FRESHMAN PLAY A SPLENDID SUCCESS

First Year Folks Open Eyes of Rest of Varsity With Startling Array of Histronics.

As advertised for some time past, "Andrew Kleese and the Lion" was presented by the Freshman class on last Saturday night.

That the performance was fully up to reputation of the Class of 1918 goes without saying and future veredant ones will need to demonstrate considerable ability in order to outdo the initial efforts of the present underclassmen and annually uphold the precedent so started.

A large crowd rendered agreeable by several numbers by Prof. Seder's celebrated orchestra was present in Rodcy Hall when the bell rang for the raising of the curtain disclosing a forest scene of great natural beauty. Perfectly appointed in every detail only the great worth of the Biological department as demonstrated by such apt students as Floyd Lee can account for such a perfect combination of art and nature.

Introduce into this primeval scene Andrew Kleese and his wife as interpreted by Bud Friday and Kathleen Long respectively; throw in a College Varsity football game with Paul Simmons as a roaring success impersonating the Lion and you have circumstances provocative of the most mirthful scenes.

Hip-hip-hoorahs by the feminine contingent of the class, indulging in the muchly tabooed snake dance before the critical eyes of Pandora as so capably represented by Charles Parker added to the merriment. Peg Claiborne as Coach and Bob Loudon as Captain of the football team also deserve special mention.

Following the play Miss Ethel Hickey, author and director of the play, was presented with a large bouquet of American Beauty roses as an appreciation by the cast.

A social dance participated in by all present continued to a late hour. All voted the Freshmen royal entertainers. Future generations of Varsity students have something to anticipate in the annual play by the Freshmen if up to the standard of this year's performance.

The programme as rendered was as follows:

Andrew Kleese and The Lion

A Shavian Travesty

Aulus Gellius, an eye-witness, tells the following story about the ancestor of our newly-discovered New Mexico celebrity:

Androcles was a runaway slave who took refuge in a cavern. A lion entered and instead of tearing him to pieces, lifted up his forepaw that Androcles might extract from it a thorn. The slave being subsequently captured, was doomed to fight with a lion in the Roman arena. It so happened that the same lion was let out against him, and recognizing his

TEAM TO DEBATE AGGIES SELECTED

Bruce, Brorein and Walker Will Constitute the Trio Who Go to Las Cruces Next Month.

At the try-out held last Thursday, in which the team to meet the A. & M. College in the annual debate was selected by the judges, Professors Kirk, Worcester and Sherwin, Allen E. Bruce, Carl D. Brorein and Lee W. Walker were chosen respectively to constitute the University's side.

The try-out was held secretly in Professor Bonnett's room, and the judges consulted together for quite a period before making their decision.

Twelve men participated in the preliminary, and the rivalry was keen to make the team this year as a hard contest is being looked forward to, through the University's unanimous victory over the Aggies last year.

In the opinion of the judges, the ranking of the men in order of merit, shown in the try-out was as follows:

Bruce, first place, unanimously; Brorein, second by a two to one vote, and Walker third by two to one.

The debate will be held this year at the College, the time being the evening of Saturday, March 6th.

"BUSINESS" IS TOPIC OF ASSEMBLY TALK

Mr. A. F. Van Deuse Gives Important Factors Requisite to Success in Commercial Life.

The assembly talk Tuesday morning was a little out of the ordinary run of such addresses, as while heretofore they had all mainly to deal with educational subjects, this one, by Mr. A. F. Van Deuse, Manager of the Albuquerque Gas, Electric Light & Power Company, concerned itself with "Business," or the hard facts of life, outside the educational world.

Mr. Van Deuse's talk was in part as follows:

Business is about as wide a subject as one could select, for every person in the present day and age is in business. Dr. Boyd is in business, that of selling you an education, your physician is in the business of selling you health, the pastor of your church has the business of dispensing religion, even many of you have already engaged in business when you helped Mr. Putney sell the character factory to the citizens of Albuquerque. You can see from the Y. M. C. A. fund how the word "Business" predominates the development of the present time, for no one but a man in touch with the trend of the times would have thought of such a synonym.

In order to succeed what are the qualifications necessary? Mr. F. W. Taylor, Efficiency Engineer, of whom you have all undoubtedly heard, tabulates them as follows: First, Health; second, Honesty; third, Ability; fourth, Determination; fifth, Special Knowledge; sixth, Tact; seventh, Energy; eighth, Judgment; ninth, Education. Mr. Hugh Chalmers, President of the

VARSITY TAKES ONE MORE IN BASKETBALL

Continues Steady March Towards Championship of New Mexico by Downing A. B. C.

The basketball contest between the Varsity and the Albuquerque Business College was a disappointment. We expected a close contest, but this quality of the game was far from apparent when the teams met last Friday night at the National Guard Armory. The Varsity won easily by a score of 15-15.

The teams played more than a minute before a score was registered. Ray McCanna did the work, after dribbling down the field within easy reach of the basket. Ricketts, the star forward of the A. B. C., made the next basket. This was the closest the Stenos came to being in the lead. The A. B. C. quintet was completely outclassed by the speedy Varsity team. Ricketts was the only A. B. C. typewriter pounder man that featured in the basket shooting. Out of the 37 points scored by the Stenographers he made eleven.

The Varsity's teamwork was strong. Every man covered the floor well and was on the spot when needed. Joe McCanna played an exceptionally strong game, and featured in the basket shooting, throwing nine from the field, and three after fouls. Friday pulled off some good shots, and played the best game he has played this season. Calkins and Claiborne were there all the time, and not only kept the Stenographer forwards out of the game, but were very effective in the scoring capacity, each tossing four field goals. Ray McCanna was a little handicapped by Olsen, who played on the defensive, but managed to contribute his share to the big score.

The boys are to be congratulated for their good work, and every student should take it upon himself to let the team know that he appreciates this fact. One way of showing your appreciation is to come out to the games. Last Friday's game was very interesting, and well worth the price, but very poorly attended by the Varsity students. Coach Hutchinson

Chalmers Motor Car Company, has made a similar tabulation, with the exception that he has added the tenth attribute of Enthusiasm. It might also be interesting for you to know that these qualifications are tabulated by men who have made a study of the present-day conditions, and that these attributes of success are placed, in the order of their importance.

Mr. Van Deuse then went on to describe in detail the different qualities mentioned above, showing their value to each other, and the absolute necessity of the possession of each in order to attain the highest places of success in the modern business world.

Dean Hodgins acted in place of President Boyd, who was absent for a few days this week.

CHANGING THOUGHT IN A CHANGING WORLD

Subject of Vesper Services Held For Special Benefit of Young Men and Women Sunday.

The best attendance of students so far this school year attended vespers last Sunday to hear Rev. Reid deliver his subject, "A Changing Thought in a Changing World," which was especially for young people.

Rev. Reid is late of Boston where he was pastor of the First Congregational church. He has been leading the Varsity Y. M. C. A. Bible class since the first of the semester and so his talents have not been altogether unknown here.

"His subject was particularly for college people who, as they enter the realm of science are met with what seems to them, ideas conflicting with their views of religion. Through the whole talk ran the thread of thought that would disparage the student taking these seeming conflicts seriously and how to combat them.

"He said that sooner or later we all came to that point in life where we asked ourselves the question, 'What is the use of this earth and its occupants?' At this place in our life's journey all the world seems dark. But we fight our battle and start out on what seems a hopeless struggle but which is really the only course to a happy life.

"When we get to the cross-roads we must think about Christianity, weigh up both sides of the case; from our experiences get all the arguments against Christianity and those for it taking the whole matter as a cold business proposition.

"Think of Christianity as a method of living. Don't think of a Supreme Being as an abstract noun, but as a Supreme Personality. We should apply our knowledge of science towards formulating arguments in favor of Christianity not taking the Bible in its literal sense but trying to interpret it with our science as an aid. 'A little science is a dangerous thing,' but as we get farther into it we see our way clear."

As usual, Prof. E. Stanley Seder had very fine musical selections. Mrs. S. B. Miller gave a solo to the delight of the audience and also sang the solo part in a chorus by the Vesper choir. The Vesper choir is showing up wonderfully under the direction of Prof. Seder. All the talent that anyone has is being drawn to the surface by his training.

A vesper service like that of last Sunday is the best advertisement for a crowded hall next Sunday.

SUFFRAGETTE PUNISHED.

While exerting undue pressure upon "Teddy," Miss Eleanor McDonough, '17, received a loving response upon the nose, which will, it is to be hoped, in the future cause her to remember her position, and not try to do a man's duty backwards. Verbum sapientibus!

VESPER SERVICES.

With the large activity and energy expended by the joint boards of the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., to select the best speakers obtainable, and the hard work of Professor Seder on the musical side of the afternoon's programme the Vesper Services given at Rodey Hall every Sunday afternoon offer an hour of cultural meditation, thought and intellectual unsurpassed by anything in the city.

We have been given nothing but the BEST in this line all along, and it therefore behooves the students of the University to do their duty and see that they themselves, as well as their friends try to be on hand every week to insure a good audience and thus, in a slight manner, repay the pains and efforts taken to make these services worth while.

The question of transportation has been solved by the bus running up and down every hour; the price of a ride up the Hill from town is no more than a picture show, while the time of the services, 4:00 to 5:00 p. m., has been so arranged as to insure plenty of time after they are out to permit persons to return to their homes in time for the evening repast.

The Weekly therefore takes this occasion to ask all the students to give their co-operation to those who are spending their efforts on these weekly services, feeling that they will see their duty in the right light, and reciprocate with their best efforts.

THE NEW CATALOGUE.

Is now on the press and will be issued in the course of a week or so. If you have any friends whom you think might be interested in the University for next year, leave their names at the office, and they will receive the catalogue, along with other University information. It is mainly up to YOU students to help build up the University, and if you do YOUR PART success is sure to follow, and one of the most important items in the upbuilding of the University will have been properly taken care of.

DR. MITCHELL HEARS FROM RHODES SCHOLAR

W. Coburn Cook, Now in Paris, Writes of Impressions and Experiences in That City.

Paris, 4 Jan'y. 1915.

Dear Professor Mitchell:

(After expressing interest and satisfaction in the growth of the University and the result of the football game with the Aggies, Mr. Cook continues):

But I can't wait any longer to tell you the good news—I passed the Law Preliminary on December 5th with flying colors. I know this will interest you. And I am especially pleased in view of my ill health which was due to the severe siege of typhoid I had in the summer (now O. K.). I really had entertained no hopes of making it in the one term, but my tutor persuaded me to try for it—with the satisfactory results. I was one of 12 "qui satisfecerunt nobis Examinatoribus". Of course there was not the usual number of candidates—25 to 30, I think.

I have already begun work on the "Final Schools" with Dicey, Law of the Constitution and Anson, Law and Custom of the Constitution which I am doing up this vacation.

In the Law Preliminary I was examined in Logic, Mediaeval History, Julius Roman Law and Latin Unseens (Translation at sight). I shall now give the three years to the degree and have now only two very minor preliminary examinations: Greek Testament and Tacitus Agriola and Germania.

I am spending the vacation principally in Paris, which is deserted, quiet, and in black. I went to Senlis last week, one of the battlefield towns, which was bombarded and burned by the Germans. Twenty-six French were shot and the Mayor was buried head down with his feet out of the grave. However, these things do not appear to me as atrocities on the part of the Germans, but the natural consequence of a bitter war of this sort.

I am told by British "Tommy's" who were at the front and entrenched 30 yards from the enemy, that there were times when a cow strayed down between the trenches that a soldier could with impunity go out and milk her.

I'll not write any more about the war for fear that you will not receive this letter if I should.

With best regards,

W. COBURN COOK.

CO-ED. WEEKLY COMING.

At a meeting held Tuesday noon by the women students of the three upper classes, for the purpose of electing an address for the annual "Co-ed Edition" of The Weekly, Miss Marie Higgins, a member of this year's Sophomore class, was unanimously elected to the position, following a neat and complimentary nomination speech by Miss Gwendolyn G. Sheets.

This number of The Weekly will make its appearance the week after next, and will be looked keenly forward to by all students of the University and readers of The Weekly.

The staff will be announced in next week's paper, and will include the best literary talent to be found amongst the feminine contingent of our Alma Mater.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION HOLDS ANNUAL ELECTION

President, Secretary, Track and Basketball Managers Chosen; Flaws Prevent Other Elections.

At the annual election of the Athletic Association held on Tuesday, the following officers were unanimously chosen to fill office for the coming year:

President—Joseph E. McCanna.
Secretary—Floyd W. Lee.
Track Manager—L. J. Claiborne.
Basketball Manager—Fred Calkins.

The other officers to be elected, Vice-President, and Football Manager, were unable to be chosen this time, owing to flaws in their nominations, so that the election had to be postponed until two more weeks, when the question will come up once more.

has been disappointed in the attendance. The Varsity has one of the best teams it has had for years. So far the games have been easy, but there are hard ones coming on, and the team will need your support. You wanted basketball, now support it. There will be no excuse for any student's absence from future games. We ought to get behind the basketball team just as we did the football team. The football season was a success for the simple reason that the student body as a whole supported it. Now we can make basketball pay expenses as we did football. Let's do it.

BIOLOGICAL MODELS HAVE A LONG, EXCITING VOYAGE

Prof. Weese of the Biological Department has just received a set of models from Germany that went through a series of rather exciting war adventures. The models were a set of twenty-five illustrations showing the development of the Amphioxus, a primitive vertebrae, and were to be used for class-room demonstration. Prof. Weese ordered them in May, 1913, from Fr. Ziegler, Freiburg im Baden, Germany. As they had to be made to order, the models were not completed until after a year, and on August 15, 1914, they finally left on a German vessel for America, that date being after the declaration of hostilities.

On the way over, the German boat was pursued for several days by a British vessel, and finally succeeded in safely making the neutral port of Manila. Not daring to venture out again, the German vessel remained in port, and the manufacturers, hearing of the delay in shipment, said the models could not be had until the war was over. However, Prof. Weese had the set of models transferred to an American ship, and they finally arrived at Los Angeles on January 1st, and reached Albuquerque a week ago. Now the set resides in the biological laboratory, none the worse for its adventurous journey.

A MALE HELEN KELLER.*Deaf, Dumb and Blind Boy Has Keen Power of Observation.

(St. Louis Post Dispatch.)

Ernest Smith, 5 years old, deaf, dumb and almost blind, was taken from the City Hospital three years ago, after his mother deserted him, by the Missouri Branch International Sunshine Society, and is in a fair way of becoming as remarkable as Helen Keller, according to medical authorities, specialists and instructors in the Missouri School for the Blind.

The child, who three years ago was not expected to live and who was declared to be mentally defective, is an excellent proof of what care, the proper treatment and skilled attention will accomplish. At 5 he displays a healthy devotion to the sports indulged in by boys of his age the world over and an alarming interest in the carrying out of mischievous pursuits.

Since an operation performed several months ago, which restored to him in a slight measure the use of his left eye, he has displayed a sense of touch and perception which have set his elders wondering, and which has determined them to secure for him the best advantages obtainable to make of himself other than an ordinary mute.

He recognizes colors rapidly, is able to distinguish his Sunday clothes from those of the every-day variety, he is quick to notice anything new in the wearing apparel or speech of the visitor in the home in which he is being cared for, and he makes known his likes and dislikes in an emphatic manner in everything, running the gamut from foodstuffs to persons.

In the opinion of Mrs. F. W. Baumhoff, for 14 years President of the Missouri Sunshine Society, and who resigned that post in order to devote her time wholly to caring for blind children under school age, the child's powers of observation are nothing short of remarkable.

JOAN OF ARC AND THE WHITE FLOWER.

In keeping with the character of Joan of Arc the following story has been told.

Before the battle of Orleans one of her soldiers gave to Joan a white flower. The maid accepted the fragile gift and from among its petals there rose before her a vision of the victory of the French in the coming struggle.

During the battle Joan was wounded and the white flower became dyed in her blood. At the sight of its scarlet hue her heart sank with a strange foreboding of evil, yet she bravely returned into the midst of the fighting. Two years later as she stood bound to the stake awaiting death she saw in the first flame of the fire destined to consume her, the wonderful flower, first scarlet as on the day of battle, then a dazzling white. She at last realized fully its symbolism and calmly awaited the death that would bear her to the beloved land of spirits.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

Tuesday morning, just preceding the talk of Mr. Van Deine on "Business," which is given elsewhere, the audience was delighted with a duet, "Les Preludes" (Liszt) by Professor Seder and Miss Marie Higgins.

The playing displayed the artistic genius of both performers to the very best advantage, and it was keenly regretted by all that the shortness of the time precluded an encore. However, more of this class of music is promised at frequent intervals for the rest of the semester.
