SELECT FORCES FOR LOWER CLASS SCRAP

Coach Johnson in Charge of Struggle Which Will Decide Question of Wearing Ink-Spots.

Coach Johnson, the animated giant from Michigan, has graciously taken over the Freshman-Sophomore brawl, and has promised to conduct the same in a truly he-man style. While the contest will offer no chances for physical injuries, as did the one last year, there will be plenty of opportunity for the antagonistic spirits of the contenders to clash. There will also be plenty of amusement offered to the interested bystander.

The object of the contest is to determine not only class supremacy, but is to decide whether or not the yearlings will be forced to continue wearing their ink spots. The date set is February 4. The contest will be held on the University field on the afternoon of that date.

While all the plans have not been definitely made, the program will probably consist of a cane-rush, to be preceded by an obstacle race. Equal numbers representing the rival organizations will compete in both these struggles. The object of the cane-rush will be to see which class has possession of most of the enemy's property at the end of a designated period—property being previously specified as canes, wearing apparel not to count in the final result.

The obstacle race will probably be in the nature of a modified cross-country affair along a designated, devious course, decorated here and there with barbed-wire entanglements, hurdles, dips, and various other impediments. There will only be one place—winner take all for his class. Reports have it that the Freshmen have already conceded victory to the Sophs.

SOPH-SENIORS WIN IN HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

Playing a superior brand of basketball throughout, the sextette representing the Sophomore and Junior classes completely outclassed that of the Freshman-Junior division last Saturday on the University outdoor court. The final score was 20 to 7. Early in the game the victors secured a safe lead, which was maintained without difficulty throughout the contest.

Miss Parsons and Miss Gerhardt proved the stars for the winners, scoring ten points each. Miss Gerhardt scored five goals from the field and Miss Parsons four and two from the foul line. Miss Nelson scored the greater number of points for the Freshman-Junior division. The teams will meet again on next Saturday.

The line-ups were as follows: Freshman-Junior — Forwards, Miss Nelson and Miss Andrews; center, Miss Carter; running center, Miss Hamilton; guards, Misses McGuire and Sherwood.

Coan's Condition Critical.
Professor C. F. Coan, head of the Department of History, took suddenly ill last week and was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he was operated on. The Drs. Cornish report that Dr. Coan is doing as well as could be expected, but that it will probably be some time before he can return to take charge of his duties. Prof. R. W. Johnson has taken charge of his classes.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

By Hugh Graham.

As an officer of this organization for the past year, I will endeavor to outline briefly the purposes and workings of this association.

It has been established in the University of New Mexico for many years and was organized to develop dramatic ability among the students. From time to time performances of the legitimate drama and comedy have been performed for the entertainment of its members and friends and also to extend the interest and influence of the State University.

It, like other organizations, has a president, a vice president, a secretary-treasurer and an advisory committee, who manage the affairs of the club. These officers, with the exception of the latter, are elected by the members, while the advisory committee, consisting of members of the faculty, is appointed by the president. All officers are elected for a term of one year.

It has been the custom of this organization to present, during the school year, a number of short sketches, including both comedy and drama, and closing the season with an original musical comedy. However, the present administration has objected to the latter and it has been done away with. We now plan to supplement in its stead a good, legitimate comedy, to be given at the usual time.

It might here be of interest to explain how all future performances are to be handled. It has been provided in the new constitution that a committee be appointed, consisting of a play-manager, property manager and the president of the club, whose duties will be to care for and arrange for all performances. The play-manager will secure a director, engage a place for the performance, post dates for rehearsals, estimate the cost of production and present a budget to be approved by the executive committee. He will also promote ticket sales and handle the

AN ENGINEERS FROLIC AT MID-WINTER PROM.

Rodey Hall was secured, committees were selected, and the date was O. K. The Engineers were off again to a good start. It was a dance this time, and the followers of the rod and transit had everything surveyed and accurately listed for a supreme feat in Terpsichorean Engineering.

The N. M. organization had already proven its ability in the entertainment line, for its members have always staged an annual event of the most enjoyable kind. Flannel shirts were discarded along with the high-topped boots, so the dance furnished the curious with an opportunity to satisfy their curiosity regarding the appearance of the New Mexico Society of Engineers disguised as the Tea Hound department of the College of Arts and Science.

Special plans were made to insure an individually distinguished success. Rodey Hall was modeled to taste, as well as the punch. The committee in charge, which consisted of Elmer Bryan, chairman, Willard Stoffer and Lawrence Dixon, furnished the best orchestra possible and the floor was polished and buried under a two-inch fall of high-powered wax.

With their customary generosity, the Engineers opened their ball to the entire student body.

FAST CONTESTS OPEN INTRA-MURAL BASKET BALL LEAGUE

University Title Will Be in Doubt Until Last Game Is Played Between Evenly Matched Teams; Each Five to Participate in Twelve Battles.

FIRST TWO GAMES DROPPED BY BARBS

Both the Alpha Deltas and the Sigma Chis took the Independents into camp in the Intra-Mural contests played on the Y. M. C. A. courts, although stiff opposition was encountered in both instances, the Alpha Deltas nosing out the Barbs, 5-3, and the Sigs doing a more complete job, 19-14.

The first game, played with the Alpha Deltas, was a contest filled with rough play and fouls. Little team-work worthy of the name was displayed, but both quintets were making a valiant fight, as the closeness of the final count will indicate. Bryan and Bursey, at guards for the victors, were the outstanding players on the court and their effective work prevented the Independent forwards from getting within range of their goal.

After playing one game apiece, both the Sigma Chi and the Independent teams were working together a little more smoothly than when they opposed each other last Tuesday. The Barbs led off, and for the greater part of the first half had a margin of three points over the Sigs. Play was fast, however, and encouraged by much cheering from the sidelines, the latter aggregation managed to cage a total of seven points before the first frame ended.

In the second half, Popejoy moved from guard to Wilkenson's forward, and Calkins took his position at guard, while Clark replaced Harrington at guard for the Independents. Stowell, playing a running guard, was in all parts of the court at once, and made some telling shots from out near the center of the floor. Hyder played a consistent game for the Independents, and although outjumped by Betts, he outplayed the latter in the other departments of the game.

THE SEMESTER ENDS

Now is the time for the burning of the midnight oil, or rather, gray dawn kilowatts. There are but two more weeks in this semester and it behooves all persons to beware the walking of that semi-annual specter, Semester Examinations. To those who have paid the proper homage to their subjects the end of the semester simply marks the close of another period of school work and the beginning of renewed activity in new activities. To those who have bowed before the demands of pleasure or who have wasted time in dallying and procrastination the semester exams are an unescapable Nemesis. It behooves every person in the University to make the most of the few more days remaining in this school period and gather up all loose ends that they may be in condition to begin the coming semester anew and free of all possible conditions.

A person comes to the University to learn and any person who has not learned a new lesson in industry and application, or who has not gained in the ability to concentrate, has failed utterly in this semester's work, no matter what his scholastic average may be. Now is the time to begin to think about the ways in which the individual has failed or succeeded and to take unto himself the lessons which he has learned in mental discipline during the past four months.

Possibly there are some who are discouraged because of a seeming inability to grasp the courses as fully as they should have liked. Possibly they are even now planning on quitting the school at the end of the semester. But why let circumstances control you? You are here in school for the purpose of learning mental control and let every person who may be considering the stopping of school reconsider and stick it out, although they may be thoroughly discouraged. Make the most of the next two weeks and be determined that the lessons learned this period will be instrumental in building a high scholastic record for the remainder of the school year.

GRANT STUDENT DATES FOR NEXT SEMESTER

Committee Has Difficult Task in Spacing Entertainments.

Committee on Student Affairs met Monday, January 9, in the Chemistry building and arranged a calendar of events for the second semester, the basis of this arrangement being the requests handed in to the committee by the organizations of the University.

The work of the committee was intricate and difficult, it being necessary for each member to have in writing a copy of the schedule of the requests for him to consider in detail before the meeting convened. Over sixty requests for dates were submitted and, as there are (omitting the closed season) only sixteen week-ends, it is needless to say that, after long and mature deliberation, in order to be just and impartial, the committee wielded the axe.

As matters now stand, a date on the program for the second semester will be as scarce as hen's teeth. This is not to say that the schedule as arranged by the committee is one of hustle and bustle or that an undue number of social events are scheduled to take place at any particular week-end period. By exercising discretion the committee found it possible to space the most important of the social functions well apart and to intersperse the intervals with little affairs which concern only a very few. The entire University will be pleased to know that the Dramatic Club will give a play on March 3. Each fraternal organization is to have its own private dinner during the semester. The Y. W. C. A. is scheduled to present an Easter sunrise service. The inter-scholastic track meet date was set last spring by the high schools of the state. The visiting athletes are due to compete on May 12 and 13. Final examinations come June 1 to 6, with Commencement falling on June 7. The most pretentious social affair of the season will be the Senior Ball on the night of Commencement.

On a whole, a very satisfactory and impartial schedule has been drawn up. All factors having a bearing on dates were carefully considered. The majority of dates requested were granted and all of them were handled in the best way for all concerned. No organization of the University will have reason to feel otherwise than well pleased, for the committee carefully avoided the "supposed policy of 'malice for all and charity for none' and acted on motives quite the opposite.

WORK OUTLINED IN LOWELLITE MEETING

Plans will soon be completed for the activities of the Lowell Literary Society, according to George Martin, who has been placed in charge. A meeting of the society was held in the Administration building last Thursday, for the purpose of reorganizing the society, which has been inactive since last year.

The constitution for the organization has been drawn up and will be presented at the next regular meeting for approval. Regular work and program assignments will also be given at that time.

The Lowell Literary Society intends to promote oratory and organized debating in the University of New Mexico and will probably handle the instruction and management of the debating teams which will represent the University in the many debates to be engaged in during the next semester.

At a meeting of the Pipe and Pen Club, held Tuesday night, in Bill Stahl's room, Hugh Graham was initiated into the organization. Mr. Graham has taken an active part in the staging of most of the dramatic events staged by the University in the past two years, and expects to foster the theater movement this year.

The finances of the Bulletin were discussed and plans were laid for the publication of the next issue, which will make its appearance about the middle of February. Editors for the next issue will be Mr. Joe Bursey and Mr. George White. The management of the sheet will be undertaken by Mr. Edward Horgan.

WITH THE QUIZ TAKERS

In the millions of answers to questions turned in by applicants for federal jobs, some "gems" are discovered. One applicant declared the largest sound in the State of Washington is "the roaring of the waves." One stated that the feminine of czar is "bazaar," and the plural of solo is "duet."

Here are a few taken at random from the political economy list:

Question—Name two of the principal functions of money.

Answer—To have and to hold.

Question—Name eleven Arctic animals.

Answer—Five polar bears and six seals.

Another question was: "Who wrote 'Home, Sweet Home'?"

The illuminating answer was: "Homer."

One applicant for examination gave as the place of his birth, "the second floor back room of my father's house."

Another stated that the length of his legal residence was "forty-two feet."—Ohio State Journal.

HE WANTED SERVICE

Not long ago, the story runs, a traveling salesman visited a certain small town and sold the proprietor of its general store an order of printing. When the printing arrived it was not as represented and the merchant consequently returned it. But the printing house nevertheless attempted to collect the bill and drew a sight draft on the merchant through the local bank, which returned the draft unhonored.

The printers then wrote the postmaster about the financial standing of the merchant and the postmaster replied laconically that it was O. K.

By return mail the printers requested him to collect the account and they received the following reply:

"The undersigned is the merchant on whom you attempted to palm off your worthless goods. The undersigned is president and owner of the bank to which you sent your sight draft. The undersigned is the postmaster to whom you wrote, and the undersigned is the lawyer whose service you sought to obtain for your nefarious business. If the undersigned were not also pastor of the church at this place he would tell you to go to H—1(2)."

DON'T WRITE and fear NO woman.

WILFLEY COPS MORE HONORS ON TENNIS

Wins Recent Club Tourney by Disposing of Reeves; Plans Future.

Tuesday, December 20, marked the termination of the Winter Tennis Tournament at the University, when Vernon Wilfley, last year's winner of the Bruno Dieckmann cup for singles, repeated, defeating Frank Reeves in two sets out of three. While Reeves went into the last lap a favorite, he failed to play consistently, dropping six straight games to Wilfley in the first set after having his opponent five-love. The second went to Reeves, who was at his best in this set, 6-2. The last set went to Wilfley, 7-5, and was featured by his steady returns of most difficult shots.

Taking the comparative standing of members as indicated by the tournament just ended, the Club Committee is making plans for a doubles tournament and a rating tournament. The former will take place some time in the near future. In the latter the men have been arranged according to the ability they displayed in the singles tournament. Each man has been ranked according to numbers and may at any time challenge the one above him. This is planned in order to make it more easy to select men to represent U. N. M. in any tournament or meet, as each player will soon adjust himself to his proper place. In all probability play in this tournament will begin soon after the close of the first semester.

STATION SENDS OUT WIRELESS REPORTS

During the Christmas holidays the wireless station proved the most frequented place on the campus. Musical concerts were received from Catalina Islands, Denver, and other nearby stations.

Vernon Wilfley, operator of the wireless station, stated in an interview yesterday that the "weather" reports were sent out last week, but an accident which put out of commission the available generators for supplying power to the transmitting set has not permitted a regular schedule to be arranged. As soon as repairs are made, however, reports will be sent out daily at 12:30 and 6:30 p. m.

"Music and telephone conversations, however, are being received daily and visitors are welcome at any time the receiving set is in operation."

"For some unknown reason the new receiving set and telephone sets ordered some time ago have not yet arrived, but their arrival is expected daily."

"It is probable that a course in wireless operation, principally sending and receiving in the wireless code, will be given next semester for those who desire to acquire this knowledge. The credit offered will be small, but it is thought that there will be a number of students to sign up for this course for the purpose of learning the operation of a radio set."

The receiving set is located in the central part of the Engineering building. It may be reached by entering the front door and walking directly towards the rear of the building. Many students are availing themselves of this opportunity to see a wireless set in action.

MANY ENROLL FOR EXTENSION COURSES

Classes in the Saturday Morning Extension Courses of the University were opened to the public on Saturday, January 7, and a large number have availed themselves of the opportunity to enjoy the privileges of the courses offered. The Extension school is open to adults only. Classes are held every Saturday morning at the High School building and at the University. Following is a list of the departments offered:

English Literature.—George S. Hubbell, A. B., A. M., Ph.D. (Princeton University). Eight lectures and readings; 9 a. m. Saturday at High School.

Mental and Educational Tests.—Benjamin F. Haught, A. B., A. M. (Columbia University), Ph.D. (George Peabody University). Eight lectures and demonstrations; 9 a. m. Saturdays at High School.

Home Economics for Housewives at the splendidly equipped Sara Reynolds Hall State University. Mrs. Walter Simpson (Ypsilanti), in charge. Eight lectures and demonstrations, 9 a. m. Saturdays, at the University.

Educational Hygiene and Physical Training of Children.—Katherine McCormick, A. B., M. A. (Columbia University). Eight lectures, 9 a. m. Saturdays, at High School.

A registration fee is charged for any one of the courses offered, and will not be refundable. Classes will continue throughout the second semester, which begins January 30, 1922.

GYM CLASSES POPULAR WITH UNDER-CLASSMEN

Classes have started in the gymnasium for members of the Sophomore and Freshman classes, under the direction of Coach Johnson. Basketball is played on two of the weekly sessions, while the third is devoted to instruction in the various apparatus in the gymnasium.

A great deal of enthusiasm has been developed along this line, as it furnishes to every man an opportunity for athletic recreation. Not everyone can make a place on one of the Varsity teams, but most every man appreciates a chance for an active part in school sports.

Quite a bit of material has been discovered among the underclassmen for first-class athletes, and by the time training begins for the track a number of stars should present themselves from the gymnasium classes. It is probable that a gym team will be organized in the near future.

LAST "Y. W." PROGRAM ENTERTAINS MEMBERS

Business having been previously transacted, the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. last Wednesday was converted into a delightful social affair. All members were in attendance and a musical and reading program was rendered by the talented members of the Association. Following the program light refreshments were served, following which the meeting adjourned.

The program was featured by a solo by Miss Clyda Wilson, who rendered "Just For Today," followed by two violin solos by Mrs. J. D. Clark. Emma Gerhardt and Mary Sands sang a duet, "Whispering Hope," and Helen Nelson ably rendered a psychological reading entitled "It's All in the State of Mind." Miss Norma Williams officiated at the piano.

Our Weekly Love Story.

I sing of her:
She was delicate as a young birch

I tell of him:
He was heavy-handed and light of foot.

I sing of her:
Her words were gentle as the stir

I tell of him:
He said nothing.
I consider them both:

They walked familiar paths between well-kept lawns, caring more for those of sand than those of gravel. They alone of all campus lovers sat long in the library together, without danger of suspension for six weeks. They invented various colored silences to take the place of words. They had drifted into a great calm lake out of a deep broad river. They brooded on solemn things. They never said a damned word. It sure is discouraging. What can I say about them if they never said anything about themselves?

They were dear, to be sure, but not dizzy!

MARY AND JOHN

Early morning bright and cool,
Sitting on the swimming pool,
John and Mary both inclined
Towards each other, hands entwined.
And their hearts went pitter-throb
With a little quirk and sob!
Mary whispered, "John, my dear,"
Kissed him gently on the ear.
Funny thing, for ears are cold,
Yet that is how the tale is told.
Mary whispered, "John, my dear,"
Leaned up close, and kissed his ear.
Funny thing to think upon,
Knowing Mary, knowing John.

BRUCE GRIMES SAYS

"I have recently discovered that 'Pull Your Shades Down, Mary Ann' applies just as well to a couple riding in the back seat of a Clifford taxi as in the hall-room."

One need not be a college wit. Making times to heights of socks, Judging this or that a hit.

By the number that he shocks, Surely one may strive at times In original strain and sing Something that says not a word Of the usual girls and spring. Certainly! one may write of prunes, Shoestrings, history, church and pie.

One might think of more than girls, But who the deuce would want to try?

BILL SAYS

"There's somebody around here that gets a Maxim silencer and a maximum kiss."

The well-known movie haunted us for so long that we simply had to revive the old play on words, "The Four Horse Men of the Parched Lips."

THY HEART

Thy heart is like some icy lake,
On whose cold brink I stand;
Oh, buckle on my spirit's skate,
And lead, thou living saint, the way
To where the ice is thin—
That it may break beneath my feet
And let a lover in.

WITH THE GREEKS

Christmas vacation was a big time for everybody and while most of the dwellers of the fraternity houses disappeared, they have all returned to face final examinations. So the holidays and the weeks past loom up as pretty bright beside the dismal prospect for the future. No matter—grin and bear it!

ALPHA DELTA

Most of the Alpha Deltas left for home as soon as school closed and stayed out the limit. Those that stayed reported "all quiet on the Hill."

ALPHA DELTA PI

The night of January 6th Ruth and Esther Morgan entertained the Alpha Delta PIs and their guests at their home on University Heights. The party was an informal dance and light refreshments were served during the evening. It was a very enjoyable affair.

PHI MU

During the holidays Phi Mu alumnae were very busy and numerous parties were given. The actives and pledges gave a tea dansant at the Women's club on Friday afternoon, December 30th. Tea was served in the smaller room, while the hall was open for dancing.

PI KAPPA ALPHA

Only two of the PKAs remained at the house during the holidays, the remainder having gone home for Christmas.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The Alpha Chis staged a unique party last Friday night at their sorority house. It was a studio dansant, with artistic decorations, cubist paintings, tams and all the fittings. After the dancing the guests were led down into the cellar, where, amid a true Bohemian setting, sandwiches and coffee were served. Altogether it proved to be a pleasant break in the usual run of parties and gives one more thing to be remembered.

SIGMA CHI

Sigma Chi alumni gave a very lively dance at the chapter house during the Christmas vacation. A number of Sigs and other University students who remained for the holidays attended. It was the only dance on the Hill during the holidays.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Practically all of the Kappa girls left for the holidays, but, like the rest, are back and hard at work again.

While it shall be the duty of the property manager to secure all properties of the performance.

With the formation and adoption of the new constitution which has just been formulated, this now dormant association will certainly become one of the leading University activities and will be a credit to our institution. With proper management and spirit and hearty co-operation from the students this organization will rapidly develop the highest standard possible and advance the interest of dramatics in the University of New Mexico.

BISHOP HOWDEN SPEAKS BEFORE STUDENT BODY

Rodey Hall was filled to its capacity last Friday, at the first weekly meeting of the student body after the Christmas holidays, to hear Bishop Howden, of Albuquerque, deliver an address on "The Bible As a Factor in Civilization."

"A person cannot be cultured without a thorough knowledge of the Bible," was the theme of the Bishop's address.

"Wherever the Bible has been taken, civilization has been the result."

"It is not known when writing books began. In this day of great learning we are liable to forget the treasures of the past. Some of us do not know that Cicero left as many orations as Daniel Webster, that Julius Caesar was such a prolific writer that he employed three secretaries skilled in shorthand to write down what he said."

Bishop Howden gave many other examples of the greatness of the ancients and advised the reading of these old writings.

"Do not lose yourself in science," he said. "During the early part of the nineteenth century a school of scientists in France got out eighty theories in relation to the laws of science, and today not one of those eighty theories is in use. Books on science that are over fifteen years old are no longer used as authorities. I would not have you think, though, that I am against the study of sciences. Far from it. But do not allow yourself to become a one-sided person. Do not be lost in science. The only book that has stood the test of time is the Bible. One cannot become cultured without doing what every great statesman has done; that is, making himself familiar with the Bible."

"The Bible Society of England sends out seven millions of Bibles each year. The heathen are rapidly becoming acquainted with it. In the United States alone there are enough Bibles published each year to completely bury the Washington monument."

Before the main address of the morning F. M. MacKaine, a noted Albuquerque singer, favored the audience with two selections.

Frank Neher, President of the Student body, announced the plans for the Freshman-Sophomore fight, to be held February 4. The plans will be posted later.

Dr. Ellis Lectures on Sandias.

Before a crowded classroom, containing many visitors from the city, Prof. R. W. Ellis, head of the Department of Geology, delivered an instructive and enlightening lecture on the structure of the neighboring Sandia Mountains. The lecture was illustrated by slides and maps made by the professor, who is the best known authority in the United States on the geology of the Southwest.
