CURTAIN ROLLS UP ON "GRUMPY" SAT. EVE

Everything Set for Performance; Ticket Sale Good.

"Grumpy," one of the most popular comedies of English life, will be ready for the anticipated full house Saturday evening, April 2. The committee in charge under the leadership of Mr. Robert Hopewell announces a good ticket sale.

The Santa Fe players, who are acting for the Santa Fe Drama League, are expected to give a fine performance. Mr. Nordfeldt, who takes the part of Grumpy, is a dramatic artist of ability and is supported by an able cast.

It was presented with unusual success in Santa Fe and "New York." Due to the support of our student body it is expected that the receipts will cover expenses and leave a substantial balance for the Athletic Association.

Robert Hopewell and Dale Snyder spent Easter in El Paso, visiting friends.

Betty Morrisette and her mother spent a few days last week in Albuquerque. Mrs. Morrisette sang "The Crucifixion" at the Episcopal church Friday night.

Professor Carey has been placed on the research committee of the New Mexico Electrical association.

SOPHOMORES A REMARKABLE GROUP

Class Has Famous Record Which Will Long be Remembered at U. N. M.

There are classes and classes, and yours of course is the best, but the present Sophomore class at the University of New Mexico is one of the most remarkable the college has ever seen. Mention any subject or phase of university life you wish, and the Sophomores bring forth at least one of their number who outshines every one else in that thing.

This brilliant career was begun in October, 1919, when the class organized and finding themselves to be a very intellectual assemblage, in spite of the fact that they were mere freshmen, selected as their president and leader George B. Martin, one truly worthy of such an office. Mr. Martin was ably assisted by Belle Barton, vice-president.

In order that the student body might as a whole profit by the advice of the class, Stuart McArthur was elected as representative to the student council.

The class was quite willing to take their share of the hazing which so delights upper classmen and readily agreed to wear small green caps and arm bands. In the spring of 1920, however, they suddenly decided that it was time to wake the Sophomores up a bit. Accordingly there appeared one morning at the top of the flagpole the famous freshman flag. After repeated attempts to climb the pole, which invariably ended in failure (upper classmen never could climb greased poles anyway), there was a hurried consultation, and presently an expert marksman was called upon to shoot down the flag. Several hours elapsed before anyone was able to hit the flag and when it finally came fluttering downward (at about sun down), it was promptly rescued by a gallant freshman and carried away in safety. Thus, in their freshman year, they ruled the campus.

In the fall of 1920 the annual class scrap was held in the form of an organized tie-up. Here again the group, now sophomores, showed their super-

INTERCLASS TENNIS

AN EDITORIAL.

By E. Horgan.

"Athletics for all," as a slogan, has been adopted by a great number of the leading universities in this country and has met with much success. At these institutions the desired effect is secured by organizing class, departmental and society teams, which play in regular leagues, composed of teams of their own rank. In this manner, competition in sports is then thrown open to a large number of undergraduates who otherwise would not participate.

Playing on varsity teams is not for all of us. But a class team furnishes an excellent opportunity for both the exhilarating play and the feeling of loyalty to an organization, which are the chief delights of major sport. Coach Johnson, in fostering the interclass tennis tournament which is soon to start, had several purposes, among which may be mentioned the desire to furnish athletic competition for all, to foster a firmer spirit of class loyalty and to afford practice for the coming spring open championship tourney.

According to Coach Johnson, entries are slow in coming in. The tournaments will in all probability be started on Monday, and will be run off rapidly. See Coach Johnson before the end of this week and hand in your name. Start practicing now, and help put the tourneys across. Get behind your class—and push!

SENIORS TO PLANT TREE ARBOR DAY

Planting After Assembly Friday.

The class of '21 are to initiate an observation of Arbor Day at the University when on Friday, April 1, which has been proclaimed by Governor Mechem as Arbor Day in the state of New Mexico, they will plant a class tree with all due Arbor Day ceremony.

The tree planting will take place immediately after assembly which will be dismissed at about 11:45. The southside of the main building has been designated as the spot for the Senior tree.

Not only with the purpose of beautifying our campus will this ceremony be performed, but also to establish a precedence and to comply with the wishes of the governor. The spirit of Arbor Day has never been fully appreciated perhaps because the idea of a "treeless" country has never been forcibly brought to us, however, if the depletion of forests continues without replacement there is possibility in generations to come of a forestless country.

Therefore it behooves us to do all in our power to prevent such a possibility and not only do so by planting trees one day in the year but by caring for them and preventing their destruction every day in the year, and thus will the spirit of Arbor Day benefit us and our posterity.

Let us all take an especial interest in these exercises and make them a beneficial tradition of the University.

KNIGHTS, ATTENTION!

Mr. Roslington to Address Society at Meeting New Wednesday Night.

The American Association of Engineers (Knights of St. Patrick) will hold their regular monthly meeting on Wednesday night at 7:30. The meeting will be held in room 6 of the Practical Mechanics building. Mr. George Roslington, president of the City Electric Company, will be the principal speaker.

The chapter will hold only one more meeting this year in May, which will be a joint meeting with the Albuquerque Chapter at the University. This will be a very important meeting since the students will be able to discuss things with the men upon whom they look up to in their profession. Active preparations are being made for this meeting which will be on the order of a smoker.

All members of the faculty and students interested are invited to the meeting Wednesday.

Lieutenant Geo. Doolittle is a visitor at the varsity this week.

Y. W. ORGANIZATION HOLDS EASTER WATCH

Unique Service Held by Y. M. C. A. Girls.

The dim light of early morning sifted in through the snowy windows of the little reception parlor of Hokona, as about thirty girls gathered there for the Easter watch. Their white dresses, combined with the early hour and dim light, gave a touch of the ethereal quite in harmony with the purpose of the group.

Mrs. Rockwood opened the services with the short, impressive poem, "Resurrection," by Arnold. This was followed by a few beautiful, spontaneously offered prayers by Mrs. Rockwood, Dorothy Crawford and Miriam Schiebe.

Next, Mrs. Rockwood gave an inspiring talk, in which she read several verses from the Bible. These she beautifully intertwined, sketching the story of Jesus' Resurrection.

Mrs. Clark, with her ever-magical talent, rendered several selections which are never to be forgotten. As her violin took up the strains of "Fransoeri," it seemed as if a celestial choir graced the groups here gathered together. This impressive selection was followed by the "Song of Spring" and the "Cradle Song." Well chosen and beautifully rendered, it seemed as if each selection was composed for this moment.

The services were then closed by an appealing prayer by Mrs. Rockwood, in which she urged each girl to remember her story of the newsboy, and in time of trouble send a "sky telegram."

Miss Mayme Hart was in charge of the watch, and to her is due the arrangement of the inspiring program.

MR. MATSON BEFORE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council met Wednesday, March 23, in connection with the committee on Grumpy. Talks were given by Dr. Hill and Mr. Matson in regard to the sale of tickets and it was decided that Thursday should be ticket sale day and every block in town would be assigned to some one to see about selling tickets in that block. The meeting was then turned into a Student Council meeting proper and the question of keeping the Library open in the evenings was brought up. But owing to the appropriation being cut down to $11,000 less this year than last, it was decided that it was impossible to keep the library open in the evenings.

WEEKLY ESTABLISHED TWENTY SIX YEARS

"The Cactus," First Student Publication, Made Its Debut in 1895.

That this student publication which makes its appearance weekly is older than many of its student readers and that it has been published with but few lapses since 1895 is not realized by many of the students who scan its pages. Back in 1895, inspired by that ever-present pioneering spirit of the American, the students of this institution, then but three years old, conceived the need of a student publication. This publication was called the "Cactus," and under the editorship of Floyd J. Gibbons and the managership of Norman S. Sterry was published monthly. Volume 1, Number 1, appeared in April of 1895, just twenty-six years ago. The Cactus is a neat little four-page paper, which has at its head the Latin motto, "Per Aspera ad Astra." The only known copy of this first number is in the possession of Vice-President Holgin, who prizes it very much.

Here from 1895 to 1898 there is a gap in the records and it is not known if the Cactus kept on publishing these three years. In December of 1898 appeared Volume 1, Number 1, of the Mirage, the name now given to the annual, in the form of a monthly. This monthly was edited by Douglas W. Johnson and Hertford G. Fitch was the business manager. The monthly form was kept up for four years. Miss Elizabeth Hughes edited Volume 2 and Louis Becker and John Terry were the business managers. Mala E. Tway, Raymond Nielson and Minnie E. Craig were at different times in charge of the editorial work, while Lawrence R. Smith, Herbert Fielder and Linus Shields were business managers.

Beginning with the first issue of Volume 5, published November 15, 1902, the Mirage changed from the monthly issue to a weekly publication. This change was made under the editorship of J. Ralph Tascher, who recently died, and Kirk Bryan as business manager. The name of the paper was changed in the following

J. RALF TASCHER '07 DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Was Prominent University Man.

The news of the death of J. Ralf Tascher '07 on Friday, March 25, in the city of Los Angeles, was received here by Laurence F. Lee, a classmate of the deceased. Mr. Tascher and his family were well known through their long residence in Albuquerque and Mr. Tascher had many classmates in the city. Mr. Tascher was the son of Dr. John R. and Mrs. Clara Tascher. He graduated from the University of New Mexico in 1907 and from the law school of Northwestern University in 1909. After practicing in Chicago he became instructor in Northwestern University law school and later took up the practice of law in Phoenix, Arizona, with E. S. Clark, former attorney general of Arizona. Returning to Chicago Mr. Tascher suffered a breakdown due to overwork and a weak heart. He went to Los Angeles in search of health.

Mr. Tascher is survived by his mother and sister and his wife who was Miss Janette Brison also a graduate of our University. Ralf Tascher will be remembered as one of the leaders of the student body while he was a resident student. He was one of the founders of the Alpha Alpha Alpha fraternity, which is now Pi Kappa Alpha.

BASEBALL COMING FINE; TWO TEAMS OUT

The U. N. M. Athletic Field has become a seething mass of activity lately. Many are the men who are wearing the light summer suits (track suits), but also are there others who are fast becoming regular baseball jugglers. There are 17 men coming out regularly for the national sport and many have never played baseball, but we admire the fellow who has the grit to come out for a sport when he is almost certain that there is no chance for him making the team. But same of these recruits are going to surprise a few of us. Instead of being beginners any more they have jumped to the stellar class. With the help of this raw material and a few of the old men, U. N. M. expects to put out a team that she will be proud of. We have one of the fastest infields in the state, with the exception of a second baseman. Some one please come out and patch up the hole. The outfield promises to be just as good or better, as we have a great many candidates for these positions. We have promises of many games among some town teams, and if "Grumpy" is a success, there will be some college games and a few trips. If there is any one who is not out for baseball, hurry up and report. The more men out, the better will be the team.

for common sense and by listening to the rules and carrying them out received the decision over the more muscular but less intelligent freshmen.

Socially, they have no equals. Their parties are not ordinary dry class gatherings, but are full of "pep" and everyone wants to go.

As for student activities, look among the names of the prominent debaters of the University—Cullen Pierce, Walter Berger is manager of debate.

They are well represented in athletics, claiming several of the best basketball players and track men as well as the following football letters: Sganzi, MacArthur, McClure, L. Gerphelde, Witten, Huffine, Pearce, and Brown.

John Fernstrom was athletic manager for 1920; George Bryan, editor of the Weekly.

The noble work of the class is now being carried on under the leadership of Arthur Brown, with Lorena Burton as vice-president, Helen Nelson as secretary-treasurer, and Walter Ward student representative.

Although there has been a decrease in numbers there has been none in enthusiasm and the class toils one, daily more successful, and daily nearing its ultimate goal of starting the world.

FACULTY AND STUDENTS CONTRIBUTE HEAVILY TO EUROPEAN RELIEF FUND

That the hearts of University people are in sympathy with the nationwide campaign to relieve the situation of the starving children of Europe is evidenced in a very concrete way by the contributions gathered by the committee of faculty and students who took charge of the situation for the downtown people interested. After Rabbi Moise Bergman's inspiring talk in assembly the students at once took an interest in the cause. President David S. Hill started the contributions for the faculty by the gift of twenty dollars.

The faculty committee consisted of Professor Coan and Miss Shelton, and the student committee of Frank Neher and Miss Irene Wickland. The committees report that while the tag day is over and the work is about finished there are some more contributions to be collected. The committee reports gifts as follows:

TREE TO BE PLANTED BY SENIOR MEMBERS

Will Give Banquet on Commencement Day.

A Senior meeting was held Monday at 12:30 and two important things were decided upon. It was decided that the Seniors would plant a tree on next Friday at 11:45, this day being Arbor Day. The tree is to be known as the 1921 tree, and it was thought that a custom be started in the University that would be carried out every year. The other question which they decided upon was that on June 3, in the evening of Commencement Day, they would give a Seniors' banquet.

REGENTS MEET TO PREPARE BUDGET

The Board of Regents met on Monday last and discussed plans for the budget for next year. Mr. Jaffa and Dr. Reidy will have the offices of president and secretary and treasurer represented. The new members of the board are Mrs. R. F. Aspland of Santa Fe and Mr. Tom Keleher. Mrs. Aspland is the first woman on the board.

Several boys from the boys' dormitory went to the mountains to see the Penitents last Friday.
