for review. It is optional with either government whether a citizen of the country shall be delivered to the other government, but in all probability the request will be granted in this instance unless the claim of insanity now being made by the woman's friends has foundation in fact.

Tin Plate Trust Due to Tariff.

Democrats are pointing to the tinplate trust as an evidence that protective tariffs build trusts. The trust has just closed down its factories and temporarily thrown 50,000 men out of work, whom it has employed for several years. The McKinley bill first started the tinplate industry in this country. It has been a blessing for the 50,000 people employed, and tinware has been cheaper than of yore, although the Democrats have been denying the possibility of building up a tinplate industry in this country. Certainly if there had not been a protective tariff the tin trust might not now be in existence, but neither would there have been any factories employing 50,000 men. If the manufacturers have now gone into a combination like that of the oil monopoly, which has had no protection, yet has become strong, then it needs turning down. The duty on tinplate should be removed if the trust raises prices above figures under which it has grown a profitable industry. Do the Democrats hold that it would have been better never to have allowed the industry to grow and employ a half hundred thousand men at profitable wages, just because it has been able to make a combination that, in the nature of things, will be brought to terms by a reduction of tariff or by competition, in due time?

The object of giving protection to tinplate was undoubtedly to establish the industry, give employment to American labor and keep at home the money sent abroad for the staple article. If the business paid handsomely, people were employed, and the money remained in America, then all the objects of protection have been accomplished, as competition kept prices as low as before. But when a trust takes advantage of the fostering that was intended to create an industry, but not a monopoly, and jumps prices beyond the profitable point, congress should lose no time in modifying the tariff for such period and to an extent necessary to prevent the maintenance of a monopoly.

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until, in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed.

Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed beyond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of this dread affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Idol, Winston, N. C."

THE TERRITORIAL PRESS.

THE NEW REGENT.

(Las Cruces Republican.)
The Republican is pleased to note the appointment of Colonel R. E. Twitchell as regent of the agricultural college. The selection is an admirable one. The colonel is a man from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet, full of pluck, energy and good judgment. He is a valuable acquisition.

ONE VAST SANITARIUM.

(Raton Gazette.)
The entire Territory of New Mexico is a sanitarium; to it belong the sun, the mountain air, the balmy air, and hundreds of mineral springs, which, combined, invigorate and restore the invalid and prolong life. The analyses of many of its springs compare favorably with the famous springs of the world, to which Americans annually flock in great numbers, not realizing that New Mexico has their exact duplicates, and many well-known health resorts, with the advantage of every altitude desired, re-enforced by a matchless climate.

RIO GRANDE WATER.

(Las Cruces Farm and Orchard.)
F. H. Newell, who is in charge of the government irrigation department at Washington, recently paid us a visit. He had inspected the Rio Grande from its headwaters down to Las Cruces, and had come to the conclusion that the scarcity of water in the river this year was due to the excessive winds prevailing in Colorado, which had blown away the snow instead of allowing it to melt and come down to the river. Mr. Newell is of the opinion that the irrigation ditches in Colorado do not injuriously affect the flow of the river in New Mexico, as may be seen by the large amount of water in the river near Espanola, after it enters this territory. Last year we were at Espanola, and an old resident there told us he could see no difference in the flow of water there now as compared with what it was before any irrigation existed in Colorado. Mr. Newell is not prepared to absolutely deny that the many ditches in the northern part of the territory may not cause some shortage of water in the lower portion of the valley. He is rather inclined to agree with us that it is an open question as to how much water, if any, there would be to-day in El Paso if all the ditches above were closed. Taking the Colorado ditches as an example, there seems to be some evidence that water taken out of the river above does not lessen the flow at any considerable distance below. This theory is borne out by actual facts on other rivers. As Mr. Newell says, the average man is apt to look upon a river as a water pipe, which will fall to discharge water at its outlet. If you exhaust the flow at the upper end. It must, however, be remembered that the river is being continually supplied by seepage all along its course, and that when this seepage fails the river goes dry. Irrigation ditches do not lessen this seepage; on the contrary, they tend to increase it. History proves that the river has been dry in the lower part of the territory long before any irrigation ditches existed along its course. Mr. Newell is of the opinion that the only remedy is to build a succession of reservoirs along the river, from which the water can be taken out by means of well-constructed high-level canals, and so secure a continuous supply of water at all seasons.

PRESS COMMENTS.

STUDYING IRRIGATION PROBLEMS.

(Denver News.)
In a recent interview with a Washington correspondent, F. H. Newell, chief hydrographer of the government survey, presented some admirable facts as seen from the standpoint of a scientist, concerning irrigation.

Notwithstanding the great progress that has been made in agriculture by irrigation in the Rocky mountain region, Mr. Newell terms the present a "period of preparation," asserting that irrigation is going to be one of the most important questions before the American people in the near future. As to the work of the survey, Mr. Newell says that all possible data is being gathered on the subject. Streams, springs and rainfall are being studied. Experiments are being made to determine the exact amount of water required for the various crops on arid land. While it is of course impossible to increase the water supply, it is possible to increase its available use by storing the flood waters, and the flow of streams which during many months now run to waste.

Mr. Newell's opinion very clearly coincides with those so frequently expressed in these columns, as to the overshadowing importance of this irrigation question. Slowly but surely it is forcing itself on the attention of the country as one of the great industrial issues of the near future. It can be stated in a few words. The people want the land. The land is worthless without the water. The water supply exists, and needs only to be made available. Hence the certainty of the demand that the water shall be made available. The government is acting wisely in thus early obtaining all possible data on the subject.

IRRIGATION AND NAVIGATION.

(Denver Republican.)

The action of the supreme court of the United States in the case of the Elephant Butte dam in New Mexico in remanding the matter to the lower court to inquire into the extent to which the proposed dam would interfere with the navigation of the Rio Grande is important.

The fact that the supreme court of the United States has reversed the case with the instructions already stated suggests that there might be similar interference with irrigation in the valleys of other streams on the plea that the withdrawal of water for irrigation affected navigation. In this respect at least the entire system of irrigation in the arid region may be said to be endangered, for people who desire to prevent irrigation along the upper courses of streams would be quick to manufacture a plea that navigation was interfered with.

Under the provision of the national constitution, which gives congress power to regulate commerce between the states, it is held that congress has jurisdiction over all navigable streams. But this jurisdiction extends only to the navigable parts of such streams. It does not apply to their upper courses. It may be claimed, however, that the withdrawal of water along the upper course of a stream comes within the sphere of congressional regulation on the ground that congress may prohibit any interference with the navigation of a stream without regard to where it may occur.

In the case of the Rio Grande, it has been claimed that nearly all the water of that river is withdrawn by irrigation ditches in Colorado. But it is doubtful if this is sufficient to affect the navigability of the stream below the City of El Paso. From the Colorado line to El Paso the Rio Grande flows through a hot, dry country. It is not uncommon for the bed of the river to be dry. This was the case long before irrigation was begun in Colorado. Beneath the surface, however, the water finds its way, and that is the case with much of the water which, having been withdrawn in irrigation, seeps back into the channel of the stream. Colorado's irrigated fields are so far removed from the navigable part of the Rio Grande that irrigation in this state can hardly be said to affect the navigation of the river.

However, in view of the action of the supreme court in the Elephant Butte case, it would be well for lawyers and engineers living in Colorado and other states in which rivers find their source to combat the theory that congress has a right to interfere with irrigation because of considerations affecting navigation. The danger is that the court will establish dangerous and troublesome precedents in matters of this sort without having been shown the importance of the principle involved.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

A pleasant picnic party was held by little folks in "Bishop's garden" today. The party was a success, and the Misses Doyle, Otero and Whitmore refreshments were served under the shady trees. The girls who attended were Anita, Stella, May and Luna Berger, Consuela and Gladys Linnen, Ruth and Helen Laughlin, Marion and Tootsie McFie, Catherine Chavez, Richy Seligman, Hermione Hawkins, Amalie Sena and Lillian Eldodt.

Santa Fe owes much of its beauty during the summer to its many orchards and gardens that embower the homes of the city in green foliage. Viewed from the surrounding hills the city looks like a green oasis in the desert. This year, on account of the lateness of the season and the prevailing drouth, has not been a very favorable one, still Santa Fe can this year show gardens of beauty. For instance the "Bishop's garden," of Grant Rivenburg, is as lovely a spot as one would wish to visit. It is a grateful surprise to the visitor to Santa to discover such a lovely spot hidden from the main thoroughfares and apparently isolated from the world. Here he will find shady walks over acres and acres of orchard and forest. Rare varieties of trees and shrubs can be found in every nook and the orchard is a delight to behold. The shady paths are lined with hundreds of currant bushes which at this season of the year are loaded down with red berries. A large pond with several islands and rustic bridges, spot in the garden. Here the thick foliage and occasional glimpse of the sky are reflected in a marvelous manner by the placid water and birds can be heard singing in the trees the whole day long. Roses grow in wild abandon at one spot in the garden and there are a dozen varieties of the most beautiful to be found in Santa Fe. There are other flowers, too, and a part of the garden is reserved for a vegetable plot. Blackberry vines run riot in one part and in another are evergreen trees with their balsam odor. There are many paths, some of them leading to the quaint adobe wall from which a pretty view is obtained of the mountains and of the Santa Fe river, and others to smaller adjoining gardens or the entrance on Colorado street. Taken all in all, the prettiest spot in Santa Fe today seems to be the Bishop's garden.

Thursday evening Mrs. Otero gave a delightful dinner at the executive mansion. The decorations were exquisite and consisted of pink roses. Covers were laid for ten. The guests present were Miss Palen, Miss Muse, Miss Otero, Mr. Hardinge, Mr. Curtin and General Bartlett.

Miss Gulliford, Miss Atkinson and George Howard are enjoying an outing at Miss Gulliford's rustic cabin on the Pecos. They will be joined soon by Maurice Thomas, Miss Amy Gulliford and Max Pracht.

Jay F. Manning and bride arrived in the city last evening and will spend several days in Santa Fe. They are the guests of Hon. and Mrs. T. B. Catron.

Mr. L. A. Hughes' three children, Ruth, Hardin and Eliza, have returned from a visit to their grandparents and attending school, to spend the summer with their father. They are domiciled with him at the sanatorium.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Price are today celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary. The New Mexican wishes them many happy repetitions of the day.

D. Downie and A. Wheeler, of Denver, are guests of Edward Downie. They will leave tomorrow for California.

Miss Miriam Cartwright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Cartwright, Tuesday afternoon entertained 12 of her little friends at a party given in the pretty orchard surrounding the Cartwright mansion. The young folks enjoyed the day to their hearts' content and towards evening sat down to a table laden with delicious viands. The affair was an enjoyable and delightful one.

G. L. Marsh, who has been chosen by the board of education of Santa Fe as principal of the high school in that city, is credited with coming from New York but is in reality a resident of Las Vegas, having located here some months since with his sister, who is in delicate health. Mr. Marsh will remove permanently to Santa Fe before long. He is an excellent young man and is highly educated. His old home is in Watertown, N. Y., but he thinks there is no place quite so good as New Mexico.—Las Vegas Optic.

The ice cream festival given by the Woman's board of trade Tuesday afternoon and evening was a social as well as a financial success. Almost 800 were present at the festival. All the members of the board assisted in making the affair a success, although Mrs. Bishop may be said to have had charge of the festival, with Mrs. Wallace and Mrs. Staab. Mrs. Harroun acted as cashier. Mrs. Thomas and Miss John presided at the lemonade stand. Those who served at the table were Miss Keller, Miss Lamy, Miss McKenzle, Miss Griffin, Miss Smith, Miss Simmons and Miss Amy Gulliford.

The Santa Fe study club this afternoon assisted Mrs. Wallace in receiving visitors to the old Palace and the "Ben Hur" room. The visitors were teachers sent on the Brooklyn Eagle's excursion to Los Angeles, which arrived this afternoon.

Professor J. A. Wood has very properly taken it upon himself to meet visiting teachers at the depot and give them all the information about Santa Fe possible. He also assists Mr. and Mrs. Wallace in receiving the visitors at the Palace and showing them the "Ben Hur" room.

United States District Attorney W. R. Childers and family of Albuquerque are visitors in Santa Fe.

The Misses Reynolds of Las Vegas and Miss Bogue of Chicago, will be guests next week of Governor and Mrs. Otero.

Governor Otero and a party of gentlemen contemplate spending part of next week fishing along the Pecos.

Mrs. A. M. Hughes and Miss Elizabeth G. Hughes, who spent a week in Santa Fe as the guests of J. D. Hughes and Leland Stoughton, will leave Monday for Leland Stoughton, university, Cal.

Miss Annie Wickham, of Socorro, is the guest of Miss Maud McFie.

Hon. L. M. Ortiz is spending a few days at his home at Los Luceros.

Mrs. Palen, Miss Palen and Miss Muse were members of a party that left for the Pecos last evening.

Hon. H. L. Waldo, of Las Vegas, is at the Palace.

John W. Catron and Mr. Curtin left yesterday for the Pecos fishing grounds. Singleton Sweeney has returned home from a camping trip to the Pecos.

R. M. Hardinge and R. C. Gortner left this morning with a pleasure party which intends to spend Sunday on the Pecos.

The board of public lands met yesterday afternoon in the governor's office. The members of the board are Governor Otero, Solicitor General Bartlett and Commissioner A. A. Keen. An official seal, a form of lease and application were adopted at the meeting.

The United States land commission met this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the governor's office. The commission consists of Governor Otero, Solicitor General Bartlett and Surveyor General Vance. Page B. Otero is clerk of the commission, and Engineer David White is locating agent.

DEATH OF MRS. MORRISON.

Passes Away After a Long Illness Surrounded by Her Family.

Death yesterday afternoon gently closed the eyes of Mrs. A. L. Morrison after a long period of suffering. Mrs. Morrison, formerly Jane Clark, was born in Troy, N. Y., in 1833. After attending the schools at that city she married Judge A. L. Morrison, in 1851. Shortly after that Mr. and Mrs. Morrison moved to Chicago, where they lived for many years. They also lived at Kansas City, near St. John's, Ariz., and in 1888 came to Santa Fe.

Mrs. Morrison was a devout member of the Roman Catholic church, a noble woman, a devoted wife and a good mother. She is survived by her bereaved husband, and seven children—Robert E. Morrison, of Prescott; A. L. Morrison, Jr., and John V. Morrison, of Santa Fe; Hugh O. Morrison, of Los Angeles; Sister M. Dolores, of Denver; Mamie A. Morrison, of Santa Fe, and J. E. Morrison, of Prescott.

Robert and Joseph Morrison arrived from Prescott last evening. Sister M. Dolores from Denver also came last night, and Hugh Morrison will arrive early to-morrow morning from Los Angeles.

The funeral will take place Monday forenoon. High requiem mass will be said at the cathedral at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in Rosario cemetery.

Freezing Weather in July.

Would cause great discomfort and loss, but fortunately it is seldom known. A vast amount of misery is caused at this season, however, by impoverished blood, poor appetite and general debility. These conditions may be remedied by enriching the blood and toning the stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine seems to put new life into the whole physical system, simply because of its wonderful power to purify, enrich and vitalize the blood, create an appetite and invigorate the digestive functions. We advise you to get a bottle and try it if you are not feeling just right. It will do you more good than a six weeks vacation. It is the best medicine money can buy.

Ball Game at Tularosa.

The Albuquerque Browns defeated the Tularosa base-ball club by 13 to 2 at the latter town. There was a barbecue and general good time.
