BRITISH LOSSES

The Casualty List Shows That the Boers Still Pick Off the Officers.

A COOL SHARPSHOOTER

London Gets Excited Over a Rumor That Ladysmith was Relieved and Thousands of Boers Taken Prisoners by General Buller.

London, December 14.—A special from Pietermaritzburg says General Buller and his army of 10,000 men, after a long and hard fight, had captured Ladysmith and 10,000 Boers.

London, December 14.—The British war office has heard nothing of the story of the relief of Ladysmith. The officials do not credit the story. They say the act at such an early date is believed to be practically impossible.

London, December 14.—The official report gives the number of killed, wounded and missing in the engagement of Sunday and Monday north of the Modder river as 817. There were fifteen officers killed and four wounded, in addition to five missing, and one known to have been made a prisoner. The war office has received a message stating that the non-commissioned officers and men of the Highland brigade at Magerfontein. The brigade lost ten officers killed, thirty-eight wounded and four missing.

The following list of officers killed or wounded has been received: Highland brigade—Killed, General Wauchop, Lieutenant Colonel J. N. C. Goode, Captain J. H. Clark, Lieutenant Colonel, Captain Cowan, Captain Lamberton, Lieutenant Colonel Goff, Major Robinson, Captain Wingate, Lieutenant Cowie, Wounded—Colonel Dillham, Captain Redkey, Major Duff, Captain Featherstone, Captain Noyes, Captain Wolfenbut, Captain Richardson, Captain Campbell, Captain Gordon, Captain McNab, Lieutenant Theon, W. C. Bailie, Lieutenant Scott, Lieutenant Waterhouse. Many of the above mentioned officers are dangerously wounded.

Second Royal Highlanders: Wounded—Lieutenant Wauchop, Major Cuthbertson, Captain Cameron, Lieutenant St. J. Harvey, Lieutenant Berthon, and Lieutenant Tait, formerly amateur golf champion. Missing—Captain Cumming Bruce, Captain McFarlane and Lieutenant Ramsey.

The Marquis of Winchester, Coldstream Guards, was killed; Captain J. Sterling, Lieutenant Courington, Major P. B. Lambton, same brigade, wounded. Second Southwicks: Missing—Major K. R. Mackenzie, Captain Brodie. Mounted Infantry: Killed—Major Milton, Major Ray.

London, December 14.—On the stock exchange to-day at 2 o'clock Rand mines suddenly jumped up £1 on the rumors that Gen. Clery entered Ladysmith and General Buller captured 3,000 Boers.

Lourenco Marques, Delagoa Bay, December 14.—Winston Churchill, a newspaper correspondent and former officer of the 4th Hussars, captured at the time of the armored train disaster near East-coast November 16, escaped from Pretoria.

London, December 14.—It is freely predicted, even in high military circles, that the South African campaign will last until June. It is also expected that General Methuen will have to retire south of the Orange river, as it is claimed he could not hold out long at the Modder river, where his ammunition and supplies were not expected to last over a week. In fact, it was said his line of communications had probably already been cut, and it was claimed that General Gatacre was similarly weakened by his reverse.

Modder River, Cape Colony, December 12.—Details gathered here by representatives of the Associated Press among the wounded British and Boers give some idea of the desperate nature of the fight at Magerfontein. The Highlanders did all that the most gallant troops in the world could do, but it was impossible to face the terrible fire of the Boers. The British artillery again saved the situation and divided the honors of the day with the Scots.

The batteries were worked for hours under a galling rifle fire. According to the Boer stories it was impossible for the burghers to have escaped a fearful loss. One Boer prisoner said a single Lyddite shell killed or wounded over seventy, and two other shells burst over two bodies of Boers ensconced behind a range, doing fearful damage. All agree that the Boers fought throughout with the utmost gallantry. Their sharpshooters seldom missed their mark.

A Seaforth Highlander says while he was lying wounded on the field he saw a Boer of typical German appearance faultlessly dressed, with polished top boots, shirt with silk ruffles, and a cigar

CONGRESSIONAL.

THE HOUSE.

Washington, December 14.—Owing to the Washington memorial services held at Mount Vernon to-day, the house was well-nigh deserted when it met at 11 o'clock to resume the debate on the currency bill. Mr. Cox of Tennessee, the ranking minority member of the banking and currency committee of the last congress, opened the discussion to-day in opposition to the currency bill.

Mr. Cox of Tennessee paid his respects to Mr. Grosvenor, whom he characterized as the most adept representative of the chief executive, for when placed in a hole he never experienced the least difficulty in getting out. (Laughter.)

Mr. Lanham of Texas, opposing the bill, said it was in effect a proposition to change the character of the obligation of the debtors without their consent.

Mr. Crumpacker of Indiana, believed it possible the enactment of the bill into a law might enhance the prospects of the "pecanomania from Nebraska."

"But," said he, "if Bryan should be elected this law would act as a sort of legislative strait-jacket to reassure the country by minimizing his capacity for evil."

THE SENATE.

Senator Aldrich asked a temporary postponement of the usual Thursday motion for adjournment over Sunday until it could be ascertained whether the Democrats would be ready to announce their committee assignments. He added in case they were not so prepared he would ask the senate to sit tomorrow in order that appointments of committees could be made.

In obedience to this request, Senator Hale, who moved adjournment, withdrew the motion.

Senator Pettigrew's resolution asking for information whether the flag of the Philippine republic had ever been saluted by American forces in the Philippines came up.

Senator Chandler moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Senator Pettigrew asked the withdrawal of the motion, but this was declined.

Senator Chandler said every word of the resolution and speeches made upon it would be cabled to Manila.

Senator Pettigrew called for the year and days on the motion to table. The vote resulted—yeas 41, nays 29.

Responding to a resolution of inquiry, the president to-day sent to the senate a statement by the secretary of state concerning the possible sale of the Galapagos Islands. The secretary says the department of state has no recent information as to the proposed sale of the Galapagos Islands by the republic of Ecuador to Great Britain or any European power.

The senate agreed to the house resolution for a Christmas holiday adjournment on December 20 until January 2, and then at 1:05 p. m. adjourned.

BANQUETS AND BALLS.

The Colored Troops Dine Nobly in Luzon. Manila, December 14.—A detachment of Colonel Hayes' cavalry under Lieutenant Arnold has captured Biacnabato mountain, a stronghold where the last insurrection ended with a peace treaty. Large quantities of munitions of war were secured.

Major Batcheler's battalion of the 24th Infantry is making slow progress in Aparri valley. The villagers are giving the colored troops banquets and balls everywhere.

Santa Fe Railway Meeting.

Topeka, Kan., December 14.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Santa Fe was held in this city to-day, followed by a meeting of directors. At the stockholders' meeting the acquisition by purchase or lease of a number of branch railroad companies was approved. H. Riemann Duval, Thomas P. Fowler, Charles S. Gled and Victor Morawitz, whose terms as directors expired to-day, were re-elected.

Getting More Money Into Circulation.

Washington, December 14.—Secretary Gage has decided to anticipate the January interest on United States bonds outstanding. This interest will amount to about $5,500,000, and will be paid, beginning to-morrow, without rebate.

The Census Work.

Census Supervisor Pedro Sanchez and his grandson Daniel Martinez arrived last evening from Taos and left this afternoon for Albuquerque where Mr. Sanchez will place his grandson in school. Mr. Sanchez, who will return to the capital tomorrow evening has received telegrams from Senators Wolcott, Teller, Elkins and others congratulating him upon the senate confirming his appointment. Upon his return here to-morrow, Mr. Sanchez will begin pushing the census work so as to have all preliminary work finished, when the time arrives for the enumerators to go out and take the census.

The confirmation of the appointment of Supervisor Sanchez was made Tuesday.

DEMOCRATIC PLANS.

Leaders Would Have Filipino Pay Back $20,000,000.

Washington, December 14.—Two joint resolutions were introduced in the house to-day by Representative Williams, of Massachusetts, which are the result of a consultation among the Democratic leaders of the house, and are understood to be expressive of their general position on the Philippines. The first resolution declares the intention of recognizing the independence of the Philippines and to withdraw our land and sea forces, provided the independent government agrees to refund the $20,000,000 paid by the United States to Spain, and to give us suitable naval and coaling stations and grant in perpetuity free access to their ports.

Another section pledges our friendly assistance; also pledges against foreign interference or aggression for ten years, during which time the foreign affairs of the island will be under American control.

The other resolution asks information relative to the conclusion of the treaty with the sultan of Jolo, and provides for an inquiry by the judiciary committee whether the constitutional provisions against slavery and statutory provisions against polygamy apply to the Sulu people.

THE DAM INQUIRY.

The Government's Attorney Submits Depositions of Steamboat Men.

The first day of the hearing in the Elephant Butte dam injunction case before Judge Parker at Las Cruces was devoted to the reading of depositions. The court, at the suggestion of the attorney for the irrigation company, ruled that the condition of the river in ancient times could not be considered, as the supreme court directed inquiry only as to its recent status. Francisco Yurria deposed that the Rio Grande was in boating condition from 1848 to 1873, but since that time the river had gone lower and lower each year. He believed large storage reservoirs would further impair navigability. He had never been further up the river than Eagle Pass. In 1870 several government steamboats plied on the river, but only one boat, the Bessie, made occasional trips. The floods this year have been much larger than for many years.

Robert Dalzell, a retired steamboat owner, deposed he was captain and pilot on the Rio Grande from 1850 to 1874. The river was then navigable all the year round. The river has been going down since about 1873. He believes that to take a large quantity of water from the upper river it would impair navigability. The flood time is from June to September, and the lowest stage usually from March to May. Navigation was incredibly a success until 1874. He was never at El Paso.

William Kelly deposed that he is a banker and steamboat owner, has known the river since 1855, and still owns and manages steamboats. From 1855 to 1874 the river was navigable from Brownsville to Roma, about ten months of the year, for boats drawing 4 feet. Navigability has been gradually decreasing since 1870, and the decline did not greatly affect the boats then running till 1884. Up to about 1886 the main dependence for navigation was upon the water from the headwaters of the river, commonly known as El Paso water. The El Paso river used to keep the river up for some time. He attributes the decrease of water in the past few years to impounding the waters in the upper course of the river. Navigation was financially successful until 1886. For lack of water it is now unprofitable. The floods have been greater this year at Brownsville than for many years previous, as to high water, but not as to the period of duration of the flood.

Did you ever See a Snow Storm in Summer?

We never did; but we have seen the clothing at this time of the year so covered with dandruff that it looked as if it had been out in a regular snowstorm.

No need of this snowstorm. As the summer sun would melt the falling snow so will Ayer's Hair Vigor melt these flakes of dandruff in the scalp. It goes further than this; it prevents their formation. It has still other properties: it will restore color to gray hair in just ten days out of every ten cases.

And it does even more: it feeds and nourishes the roots of the hair. Thin hair becomes thick hair; and short hair becomes long hair.

We have a book on the Hair and Scalp. It is yours, for the asking.

If you do not obtain all the benefits you expect from the use of the Vigor, write the doctor about it. Probably there is some fault with your general system which may be easily remedied.

DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Mass.

GOVERNOR OTERO AT THE CAPITAL.

Working With Hon. Solomon Luna for New Mexico.

Washington, December 14.—Governor Otero and Hon. Solomon Luna arrived at 11 a. m. to-day, being three hours late, their train having been delayed by its engine smashing two freight cars on a delayed freight train about thirty miles from here. The engineer of their train was badly hurt, and the two freight cars were smashed into kindling wood. Governor Otero and Mr. Luna received heavy shocks, but are otherwise uninjured. Mr. Luna is now in consultation with Senator Hanna and other members of the Republican national committee, and will attend the meeting of the committee to-morrow. The governor and Mr. Luna will see members of the senate and house committees on territories and public lands, and oppose the consideration and passage of the bill for the leasing of public lands in the arid states and territories; they will also put in their best work for the passage of the enabling bill for the territory. They expect to leave Washington December 21 or 22 on their return to New Mexico.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14.

General Gatacre appears to have been a rash commander. The general who goes on a wild goose chase at night with a small force to attack one the strength of which he does not know, and follows false guides in a round-about way, is a poor soldier.

Cipriano Castro had no more than drawn his first month's salary as president of Venezuela after chasing President Andrade out of the country than his right-hand bower, Jose Hernandez, organized another army and proposes to head the salary list on the next round.

A number of New York congressmen who are Democrats announce that they will vote for the Republican gold standard bill now being debated in the house. There is little doubt that a gold standard law will be enacted, and this will give Colonel Bryan and his party a real grievance about which to weep. They can no longer accuse the Republicans of dodging the money issue.

The newspapers are constantly discussing the question whether there is enough gold in the Philippine islands to pay for mining. So long as there is enough gold in New Mexico unmined and undiscovered to keep everybody who wishes to engage in mining, and all the capital that can be devoted to this purpose, busy for a century, it is hardly worth while for any one to attempt to solve this Philippine question.

General Joubert is said to have fought under General Stonewall Jackson in the American civil war. Certainly he learned one thing from his old commander, and that is to stand like a stone wall. By this method he is keeping back the British army from going forward to the relief of the beleaguered garrison which the Boers have marked for their own. No more stubborn resistance and effective interposition has been known in modern wars than that the Boer army is making in the kopjes of South Africa.

On the currency question Hon. Thos. B. Reed, in an address before the New York chamber of commerce, said that if the American people should be foolish enough ever to put free silver advocates in power, an attack on the proposed gold standard currency bill might be expected. "But," he added, "if it be said that there is no security that congress may not repeal, to that I answer: I should hope not among a people still free—are we never to settle anything because that settlement can be upset? Those who have seen how long laws linger which have been outgrown need not fear that a law once passed can be too easily repealed. If the people wish to repeal it, it is their right, but it should never be left in the hands of any administration to so administer the law we have that its apply and fully declared intent should be frittered away. Let us make sure of our standard."

Let Partisanship Be Suspended.

The governor of Arizona has gone to Washington with a committee of citizens who say they were selected to advocate statehood without regard to their politics. The governor says the Democrats of the territory have united with Republicans in advocating the passage of an enabling act for statehood for Arizona. There appears to be no organized opposition in New Mexico to statehood, and probably petitions would be generally signed by people of all parties. There has been much back-biting and filling in other years by both parties who did not wish the territory to become a state while this or that party, or this or that set of men, would secure credit and advantages. It is time that the strife should end and the people present a united front in this matter. All should be willing to take chances of future political changes either one way or the other.

Should Have Votes in Congress.

New Mexico needs the votes of two senators and a representative when the bill comes up for the leasing of the public domain. The people of a territory which has so much at stake in this matter should have some say in regard to the enactment of a measure vitally affecting them, but under a territorial form of government members of congress care little what the opinion here is upon any topic. The delegate from the territory has no vote to use as a lever in any matter, and cannot secure support by trading. He is the privileged agent of the territory, may introduce a bill and even make an argument for its support, but without such an agent the territory could have bills introduced by members of congress. Votes, not speeches from representatives of any part of the Union, count. The lease law may be passed during this session, or it may come up after New Mexico may be a state. But there are many measures to be considered in the future, in the determination of which New Mexico, by right, should have a voice because her people are locally interested. Until the territory becomes a state her people may expect to be ignored when their interests are in jeopardy in regard to measures advocated by other sections of the country.

New York Growing.

This year New York is spending $40,000,000 more in new buildings than was expended for this purpose last year. The prospects for next year are even greater, although building material and labor are from 25 to 40 per cent higher than they were last year. From January to November, 1898, 2,888 permits were issued for new buildings, representing a valuation of $58,129,290. During the corresponding period of 1899 there were issued 3,879 permits for buildings, valued at $109,109,421, and it is well known that estimates filed with applications for building permits are invariably from 20 to 50 per cent less than the money actually invested. These building statistics refer to New York proper.

Chicago will have to postpone the date at which she expects to be bigger than New York.

Consumers Who Should Stay at Home.

The Sisters of St. Mary in St. Louis have undertaken to procure $150,000 to be used in establishing a sanitarium in that city for consumptives, as the regular hospitals do not care to receive patients suffering from this disease for fear of contagion, or because of the popular belief that the disease is contagious. The plan of the association undertaking the work is to buy a place in the suburbs of the city and build cottages in which the patients may be isolated. The work is certainly deserving of support. While cures can scarcely be effected in that climate, if the hospital shall be the forerunner of others in the centers of population, which will detain and relieve as far as possible the class of patients who are too weak to recover their health in the dry mountain region to which too many of them come only to die, the maintenance of such sanitariums will be a blessing to the patients and the country at large. They will serve to keep many people from leaving their families when it is too late for them to receive substantial benefit. And the sanitariums under a while encourage those for whom relief may be had to come west for cure, confining their own operations to those who should not be sent away.

Cuba Needs No Army.

When Cuba is able to go it alone she will not need an army, for the United States will not permit her to be assailed by any foreign power. She will need good sheriffs, constables, police, or other officers. The best thing she could do would be to discourage the military spirit of insurgent generals and ambitious leaders who may seek their own exaltation by military means, as has been done so often in the West Indies countries and South America. The soldiers and their leaders should be encouraged to raise more sugar and less hell, to paraphrase a remark that was once made of turbulent southern states after the civil war. Certainly if agitators succeed in making Cuba a second Hayti in the years to come the United States will not feel under obligations to keep hands off, when the interests of American citizens on the island shall be at stake and all the results for which this country labored being negated by the action of elements which an island government may not be able to suppress. If Cuba should become a country of anarchy and revolution the people of the entire civilized world would justify the United States in taking complete possession of the island.

Kentucky May Remain Republican.

Kentucky has had a Republican governor for four years, and the people have not suffered as much as they used to imagine they would should that party be in control of the affairs of the state. And now they are to have another Republican governor and a set of Republican state officials for four years. If the legislature were only Republican by a working majority the repeal of the Goebel election law, which threatened to deprive the people of civil liberty, would be repealed, and the state would become so pleased with the new order of political conditions that the Republican party might have even chances for future control without Democratic quarrels being necessary for the election of such men as Governor Taylor. Kentucky has been more independent than other southern states in political matters ever since the day when she declined to go into the southern Confederacy, and followed this evidence of loyalty by sending 80,000 of her citizens into the war for the purpose of preserving the union, and ranked next to Missouri in the proportion of volunteers furnished from a slave state. Even in 1862, long prior to the war, Kentucky was one of the four states which preferred to give her electoral vote for the Whigs against the Democratic candidate, and again was one of the three states which voted for the Unionist candidate in 1860. Kentucky seems to be naturally other than a Democratic state, and only the negro question arrayed it against the Republican party. But as this matter is becoming less and less of an issue, the colored vote exists much divided, and fear no longer exists of domination from that source, Kentucky, as in 1896, may hereafter be counted on the Republican side in national elections and independent in state elections, with the courage to rebuke attempted dishonesty in political matters.

President's Message Abroad.

The President's message pleased the people of this country without inciting hostile sneers from the press of Europe. Formerly a message was considered unfavorable at home unless the European papers criticised it in an unfriendly manner, and was not pleasing to the people of the United States if it won compliments from foreign sources. The United States has risen in the esteem of the people of Europe because it has been demonstrated that the country means what it says through declarations of congress and the chief executive that certain things are to be done, like freeing Cuba from Spanish rule, and restoring order in the Philippines. It was formerly the belief upon the other side of the water that presidents' messages and declarations by political parties were prepared only for the purpose of winning votes from those who rejoiced in declarations of fearlessness with regard to a foreign policy. Europe thought America was not to be taken seriously as a power that might operate outside of her traditional borders. Consideration toward an oppressed neighborhood, disinterested action in going to war to relieve distress, magnificent strength shown by the country after beginning a contest with a European power, ability to take and hold lands across the ocean, and the evident willingness to meet any force that might be set against the United States as a result of complications, has inspired respect abroad. European papers now no longer consider that presidents' messages and congress are intended only for political effect.

The friendly expressions of the president for foreign powers do not at home bring criticism, for the nation, in the confidence of its own strength, knows that cringing and conciliation toward foreign lands is unnecessary, and the expressions of the president are inspired only by frankness, and with the feeling that the people of this country have become too sure of their own standing to begrudge a demonstration of regard for other nations.

LET PARTISANSHIP REST.

(San Juan Times.)

With statehood New Mexico would take on new growth. We should not let any spirit of partisanship or petty jealousies interfere with our securing statehood.

HOW BIG LEASERS WORK.

(Carlsbad Argus.)

About 500 small cattlemen in the North Park district of Colorado have sent a communication to the state land board protesting against any lease of large tracts in that region to cattle corporations that may be trying to secure control of the valuable range over there. It is intimated that the North Park Cattle Company is negotiating to get this range, and the small growers are protesting in advance. The range is at present government land, but the land board may be asked to select it for the benefit of the company, which, by the way, is said to be controlled by large beef men of Chicago.

The packers and big meat dealers of eastern cities would very easily secure control of immense cattle companies, and these companies having control of innumerable miles of grazing territory, the whole scheme and plan would be worked out and operated from a Chicago office. To what end, think you, of the man of moderate means, who at the present time is deriving a living and support for his family on these acres of grass in question?

The enactment of a national lease law portends serious disaster to the live stock interests of New Mexico. The people of the territory are counseled to give the question most careful thought.

THE PROPOSED LEASE LAW.

(Albuquerque Journal-Democrat.) A very large portion of the best beef that now goes to market from the grazing sections of the west is produced by the settlers and the natives of the country, who have made little homes in the valleys, where a few acres can be cultivated, and then place out their incomes with small bunches of cattle, usually from twenty-five to a hundred head, which can be turned out to graze upon the adjoining public lands. As these people have not the means to lease and fence the range required for their animals, they would be forced at once to give up the business, and the whole cattle interest of the country would immediately pass into the hands of the trust. Such a result would not only be disastrous to all this section of the country where cattle raising and wool growing are the principal industries of the people, but it would be almost equally unfortunate for the people of the country at large, because it would put the production of the meat supply from all the vast grazing sections of the west absolutely in the hands of a trust that would be able to fix prices at its pleasure.

PRESS COMMENT.

THE SOUTH CATCHING ON.

(Denver Times.) The advance in the wages of the cotton spinners and workers in the southern fields has been a cruel blow to the anti-expansion sentiment in the south. The cotton workers are beginning to realize that their prosperity depends largely upon the upbuilding of their market with foreign countries, a development made possible by territorial expansion.

MORE IRRIGATIONISTS NEEDED.

(Kansas City Star.)

One of the features of the coming census will be the irrigation data gathered by the regular census enumerators and the hydrographical department of the geological survey. It seems a special effort is to be made to render this data of unusual value and interest to the people of the west, and with this end in view owners of ditches and other irrigating plants are urged to give all the assistance possible to those whose business it is to secure the needed information. If the data secured is accurate, complete and intelligently compiled, as it doubtless will be, some valuable information as to the cost and returns from irrigation investments will be forthcoming. It may be possible from these figures to demonstrate which is the best irrigation scheme for an individual, a community and for the investor. There is an apparent opportunity in the west for the use of great amounts of capital in putting water on land. Strange as it may seem the failures, other than those of schemes defective in themselves, have come from a dearth of farmers to buy the land and use the water, for the most magnificent scheme of irrigation is useless unless the water is made to produce crops. If farmers understood better the advantages and delights of an irrigated farm over one dependent upon an uncertain rainfall, irrigated lands would be in much greater demand than they are—but this will come in good time.

HON. J. A. ANCHETA DEAD.

The Well Known Attorney and Legislator Expired Suddenly. Special to the New Mexican.

Silver City, Dec. 14.—Hon. J. A. Ancheta, formerly a member of the New Mexico legislature and at present an attorney, died here suddenly this morning.

Mr. Ancheta was well known over New Mexico as a brilliant young lawyer, politician and member of the legislative bodies of New Mexico. He was well educated, taking many honors at an eastern university in his early days and then returning to his native county of Grant, where the people time and again honored him with positions of honor and trust. At one time he was favorably considered for the Republican nomination for delegate to congress.

MINOR CITY TOPICS.

Show in the Raton mountains is delaying trains on the Santa Fe railroad.

Regular meeting of the Guild tomorrow, Friday, afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Arline Torres.

A regular meeting of the board of directors of the Mutual Building and Loan association will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

The kind effort of Mr. Geo. Marsh in giving a lecture Friday evening for the benefit of the Woman's board of trade, is another manifestation of public spirit and loyalty to the interests of Santa Fe. Without such interest and cooperation on the part of all citizens which has been so generously given, the work of the board could not continue. The New Mexican has always kindly and liberally aided in this, as in all public enterprises.

The capitol rebuilding board has increased the insurance on the capitol from $85,500 to $100,000.

The sale of Christmas trees has begun in the city.

Wagon loads of mistletoe can be secured on the divide toward Tesuque and in the Santa Fe canon.

Flags at half-mast are being displayed today in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of the death of George Washington. The portals of the palace were decorated with large flags. This evening very interesting and patriotic exercises will be held in the court house. Everybody is invited to attend. The entertainment will commence at 8 o'clock.

In recognition of the kind offer of Mr. Geo. Marsh, to deliver his lecture on Edgar A. Poe, for the benefit of the Woman's board of trade, it is hoped the court house may be well filled Friday evening next. The prices have been placed within the reach of all: 25 cents for adults, and 10 cents for school pupils.

COURT IN TAOS COUNTY.

Four Murderers Sent to the Penitentiary Yesterday.

The New Mexican has heretofore published a statement of the proceedings of the district court in Taos county for the first six days of the term of eight. Bruno Mata pleaded guilty to assault and battery, and was sent to jail for thirty days.

Eduardo Duran was sentenced for ten years for murder in the third degree; Isaac Martinez, seven years for a similar offense; Juan Jose Garcia and Donaciano Quesnel, twenty years for murder in the second degree.
