

Sustainable Building Program Response to Comments from ARP 2017-2018

This program has not been successful in the past 5 years. I do not see this program continuing with any success. The only scenario where I see this program being viable is if the courses were to align with the Computer-Aided Drafting program and become a stackable certificate with that degree plan.

