GOOD CROWD ATTENDS STUDENT BODY MEETING

Prof. Weese Talks on Washington Birthday Fete; Doran and Harkness on "Mirage."

At the Student Body meeting on last Thursday an unusually good audience was on hand, it being the first meeting for several weeks, on account of the long interval caused by the Christmas vacation.

Washington Birthday Affair.

Professor Asa Orin Weese, president of the U. N. M. Athletic Council, delivered one of his characteristically enthusiasm-producing and result-getting talks. He told of the success of the affair last year and declared that this year ought to be a great deal better, with the experience of the past for a guide, and the fact that the people of the town knew of the quality of the entertainment given by the University.

Asks Organizations to Act.

Professor Weese requested the different classes in the University to get together as soon as possible, and lay their plans for taking an active part in the fete; also, to elect their representatives to confer with the Athletic Council and thus get arrangements under way to insure the success of the entertainment.

Keen Interest Shown.

Professor Weese's talk was listened to with the closest interest and attention by all present, and from the applause which greeted his talk at its close, everything points to the hearty backing and cooperation of the Student Body.

Doran Then Talks.

Ed Doran, the Business Manager of this year's "Mirage" the student annual, then gave a brief outline of his plans for the business side of the book, urging the students and faculty to "come across" with their financial support in the same good spirit they displayed last year, and thus assure another good "Mirage."

Harkness Also Discourses.

Leslie M. Harkness, Editor of "The Mirage," then followed Doran with a statement of the plans and purposes of the editorial staff of the book, stating that everything was moving along well in that respect, and that it was expected that "The Mirage" would be out by May 1st at the latest.

Student Body Election.

Miss Florence M. Seder, president of the Student Body, then stated that under the provision of the Constitution, the annual election of president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer of the Student Body would take place on next Thursday, January 22, and requested all students to be on hand that date.

There being no more business to transact, the meeting was then adjourned until next Thursday.

Chill: another opportunity for our dear Mr. Fullerton to make a pun.

The inmates of Hokona seem determined to receive their full quota of attention from Miss Dean, even if they must tread the "primrose path" of sickness to secure it.

"AUTHORITY" SUBJECT OF ASSEMBLY LECTURE

"Right to Govern Comes From God Only," Declares Speaker, in First of Series of Talks.

Tuesday morning, the Assembly was addressed by Reverend Father A. M. Mandalari, S. J., Pastor of the local Immaculate Conception Church, his subject being "Respect for Authority," Different Ideas.

The speaker pointed out the different ideas prevalent concerning authority and its derivation, and endeavored to show the truth and falsity of them, handling his subject in a scholarly and masterful way, which won for him the respect, if not the belief of his hearers.

Despotism Wrong.

The first of these ideas, declared Father Mandalari, was that authority was founded on strength, military or otherwise. This was wrong, he stated, for in order to be of avail, force must rely on authority for its right, in the first place, to exist, and authority itself would have to rest on force. The two would be mutually dependent on each other, and as a consequence, neither would have any real foundation to exist. Thus, military despotism, and the authority resting on it, is wrong.

Not From the People.

Another idea, and that most prevalent in modern times, went on the lecturer, was that authority was derived from the people themselves: that at some time back in the past, the people, in assembly, voted to give up some of their rights and privileges, and to vest them in one head for mutual protection. This could not be so, he stated; in the first place, one cannot give up any of his natural rights to another; this is contrary to nature and intelligence, and in the second place, the speaker denied the truth of the evolution theory upon which this idea of the gradual upward progress of mankind would have to rest.

Authority Is From God.

The final idea, which the speaker declared was the true and logical one, was derived from Almighty God Himself. He first gave Adam dominion over the earth, and gave to parents the right and privilege of rule over their children. God has given this authority to the rulers, no matter what their title, or the form of Government; this belongs to the people, but when the authority is conferred on a ruler, he then holds office as the representative of God and as such is entitled to respect and obedience.

Obedience Not Slavery.

This obedience is in no manner to be considered slavery; the ruler, as the representative of God, can never overstep his authority and become a tyrant, for then he misuses his power and has no right to hold office. The true ruler is like the true head of the family, always trying to do his best for the betterment of the subjects.

Two More Talks.

The close of the period prevented Father Mandalari from going farther with his subject, but he then consented to appear twice more and continue with it; consequently, he will again speak today, and finally at another period, to be set.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF U. N. M. NEXT MONTH

Plans Being Made for Appropriate Celebration of Silver Jubilee of Varsity's Founding.

Another matter brought up in the Student Body meeting of last week, which seems worthy of separate mention, is the fact that on February 28th of this year, the University will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of its founding.

On February 28, 1889, Honorable Bernard S. Rodey introduced into the Territorial Legislature the bill creating the University of New Mexico, and he is as a consequence, justly called the "Father of the U. N. M."

Suggestion of Lane.

It was David Reddick Lane, a former Varsity student, one-time Editor of The U. N. M. Weekly, and since leaving the University, prominently engaged in newspaper work in New Mexico who suggested the idea of holding this celebration to Professor C. E. Hodgkin, Dean of the Normal Department and Editor of The University News. Professor Hodgkin at once proceeded to act upon Mr. Lane's suggestion, and arrangements are now under way to have the University's Silver Jubilee fittingly and appropriately observed next month.

The Varsity's Growth.

A few words concerning the Institution's onward progress may not be out of place.

Starting out as practically a preparatory school, the U. N. M. has moved onward, steadily and surely, improving her standards, increasing her resources, dropping preparatory subjects as quickly as possible and adding new ones, of collegiate value, until today she stands as one of the foremost, in point of scholastic standing and rank, State Universities in the United States.

Students Honored.

Her graduates are received into the largest colleges and Universities in the country. Full credit for her work is given in every State University and other institutions of higher learning. Her students have "made good," wherever they have gone, and many of them are now occupying positions of honor and responsibility in the business, professional and educational world.

The Varsity's Advantages.

This calls to mind the advantages of attending the U. N. M. and shows why one who attends this institution can feel that he is fortunate in getting the chance of obtaining an education in "The Sunshine State," while at the same time enjoying the advantages and blessings of one of the most delightful and salubrious climates in the world.

To Miss Parsons:

We, the members of the Freshman class, do hereby advise and request that you as committee on records, do purchase for our French phonograph the two well known records, Tris Monstorde and Tris Gingemere.

ANOTHER SPECIAL OF THE WEEKLY TO APPEAR

"The Sophomore Edition," with Miss Treasure Hartmann as Chief Engineer of the Vessel.

The success of and interest manifested in the special numbers of The Weekly is now beginning to bear results, and as a consequence another one of these issues will be out shortly after examinations. This will be "The Sophomore Number," under the efficient "espionage" of Miss Treasure Hartmann, the popular Hokonaite, whose good work on The Weekly for the past two years is well known to all, especially the editorial board of the publication.

Good Number Assured.

The Sophomore Class can proudly boast of some of the finest literary geniuses of the Varsity; there is "Red" Balcomb, whose talents as an artist, rhymster, etc., are common knowledge to all students. "Frenchy" Gouin, (he of the unpronounceable appellation) who has made things lively on numerous occasions with his diffydils, and other classic "brainstorms." "Toots McFie" the poetess laureate of the U. N. M., and so on. In fact, the roster of the Sophomore Class presents a glittering galaxy of intellectual giants, such as would put to shame a similar class in any Institution on this terrestrial globe of ours.

Hard At It.

From all accounts, these geniuses are busy getting ready their material, and when the number makes its appearance in a week or so, it will be one that should be kept and (T)reasured for the rest of one's days as a human being, citizen of these United States, and resident of New Mexico.

NUMBER SIX OF "THE NEWS" IS NOW READY

Another Issue of the University's Publication Off the Press and Will Be Distributed.

Number 6, Volume 1, of "The University News," the official publication of the University, has just come off the press, and will be mailed out this week.

Interesting Articles.

"The News" is still maintaining its high standard, both for scholarship and interest, and the present number is filled with good articles of varied sorts and kinds. Among these are, "Why Go to College," an article on the University's Twenty-Fifth Anniversary, the Varsity marriages, social affairs at the Institution, and others of interest to persons interested in the U. N. M.

Names For Mailing List.

Persons are again requested to hand in names of those whom they want to receive "The News"; the purpose of the publication is to promote an interest in the University, and it will be a favor for the Editorial Board to receive as many names as are given them.

Say, Miss Dean, who do you suppose turned the parlor up-side-around?

THE FRESHMAN NUMBER.

The Freshman edition of The Weekly was, in every respect, an unequalled success, and nothing but praise of it has been heard on all sides.

Credit for its appearance must be given Miss Cora Greenfield, the editor, (or editress) and Mr. Lee Craire Murphy, the capable and energetic Associate Editor.

These special numbers of The Weekly have always been a pleasant innovation to the University, and it is planned to issue several more during the present scholastic year.

The first of these will be "The Sophomore Number," under the editorship of Miss Treasure Hartmann, whose abilities as a writer and worker are too well known to require further comment.

suffice to say that "The Sophomore Number" will be a "live one," that will not be ashamed of itself in any manner. It will appear shortly after the examinations are over.

VARITY GIRL'S FAME MAKES HOME FOLKS TAKE NOTICE

Cora Lee's Weekly Causes Favorable Comment in Sleepy Old Metropolis of the Sunny South.

Some one was kind enough to hand us the following splendid compliment from the Rogers, Arkansas, "Web Foot and Razor Back Squeak," the chief newspaper in the former home town of Miss Cora Lee Greenfield, the efficient and capable young editress of "The Freshman Edition" of The Weekly, issued last week.

As every student of Geography knows, Rogers is a thriving and bustling Arkansas city, of some three or four hundred souls, and consequently we all feel proud to think that the fame of Miss Cora Lee's ability as an editress should have permeated to the remote recesses of this great Metropolis of the South.

In his leading editorial, the editor-in-chief, "The Web Foot and Razor Back Squeak," the Honorable Colonel I. E. T. Moonshine, says:

"Last week we received, as an exchange, a copy of the U. N. M. Weekly. It may be of interest to our patrons to learn that this special issue was edited by one of our own girls Miss Cora Lee Greenfield. We wish to congratulate Miss Greenfield on the cleverness, wit and ginger which she has condensed into that one edition. It shows unusual powers of observation, a lively humor, sarcasm which leaves no sting and great literary talent. We know Miss Greenfield in a social way and are aware of her charming personality; and we are glad that she has distinguished herself in such a way as to incur the honor of editorship. We are proud of the skill, adroitness, energy and ease with which Miss Greenfield acquitted that office."

WORK PROGRESSING WELL ON "SECOND FRATERNITY FOLLIES"

Sigma Tau Play Promises to Be Great Success, and Those Witnessing It Are Assured of Good Time.

The members of the Sigma Tau Fraternity who are in the cast of "The Second Fraternity Follies," are all working hard in brushing up their parts. The whole play has practically been mastered and now all that is needed is to polish up the acting.

Feminine Splendid.
The ones who have feminine parts are accomplishing soprano voices and other womanly traits. They have even been seen in gowns learning how to manage their trains. They do say, too, that these would-be feminine characters will be hard to tell from the real thing. No names of the cast will be given out, but it will be left to the ingenuity of the audience to pick out the different ones.

Ticket Sale Soon.
The play is to be given the evening of Friday, January 30th. The tickets will probably be on sale about next Monday, as the patrons' list is expected to be announced the last of the week.

EVELYN'S PINK TEA.

Miss Evelyn Everitt entertained the active members of Xi Chapter Phi Mu at her home Saturday afternoon. The girls took their "knitting" and during the afternoon the needles flew as fast as the tongues. A delicious luncheon was served late in the afternoon which brought to a close a very happy afternoon. Those present were Florence Seder, Mary Cooper, Helen James, Cora Greenfield, Anna Armstrongs, Mary Bright, Marie Higgins, Jean Arnot, Ruth McKowen.

Y. W. C. A. LADY FETED.

Mrs. Ray Stamm entertained Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Inez Beebe, field secretary of the southwestern territory of the Young Women's Christian Association, which includes Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, who is here to attend the annual meeting of the Association. Mrs. Stamm's guests were the officers and members of the city association and the cabinet of the University Association. A most delightful afternoon was spent.

REPORT OF KANSAS CITY STUDENT CONVENTION

THE SEVENTH INTERNATIONAL STUDENT VOLUNTEER CONVENTION.

(By W. R. Brashear.)

First Day's Session.
The opening session was held Wednesday afternoon, December 31st. Dr. Mott, chairman of the convention, in eloquent language, gave the purpose of the meeting, the solicitation of more volunteers to foreign fields. Dr. Mott emphasized the fact that the combination of the Christian students of all nations and races would triumph over any obstacles, however great. That a union of all the Christian forces of the student communities of the world is absolutely indispensable if the church is to be helped to meet this world-wide situation. His address was followed by Dr. Horton of London, who compared the conditions and number of student volunteers in England with those of America. He spoke of our relation to the church, our relation with each other and the attitude a person should assume in undertaking foreign missionary work. Dr. Robt. E. Speer next talked on the proposition of serving in foreign fields, the immensity of this proposition and the need of more earnest workers. The session closed with a hymn sung by the World Quartette, who furnished the music during the convention.

At this first session, I took a good look at the crowd of students which had assembled. Whatever else may be said of college athletics, it produces more foreign missionaries than any other form of student life. The name "Student Volunteers," suggests a pale, thin, earnest young man with spectacles. In glancing over the assembly as my eyes passed from rows of remarkably pretty girls, I saw rows and rows of husky young men, ruddy-cheeked, deep-chested and with muscles ill concealed by clothes. Football and foreign missions go hand in hand. A championship team, I believe, could have been recruited in ten minutes from the ranks of delegates attending the convention. For instance: Robt. E. Speer, Princeton University's star all-around player, and Bob Gally, all-American end in 1905, played three years on Princeton's team. Harry L. Leizman, famous Kansas University guard in '03, '04, '05. Oliver Cutts, who won all of Harvard's football games in 1902 and scores of other prominent players were present. Such men as these are the men who will conquer the "Foreign Gridirons."

Second Day's Session.
A report of the committee on work accomplished since the Buffalo convention in 1910, was the feature of the session on New Year's day. This report was given by Dr. Mott. An address by Dr. Brody of England, gave a good idea of the student volunteer work in the British Isles. Charles D. Hurrey, executive secretary of the Student Y. M. C. A., spoke on Latin America and conditions existing there. He visited schools and churches in Peru and found that the student class in this country were an unschooled lot, but a modernized people who must be dealt with by missionaries who have studied their special needs.

Third Day's Session.
The last day of the convention was a busy one. First there was the regular morning session in convention hall where the seven thousand students and teachers heard two fine addresses. Dr. Horton, of London, one of the prominent convention figures, talked on "The Message of Foreign Missions," and Dr. Robt. E. Speer, on "The Messenger."

Greater general interest centered in the meeting at convention hall at 3 o'clock, however. There was an entire change from previous conditions, the student delegates being barred and their places taken by Kansas City residents to whom special tickets had been distributed throughout the churches. Sherwood Eddy told of his seventeen years' work in India and what had been accomplished there. He also spoke on China and described the marvelous results which followed his tour of China with John R. Mott last year. He said the new republic of China had a Christian president, and that sixty of the senators and representatives of the republican parliament were converts to Christianity. During his address Mr. Eddy unfolded a small flag of the new Chinese Republic, and held it up to the view of the audience. It was the first time that the new flag had been called to the attention of many of his hearers, and they looked at the four alternating blue and white stripes edged with a single red stripe with interest as Mr. Eddy referred to it as the "five fold prophecy of China's coming greatness."

THE FRESHMAN CLASS IN ATHLETICS.

A review of the football season just closed, and conclusions drawn from observation of the Freshman material for basketball, track and baseball would indicate that the New Mexico freshman has a little more to boast of than does the ordinary college freshman. Nor is this due to lack of material in the other classes, for the upper classmen who made the team, worked as hard for their places as did the freshmen. It is due rather to ability, and to the "go-get-it" determination of the men who went out for the team.

The names of Arnot, Brashear, Carlisle, Gass, Hesseldein, C. Lee, J. McCanna, Shufflebarger and Shields will be recalled as belonging to ones who had more or less to do with the Varsity football team. Of this number, Carlisle, Brashear, Gass, Arnot, C. Lee, Shufflebarger and Hesseldein will receive their letters. And furthermore, of the four Varsity men who made the All-Southwestern team for 1913, three are Freshmen—Brashear, Carlisle and Hesseldein. The fourth, Calkins, is a Junior.

Prospects for basketball are equally as bright. Although practice can hardly be said to have started as yet, the Freshmen are beginning to show up very well indeed, and a prediction of one or more Freshmen as regular members of the team would not be at all unfair. Among the Freshman basketball men may be mentioned Carlisle, J. and R. McCanna, Gordon Gass and Frank Shufflebarger.

Let that be as it may, the fact remains that the Freshman class has had more than its share of athletic honors, of which it is justly proud.

VESPER SERVICES.

The following is the program rendered at Vesper Services last Sunday afternoon.

Hymn No. 57.
Invocation.
Anthem, "The Radiant Morn Hath Passed Away" (Woodward)—Choir.

Prof. Barton: "Pardon me, Miss Hartmann, would you tell me what a transit is?"

Miss Hartmann: "Very sorry, but you might ask Annie Laurie."

Rex. Brashear is wearing a Sigma Tau pin.

A lady visiting the campus asked Rex if he was studying for the ministry. That collar of his was a corker all right.

It is up to the students to make a success of the "Washington Fete." Get busy. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

There is some class to this school all right. The sophs, of course.

It is rumored that Miss Jean Arnot has accepted a position as Assistant Editor of Town Topics. It will be remembered that Miss Arnot received her early training as society editor for the "Weekly."

We, the undersigned, Student Body of the University of New Mexico wish to know why you felt it incumbent upon yourself, instead of being joined in matrimony in Wisconsin, to go to Minnesota to have the knot tied.

The Serenade.

The campus Saturday evening was unusually quiet for some reason, whether in mourning for the death of the moon or the attraction of the city. Especially was it quiet near Hokona. Even Gladys Irene was asleep. The girls although lovers of sleep are lovers of music also. The more so when in the form of a serenade. The Sigma Taus evidently bent on giving pleasure to the ladies turned out full a hundred strong it seemed and sang so beautifully to them. The guitar they say is used to serenaders. We believe it. Needless to say the ladies enjoyed it very much and it was very gallant of the lads.

They sang:—

"Sigma Tau Waltz Song."
 "There's a Girl in the Heart of Maryland."
 "Down by the Old Mill Stream."
 "Bula Song."
 "Silver and Cherry."
 "Os-kee-wow-wow."
 "Good Night, Ladies."
 "One—Two—Three—Four."
 "Sweet Adeline."
