TRACK MEET AND ORATORICAL CONTEST

Dates Set for Annual High School Meet Under Auspices of University Are May 10th and 11th. Prof. Weese Busy.

The following letter has been sent out by Professor Weese to the high schools of the state, relative to the state interscholastic track meet and oratorical contest:

"The New Mexico Interscholastic meet will be held this year as usual. The fact that the war department requires that each man enlisted in our great national army take part in organized athletic contests regularly held in the camps and cantonments indicates an appreciation of the value of such contests to the individual and to the group. We would therefore fall in our duty as patriotic citizens if we were to neglect the opportunities afforded to further the athletic interests of our young men.

"The University is prepared to do its utmost to make the meet this year even a greater success than those of past years. It is to be hoped that the high schools of the state will co-operate."

AUTHORITIES AFTER STOLEN SWEATERS

Athletic Council Decides Not to Assess Freshman Class for Damages, But to Find Real Culprit. Sheriff Called In.

The athletic council at its meeting last Wednesday, after hearing from representatives of the freshman class, decided to withdraw its request to the office asking that the cost of the stolen sweaters be charged to the men of the freshman class.

The training house was broken into and several sweaters and pairs of socks were removed on December 8, 1917. This was the day of the Freshman-Sophomore fight in which all the upper classmen were driven off the hill. Since the freshmen were the only ones known to be on the hill that day, they naturally got the blame. Two notices were posted, one by Coach Wood, the other by Miss Parsons, stating that the cost of the sweaters would be charged to the freshman class. No protest was heard until a list containing the names of about thirty freshmen against whom the sum of $1.31 had been assessed, was posted. Then the howls began. Representative Frank Overstreet was chosen by the class to appear before the athletic council to protest, and a letter was written to the council by the class president, with the above results. The minutes of the meeting follow:

Meeting of Athletic Council.
University of N. M.
March 6, 1918.

Meeting called to order by Chairman Dr. Clark.

Mr. Frank Overstreet addressed the council on matter of injustice of charging cost of stolen sweaters to freshmen.

Council listened to letter from president of freshman class, in which the class president stated that the class as a class is in no wise responsible for stealing of sweaters from the gymnasium on the night of December 8, 1917. Council voted to withdraw its request to the office asking that cost of stolen sweaters be charged to men of freshmen class.

Council voted to instruct its president to swear out warrants for the arrest of parties taking sweaters from the training house.

The sheriff's office has been notified, and a man has been detailed to locate the sweaters, and arrest anyone in whose possession one of the missing sweaters is found. The University authorities are determined to locate the sweaters and punish the offenders, in order to discourage any such proceedings in the future.

DEBATE DECISION GIVEN TO CRUCES

By a Decision of Two to One, Farmer Debaters Win From University on Question of Philippine Independence.

The debating team from the State Agricultural College won from the University of New Mexico, Saturday night, by a two to one decision of the judges. A small crowd, about equally divided between students and downtown people, attended, and heard an instructive and interesting debate.

The University team, Miss Opal Garrett, Clyde Morris and Allen Williams, were all new to college debating, but acquitted themselves well for their first appearance.

The Farmers, composed of Messrs. Hoagland, Wimberly and Campbell, were a little better off, Wimberly and Campbell having had previous experience. The University trio had the affirmative of the question, "Resolved, That the Philippine Islands should be given their independence within two years after the close of the present war."

The University team endeavored to prove that the Filipinos had made such advancement that they were able to carry on a government of their own. They said independence of the islands would only be in keeping with promises both leading political parties of this country had made. In order to be consistent with the idea of democracy for which the United States was fighting, they said, the islands should be granted independence.

The negative debaters referred to the poor conditions of the islands when they were taken over by the United States, and said the advancement of the Filipinos was proof that the present policy should be continued. They said the granting of independence would bring retrogression and referred to conditions in Russia and in Mexico as proof of this. They questioned whether the Filipinos could have attained in a quarter of a century what it took the United States a century and a half to reach. They also stated that it was our moral duty to keep them and take care of them rather than to abandon them.
The judges were C. M. Botts, Superintendent John Milne and City Manager Paul Redington. A. B. Stroup presided.

MUSICAL COMEDY MAKING PROGRESS

Leads Have Been Chosen and Active Work Begun on Annual Play. Joe Scotti Has Been Secured as Coach.

Work on the musical comedy has been begun and will now proceed rapidly until the date on which the play is to be presented, April 12, 1918. Joe Scotti, who so successfully directed "Go Ask Willie" last year, has been secured for coach this year. He returned to the city several days ago and began to confer with Miss Hickey and Professor Seder about the principal characters. The result was the announcement of the following cast:

The Lord Mayor.....Robert T. Sewell
Cap James Wait
Corp George Givan
The Civic Poet.....F. Guy Heslet
Prepositional Pete.....Lloyd Kellam
The Prime Minister.....
..... Alberta Hawthorne
Skeezicks Grace Stortz
Weezicks Estelle Harris
Pepita Maurine Reagan
Alta Hortense Switzer

It will be remembered that Jimmie Wait was the villain in "Go Ask Willie," and that Hortense Switzer was the Indian Princess.

The choruses have all been chosen and some of them have already started to work. The costumes are being made. Those who know say that there are going to be some surprises, pleasant ones, you know, when the costumes make their appearance, especially those of the girls.

While Professor Seder is writing the bulk of the music, he announces that Lloyd Kellam has written one or two of the pieces that will be real hits.

REGARD FOR PROPERTY.

There seems to be a growing disregard for the property of others at this institution. It evidenced itself in its most violent form this year when the training house was forcibly entered and about $30.00 worth of sweaters removed. The University authorities are determined that doings of this sort shall be stopped, and have called in the sheriff's office to help them. This is truly a sad state of affairs, that the law should be called in to help instill respect for property of some one else in a higher educational institution.

The instance of the training house has not been the only one by far, although it has been the most noticeable. There are constantly reported losses of small articles, such as books and other miscellaneous necessities. True, the real loss is not much, but the principle is the same as in the case of the sweaters. There have also been one or two other serious losses which have not been so widely advertised.

It is to be hoped that the University's campaign against the larger violations will entirely end them and will check the smaller violations.

SIGMA CHI OFFICER COMING.

erate to this end and send as many contestants as possible for the track, oratorical, and declamatory contests. "The dates chosen for the meet this year are May 10 and 11, which is the most convenient time for the majority of the schools of the state. The track meet preliminaries will be held Friday afternoon, and the finals Saturday afternoon. The oratorical contest for boys, and the declamatory contest for girls will be held Saturday evening. It has been suggested that less expensive trophies than those awarded in past years might be more in keeping with the spirit of the times and that the money used in the purchase of trophies might better be devoted to a partial refund of the expenses incurred in bringing the contestants to Albuquerque. The University will, of course, provide for the entertainment of all contestants and coaches while in Albuquerque.

"The rules governing contestants appear as an insert in this issue of The News. The undersigned will be glad to answer any questions relating to the meet.

"Sincerely yours,

"A. O. WEESE,

Small College Has Its Own Work to Do and Must Do It Efficiently.

There are a few small colleges that stay small, and unless some of them mend their ways they will grow yet smaller as the years go by; for supporters are not going to confuse smallness with inefficiency, and the small college, however small, must function efficiently, or it will cease to have a reason for existence. But here and there you find a small college of which the alumni can proudly as well as truly say, with Daniel Webster, "It is a small college. And yet there are those who love it."

The small college is the real college. It has no ambition to be a university. It is not tainted seriously with the distinctively university spirit. It still stands for general mental discipline, a liberal outlook on life and what we call cultural interests, without longer narrowing the term merely to the pursuit of classical study.

The small college today must serve a valid purpose. It cannot rest on the laurels of the past.

The small college today must do well its own special work. Problems it has. What live institution has not problems, whether it is big or little? The small college has suffered much through the persistence of puerilities, but they are going. Sense and solidarity are taking their place. Brutal "hazing," vulgar "horsing," premature "rushing," vulgar "padding," and excessive drinking, made possible by scholarship funds given to the college by good Christians, are going because they have to go—and they are going rapidly because they cannot withstand the pitiless publicity of good breeding.

One day through the primeval wood
A calf walked home as good calves should;

But made a trail all bent askew,
A crooked trail, a fall calves do.
Since then two hundred years have fled,

And I infer the calf is dead;

But still he wert behind his trail,
And thereby hangs a moral tale.
The trail was taken up next day
By a lone dog that passed that way.
And then the wise bell-wether sheep
Pursued the trail o'er vale and steep
And drew the flock behind him, too,
As good bell-wethers always do.

And from that day, o'er hill and glade,

Through those old woods a path was made,

And many men wound in and out,
And turned and dodged and bent about,

And uttered words of righteous wrath
Because 'twas such a crooked path;
But still they followed—do not laugh—

The first migration of that calf;
And through this winding woodway
stalked

Because he wobbled when he walked.
This forest path became a lane

That bent and turned and turned again;

This crooked lane became a road
Where many a poor horse, with his load

Toiled on beneath the burning sun
And traveled some three miles in one.
And thus a century and a half
They trod the footsteps of that calf.
The years passed on in swift fleet
The road became a village street:

And this, before men were aware,
A city's crowded thoroughfare;
And soon the central street was this
Of a renowned metropolis.

And men two centuries and a half
Trod in the footsteps of that calf.
Each day a hundred thousand rout
Followed the zigzag calf about;
And o'er his crooked journey went
The traffic of a continent.

A hundred thousand men were led
By a calf near three centuries dead.
They followed still his crooked way
And lost one hundred years a day;
For this such reverence is lent
To well established precedent,

For men are prone to go it blind
Along the calf-paths of the mind,
And work away from sun to sun
And do what other men have done.
They follow in the beaten track
And out and in and forth and back;

And still their devious course pursue
To keep the path that others do.
But how the wise wood-gods laugh,
Who saw that first primeval calf!
Some moral lessons this might teach
But I am not ordained to preach.

ONE'S INABILITY TO SLEEP

Insomnia May Be Overcome by Forgetting About It and Avoiding Unnecessary Excitement.

If you don't sleep well don't worry about it. Your lack of sleep isn't going to kill you or drive you insane. That is the substance of the advice given by a doctor writing in the American Magazine.

It is advice that a good many nervous people need, observes the Kansas City Star. How often do you hear some one apprehensively complaining that he lies awake "all night." The chances are that he only thinks he was awake all night, and that in reality he got several hours of sleep between the spells of wakefulness. But even if he was wakeful, it is nothing to be alarmed about. Especially is it nothing to warrant taking medicine.

The way to get over insomnia is to pay no attention to it, and not to talk about it. Sleep is largely a matter of habit. It depends on living rationally and going to bed at a regular time. You are likely to be wakeful if you stir yourself up in the evening. If you work at night or get deeply interested in anything you find it difficult to relax. That is the chief reason for wakefulness after a party. The excitement of the crowd interferes with sleep. The ideal way is to taper off the day's activities as evening comes.

No Music in Piano Stool.

A Western settler went to the nearest township and purchased a music stool, taking it home with him in his trap. In a few days, however, he brought it back and demanded the money paid, as the stool was no good at all. The shopkeeper examined it and said it was in perfect order, and that it should not be thrown on his hands.

"Well," said the settler, "I took it home careful, and I gave it a turn, and every one of the children gave it a turn, and never a tune could one and all of us screw out of it. It is no more a music stool than the four-legged washing stool the missus puts her tub on."

They All Agreed.

"My dear friends," said the hostess when all her guests had assembled, "I am delighted indeed to have you here. I want everybody to have a perfectly good time, and I am going to do whatever I can to make the evening a success. I have tried to think of some kind of a program that would please everybody, but I find it a difficult thing to do, so I am going to ask you to help me out of my trouble. We can talk about the war and thus have a lovely time, with a few flights incidentally perhaps, or my daughter, Penelope will recite for you. Which shall it be?" Prolonged shouts of "War!"

Origin of "Bankrupt."
Few words have so remarkable a history as "bankrupt." The money changers of Italy had benches or stalls in the bourse or exchange in former times. At these they conducted their ordinary business. When any of them fell back in the world and became insolvent his bench was broken, and the name of "broken bench," or "banca rotta," was given him. "When the word was first adopted into English it was nearer the Italian than it now is, being "bankerout" instead of "bankrupt."

HASTENED RUSSIAN COLLAPSE

"We must not overlook the fact that Russia collapsed, not because of the Germans on her borders, but because she failed to organize and feed her own citizenship," the food administration announced.

"We must be warned that if we are to emerge victorious from this war we cannot risk the collapse of another of our associates in this war from this cause. "Anybody that is looking for the collapse of the German people on the food question had better turn around and look at the moon, because the results will be the same. Germany is in no more danger of collapsing on that score than we are, if as much."

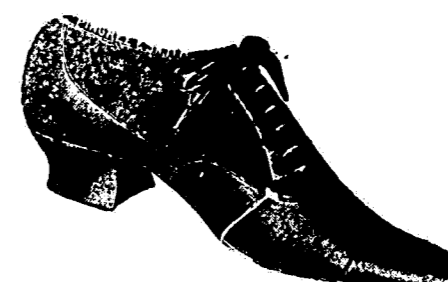

First Use of Jingo.

George Jacob Holyoake, the apostle of co-operation, was the first to make use of the nickname jingo in reference to a wrong kind of patriotism in a letter which he wrote about the Disraelian Chauvinists in 1873, observes the Argonaut. Nobody yet knows for certain where the word came from, or what was its original meaning. Motteux, in his seventeenth century translation of Rabelais, gave "par Dieu" as "by Jingo." It is some people's opinion that Jingo is the Basque for God, and that the word made its way into the English language through the medium of Basque sailors.

GRAPH OWL GRUMPIL.

When the Phi Mu house girls gave their celebrated Graph Owl Grumpil at the chapter house last Saturday night they started something they couldn't—or didn't care to—finish, namely, a formal party. The arrangements were good, but the guests were bad; and poker among girls is always demoralizing. True to expectations, the house was "open all night." Guests wandered in and about from early evening until late morning; and what wasn't going in and out, was going on. The ways of Graph Owls is devious—and mysterious, but even the "best laid plans of mice and men," you know. "Spick" made a wonderful "dull thud" and the "low muttered curse" and "sudden darkness" were realistically done, but the plot failed. There were those which didn't fail, however.

Breakfast was served at the fraternity house some time before noon as a culmination of the evening's festivities. The guests of the Graph Owl were Katherine Conway, Anne Cristy, Eleanor Anderman, Lois Davis, Lina Fergusson, Louise Lowber, Margaret Standley, Pauline Sewell, Elizabeth Simms, and Shirley von Wachenhusen.

DO YOU KNOW?

That revenge is sweet, and who demonstrated it?

That it is amusing to the writer of the "Do You Know" to see how some people apply them to themselves?

The two fraternity brothers who seem to be starting a kindergarten?

The girl with the "come hither" eyes?

The cutest girl in "Hokona"?

The couple who sat up and wept bitterly tears at the movies—she wept because he wept; he wept because she did—?

The girl whose motto is "Sweet indifference"?

The girl who thinks it would be wonderful to be married by proxy, then she would "be sure of the man"?

All about the latest "case at Hokona"?

The girl who is a "wolf" in lamb's clothes?

"Professors may come and professors may go"—and professor is back again?

The boy who had reason to say, "I don't want to get well"?

Who are the "candy kids"?

"The Hokona girl with the pretty laughing eyes and curly hair?"

The most "conservative" girls in school?

The man who fell hard for the girl—at vespers?

The couple who were "there" with bells on?

The Varsity girl for whom wedding bells will ring in the near future?

The girl whose favorite occupation seems to be "Paving"?

The girl who wears a handsome diamond ring when in the seclusion of her own room?

The man whose greatest ambition is to be pinched for speeding?

Who is eager to lose his reputation?

From Gossiptown.

There's allus tongues wagging; nothing you can lay hold on, you know, but that's no help. I'd rather somebody say I'd a wooden leg straight out than go hinting there was something funny about me figure.—J. E. Buckrose.
