WINFIELD SCOTT HALL HEARD BY STUDENTS

Lecture based on twenty-five years actual experience proves beneficial to all who heard prominent professor from Northwestern University.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, from Northwestern University, addressed the student body in Rodey Hall on Tuesday February, 6th. A large audience heard Dr. Hall's address and all profited by it. The social development of the race and the individual was outlined for us.

Dr. Hall first told us that we were fortunate in being in a small college, where we have the advantage of being directly under the heads of the departments instead of having to take part or all of our classes under less competent sub-professors. Some of us already felt this way while others are inclined to feel that we lack many opportunities of a bigger college.

We were told that history repeats itself.

Six thousand year ago, man was in the stage of savagery. This age lasted until 3,500 years ago. In this stage, men and women were equal. Obligated to look for her own food. Woman could find her own berries and protect herself from the wild animals quite as well as the men. Then, men and women were companions, much as two men might be now.

The next stage of advancement was to the age of barbarism, lasting from 3,500 years ago until 1,500 years ago. In this time, man took the leadership. Woman became his slave; and he assumed ownership over her. Life was very different for the two sexes then. The men spent their time hunting and in warfare. Might was right, and the more powerful an individual or race was, the more it was entitled to. Men took all that they were entitled to. But what was woman doing? Well, she was very busy. From the skins brought in from the chase by her husband, woman made robes with which to warm his back, and by experiments worked out by herself she found a way to cook the food also brought in by her husband with which to warm his stomach. Now, a man's heart is right between his back and his stomach. Therefore, woman found a way to warm the heart of her master and make a home, the real anchor and safe-guard of humanity.

From 1,500 to 400 years ago, was the age of chivalry, which always brings to our minds pictures of brave knights with shining armor, but the picture is lacking in this age without the presence of the fair lady-love for whom this same brave knight will do all these famous deeds. So the age came at last when women were considered more important than just slaves. In this age, man was the lover and protector.

From 400 years ago up to the

FRESHMEN BASKET TOSSERS WALLOP SOPHS IN 2 EXHIBITIONS AT THE ARMORY LAST SATURDAY

Discarding all rules Green Caps completely outclass more experienced second year men by score of 16 to 8; farce comedy could be easily applied to the first game; second contest proved much more interesting; good display of team work exhibited by Sophomores.

The Freshman completely outclassed the Sophomores in two basketball games played at the Armory last Saturday night, one in the form of a free-for-all and the other in a real classy basketball game. The score of the first battle was 16 to 8. The second contest, fast and well played resulted in another victory for the underclassmen to the tune of 25 to 19.

The green awkward looking little green cap men made the first appearance on the floor, followed a few minutes later by the more dignified, red shirt Sophs, who were confident that the insignificant "little ones" would not be able to make a he could and of course was authorized not to call any fouls. Touch-downs were used to good advantage two or three times during the course of the battle.

The second game was called about 9 p. m. and the Freshies took the lead early in the fore part of the half. They were only overcome once during the entire contest and then only by one point. The Sophs displayed considerable team work on several occasions, but were unable to cage any baskets in the first half, which contributed to their beating. The Freshies on the other hand were without teamwork, but succeeded in tossing the ball in the basket with

NOTICE.

A meeting of the student body will be held Friday morning, February 15th, at 10 o'clock in Rodey Hall, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. This is a very important election and every one should be there to have his share in electing a responsible man for the position.

score. Needless to say, when the whistle blew, and after five minutes of play in which the latter made three or four baskets, the second year men began to wake up to the fact that they had a good drubbing coming to them. "Papoose" Perry and "Blanco" White were touted to be a powerful combination for the Sophs, but the best they could do was to fall over their own feet, an unpardonable fault in any contest. Clark, Morrow and Dunlap made up the rest of the Sophs team. Wilfley, showed up better than the rest of his teammates, caging four baskets and playing the floor well. Larsh, Manville, Bernhardt and Johnson played well together, considering the circumstances. Taking the game as a whole it was well worth the price of admission, and in spite of the fact that rules were done away with, there was no unnecessary slugging or fist fighting. Referee, Charlie Lembke, followed the ball as best ease. Thackrey of the Sophs and Parkhurst of the Freshies divided the honors with respect to basket shooting, each making 6 field goals. Moore, W. Hopewell, Clark and Steed, all showed up well, and each made a basket or two. R. Hopewell, Howden, Nohl and White aided Thackrey considerable, but were unable to furnish enough energy to overcome the lead the Freshies gained.

The contest caused considerable excitement and although witnessed by a very small audience, the Armory at times was filled to the utmost with the loud clamoring especially of the rooting green caps. It has been rumored that another such contest will be staged in the near future but the date has not been definitely set. At any rate these games work up enthusiasm and if the student body would patronize them better, they would prove more advantageous.

SUFFRAGE DEBATE IS INTERESTING EVENT

Prominent debaters hold social science class spell bound during one entire hour; prominent question discussed.

On Friday morning, Feb. 9, excitement reigned supreme when the recitation in social science consisted of a heated debate on the question of "equal suffrage." From the start the girls were greatly outnumbered, and, strange to say, there was not a single boy that sided with the girls in this question. Nothing daunted by such a small obstacle, Miss Evelyn Long took her place and opened the debate with the affirmative argument, that "Women should have the right to vote." Miss

BENEFIT DANCE TO BE HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

Girls plan to hold entertainment in Rodey Hall; purchase of souvenir basketballs for both teams in purpose thereof.

The dance to be held Saturday night, February 17, in Rodey Hall will be in the form of a benefit dance for the purpose of obtaining sufficient funds to purchase souvenir basket ball for both the men and women's teams, who have so faithfully held up the reputation of the University in athletic pursuits. The dance will be under the auspices of the girls in the institution, and will be financed entirely by them. Committees are now hard at work selling tickets at $1.00 per couple, with the desire to obtain $100, the neces-

PROFESSOR HILL GAVE INSTRUCTING LECTURE

Spanish address one of features of last week's entertainment; lantern room filled to doors; slides proved very successful.

Professor Hill gave a most interesting lecture on Spain on February 8 in the Science hall. Professor Hill has spent three years traveling in Spain and knew intimately the country of which he spoke. Slides were shown of the beautiful scenes, the picturesque people, and the many interesting old ruins and buildings.

The beautiful province of Granada was the scene of the lecture; here are to be found that most interesting of old buildings, the Alhambra, as well as many of the historical old Spanish cathedrals, and monasteries where many famous men have lived and studied.

"Los Gitanos" wander about here, and in their picturesque dress and roving life greatly resemble our own gypsies. In fact, these roving tribes of people do not confine their wanderings to one country but have been known to traverse the ocean in their journeys.

"Lose Gitanos" of Granada resemble our gypsies in another rather annoying characteristic; they are perfectly willing to distract a person's attention from their purse or any easily secured article of value, either great or small, just long enough that they may lay their "sticky fingers" on it. You will never see the article again.

This lecture was very beneficial to the Spanish students as it was given in Spanish and you were obliged to translate it for yourself. Prof. Hill spoke slowly and distinctly, however, so that even the first-year Spanish students were able to understand the stories of the pictures from start to finish.

Dr. Kirk has been in Tulsa, Okla., for the last few days, where he addressed the members of the Geological Association of the Southwest. Hoover, a student under Dr. Kirk, has been conducting his classes in his absence.

sary amount for the purchase of said souvenirs.

This is a custom which might as well be started now as later, and which will tend to make competition keener for all teams. The girls are to be highly complimented for devising such a scheme as this, and the men of the institution are to show their appreciation by making a date, buying one ticket and selling as many as possible.

The dance should be the largest held in Rodey Hall. To that end, let every student feel it his duty to work. High school couples as well as townspeople are cordially invited to attend. The dance will start at 8 sharp and last as long as anyone is willing to dance. The best of music will be furnished and punch, made by the girls themselves, will be served. What other inducement should be necessary.

APPRECIATION.

The young ladies of this institution are to be highly complimented for their spirit and enthusiasm, as well as interest in all University activities. In a co-educational institution, the "rough stuff" so to speak, must be done by the men, and it is necessary for the fine polish to be put on by the women. In the past two or three years the women of the Varsity have done a good deal more than their share and the best part of it all is that they are not stopping now. Every time a new occasion presents itself, the fair sex either severally or individually get in the game and back everything that is undertaken. We are especially fortunate in having two or three young ladies with the ability to handle these not quite so energetic, and by means of their enthusiasm and interest in the progress of U. N. M., to successfully operate any thing that is undertaken. The dance the young ladies are going to give next Saturday night is by no means one of their greatest achievements. As stated above we are particularly fortunate in having such women with us and appreciating this fact are very favorable inclined toward them, and will ing to do all possible to make their undertakings more successful than they could otherwise be.

CURRENT EVENTS.

Feb. 5.—President invites all neutral nations to join the United States in breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany. Teuton crews are trying to render useless all their vessels interned in American ports.

Feb. 8.—Life of American citizen is taken when submarine torpedoes destroyed in three days warfare; orders given by Daniels for full speed on all naval constructions.

Feb. 10.—Light guns on steamers American ships must not stay in ports. Convoys considered.

Feb. 11.—New German proposal received at Washington in nowise changes purpose of America to insist upon observance of law in war on commerce. Submarine sinks seven ships; twenty-five Americans on one. Eleven men lost.

Mr. Paul Batt, a former Varsity student, has returned to the city after spending six weeks in the Oklahoma oil field district.

ELIGIBILITY RULES ARE MATERIALLY CHANGED

To do away with misunderstanding such as have happened in past, eligibility committee is given strict orders.

Some very effective rules have been adopted in regard to eligibility for students expecting to enter or participate in any college activities. These rules are in the form of amendments to the rules already published and will take effect immediately. In substance, they are: "A list of those ineligible shall be posted on the faculty bulletin board each Monday; shall take effect automatically with its posting, and shall be in effect until the next notice is posted. This display shall be held to constitute sufficient notice to students of their ineligibility."

In order to participate in any event for which he has been declared ineligible, a student must remove such disability AT LEAST 24 HOURS before the start of that event, or in case of leaving town, before starting for that event.

No person who has been declared ineligible shall be allowed to enter any event, unless the manager or person in charge, has received notice in writing, from the eligibility committee, that the disability has been removed."

The foregoing rules were passed at a faculty meeting held last Wednesday, February 7th, and should be given particular notice by the students. Especially should attention be called to the time before which disability shall be removed.

AUDITING COMMITTEE IS ESTABLISHED BY FACULTY

For purpose of keeping accounts in good condition, three faculty members have been appointed to check up reports of managers.

At a meeting of the faculty held Thursday, February 7, that body voted to establish an auditing committee. The purpose of the committee is explained as follows: Managers of some of the student enterprises do their work, part of Germany in killing of an American by shell fire, directed against small boats in which crew had taken refuge after steamer is sunk.

Feb. 7.—German submarine warfare grows in intensity. Fifteen more vessels sunk in Tuesday's operations.

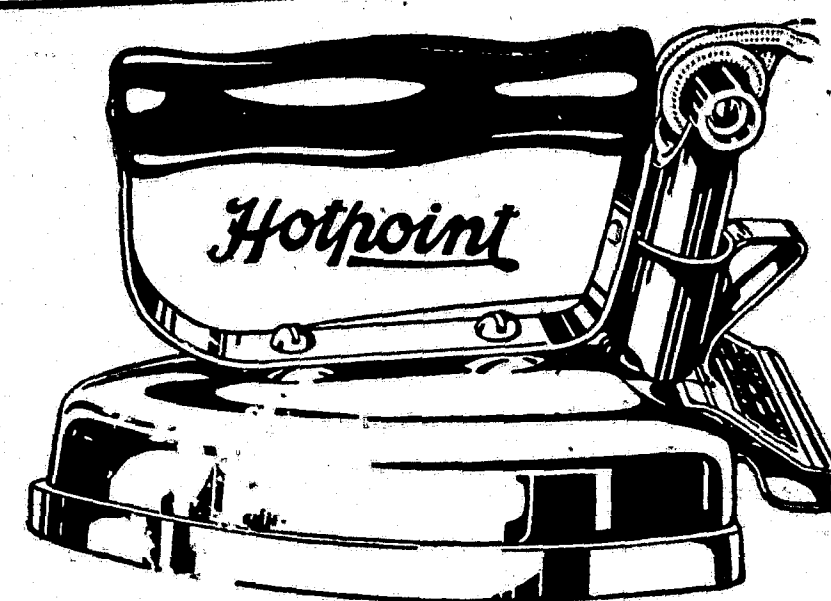

Feb. 8.—Life of American citizen is taken when submarine torpedoes destroyed in three days warfare; orders given by Daniels for full speed on all naval constructions.

Feb. 10.—Light guns on steamers American ships must not stay in ports. Convoys considered.

Feb. 11.—New German proposal received at Washington in nowise changes purpose of America to insist upon observance of law in war on commerce. Submarine sinks seven ships; twenty-five Americans on one. Eleven men lost.

Mr. Paul Batt, a former Varsity student, has returned to the city after spending six weeks in the Oklahoma oil field district.

Eugeneubla Party.

Quite the most original party of the year, was that given for the faculty and their wives on Friday night by the Eugeneubla Club at Hokona. The party was built on Valentine specifications. All the parlors and rooms on the first floor were gaily decorated in hearts and red ribbons. These members of the faculty most skilled with "cupid's darts" (you may guess whom they were), shot their own fortunes out of a huge red heart target. Other jolly Valentine games were greatly enjoyed. Professor Seder, Professor Padel and Alberta Hawthorne, entertained with a number of delightful musical selections.

Red shaded lights and heart ice cream (which the daring bandits of Kwataka almost made 'way with), combined to make the luncheon particularly rosy. The hilarity was so great that it is said it was well nigh impossible to distinguish between faculty and students. This on doubt comes of having so young a faculty. The party was indeed a welcome change and proved a success in every sense of the word.

Alpha Gamma Tea.

Margaret McCanna and Katherine Keleher were joint hostesses at a delightful party given at the home of Miss McCanna. The Alpha Gamma's and a few guests enjoyed a very pleasant afternoon.

Sigma Chi Smoker.

The smoker given by the Sigma Chi's at the house on Friday evening was well attended by the smoking contingent of the fraternity.

RULES ADOPTED BY

HOKONA GIRLS

There will be no rising bell. Each must use her own alarm clock.

All girls are requested to take snap courses so the dean need not ring a bell for study period.

No visiting in other rooms between hours of 7:30 and 9:30, unless you have someone to talk about or wish to borrow something.

Recreation hour, 9:30-10 p. m.: Devise some form of entertainment which cannot be interrupted until 10:30.

No student shall stroll on the campus; go either to the graveyard or golf links.

No student shall entertain gentleman company in the dormitory parlor.

Preparatory and Freshman students cannot have dates. Others may have all the can get. This gives the older ones a chance to train for society.

Each student may have as many dinner engagements as possible. Eat plenty; it saves for the University.

Each student is expected to conduct herself in a manner which will display her as much as possible. It brings out your personality, besides making the institution notorious.

Try to catch the last car when out with a Sunday night date. It spoils your shoes to walk home.

Violation of the above rules means you have made your reputation.

Do not run down the hall; it wears out the carpet; stand where you are and yell.

Girls are expected to clean their as possible on their return at night for it gives those who have not gone out a chance to hear how you have spent the evening.

Girls are expected to clean their rooms Sunday while the dean is at church.

If cleaning must be done, put as much trash as possible under the bed. It saves hauling for the janitor. Do anything you can get away with. The sky is the limit.

Long argued as though her life depended on it, with the girls of the class backing her up, while the boys took notes furiously on the other side of the room. Some very good arguments were given.

Ralph Hernandez was the first speaker of the negative side. After him, came E. J. Cristy, Mr. Parkhurst, Mr. Morris, and, to sum up the points made by his side, Lee Walker.

The boys spoke in the order named, each having his say, and as there were more men to speak, a shorter time was allowed to each one than to the speakers of the affirmative side.

Then Mrs. Partch, who is really in earnest for the cause, gave the rebuttal for the affirmative side, aided by notes taken by the girls this time. That annoying bell that always comes at the wrong time, rang in on this interesting discussion and broke up the debate.

A hurried and rather confusing vote was taken and the affirmative won. Greater interest was given to the debate, perhaps, because of the address given by Miss Watkins, who represents the National Suffrage League, on Thursday morning in Rodey Hall.

WINEFIELD SCOTT HALL

present time, has been the time of modernism. Of the latter history, we know for ourselves, and in this age man has become the lover, protector and husband.

The age of savagery was the age of the cradle; that of barbarism the age of the foundation of the home; that of chivalry the age of the Foundation of society, and our own age will be mostly what we make it.

Children go through much the same routine; for instance, it is the natural instinct of the young boy to build caves, and the natural instinct of the little girl to protect her own dolly, just as grown people did 6,000 years ago.

In the age of preadolescence, comparing to the age of barbarism, the boy is the leader. He boldly robs bird's nests, and performs his own experiments on young kittens, puppies and frogs, much to the dismay of the kittens, puppies and frogs. To our comfort, Dr. Hall told us that this cruelty is not intentional, but that of ignorance. An unconquerable curiosity to know just what these harmless little creatures takes hold of the boy, and he obeys that impulse.

In this way you can trace the child through all the stages that are here outlined for the race, up to the age of 22 for John perhaps and about 24 for Jennie. They have then reached the comparative age of modernism and understanding to have patience with the children still in these various stages and help guide them rather than hindering them and getting out of patience with them—Dr. Hall tried to point out to us what an influence for good we could all be.

THE CARELESS WORD.

If you are tempted to reveal a tale some one to you has told About another, let it pass, Before you speak, three gaves of gold. Three narrow gates—first, "Is it true?"

Then, "Is it needful?" In your mind Give truthful answer. And the next is last and narrowest, "Is it kind?" And if, to reach your lips at last, It passes through these gateways three, Then you may tell the tale, nor fear What the result of speech may be.

"The plot of Dasher's latest book has a sort of vague, elusive familiarity." No doubt. He wrote it from the motion picture that was adapted from the stage success translated from the dramatized French version of a Russian problem novel."—Life.

"I say exactly what I think," exclaimed the vociferous man. "How interesting!" exclaimed Miss Cayenne. "Do you think of what you say before you say it or do your admire the way it sounds and then think it?"—Washington Star.

SHORT DAYS.

"He's as honest as the day is long." "Yes, but the days are getting shorter."

LOST HIS JOB.

A well-to-do Scotch lady one day said to her gardener:

"Man Tammas, I wonder you don't get married. You's a nice house, and all you want to complete it is a wife. You know the first gardener that ever lived had a wife."

"Quite right, missus, quite right," said Tammas, "but he didn't keep his job long after he got the wife."
