MINOR CITY TOPICS.

On the back page of the paper it was stated that Santa Fe is now buying a large number of eggs. This is a surprise to many people, as Santa Fe has always been a city where eggs are in short supply. However, the city officials have assured us that they are confident that the people of Santa Fe will be satisfied with the new eggs, and that they will be of high quality. The eggs are to be brought in by the wholesale houses, and will be sold at a lower price than any other eggs in the city. The eggs are expected to arrive in the city in the next two days, and the city officials are confident that they will be sold out in a very short time.
