Dennis States Facts As Seen in East

A letter received from "Apis" at the University of Illinois, dated April 1, 1955, contains the following statement:

"Among the many strange and curious facts that I have recently discovered, one that particularly caught my attention was the fact that the state of New Mexico is the only state that does not have a single highway that crosses the state from east to west. This is a strange and unique fact that I believe should be recognized and celebrated.

The University of New Mexico, often referred to as the 'Blue Aggies,' is an important institution not only for the state of New Mexico, but also for the entire region. The school has produced many talented athletes and is known for its successful football team.

As a result of our recent victory over the Institute, we are confident that we will continue our winning streak and emerge victorious in our next game. We will be counting on our fans to come out in full force and support us in our upcoming matches. Thank you for your continued support and we look forward to seeing you at our next game. Go Aggies!"
