KIYOTE KI YI WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Trial of Person Accused of Removal of Food Eats from Boys' Dorm Ends with Conviction of Harry Lee.

IN THE KIYOTI COURT OF HOWLS, FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF THE KIYOTI RESERVATION, UNIVERSITY OF NEW MEXICO.

THE KWATAKA KIYOTI KLUB, Plaintiff, vs. FRANK ALLEN OVERSTREET, Defendant.

COMPLAINT.

The above-named plaintiff, through his unduly authorized attorneys, Sachs & Richardson, as cause for action against the above-named defendant, hereby alleges and states:

1. That on or about the first day of January, 1918, about the hour of 1 a. m., the said defendant, Frank Allen Overstreet, did wilfully and maliciously, and with evil intent, break or cause to be broken, a certain window in the domicile of one Herr von Sour Kraut, said domicile being a part of, and appertaining to the Boys' Dormitory of the University of New Mexico.

2. Plaintiff further alleges and states that this defendant did then enter the domicile of the said Herr von Sour Kraut, through the aperture in the said window, and did take, secure, obtain, remove, and carry away from said domicile one chocolate birthday cake, with seventeen candles attached thereto.

3. Plaintiff also alleges that this cake was an excellent example of food conservation, and the said robbery therefore constituted a violation of the federal food law.

4. Plaintiff yet further alleges that the said defendant did wilfully and maliciously remove each and every one of the said candles from the said cake, and did with evil intent sell the same for grease to the Pushman Cafe.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays judgment against the said Frank Allen Overstreet on all four counts of this heinous crime of grand larceny, unlawful entry and unpatriotic conduct.

Such was the complaint as entered in the records of Kiyoti, but the final outcome was entirely unexpected and, Harry Lee says, unjust.

OVERSTREET ACQUITTED.

Kiyote Justice is Slow but Sure.

The mock trial put on by the Kiyotes Saturday night at their party, proved to be both instructive and entertaining. Not only did the trial contain most of the cheap wit that has been turned loose on the desert air around Kwataka during the past quarter, but a better instrument could hardly have been devised for the purpose of mirroring forth life as it is lived in the Dorm., although there

UNIVERSITY HIGH SCHOOL BULLETIN

Second Edition of Bulletin Under Direction of Dean L. B. Mitchell of the University.

Dean L. B. Mitchell just received the second edition of his high school bulletin from the printers last week.

This bulletin deals very extensively with standards and general recommendations for accrediting high schools by the University of New Mexico.

The bulletin suggests a high school curriculum which would allow graduates of the high school in question to enter the University without entrance examinations. Detailed consideration is given to the equipment of high school laboratories, to the reference library of the high school, and much space and consideration is given to the topic admission to the University. This latter subdivision of the bulletin also contains a detailed description of subjects which may be accredited and accepted or admission to the University.

Under the sub-head, laboratory sciences, is given a complete list of books, apparatus, both for the student and demonstration apparatus for the instructor, and bibliography of reference books which if added to a high school, would add materially to its worth to the high school students and which would be helpful in making the high school student ready for admission to the college.

The first edition of the bulletin was published eighteen months ago, under the direction of Doctor Mitchell. This second edition is practically the same as the first bulletin and was necessitated by the fact that the first edition had been completely exhausted in that time.

The bulletin is of great help to all high schools which desire to become accredited by the University of New Mexico.

was considerable exaggeration (we hope) of one feature. The action was as involved as the plot of a four-act melodrama, and the cast below did full "justice" to it.

WORK ON "MIRAGE" PROCEEDS RAPIDLY

Capable Staff is Selected and Work Commences. Several New Departments to Be Added, Including Service Department.

The work on the Mirage has been well started and will proceed rapidly from now until the date of publication, some time in the latter part of May. The editor-in-chief, Miss Lina Fergusson, has chosen a capable and energetic staff, which assures an excellent annual. The personnel of the staff is:

Editor-in-chief—Miss Lina Fergusson.
Assistant editor—Donovan Richardson.
Literary editor—Louise Lowber.
Class editor—Myrl Hope.
Joke editor—Elizabeth Arnot.
Calendar—Lois Davis.
Service Section—Shirley von Wachenhausen.
Organizations—Wayne Garrett.
Business Mgr.—Herbert Hickey.

The department of athletics will be handled by the assistant editor, and various other departments will be assigned to the different editors.

The book this year, owing to war prices on paper, photography and engraving, will be about one-third smaller than the one of last year. Even with this reduction, it will contain some hundred pages. The cover will be brown, and the size of sheets the same as last year.

The majority of pictures printed this year will be group ones. The pictures of the fraternities and sororities have already been taken, in addition to several of the class pictures. The editor plans to have a department of snap shots, containing unusual scenes, etc. The kodak day held February 1st, was not as successful as it might have been, owing to the disagreeable weather, so the editor urges the students to keep on taking pictures and to turn them in as soon as possible.

It is the aim of the service department to have a photograph of every member of the University in United States service, preferably in uniform. The difficulty of this task can be readily seen, and the editor, Shirley von Wachenhausen, will have to depend upon friends and relatives of the men concerned for the photographs. If you can in any way secure a picture of someone in the service for the Mirage, do so and give it to one of the staff.

The tag day was very successful, both financially and otherwise. All students who made a deposit of 50 cents on every copy of the Mirage which they intend to purchase, and signed a contract agreeing to purchase at least one copy of the Mirage, were allowed a 10 per cent discount from the final price of the book. Thus all students who made a deposit of 50 cents, and who signed up for one copy of the Mirage, will get that copy

STATE EDUCATORS VISIT UNIVERSITY

Executive Committee of Educational Association of New Mexico Visits Institution and is Shown Over the Grounds.

A group of county and city superintendents were visitors Friday at noon luncheon, as guests of Dr. Boyd. They were returning from Santa Fe, where they had been in attendance upon a meeting of supervising officers of the state called by State Superintendent Jonathan H. Wagner.

A large number of members of this committee were unable to make train connections in Albuquerque last night and so were forced to remain over in Albuquerque for one day.

The object of the meeting was to consider some matters of importance pertaining to requirements of the Smith-Hughes act giving assistance to states under certain conditions for establishing work along vocational and industrial lines. Dr. Boyd's guests were: President E. L. Enloe, State Normal school, Silver City; County Superintendent Isabel Eckles, Silver City; County Superintendent Sarah K. Ellis, Lovington; County Superintendent Rachel V. Smith, Fort Sumner; County Superintendent Mrs. T. W. Hayes, Roswell; County Superintendent W. A. Poore, Carlsbad; County Superintendent Charles L. Burt, Mountainair; County Superintendent J. M. Bickley, Clovis; City Superintendent J. W. Riley, Roswell; City Superintendent I. W. Bowyer, Clovis; City Superintendent, John Milne, Albuquerque.

The company took dinner in the University dining hall. Under the lead of Dr. Boyd and various members of the family, the visitors made a complete trip through the University plant and grounds.

Several of the guests availed themselves of the opportunity to visit students of the University who were at former times pupils of the various high schools represented.

THE "CARRY ON" CABARET

All is in readiness at the Elks' Club for the big original patriotic entertainment which is to be given by the Women's Pan-Hellenic Friday evening. The world famous fortune teller (not Dr. La Rose, but another one), the singers, the dancers, the knitters and all the others are all prepared to show you the biggest time yet. Trust the Elks' ball-room floor to draw a crowd in itself. And then in addition to all these other attractions of a patriotic nature, why the affair is one that you couldn't afford to miss. Tickets have been on sale all over the campus the past week, and many varsity students will be in attendance.

for $1.35 instead of the regular price of $1.50.

A sum near $75 was realized. This assures a sale of some 150 copies of the Mirage.

THOSE LETTERS AGAIN.

When the members of the football team refused their letters, awarded them at the close of the football season last fall, little did they realize how the news would spread. Most of them never thought that the news would appear outside of the Weekly.

But the results of this action and comments upon it have been published all over the United States, in college papers and in large dailies. In almost every exchange that the Weekly receives, there has been some mention of the matter, and such papers as the El Paso Herald, the Denver Post, the New York Times, and various others published the news. All the comments thus far heard have been favorable. The New York Times even says that action like this might help the colleges to solve the problem of playing football without an "informal." The article from the Times follows:

"Informal teams in the various colleges as a war measure have occasioned a great deal of comment both laudatory and derogatory, to the spirit in which the plan was adopted. A new angle to the question is to be found in the action, of the football eleven of the University of New Mexico, which at the close of the season declined to accept the letters which were offered to the players.

"This is regarded as a possible solution of the problem of distinguishing between the status of informal sport and 'Varsity' representation. The University of New Mexico eleven played through its season in keeping with the recommendation of the national intercollegiate athletic body. When it came to awarding insignia to the men, George White, captain of the team, said that the boys had not played up to the standard set in former years, since the war had taken away all the seasoned players, and that he did not think that letters should be awarded. The members of the team followed their captain's lead relinquishing the right to the coveted prize for which all players strive.

"In this way it is believed that the colleges may keep their standard of play intact and at the same time have an eleven without the brand 'informal' to represent the institution."

Another comment, this from the University of Arizona "Wildcat," reads:

"The precedent set by the University of New Mexico's football eleven in refusing to accept their letters is one worthy of mention. The players refused the coveted prize, an account of which is given in another part of this paper, because they felt that their best players had been called to the colors. They wished to make a distinction between the status of informal sport and 'Varsity' regulation and keep their standards intact. We all realize how hard it must have been for these players to refuse letters after a season's hard work and practice. Certainly, they gave up their time and efforts as much as any other players had. They are to be complimented upon this splendid University spirit and good will in making such a sacrifice."

PROFESSOR WEESE RETURNS.

Professor A. O. Weese, head of the department of biology at the University, who has been at the University of Illinois for the past six months, doing research work, has returned to take charge of his department.

Since the return of Prof. Weese, the biological laboratory has been fitted up completely. The various collections of biological specimens and models are contained in show cases arranged around the walls of the room, which is in the new chemistry building, and which is some twenty by forty feet in dimensions. Brand-new tables have been secured for the use of the students. In addition to these tables, special laboratory desks with running water and gas, and with an individual locker for each student, have been provided and installed. This laboratory is now complete in every detail.

Professor Weese expects to have things running full blast within the next few days, just as though there had been no interruption.

PAN-HELLENIC MEETS.

A meeting of the Pan-Hellenic Association of the University was held Tuesday night at the Phi Mu house. The first thing done was to elect a president, to take the place of James Hoover, president last quarter. Donovan Richardson was unanimously elected. The association then discussed the constitution and adopted several amendments made necessary by the change from the semester to the quarter plan. Terms for an inter-fraternity agreement were discussed, and another meeting was set for next Tuesday night. The representatives present were: Phi Mu, Louise Lowber and Rebecca Sigworth; Alpha Gamma, Kathleen Long and Katherine Keleher; Kappa Delta Nu, Opal Garrett and Helen Darrow; Pi Kappa Alpha, Donovan Richardson and Ernest Hammond; Sigma Chi, Herbert Hickey and Carlton Clark; Alpha Delta, Ed King and John Scruggs.

Prof. Edington, professor of mathematics last year at the university, has enlisted in the signal corps of the army, according to reports received in the University this morning. This will add one more star to the University service flag.

Mr. Hanna, the official photographer of the Mirage, was on the campus Friday of last week taking the Freshmen group picture and some fraternity groups. He took several informal snaps of the students with his formidable looking Graflex, and is planning to take some views of the campus later.

In connection with the regular feature program at the Crystal, the Triangle Players in tabloid every night. Feature pictures are run twice each matinee and night.

Social Events

Those residents of the Hill who were fortunate enough to attend the party given by the Kiyote Klub last Saturday night are agreed that the specimens of this tribe now living in the Boys' Dorm possess almost as much ability as hosts and entertainers as they do as creators of unearthly noises.

Notoriously timid, but desirous that all the girls should attend, the Kiyotes called for them in force and escorted them to the scene of festivities, Rodey Hall. On arrival each guest was presented with a neat little program containing the following schedule, which was carried out to the letter:

Kiyote Song.....By the Pack
Camouflage with Cards....Prof. Lee
The Case of Law and Justice vs.

Frank Overstreet.....
The Midnight Howl.....Kiyotes
Craig and Paulson

Kiyote Kapers.....Jolly Jewel
Dancing and Cards.....
Cider and Doughnuts.....

"The night is dark,
Do you hear that bark?
Bent on purpose fowl;
The Kiyotes prowl."

The party was in the nature of a partial return for the delightful hospitality the ladies of Hokona have extended to the men of Kwataka on several occasions. It might be well to state for the benefit of those who are not familiar with University traditions that the Kiyote Klub is one of the oldest and most "respected" organizations in college. It is distinctly a New Mexico organization, formed for the purpose of maintaining order and fostering school spirit and social life among the fellows in the dormitory. The Kiyote Klub this year has been rejuvenated and renovated in accordance with faculty ideas, and bears but faint resemblance to the barbarous and semi-criminal organization which for so many years has terrorized male visitors on the Hill, particularly those frequenting Hokona. Miss Lathrop maintains that the animals have not entirely changed their habits and are still very fond of vocal exercise, but those who partook of their hospitality Saturday night will never again believe that the Kiyotes are very dangerous.

The most notable social event in 'Varsity circles last week was the High school dance at the "Honky Tonk."

The University, which is rapidly becoming too tame for any frivolities of its own, owing to the rapidly diminishing crowd, was out "en gang" to enjoy the celebration, or as one might say, to keep the High school ball rolling.

Colombo was very gaily camouflaged in her last year's evening garb, permanent since Christmas, and was radiant with two blistering stoves conveniently located in the corners. The dance was well managed by committees, viz., the floor committee, which announced that the next dance would be a tag; and the reception committee, which met each giddy youth at the door and extracted 75 centimes from the prosperous side of his jeans. Refreshments were served late in the evening at the Pullman.

Besides the usual school crowd, the following good-looking boys and girls were accounted for: Medals—Caldwell, Cooper, Hammond, Sewell, Booker, Givan, Kellam, Bruce twice, Blanco twice, Clark and Barr.

Medallions—Dady, Harris, Spickard, Hawkins, Bell, Standley, Keen, Bear, Turner, Reagan, Cavanaugh, Stortz, Darrow, Angle, Bursum and Snyder.

There is one thing on which the faculty is always ready to get together, and to show concerted action. That is the annual faculty reception given by President and Mrs. Boyd, at their home on South High street. Monday night saw the faculty and its wife donning their best bib and tuck and reporting en masse at Dr. Boyd's, to spend a very pleasant evening in jollity and music. Professor Seder played many songs and selections by request. Delicious refreshments were served.

Dame Rumor tells us that a certain popular 'Varsity girl wore a beautiful diamond on the third finger of her left hand for one day of the past week. Can anyone tell us the name of the young man?

POPULAR VARSITY STUDENTS MARRIED

Robert Wigley and Adelaide Shields, whose engagement was announced last year, are married in Silver City, N. M.

Miss Adelaide Shields and Robert G. Wigley, both former University students, were married in Silver City, last Friday, according to a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Balcomb. The wedding took place in the Episcopal church and was witnessed only by the immediate families.

Mrs. Wigley has been a student at the University for several years and has been prominent in all sorts of student activities. She will be remembered as the charming little star in "Go Ask Willie," the musical comedy of last year. She has won several championships at tennis and was prominent in literary and musical activities. Mr. Wigley played on the varsity football and basket ball teams. He has a position with the Chino Copper company at Hurley, but expects to enter the aviation corps of the navy before the end of the month. Until that time Mr. and Mrs. Wigley will make their home in Hurley.

This is the culmination of a university romance begun last year about the time that "Go Ask Willie" was staged.

The varsity extends the best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Wigley.

The entire proceeding hinged on the mysterious theft of a chocolate birthday cake from the room of one Count von Sour Krout (Sauer Kraut) on New Year's eve. As the Boy's Dorm is the special province of Los Kiyotes and sacred to the howls and the prowls of said animals, and as one of the chief purposes of the Kiyote Klub is to maintain law and order on its reservation, the Kwataka Pack instituted action to bring the guilty party to justice.

The principal facts of the case, as brought out in the testimony, showed that the noble Count returned to his humble home about 1 a. m., on January 1st, and found his much prized cake gone, his window broken, a very hard biscuit on the floor, and some immense tracks in the snow outside. These tracks led to Cottage S, inhabited by Frank Overstreet. This evidence, and the fact that Overstreet had taken two biscuits (regulation Dining Hall kind) away from the supper table on the night in question, coupled with further evidence tending to show his general bad character and his voracious appetite and boundless thirst, led to his arrest. The sheriff testified that the accused tried to brain him with a piece of cake when arrested. The prosecution also charged the defendant with endeavoring to camouflage himself with a growth of herbage upon his upper lip.

The defense introduced evidence to show that the prisoner in reality possessed a very harmless character and a very delicate appetite. At this point in the proceedings the prisoner made a break for freedom, and in the fracas nearly won his own case by effectually closing the prosecuting attorney's mouth with the butt end of a shotgun. This mishap was entirely unintentional and not scheduled, like several other events. At the last minute the defense sprung a surprise in the shape of their star witness, a private detective, Hawkshaw, whose testimony implicated the sheriff, proving the tracks in the snow to be his.

The injury to Mr. Sachs was so serious that he was unable to deliver the eloquent plea which all were expecting of him, but a few remarks he had prepared were read by his colleague, closing with the following little gem.

"The thief at eve had drunk his fill,
Where stands the bar at the foot of the Hill,
And all his life he put at stake,

For a seventeen-candled birthday cake.

But Kiyote law is sure and stern,
And soon his soul will deeply burn,
In the darkest depth where he may see

The awful tortures of the Kiyote."

In closing the argument for the defense, the silver-tongued Mr. Lee brought tears to the eyes of all with a very impassioned and touching burst of oratory in which he played tunes on the heartstrings of the "fairer" part of the jury.

His Honor then read with great dignity and impressiveness a most legal and erudite charge to the jury. This charge was one of the finest expositions of the law, criminal and otherwise, that it has ever been our fortune to hear.

Then came the climax in a manner entirely unexpected, a surprise even to those taking part, and particularly to the victim. Just as the jury was about to be sent out Mr. Richardson arose and announced that he had just discovered some new and very important evidence, and asked permission to call one more witness. This proved to be a mysterious stranger in long coat and huge spectacles who had been in earnest consultation with the prosecuting attorney during most of the judge's charge. When placed on the stand, this gentleman gave his name as J. Marshall, U. S. Secret Service operative, detailed on the case of Capt. Frederick von Papen, German spy, whom he had trailed to the University. When questioned as to his knowledge of the cake, he said he had eaten part of it, and denounced the Hon. Harry Lee as the real criminal, the man higher up, and the one really responsible for the epidemic of room-staking and cake-stealing which seemed to infect the Dorm.

This was too much for the Kiyotes and the howling pack rushed in on the Hon. Harry and carried him away to torture, thus winding up the trial in a most illegal but dramatic fashion.
