The Indigenous Nations Library Program is excited for the start of the Fall 2016 academic year. We welcome you all for another academic year and we are proud of your commitment to your education. INLP is here to help you with your academic needs.

Starting this Fall, INLP will be extending its hours on certain days. The new schedule will be:

- Saturday & Sunday: Closed
- Friday: 9 am - 4 pm
- Thursday: 9 am - 6 pm
- Tuesday & Wednesday: 9 am - 8 pm

INLP Center website for more information: sac.unm.edu

This month's newsletter includes:

- New Scholarly Resources
- Introduction to Research Guides
- Student Spotlight: Raelene Charley
- Revised Hours!
- Welcome Back Week!
- Welcome Back

Hello,

September is a time for reflection, coming back to school, and making plans for the upcoming year. INLP is here to aid you in the journey of your academic year. We have a variety of resources to utilize that can help you succeed in your academic pursuits.

Information on Specific Resource Type -

So why should you use a Research Guide? Research Guides vary by topic, subject, and course content (libguides.unm.edu). They are designed to aid you in finding multiple resources for a specific topic. UNM houses multiple formats of extensive information for a specific subject. Research Guides are written by subject librarians of the most helpful library resources on your use but it can be overwhelming. The guides are there to help you find the resources and information efficiently.

Information related to a specific resource

Do you know how to find resources in the library? If you don't have a specific idea of where to look, there are tools that can help you find the information you need. The Library of Congress Catalog is one such resource. It is a comprehensive dictionary. It enables us to locate books, articles, and other types of resources. This short documentary, "Who Speaks Wukchumni?" is an introduction to the fascinating world of Wukchumni, a Native American language spoken by a small community in Northern California.

The INLP Conference Room (rm. 230) will be able to be reserved later on Tuesday.

Other programs include; INLP Open Forum, Brown Bags, Lectures, and academic group study rooms, and chat with our helpful and friendly staff. Have a great semester to begin. We welcome you all for another academic year and we are proud of your commitment to your education. INLP is here to help you with your academic needs.

Thank you,

Paulita Aguilar, Associate Professor & Research Librarian. paulita@unm.edu

505.277.7433

1 University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131

University Libraries, MSC05 3020

Indigenous Nations Library Program

The Student Activities Center is also hosting a week of activities as well. Activities include free movie showing of Captain America: Civil War, Welcome Back Days, University Libraries will be participating in the Welcome Back, and Ice Cream Social. Please visit the Student Activities Center website for more information. The Gathering Place for having snacks and goodies at The Gathering Place for an informal social gathering where ideas and thoughts are shared. Drinks and Re-

Thank you very much for taking the time to read our newsletter. If you have any questions please contact:

Paulita Aguilar, Associate Professor & Research Librarian. paulita@unm.edu

505.277.7433

1 University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, NM 87131

University Libraries, MSC05 3020

Indigenous Nations Library Program

We are very excited to bring you the first INLP exhibit, titled The Art of Indigenous Scholarship: Celebrating the Contributions of Indigenous Faculty at UNM. This exhibit is opening September 9 with a opening reception and we invite you to celebrate the literary talents of our own Indigenous intellectuals. Other programs include; INLP Open Forum, Brown Bags, Lectures, and academic group study rooms, and chat with our helpful and friendly staff. Have a great semester to begin. We welcome you all for another academic year and we are proud of your commitment to your education. INLP is here to help you with your academic needs.