REPORT ON DELINQUENCY SHOWS SCHOLARSHIP IS NOT HIGH

Dean Mitchell States That Work Has Been Unusually Poor This Quarter. Too Many Absences From Class.

"The work being done by the students this quarter is unusually poor," stated Dean Mitchell, chairman of the Committee on Student Standing. "In fact, it is the poorest I have seen since the delinquency reports have been required of the professors."

"We blame this condition partly on the demoralization caused by the S. A. T. C.," continued the dean. "The students became used to cutting classes, and doing little or no studying last quarter, and some of them are continuing it into this quarter. Then we had no way to reach them and could not impose penalties for absences. This quarter we shall do so."

Dr. Mitchell hinted that the Committee on Student Standing might take action in the near future upon some of the worst cases brought to its attention. He wishes attention called to the faculty regulations in regard to absences.

Notice, Students; Faculty Regulations
January 23, 1919.

"When the number of absences exceeds the maximum number of credit hours that may be earned in a course, credit is deducted at the rate of one-tenth of a credit hour for each unexcused absence where the lost work is not made up.

"When deductions under the foregoing clause exceed one-fifth of the maximum of credit hours which may be earned in a course, the student is dismissed from that course and given a grade of F for the quarter."

The regulation works out in the following way: No penalty is incurred for five absences in a 5-hour course, for three absences in a 3-hour course, etc. The next ten absences in a 5-hour course, 3-hour course, or any other kind of course, will reduce credit by one hour. The next absence beyond this will bring about about the dismissal of the student from the course, and a grade of F will be recorded for that course, not at the end of the quarter, but immediately.

In a 6-hour course, the 19th absence is fatal.

In a 5-hour course, the 16th absence is fatal.

In a 4-hour course, the 13th absence is fatal.

In a 3-hour course, the 10th absence is fatal.

In a 2-hour course, the 7th absence is fatal.

In a 1-hour course, the 4th absence is fatal.

"When a student fails to pass in one-half of his program of studies, he is liable to suspension." This rule will be invoked at any time the student becomes amenable to it, in the discretion of the Committee on Student Standing.

FRESHMAN ELECTION HOTLY CONTESTED

Frank Neher, from the Albuquerque High School Is Elected President. Class At Once Gets Busy.

The election of Freshman class officers, held Tuesday was the most hotly contested election which has taken place this year. The Freshmen were helped in their electioneering by the announcement Tuesday morning that no classes would be held that day, owing to a break in the heating system.

Early in the day two tickets appeared in the field with the staunch supporters for each. Future politicians spent all morning in soliciting votes for their favorite candidates, and groups of Freshmen could be seen anywhere. A few upper classmen tried to use their influence for certain parties.

The President of the Student Body took the chair when the Freshmen finally assembled, and after stating that it was his intention as well as that of the other upper classmen present, to remain only until the Freshmen had chosen their officers, called for nominations for President. Three men were nominated, Frank Neher, Luther Thomas, and Herbert Stacker. Stacker wished to withdraw, but after discussion as to whether he would be permitted to do so without the consent of the nominating party, was forced to remain in the race. He failed to receive any votes, however.

For vice-president, Mary Sands, Modine Bates, and Margaret Lee were nominated. Margaret Lee wished to withdraw, but experienced the same difficulty that Mr. Stacker did.

Four candidates were nominated for secretary-treasurer, Margaret Lee, Dorothy Stevenson, Albert Newcomer, and Thomas Gentry.

After the ballots were counted, Frank Neher was declared elected president, Mary Sands, vice-president, and Margaret Lee, secretary-treasurer.

The upper classmen then left the hall, and the Freshmen completed their organization. Snooks Pendergrass was elected captain of the Freshman boys' basketball team, and Dorothy Stevenson of the girls' team. Gene Moots was elected sargeant at arms.

Two committees, social and constitutional, consisting of five members each were appointed. Plans for the Freshman dance were discussed but nothing was made public in regard to them.

A meeting of the Freshman class has been called by President Frank Neher, for Tuesday noon. Discussion of plans for the Freshman dance, and the class day, March 17, will be the main business.

SOPHS AND FROSH CLASH ON CAMPUS

Fight Runs on Intermittently for 48 Hours. Freshmen Finally Victors. Paint Much in Evidence.

NOTICE.

"All sophomores keep off the grass. By order of "THE FRESHMEN."

That's where the whole trouble started, and it didn't end until practically every male student had his head covered with a thick coat of green or yellow paint, according to whether he was a freshman or upper classman, and the whole vicinity smelled of gasoline, soap, grease, and other anti-paint concoctions. And it isn't all out of their hair yet.

The freshmen are blessed with a goodly number this year, more so than usual; in fact the class roster shows the freshmen have more in number than all the others combined. Such a circumstance could hardly fail to be taken advantage of, so after the wearers of the green met for organization Tuesday and realized the full gravity of their responsibilities to their friends, the sophomores, they placed several of the above signs at various angles with the campus.

Then things started. Of all the nerve! A freshman to dictate what should and should not be done! Who ever heard of such a thing! Each sophomore made it a point to get on the grass, and was immediately fallen upon by a mob of youthful brigands. Thus the day passed, and before the upper classmen realized to what an extent the ambition of the freshmen had ascended, several of them had been thoroughly chastised with a paddle and made it a point to sit always on cushions.

The following day, Wednesday, was what might be called a barrage. Three separate and distinct scraps took place at the ten o'clock hour, over the trivial question of who should sit on the stone bench. It isn't a very comfortable place at best, much less worth fighting for, but that was the immediate cause notwithstanding. The freshmen hoisted their flag on the Administration building which was valiantly fought for by the sophs, secured, and destroyed and worn as souvenirs. (By which a freshman girl lost a perfectly good green silk garment.) Both boys and girls had lively scrambles among themselves, and the fighting only stopped when everybody was tired to quit.

The Sophs determined to use a little strategy, and overcome the enemy by surprise. Accordingly they rose at the ungodly hour of a little after midnight (if they ever went to bed), rushed the boys dorm, seized the unhappy freshmen, bound them and vigorously applied a coat of green paint. After which they taxied them some ten or more miles to the hills and wished them joy walking back.

But the freshies could stand no such

To show that they still have a little fight left in them even after hostilities were called off Thursday, and to prove that the upper class girls are no better than they, the freshmen girls have posted a challenge to a basketball game to be played between the two factions, on some date to be decided upon by those challenged.

The challenge, printed in green ink, and posted on the bulletin board in the hall, reads as follows:

"BEHOLD

"Ye renowned and muchly feared Freshman Damsels do hereby challenge ye Upperclassman Dames to ye basketball contest. To ye challenged ones be given ye choice of ye day of their fate and annihilation.

"YE MIGHTY CAPTAIN,

"Dorothy Stevenson."

In the lower left hand corner is a little notice which says:

"Upper classmen, consult Strong Brothers, undertakes. Prompt service."

The upperclass girls are to hold a meeting Tuesday noon to act upon the challenge, and set a date for the game.

outrage to be left unanswered. So they answered in like manner, except it was yellow paint this time, and a little more thoroughly applied. They also glorified in the fact that the deed was done in the daytime, in the presence of the ladies. Thinking of nothing else to do, they also took their friends on pleasure trips, the greater part of the pleasure to be gained on the return hike.

By this time it was Thursday noon, neither side had gained a distinct advantage, and everybody was sleepy and of the opinion that common floor paint, no matter how well it looked and felt on a house, was none too pleasant on the face. By mutual consent a truce was called until the Student Council could meet to make an issue over which the differences could be definitely decided.

The council met early in the afternoon and decided as follows:

"That unorganized hostilities between classes shall cease at once.

"That March 17 shall be designated as class day, and that organized class contests will be held on that day, under such plans as is decided by the Student Body and various classes. That the freshman dance shall be held without opposition on such date as is decided upon by the freshman class, it being understood that this date shall be after class day on March 17."

So everything will be peaceful and harmonious again until class day. True, it will work a hardship upon the stores that sell paint, but someone always has to suffer.

EVERY STUDENT READ THIS.

For the enlightenment of those persons who insist that a nominee shall stay in an election contest whether it is his desire to do so or not, we would quote from Scanlan's Rules of Order:

"Nominating a candidate is not a motion and every member has a right to name anyone he deems fit. A person named may decline the nomination, and if he does so, he ceases to be a candidate."

And from Gaines, "Parliamentary Practice"—

"Ordinarily, a member should not decline, or attempt to decline, a nomination; nor, if elected, should he refuse to act. Such procedure is especially objectionable when the assembly is endeavoring to organize, and if indulged in as a mere expression of modesty is in extremely bad taste. It is the duty of every member, within reason, to serve the assembly as it may direct, and unless very serious consideration prevent he should not ask to be excused. When such a request is made and insisted upon it should, in ordinary assemblies, be granted without question, since such bodies have no adequate means enforcing their will in such cases."

THE STUDENT COUNCIL.

Last Thursday, the Student Council held its first meeting, and passed its first resolution, or ruling, or whatever it may be called. This was in regard to the fighting between the classes.

Thus far, this ruling seems to have been obeyed, but whether it was the ruling, or the fact everyone was tired of fighting, which brought peace, we do not know.

We do know, however, that as soon as the students realize that this council is their council, composed of representatives from the different classes, chosen by the classes themselves and as soon as they follow such rulings as the council may pass until those ruling, if undesirable have been refuted by a majority of the students in a meeting of the student body, then a big step has been taken toward student government.

We do not believe that this school is ready for complete student government yet. It is not stable enough; there are not enough upper classmen nor enough permanent students to warrant it.

But we do believe that if everyone gets behind the council, backs it up, and abides by its decisions, whenever practicable, that student government will be brought several years nearer. Even now the faculty is willing to let the students take care of their own affairs to a large extent, and is willing to listen to recommendations of the council, and to watch this body's progress before definitely committing itself to any plan.

Then let us get behind the council, and work together as a whole, so that student government will be a thing of the very near future. There is no doubt that it is desirable and will come in time. It's up to us when that time shall be.

THE WEEKLY.

After almost a year of experience, the present editor of the Weekly has come to the conclusion that the present plan of running the student paper is a failure.

At the beginning of last year, only an editor was elected, and it was left to him to do what he wished about his staff. All well and good, but for one obstacle—he couldn't get a staff. So it was up to him to get out the paper the best he could, by himself.

Later in the year a plan was adopted, whereby an editor, his assistant, and three associates were elected by the students. This plan has worked better than the old one, but there are still some objections which arise.

In the first place, there is nothing to insure that the person who is elected editor-in-chief or his assistants have ever had any experience in the writing line, and it certainly takes at least a knowledge of the game to successfully edit even a small weekly publication.

In the second place neither the editor nor his assistants receive any compensation for the work done, either in money or credit, unless he be taking work in Journalism, or some similar course.

We are not ready with a definite plan, but it has occurred to us that possible a school of Journalism could be started, and the editing of the Weekly placed in its hands. That would insure editors who were at least interested in the work, and who would have some instruction as to the method of editing and writing.

Such a school if started now would be small, it is true, but a class of half a dozen could put out a better Weekly than is now being published. And it would grow rapidly, we believe.

Something should be done about the matter without any delay. There is no reason why U. N. M. cannot get out as large and as good a paper as other schools of the same size.

STUDENT COUNCIL NOW FORMED.

The Student Council, composed of the three officers of the Student Body, and representatives from each class, has been chosen and consist of the following members: Ernest Hammond, Anne Cristy, John Scruggs, from the Student Body; Allie Atkinson and Eleanor Anderman from the Senior class; Mayme Hart and Chester Boldt from the Junior class; Perkins Patton from the Sophomore class and Gentry from the Freshman class.

A meeting has been called for Wednesday night, to discuss plans for a constitution, and to take up any other business which may come up.

SERIES OF GAMES
ARRANGED BY COACH.

Need For Men At Practice Is Urgent.
Four Games With State College.

"No coach or bunch of boys can make a winning team," said Mr. L. H. Purdy, our physical director, when interviewed Monday as to what could be expected of the basketball team this year. "I want the support of every student and the faculty. We have plenty of material," he continued.

Mr. Purdy has arranged for several games, both for the boys and the girls and he thinks that it is the duty of each and every student to help win these games. He suggests that we have a real "Pep" meeting, elect a cheer leader, get a bunch of rooters for the U. N. M., and every one come out to see and be seen at the Y. M. C. A. on February fourth when the U. N. M. girls will play the Y. W. C. A. girls.

Mr. Purdy expects to take eight athletes from the university to play the Aggies at State College on Feb. 21 and 22. If two games can be arranged with the University of Arizona, two birds will be killed with one stone. How many of you boys that play basketball would like to make this trip as a representative of the university? Mr. Purdy says that it is up to you whether you get to go.

The girls have a similar opportunity of representing the varsity in basketball, for the coach expects to get a game with the Magdalena girls' team and also with the Normal University at Las Vegas soon, if our girls' teams get ready to go.

The varsity boys will play the Mena School on the Mena grounds at 8:00 p. m. on the thirtieth of this month. Other games both for practice and contest are being played and arranged for to fit those that represent the old "U" on her trips.

As for the return basketball games only one can be definitely announced at the present time. The State College will play us here in Albuquerque on February 28 and March 1. The other return games will be announced later.

K. K. G. TEA.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma girls entertained at their chapter house Sunday afternoon honoring Mrs. C. E. Mason of Roswell, a Kappa from Kansas University. Mrs. Mason is president of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs and is on her way to a federation board meeting at Santa Fe. A delightful musical program was rendered during the afternoon, consisting of solos by Elizabeth Lord, Helen Vincent and Jimmy Standley. Lloyd Kellam was at the piano. About fifty people called during the afternoon to meet Mrs. Mason.

DEBATERS OUT FOR SCALPS OF AGGIES

Enthusiastic Meeting of Young Ciceros Held; Clyde Morris Elected President of Club.

A meeting of those interested in debating was held last week for the purpose of organizing and giving a reply to the Las Cruces people who proposed a subject for debate and offered the University their choice of sides.

The question proposed is: "Resolved, that the Monroe Doctrine should not be continued as a part of the permanent foreign policy of the United States," and the University decided to take the negative side. The date for the contest has not as yet been decided upon, but the middle of March has been suggested as perhaps the most favorable time.

Clyde Morris was elected president of the society, and he appointed committees to look up various sources of materials and to see if it would be possible to hold debates with one or two other schools.

For the last two years the State College has been victorious over us in debating contests, and we have decided that it is time to change the order of things. If the interest that has already been shown is any indication of success, Cruces is going to be given a run for her money this year.

K. D. N. ENTERTAINED
BY PLEDGES

One of the pleasant events of the week was the dinner party given last Sunday evening by the Kappa Delta Nu pledges for the members of the sorority, at the home of Miss Dorothy McAllister, 101 North Walter. The attractive table decorations included a centerpiece of pink begonias, dainty place cards bearing the hand painted emblems of the sorority colors and pledge pins; and delightful little sun-bonnet doll favors, with baskets for the salted peanuts; also streamers of the sorority colors diverging from the chandelier, where electric lights, glowing through shades of the double purple Kappa Delta Nu colors added to the attractiveness of the setting.

Pleasant features of the evening were the solo by Beatrice Selsor and the readings given by Bessie McAllister, Dorothy McAllister and Mary Sands, who holds the state medal for oratory. The singing of college and sorority songs added to the enjoyment of the evening.

The guests were Mrs. Allen Gates Clark, Mrs. Elizabeth McAllister, Miss Beatrice Selsor, Miss Margaret Howell, Miss Helen Darrow, Miss Viola Doering, Miss Jessie Venable, Miss Sarah Herrick and Miss Mayme Mills.

The Kappa Delta Nu pledges who were hostesses are: Miss Bobbie Jahu, Miss Louise Clark, Miss Amy Merrick, Miss Mary Sands, Miss Katherine McDowell, Miss Lucile Longino, Miss Dorothy McAllister and Miss Mabel Howze.

SENIOR MEETING.

The Senior class met Tuesday noon, primarily for the purpose of electing a representative to the Student Council. Miss Eleanor Anderman was elected.

Other matters of interest to the class were taken up and discussed. It was decided to select invitations as soon as practicable.

The question of whether or not the class should have a formal graduation was discussed. Miss Atkinson reported that the faculty was in favor of formal exercises. Ernest Hammond, Vera Kiech and Roberta Wood were appointed a committee to see that caps and gowns were secured.

The Social Committee appointed at a previous meeting made a report, and recommended that several little informal affairs be given during the year. Its report was accepted.

The talk on Senior traditions which was to have been given by Miss Hickey, was postponed until a later date.

U. N. M. vs. R. O. P. IN PRACTICE GAME.

After the armistice between the Frosh and the Sophs had been signed and class hostilities had ceased at noon Thursday, the varsity boys, though painted yellow and green, played a practice game of basketball with the R. O. P.'s at eight o'clock that evening in the boys' gymnasium at the university as scheduled.

No record of the score was kept but throughout the entire game the varsity boys showed their superiority as basketball players. The like of the "Pep" that they had has not been seen on the hill for some time.

No wonder they played some might say because there was some old time "rooting." Rooting was right for the old college songs and yells could be heard all over the campus. All who went to see part of the game became so enthused that they stayed until the last goal had been made. That is some of the spirit that will make the university go on the map as an athletic college. Lets keep on rooting for the "U."

The lineup for the game was:

Frank Greenleaf received a badly wrenched knee in the practice game with the R. O. P.'s Thursday night and probably will not be able to play for some time.

This fine weather is certainly bringing out the tennis sharks. Something ought to be done at once about organizing a Tennis Club and fixing up the courts which are in wretched shape.

Charlie Culpepper still has a slight greenish tint and several Upper classmen have a few signs of the late war even yet.

The bench in front of Kwataka is one of the most popular places on the hill these afternoons. Looks like the front of the postoffice in Pumpkin Center except that the "chawin" and "whittlin'" isn't so much in evidence.
