LOBO NET MEN
LEAVE FOR GAMES
WITH WILDCATSVarsity Team Will Meet Arizona
at Tucson With Lineup Greatly Changed.

Sunday morning, the Varsity basketball squad will leave for Arizona for a two-game series with the Wildcats on their own floor, which will form the climax for the University basketball schedule this year. Ever since the double defeat at the hands of the Aggies last week the Lobos have been practicing hard, with several scrimmage games with local teams during that time, but handicapped as they are by the loss of Jones and Hammond and Dow, and further crippled through the sickness of other members of the squad, New Mexico's prospects are none too good.

In the general shift that followed the return from Las Cruces, nearly every man on the squad has tried nearly every position on the team. Stowell has been shifted to forward and shows up well in that capacity, so that if anyone can be found to take his position at floor guard, he will probably play as forward in the series with Arizona. Horgan, though prevented from practicing much on account of illness, Benjamin, and Marshall have also been trying out for the forward position and the choice seems to rest between these two men. Marshall has done some fine work since the start of the second semester, in spite of the fact that he has not had the advantage of much practice with the team. Coach Johnson has been having a hard time finding a man to take the center position. With Betts on the sick list and Hyder laid up on account of a nasty fall during the scrimmage with Harwood last Saturday, he has been forced to try out Benjamin, Bryan and Wagner for the position, and it cannot be said which one will play the pivot position, though Bryan will probably be retained in his present place as guard, thus throwing the choice between the other two. As guards, Johnson has been trying out Bryan and Stowell, Brown, Scarborough and Popejoy. The last two are new additions to the squad and are showing up well.

During the past week the Varsity net men had several practice scrimmages with local teams. Last Saturday night, the team played the fast Harwood aggregation on their court and were beaten, 40 to 51. The University men showed a lack of teamwork owing to the loss of three of the regular players and in the first half were unable to hit the basket at all while the Harwood team was showing the ball in from all angles. The half ended 24 to 6 in favor of the Harwood bunch, but in the second frame the Lobos, with an entirely changed lineup, including Bryan at center, Stowell at forwards, Betts and Wagner and Scarborough at guards, came back and for a time threatened to tie the score. The game was of course very loose.

Monday afternoon the University practiced with the High School team at the Armory, and again Wednesday night played the Bankers team at the Y. M. C. A. On both occasions, the Varsity showed improvement and by the time that they play Arizona, the team should have worked up to the point that they could offer a

ONCE MORE

"Now hold on tight, Barber Nell," said Roy, as they sped swiftly down Central Avenue on a busy afternoon, "because you can never tell when these jitney drivers are going to drive where they're not looking. I don't want to get run over and I'd feel mighty badly if you did, so let's be careful."

Speaking of candy—one very blundering fellow expressed his sentiments very sweetly in that way. (Really it isn't very long until grades come out.)

WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN
FEBRUARY 12 AND 22

Every year when February rolls around, we are prone to forget the fact that the month holds the birthdays of two of the greatest Americans that ever lived—the two men who in their persons and lives represent the best of the spirit that has made America what it is today. They lead the country through the two most trying periods that it has ever been called upon to face, and enabled this people to advance to the high position that it holds today. It is not too much for each and every one to reflect a little on the principles which have directed those men through life with the knowledge that we may derive some good thereby if we adopt them for ourselves.

WASHINGTON--ISMS

Merit rarely goes unrewarded.

I hope that I shall always possess firmness and virtue enough to maintain what I consider most invaluable—the character of an honest man.

Be courteous to all, but intimate to few.

I never say anything of a man that I have the smallest scruple in saying to him.

There is no experience equal to that which is bought.

Let your promotion result from your own application and intrinsic merit—not from the labor of others.

I hold the maxim no less in private than in public that honesty is the best policy.

True friendship is a plant of slow growth.

Associate yourself with men of your own quality if you esteem your own reputation; for it is better to be alone than in bad company.

Happiness depends more on the internal frame of a person's mind than on external pleasure.

To contract new debts is not the way to pay old ones.

Idleness is disreputable under any circumstances, productive of no good even though unaccompanied by vicious habits.

It is easier at all times to prevent an evil than to rectify a mistake.

LINCOLN--ISMS

Hold on with a bulldog grip.

All in that one word "thorough."

This nation should be on the Lord's side.

Let us have faith that right makes might.

I am glad of a chance to finish this big job.

Nothing valuable can be lost by taking time.

When you can't remove an obstacle—plow around it.

Many have got the habit of being dissatisfied.

Let them laugh as long as the thing works well.

Be sure you put your feet in the right place, then stand firm.

When you have written a wrathful letter—put it in the stove.

Don't shoot too high—aim low and the common people will understand.

I do not think much of the man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday.

The Lord must love the common people—that's why He made so many of them.

Meet face to face and converse together—the best way to efface unpleasant feeling.

Take all of the Bible upon reason that you can, and the balance on faith, and you will live and die a better man.

VARSITY STUDENTS TAKE A HAND IN THE WRITING OF HISTORYDo Reference and Research Work on Little Known Phases of New Mexico History.

University students under the direction of Dr. Charles C. Coan are trying their hands at writing history, not making history as platform speakers often predict for the college man, but by investigating and recording the fascinating and little known history of New Mexico. Practically every history student is working upon some phase of New Mexico history and it is thought that the mass of material and information which will be turned out this year and in succeeding years will form the foundation for a reliable history text-book which will tell the story of New Mexico.

The field is comparatively new. Only a few writers have attempted New Mexico history. Davis, Bancroft, Bannister, Prince, Twitchell and Vaughn are practically all that have done much work in the history of New Mexico. The Spanish period, with its explorations by the bold Conquistadors and its settlement by those men who dared the dangers of an unknown country for Honor and their King has been barely touched by modern writers. The Mexican period and the American period up to Statehood have never been written in detail. A work is being started which will lay the foundation for a scholarly book on a little known subject which will be received as a great contribution to history.

The work being done by students is divided into three fields, the translation of Spanish documents, the investigation of some eight thousand government documents and secondary material in the University library and the investigation in the state and county archives.

Some startling and interesting facts are being brought to light in the translations now made and being made. The report of Gastano De Sosa and testimony at his trial for leading an unauthorized expedition into New Mexico and the report of a governor of Nueva Vizcaya by the name of Urdinola are proving to be of great interest. The documents which are bringing the most information are the contracts of Juan De Onate for the settlement of New Mexico. These translations are being made from copies taken from the Spanish Archives at Seville.

Students working on the more modern periods are using some eight thousand government documents in the University library. These documents have already been gone through page by page and an index made relative to New Mexico and Arizona so that the information scattered through the documents about New Mexico can be secured for the monographs which are now in the process of being written.

Some of the enterprising history students plan on going to Santa Fe so as to secure material for working out other facts of New Mexico history on which very little is known. One of the subjects which it is thought will be possible to write after work in Santa Fe is the relation of the political parties to the state history. There is at present no information in regard to the politics of the members of the legislature between 1846 and 1903. This information can be secured, it is believed, and will go into the making of one of the many monographs which are being written.

Among the many subjects for investigation and from which it is hoped to secure the material for a scholarly history of the state are railroads, mining laws, mines, irrigation, public lands, Indian lands, land grants, political parties and newspapers.

LOCAL Y. W. C. A. IN FULL SWING AGAINPlans Being Made for Co-Ed
Dance to Be Held in About Two Weeks.

The University organization of the local Y. W. C. A. has resumed activities after examinations and are continuing the regular program. A meeting was held Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock, and after this they will be conducted every week without fail.

The annual Co-ed dance will be held in about two weeks and various fair ones are already planning on donning the regalia of the sterner sex, in its various aspects, while others will become little girls again for one night.

Last Sunday evening, Alpha Nu of Alpha Delta Pi initiated its three pledges into the active chapter. The initiation was held at the Easterday home on North Fourth Street. The new members who are wearing the Alpha Delta Pi pin are Miriam Harold, Sally Bowman and Nila Wingfield, all of whom were pledged last semester.

CINDER ARTISTS
START PRACTICE
FOR TRACK WORKProspects Good for New Mexico
in Track and Field Sports
This Spring.

Though the weather has hardly yet reached the stage where one can speak of it as the balmy air of spring, practice for spring work on the cinder track has already begun. Indoor workouts in the gymnasium, and some light practice of the outdoor track, has constituted the bulk of the training done so far but the weather is still too unsettled to allow the large body of track men to start work in earnest.

Prospects for track this year are not so good as before. Though Jones and Hale and Elder and Greenleaf still remain from last year's team, the squad has been weakened by the graduation of Blanco White last spring and even more by the fact that Lawrence Dow was forced to withdraw from school at the end of the first semester on account of illness in the family. Dow was the all-around man of the team last year and scored more points in the meet against Arizona than any other man. However, on the other hand, several new men have entered school this year and this may tend to counterbalance the loss of the others. Harrington, former Albuquerque High School track star, and Hammond are particularly looked to in this field. As yet no definite plans have been announced for the spring track season. It is probable that the meet will be held with Arizona as usual and there may be other meets with other schools in this district as well.

Latif Hyder is carrying his chin in a sling and taking his nourishment principally through a straw, as a result of a nasty fall in the basketball game with Harwood Saturday night. Someone knocked his props out from under him and the impact of chin against floor badly wrecked three jaw teeth, and cut a nasty gash in his jaw.

Mrs. Holm O. Bursum of Socorro visited her daughter, Ruth, who is attending the University here, the past week. While here, Mrs. Bursum was the recipient of many social honors.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scruggs announce the birth of a baby boy, John William, Jr. Congratulations are in order.

CONTEST IN SCENARIO
WRITING ANNOUNCED
BY UNIVERSALOpportunity for Original Scenario
Writing in Competition Open to All College Students.

During the past week an announcement of considerable interest was received by President Hill, and as he approves of the proposition therein outlined, it will thus be made public to the entire student body.

The terms of the contest outlined by the Universal Pictures Corporation are full of interest to all college students and especially here in the Southwest where there is so much material that could be used in such, there should be many students who would find this a great opportunity for individual work with great promise of success.

The letter follows:

February 1, 1923.

Dr. D. Hill, President,
New Mexico State University,
Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Dear Dr. Hill:

Last March when Mr. Will H. Hays entered the motion picture world as president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., we adopted as our slogan "BETTER PICTURES." We have worked very steadily with that thought ever before us, but we realize that there is still room for much improvement. A great deal of that improvement can come and is coming from within the industry itself. More, however, can come from without, from sources which will bring fresh ideas and new thoughts to the screen.

As I reflect upon the upward trend of the past few months, it occurs to me that this process of improvement is not a matter of months but of years—perhaps, in fact, it will remain for the younger generation to bring about the more radical changes.

With this thought in mind, I naturally turn to the representative body of the youth of today—to the students of the various colleges and universities of the country.

In order to determine whether or not the students can be of assistance in this world wide campaign for better pictures, I am offering a scholarship of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS to the one who submits the best scenario for a moving picture.

We would appreciate it if, after reading the rules of the contest, attached, you would give us your unbiased opinion. We would appreciate it if you would make a suitable announcement to your students, provided, of course, the contest meets with your entire approval.

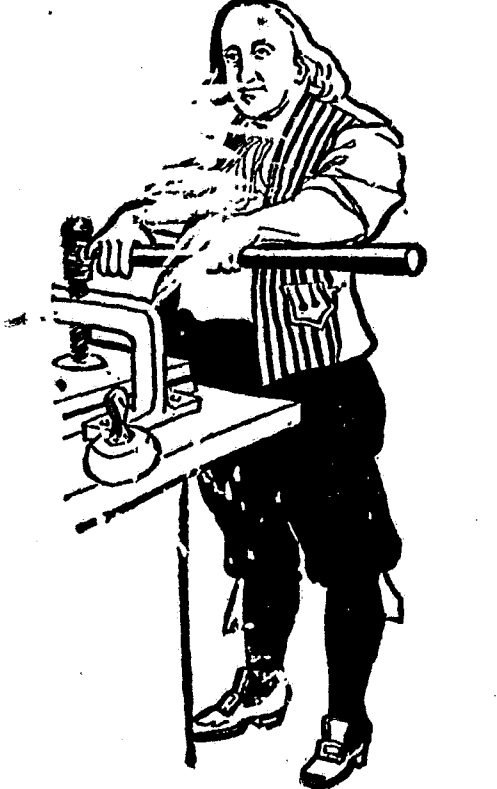

If this first attempt to secure aid from the students proves successful, there will be many LAEMMLE SCHOLARSHIPS in future years.

Yours most sincerely,
CARL LAEMMLE,
President.

RULES FOR LAEMMLE SCHOLARSHIP CONTEST

1. Scholarship of one thousand dollars will be awarded to the student who submits the best scenario.

WORK ON NEW HISTORY
OF NEW MEXICO
PROGRESSES RAPIDLY

Dr. Coan is busily engaged these days in the compilation of a new history of New Mexico, in which work he is being assisted by students of his history classes, who are tabulating information for him from over eighty thousand mouldy and dust-covered volumes, unearthed from the basement of the Administration Building. Dr. Coan announces his determination to fight it out on this line if it takes all night.

From the number of University students who were in attendance during the matches, it would appear that the University in a body was thinking of taking up the game.

SOCIETY

About fifty couples of University students danced in Rodey Hall, Friday evening at the first student body social function of the year. Pep was everywhere in evidence, both among dancers and among members of the orchestra, and vaudeville skits given by the orchestra between dances were enthusiastically received. Chaperones were Dean and Mrs. L. B. Mitchell; Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Hessler; Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Haught; and Dr. Edna Mosher.

During the past week, Alpha Nu Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi has been honored by a visit from one of their national officers—Gracie May McNiel, Province President of Epsilon Province. She arrived Thursday night and remained over until Tuesday evening. During her stay here several social affairs were given in her honor. On Saturday morning, Mrs. Faw, one of the patronesses, and Margaret Easterday took Miss McNiel and the actives out to Isleta to the Indian pueblo and returned to luncheon in Albuquerque. Monday evening Miss McNiel, Miss Edna Mosher, Miss Esther Morgan and Miss Mary Wood were members of a dinner party at the Alvarado Hotel, and Tuesday evening Miss Margaret Easterday motored Miss McNiel and a party of Alpha Delta PIs to the mountains. Miss McNiel left Tuesday night for the East on No. 8. She expressed herself as being very much pleased with her visit here.

The dance which was to have been given to the local active and pledge chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma by the patronesses was postponed to a later date on account of the death of one of the patronesses, Mrs. Will Keleher.

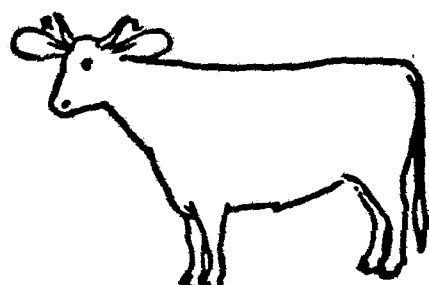

Last Friday night, Prof. and Mrs. Carey entertained the Seniors of the College of Engineering at their home in the Heights.

Invitations have been issued for the annual Valentine dance given by the girls Hokona. The dance will be held in the Women's Gymnasium.

No, Elizabeth Shepherd hasn't the rheumatism. She merely tried to run over a flivver with a bicycle the other day and caught a good fall for trying to be a road hog.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepherd of Roswell visited their daughter, Lizzie, this week.

"KAMPUS KARACTERS"

This is no Bull.

There are several reasons that the staff of the Weekly has decided to run this rotogravure section which is to appear as frequently as the students of the University will allow themselves to be snapped by our photographer. In the first place, it appeared only suitable that the Weekly should maintain itself on a par with other newspapers throughout the country if not a little ahead of them—and as the rotogravure section is now a familiar portion of the daily periodical, we have come to the conclusion that it is in keeping with our high standards as expressed in the past.

For another thing, it has been noticed that some of the students of the University are not at all acquainted with the more famous, or at least notorious, of our Campus Characters. Several rather embracing situations have occurred on account of this ignorance and accordingly we have thought it fit to present some of the more important of these personages from time to time in characteristic poses or attitudes in order that our readers may familiarize themselves on the subject and so be able to talk intelligently thereof. So we present these "Kampus Karacters" with the hope that they may meet the ultimate approval of all concerned.

NEW RELEASES

"The Sheik of Hokona," featuring Mugsy McCulloh, supported by strong feminine cast.

"Bearding the Lion," with Doc Fuller in the leading role.

"Hygiene and Scholarship," educational film featuring John Dutton with all star cast, consisting of Bernard Scarborough, Joe Benjamin, and Dan Burrows.

"The Outcast," with Hugh Graham and minor characters.

"A Scrap of Paper," featuring George Smithers with very little support.

Iona: When did you start working for Wm. J. Burns?

Hop: Whaddye mean, working for Burns?

Iona: Well, what are you growing that mustache for, then?

Ellsworth: I think it will be fun when we are married, don't you?

Fritz: Well, that's the funniest thing I've ever heard of.

REVEREND MCKEAN ADDRESSES UNIVERSAL CITY ASSEMBLY

The Reverend McKean spoke to the student body in assembly Friday on "Spiritual Value and Education." "The purpose of education," he said, "is to enable us to cope more successfully with the problems that confront us, and the purpose of religion is to enable education to help solve the moral problems of today."

Reverend McKean pointed to the number of failures among college graduates, and attributed their failure, not to lack of knowledge, but to lack of moral fibre.

"The only way to preserve our moral integrity is through deep seated religious conviction," he said, and stressed the idea that only through religion can education be rounded out thoroughly.

The speaker was introduced by Dean Mitchell, who welcomed this semester's new registrars and commented wittily on some few students who, because of "sickness, and for some other reasons," will not be in school this semester.

Eddie Horgan, president of the student body, urged all basketball men among new students to come out for practice.

A piano solo by Miss Norma Williams and a song by the student body comprised the musical part of the program.
