AGGIES WINNERS IN ANNUAL DEBATE

University Again Loses to State College. This Time by a Two to One Decision.

The University debating team was defeated by the Aggies last Friday night at State College, on the question, "Resolved, that the Monroe Doctrine should not be continued as a part of the permanent foreign policy of the United States." The University upheld the negative side of the question, and a decision of two to one was rendered against them.

The debate was reported to be the best one ever held between the two schools, as both teams were made up of able men who had devoted a great deal of time to the preparation of the subject. President Crile, of the State College, said that he had never heard a better debate, and complimented very highly the work of the visiting team.

Allen Williams, Clyde Morris and George Gentry made the trip from the University, and Frank Wimberly, Dudley Cornell and L. C. Campbell represented the home school. Two men on each team had debated the same opponents the year before. The judges, chosen by the home team from a list of twelve submitted by the visitors, were Rev. D. Mathewson, of Mesilla Park, and Rev. T. L. Lallance and Attorney R. L. Young, of Las Cruces.

From the very beginning the contest could be seen to be a close one. Each speaker was at his very best and put forth every effort to convince the judges. The Cruces team showed the result of careful coaching and rehearsing, and had their speeches, including rebuttals, so well in hand that they appeared to be second nature with them. The University team made no attempts at oratory, but presented their facts in a businesslike way and undoubtedly out-argued their opponents, proving every statement they made and pointing out the inconsistencies of their adversaries' arguments, which they in turn could not dispute. The decision came as a complete surprise to the University men.

One of the judges who voted against the visitors said after the debate that he was not satisfied with his decision, and wished that they hadn't put him in to judge the thing." He admitted that he thought he was voting for the losing side.

The contest was held in Hadley hall and was attended by a full representation from the College, although a downpour of rain most of the day kept most of the townspeople away. Professor Neff, of the English department, presided over the meeting.

The men who made the trip reported an enjoyable time, notwithstanding their defeat, and were loud in their praise of the entertainment and courtesies extended them by their hosts. They returned Saturday evening.

ATHLETIC.

Baseball activities are a little quiet this week due to the coming examinations, Thursday and Friday. However, the diamond is being rolled, back stop being put up, and many other things being done to have every thing in readiness for the beginning of baseball practice in earnest next Monday.

Games are now being arranged with city teams by Coach Purdy and the University Y. M. C. A. athletic committee, of which Birch Foraker is chairman. A baseball league will be formed and many games played both in and out of the city this spring.

The Registrar announces that Dr. McFayden of the university of Colorado has been secured to teach history next quarter. Dean Mitchell is leaving for California shortly but is expected back in the fall.

Dean L. B. Mitchell and Prof. Procter Sherwin, who taught the entire year, including the summer term, will take their vacation the coming six months. They expect to do some special work and investigation at other universities.

Y. M. C. A. ASSUMES IMPORTANT POSITION

University Organization Rapidly Becoming a Real Organization. Much Credit Due to President.

Under the leadership of Thomas C. Gallagher, president, the University Y. M. C. A. has become an important factor in the student life. Two cottages have been secured, the partitions removed, and converted into a real Y hut. Here the student who has a little spare time may do any one of a dozen things to amuse himself, play the Victrola, play games, engage in boxing bouts, or read. A large supply of baseball material is on hand, and this may be used at any time by the members.

Another activity of the Y is the weekly luncheon plan. Every Monday night the men meet at 6 o'clock in the dining hall, eat together, and then listen to some speaker. Usually a little entertainment in the way of music is provided.

The organization of the University Y. M. C. A. is as follows:

1. Executive committee: Thomas C. Gallagher, president; Frank Overstreet, vice-president; Jonathan Sharp, secretary-treasurer; J. P. Williams, general advisory secretary.

2. Cabinet: J. P. Williams, general secretary advisory committee; Clyde Morris, chairman program committee; Allen Williams, chairman of membership committee; Herbert Paulsen, chairman attendance committee; D. E. Caldwell, chairman entertainment committee; Birch Foraker, chairman athletic committee; Lloyd Kellam, chairman music committee; Luther Thomas, chairman new activities; George Gentry, chairman literary committee; Herbert Stacker, chairman publicity committee; Russel Brown, chairman building committee; Edward Cristy, chairman Bible committee.

The most active committees at the present time are:

Duties: To arrange programs for entertainments, getting speakers, musical entertainment, etc.

Athletic Committee: Birch Foraker chairman; Thomas Pendergrass, Perkins Patton, Herbert Paulsen, Oliver Witten.

R. O. T. C. IS SET

FOR APRIL FIRST

According to meagre information received by the university recently from the committee on education, the reserve officers training corps will be established here before the beginning of next quarter.

A telegram received last Friday said, "Officer will be detailed to your institution within a few days so that work may be started by April first." Another one received Tuesday of this week, "Captain Charles E. Purviance will call on you in few days. If acceptable to you will appoint him as instructor military science."

Details of the work, credit to be given, etc., have not yet been worked out, awaiting the arrival of the instructor.

The drill will be given from 10 to 11 three times a week, according to the program now in effect.

Sergeant Reed, who has been assigned to the University to assist in the drilling, has arrived and is located in one of the cottages. He comes here from San Antonio, Texas.

WHAT EVERY YOUNG MAN SHOULD KNOW

(By Karl Williams.)

The way to determine whether a woman loves you. Put your love in one bag and your money in another; have her make a choice. See to it, however, that the latter is securely spiked.

When not to kiss a girl: In the presence of witnesses.

How to avoid marriage: Die very young.

How to make a woman love you: Avoid her.

How to make a woman hate you: When she is sad show her why she should be happy.

When to trust a woman: When you haven't anything to lose.

What you will discover after you marry a woman: Other women are interesting.

What you miss when you marry: Many Misses.

FAIRMINDEDNESS.

We notice from a late issue of the Arizona "Wildcat" that the Arizona men were not entirely satisfied with the results of their basketball journey over into the A. & M. region, and laid their trouble to an unfriendly referee.

Of course we know nothing about the case. But we can say that in all our dealings with the Aggies this year we have found them excellent hosts, real sports, and gentlemanly winners. And we ought to have a fair idea, for we have lost to them in every thing so far. In basketball they had a real team and simply outplayed us. In debating they had a good team, and even if we did have a mind to kick, which we have not, we couldn't blame them, for every detail of the contest was carried out as provided for in the agreement. And we don't see why they should treat us better than they should other rivals.

The days of "eternal hate" ought to be a part of history only. It used to be that all rivals were cheats, and crooked, and poor sports, and all that sort of thing. That attitude is changing to one of friendly rivalry, and still believing that a man is a gentleman even if he does excel you in any particular line.

So when anybody tells you that any certain rival school is crooked, don't believe him until you find out for yourself. All the good in the world is not centered in one or two particular spots. There is some of it everywhere, as well as some of the other kind; but chances are it's about fifty-fifty in both places.

CHANGES IN METHOD OF SELECTING RHODES SCHOLARS

During the years 1917 and 1918 the Organizing Secretary of the Trust, Dr. G. R. Parkin, C. M. G., visited most of the State of the American Union and the Provinces of Canada, and made an exhaustive study, in consultation with university and college authorities, of the operation in those countries of the system pursued in the selection of scholars since the foundation of the trust. As a result of this investigation, certain changes in the methods of selection have been under consideration.

Among other changes, it has been decided that candidates in the United States, who are otherwise eligible, shall no longer be required to pass a qualifying examination, but shall be selected, with due reference to the suggestion of Mr. Rhodes, on the basis of their university or college standing, subject to any further test which the committees of selection may, in their discretion, impose.

As a temporary war measure Oxford University has decided to exempt from the responsions examination men who have been on military service for six months or more. Candidates for the scholarships, not otherwise qualified, who come under this category will be allowed to compete without examination. This exemption concerns chiefly candidates from colonies like Jamaica and Bermuda, who have hitherto qualified by passing responsions, or its equivalent.

Professor Frank Aydelotte, B. Litt., Indiana, 1905, of the Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts has been appointed American Secretary to the Trust, and may be consulted on questions connected with the administration of the scholarships in the United States.

SOCIETY

An enjoyable and profitable evening was spent Wednesday at the U. N. M. by the local chapter of the Phi Kappa Phi, an honor fraternity, with more than 2,000 members in different universities of the United States. The occasion was the invitation of some new members, namely, Prof. J. S. Landers of the department of psychology and philosophy, and from the city Mr. Paul Redington, Dr. L. S. Peters and Dr. J. E. Van Atta. Judge R. H. Hanna had been elected to membership but was not present for initiation. Following the secret ceremonies, which for fun and dignity surprised the initiates, and excellent six-course dinner was served at the university dining hall. The local members present were Dr. David R. Boyd, president of the university; Professor P. F. Sherwin, and the officers of the fraternity; Dean L. H. Mitchell, president; Professor C. E. Hodgkin, vice president; Professor A. O. Weese, secretary, and Dr. John D. Clark, treasurer. At eight o'clock in the lecture room of the chemistry building, the members assembled listened to a very able and scientific paper by Professor Landers on "The Progressive Manifestation of Intelligence Through the Animal Phyla."

DR. BOYD'S RECEPTION.

Notwithstanding the fearful equinoctial storm of the night of March 20, which effected a vast transfer of real estate not recorded at the court house, the reception tendered by President and Mrs. Boyd, to the faculty was carried on without a hitch or hindrance. The members of the faculty were nearly all present and felt rewarded for facing the furious fusillade of sand in order to reach the Highland home of the Boyds. A delightful musical program was given. Mrs. Landers sang two numbers which were cordially enjoyed by the guests. Mrs. Clark played a number of violin selections in her usual masterful manner, responding to several encores. Mrs. Clark plays with the soul and touch of the master musician. Mrs. Ellis rendered a number of piano selections which added much to the musical enjoyment of the occasion. Some impromptu efforts were called for in the way of entertainment and Mrs. Partridge gave a delightful story of the little boys' first experience at a dance in which her child imitation was true to the characters represented. After delicious refreshments were served by Miss Alice Boyd and Miss Jane Heron, the guests left with pleasant memories of the reception.

A great deal of excitement was caused by the unexpected appearance of Mr. Perkins Patton at breakfast the other morning. When interviewed by a Weekly reporter he refused to explain his queer actions or to throw the slightest light on the mystery. Mr. Pendergrass offers even money that he did not go to bed at all, which may be the explanation of this strange occurrence.

It is rumored that the R. O. T. C. unit may be established next quarter instead of in the fall as announced some time ago. A captain has been appointed to take charge of the department here which removes about ninety per cent of the objections which formerly existed among the students body to the plan.

Gone, gone are the old familiar faces. Where is the Kaiser who used to take up so much front page space? And where, oh where, is Cornelius? One day he was in our midst and the next he had vanished. Forever we hope. And it is even rumored that one who is now with us and who has succeeded in turning one of our best departments into the laughing stock of the city may go the same way as these has beens. But where will he go? We suggest Las Vegas.

Some of the Latest Dances.
For beginners, and those who think they aren't.

The Knock Kneed Knudge. Directions: Lady and gent both place elbows in know kneed manner—palms upward, thumbs extended. Never mind your legs—if you happen to be knock kneed this certainly adds the last finishing touch! Now dance—just anything, no matter what it looks like. Every time you bump anybody knudge with thumb. This will cause lots of merriment for most everybody is ticklish. One might even say, were one so inclined, "This is thumb dance."

P. S. I forgot to mention the correct dancing position. Hold the body erect, chest out, and head tilted slightly backward—a la Brooksie. It looks manly and besides it allows the perspiration to run down the back of your neck out of sight, instead of all over your face.
