A Fable

Alan Stringer

Richard McKane

Nazim Hikmet

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalrepository.unm.edu/nm_composer_archive

Recommended Citation

Resting by the water-side the plane tree and I,

Our reflections are thrown on the water,

The sparkle of the water hits us

the plane tree's and mine.

the plane tree and me. Resting by the water-side the plane tree, I thrown on the water. and the cat's. The plane tree's, mine sparkle of the water hits us, Ah, the plane tree, me and the cat.

The sparkle of the water hits the plane tree, me, and the cat. Resting by the water-side the plane tree, I, the cat, and the sun. Our reflections are thrown on the water.

cat, and the sun. Our reflections: the mine, the cat's and the sun's. The sparkle of the water hits the plane tree's mine, -2- the cat's and the plane tree, me, the cat and the sun.
sun's, tree, me, cat and and

Resting by the water-side the plane tree the cat and our life.

Our reflections are thrown on the water. The plane tree's

Our reflections are thrown on the water.

the cat's and our life's. The sparkle of the water hits us, mine, the sun's and our life's.

The sparkle of the

the plane tree, me, the cat, the sun, and our wa-ter hits the plane tree, me the cat, the sun, and our Slower \( \frac{1}{4} \) 96

Resting by the water side. First the cat will go, life.

Its reflection lost upon the water. Then I will go, life.

Its reflection lost upon the water. Then the plane tree will go. Its reflection lost on the water.

Then the water will go. The sun will remain, then it Faster 1. 104

Resting by the water-side the plane tree, I, the cat, the sun, and our life. The water is cool. The plane tree is spreading.

I am writing this song. The sun is warm. It's spreading.

It's great to be alive. The sparkle of the water hits us.

Ah!

The plane tree, me, the cat, the sun, and our life.